

Additional Copies Of Floyd County Shelter Plan Available

County Judge J. K. Holmes announced today that additional copies of a community shelter plan for Floyd County residents advising them what to do in case a nuclear attack on the United States should ever occur are available at his office, city ofices, banks, newspapers and schools in the county. The special supplement was carried in the Floyd County Hesperian and Lockney Beacon newspapers last week. The plan, developed at the request of local officials, is the result of a study conducted by members of the Floyd County civil defense office in cooperation with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the State Office of Civil Defense and Disaster Relief. Funds for this undertaking were provided by the Federal Government. The primary danger to residents of Floyd County resulting from a nuclear attack on this country would be from radioactive particles descending from the upper atmosphere and settling over the country after having been carried by high-altitude wind currents. The radiation emitted by these particles can penetrate the average building and cause serious illness or death to the occupants. A normal home would offer little or no protection from this type of radiation unless the residents knew how to increase the protection offered by that structure. Because this type of radiation decays or weakens with time, it is possible for persons who are protected

Sam Henry In Wreck At Waco

Sam Henry, freshman student at Baylor University in Waco, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Henry of Floydada, is in Providence Hospital in Waco, the result of injuries sustained in a one car accident Monday afternoon about 2:30.

Sam, went off the edge of the paving onto a dirt shoulder and apparently went out of control. The vehicle went into a ditch, jumped a culvert, then careened into a grove of live oak trees. It was totally damaged.

The parents of Sam left immediately for Waco upon learning of the accident and plan to remain with their son, possibly until the first of next week. Friends said that Sam and his college roommate had been to the golf course for lessons on the outskirts of Waco and were returning to their dorm when the mishap occurred. They related the Pontiac Catalina driven by Sam, went off the edge of the paving onto a dirt shoulder and apparently went out of control. The vehicle went into a ditch, jumped a culvert, then careened into a grove of live oak trees. It was totally damaged.

Sam suffered numerous cuts and bruises and a broken left leg bone in the thigh just above the knee. Family friends said he was in a great deal of pain having undergone surgery with more planned. Sam will be in traction some six weeks due to the break, but is said to be doing fairly well otherwise.

His roommate was badly bruised and suffered lacerations, but sustained no broken bones.

Ruling On Man's Death Pending

Officers were still waiting results of an autopsy yesterday before ruling in the death of a 30 year old Floyd County Latin-American man who was found lying on the highway about 12:30 a.m. Sunday 5.7 miles north of Floydada near Muncy.

The victim was Danny Florencio Delacruz Jr., 30 year old farm laborer.

A lead in the case resulted about 11 hours after the body was found when a Plainview woman called Hale County officials to report running over something about midnight Saturday near the location where the man's body was found.

Radar officers said Delacruz' vehicle passed their checkpoint between 10 and 10:30 going north. Delacruz' pickup was parked on the shoulder of U.S. 70 about a half mile from the scene of the mishap.

Preliminary investigation revealed that Delacruz was struck and thrown or dragged 187 feet from point of impact. Officers said a .22 caliber pistol was found in the man's pocket.

The woman who called officers Sunday said she saw something lying in the center stripe of the highway and could not slow down to avoid hitting the object, so she tried to straddle it with her car.

Highway Patrolman Fred Cockrell, who investigated said Delacruz sustained multiple injuries in the mishap but cause of death was still undetermined until the autopsy report is received. He said the case is still under investigation with a lot of facts still unknown.

cently completed Community Shelter Plan is to assure that everyone in Floyd County would have this type of protection if an attack occurred. Judge Holmes reported that there is not enough space to shelter everyone in the county in public shelters, but he advised that by following instructions in the supplement, it is possible for those persons with no public shelter to improvise adequate shelter at home. Most basements and storm cellars offer a high degree of protection from radiation. Through maximum use of these types of shelters and by improving the protection offered by above ground buildings it is possible for all persons in the county to be adequately protected from the dangers of radioactive fallout. "If we received an attack warning," Judge Holmes explained, "we believe we would have about one hour to gather food, clothing and other supplies and get into shelter before fallout arrived. Most people would never make it unless they knew what to do or where to go. By planning ahead and knowing what to do, it would be possible for everyone in the county to survive."

The Community Shelter Plan for Floyd County contains instructions and maps telling each citizen what to do in case of attack. Of course this information is also important in case of tornado alerts.

Brock did return and the men pointed out the body resting in the right lane of northbound traffic. They informed the lad that they were not from this area and did not know how to summon aid.

Brock rushed to his home, phoned Carter Funeral Home for an ambulance and notified officers.

The body was brought to the local mortuary before being taken to Lubbock for the autopsy and later to Moore-Rose Funeral Home in Floydada.

Along with the complete paving of those three blocks, seal coating is planned for some 43 blocks of Floydada streets, and the Floydada Municipal Airport ramp and runway. The paving operations will probably be completed by May 15, weather permitting, according to city manager Bill Feuerbacher. (Staff Photo)

It is expected to be in production by October this year. SIZE OF COTTONSEED FLOURMILL. . . . Originally the flour mill facility will be comprised of five buildings. They will include a laboratory, a preparation facility, the processing plant, and two storage houses. The largest building will be the processing plant, which will cover 5,000 square feet. Employment at the beginning will be about 20 persons with an annual payroll of $170,000. The mill will be designed so the facilities can be rapidly expanded. Capacity at the start will be about 25 tons of flour per day.

PRODUCT AND USES. . . . The protein from this plant will be available as a concentrate (65-70% protein). The concentrate will look and taste much like powdered milk and will be one of the best available high protein food supplements from vegetable sources. The concentrate may be made into an isolate (95-100% protein), but this process will not be done in Lubbock. Initial use of the new by-product is expected to be in prepared foods such as baked goods, meat extenders, and meat substitutes, and for use in beverages. Cottonseed protein isolates can be made into bacon, chicken, or fish bits similar to those now being produced from soybeans.

FUTURE. . . . In the very near future you may be using cottonseed concentrate for baking in your own kitchen. Plains Cooperative Oil Mill has financed research with the Department of Food and Nutrition at Texas Tech, which shows cottonseed concentrate food products to be nutritious and acceptable. Recipes for bakery products - breads, cookies, cakes, etc. - made from or containing cottonseed concentrate have been developed. The cottonseed concentrate is an asset in bakery doughs as staleness is deterred, moisture is retained, and retention of cookie shape is aided. Because of its nutritive value, researchers are hopeful that this high protein concentrate can be used in making acceptable snack items. It should be pointed out that cottonseed as a protein source will not replace beef, pork, or other meats, but it will be less expensive. This protein-rich cottonseed product is seen as having a particularly big potential in areas of the world with the greatest problems of undernourishment or starvation. Demand for this concentrate is caused by consumer pressure for more nutritious snack items and prepared convenience foods. This is the first year that the government has approved non-meat proteins for the school lunch program, and this could be a big factor in the demand picture. With this in mind, Plains Cooperative Oil Mill will continue to work today for a better tomorrow.

Candidates Must Keep Record Of Gifts Aiding His Candidacy

Article 14.08 of the Election Code requires that each candidate keep an accurate record of all gifts or loans of money or other valuable things received by him or his campaign managers, and of all gifts, loans, and payments made, and of all debts incurred, by him or his campaign managers, on account of his candidacy.

Each opposed candidate whose name and whose opponent's name are printed on the ballot at a first primary election, or at a general or special election, is required to file a sworn statement, not less than SEVEN nor more than TEN days prior to the day of election, of all gifts and loans previously received, and of all gifts, loans and payments made and all debts and obligations incurred or contracted for future use, in behalf of his candidacy for office; not more than TEN days after the election, the candidate is required to file a supplemental sworn statement of all gifts and loans received, and of all gifts, loans and payments made and debts and obligations incurred, prior to the election, and not specifically included in the statement filed prior to the election. The same type of reports, at the same intervals, are required of candidates in the second primary.

Each sworn statement must include the names and addresses of all persons from whom money or any other thing of value has been received or borrowed by the candidate or his campaign managers and the date and amount of such gift and loan, as well as the dates and amounts of all gifts, loans and payments made or debts incurred by the candidate or his campaign managers on account of his candidacy, as well as the names and addresses of all persons to whom any gift, loan or payment of more than $10.00 was made or debt of more than $10.00 is owed, and the purpose.

Any candidate who fails to file a sworn statement as required is subject to a fine or imprisonment in the penitentiary, or both, and further, any candidate failing to file such a sworn statement or swearing falsely therein is subject to forfeiture of his name placed at any subsequent general election. Reports filed with the County Election Code with the County forms reports, as well as the Election Code the applicable provisions. The political party has to be convinced by individuals who require.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Tooley,

I have been reading the pros and cons about old time soda pop bottles, but so far no one has come up with the real old time soda pop bottles. I remember going to the Oxley, Mo. picnic in 1907. It was really an old time picnic. They had the old time stands with popcorn, peanuts, lemonade, and a large tub filled with soda pop buried in ice water.

I guess they had other kinds, but strawberry, called "country red," was all the kind I ever drank. It was put up in a large and a very thick bottle. Instead of a cap it had a wire gadget in the neck of the bottle and when the bottle was filled at the bottling works, the wire stopper was pulled up to the top of the bottle neck that sealed it. Now the old time country red soda pop was very strong, and when you bought one instead of a cap pulled they took the bottle and with a quick motion hit it against the under side of a plank that was part of the stand when this wire stopper was knocked down in the lower neck it made a popping noise you could hear all over the picnic grounds. By that popping sound soda water got the nickname of soda pop, and it still carries that name.

And I have never seen one of those old wire seal type bottles since I left Missouri 63 years ago. How many of you folks know where they got the idea for the merry-go-round? It was copied from the horse drawn swing. It was popular at picnics at the same time that the wire stoppered soda pop bottles were used. Now there may be a few of folks that never had the chance to ride on a horse drawn swing or maybe even see one in operation. Well, I will try to give you a bird's eye view of one. First they put up a large pole and strung guy wires in several directions to large stobs like a circus tent wires.

About eight beams were put in to square holes in the pole, the beams were braced by putting iron rods from the outer end of the beam up to the top of the pole from the beam. A seat that would hold two was swung by two iron rods on each side of the seat. Another beam extended from the pole about 3 or 4 feet from the ground. To this beam a horse was hooked. Then people mostly young men, and their lady friends, would start filling the seats. If there were three seats empty the man would yell out three more couples and the swing goes around. Seats all full, this same man would walk over and start the horse to walking and after so many rounds he would stop the horse and everyone would get off. A ride cost a whole nickel. Next year the swing had taken the horse off, and it was operated by a small steam engine. Well, they kept on improving the swings and it now has turned into the present time merry-go-round.

You have missed quite a lot if you have never heard the sounds that came from the old time picnic grounds such as you would hear from the man operating the striking machine. He would call out "Strike Eee boys only a nickel ring the bell and win a cigar." or from a stand would come the sound "Ice cold lemonade made in the shade, stirred with spade, waiting for the money the old man has made". And the long-winded loud in voice office seekers making promises that were hardly ever fulfilled, plus fire crackers. I attended the first picnic in Floydada and most of them since and have enjoyed everyone of them.

'Miracle' Plant Cures Often 'Quack' Products

Consumer protection is in its heyday! And consumers can help their cause by being cautious of quack products that offer miracle cures of plant diseases and other maladies.

Although difficult, it's important that consumers be able to weed out products that do not meet all the advertised claims, contends Dr. Wendell Horne, plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

He advocates being suspicious of the following advertising approaches:

1. Manufacturer or promoter claims that the product will cure all difficulties associated with plants.
2. Claims are made that are not shown and supported in the product's label.
3. The product is so new and revolutionary that research agencies have not tested it.
4. Active ingredients of the product are not shown. If this is the case, it probably has none.
5. Promotion is supported only by testimonials, with no research-backed data.

6. Overselling techniques are used to compensate for the lack of performance information.

"Few people who buy quack products ever complain because they want to avoid ridicule from their friends and neighbors for having been taken by such a scheme," notes Horne. "Unfortunately promoters prey upon the customers attribute of hope and faith that miracles do happen."

Consumer protection and regulatory agencies are doing much to curb quack products, but they can perform only within the framework of their resources and supportive legislation, explains the plant pathologist. Each consumer must do his share by refusing to buy unproved products and by actively supporting regulatory activities that offer consumer protection.

"When purchasing products to care for your lawn and garden plants, ask your nurseryman or garden store operator for official recommendations that are based on research and are kept current each year. Such information is provided by the Extension Service and is available at no cost at any county Extension office."

Farmers Asked To Sign Petition President Nixon For Help

Farmers are asked to sign a petition to the President seeking help for a living. The petition is at the Production and Marketing Administration, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. The petition reads as follows:

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES:

The Production and Marketing Administration has demonstrated a keen awareness of the American farmer's great contribution to the American economy. The Commission has sought to enhance the farmer's living. The Commission has been willing to undertake the problems of the farmer, and has displayed a deep concern over the plight of the American farmer. We commend both the Administration and the Commission for this attitude and concern.

Although, for a great deal of time, the farmer has been in the mainstream of the American economy, a position he has enjoyed except for a few very brief intervals in the past half-century. Government programs of the past have been helpful but all of them have been, and are, of a temporary nature, thereby leaving the farmer in a quandary about the future.

Farming is a long-term venture, requiring long-term planning and long-term financing and indebtedness. Today's farmers are businessmen, but they are the only businessmen in America whose commodity prices are subjected to sharp peaks and valleys, caused by uncontrollable events, "scare" propaganda or other acts which the farmer can neither foresee nor govern.

The majority of farmers today are skirting outright financial disaster every year. Their indebtedness is increasing yearly. In the past five years, the national farm real estate debt has risen 39%. In terms of dollars, farmers' total indebtedness in this period has increased from $37.5 billion to $65.5 billion. Meantime, farm prices have declined. In the past 25 years, the parity ratio has dropped from 108% to an average of 70% in 1971. This has seriously weakened the financial position of farmers. We are rapidly approaching a complete erosion of our entire agriculture community.

If this trend is to be reversed and we are to regain and maintain a healthy agriculture where young men can be attracted for a career, we must provide economic stability for our farming industry. To accomplish this, we respectfully submit the following recommendations:

1. See that temporary measures are taken to immediately bolster and stabilize grain prices.
2. Set to work promptly the necessary planning for a permanent program for agriculture so that an end can be put to the chronic gyrations of grain prices. If grain prices domestically are to be stabilized at a level which puts the farmer on a par with all other American business, the influence of world prices must be removed from our domestic pricing.

3. The consumers of America must recognize the vital need for farmers to be a healthy segment of the U.S. economy because, only through the high degree of efficiency of the farmer, is the American consumer able to enjoy the limitless benefits of today's American agriculture. Consumers must know that if agriculture deteriorates, the living standard of all of America deteriorates. An informational program to acquaint consumers with the status of agriculture, with the benefits of a healthy agriculture, must be mounted and continued at a high level throughout this transitional period while the agricultural economy is being stabilized. This program can, and should, be the bridge bringing the farmer into the mainstream of American society.

We farmers have supported, and will continue to support all those things that have built a great America. We only ask an opportunity to share equally in the protection and benefits of our American society. We shall be most grateful for your sincere consideration of the above statement."

STEER IN CAR TRUNK

Cedar Rapids, Iowa -- When officers found a 300-pound steer in the trunk of a car, they arrested two men for cattle rustling. The sheriff's officers found the steer while making routine auto inspections.

Set Aside Designation Deadlines Extended

AUSTIN - Senator John Tower has announced the United States Department of Agriculture has agreed to establish later deadlines for designating set-aside acres by Texas farmers for various crops.

they certify the planted acres due to local weather and moisture conditions.

The USDA informed the senator Texas senator that it also is moving up the present final certification deadline for all crops from July 15 to Aug. 1.

Tower said the new certification deadlines would be "extremely helpful" to Texas farmers.

The new and later deadlines were established as a result of a recent letter by Tower to Undersecretary of Agriculture J. Phil Campbell pointing out that current deadlines come too early for most Texas crops.

Tower told Campbell that the old guidelines for designating set-aside acres would result in a hardship for cotton and feed grain producers in the High Plains and Low Rolling Plains of Texas.

Tower said he was informed by the USDA that under the new guidelines, farmers do not have to designate set-aside acreage for any particular crop until he certifies that crop. Under previous rules, a farmer had to designate all his set-aside acreage by May 1.

Tower had pointed out that producers in the Plains areas of Texas often do not designate set-aside acreage for a particular crop under the government support program until

Sign of Good Breeding

Pioneer brand grain sorghum varieties have bred-in yield potential to help farmers get the most from their good management even in the face of adverse weather, insects, or plant disease. Also, the genetic inheritance of every Pioneer hybrid is unique. Each variety is bred to bring out the special traits necessary for maximum performance in the area where it is to be grown.

Your Pioneer dealer has many varieties bred to help farmers on the South Plains turn in top yields. Some of these varieties are:

Pioneer Brand 846: excellent drought resistance — consistent high yields — MDM and smut resistant — 134-day maturity

Pioneer Brand 820: good yielder under stress, outstanding with plenty of water and fertility — MDM and smut resistant — 144-day maturity

Pioneer Brand 866: makes the most of limited water — threshes well — high yield potential — 126-day maturity

Pioneer Brand 8417: new yellow endosperm variety — full, open heads — good standability — easy thresher — MDM, anthracnose, smut resistant — 135-day maturity

Days to maturity is an averaged figure, which is affected by weather and other variables.

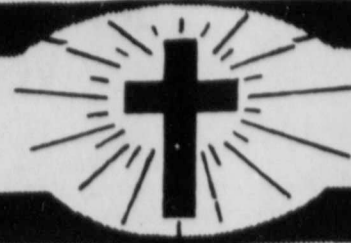

GOOD YEAR OR BAD YEAR, YOU'RE BETTER OFF WITH PIONEER.

J.C. MILLS, raised Pioneer brand 820 on five farms near Abernathy last year. His highest yield was 6403 pounds of grain per acre on one farm while his lowest was 4433 pounds. Dry weather early in the season coupled with wet harvest conditions could have meant trouble, but good management and Pioneer brand 820 came through for Mr. Mills. He likes the yield and standability of 820 and plans to plant it again this year on 497 acres.

Pioneer is a brand name; numbers identify varieties. Reg. trademark of Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., Des Moines, Iowa U.S.A.

A scripture in II Corinthians 5:17 says: "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new."

I never cease to be filled with wonder and amazement at this season of the year when I consider all the marvels of our God. A popular sacred song says: "There's the wonder of spring-time and harvest; the wonder as sunrise I see, but the wonder of wonders that thrills my soul is the wonder that God loves me!" There is so much that is new and beautiful at this time in our world. How much more wonderful life would be if we could all share in the joys and blessings of the New Life of Love in Christ!

It has been often quoted: "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love, "but how glorious it would be if this love were superseded by a love for God in Christ."

Jesus said: "I am the resurrection, and the life; he that liveth and believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die."
(John 11:24)

Life will be new, real, and vital when we walk with him in the light of His love and grace! For it seems to me that the only thing real is God and His kind of life.

The poet has said it thusly:

Springtime in her royal garment
Spreads new beauty on the hills;
I can hear her softly singing
In the valleys and the rills,

I can feel her fingers moving
Through the freshly leafing trees,
Sending forth her warm caresses
On the flower-scented breeze,

I can see her shuttles flying
Through the fields of growing grain,
Giving credence to the story;
Though men die, they'll live again!

And yet we must be completely honest and realistic as we recognize as the song writer says:

"God hath not promised skies always blue,
Flower strewn pathways all our lives through,
God hath not promised sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow; peace without pain,

But God hath promised strength for the day,
Rest for the laborer, light for the way;
Grace for the trial, help from above,
Unfailing kindness, undying love."

GREAT ACADEMY AWARD WINNING WALT DISNEY True-Life adventures, "THE LIVING DESERT" and "THE VANISHING PRAIRIE" are now being presented on the same unforgettable program. There are some exciting scenes from each film. (1) A fearless red-tailed hawk combats a deadly rattlesnake in this dramatic scene from "The Living Desert," (2) Majestic saguaro cactus stands silhouetted against a breathtaking "Living Desert" sunset, (3) A graceful bobcat stands guard over "The Living Desert," (4) Two young owls become a bit too curious about a prairie dog's burrow in this humorous scene from "The Vanishing Prairie," (5) A two hundred pound mountain lion hunts his dinner in this exciting scene from "The Vanishing Prairie" and (6) A true ecological picture of "The Vanishing Prairie" is depicted by the plight of the buffalo, once plentiful and now reduced to a few scant herds. Both film classics were filmed in Technicolor and are being re-released by Buena Vista, Showing Friday and Saturday, April 14 and 15 at the Capada Drive-In.

Celebrity for this year's rodeo is Ken Curtis, Festus of Gunsmoke. The club will also be sponsoring dances at the National Guard Armory both Friday and Saturday nights. There will also be an alumni reception beginning at 6 p.m., each evening of the rodeo at the Villa Inn. Tickets for the rodeo are $4, $3 and $2.25 for reserved seats and $1.50 general admission. These may be purchased by writing the Hub Lions Club, P.O. Box 4459, Tech Station, Lubbock, Texas 79409.

Know THE Weather

Does a mild winter always mean bumper crops in the summer and fall ahead? A mild winter, contrary to what some people believe, is not necessarily the best thing for trees and plants which produce salable products. Some trees and plants require so many cold nights during the winter. If they don't receive this cooling process, which controls the dormant period, they are likely to produce little or bear too early, or both. Thus an average winter is better than an extremely cold or an extremely warm one. And there has been little change in our average winter weather over the years -- despite the fact that elderly people usually think the weather was colder in their childhood.

FLOYD PHILOSOPHER Takes A Stick-In-The-Mud View Of Travel

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes a stick-in-the-mud view of travel this week. Dear editor: Anybody who thinks he knows people just hasn't made a close enough study of the subject. For example, I read an item in a newspaper last night about a train ride 400 people took recently just for fun under the new Amtrack program to revive passenger trains. What struck me was a statement by one of the passengers. "The ride was all right but seven and a half hours is too long for a 355-mile trip," he complained. Now as I interpret this, seven and a half hours wouldn't have been too long if he'd traveled say 1,000 miles, but I still don't understand it. If you're going to stay in motion for seven and a half hours, what difference does it make whether you end up 335 miles or 1,000 miles from where you started? Anybody who can convince himself that the distance traveled reduces the fatigue per hour, never has ridden a tractor up one row and down another. Me, if I have to start out on a 250-mile trip, don't figure I'm 250 miles from my destination. I figure I'm 500 miles from getting back home. Most travel reminds me of the current see-saw craze. You know, two youngsters get on a see-saw and see how long they can last. The current record, I understand, is 144 hours, set by two young boys, and who is to say they traveled less distance than the man who prides himself on having breakfast in New York and dinner in Los Angeles? If the time between breakfast and dinner is the same, why use up the time in between see-sawing or riding an airplane? I understand one airline is now bragging that it has reduced the time between New York and London from 3 movies to 2. If you can stay up that late you can see the same ones on your T.V. set at home. Most things these days I don't understand, but don't get the notion I'm a candidate for Congress. Yours faithfully, J.A.

THANKS,

TAKE THIS MEANS TO EXTEND MY SINCERE APPRECIATION FOR YOUR VOTES AND SUPPORT IN THE RECENT CITY COUNCIL ELECTION.

FLOYD PHILOSOPHER Takes A Rather Violent Reaction To An Oddity In The News

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes a rather violent reaction to an oddity in the news.

Dear editor:

There's enough violence in the world without any additional help from me, for example a Washington commission has just finished an alarming study on the effect of T.V. violence on children, although it failed to study the effect of children's violence on adults, but, to pick up this sentence where I started it, I don't want to add to the sum total of violence but I heard about something the other day that needs perhaps violent attention.

It's a light bulb. There's a light bulb in California that's been burning for 71 years and is still going strong. Located in a fire station, it stays on night and day and is as good now as the day it was first turned on. Understand I'm not suggesting it and it'd be a shame for it to happen, but perhaps somebody who understands world economy ought to shoot that thing out.

Have you stopped to think what would happen to the world's economy if everything lasted as long as that light bulb?

Buy a new car every 71 years? Never have to take it to a garage? Plug in a new refrigerator and an air conditioner and sit back with the comforting thought that your great grandchildren will have cold sodawater and never swelter in the summer time? Buy a new T.V. set and realize you won't have to buy a new one for the next 8 or 10 years?

You can see immediately what this would do to manufacturing throughout the world and the ruination of the economy. You know what it did to the maker of that light bulb. The firm closed up for lack of new business.

Wouldn't be much left for people to do but sit around on sofas that won't wear out listening to old men tell about the excitement throughout the country when the last new model car came out years and years ago.

Actually, I ought to be ashamed of myself for calling even this much attention to that light bulb. Let's forget all about it, even if it does indicate the only known way to half inflation.

If you want to keep the wheels turning, let your light so shine that it will burn out at least every 90 days.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

COST OF LIVING HITS CANCER RESEARCH

Has your cost of living gone up? Clothes, furniture, a good meal? Unhappily, yes. So has the cost of cancer research. Ten years ago a simple lab measuring cup cost 39 cents, today it's 49 cents. And a basic laboratory mouse was 27 cents. Today, 44 cents. And the cost of sophisticated equipment, with which we may find the answer to the cancer riddle, has skyrocketed. For instance, the minimum magnification electron microscope cost $35,000 in 1960. Today one is the price of a luxury home — $47,000.

The American Cancer Society must raise even more money to support vital research. But recently the Society was forced to turn down applications already approved that amounted to over fifteen million dollars, because the money was not there. That means two out of every five approved applications were rejected for lack of funds.

Never was money so important to realize a potential that is so near at hand. If every American would review these facts thoughtfully, and give a little more to the American Cancer Society, that extra mouse, that extra test tube, that extra microscope might help make the difference between cancer tragedy and cancer cure.

Floyd County Migrant Health Receives Grant

The Floyd County Migrant Health Office last week received approval for another year of operation. Notice was received, in a letter dated April 3 from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Community Health Services of Texas, of the approval of a grant in the amount of $54,380 for the Floyd County Migrant Health unit.

The year beginning April 1 marks the sixth year that the program here has been funded by the HEW.

Practically all of the money granted to the Migrant Health Service here is spent in Floyd County, according to County Auditor O. M. Watson Jr. Last year over $53,000 was spent in the county. The Migrant Health money goes for drugs, hospital lab work, travel in the county by two registered nurses and a sanitarian, and salaries for the six persons employed by the Migrant Health operation here, including Mrs. Billie Jordan and Mrs. Evelyn Ulmer, registered nurses; Choise Smith, sanitarian; Mrs.

Beverly Kincer, secretary; Mrs. Amanda Torrez, nurse's aide; and Judge J. K. Holmes, director of the project.

The Service provides medical and health services for migrants, and in addition works for all county residents, offering such services as vaccination clinics at schools, working with school nurses, helping with recent TB tests, and testing suspected rabid animals.

Reciprocity

A romance of long standing had gone on the rocks, and a friend was questioning the would-be bridegroom.

"Why, after all these years," he inquired, "did you break your engagement to Mary?"

"Well," replied the other sadly, "I only did to the engagement what she did to me."
