A FEW THINGS WORTH KNOWING

Dr. Cox, State Health Officer, gives the following worthwhile advice: "There are many persons who naturally hoard anything and everything including old clothes, boxes and other useless articles... but a very real danger is present when this tendency is applied to hoarding old medicine in any form. Self medication with the use of leftover drugs which were of benefit to some previous illness, can sometimes turn a simple ailment into a very serious condition of actual poisoning. This is particularly true of indiscriminate use of sulfa drugs which have been prescribed for some previous specific occasion. When they are no longer needed, destroy the remaining medicine immediately," Dr. Cox said.

new war-born chemical called 2-4-D (dichlorophenoxyacetic acid) now available to operators of vacation grounds and owners of summer homes and camps. When sprayed on poison ivy plants, this running mate of the other new chemical wonder, DDT, will render the obnoxious weed totally harmless. 1,600 square feet of a weed-infested area can be covered with approximately $1.00 worth of the chemical 2-4-D, or Weed-No-More.

From the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, comes the following information: "South Plains residents and others will have their first good opportunity to see the aircraft their young men flew in and worked on during the war, when they attend the Lubbock National Aeronautics Association show at the Lubbock Municipal Airport, June 23, at 10:00 a. m. The Army Air Forces will have all types of planes from the super-speed jet propelled P-80 to the AT-7 lined up for public inspection."

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

The American Legion, Post No. 206, held its regular meeting Tuesday night. Among those who were present was Buddie Roy Price of Amarillo who still holds his Legion membership in the Friona Post.

Roy is well posted in the legal rights of the Veterans, and as well posted on the proper procedure for filing applications for same and getting them favorably acted upon by the government.

Following is a portion of a press release, which seems to be of vital importance to the Veterans of both World War I and World War II, and we are giving it here for their especial benefit, as it is information they might not otherwise receive: "The Veterans State Service has established an office with the VA Lubbock Regional office, with Charles L. Morris, a World War II veteran, as its representative. Morris arrived at Lubbock, June 3rd, with Charles A. Osborn as assistant director of the V.S.S.O."

"This service was created by the State legislature, and has as its purpose, the assistance of veterans in filing and perfecting claims against the U. S. government, incident to service in the armed forces. It acts as their personal representative, or attorney, in presenting their claims to the Rating Boards, reviewing the action by the Rating Boards, and otherwise protecting the interest of the individual veteran, the same as the attorney guards the interest of his client."

"At present there is a representative of the V.S.S.O. in each V.A. regional office and hospital in Texas, for the sole purpose of rendering such assistance to the veterans and their dependents in co-operation with the Veterans Administration."

The 26 Texas counties, comprising the Texas Panhandle, which, for years, have been under the jurisdiction of the Oklahoma office of the Veterans Administration, will now have their own regional office at Lubbock, as is above stated. This announcement was made by P. T. Lunquist, manager of the VA administration at Muskogee, Oklahoma.

Public Law, 383, of the 79th Congress, which provides for the removal of the bodies of American Service Men, who are buried in foreign lands, to within the continental limits of the United States, at government expense, was approved May 16. Under this law families will have one of four optional services, as follows:

Having the remains returned to the United States for burial in a National Cemetery near their home. Return of the remains to American territory for burial by next of kin, in a private cemetery. Cremation at government expense is also authorized.

Burying the deceased in a permanent American Military Cemetery overseas.

Foreign-born American dead may also be buried in a private cemetery in their native land. But such shipment to a foreign land is dependent upon the ability of the U. S. to secure an entry permit.

In each of the above options, the government pays all expenses.

"The War Department asks that next-of-kin of men buried overseas, who have changed their address since being notified of the death to write now and give their correct address. Current addresses of next-of-kin should be mailed to:

Army—Quarter Master General, Memorial Division, War Department, Washington 25, D. C.

Navy—Bureau of Medicine and Surgery (EDC), Navy Department, Washington 25, D. C.

Marine Corps—Commandant Marine Corps, Casualty Section, Washington 25, D. C.

Coast Guard—Commandant U. S. Coast Guard, Casualty Section, Washington 25, D. C.

To insure an orderly administration of the law, War Department urges that next-of-kin await receipt of inquiry seeking Voting on the proposed sewer system bond issue will take place Tuesday, June 18, at the Reeve Chevrolet building. Polls will open at 8 a. m., close at 7 p. m.

Those who are qualified voters are those covered by the following articles:

"All qualified electors of this State, as described in these two Articles, who shall have resided for six months immediately preceding an election within the limits of any city or incorporated town shall have the right to vote for mayor or all other elective officers; but in all elections to determine the expenditure of money or assumption of debt, or issuance of bonds, only those shall be qualified to vote who pay taxes on property in such City or incorporated town."

This does not mean only real estate, but includes also personal property, and those who have paid taxes on same shall be qualified to vote if their poll taxes have been paid.

We urge you to vote if you are eligible as this is the only way your city officials will know how to determine whether or not you want a sewer system.

Sample ballot, with instructions for marking same, will be found in this issue of The Star.

Hospital Notes

The blueprints for the hospital have been finished, and we have copies of the general plans and specification, as well as the mechanical. Advertising for bids has begun already, and bids will close July 2 at 2 p. m. It is not known how soon after the acceptance of a bid that the building will be started. The fact still remains that we are eager to get started!

A water color prospective of the building is on display at the hospital office.

COGITATIONS and APHORISMS of Jodok

Someone has asked me to write a column about what Friona needs. That would, indeed, require quite a long column to hold all that, even if I or any other mortal were wise enough to know just what those things are. However, one might write a summary of some of the things most needful to make Friona grow in population, business enterprise, economic wealth and outstanding cultural opportunities.

Another person has said that cities do not grow—they must be built—and if that is true, the fundamental things that go into the building of a city, should be the first things to be secured; such as good business facilities—we have them. Good educational facilities—we have them in the form of a State Accredited High School, with the grades on a par in excellence. For music, we have a number of highly capable instructors in practically all branches of the art, including the vocal art; and our high school band under the excellent tutelage and direction of Mr. P. F. Williams has reached a stage of excellence in performance, rarely equalled; and our school athletics have been keeping pace with the other schools of the districts, and on two occasions the girls' basketball team have failed by only a very few points of becoming the state champions.

Religious training is also receiving due attention and our churches are supplied with energetic and capable pastors, so that the religious and moral status of the city and surrounding communities is peer to any community large or small.

With the above necessary features taken care of, it occurs to me that public utilities might be the next serious need in building a city, such as we would all like for Friona to become, and along that line we have what are usually considered the most important, such as water system, electricity for both power and light, telephones for local use and for connection with practically the entire outside portions of the earth; and we have an abundance of natural gas at the disposal of all residents of the city, and for those who live away from the gas lines, the butane system has come in to supply those who prefer to use it. So we have water, light, heat and communication.

Probably the next to be considered in the line of necessary public utilities, is a sewer system, that will accommodate the entire city, and such a proposition is already under consideration and the necessary surveys have already been made and the blue prints are ready for use, and an election has been called by the City's Fathers for the purpose of determining whether or not the people of the city want such a service bad enough to be willing to pay the price thereof.

Now, we have reached the point where the city leaves off and we the people take over. The city has practically reached the end of its "growing" stage, and the process of "building" must begin if Friona is ever to become the kind of a city we all desire it to be. Are we willing to put our hands to the plow and drive steadily forward until this goal is accomplished? It is clearly to be seen that our city's growth is now clearly up to the people.

It has now reached a point in its growth, where the general

I am merely calling these facts to your attention and plead with you to WEIGH THE MATTER WELL before you cast your vote.

Now, so far as I can see without prophetic spectacles, that brings us up to the matter of pleasure, passtime or recreation, and woe is me, if I should put myself up as an oracle capable of selecting such a manner or place or kind of means of such pleasures, passtimes or recreation as would suit the masses of the people. I can but mention a few that have been mentioned in my presence, and these include—race tracks for horses and dogs, shooting galleries for marksmen, a beer vendory for those who like beer, so it may be sold openly just as ice cream and coke are sold at the drug stores; then others want a swimming pool for public use, and still others ask for road houses within the city limits or on both sides of it.

Personally, I feel that either or all of these proposed pleasures haunts will do me no harm, and I will patronize either or all of them as I care to; but, on the other hand, either or all of them may do harm to some one who is very near and dear to me, which would hurt me much worse than if the hurt was done to me individually. I speak only for myself, but I have always patronized such places of pleasure all I cared to and I believe I can defy any physician to find one physical blight or any minister to find a single moral blight in my character, as a direct result of having patronized such places. And if all others will patronize them in the same way and to the same extent, none of us will be hurt, save the parties who operate them.

But I have been thinking ahead of my writing and have neglected to mention the public dance hall, which should be open at all times and free to any and all who cared to patronize it. (And you should notice that I have said nothing against dancing, or skating or swimming.)

And just one more paragraph about the subject of public health, and that is that we feel that we are, as a city and community, already well on the way to a first class hospital, which cannot be at its best without the services of a competent sewer system. And another thought about health—let us not override the benefits of the hospital and decrease its efficiency by over crowding it at any time by victims of a plague or scourge of contagious disease that we might easily have prevented by voting for a sewer system.

People over 45 years of age now comprise more than a quarter of the population of the United States, or about twice the proportion of a century ago.

HORSE AND BUGGY DAYS

The Star is not saying that we have returned to the "Horse and Buggy" day, as of old, but Friona did have a small sample of those good old times displayed on her streets, Monday evening just at dark.

Some weeks ago, when Bill Flippin was over in New Mexico, to buy some saddle horses, he came across an old time buggy and the nag that had been used for drawing it, and purchased the nag with the understanding that the owner would sell the buggy also, and he brought it home with him.

At odd times he contrived a one-horse buggy harness, and Monday evening he harnessed and hitched the little nag to a vehicle and after a few trips around the pasture, and finding the nag worked nicely, he and Orma boarded the outfit for a ride down town.

At the side of the highway they met Misses Ethel and Mildred Taylor, and boards having been laid across the buggy bed to serve as a seat, they extended an invitation to the girls to ride with them, which was accepted, and they drove south on Summit ave., to the home of Miss Lora Mae McFarland, who also accepted an invitation for a ride, and Bill got out and waited there for their return. The four ladies (on just one seat) then drove south to Sixth street, and thence east to Main, then north to Eighth, then west to Miss McFarland's home.

On reaching Main street, Miss McFarland stated that she used to drive a buggy, and was given the reins for another try at it, and proved herself quite adept at it even without recent practice. She disembarked at her home and Bill, who was becoming uneasy, lest something may have happened, again got aboard and the drive continued to the home of the Misses Taylor, and from there to the place of beginning.

When the Taylor sisters boarded the buggy, their dog expressed a desire to ride too, so he was taken aboard, and as they drove along he expressed his delight with the ride, by giving little yelps of joy, which he was doing as they passed the Congregational Church, where Friona's gang of hobo dogs, that has its rendezvous thereabouts, came dashing out to see who the intruder might be, but not finding him, the dogs began chasing themselves in circles around the building while the little dog continued his ride, still giving vent to his yelps of glee.

Dr. Hampton's two small sons arrived here from Dallas, Saturday night, to spend their summer vacation with him. They seem to be enjoying Friona A-1.

Word arrived here Sunday bringing the information that Mr. Bayliss, of Muleshoe had been seriously injured while working under a car at his garage. The jack supporting the car gave way and the car fell on his head and shoulder.

His daughter-in-law, Nurse Virginia Bayliss went to Muleshoe to attend him at the hospital there, but his injuries were not considered so serious as at first thought, and she returned to Friona, Monday.

The small son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lloyd became seriously ill the latter part of last week, and he was taken to the hospital at Hereford. It is reported that his malady is heart trouble.

Veterans Office Opens at Lubbock Serving Plains

A new Veterans Administration regional office opened officially on Monday, June 3, at Lubbock, with Robert W. Sisson as regional manager.

The 26 counties comprising the Texas Panhandle which for four years have been under jurisdiction of the Oklahoma office of the Veterans Administration, have been transferred to the new Lubbock headquarters.

The change was announced last week by P. T. Lunquist, manager of the V. A. center at Muskogee.

Lunquist stated that it was the policy of General Omar Bradley, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, to bring the services of the V. A. as closely to the homes of the veterans as possible, and pointed out that much more prompt and efficient service will be available to the veterans of the panhandle through the Lubbock office.

Effort is being made to have the regional office in full operation within a few days, Sisson has announced. The Lubbock

Veterans Planning to Enter College Should Get Eligibility Certificates

Veterans in this area who plan to enroll in college for the first time this fall should apply immediately for their certificates of eligibility, if they wish to take advantage of free schooling and subsistence benefits offered by the government. Veterans Administration offices expect a flood of certificate applications during late summer and early fall, and the veteran who applies now will be sure of getting his certificate without undue delay.

A veteran may apply for his certificate of eligibility at any Veterans Administration regional office or at a VA contact office in a small town.

Any veteran who served at least 90 days (or less if discharged because of service-incurred disability), part of it on or after Sept. 16, 1940, and was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, is entitled to one year's schooling. In addition, he is entitled to a period of schooling equal to the length of time he spent on active duty in the armed forces. Accordingly, a veteran of 2 1-2 years' service is eligible for 3 1-2 years' schooling.

No period of eligibility can extend beyond four years, and the veteran must begin his schooling within four years after his discharge or the official end of the war, whichever is later (the official end of the war has not yet been declared by Congress). Schooling must be completed within nine years after the end of the war.

The Veterans Administration will pay tuition and other normal charges up to $500 a school
