

THE SANDERSON TIMES

Volume 17

Sanderson, Texas, Saturday, March 29 1924

No. 7

SANDERSON MARKET

TIP FRAZIER, PROP.

Fresh Meats, Fruits, Vegetables.

Fish and Oysters in Season.

YOUR BUSINESS APPRECIATED

Phone 94.

Notice to Truck Drivers

Beginning April 1st, to all Licensed Truck Drivers Who Haul Freight We Will Make a 2c Reduction per Gallon on Gasoline For Cash.

Keefer Filling Station.

W. E. STIRMAN

Dealer in

WOOD—and—COAL

Will receive a car Dawson Coal in a few days.
$14.00 per Ton off the car.

Drayage.

Store Room.

Phone No. 2

Sanderson, Texas.

LEMONS & HENSHAW, ABSTRACTORS

Terrell County Lands

Lands Sold Property Returned Lands Leased Taxes Paid
Abstracts Examined and Titles Passed Upon By an Efficient and Reliable Attorney.
Office with County Clerk, Sanderson, Texas.

G. J. Henshaw, Mgr.

Ora E. Lemons, Sec'y

JUST RECEIVED A

CAR LOAD

1924 Model

FORDS

W. J. FERGUSON

Extra Special

As has always been our custom when we have something that will interest and help our customers we always pass it on to them.

Here are 3 Deals on P. & G. Soap

No. 1.

No. 2.

14 Bars P. & G. Soap 14 Bars P. & G. Soap
2 Pkgs. S. N. Powder for $1 1 Pkg. Chipso for $1

No. 3.

14 Bars P. & G. Soap
1 Bar Ivory Soap for $1.00

With each Combination 1 19 qt. Water Pail Given Free

SANDERSON MERCANTILE CO.

HOUSES THREATENED BY FIRE

What came near being a serious fire loss in Sanderson occurred about 2:30 Friday afternoon when a garage in the rear of Carl Cochran's home caught fire and was partly burned, several houses nearby being threatened.

A call was turned in and the whistles at the railroad roundhouse brought a large number of people to the scene of the fire. Realizing the danger of the nearby houses, because of a terrific West wind storm, men quickly connected hose to plugs and formed water lines and soon extinguished the fire.

The special term of district court will open in Sanderson on Monday morning, March 31st. The docket for this is light and it is expected that court will be in session a few days, unless some unexpected business develops between now and court convenor.

Sanderson people were sorry to hear of the local high school baseball team lose their game to Marathon last week. In reality the boys played a pick-up team of town boys and there was only one high school boy on the Marathon team. Those who witnessed the game state Sanderson put up a hard fight and a bad inning lost the game. The local team enjoyed the trip and they had some real practice and with a little more will make a better showing next time.

RATTLE OF THE RAIL.

F. J. Bailey was here from Louisiana Monday.

Fireman J. P. Potter is now firing one of the day light runs and S. R. Ord one of the night runs on the Del Rio Sanderson passenger district.

The Jackson brothers of El Paso had the misfortune to lose their mother a short time ago.

Engineer D. A. Pollard has taken the 4 p. m. switch engine.

The fuel meeting was held in El Paso Wednesday, engineer Morris fireman Miles of Del Rio and engineer Cook and firemen Good koontz and Sterrett of this city attending.

L. Robay returned from a visit to El Paso Monday.

Fireman R. A. Hurst is now firing one of the work trains at Marathon.

Fireman Prandolig has gone to Del Rio.

The second work train at Marathon was put on Monday.

Charley Rogers went to Valentine Monday for a visit.

Mrs. Horace Fletcher returned Thursday from Valentine where she has been visiting with friends.

Miss Emma Happle returned to Comstock Sunday after spending the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Happle.

Mrs. E. N. Grey and daughter, Mrs. Wright, of Del Rio, enroute to Ft. Davis were guests at the Kerr Hotel Tuesday.

Mrs. Alex Mitchell left Thursday for San Antonio where she will visit friends.

Mrs. A. C. Clatfelter and children returned Thursday morning from El Paso where they have been visiting friends and relatives.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

(Received too late for last issue)

On March 17th, at 8 p. m. a jolly little crowd met in the Eldridge Hall to celebrate the third birthday of Terrell Lodge, No. 359, L. A. to B. of R. T.

We had as our honored guests our mothers, fathers, husbands and families.

The interesting game of Lotto and various selections on the Victrola furnished the entertainment for the evening.

Mrs. U. D. Druse winning high score in Lotto, receiving a box of chocolates, and Mrs. H. D. Williams won consolation prize, an "all day sucker."

Refreshments of hot chocolate coffee and cake were served.

On account of so much sickness our crowd was a little small, but all present seemed to enjoy themselves immensely.

Correspondent.

The students of Sanderson High School accepted the course in Salesmanship offered by the Curtis Publishing Co., of Philadelphia. A booklet entitled, "Steps in Selling," was given as a text book to each student. The school was divided into competing divisions, the winning division will be guests at a party by the losers.

Wednesday Bridge Club.

Mrs. J. W. Happle was hostess to the Bridge Club at her home on Saturday, March 22nd.

The usual four tables were played. Mrs. P. R. Burns won first prize, a beautiful bouquet of sweet peas; Mrs. Franklin was winner of the second prize, an Oriental vase of perfume air; fancy decorated candles was the hobby prize won by Miss Phoebe Gibson, while Mrs. Paul D. Lowry won the consolation prize, a fancy fly swatter.

Refreshments consisting of orange pudding with whipped cream, angel food cake, mints in tiny baskets were served to the following ladies: Mesdames F. J. Carter, B. P. Franklin, P. R. Burns, John Stowell, H. R. Lawrence, Miss Phoebe Jo Gibson; and Mrs. P. D. Lowry and Miss Emma Happle who were guests of the afternoon. Fancy powder puffs were the favors given to each one present.

FOR SALE.

A four room house on a lot 50x200 feet, well located. Also one vacant lot 50x200 feet.

P. E. Gray,
3205 White Oak St.,
El Paso, Texas.

When Doc Turk, Jas. K. Fulton, W. J. Banner and M. H. Goode Jr. got off the West bound passenger train Tuesday, returning from Del Rio (?), they looked like three aces, joker and duce wild.

Mrs. F. S. Garrison and son, Fred, left Tuesday morning for Galveston where they will visit friends and relatives.

Your clothes will always look neat and clean if you have them pressed and cleaned at the Royal Tailor Shop. Phone No. 6, and we will call for your package and deliver when finished.

Mrs. A. G. Livingston left Thursday for San Antonio where she will make her future home.

Mrs. P. R. Burns and baby left Monday for Las Cruces, New Mexico to visit friends.

Second Section of Highway Advertised

Section B., of State Highway No. 3, through Terrell County consisting of 12.45 miles, has been approved and advertisements for building this 12 miles were placed in different newspapers, and April 24th was set as the day on which bids are to be opened and award made. This second section of the road extends from a point slightly east of the town of Sanderson to the railroad section of Mofeta.

Section A. of the highway is progressing rapidly and should be completed by June 1st.

Bids for construction work on the other sections of the highway will be advertised for as soon as plans are approved.

W. B. A. to Have a Bunco Party

The W. B. A. of Mazonias will have a benefit Bunco Party at the Masonic Hall, Saturday (today,) at 3 o'clock. Everybody invited to come.

Bill Norris, of El Paso, was in the city a few days this week on business.

PAY BY CHECK

Enjoy this Strong Protection back of your Checking Account.

It is good business to always pay by check—and safer and better in every way.

When you have your checking account in this bank, it is made safe by sound banking methods and doubly safe by our membership in the Guaranty Fund System of Texas.

The Guaranty Fund System of Texas has a membership of 948 Banks with resources of more than a third of a Billion Dollars ($337,359,069.08)

And no non-interest bearing or unsecured depositor has ever lost a dollar through the failure of a Texas Guaranty Fund Bank.

Make This Bank Your Bank.

SANDERSON STATE BANK

A Guaranty Fund Bank.

GROCERIES

Fruits, Vegetables, Ham, Bacon.

YOUR TRADE SOLICITED

W. H. FARLEY

CITY BARBER SHOP

and

BATHS

FIRST CLASS SERVICE

We Carry Everything Handled In A General Store

DRY GOODS

The Season's New and Best Styled

DRESS GOODS,

MEN'S SUITS,

HATS, CAPS,

BOOTS AND SHOES.

GROCERIES

We Have Everything That's Good to Eat

Canned Vegetables and

Fruits,

Jellies, Jams,

Teas and Coffee.

HARDWARE

We Are Headquarters for

Hardware, Oil, Paints

Stoves, Pipe Fittings,

Wire, Nails,

Studebaker Wagons

FURNITURE

We Have a Nice Line of

Chairs, Rockers, Tables,

Dressers, Beds,

Springs and Mattresses.

LUMBER

Anything You Want In

Building Material, Sash

Doors, Cement, Lime

Brick, Roofing,

Fencing.

THE KERR MERC. COMPANY

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

YOUR BODY NEEDS STRENGTH OF IRON

THIRTY years ago physicians began to prescribe Gude's Pepto-Mangan because it provided a form of iron which was easily digested and did not affect the teeth. Now is the season when you especially need it. Your druggist has it in both liquid and tablet form.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan Tonic and Blood Enricher

RHEUMATISM Sufferers! Let us help you. Write Stevens Laboratories, Oakland, Calif.

The Modern Jury

Foreman of the Jury—We find the prisoner guilty, with some little doubt as to the identity who get her in the right man—Fussing Show.

One tear over your friend's troubles is worth to him a thousand "I am sorry's."

Take It at Night Makes Morning Bright. St. Joseph's LIVER REGULATOR for BLOOD-LIVER-KIDNEYS The BIG 25¢ CAN

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Gripe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches, get busy with good old Musterole.

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation.

It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness. To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole, 35c and 65c, in jars and tubes.

Better than a mustard plaster

To-NIGHT Tomorrow Alright. A vegetable pill, aperient, adds tone and vigor to the digestive and eliminative systems. Improves the appetite, relieves Bile Headaches and Biliousness, corrects constipation.

Chips off the Old Block. One-third the regular dose. Made of some ingredients, then candy coated. For children and adults. SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST EYES HURT? Use 1/2 teaspoon of the drops 4 or 5 times a day. For relief of eye pain, redness, itching, and burning.

ITCH! Money back without question if BUNNY'S SALVE fails in the treatment of ITCH, SCAB, RINGWORM, TETTER or other itching skin diseases. Price 10¢ per 1/2 oz. jar, or 25¢ for 1 oz. jar.

Helen Wainwright Sure of Olympics

This American mermaid, Helen Wainwright, who broke the world's record for 300 meters at the Miami (Fla.) meet, and was on the relay team that broke four international standards, is almost certain to make the Olympic team this year, because of her ability, both as a swimmer and fancy diver. She scored for Uncle Sam in the previous Olympics.

Brilliant Outfielder

John Tobin, brilliant outfielder of the St. Louis Browns, is the ideal type of lead-off man for a baseball team. He is short of stature, very fast, has a keen eye, and can hunt or sock a ball with equal facility. He is a wonder "dragging" the ball through the infield, a play which opens much opposition. Many fans claim that John is a second Willie Kaefer.

Yanks Hammer Out Most Home Runs During 1923

One of these tireless statisticians furnishes some dope on how, when and where home runs were hit in the majors the past season. It appears that the Yankees not only made more home runs than any other team in the American league, but also more circuit drives were made in the New York park than any other in the circuit.

The short right and left field fences at New York made the home run walloper a simple trick. Each visiting team managed to hit at least one for the circuit in New York.

The White Sox and Tigers failed to get a home run in Cleveland. The Tigers also failed to connect for a homer in Washington. There were fewer home runs at Washington than any other park, as usually is the case. Visiting teams at Fenway field in Boston made but thirteen homers. In New York the seven rivals calling on the Yanks drove out fifty home runs.

Cuba Get Boxer-Pitcher Bobby Wallace, who spent the winter in Los Angeles looking over the budding talent in various winter leagues for the Chicago Cubs, has signed a young pitcher named Burger, who will make good, if Bobby's word for it can be taken. He is a right-hander, and besides being quite a pitcher also is a pugilist and has appeared in the ring in Los Angeles with credit to himself.

Lowrance to Help Egan The veteran Jack Egan, who has been signed to manage the Scranton team in the New York-Pennsylvania league, will have as his assistant and field captain this year William (Red) Lowrance, who acted as captain of the Scranton team much of last season. Lowrance had a big year with Scranton and is one of the few players who will be retained.

Mack Banks on Rommel Connie Mack is banking on Eddie Rommel to have a big year. Rommel, the pitching sensation of 1922, didn't do so well last year. Connie figures Ed has profited by experience and will be a big help to him this year.

Whizzes Around Course Abe Mitchell, long driving British professional, recently whizzed around his home course, the North Foreland club, in a sensational 64, going out in 33 and coming back in 31. This score lowered Mitchell's own record by two strokes.

LATEST HAPPENINGS

News That Is News, When It Is News, For All.

STATE, NATIONAL, FOREIGN

Happenings the World Over of Important Events Condensed To Good Reading.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Irwin B. Laughlin of Pittsburg has been selected by President Coolidge to be minister to Greece.

About $166,000,000 more would be collected by the government in taxes next fiscal year under estimates prepared by Joseph McCoy, government actuary, than under treasury estimates on which the estimate of the surplus available for tax reduction was based.

Primary surveys of 14 rivers to determine steps to prevent floods and the probable costs were recommended Friday by the house flood control committee.

Plans of the navy department for a naval base at Alameda, Cal., were disapproved Friday by the house naval committee. The vote was 6 to 13.

What was described as a "considerable sum" collected in income tax upon the seized estate of Grover C. Bergdoll, draft evader, was included in checks aggregating $9,708,633.78, which were forwarded to the collector of internal revenue for Maryland and the District of Columbia Friday by Commissioner Blair of the internal revenue bureau. The checks were transmitted for the account of the alien property custodian and represent income taxes for past year due from a number of enemy alien estates seized during the war. The largest amount paid upon an individual estate so held was $3,000,000 and the smallest 45 cents.

The house Tuesday passed the soldier bonus. The vote was 355 to 54. The measure is radically different from the bill President Harding vetoed. Its principal provision is a 20-year endowment insurance, which will be issued to all ex-service men except those whose compensation is $50 or less. These will be entitled to cash.

A step toward adding another amendment to the constitution was taken Tuesday when the senate by a vote of 63 to 7 adopted a joint resolution to have presidents inaugurated the third Monday in January and the new congress go into office the first Monday in January after election.

Income taxes for 1923 as paid to internal revenue collectors on and before March 15 totaled $377,848,840, or approximately the same amount as was paid a year ago, President Coolidge was informed Monday by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Blair.

Walter L. Cohen, negro republican leader of Louisiana, was confirmed Monday by the senate as comptroller of customs at New Orleans.

STATE AND DOMESTIC NEWS.

Mrs. Ida Lee Daugherty, who attracted national attention when, as Ida Hadley, she shot and killed Sheriff Jake Giles of Beaumont, Texas, in Oklahoma some years ago, while the officer was bringing her husband back to Texas an answer a grand jury indictment, died Thursday at Hull, Texas.

The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association closed a three-day annual session at Houston, Texas, Thursday with the selection of H. L. Kokernot of San Antonio and Alpine, Texas, as president; R. M. Kieberg of Corpus Christi and Kingsville as first vice president, and E. B. Spiller of Fort Worth as secretary. San Antonio was chosen as the next convention city.

The number of Mexican laborers who have crossed the American border during the last few months is estimated at approximately 900,000, the majority of them having stayed in Texas, others have gone as far as Alaska.

Ending a 25-day tour, the beginning of which was historic for Houston, the Lafayette and 200 voyagers who have carried the fame of Houston, Texas, to the placid islands of the West Indies, docked at the turning basin at Houston Thursday.

The beauty of educated men lies in their service to their country in peace as well as in war, said Charles William Elliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, who received in Sanders theater, Cambridge, Mass., Thursday the salutations of the American people on his ninetieth birthday. Chief Justice William H. Taft, present as the personal representative of President Coolidge, bore the message of "love, gratitude and respect for one whose long life has been full of constant and eminent usefulness in promoting the welfare of his countrymen."

William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, swept Georgia Wednesday in the democratic state presidential primary, defeating Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, his only opponent, by a four to one vote.

Thirty-five states now have a gasoline tax, sixteen of them having adopted it in 1923. Only six of the nineteen having a gasoline tax prior to 1923 have a rate of less than 2c a gallon. Nine states out of thirty-five—including Texas—have a rate as low as 1c. Sixteen states have a 2c tax and ten have more than 2c.

Perhaps another $1,000,000 snow, the latest March snow in the history of the state, fell over West Texas and the Panhandle Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. While snow was falling in the western part of the state, the eastern section, according to reports, was visited by heavy rain, with occasional snow flurries. Indications were that the snow was general throughout West Texas, the Panhandle, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Leaving the field in a perfect take-off, three United States army airplanes commencing a flight around the world sped into the air Monday morning at Clover Field, Los Angeles, Cal. Heading his fliers, Major Frederick L. Martin in Ship No. 1 was the first to take off. Close behind him was Ship No. 3, with Lieutenant Leigh Wade at the "stick." Last to leave was Lieutenant Lowell Smith in Ship No. 2.

President Calvin Coolidge, all members of his cabinet, all members of congress and a host of other notables of the nation will be invited to Houston to participate in the city's celebration of its "millionth bale." The celebration, to be as elaborate as possible, will be held on April 3 in honor of the shipping of the millionth bale of cotton through the port of Houston, Texas, this season.

The Texas railroad commission Monday published new ratings on compressed hydrogen gas for the inflation of balloons in steel cylinders, carloads, minimum weight 60,000 pounds per car. From Houston to San Antonio the rate is made 37c per 100 pounds and on the empty steel cylinders the rate from San Antonio is fixed at 21 1/2c, and from Berge at 23c.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The French government has appointed Mme. Irene Jenning, actress of the Athens theater, Paris, as special envoy to the United States in the interests of French culture.

The Mexican gunboat Bravo steamed for Mexico from New Orleans Saturday to start sea warfare that is expected to drive the rebels from their port strongholds.

Marconi land wireless operators in England went on strike Friday, tying up British traffic.

Air planes for carrying pay rolls to the Tampico oil fields in Mexico are being used by some oil companies.

Soviet Russia's delegation to the Anglo-Russian conference, consisting of 20 financial, political and diplomatic experts headed by Christian Rakovsky, soviet charge in London, will leave Moscow, Russia, for London, March 29. The conference, to begin the first week of April, probably will last three months.

An earthquake was felt in Batna, Algeria, Thursday. A girl was killed by the collapse of a house and several buildings were damaged.

Ismet Pasha, Turkish premier and foreign minister, has informed the league of nations officially that there are no longer any Armenian refugees in Turkey and that his country is not interested in the projected league conference for the arrangement of an identity certificate system for the Armenians as a people without a country.

Russian seismographs between Mar. 12 and Mar. 15 registered extraordinarily violent earthquakes. The early shocks apparently were located in the Caucasus while the latter ones are believed to have been centered in Kamchatka.

More than 700 Germans desirous to migrate to the United States have applied for passage on the ZR-3, which is being built at Friedrichshafen at the Zeppelin works for the United States navy, and which is to fly across the Atlantic. A trial trip will probably take place in May.

A cure of drunkenness, with which he claims to have successfully treated 16 patients, was announced Monday at Paris, France, by a French physician, Dr. L'Hospitalier. The doctor makes a serum from the patient's own blood, injects it back into the veins and creates a distaste for alcohol, it is claimed.

Suzanne Lenglen Sunday at Nice, France, added another cup to her collection by her winning the tennis championship of Southern France. The French girl defeated Mrs. Covell of England, 5-2, 6-1. Mrs. Covell reached the finals through her victory on Saturday over Miss Elizabeth Ryan, the California girl, but she failed Sunday to give Miss Lenglen as hard battle as Miss Ryan gave her last week at Mentone.

Fire in Orange Field.

Orange, Tex.—A fire occurred in the Orange oil field six miles west of Orange Sunday that resulted in a loss of from $25,000 to $30,000. The cause was given as a short circuit in one of the Smith pickup traps.

Big Rabbit Drive.

Midland, Tex.—From 1,500 to 2,000 rabbits were killed in a drive held south of Midland Friday. The business houses closed their doors for the day.

School Bonds Carry.

Liberty, Tex.—As a result of an election Liberty will soon have a new school building, as the $55,000 bonds voted on carried by 248 votes, with only 30 votes against.

JOYS OF MOTHERHOOD

Often Prevented by Female Trouble

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brings Joy to Homes by Removing Cause of Trouble

Brooklyn, N.Y.—"I was working after I got married and the young lady who worked next to me asked me if I had any intentions of having a child. I told her I would be the happiest woman on earth if I could become a mother, but I always had terrible cramps, backaches and headaches. She then told me of a woman she knew who took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the same troubles and it helped her greatly. I took about a half bottle and found that the following month I did not suffer any pain, so I kept on taking it. I have a wonderful baby boy six months old and he is as strong and fat as any one could wish a baby to be. I still take the Vegetable Compound regularly because I have looked fine all the time and felt fine and my mother told me that was the reason. I will be glad to have you publish my testimony with my name and address." Mrs. EDWARD WERRECK, 1824 Greene Avenue, Brooklyn, N.Y.

and I was afraid that I could never have any more, for I had been told that I never could have a living child for I was not strong enough to carry one. But they were mistaken and I had a nice baby boy and now I have five children. I can't praise your medicine enough. My youngest sister has taken it, too, and praises it."—Mrs. G. L. WISWELL, 43 Mechanics Row, Auburn, Maine.

These cases are similar to many others reported to us. It is well for women to carefully consider such statements and to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. It may bring great joy to your home.

Over 100,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

96 per cent of these replies are "Yes."

Free From Old Trouble

Auburn, Maine.—"I suffered with inward weakness for ten years and had doctored all this long time but never got any help. One day I saw my sister and she told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I went and got me a bottle of it. I took two bottles and a half and I was just as free from my old troubles as I could be. I had only one child

That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take this medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

This goes to prove that a medicine specialized for certain definite ailments—not a cure-all—can and does do good work. For fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a medicine for women.

For sale by druggists everywhere.

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough. Take your choice and suit your taste. S.B.—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand. SMITH BROTHERS COUGH DROPS MENTHOL Famous since 1847

Entertaining "I've been reading a good deal about this 'ore new game of Mah-Jongg,'" said old Riley Rezzidew of Petunin. "And according to the papers it has got such a hold in the cities that some people stay up till all hours of the night to play it." "H'm!" musingly replied the proprietor of the Right Place store. "Must be considerable like checkers."

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR" Watch Cuticura Improve Your Skin. On rising and retiring gently smear the face with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. It is wonderful what Cuticura will do for poor complexions, dandruff, itching and red, rough hands.—Advertisement.

Gas Mains in U. S. In the United States 70,000 miles of gas mains are used to supply 4,000 cities and towns with gas.

Put You at Ease Most to be envied is that good breeding that puts every one at ease. Multitudes of women are like that.

So long as there are 500 men there will be 500 standards of feminine beauty.

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA. MOTHER:—Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Dr. J. C. Ayer. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

A Remedy for Piles. Ask your Druggist (whom you know) what he knows about PAZO OINTMENT as a Remedy for Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. 60c.

Disordered Stomach. Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills—then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. You will relish your meals without fear of trouble to follow. Millions of all ages take them for Biliousness, Dizziness, Sick Headaches, Upset Stomach and for Sallow, Pimply, Itchy Skin. They are the enemy of Constipation.

Joseph Greer and His Daughter

CHAPTER IV

By HENRY KITCHELL WEBSTER
Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

"HELLO, DAD!"

SYNOPSIS.—Joseph Greer, a black-headed pirate of fifty, having discovered a process of extracting fiber from fax straw, is made director of a big corporation. For years distrusting men of affairs, Greer has played a lone hand. Now holding what he considers the winning cards, he is willing to submit his wits to wealth. To protect his own interests, Joe has foisted his own secretary, Jennie MacArthur, upon the company. Henry Craven, a bank clerk related to John Williamson, the millionaire backer of Greer's saw company, is offered by Williamson the position of treasurer of the new company, with the generally understood purpose of watching Greer. Craven accepts. Joe tells Jennie about his wife, who is about to divorce him, and his nineteen-year-old daughter, Beatrice, whom he has never seen. He is planning to force the daughter into Chicago society. Joe goes to a week-end party at Williamson's house, where he meets Violet, John's wife, and is strongly drawn to her. He fascinates her.

CHAPTER III—Continued.

"When did you know Sorolla?" she asked.

Her laugh seemed to be directed at her own astonishment. "When he was here, I bought a picture of his, one of those seashore things. I'd like you to see it some time. It's better than the one they've got at the Institute. He painted a portrait of me, and then he wouldn't let me have it. Took it back to Spain with him. We got pretty well acquainted. I can talk Spanish, you see, better than English; politer, anyhow."

She digested that in silence until they got to where his car was standing in the drive. Even then she made no move to leave him.

"I'd commandeer you," she said, "and take you over to the Stannards', except that you'd be so bored you'd never forgive me."

He thought it best not to insist that he wouldn't be. He offered the excuse of work to do, and getting into his car, seated himself at the wheel. "You will come to see the Sorolla some time?" he asked. "Come to dinner, you and your husband?"

She accepted this invitation a little absently. Then promptly corrected her manner and told him, with polite enthusiasm, she'd love to. Still she lingered for a moment beside his car, her elbows on the door, one foot on the running-board. She asked him suddenly what he was smiling at.

"Speaking of bull-fights reminded me I fought a bull once myself. In the public square at Quito. I jumped over the barrier on a bet a girl had just made with me."

"Oh, go away!" she cried, releasing the car at last and stepping back. "But come again. Soon. And telephone me when you want us for the dinner. John might forget."

Joe had lied to Violet in one minor particular; it hadn't been, directly, her reference to the bull-fights in Madrid that had reminded him of the bull he fought at Quito, but her own attitude, during their moment of parting, while she lingered beside his car. That had brought back the young senora he'd made the bet with. His first serious love-affair had been with her. Eighteen he must have been, or thereabout; she couldn't have been more than a year or two older. And her husband had been much the same sort of staid, faded Hidalgo—in Ecuador—as Williamson. There had been, he remembered, about that Castilian girl the same quality of stinkiness. And the same cool insolence. She'd regarded him as a barbarian—laughed at his rudimentary Spanish and at his Northern manners. But she'd come to him, just the same. It was queer how vividly he remembered her. He hadn't thought of her in years.

He had driven all the way back to town, at a speed reckless of the prowl.

At his voice she flung the paper aside and sprang to her feet. "Hello, Dad!" she cried. She almost managed the air of one greeting a familiar at the end of a day's separation. Her voice, like Joe's, had a startling resonance and a wide inflectional swing. She added, "I suppose that is you." She had tried, as before, to say it casually, partly even, but the wire edge in her voice betrayed that she was frightened.

He had expected that. What surprised him was that he was frightened too. Almost for the first time in his life he felt that he had to look his teeth to prevent them from chattering. He turned his look abruptly away from her, but still, as he gazed blankly out the window, he could see the picture of her. She'd come, incredibly, to live with him. She'd unpacked her trunk and sent it down to the storeroom. She'd dressed as a woman dresses when she is securely at home, in the sort of thing they called, he thought, a tea-gown. And white-silk stockings and black-satin slippers, high-heeled and with straps. He'd find her like that, every day—unless he frightened her off.

"Yes," he said, "we're here together at last." Then, in order not to stop talking, he went on, "You gave me a great scare. It's two weeks since that lawyer telegraphed you'd left."

"You got my picture, though," she reminded him. "I wrote on it I was coming. I had to go to San Francisco first to get some clothes. Mother never would let me have a thing I was fit to be seen in. I thought I'd better make a good impression, so you wouldn't send me back on the next train." She gave a nervous laugh. "Have I? Do you like me?"

At this he turned to her. "I kept you waiting longer than that," he said. "So what forgiving there is you'll have to do."

"Well, then," she answered, "let's kiss and make up. I suppose that's the next thing to do." She uttered that same nervous laugh again as she turned to go.

"I'll fly," she said. The tears she saw in her father's eyes, when she'd kissed him over their first breakfast, obliterated the fear that she'd be shipped back to Pasadena as unsatisfactory; as his forbearance, the evening before, had made it plain that she wouldn't have to run away from him. They'd "got on" all right. And the message she found him in, as well as the place he seemed to offer her in it, was far beyond the wildest of her hopes. The "good flat" and the two cars he had mentioned in his letter had suggested no such establishment as this.

Anson—dignified, inscrutable, sophisticated, and, implicitly at least, under her orders—was as incredible as if he'd come out of the movies. And Burns, the chauffeur—her chauffeur, in effect, since her father seemed never to require his services by day—was as good-looking and jolly and serviceable to her caprice as any of the young princes of Hollywood who sometimes disguised themselves in jobs like that, for a lark—or a purpose.

The car she elected to do most of her driving in was not the sumptuous monster in which Joe had taken her down to dinner on that first evening, but a sport model of the same famous make. Her first edict was that she be allowed to learn to drive it. They made daily cruises, she and young Burns, of uncounted miles and unreckoned hours. She even liked the country. The color and freshness and variety of the foliage excited her, accustomed as she was to the palmetto-punctuated monotony of southern California.

Most of the time during those first few days she felt like All Baba when he had first said, "Open sesame!" But, again like All Baba, she was to experience no comfortable security in the possession of her treasure-trove. There were enigmas about her father's life she couldn't solve; alarms that kept her constantly on the alert.

She'd stumbled upon the first of these the morning Joe took her to the office. He'd introduced her round promiscuously, during the ostensible process of showing her over the premises, to all sorts of people—draftsmen, clerks, stenographers—usually in a perfectly one-sided manner: "This is my daughter, Beatrice"; of course, it didn't matter to her who they were.

But to this procedure there had been striking exception. On leading her up to some young woman—a creature with some pretense to looks and a lot of red hair; probably some sort of head stenographer since she seemed to have an office of her own—her father had said, "Beatrice, this is Jennie MacArthur." He'd said it, too, on a note, significantly somehow, and the significance seemed to be that here was somebody who, for an unguessed reason, did matter. He added, as if to put it beyond doubt, "I want you two to get acquainted."

The Sub.

It was not on the cards that Joe should forget about his daughter for long. It was not until a couple of days had gone by, however, that he heard from the serviceable lawyer in Pasadena. It contained the brief news that his daughter had asked for the entire thousand dollars and that he had given it to her with misgivings, and said that she would probably have arrived in Chicago before his letter.

A week went by without news of the girl and then he became worried. At Jennie's suggestion he wired his wife and found that she was equally lacking in knowledge of Beatrice's whereabouts. Two days later a photograph of his daughter arrived and he was astounded at the marvelous resemblance it bore to himself. It did not picture the old-fashioned girl he had imagined, all frills and lace, but a thoroughly sophisticated modern woman—for it was a woman the picture revealed.

Jennie's comment on it was straight out. "You'll find she is a duplicate of yourself. Probably an explorer, like you are. Willing to take a chance on almost anything, just for the excitement."

A few days later Joe gave his party—it turned out to be a supper instead of a dinner. At it Margaret noticed the photograph of Beatrice on her father's dresser—he had given up his room to his feminine guests—and learned for the first time that Joe was married, that his wife was getting a divorce and that he expected his daughter to come on and live with him.

"No telegrams today?" For more than a week it had been Joe's first question of the butler as the man opened the door for him upon his daily return from the office, despite a standing order that any wire that came to the apartment during the day should be telephoned on to wherever he was.

Tonight Anson said, as always, "No telegram, sir," but the inflection of the phrase was different and Joe demanded sharply, "Well, what?"

"The young lady herself has arrived, Miss Greer, sir."

"Arrived? In town? Where is she now?"

"In the library, I believe, sir." Joe found that he was trembling. The man had taken his hat. There was no reason why he shouldn't go straight into the library, but he hesitated. "When did she come?" he asked.

"Just after noon, sir. Around two o'clock, I think."

"Two o'clock?" Joe echoed. "Why the devil wasn't I told of it?"

"Miss Greer wished me not to disturb you, sir. She said she wished a little time to get settled." He paused, but Joe was speechless, so, after a moment, he went on, "I assisted in unpacking her trunk. She had it sent down to the storeroom about an hour ago." He added, a little anxiously, "She took the blue room. I trust it's all right, sir."

"Of course it's all right," Joe answered curtly. "She's my daughter, you understand? Going to live with me, for the present anyhow. That's all," he concluded. "You can go." He waited where he was until the man had gone through the service-door. Then, after a steady moment, alone, he made his way to the library.

She must have heard him talking to Anson, but she gave no overt sign of being aware of his approach. She sat facing him, one of the evening papers open in both hands, so that it hid her like a curtain. It occurred to Joe that one didn't hold a paper quite so rigidly as that when one was reading it.

"Is that you, Beatrice?" he asked. He had halted without coming very close to her.

At his voice she flung the paper aside and sprang to her feet. "Hello, Dad!" she cried. She almost managed the air of one greeting a familiar at the end of a day's separation. Her voice, like Joe's, had a startling resonance and a wide inflectional swing. She added, "I suppose that is you." She had tried, as before, to say it casually, partly even, but the wire edge in her voice betrayed that she was frightened.

He had expected that. What surprised him was that he was frightened too. Almost for the first time in his life he felt that he had to look his teeth to prevent them from chattering. He turned his look abruptly away from her, but still, as he gazed blankly out the window, he could see the picture of her. She'd come, incredibly, to live with him. She'd unpacked her trunk and sent it down to the storeroom. She'd dressed as a woman dresses when she is securely at home, in the sort of thing they called, he thought, a tea-gown. And white-silk stockings and black-satin slippers, high-heeled and with straps. He'd find her like that, every day—unless he frightened her off.

"Yes," he said, "we're here together at last." Then, in order not to stop talking, he went on, "You gave me a great scare. It's two weeks since that lawyer telegraphed you'd left."

"You got my picture, though," she reminded him. "I wrote on it I was coming. I had to go to San Francisco first to get some clothes. Mother never would let me have a thing I was fit to be seen in. I thought I'd better make a good impression, so you wouldn't send me back on the next train." She gave a nervous laugh. "Have I? Do you like me?"

At this he turned to her. "I kept you waiting longer than that," he said. "So what forgiving there is you'll have to do."

"Well, then," she answered, "let's kiss and make up. I suppose that's the next thing to do." She uttered that same nervous laugh again as she turned to go.

"I'll fly," she said. The tears she saw in her father's eyes, when she'd kissed him over their first breakfast, obliterated the fear that she'd be shipped back to Pasadena as unsatisfactory; as his forbearance, the evening before, had made it plain that she wouldn't have to run away from him. They'd "got on" all right. And the message she found him in, as well as the place he seemed to offer her in it, was far beyond the wildest of her hopes. The "good flat" and the two cars he had mentioned in his letter had suggested no such establishment as this.

Anson—dignified, inscrutable, sophisticated, and, implicitly at least, under her orders—was as incredible as if he'd come out of the movies. And Burns, the chauffeur—her chauffeur, in effect, since her father seemed never to require his services by day—was as good-looking and jolly and serviceable to her caprice as any of the young princes of Hollywood who sometimes disguised themselves in jobs like that, for a lark—or a purpose.

The car she elected to do most of her driving in was not the sumptuous monster in which Joe had taken her down to dinner on that first evening, but a sport model of the same famous make. Her first edict was that she be allowed to learn to drive it. They made daily cruises, she and young Burns, of uncounted miles and unreckoned hours. She even liked the country. The color and freshness and variety of the foliage excited her, accustomed as she was to the palmetto-punctuated monotony of southern California.

Most of the time during those first few days she felt like All Baba when he had first said, "Open sesame!" But, again like All Baba, she was to experience no comfortable security in the possession of her treasure-trove. There were enigmas about her father's life she couldn't solve; alarms that kept her constantly on the alert.

She'd stumbled upon the first of these the morning Joe took her to the office. He'd introduced her round promiscuously, during the ostensible process of showing her over the premises, to all sorts of people—draftsmen, clerks, stenographers—usually in a perfectly one-sided manner: "This is my daughter, Beatrice"; of course, it didn't matter to her who they were.

But to this procedure there had been striking exception. On leading her up to some young woman—a creature with some pretense to looks and a lot of red hair; probably some sort of head stenographer since she seemed to have an office of her own—her father had said, "Beatrice, this is Jennie MacArthur." He'd said it, too, on a note, significantly somehow, and the significance seemed to be that here was somebody who, for an unguessed reason, did matter. He added, as if to put it beyond doubt, "I want you two to get acquainted."

By HENRY KITCHELL WEBSTER
Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

Somehow he couldn't look round at her, but he nodded and said, "Yes—I must wire your mother you've come. She's been in a terrible state about you."

She had begun coming toward him, but now she stopped. "I guess you're still mad at me," she remarked, "for having kept you waiting."

At this he turned to her. "I kept you waiting longer than that," he said. "So what forgiving there is you'll have to do."

"Well, then," she answered, "let's kiss and make up. I suppose that's the next thing to do." She uttered that same nervous laugh again as she turned to go.

They Had the Room to Themselves.

came to meet him, and when he took her in his hands, he saw that she winced. Her head went back like a frightened animal's.

Instantly he let her go, and stepped back. "We'll let that stand over while you're getting used to me," he told her.

Blood surged up into her face, and it was with a shrug she turned away. "Suit yourself about that," she said.

The paralysis which had been upon him lifted. His thought spoke itself, naturally, in words. "My dear, the only woman who ever kissed me without wanting to was your mother. I'm not going to have that handed on to you."

"You're going to like me some day, and when you do you'll come and kiss me without having to stiffen your back."

At that she smiled round a little more spontaneously upon him. "I'm going to like it here, all right," she said.

And with this encouragement, partial as it was (for it was, he noted, that she'd prophesied she'd like, rather than him), he took matters into his own hands. Had she said anything to Anson about dinner—about anything she'd specially like? Was she tired after her long journey? If not, what would she say to their dining downtown—at the Blackstone, perhaps? And seeing a show afterward, by way of making it a party?

The party that night was a success. True, he frowned a trifle at the way she dressed. Her San Francisco clothes showed they had been bought by one used to making forty dollars look like four hundred. A trifle bizarre for the fashionable hotel at which they dined and with an impossible hat. Joe ordered two cocktails and suggested that she could slip hers and he would finish it for her. She drank it down instead and it showed a little in her heightened color and a tendency to be on her guard.

It might have been that or the show that followed, a charming little play with a heroine in dotted Swiss, whom Beatrice seemed to resent, that made her fancy her father was in a patronizing mood. Riding home from the theater (he had not suggested protracting the adventure further) she had seemed a trifle frightened at his proximity and it was with a visible relief that she took his casual dismissal of her to bed, without any demand for confidences.

At half-past seven the next morning, as he was sitting down to breakfast, she amazed him by coming into the dining-room. She was clad in a loose-steeved bath-robe, over her nightgown, and her hair, in two thick black braids, hung over her shoulders. Her eyes were bright with youth, and the bloom of sleep lay upon her unpaired skin. Her greeting was a mere playful caress of one hand upon his shoulder. Then she sat down in the armchair opposite his, and made a great play of the domesticities of breakfast; had the coffee-urn and all the serving-dishes removed to her side of the table.

She chafed him brightly while she served and, in the intervals, made a hearty breakfast of her own. She made light of his concern that she should be up and about so early. She wasn't one of the sort who had to sleep away their days. There was nearly always something to do that night, she thought, and certainly her first breakfast with her father was one of them.

The meal prolonged itself far beyond his usual limit for breakfast, and the morning paper lay unregarded on the floor. At last, however, he rose and said he must be off. She rose, too—they had the room to themselves just then—and for a moment she stood before him, breathless and a little flushed. Then she flung her arms around him, tight, and kissed his mouth. He gathered her up in his arms, and tears, utterly unbidden and unguessed, filled his eyes.

"It was your beard I was afraid of," she murmured. "But I guess I like it."

He let her go, abruptly, for there was another damned echo in that. It was a thing that had been said to him before.

Then he dashed the unwelcome memory out of his mind. "Look here!" he cried. "How long will it take you to dress? If you'll be quick, I'll wait. Take you downtown with me to the office. I want you to see me. Besides, it's the place you'll have to come when you want money."

"I'll fly," she said. The tears she saw in her father's eyes, when she'd kissed him over their first breakfast, obliterated the fear that she'd be shipped back to Pasadena as unsatisfactory; as his forbearance, the evening before, had made it plain that she wouldn't have to run away from him. They'd "got on" all right. And the message she found him in, as well as the place he seemed to offer her in it, was far beyond the wildest of her hopes. The "good flat" and the two cars he had mentioned in his letter had suggested no such establishment as this.

Anson—dignified, inscrutable, sophisticated, and, implicitly at least, under her orders—was as incredible as if he'd come out of the movies. And Burns, the chauffeur—her chauffeur, in effect, since her father seemed never to require his services by day—was as good-looking and jolly and serviceable to her caprice as any of the young princes of Hollywood who sometimes disguised themselves in jobs like that, for a lark—or a purpose.

The car she elected to do most of her driving in was not the sumptuous monster in which Joe had taken her down to dinner on that first evening, but a sport model of the same famous make. Her first edict was that she be allowed to learn to drive it. They made daily cruises, she and young Burns, of uncounted miles and unreckoned hours. She even liked the country. The color and freshness and variety of the foliage excited her, accustomed as she was to the palmetto-punctuated monotony of southern California.

Most of the time during those first few days she felt like All Baba when he had first said, "Open sesame!" But, again like All Baba, she was to experience no comfortable security in the possession of her treasure-trove. There were enigmas about her father's life she couldn't solve; alarms that kept her constantly on the alert.

She'd stumbled upon the first of these the morning Joe took her to the office. He'd introduced her round promiscuously, during the ostensible process of showing her over the premises, to all sorts of people—draftsmen, clerks, stenographers—usually in a perfectly one-sided manner: "This is my daughter, Beatrice"; of course, it didn't matter to her who they were.

But to this procedure there had been striking exception. On leading her up to some young woman—a creature with some pretense to looks and a lot of red hair; probably some sort of head stenographer since she seemed to have an office of her own—her father had said, "Beatrice, this is Jennie MacArthur." He'd said it, too, on a note, significantly somehow, and the significance seemed to be that here was somebody who, for an unguessed reason, did matter. He added, as if to put it beyond doubt, "I want you two to get acquainted."

But she hadn't been an item at their dinners, nor even, since that first night at the Blackstone, cocktails. Her father helped himself to whisky out of a carafe, but never offered any to her. She asked, when he was on the point of going off without telling her, who the Cravens were.

"Why, you met Henry that day at the office," he said. "He's treasurer of the company."

"Was he the smallish man with eye-glasses?" she asked. And, at his nod, "Is he a particular friend of yours?"

There was something she took as not quite serious about his answer. "Sure he is. Henry and I have cottoned up in a great style." He hesitated, then went on, more soberly, "His sister Margaret's a mighty fine woman. You want to make a good impression on her." At the door he turned back to say, "Better wear your little blue dress, I guess. More the thing for a small family dinner than the red one."

She was in two minds, during the day, whether she wouldn't defy him here, by way of establishing a principle she was in danger of allowing to lapse. But a misgiving, picked up she knew not where, about that rose-colored costume, which had looked so dextrously smart in the Market street shop, led her to follow her father's suggestion. For a few minutes after their guests arrived she was glad she had done so. She sniffed danger in the wind, and until it had passed she didn't want her hands tried by a quarrel, no matter how trivial, with her father.

She couldn't have said just what it was that made her uneasy, but her pitiless young eyes saw, beneath Margaret's surface suavely, something haggard. It betrayed itself in the corners of her eyelids and in the tightness of her throat-muscles. It could be heard, sometimes, in the wire edge of a word—addressed, usually, to her brother, or when, with what was meant to sound like pure good humor, she told stories at his expense. She was old and tired and, for some reason only to be guessed, not far from desperate.

But, all the more for that, she was formidable. Over the cocktails in the drawing-room she had addressed her host as Joe, but without—quite—Jennie MacArthur's unconsciousness. A gleam in his eye told the girl, too, that he had noted it, with interest and perhaps with pleasure. So it must have been the first time. The woman hadn't done it idly; nothing she did was idle.

"They know I'm hard-boiled and they suspect I'm dangerous."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Know Thyself.

When you are made to see yourself as others see you by overhearing their remarks, it may both anger you and improve your behavior.

Fault Finders.

Anybody has a right to find fault with the way children are raised—considering that everybody has to endure the results.

If a man minds his own business extremely, it may be because he's shy.

MAN-TAILED SUIT OF TWILL; TAILORED HATS FOR SPRING

THERE are suits and suits this spring. In describing them the fashion reporter must repeat "box coat" and "straight line" so often that it hardly seems worth while to say them again—five times out of ten they may be taken for granted. Even so, there are endless variations on these two themes in the spring modes. One example of the box coat and straight skirt is shown here. It is evident that it was intended for a taller person than the young woman wearing it, for skirts in street clothes are from ten to twelve inches from the hearts that beat as one have made the tailored suit and the tailored frock star performers in spring's style pageant. Those women who have not already acquired a new tailored outfit are busy in the pursuit of one, and the confidence that nothing is more approved lends zest to this business.

The tailored suit requires a tailored hat—any other kind of millinery will prove a jarring note in the spring song of proper things for street wear. And obliging milliners have provided tailored hats to meet the demand. Few of these are severely simple, even floor. Otherwise this plain, clean-cut, man-tailed suit of twill will pass as faultless under the eyes of the most critical. Besides twills and twill cords, the proper cloths for plain tailored suits are rep, covert cloth, camel's hair, certain crepe weaves, alpaca and flannel.

BOX COAT AND STRAIGHT SKIRT

But in the army of suits the box coat and straight skirt have allies that rival them in popular favor. There are coats with a little shaping or pinching in at the waistline, made in one-button and two-button models, others cut on box-coat lines but overlapping at the front, giving a diagonal line. Youthful, short, faring jackets, fastened only at the neck, take the when strictly tailored, and most of them achieve a becomingness that is nothing less than a genius for flattery.

Hats of straw braids, hats of silk and hats of silk and braid combined appear in the front rank of tailored designs for spring. Many lustrous millinery fabrics that look silky are also used. Ribbons, especially in the narrow widths, are most important for trimming, but the tailored hat is not much restricted in this matter—designers have learned to adapt almost all trimmings to the tailored mode.

Four hats pictured here give a hint of the diversity of shapes presented. At the top a fine bangkok is faced with georgette and embroidered with place of coats, especially in those suits employing a plain and a plaid material—the coat is of the plain goods with finishing touches in the plaid. Flaring sleeves introduce another grace note in the spring song of the suit.

SPRING HATS OF SILK AND BRAID

The wrap-around skirt, the military collar and the scarf collar are all important items in the styles.

Navy blue has naturally come to the fore with the revival of the man-tailed suit, rivalled by black and oxford in dark colors and by beige, sand and certain brown shades in the lighter tones. The hair-line stripe appears to have more admirers than ever. Flat silk braids are featured in bindings and as trimmings on both tailored suits and tailored dresses.

Several million souls with but one single thought and several million fine chenille and a few beads. Below, at the right, a black taffeta hat has petals of figured silk outlined with braid, applied to the crown, and a facing of the silk. Flat flower motifs trim it. On a milan shape rings of the straw and a wash of moire show what can be done with only two materials—and ingenuity. Another example appears in the small hat of taffeta silk with the upward turn in its front brim. Rows of braid in two colors are attached to it and the same braid and silk fashion the trimming.

Sailors. In both round and straight-crowned styles, are late arrivals among tailored hats. Strap and buckle trimmings are liked for them, and bindings of narrow silver or gold ribbon strike a new note.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.
(© 1914, Western Newspaper Union.)

MICKIE, THE PRINTER'S DEVIL

By Charles Seghena
© Western Newspaper Union

Right vs. Correct

TOWN PESTS

AW, WHAT'S THE USE

By L. F. Van Zelm
© Western Newspaper Union

The Latest Wrinkle in Piano Covers

Harvesting the Winter Crops

Off the Concrete

THE CLANCY KIDS
What Joe Needs is a Basket
By PERCY L. CROSBY
© by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

TURN ME OVER
Do you mean to infer that my mind is wandering?

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS
KUNL BOB TALKIN' BOUT FINANCIAL DISASTER DONE OVEN-TUK DE STO-KEEPUH BUT HE MUS' BE POWEFUL SLOW ON HE FEET -- HITS BIN RUNNIN' ME ALL MAH LIFE!!

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB
I lose the illusions I had in my youth
The more I knock up against men
I feel so unsettled I think I'll begin to believe in them over again.

A STRONG RESEM-BLANCE
Little Bird: Gee, that fellow must be at the head of a big corporation.
A SAFE PLACE

RADIO RALF AND HIS FRIENDS--

By JACK WILSON
Copyright 1931 by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

A THRIFTY SOUL

Wetmore—There's old Titus Wadde. He's hoarded the finest stock of bottled goods in town.
Thurston—Say! But he must be popular.
Wetmore—Popular like the fth. He's still hoarding.
A Question of Tones.
Patinger—You needn't get mad just because I dun you for that little bill.
Pating—I'm mad not because you dun me, but because you did me.—
Judge.

Butterfly—I guess I'll be chased by the small boy all summer.
Bug—Not if you stay around you schoolhouse.

WRIGLEYS

Chew it after every meal
It stimulates appetite and aids digestion. It makes your food do you more good. Note how it relieves that stuffy feeling after hearty eating.

For Hardware, Mill, Oil Well Supplies and Automobile Tires, Tubes and Accessories
F. W. Heitmann Co.
Houston, Texas

Marvelous New Discovery—Liquid No-Wave keeps any hair beautifully curly or wavy for a week or more. Regular $1.00 bottle for 50¢. O. D. for 50¢ plus few cents postage. Reliable agents wanted. BELLEVILLE, MO. 424 Riverside St., New Orleans, La.

PATENTS

Head model or drawing for registration. Highest reference. Best results. Promptly prepared. Watson & Coleman, Houston, Texas. Patent Lawyer, 624 S. Washington, 9.

Careless of Him

Boy (home from college for the week-end)—Have you seen my new belt around the house?
Mother—No, did you put it around the house?

Best Way to Relieve Pain is by direct outside application and the best remedy is an Alleeck's Plaster—the original and genuine.—Adv.

Time doesn't fly when you have a wrist watch; you look at it too often for that.

CORNS

Lift Off—No Pain!

Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Always
A safe and soothing remedy for cuts, burns, or skin troubles. Prevents, relieves, and heals. Take internally for coughs and sore throats.

Vaseline
PETROLEUM JELLY
Chesebrough Mfg. Co., Corp'd.
New York

The New Freely-Lathering Cuticura Shaving Stick
For Tender Faces
EFFICIENT MEDICAL ANTISEPTIC

Green's August Flower
The remedy with a record of fifty-seven years of unvarying success. All who suffer with nervous depression, neurasthenia, indigestion, torpid liver, dizziness, headache, coming-up-of-food, wind on stomach, palpitation and other indications of digestive disorder, will find Green's August Flower an effective and efficient remedy. For fifty-seven years this medicine has been successfully used in millions of households all over the civilized world. Because of its merit and popularity Green's August Flower can be found today wherever medicines are sold. 25 and 50 cent bottles.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

GREAT SHEPHERD DOG

"I heard this story a little while ago," said Daddy, "and it is a true story."

"There was a little girl, and she had gone off to look for spring flowers. She loved the flowers of the spring, and she thought she would find some near an old swamp which was some little distance from her home.

"Off she went, and as she walked along she plucked many blossoms.

"Oh, she was getting so many that she could hardly hold them all.

"Some of them dropped from her hands, but she held closely to the rest. She did not pick up the few which had fallen, for she wanted to find some May flowers or trailing arbutus flowers which she knew were not far away.

"And she wanted to be able to hold some of these, too.

"She only had two hands and a little basket which was on her wrist and which was already half filled.

"On she went, and along by her side went her dog. He was a shepherd dog and was a pet of everyone in the family.

"But this little girl loved him, she thought, more than any of the others did.

"For no one could love him as much as she did. She was quite sure of that.

"On and on they went. And before long they reached the swamp.

"She had planned to go around it and see what she could find.

"But she saw some pretty blossoms growing in the center of the swamp, and thought she would go over and pick them.

"When she went over, though, she began to slip and felt herself sinking down.

"She had heard of soft, soft, wickily, wickily soft ground which was called quagmire and which held people as prisoners, catching them down, down, and not letting them go.

"As she began to sink she tried to take a step further on, but she only went down further. She could not step anywhere without sinking, sinking, it seemed.

"The shepherd dog saw her. He rushed quickly to her, and he, too, started to slip. But he was lighter than she, and too, he was on a bit of earth not quite so treacherous and wicked.

"It was bad enough, though.

"He too, slipped down. But he had grabbed hold of her, and she had her arms around him.

"He was holding her so that just her head and shoulders were above the awful earth.

"He held on and held on. He barked and she tried to call for help.

"But no one was near. The house was far away and no one had thought she would be in danger.

"After awhile they were so exhausted they could not call or bark. She hung on to her dog. He held her up with all the strength and bravery in his splendid dog body, though his legs were held fast by the mud.

"All night long he held her. It seemed as though his strength would give out, but his splendid bravery and love of her and forgetfulness of himself made him able to last through the whole night.

"In the morning they were found."

Aspirin

Beware of Imitations!

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians over twenty-three years for

- Colds
- Headache
- Toothache
- Lumbago
- Neuritis
- Rheumatism
- Neuralgia
- Pain, Pain

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proven directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

care of the mouth

Zonite is acknowledged by dentists to be the ideal mouthwash—because it is absolutely non-poisonous, does not harm the delicate membranes of the mouth or throat and is a powerful, sure antiseptic. One teaspoonful in half a glass of water once or twice a day.

Zonite KILLS GERMS

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND

Horses and Mules can be kept on their feet and working if owners give "SPOHN'S" for Distemper, Influenza, Shipping Fever, Coughs and Colds. Cheapest and surest means of escaping these diseases. Occasional doses work wonders. Give "SPOHN'S" for Dog Distemper. Used for thirty years. 50 cents and $1.20 at drug stores.

Plenty at Home

The Canvasser—Can I interest you in this wonderful correspondence course for building up the will power?
Mr. Pewee—I think not. My wife has enough will power for both of us.

Both the future and the past are near relations to the present.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELLANS Hot water Sure Relief
BELLANS
25¢ and 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

A Wonderful Discovery

The remarkable herb "HOB" as analyzed by "Schwartz" was found to contain, besides other principles, a variety of acid which he named Giltannic acid. He also found it to contain a peculiar acid discovered by Schwartz and Rochleder and named Ribichloric acid. This has been used in Dropsy, congestion of the spleen, Scrofula and Leprosy with good results. In recent years this herb has been discovered growing in East Texas and Louisiana and further experiment has shown that its wonderfully purifying properties were due to its action on the kidneys.

The Hobo Medicine Company of Beaumont, Texas, make an effective balm from this herb and call it Hobo Kidney and Bladder Remedy, this balm being said to be a Diuretic, Aperient and Anti-Scrofulic.

Six bottles—a guaranteed treatment, costs $6.00.

Free! Free! Free!

New Wall Paper Catalogue

Fix up your home nicely, but inexpensively. Free catalogue, showing wall paper from 1c per single roll up. Satisfaction or money back. Write today—FREE CATALOGUE

N. Y. Wall Paper Store
Beaumont Houston Dallas Ft. Worth

LIVE STOCK

TOO GREAT OVERHEAD CAUSES PIG FAILURE

Not all who try to raise pigs make a success of it, in spite of the fact that most persons think pigs will raise themselves. One reason for failure with hogs, the New York college of agriculture at Ithaca points out, is too great overhead expense. Sometimes, for example, too elaborate and expensive buildings are provided. The buildings must be dry, free from draft, light, and well ventilated, but only reasonably warm. When a raiser goes beyond meeting these requirements in his hog quarters, he is piling up expense on which he cannot realize a profit.

Another thing which brings up the costs, is buying all the feed required and making no use of waste products. Some farmers seem to think hogs can be profitably raised without pasture. In some cases perhaps they can, but the farmer who attempts pork production without sufficient pasturage, such as alfalfa, red and sweet clover, dwarf-excess rape, or fall wheat, sufficient to allow an acre for every twelve to eighteen pigs, is setting himself a handicap against the farmer who does have adequate pasture.

Unsanitary quarters likewise have a part in throwing the balance to the wrong side of the ledger. Uncleanliness is likely to cause lice, cholera, worms, and rheumatism.

Failure to study market demands, and then feeding and breeding to meet these demands, are also listed as reasons for lack of success with swine.

Again, a "know it all" attitude has caused many a farmer to refuse to take advantage of information regarding the requirements of hogs.

Keeping Feed Trough at Proper Level by Chains

A nearby neighbor who feeds a carload of steers each year has had trouble in keeping the feed troughs at the proper level, writes Earl Rogers in Power Farming. For inside feeding he has devised a series of chains made of links about six inches long and suspends the feed troughs from the beams of the covered feed lot.

As the manure piles up during the winter he has only to adjust the rack by hooking the chain one link higher. When the shed is cleaned out the links come down. This keeps the steers from getting into the feed racks as they will do if they can. It also provides a good place for the fattening hogs that follow the steers to stay. Pieces of 2-by-4 are stuck through the links of the chain at the proper height to keep the steers from getting their front feet in the rack, yet these allow the steers plenty of space to get in to eat.

Feed Rack Held Up by Chains.

Soy Bean Hay Good for Breeding Ewe in Winter

Soy bean hay is good for wintering breeding ewes. But it is better yet when efficiently combined with alfalfa hay, says John M. Evvard, chief in animal experiments at the Iowa experiment station.

Where soy bean hay replaces alfalfa hay entirely, 100 pounds of it saves 104 pounds of alfalfa hay and 10 pounds of corn grain, a total of 114 pounds. The introduction of 74 pounds of soy bean hay into the ration is found to save 58 pound of alfalfa hay and 34 pound of grain daily per ewe. On this basis the feeding of 100 pounds of soy bean hay saved 76 pounds of alfalfa hay and 40 pounds of corn grain, a total of 122 pounds, in recent tests.

A good practice in Mr. Evvard's opinion, if both alfalfa and soy bean hay are available, is to feed a combination of them along with corn stilage, some grain and some salt.

Important to Grow More Legume Hay for Animals

The important thing, not only for sheep grower but also for the producer of cattle and horses, is to grow more legume hay and less timothy. The feeding value of timothy is not a great deal higher than that of good oat straw, while at the same time it is a harder crop on the soil than any legume.

Encourage Brood Sows to Move About Considerably

The sow that farrows early in September when natural conditions are favorable for bringing forth her young and when plenty of cheap and bulky green forage is available has a decided advantage over the sows that farrow in March. Her pigs get a better start and by the time they are ready to wean they are capable of making good use of the waste feeds, fruit, vegetables and soft corn.

WOMEN! DON'T BE IMPOSED UPON

Warning! Not All Package Dyes Are "Diamond Dyes."

Always ask for "Diamond Dyes" and if you don't see the name "Diamond Dyes" on the package—refuse it—hand it back!

Each 15-cent package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint shirts, dresses, waists, sweaters, stockings, kimonos, coats, draperies, coverings—everything new, even if she has never dyed before. Choose any color at drug store. Refuse substitutes!

Cautious

George had taken his country cousin Jim to look over the airframe. When he had seen all there was to see, George said to his companion: "Now we'll go for a joy ride in one of the machines."

"I may be old-fashioned, but I don't care very much for going on a trip in one of these new-fangled things," replied Jim.

"Oh, don't be a fool!" laughed the other. "Why, you may live to see airplanes running like omnibus services!"

"Yes, I may, if I keep out of them," was the cautious reply.

DON'T CRITICIZE BACKWARD FOLKS

Help them wherever you see that they are standing back afraid to assert themselves simply because they feel sensitive about their pimply, red and rough face.

Thousands of people all over the country are praising the wonderful Black and White Ointment because it gets rid of their skin troubles when everything else they tried did them no good.

Tell your friends, who are struggling under this handicap in life, to get Black and White Ointment from their dealer. They will be delighted with the quick results they will get from it. It is economically priced, in generous packages. The 50c size contains three times as much as the 25c size.—Advertisement.

The Wise Man

Opportunity knocking at the front door has given way to the wolf in many a man's life because he allowed disease to creep in through the back door. The wise man looks first to the health of himself and family and after that to the less difficult matter of making a living.

A Good Friend

Preferable is the man who exaggerates his successes rather than his troubles.

At least two-thirds of the married men you meet are henpecked, but they don't know it.

A torpid liver prevents proper food assimilation. Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills tone up the liver. They act gently but surely. 175 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

Funds that people save for their old age give joy to their heirs.

Experience as Nurse Causes Mrs. Fleming to Endorse Tanlac

Practical Nurse for 16 Years Tells of Recovery Thanks to Tanlac—Recommends It to Patients.

"I would never have believed any medicine on earth could help me like Tanlac did," is the precise statement of Mrs. Cella Fleming, 1915 Addison St., Berkeley, Calif., a practical nurse of sixteen years' experience.

"In 1904 a serious operation weakened my system so I never saw a real well day until I took Tanlac three years ago. I never seemed to be hungry, my stomach was so disordered I could scarcely retain a thing I ate.

"Tanlac built up my appetite and digestion wonderfully, and every single ailment went away. Then, with returning strength came a 32-pound increase in weight, and from that day three years ago my health has been splendid. I recommend Tanlac to many of my patients, for it is indeed a remarkable medicine."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 40 million bottles sold. Accept no substitutes.

$1 Saves Your Cotton From the Boll Weevil

We offer the Poison Bloom as the solution to this problem. We believe it is the only effective way to fight them. One ounce of material about fifty-five cents per acre. The increase from one weevil, if only one-fourth hatch, would destroy twenty-seven bales of cotton. Get the first weevil and you go a long way toward saving your crop.

Send us one dollar and we will send sample Bloom, together with full instructions on how to use, and the right to use same for the crop year without hundred twenty-five. Once applied, good for all season. No damage from rain, dew or wind.

BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL CO., Suite 401 N. Texas Bldg., DALLAS, TEXAS

Franklin's Thrift

We hear a great deal of Benjamin Franklin as the great exponent of thrift. Historians, recall, however, that the great scientist-statesman was not always thrifty enough. In his refusal to patent his famous stove, he was wasteful of his own and the public's profit. He wished his ideas to be given free to the world, and so did not protect his invention; an Englishman made some changes for the worse in the Franklin fireplace, secured a patent on it and reaped a fortune from the sales.

Always Keep a Box on Hand. Brandreth Pills are a safe and reliable laxative, made in America for ninety years, entirely vegetable.—Adv.

Nightcaps were worn when people slept in bedrooms as cold as an Eskimo igloo.

A man often makes allowances for his wife, but not in the form of a weekly stipend.

Sometimes the cigar draws better than the actor if it is named first.

$2,500 in Prizes

ENTER the International Crow-Shooting Contest. Du Pont offers $2,500 in merchandise prizes. No entrance fees. Destroy the menace to game and crops. Write today for booklets giving full information on the crow.

E. I. DU PONT DE NEMOURS & CO., INC.
Sporting Powder Division
WILMINGTON, DEL.

Health and good looks —the reward of internal cleanliness

HEALTH and good looks go hand in hand. If you do not keep clean internally, your looks and health are undermined together. A clogged intestine breeds poisons that reach every part of the body. These poisons ruin the complexion and undermine health. Constipation brings on such ailments as headaches, bilious attacks, and insomnia—each of which saps your health and vitality. Soon much more serious conditions follow.

In constipation, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation.

Physicians Favor Lubrication The lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Not a Medicine Nujol is not a laxative and cannot gripe. Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world.

Don't give disease a start. Adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. Nujol is not a medicine. Like pure water, it is harmless. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

Nujol

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
For Internal Cleanliness

...The Princess Theater...

MONDAY and TUESDAY—"WESTBOUD LIMITED" Starring Ralph Lewis. Thundering engines—shrieking whistles—clanging bells—hissing steam—grinding steel—screaming breaks—SEE this mighty photodrama of flesh and steel.

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY—"DRIVEN," with an unusually strong cast. You will find here the romantic, heart-touching story of a boy and girl—and a woman! They are real people, living in a real world, back of the green mountains of Kentucky. The one picture they'll never want to forget.

FRIDAY and SATURDAY—Jack Hoxie in "THE RED WARNING." See the tremendous and spectacular charge of the enraged cattlemen on the cattle-rustlers, rounded up for the last desperate clean up!—The Round-up You'll Never Forget! Also 2 reels Leather Pushers.

Have the Cause Removed

By Spinal adjustment; headaches, eye, ear, nose and throat trouble; heart, stomach, liver and kidney trouble; spleen, pancreas, small and large intestines; female troubles; constipation; appendicitis; tonsillitis; colds and fevers and numerous other ailments. Free Analysis.

A. G. Livingston
Doctor of Chiropractic.

Member U. C. A. Member T. B. U. C. A.
Graduate of San Antonio T. C. C.—Palmer Method.
Office at Mrs. Tom Parsons, phone N. O. 72, from 9 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and from 1:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. Can be called night or day at the Kerr Hotel, Room 6. Sunday by appointments.

Chiropractic, the Master Key to Health

LAURENCE & LEMONS
SANDERSON, TEXAS

Agents for Fire, Tornado and Automobile
Insurance.

Just arrived, Spring and Summer suit samples. Royal Tailor Shop.

All kinds of pleating done. Mrs. N. S. Murphy, Box 136, Alpine, Texas.

E. F. Howard

Agent For Good Reliable
FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES
Your Business will be Appreciated

HERE'S TO THE LINE,

Let your ships fly where ever they may.
And don't forget old

A. BANKHEAD

For your Shoe and Saddle Repair
Work Guaranteed

Making: skirts, pants, ruffles; hemstitching; covered buttons, tailored buttonholes. Mrs. H. B. Houston, Uvalde, Texas.

ELITE Confectionery

HOT AND COLD DRINKS

SANDWICHES,

CIGARS,

CANDIES,

TOBACCO

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

We Want and Appreciate Your Trade

New Spring and Summer samples are open for your inspection at the Royal Tailor Shop

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

"Those who use in a 'run down' condition will notice that Catarrh medicine does much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is generally influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE consists of an Ointment which quickly relieves by local application, and the Internal Medicine, a Tonic, which assists in improving the General Health. Sold by druggists for over 40 Years. P. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio."

Small Cars and the World's Most Popular Tire

The largest factory of its kind in the world is devoted solely to the production of Goodyear Tires, sizes 31x3, 33x3 1/2, and 31x4. Isn't this immense production, day after day, a sure indication to you of Goodyear's high ability of honesty of purpose in building the best Clincher tire on the market. THINK IT OVER. These tires, as well as other sizes, are here for your inspection. They cost no more than ordinary tires. Our helpful tire service will increase your mileage. It costs you nothing and saves you money.

MUSSEY BROS.

Church News of Sanderson

No services Sunday, it being the 5th Sunday in the month.

Rev. Adams filled his regular appointment here last Sunday. Morning lesson was from the 2nd Cor., evening topic was "Why We are Poor." Attentive congregation at both services.

The Ladies of the W. M. U. met at the home of Mrs. C. D. Strange last Monday with 11 members present. Being a business session it was discussed and decided to meet each Monday at 4 p. m., to take up a Bible study course. After business closed the hosted served delicious cake and ambrosia. Will meet with Mrs. Joe Nance Monday, March 31st, all very welcome.

Presbyterian Sunday school opened with 78 last Sunday and each class reported good memory work, so glad the children are interested in that feature of school work. Methodist Sunday school reported good attendance also, although some of the children are still sick.

Mrs. John Stovell took her class on a "hobo picnic" last Friday evening. Before leaving town they made several back door calls for hand-outs and when spread out they collected some enjoyable eats. They adjourned to the hills where the kiddies had a grand time.

Ladies Auxiliary to the Presbyterian Church met at the home of Mrs. H. D. Williams last Monday with 12 members present, a social meeting. Several mirth going stunts were indulged in, one was a March wind contest. The room was decorated with celuloide windmills and prizes awarded were windmills. The month of March was carried out in decorations. Refreshments of salad, sandwiches and iced tea was served by Mesdams Williams and Stovel. All report having a lovely time.

The next meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Presbyterian church will be at the home of Mrs. Hy R. Laurence the second Monday in April, for an all day sewing to supply the needs of the little orphan girl the society adopted. All please try and be present, the more the merrier and more work accomplished for the little girl.

—Regular Correspondent—

Francis Mansfield returned Tuesday from El Paso where he purchased two Chevrolet trucks to use as hauling and trucking.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Jones were up from Dryden Thursday on business.

Notice to Contractors

FEDERAL AID HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION—TERRELL COUNTY.

Sealed proposals addressed to Judge G. J. Henshaw, County Judge of Terrell County, Texas, for the construction of Section B. F. A. P. 324—Job 222 A, of State Highway No. 3 in Terrell County Texas, will be received at the office of the Terrell County Clerk at Sanderson, Texas, until 10 o'clock a. m., April 24th, and then publicly opened and read.

DESCRIPTION OF WORK

Total length of Highway—60 miles—divided into four sections. Length of second section—12.14 miles. TYPE OF CONSTRUCTION: Gravel surfacing, 18' wide, 8" deep; embankment, 20' wide; concrete bridges, culverts and pavement.

Item	Description	Quantity	Unit	Price
1.	Light Clearing	539.00	Stations
2.	Light Grubbing	29.00	"
3.	Channel Clearing	8.00	Acres
4.	Earth Excavation	29,306.50	Cubic Yards
5.	Solid Rock Excavation	33,013.50	"
6.	Loose Rock Excavation	16,590.40	"
7.	Earth Borrow Excavation	63,317.50	"
8.	Earth Haul Borrow Excavation	22,750.10	"
9.	Channel and Side Hill Ditching Earth	6,010.00	"
10.	Channel and Side Hill Ditching Rock	1,400.00	"
11.	Earth Overhaul	40,567.30	Station Yards
12.	Rock Overhaul	42,299.60	"
13.	Gravel Pit Stripping	25,000.00	Cubic Yards
14.	Gravel Hauled 1st 1/4 mile	23,681.27	"
15.	" " 2nd " "	4,158.00	"
16.	" " 3rd " "	4,158.00	"
17.	" " 4th " "	4,198.74	"
18.	" " 5th " "	4,191.59	"
19.	" " 6th " "	4,222.27	"
20.	" " 7th " "	3,111.96	"
21.	" " 8th " "	3,785.51	"
22.	" " Add. " "	1,014.00	"
23.	Screening Gravel	29,681.27	"
24.	Rolling Gravel and Sub Base	930.00	Hours
25.	Stodging Rock Base Heavy	220.00	Stations
26.	" " Light	55.00	"
27.	Wooden Guard Fence 8' sections	10,448.00	Lineal Feet
28.	Dry Rabbit Wall	917.10	Cubic Yards
29.	Structural Excavation Dry Earth	2,708.00	"
30.	" " " " Rock	409.00	"
31.	Concrete Bridges-Girder 12x4	538.50	"
32.	" " " " 12x4	1,297.11	"
33.	" " " " Cutoff Walls 12x4.5	86.15	"
34.	" " " " Pavement-Dip 12x4.5	636.50	Square Yards
35.	Reinforcing Steel	225,481.00	Pounds
36.	Bridge Railing Type C.	492.00	Lineal Ft.

Bids will be received on the whole or on earth work and surfacing items separately from all concrete items.

Detailed plans and specifications of the work may be seen for examination at the office of John Stovell, County Engineer, Sanderson, Texas.

A certified or Cashier's check for 5 per cent of the bid may be payable without recourse to the order of G. J. Henshaw, County Judge of Terrell County, Texas, must accompany each bid or proposal, as a guarantee that the bidder, if successful, will enter into a contract and make bond in accordance with the requirements of the specifications.

The right is reserved by Terrell County to reject any and all bids or proposals or waive all technicalities. Proposals shall be submitted in sealed envelopes and marked "Bids for the construction of Sec. B. of State Highway No. 3 in Terrell County, Texas." Payment for above work will be made in cash. All bids will be retained by the County.

ANNOUNCEMENT COLUMN.

This space reserved for JUDGE JONES.

For District Attorney: JULIAN LACROSSE.

For County Judge: G. J. HENSHAW. (Re-election)

For Sheriff & Tax Collector: W. J. BANNER. F. N. HARRELL, (re-election) J. J. NANCE. JOHN P. CROW.

For County & District Clerk: LUELLA LEMONS. (re-election)

For Tax Assessor: W. J. FERGUSON. (re-election)

HENRY GATES. BEN DAWSON. B. GREEN.

For County Treasurer: FRANK K. HARRELL. (re-election)

For Commissioner Precinct No. 1: W. A. COCHRAN.

For Consable Prec. No. 1: TOM PARSONS.

If you want to be dressed up wear made-to-measure clothes. Call at the Royal Tailor Shop and let us fit you up to a nifty suit. The cost is low and satisfaction guaranteed.

W. B. A. MEET

The W. B. A. of Maccabees held their regular and social meeting last Saturday night. Delicious refreshments consisting of chicken sandwiches, cake, jelly with whipped cream, cake and coca was served.

Tonight the Maccabees will have a benefit Bunco party and everyone is invited to come and have a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mansfield and children spent several days this week in Marathon visiting Mrs. Mansfield's mother, Mrs. J. H. Lemons.

Mrs. F. B. Carter left Thursday evening for San Antonio where she will visit friends and relatives.

Indulgences and Papal Infallibility
Do you want to know what Catholics believe about Indulgence and Papal Infallibility, write Catholic Truth Society, P. O. Box 877, El Paso, Texas.

A Hint to the Wise, Etc. See Manager For Contract

Why annoy your neighbor for the use of his Telephone when you can have one in your house for $2 Per Month?

Sanderson Telephone Company

GROCERIES
Fruits and Vegetables, Meat Market in Connection
YOUR BUSINESS SOLICITED
ALEJANDRO MARQUEZ

NOTICE FOR AN ELECTION
THE STATE OF TEXAS, County of Terrell. Dated at Sanderson, Texas, this 1st day of March, 1924.
G. J. Henshaw, County Judge, Terrell County, Texas.

CLEAN UP SANDERSON

We are going to have a general yard, lot and street cleaning between now and the 15th of April. In the past we have had the hearty co-operation of nearly every family in town, but a few have promised or told the trash man that they would haul their own trash off, some have done so and some have not. We want every person in our little town to join in with us and let's have a genuine good clean up and thereby avoid considerable sickness during the coming months. Please co-operate with us to get the filth thereby avoiding the mosquito and the fly. Yours for a clean town.

P. F. Robertson, County Health Officers

Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Livingston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Downie at the ranch for several days this week.

$490

A complete Ford Truck with all-steel body and cab
CHASSIS ONLY, $370.00
Prices f. o. b. Detroit

ONE TON TRUCK

The new Ford all-steel body and weather-proof cab on the Ford wood-dieck chassis makes world's lowest priced complete one-ton truck.

A New Ford Steel Truck Body

The Ford Motor Company announces the production of a new all-steel body and steel weather-proof cab, mounted on the famous Ford one-ton worm-drive chassis, forming a complete haulage unit at the remarkably low price of $450.

Steel flare boards and end gate with sockets permit the use of stakes and high side boards or the mounting of a canopy top.

This Car can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

Authorized Ford Dealers

Ford
CARS · TRUCKS · TRACTORS