30,000 Bales Cotton Ginned In County

Back in the fall, the cotton specialists forecast 140,000 bales for Floyd County. Now, after an almost final count by Bob Hambright of the Texas Employment Commission, it looks like the forecasters may have missed it just a little.

Hambright made a gin by gin count Friday of every gin in the county and tallied a total of 129,099 bales weighed across the scales. Although several gins have closed down for the season, a few still get enough cotton to keep going... mostly in the south part of the county. Some gins in the north part of the county have been finished for two or three weeks.

Hambright said the ginners estimated another 3,000 bales to be ginned, bringing the total somewhere around 133,000 bales.

This is around 10,000 more bales than ginned last year. Of course this year's crop has been much much better quality and an all time high in price.

AREA COTTON REPORT

The South Plains cotton harvest is now virtually complete, according to Paul R. Dickson, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the U.S.D.A. However, ginning, sampling and classing continue because of the volume of cotton remaining in trailers and in ricks.

Samples from 2,203,000 bales had been classed at the Lubbock, Brownfield, Lamesa and Levelland offices through Friday, January 11.

Personnel at the four offices tested and classed samples from 150,000 bales during the week ending the 11th.

Quality of cotton continued excellent and this crop continues to be one of the highest quality crops ever produced on the South Plains.

Grades 31 and 41 continued the predominant grades at Lubbock, making up 71 percent of all classed. Grade 31 made up 17 percent, Grade 41, 54 percent, Grade 32, 12 percent and Grade 42, 9 percent.

Staples continued predominantly 30 to 32. Sixty-three percent had staple lengths of 31 and shorter and the remaining thirty-seven percent stapled 32 and longer.

Micronaire readings also continued excellent. Seventy-eight percent of all cotton tested at Lubbock had micronaire readings in the premium range of 3.5 to 4.9, 6 percent was in the high micronaire range of 5.0 to 5.2 and 2 percent was in the very high range of 5.3 and above.

The Agricultural Marketing Service of the U.S.D.A. reported slow trading on the Lubbock market the past week. Prices were $5.00 to $10.00 per bale lower. Demand continued strongest for cotton with staple lengths of 31 and longer but was strong for cotton with staple lengths of 29 and 30. Prices ranged from 3000 points over the Government Loan for short staple cotton up to 4600 points over the loan for long staple cotton. Typical lots were bringing an average of 40 cents per pound over the loan and were selling in the price range of 55 to 65 cents per pound.

Average prices paid for the most predominant qualities in the 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire range were: Grade 31, Staple 30 - 53.65 cents per pound, Grade 31, Staple 31 - 60.40, Grade 31, Staple 32 - 64.40, Grade 41, Staple 30 - 52.70, Grade 41, Staple 31 - 59.25 and Grade 41, Staple 32 - 62.95.

Cottonseed prices were steady and farmers received $95 to $110 per ton.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES — Texas Highway Department personnel started Monday the task of taking down those old-fashioned 70-mile-per-hour (65 night) speed-limit signs and putting up these modern 55-mile-per-hour notices. Pictured with two of the new signs are Jessie D. Davis, maintenance foreman for the Floyd County office of the Highway Department and sign man Henry Finley. Davis estimated it would take two days to replace the 60 speed-limit signs in the county, at an approximate cost of $600. The signs go on 289 miles of state, U.S., and farm-to-market roads in the county. Enforcement of the 55-mile-per-hour limit starts at 12:01 a.m. January 20. (Staff Photo by Jim Huggins)

Floydada Livestock Auction Sets Record 2750 Head Cattle

The Floydada Livestock Auction set two records Thursday as the huge total of 2750 head of cattle were sold from 11 a.m. Thursday until 4 a.m. Friday.

The wheat has received no moisture since being planted unless it was irrigated.

The second reason was the fact that cattle prices recently took an uptrend. Area farmers and ranchers don't want to risk keeping the livestock with plenty of cold weather left and little or no grazing.

Long lines of cattle in trucks and trailers began forming in front of and down the highway from the sales barn Wednesday afternoon.

Auction owner John McCandless said there were two reasons for the big sale. First, livestock are being taken off the wheat pasture as cattle are beginning to pull the wheat up by the roots. Other than the little ice storm

McCandless said cattle were hauled to Floydada from as far away as the Crowell area, Lubbock, Ralls, Dumont, and Afton just to mention a few. He said they brought good prices.

Project Is Nearing Reality; Auxiliary Needs $300 More

A dream, followed by a project of securing funds, is about to become a reality, if the Caprock Hospital Auxiliary can be receipts of some $300 more dollars. When this is achieved they will have $1,500 to purchase for Caprock Hospital a life saving concept, the Survival Stretcher.

Their project to get the system for the hospital began last May and through donations and memorials they have come close to their goal.

Members are very appreciative of all donations and wish to thank all who have contributed. They are now endeavoring to raise $300 more through the generosity of those wishing to give or to those wishing to give a memorial in honor of a loved one.

Members feel the Survival Stretcher will be a great asset to Caprock Hospital. It will be used for a possible cardiac arrest or any other emergency which may arise. It is designed to meet emergency needs which may arise in our community and is a must for the hospital. Auxiliary members feel.

Donations may be mailed or you may call any member of the Auxiliary, Mmes. John Fowler, Sam Fowler, W.O. Tye, Bill Smith, or Emma Lou Whitaker.

Country Club Shareholders Meet Scheduled Thursday

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Floydada Country Club will be held at 8 p.m., Thursday, January 24 in the Massie Activity Center in Floydada. It is very important that all shareholders attend this meeting as some very important business will be voted on.

The board of directors would much prefer that each shareholder attend in person and vote, instead of giving a proxy vote to someone who knows much less about his business.

Some of the items that will be presented to the membership will be (1) the construction of nine (9) more holes on the golf course; (2) the construction of a new clubhouse; (3) a change of the by-laws to permit raising of dues; (4) election of three new directors to replace Dan Fry, R.L. Knox, Jr., and James Leftwich.

The present board of directors are Alfred Harrison, president; Jim Word, vice president; Dan Fry, secretary-treasurer; and members Kinder Farris, R.L. Knox, James Leftwich and Earnest Smitherman.

NEWSPRINT SHORTAGE HITS HOME. . . In Blanco Printing's nearly-empty warehouse, DE student Rod Enriquez has just loaded the last partial roll of white newsprint on "Big Joe" (the lift truck). The Floydada printing company hopes to receive about 80,000 pounds of paper (about a three-month supply) Monday. Meantime, The Sunday Hesperian is printed (the reader may have noticed) on yellow paper, hopefully a one-time-only arrangement. (Staff Photo by Jim Huggins)

Lack of Funds Scraps Tule Lake Archeological Project

By JERRY SEARCY Globe-News Business Editor

The Panhandle's most important archeological project in decades, threatened with inundation as the excavation area is transformed to a lake, has been stopped in mid-stream by a drought of funds.

A report Wednesday night concerning excavations being undertaken in Tule Canyon near Silverton concluded that grant funds for the project have dried up at the midpoint of its progress.

The Tule project was reviewed for members of the Panhandle Archeological Society by Bill Harrison, curator of anthropology at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum and one of the supervisors of the excavations.

that a survey by the office of the state archeologist has located more than 70 sites in the area to be affected by the reservoir. Only about a dozen of those sites have been excavated to date, he said.

The sites that have been dug since the project began in September were the ones most immediately threatened by creation of the lake, Harrison noted. Many of the remaining sites are on the canyon rim and are in danger of being obliterated when development starts around the lake shore, he added.

Four months of excavations in the canyon have already produced scientific evidence of people ranging from ancient big game hunters to 19th century Indians and Army troopers.

The most important discovery to date, which Harrison described in detail for the society, is a site where prehistoric men killed eight bison of a giant, extinct species. The site has yielded projectile points of a previously unknown type. The points, tentatively dated at about 10,000 years old, suggest the discovery of a new culture that would be among the earliest inhabitants on this continent.

versity anthropology department and director of the Tule project, said the work now coming to an end is only half of the job that needs to be done to recover scientific data from the canyon before it is lost forever.

Hughes suggested that PAS members could be of valuable assistance to the archeological salvage effort by supporting the quest for additional funds for the project.

According to Jim Couzzourt.

the field assistant credited with finding the bison kill site and other significant sites many of the most promising locations in the canyon have not yet been touched.

State archeologist Curtis Tunnell has described the bison kill site as the only discovery of its kind in Texas in more than 30 years. He has been quoted as saying that a discovery of that kind occurs only about once in a decade anywhere in the United States.

Tommy Quisenberry Commended For Rescuing Three Year Old

A former Floydada man, Tommy Quisenberry, has been credited from preventing the possible death of a three year old girl found Monday in an abandoned refrigerator in Plainview near her home.

Quisenberry, a Pioneer Natural Gas employee of Plainview, was checking meters when he first heard the cry from the little girl. Thinking at first it was coming from a small shed, he investigated, then followed the sounds of her crying until he located her inside the abandoned refrigerator.

Investigators reported the child was hot and sweaty when rescued by Quisenberry. A hole was in the bottom of the refrigerator but the unit was sitting on the ground, officials said.

Other news sources said that it didn't matter that air which may have been coming into the unit "could"

Mrs. Colston Secretary Of Museum

Mrs. Billy Don Colston was elected secretary of the Floyd County Historical Museum Board of Directors at their January quarterly meeting.

President of the Museum, Mrs. M.J. McNeill, reported there would be a delay in the "Artist of the Month" showing due to carpenter work being done in the Museum by the Green Thumbers in January and February. The workmen are constructing glass and paneled display boards.

Jim Word reported there would also be a delay in erecting Museum highway markers because Highway Department employees are busy changing speed signs.

A memorial list, started in May of 1973, will soon be published in the local newspaper, the chairman announced.

Fear is kin to both envy and a guilty conscience.

Miss Debbie Kay Miller Bride Of Timothy Tapley

Miss Debra Kay Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Robert Miller of Lockney, became the bride of Timothy Richard Tapley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle E. Tapley of Littlefield, Friday, January 18, in Main Street Church of Christ at 7:30 in the evening. Bobby Hise, minister, performed the double ring ceremony.

In the foyer of the church, Mrs. Charles Findley of Lubbock, registered the guests from a table covered with a white cloth and centered with the bride's book and a white feather pen. Marilyn Smith passed out scrolls at the door.

The couple exchanged vows before an arch made of 24 candles with greenery extending to the floor. Mounds of white roses and greenery accented the setting. On each side of the arch, there were candles leading to the top of the arch entwined with greenery. Following the exchange of vows, the couple lit the Memory candle and "The Wedding Prayer" followed.

Pews were marked with six white tapers in brass holders with ribbons of white velvet and green satin.

Wedding selections were performed by a quartet from Lubbock directed by Terry Looney. Soloist, Dwain Hood, sang "If Ever I Would Leave You."

Maid of honor was Melinda Mims of Lubbock and bridesmatron was Mrs. Danny Harris of El Paso. They wore formal length gowns of emerald green velvet with a chiffon A-line skirt of light emerald green and dark green velvet bodice. The bodice was sleeveless with a small light green chiffon ruffle at the neckline. The matching jacket was chiffon with dark green velvet sleeves. At the end of the sleeves was a ruffle of light green chiffon. They carried green votive candles and matching cups with white roses and greenery.

Best man was Nevill Manning of Lubbock and groomsmen were Hal Porter of Lorraine, Texas. Ushers were: Bob Miller, Jr., of Lubbock, brother of the bride; and Paul Butler of Lubbock, brother-in-law of the groom.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal length gown of white brocade, fashioned with a high neckline and long Camelot sleeves accented with tiny covered buttons. The princess A-line skirt extended into a sweep train flowing from the empire bodice. The headpiece was a Juliet cap of matching brocade holding a full length tier of illusion.

She carried a bridal bouquet of two small Phalaenopsis orchids surrounded with white roses, and greenery tied with wide lace streamers. The bouquet laid upon her Wedding Bible.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church immediately following the ceremony. The bride's portrait was on display in the entry of the hall.

The bride's table was covered with a white peau de soie underskirt and overlaid with a double ruffle of tulle. It was centered with a formal arrangement of cushion poms, candy tuft, and tropical foliage showered with emerald green and white velvet ribbon in a triple silver epergne and white tapers. The centerpiece lay upon the bride's Wedding Bible and bridal bouquet. The table held the traditional 3-tiered wedding cake decorated with a drape of green roses and topped with two love birds with a wedding band and surrounded by wedding bells and flowers. The base of the cake was scalloped with four half cakes. Emerald green napkins imprinted in silver, green punch, party nuts, and green mints accented the table. Crystal appointments were used in serving.

The Groom's table was covered with a floor length green velvet cloth and centered with a fruit arrangement. Coffee was served from a silver service and a bell-shaped chocolate cake decorated with white roses was served on silver cake plates. Rice bags were passed out among the guests. Those assisting in the houseparty were: Mmes. Quinten Adams, Claude Brown, Art Barker, Jr., Kelton Shaw, and Bryan Smith.

The bride chose a 3-piece camel brown pant suit of cashmere knit for her traveling attire. Following a wedding trip of snow skiing in the mountains of New Mexico, the couple will reside at 5302 11th Street, Apt. #104 in Lubbock.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Lockney High School and attended Lubbock Christian College. She is presently employed with Jim Finley and Associates.

Mrs. Buster Terrell, Education chairman, passed around library books on Texas and read the history on Federation. She then gave a short book review on "The Settlers" a story about a Jewish family in a war-torn Palestine during the first World War.

Mrs. Tom Taylor, Fine Arts chairman, told about a new children's TV program

Declaration of Independence from Mexico and fought in the battle of San Jacinto. Our neighboring county was named for Andrew Briscoe.

Dolph Briscoe is an advocate of crime prevention and control. Education is one of his major interests, and he also favors programs for developing tourism and industry, advocates laws against pollution, and laws severely punishing drug pushers.

The name Hobby has become a tradition in Texas government, covering three generations and reaching back 100 years, in the State's history," stated Mrs. George Springer, as she told the life of William P. Hobby, Jr., Lt. Governor of Texas. The father of the Lt. Governor was sworn into office as governor when Governor James Ferguson was removed from office after a stormy trial, and Will Hobby was elected to a full term as Governor the next year.

The mother of the Lt. Governor is not unknown to Texans. She is Oveta Culp Hobby, Commander of the Women's Army Corps (WAC) in World War II. She was also the first Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare on President Eisenhower's cabinet.

Bill Hobby has long desired to modernize the old 1876 Constitution which was to give the governor more power. He is opposed to the seniority system imposed in the communities and hoped it would be changed.

"John Hill is no stranger to the Austin scene," said Mrs. Vernon Parker, speaking of the Attorney General. He served as Secretary of State from 1966-1968. Texans have chosen as their new Attorney General one of the great trial lawyers of the State. He has turned in brilliant courthouse performances in some of the most celebrated lawsuits of the past decade.

John Hill intends to have an active role in the areas of organized crime investigations, consumer protection, enforcement of pollution laws, and legislative counseling to prevent passage of unconstitutional laws.

The life of House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., was told by Mrs. J.P. Moss. When Mr. Daniel sought the speakership, he took an unusual approach. He took his campaign to the people, as well as the members of the House, reducing the power of the office he sought, and insuring fair and equal treatment for all legislators, regardless of their positions or political affiliations.

Only 31, Daniel is a long way from the full bloom of his political career, but right now he is concentrating on the immediate job ahead of him — not only being Speaker of the House, but also being "Cleaner of the House," by working diligently for the reforms he has advocated.

During special committee reports, Mrs. Jackson reminded members that the District Convention will be held in Lubbock on March 29 and 30.

Mrs. Jackson read a thank-you note that Mrs. Jerry Johnson, Home Life chairman, had received from the Children's Hospital in Dallas, thanking the club for their Christmas tray favors.

The meeting was adjourned and the members spent the remainder of the evening working on their departmental reports. Those attending were: Mmes.: Jerry Cawley, Bill Evans, Buster Terrell, Kenneth Holt, Joe Frank Hawkins, Eddie Teeter, Delvin Bybee, Jerry Perry, Jerry Johnson, D.K. Jackson, Audrey McCormick, David Bloys, Van Bradley, Tom Taylor, Roy Kidd and Ronnie Thornton.

The next meeting will be Thursday, January 24 at the First National Bank in Lockney. Hostess will be Mrs. Van Bradley with Mrs. David Bloys as co-hostess. Roll call will be answered with "The Woman I Would Like To Be." Program chairman will be Mrs. Omar Burleson, Public Affairs chairman. The program will be entitled "The Emerging Woman." The theme for the evening will be WATCH ME GROW. . . AS I COME BACK EVEN STRONGER.

WTCC Plans Would Get More Farm Laborers

CARLOS MOLINAR is shown running a disc over some land south of Lockney. Carlos is employed by Raymond Rucker who farms south of the city.

The Agricultural Act of 1949, Title V - Agricultural Workers, Section 505, has created for West Texas farmers and ranchers almost unsurmountable problems in securing laborers to assist in the production of food and fiber in abundance.

This act prohibits the West Texas farmer and rancher from hiring agricultural workers from the Republic of Mexico.

The Board of Directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution asking that this act be amended so that farm laborers from the Republic of Mexico can again be employed to help alleviate the current shortage of farm and ranch labor in West Texas.

"A proven supplemental farm and ranch labor force could be secured from the Republic of Mexico to assist in the nation's efforts to maintain and adequate agriculture productivity if the Act of 1949 were amended," says James A. Rogers of Plainview, chairman of the WTCC Agriculture and Ranching Committee.

"The sector of Texas economy engaged in agriculture has produced food and fiber in abundance," says the WTCC chairman, "and it has been produced at a price which has been and remains substantially below levels that are produced in other parts of the world.

to acquire land and/or water rights, to construct buildings of modest design, size and cost essential to the operation of the community facility, and to provide for a large variety of other needs.

Additional information is available through any of Texas' 143 county FHA offices, usually located in county seat towns.

This agriculture sector of the economy is now faced with a complexity of economic factors ranging from the unpredictable forces of nature to competition from a growing array of other businesses and individuals vying for an increasingly limited supply of the necessary items of farm and ranch production.

At the present time agriculture is unable to secure sufficient labor, which under present laws is practically unavailable under any circumstances.

If this act is amended making it possible for West Texas farmers and ranchers to employ labor from across the Rio Grande, a proven supplemental labor force is available at almost anytime while, at the same time, providing for our good neighbor Mexico a welcome boost to their economy."

West Texas Chamber of Commerce is strongly and vigorously recommending to the House Agriculture Committee and all other concerned legislative committees, and to the West Texas members of Congress, that this act be amended as soon as possible, so that the shortage of farm and ranch labor can be eliminated, and there will again be an abundant production of food and fiber that will benefit all consumers.

Copies of this resolution have been sent to appropriate national officials.

Soil Survey Information Available

Temple Texas - Farmers concerned with using the best available acreage to increase their cropland can get valuable data from a soil survey, Edward E. Thomas, state conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, said today.

"Soil survey field work has been completed for 123 counties in Texas," Thomas said. "And the data is available to anyone making land use decisions."

Work is currently underway on soil surveys for all remaining counties in the state, Thomas added.

"With a soil survey map, you can read the land like a book," said Thomas. "Some soils are ideal for a particular crop. Others are better off in another crop, or left in grass, trees, or as wetland. And on some soils, the owner can choose between pasture, trees, or crops."

"The point is that a great deal of soil information is available to farmers and other land users. Even where surveys are not yet completed, the Soil Conservation Service - working through local conservation districts - often can provide at least partial soils data to anyone considering a change in land use."

Thomas added, "Although farmers are the biggest group of users, soil survey information is also very helpful to engineers and urban land use planners who need to know about drainage patterns, depth to bedrock, sanitary land fill, foundation hazards, or other uses being planned for them. A number of cities in Texas have made changes in their land use plans after checking a soil map - and as a result, they

Wide Ranging Community Loans Available

Small rural communities will soon have increased federal support to update or develop needed facilities, according to announcement today by Mr. J. Lynn Futch, Director of U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration programs in Texas.

State Director Futch said FHA can make credit available to small rural towns for a wide range of community facilities such as industrial parks, streets, fire fighting equipment, ambulance services, community centers and even for community recreation.

The new program authorized under provisions of the 1972 Rural Development Act, supplements the Farmers Home Administration's water and waste disposal loan program.

"We are constantly striving to improve the quality of life in our state's small towns and outlying communities," Mr. Futch said. "Our water and sewer loan program has financed over 763 systems with more than $134 million and benefited 532,000 rural people since the start of the program. Now we are in position to assist with more diverse projects." Most of the loans are expected to be made to public bodies such as towns up to 10,000 population, counties and some special purpose districts, Mr. Futch said. Some assistance may go to nonprofit corporations, provided they prepare plans for adequate repayment.

Mr. Futch pointed out that priority will be given to municipal borrowers in communities smaller than 5,500 people to improve a deteriorating water supply or to enlarge or modify a water system or an inadequate sewer system. Proposed plans must be consistent with areawide development plans.

Borrowers may use funds

Although there are still a lot of unknowns, general expectations are that U.S. cotton production in 1974-75 will be up to 14.5 or 15 million bales from the projected 13 million bales in 1973-74, according to Donald A. Johnson, executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., "but for a number of reasons, this does not necessarily foretell a corresponding decrease in cotton prices," he adds. "For one thing," he notes, "there is every indication that the demand for cotton, both foreign and domestic, is on the increase."

Exports of cotton from the U.S. in the 1974-75 marketing year are now forecast at around 6 million bales, and cotton consumption by domestic mills is being projected in some quarters as high as 8 million. If these figures are realized Johnson points out, even a 15 million bale crop would add only 1 million bales to the expected U.S. carryover on August 1, 1974 of 3.8 million. "And a 4.8 million bale carryover in this country is far from excessive."

Demand in the U.S. and abroad is getting a boost from the scarcity of petrochemical stocks for the production of synthetic fibers. Also there is a noticeable return of preference for the natural fiber among consumers. And of course the increase in demand for textiles of all constructions is also of benefit.

World cotton consumption made a significant advance during the past two years, rising by nearly 2.4 million bales, without the influence of synthetic fiber shortages. This is the best rate of increase of any two-year period since 1965-66 and compares with an annual growth rate of only 570,000 bales during the previous five years.

With competing fibers having problems in meeting demand owing to petrochemical allocations, and with consumer preference for cotton continuing strong, another healthy increase in cotton consumption may be expected in 1974-75 Johnson believes.

It should also be kept in mind that the "general expectations" of a 14.5 or 15 million bale crop in the U.S. for 1974-75 is an "expectation" and nothing more, he says.

On the High Plains for example, which this year at 2.7 million bales will account for over 20 percent of the nation's outturn, a 1974-75 increase becomes more unlikely with each day that passes without bringing badly needed moisture, and a sizeable decrease is a distinct possibility. One-third of the area's cotton acreage, or more, is grown without the benefit of irrigation and normally does not produce good yields unless there is a reasonable amount of underground moisture at planting time. While 1973 underground moisture was excellent, it is almost nonexistent at this point of 1974 and long-term weather records offer little hope that it will be replaced by planting time in May. At least another fourth of the High Plains cotton acreage has only light irrigation water, and is therefore partially dependent on rainfall.

"Without wishing to be pessimistic," Johnson says, given present conditions it is only reasonable to assume that, areawide, High Plains yields in 1974 may be well below the estimated 482 pounds per acre for this year. And if High Plains production should drop significantly, a U.S. crop of 15 million bales in 1974-75 would hinge largely on major increases in other areas of production."

Sam Henry Admitted To Law School

WACO - Dean Angus S. McSwain, Jr., recently announced the admission of Sam Henry, Baylor junior from Floydada, as a beginning law student for the Spring Quarter 1974.

Henry was admitted to the Baylor University School of Law on the Combined Degree Program, a plan which allows a student to earn both a Bachelor of Arts and a Juris Doctor degree in six years rather than the normal seven years.

As an undergraduate Henry's field of concentration was in Environmental Studies. He is the first student admitted to the Baylor Law School with a concentration in Environmental Studies.

Active in student affairs, Sam Henry was a member of the Student Union Board (SUB Board) serving as member and acting chairman of the Public Forum Committee, Co-Chairman of the Dimensions Planning Committee, Co-Chairman of the Environment Committee, and as Chairman of the Texas Constitutional Revision Project. During his term of office, he hosted Dr. John Silber, president of Boston University, Stewart Udall, former Secretary of the Interior, Mark Martin, board chairman of the State Bar of Texas, and many others in the fields of education and government.

In September, 1973, Henry was elected to the Baylor Student Congress as Junior Class Representative. Since then he has been on the Student Welfare Committee, the Student Rights and Responsibilities Sub Committee, the Institutional Self Study Committee, and the Sub Committee on Student Representation on Departmental Committees, which he chaired.

He recently attended the Leakey Leadership Laboratory, a conference for Baylor student leaders.

At Baylor, Henry was a participant in the Honors Program. The Honors Program offers superior students in the College of Arts and Sciences the opportunity to broaden their intellectual horizons, to explore more intensively their major fields, to integrate the various areas of knowledge, to learn the techniques of independent research, and to share the ideas and experiences of outstanding teachers.

During the Fall Semester 1972 Henry attended Wayland Baptist College at Plainview where he was on the Dean's Honor List.

Sam Henry graduated in 1971 from Floydada High School. He was president of the student council there.

The teaching of law in Baylor University was first begun in 1849. Today, the School of Law is housed in its own building, Morrison Constitution Hall, which was recently expanded by the addition of the Leon Jaworski Wing. It houses classrooms, student lounges and offices, library space, and faculty offices.

Approximately 350 students are enrolled in the School of Law. In a typical year they will come from about 70 universities and 25 states.

Henry, 21, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Henry of 229 West Mississippi Street.

LITTLE BOY

Somehow men never quite seem able to get over being little boys. They can handle responsibility, but sometimes their spirits sink.

Cares can overtake a man. That's when he reverts into an unhappy, discouraged little boy. At times like these, his wife must strive to help, to understand.

A wise wife knows that the Church offers an answer to their problems. At church hope and faith are common, and friends abound.

There is something in regularly going to church that gives a person perspective, strength and faith.

55 mph Enforcement Starts Today

AUSTIN — Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today that DPS troopers will begin enforcing the State's new 55 mile speed limit at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, January 20, on all highways where signs showing the 55 mile maximum limit are posted.

"Ever since Governor Briscoe submitted his proposal for a reduced speed limit to the special session of the Legislature, the DPS has been involved in an extensive effort to make the public aware that a reduction in the limit was under consideration. We have been joined in these efforts by other governmental agencies, by the Texas Motor Transport Association and the news media.

"Due to these extensive public education efforts, we believe the motorists of Texas will be well aware of the change by the effective date.

"I am particularly appreciative of the important public service the news media is rendering in connection with this significant change in the law," Speir concluded.

Dear Abby

Johnny's too to choose own

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Syndicate Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am Jewish and my husband is not. [We had a civil ceremony.] Our daughter, Jennie, is Jewish and goes to the Jewish Sunday school and is being raised as a Jew. Our son, Johnny, is seven. He goes to Lutheran Sunday school. Jennie gets a present every day for Hanukkah, which comes in December. Johnny gets only one present. You probably know the problem: Now Johnny is Jewish.

My husband is upset with Johnny and pastor talk to him, but Johnny still wants to be Jewish.

My question: Do you think a Jew should be permitted to choose his own religion and I disagree.

DEAR DIVIDED: Would you let your seven-year-old bedtime? Would you let your seven-year-old be expected to make a choice of religion? One who bases his choice of religion on him the most presents is truly childish, seven, so who can blame him?

DEAR ABBY: Gary and I went to church and on Christmas Day he gave me a diamond ring. I announced our engagement. I'm 21 and Gary is 22. My parents have always liked Gary and weren't surprised, but they are very disappointed in you. Are you ready for this?—Gary didn't ask for my hand!

Abby, it would have been only a formality if never crossed Gary's mind or mine. My parents felt so strongly about this that me so I could have tipped Gary off. He took the whole bit just to make them happy.

Does a man still ask the father-in-law for his hand? Or is it an old-fashioned out-dated custom?

DEAR NOT: Some still do. Although the man who asks a girl's father for his hand to start down the aisle on the right foot.

DEAR ABBY: Cindy, my 12-year-old daughter, Joy, her best friend, asked her godparents for Christmas, and Cindy was shocked. She didn't even know who her godparents were. Cindy said Joy described all the occasions that her godparents had given her for other occasions. Her godparents are SUPPOSED to give her Christmas, Easter, and birthdays!

Now Cindy feels cheated and hurt. How come her godparents never send her anything?

DEAR MOTHER: Tell her that her godparents are responsible only for looking after her. It is an event that the natural parents are unable to give. Giving always is optional—never mandatory.
