CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The Rev. Edwin Dale Baker, whom most of us call just Dale, Tuesday morning after a month's traveling over the Mid-West States. During his absence from the pulpit, the Rev. Dr. Lindeman, Minister of the Conference of Congregational Christian Churches, brought greetings from the sister churches and three fine messages that were appreciated by the entire group.

The first lap of Mr. Bager's trip took him to Grinnell, Iowa where the General Council of Congregational Christian Churches was held on the campus of Grinnell College. The council was opened by an address by Dr. Douglas Horton, minister of the Council, and election of a moderator for the forthcoming biennial. Dr. Albert Palmer, President of Chicago Theological Seminary, now Radio Minister of the First Church of Los Angeles, to succeed Dr. Ronald Bridges, President of Pacific School of Religion, as moderator. The General Council celebrated the 100th Anniversary of the American Missionary Association, first organized by John Quincy Adams, U. S. President, for the cultural and educational advancement of negroes. The theological implication of the Atomic Bomb was given serious attention, along with other pertinent issues facing the world, such as famine relief in Europe, and a world order based on Christian ideals. The proposed merger of the Congregationalist with the Evangelical and Reformed Church was given serious consideration and the consensus of opinion was that a favorable action would be taken in the near future.

The Church Arts Guild was on hand to remind all that the arts were still the hand maidens of the Church.

From the Genera Council, Mr. Baker went to Doane College, Crete, Neb. for the National Council of Pilgrim Fellowship. Here some 250 young people met to discuss problems facing the world and their relationship to God, and how Christian youth could throw their influence on the side of Right in their generation. The last two weeks were spent in Home Missionary work at Pleasant Hill.

Services here at Union Church will be Sunday School at 10 a. m., Otho Whitefield, Supt. Summer Sanctuary Service at 11 a. m. "The Contemporary Christ" will be Mr. Baker's subject. Pilgrim Fellowship will meet in the church basement at 7:30 for recreation and devotions.

Lubbock Fair to Feature Midget Auto Races

LUBBOCK, Texas, July 20—Panhandle South Plains Fair officials announced this week that midget auto races, a sport new to the Plains that is sweeping the country like wildfire, will be run each afternoon of the Fair, October 7-12, at the Fairgrounds in Lubbock. Corky Benson and J. T. Wolfe, promoters, have a seven event card lined up for the dust-free races, top billing being given the 25-lap contest which will wind up each day's program.

Other events included in the races are three 10-lap elimination contests, a 10-lap consolation race, time trials, and a two-lap trophy race. Fifteen to thirty drivers from all over the Southwest will compete on the one-fifth mile track.

Wolfe and Benson will also stage weekly races at the Fairgrounds commencing Saturday, July 27, and continuing up to the date of the Fair.

Time trials will be held at 8:00 p. m. each Saturday. Races start at 8:30. Admission is $1.00 plus tax for adults and 50c plus tax for children.

New Additions to Building Finished

During the past few months workmen have been busy at building to the rear of the rooms occupied by the Roden-Beene Drug store and to the Welch Auto Supply store, and this addition has recently been completed and the extension occupied by the above named business concerns.

Both rooms have been appropriately furnished and are being stocked with additional goods in each of the two lines of merchandise.

One side of the extension to the drug store is furnished with dinette tables for serving ice cream or cold drinks. On the south side of the auto supply store, has been built a very neat office room, and both rooms are air conditioned and comfortable.

GUESTS IN WHITEFIELD HOME

Two boys, Bill and Randall Whitefield, arrived here last week from Long Beach, California, for an extended visit with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Whitefield, of Lakeview community.

Bill is aged 12 years and Randall 9, and they came by train, unaccompanied. They were in Friona Monday with their cousin, Otho Whitefield, and favored the Stan office with a short visit. While here Bill made himself busy with the typewriters and the stick, and we were much surprised to learn that one so young would know anything about type setting, until he stated that practice in printing is a part of the curriculum at the school he attends.

Freak Car Wreck Causes Injuries, Heavy Damages

A car wreck or automobile collision, which happened, according to report, on Highway "60," about a half mile west of Friona, on Thursday night of last week did heavy damage to two of the cars concerned and caused great suffering to some of the inmates of the cars.

We, of the Star, have made considerable inquiry in regard to the matter from this and that source, so that our information is only fragmentary, and we cannot endorse the accuracy of it.

According to the information we have gathered, a car containing a man and his family, purported to be Mexicans, stopped at a filling station here on the highway to secure gas and were accosted by some young men, who told him to leave the city or be run out. When the man had secured his gasoline he started his car on down the highway and the young men, apparently in a spirit of fun overtook him and were pushing his car down the road at a high speed, and on reaching the curve in the road west of town, they thought to end their chase and stopped their car, but the bumpers of the two cars had become locked together and the jerk occasioned when the rear car stopped and the bumpers broke loose from the other, caused the front car to veer across the pavement directly in front of a car that was traveling east, which caused the collision. Both cars, according to the report, were almost demolished.

The east bound car was driven by a man, reported to be a Greek minister and was accompanied by his wife and daughter. The young lady suffered severe lacerations and bruises, but her parents were not hurt seriously. Dr. Hampton was called and administered first aid and the family were brought to the Friona hotel, where they remained until Tuesday.

According to the fragmentary information, the people in the west bound car were all injured, the driver seriously, and they were taken to a hospital at Clovis for treatment. Word received later were to the effect that the man died; but the latest information received Wednesday afternoon, stated that such report was incorrect, and that the injured man was discharged from the hospital Monday morning.

COGITATIONS and APHORISMS of Jodok

JUST WONDERING IF, after all, religion may not be of prime, or at least equal importance with politics. Anyway, attended church again Sunday, but not at home. It was in a neighboring city, in the home or church of another denomination, and, of course, a different choir did the singing and a different minister preached the sermon, and, so far as this effusion is concerned, the entire audience was composed of strangers and the only three names that were learned were those of the pastor and two members of the congregation.

It was the same church attended a year ago, or more definitely speaking, the first Sunday in July, 1945, which was then the occasion of the regular observance of the Lord's Supper, and the minister at that time did not preach a sermon, and this time, although being the third Sunday in July, was also the day for the same observance, but this time the minister preached a sermon in addition to the other services, and, although the sermon was somewhat in the nature of a routine sacrament sermon, it was also filled with interest and encouragement for all those who are interested in the real WAY OF LIFE, and was truly enjoyed.

And the young man who delivered the sermon seemed to be thoroughly imbued with the spirit of the message he delivered, and this added another touch of interest, and, although there were more people in attendance than at the church where the two preceding sermons were delivered, that sanctuary lacked quite a lot of being filled to the extent of a comfortable capacity, and there were lots of people, who, by their absence, missed hearing a sermon that could not have been otherwise than helpful to any who are interested in a more perfect fulfillment of the requisites of a Christian life. It was a pleasure to be there.

But something else of a somewhat disconcerting nature has arisen with the fact that in last week's effusion, the part or portion that was directed or devoted to politics was entirely omitted in the printed form. When the end of the part devoted to religion was reached, the effusion stopped as abruptly as though nothing else had been said.

As to just why this was done, no light has been shed. A copy of the effusion was kept at home; it has been carefully read and re-read in an effort to find something that might have been construed as spiteful or otherwise disrespectful to Mr. Truman, and the effusion was also read to at least three other men, all of whom were good and fair-minded men and each of them stated that there was nothing that might have been harmful to Mr. Truman or any other person, even though he may have disagreed with the statements contained in the effusion.

It was understood that Mr. Truman was wholly within his constitutional rights when he vetoed the OPA measure that was passed by the body of men, whose constitutional duty is the enactment of laws for the governing of our people, and that his veto constituted no breach of the constitution or of any law of the land, and that the effusion acknowledged the fact that it was willing to follow and to submit to whatever may be the will of a majority of the members of that lawmaking body. The OPA measure was a hotly contested matter in both the Senate and the House, and the fact must be admitted that each member of the body as a whole had the undisputed and constitutional right to his honest opinion on the matter, and the measure was purely and wholly a compromise measure, and voted for or adopted by a majority of the members of the law-making body as a whole, and under our form of government, the majority is supposed to rule. Then when Mr. Truman vetoed the measure, what else did he do but invoke the policy of a MINORITY rule?

The above three paragraphs constitute the sum and substance of last week's effusion, and wherein has anything been said that is derogatory or unjust to any man? Mr. Truman has his prerogatives, the same as any other citizen, and he acted wholly within and in accord with those prerogatives. And the same can be said of each and every member of the law-making body, and it is supposed that he or they exercised the rights of his or their prerogatives. Therefore, why was that portion of the effusion edited away from the linotype?

True, the sentiments may not have been wholly in accord to the opinions of the editor, and, true, the editor is also entitled to his prerogatives and opinions, and he is wholly within his rights as an editor in not permitting anything he dislikes to appear in his paper, but, so long as there was no libel or other slanderous expressions contained in the said effusion, or, if such an interpretation could be placed upon it, there is no apparent evidence that such an interpretation was intended, is the blue-penciling of that portion of the effusion an act of justice?

It is understood that our constitution gives to all the privilege of "Freedom of Speech," and since that portion of the effusion was simply an expression of the writer's view point, why then the blue pencil. It is also understood that the constitutional right of "Freedom of the Press" is granted to citizens of our country. If an editor can blue pencil anything that does not suit his view, where is the freedom of the press?

Now, so far as the writer of this effusion is concerned, there is positively no harm done, no peevishness and no ill will entertained, and it is admitted that the editor of the little home paper was acting within his professional rights and within his own prerogatives, but it seemed like a good place to air a fault that is practiced all over the land by editors both great and small, and should the custom become universal, would eventually mean the wiping out of our vaunted freedom of speech and freedom of the press.

Well, the political campaign for the nomination of officers, and in this locality means or is, equivalent to election, is drawing to a close and so far as Parmer County is concerned, the campaign has been one of the cleanest and fairest ever fought here, or any other place, for that matter, and, so far as has been heard, the candidates have gone about their campaigning in a truly friendly and good-natured manner, and the custom commonly known as "mud-slinging" has not been adopted in a single instance by either the candidates or their friends. They are just trying to see whose pole will knock the most pessimists.

True, the man voted for by the individual voter may not be the man he voted for, but, regardless of who may be elected, it will be known that he is a good, fair, honest and clean man, and fully fitted for the duties of the office to which he may be elected.

And so be it. Do you note anything peculiar about this effusion?

Already the highway death rate is 45 per cent ABOVE last year! WHY? Because lack of parts and lack of service have made millions of cars more liable to unexpected failure at critical moments of stress. And because six to ten year old cars just can't stand up under pre-war speeds and driving habits. The Texas Safety Association says, "Drive as though your life depended upon it—IT DOES!"

Texas U Graduate Winner of Safety Award for Safe Driving Editorial

A series of editorials on Texas highway traffic deaths embracing suggestions designed to lessen the death toll, won the annual Clarence E. Gilmore Safety Contest this year for Bo Byers, University of Texas graduate student and journalism tutor.

Byers who formerly worked on newspapers at Tyler and Marshall proposed more common-sense practices by drivers and an increase in the state highway patrol force as methods of reducing the number of traffic deaths which are increasing.

The safety contest award—$40 this year—is financed from interest on a fund left to the university and named in honor of the late Clarence E. Gilmore, former member of the Railroad Commission, and an early worker in the Texas Safety Association. The editorials are written on assignment in a journalism course. Committee men who judged the 16 entries were Paul J. Thompson, DeWitt Reddick and Granville Price, all of the university's department of journalism.

The prize-winning editorial follows:

PHANTOM KILLER

by Bo Byers
University of Texas journalism graduate student and tutor in journalism, winner of the 1946 Clarence E. Gilmore Safety Contest Award.

A phantom killer has murdered five persons in Texas, and the people of that city are in a state of jitters.

A phantom killer took the lives of 1,502 persons on Texas highways in 1945 and had taken another 394 up to April 29 of this year. Yet this killer has caused no jitters among the populace of Texas.

This killer is the Careless Driver. He is as much a phantom as the man who has committed the Texarkana murders, for the victims of the Careless Driver never know in which car the murderer rides.

And YOU may be the Careless Driver who will add another name to the list of Texas traffic casualties.

You say you are not a Careless Driver? Are you sure? That means you never drive at high speeds despite tires so old and worn they may blow out at any moment.

You never drive with your car headlights on a high beam when another car is approaching. You never pass a car on the hill.

You have not violated a single traffic regulation during the past week.

Slow down, Mr. and Mrs. Texas. Would you swear under oath to all those statements? Don't take a chance on becoming another Texas killer. Don't be a Careless Driver.

Hot Weather Is Hazard to Tires

With the thermometer hovering around 90-100 degrees these summer days, motorists are warned by the Texas Safety Association that their worn and early synthetic tires cannot stand speed.

It is pointed out that disastrous blowouts, caused by friction-heated tires, can easily throw the speeding car out of control. The greater the speed, the more heat is generated. In hot weather the heat within the tires can shoot above the boiling point, reducing tire life to only 60 per cent of the normal.

Veterans Advised to Go Slow When Converting Life Insurance Policies

The Veterans Administration has advised not to be too hasty about converting Service Life Insurance term policies to permanent insurance. But after the veteran has "re-converted" to civilian life, and settled down in a steady job, it's time for him to determine how much money he can afford to convert his policy accordingly. But he has ample time in which to make the conversion. If his policy was issued before Jan. 1, 1946, he may convert it anytime within eight years after the date of issue. If the policy was issued on or after that date, he has five years from the issue date in which to convert to permanent insurance. At present, term policies can be converted to one of three types of permanent insurance. Each has certain advantages, and the veteran should exercise great care in selecting the type of permanent policy he wants. The types are:
TWENTY-PAYMENT LIFE—Under this plan the policy becomes fully paid up after the veteran pays premiums for 20 years. The premium rate depends on the veteran's age at the time he converts. For example, a 25-year-old veteran will pay $2.12 monthly per $1000 of insurance, a 30-year-old veteran will pay $2.31, and so on.
THIRTY-PAYMENT LIFE—The premiums here are lower than for 20-pay life insurance, but the policy becomes fully paid up after the veteran has made premium payments for 30 years. A 25-year-old veteran pays $1.67 monthly for each $1000 of this type of insurance, and a 20-year-old pays $1.83.
ORDINARY LIFE—Premium rates for ordinary life policies are lower than for the other two types of insurance, but premiums must be paid as long as the veteran lives. The premium rate depends on the veteran's age at the time he converts his policy. The monthly rate for a 25-year-old is $1.37 per $1000 of insurance, for a 30-year-old $1.56. No matter which of the three permanent insurance plans he selects, the veteran will be getting a bargain. For full information, and assistance in converting your insurance, visit the nearest regional, sub-regional or contact office of the Veterans Administration. There's one nearby.

Cox Urges Girls Consider Public Health Nursing

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, is appealing to young women high school graduates to seriously consider the public health nursing profession as a career when re-entering school this fall. "Public health nursing offers young women opportunities for lifetime careers which are highly useful and satisfactory. Demands for professional nurses now exceed the supply in public health and other fields of work," Dr. Cox said. "Possibilities of travel, varied experience, income, and other features of the profession compare very favorably with those open to women in other careers." Education for nursing is available in 37 schools in Texas and enrollment is now under way for fall classes, which open about September 1. All schools still have vacancies. Applicants should be graduates of high school or have some college credit, with a record of good scholastic standing, be in good physical condition, and of high moral character. An interest in people and their problems, also ability to work well with one's hands is necessary. Prerequisite training in public health nursing includes a 36-month course including vacations. Medical, surgical, obstetric, pediatric, psychiatric and communicable disease nursing are studied. Completion of courses entitles the individual to the diploma of the School and to take State Board Examinations leading to the R. N. Certificate.

U. S. Bond Sales Up During July Says Treasury

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 24 —Americans bought $139,057,000 more of U. S. Savings Bonds during the first half of July than in the first half of June, National Savings Bonds Director Vernon L. Clark reported today. Sales surged up 45.7 per cent above the mid-June figure to reach $443,514,000, the best half-month's volume since January. "This marked increase resulted from the Treasury's 'Back Your Future' June-July Savings Bonds Promotion which stressed investment in bonds as security for the future and their purchase as a check against inflation," Mr. Clark said. While sales were increasing, redemptions were holding steady Department to thank newspapers, radio and other publicity and advertising media and their advertisers for tremendous support in space and time devoted to urging Americans to buy and hold savings bonds. Mr. Clark expressed his appreciation to Texans for their support through Mr. Nathan Adams, Chairman of the Treasury's Advisory Committee for Texas. The half-month report for the nation showed E Bond sales up 28.5 per cent, from $175,334,000 in the first half of June to $225,237,000 in the comparable July period. At the same time E Bond redemptions dropped from $261,771,000 to $258,325,000 in July, a decrease of 1.3 per cent. In all series, sales were at the highest rate since January, 1946 and E Bond redemptions at the lowest since July, 1945.

at the new 1946 low achieved in June, according to Mr. Clark's report. "It does not take an economist to figure out from these facts that Americans are convinced savings bonds are both profitable and safe and not to be sacrificed except in a real emergency," said Mr. Clark. The director took the occasion on behalf of the Treasury
