WE'RE GETTING TO BE real uptown folks around here. We have two full-time doctors, a Physicians Assistant, and two dentists. We have top of the line EMS equipment and personnel. And now we have a nifty new helicopter pad with medical air service from both Lubbock and Amarillo.

Perhaps there will be a time in the future when our hospital will again be delivering babies and performing surgery locally. It seems a shame to send people elsewhere when we have such nice facilities here.

No one ever really wants to go into the hospital, but it is great to have it here when we need it. Some of us may have to check into the hospital for heat stroke very soon if they don't get that 161 degrees changed on cablevision's channel six temperature reading. We've had 161 degrees for the high AND low temperature around here for the last two weeks.

I had to avail myself of the local medical hospitality about a year ago, so I have some first hand experience to pass along to any of you who may be facing a hospital

The first thing they do is invite you to get into one of those ugly gowns that opens down the back. You should always ask very sweetly if they'll leave you a spare gown just in case you should happen to spill your lovely lunch upon it. Then as soon as the nurse is out of the room, put the second gown on backwards over the first one. That way your backside won't be exposed to the immediate world.

Upon entering the hospital, you are no longer in charge of your own body so you might as well accept it. You will be thought of as a human pin cushion. Sharp instruments of all types will be stuck into your personage. To avoid some of the pain, you should try to develop a tough leather-like skin ahead of time.

One good thing about your hospital stay is that you won't have to try to remember if you took your pills or not. Someone else will remember it for you.

When your visitors start telling you how good you look, it's time to start worrying. You can save yourself a lot of anguish by just not looking in the mirror.

Hospital personnel are always overly interested in your bathroom abilities. This lends itself to all sorts of possibilities for a chuckle or two, such as lemonade in the specimen cup. Let your imagination have free reign and you can come up with some good ones. Nurses are never too busy to come into your room, drag you out of bed and make you take a walk down the hospital corridor when that is about the last thing you really want to do. The solution to this problem is to bribe the janitor into putting the "wet floor" sign just outside the door of your room. When they finally catch on to your trick, you can then bore your nurse to death by relating all the gory details of your last three operations. If you haven't had any operations, make up some. Your jaunts down the corridor will become much

Before you leave home to go to the hospital, hunt up one of your children's old gruesome Halloween masks and pack it in the bottom of your suitcase. Wait until the night shift has settled in and the lights are low. Then when someone tiptoes in to take your vital signs, let 'em have it. The janitor will be back with that "wet floor" sign before you know it,

When you get tired of eating chicken broth and those little squares of jello, remember. . .the pizza place delivers.

Lately we've been worrying about what President Billary is going to foist upon the country in the form of a national health care program. Russian comic Yakov Smirnoff says they'll probably design it after the Russian health program. "It is free for everybody. But you get what you pay for."

Carnival Sets Dates For '93 Appearance

Friona Evening Lions Club announces that the carnival that their club sponsors annually will be in town September 7-11.

Westland Amusements of Odessa plans to bring ten to 12 rides, with things for the young carnivalgoers to the older ones. This is the same carnival that appeared here last year, and it will be very similar as far as the rides are concerned.

A special promotion is being planned for Thursday, September 9, which will be Family Night. Tickets will be available that evening only at $7 per person, which allows the purchaser to ride as many rides as they wish to all night long.

James Gee Heads Annual Telethon

Ann Gee has been named chairperson of the 1993 Jerry Lewis Telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association, announced Karen Lane, Amarillo, district director.

We're proud to have caring individuals like James and Ann Gee working closely with MDA and its supporters. Our telethon team is dedicated to making this year's show another record breaker. Telethon '92 was the most successful in the show's history, raising over $45 million in pledges.

The 28th annual Labor Day Telethon will be broadcast by KFDA Channel 10, starting at 8 p.m., Sunday, September 5 and continuing until 6 p.m., Monday, September 6. The 21-1/2 hour extravaganza will originate live from the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas, and will be carried throughout the country by some 200 "Love Network" stations.

Money raised through the efforts of telethon "Love Network" affiliate helps fund the important work being done by MDA-sponsored researchers to find treatments and cures for muscle disease. One of the most promising experimental techniques now under investigation is "myoblast transfer therapy."

This technique involves the injection of healthy immature muscle cells, called myoblasts, into diseased muscle in an effort to produce hybrid muscle cells that display healthy characteristics.

The procedure has shown positive results in laboratory mice. "The people of the Panhandle area can take great pride in their contribution to this major research undertaking," said Karen Lane.

"Scientists are closer than ever to developing a treatment or cure--if increased public support of MDA's work can be achieved."

The association currently sponsors some 500 individual research projects worldwide. It also supports some 230 outpatient clinics nationwide, where people with any of the 40 muscle disorders covered by MDA receive medical care, orthopedic aids and related services.

The MDA clinics serving the Panhandle area are located at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

The Friona pledge center will be located at Anngee's Country Store, 523 Main. Anyone wishing to help with the telethon may contact James or Ann Gee at 247-3361.

Three Killed In Car-Train Crash Near Friona Monday

Three Friona residents were killed Monday, August 16 when their vehicle was struck by a Santa Fe freight train about two and one-half miles southwest of town.

Killed were Gregorio Gutierrez, 41; Maria Cruz Gutierrez, 34, and Greg Gutierrez, 15.

Gregorio Gutierrez and Greg Gutierrez were killed instantly, and Maria Gutierrez died at 8:55 at Parmer County Community Hospital.

The three were traveling in a 1984 Mercury Cougar driven by Gregorio Gutierrez when the accident occurred, about 8:05 a.m. Monday.

Texas Department of Public Safety spokesman Wayne Beighle said the car was southbound on a private dirt road that crosses the Santa Fe tracks. Beighle said the Mercury slowed as it neared the crossing as if looking for a train, then speeded up onto the track and then stopped.

The car was hit on the driver's side by the westbound train. The vehicle rolled over completely after the impact, smashing in the top of the car and pinning, the occupants Gregorio Gutierrez was employed by Dee King at a truck wash located just south of the Santa Fe crossing.

No one on the train was injured, and the 28-car train did not derail.

This is the third fatal crash

This is the third fatal crash involving a train west of Friona in the past 10 months, with a total of five people having been killed.

Law enforcement officers are at a loss to explain the rash of vehicle-train wrecks. However, the early morning sun was a possible cause of Monday's crash, as the driver would have been looking into the sun as he might have checked for a train

MoneyMatters

A Series Of Informative "Plain Talk" Thoughts Regarding Your Money Matters

What Do You Really Need From A Bank? The current trend in the financial industry is to offer the customer so many different kinds of services that the end result is more confusion, rather than the intended goal of more convenience.

The question is, "What do you really need from a bank?" The answer is more service, not more "services".

When you walk into a bank you should expect to be treated like a V.I.P. even if you're not one of the bank's biggest depositors. We feel that it's more important that we do a good job of providing you with the services you need, not wasting our time trying to offer you a lot of things that you'll never use.

Stop in and see us for a simpler brand of banking with an emphasis on service-not services.

Once you have the 75 per cent silk date, add 60 days plus or minus five (add fewer days for early maturing hybrids and more days for fuller season hybrids) and that will give you the estimated date of physiological maturity.

If you compare that date with the average frost date for your area, you'll know the risk your crop may encounter this fall. As for your yield prospects, they vary from year to year. A rule of thumb is, if your silking date is two weeks later than normal, you can expect a 25 per If you have questions for Dr. cent yield reduction; if three weeks late, a 40 per cent reduction. Dear Mr. Bohling, with all $ the warm weather, do you see any value in using a soybean fungicide?

There are about six major fungi that can reduce soybean yields when you have warm, humid weather. They are: Septoria brown spot, Cercospora leaf blight, purple seed stain, anthracnose, pod and stem § blight and stem canker. The most § critical time is from pod fill to maturity. If these diseases are prevalent, foliar fungicide sprays can increase yields by 10 to 15 per cent. The sprays also can help § increase seed quality and reduce the $ potential for diseases the following year if you should have to plant beans on beans. Most likely, the main reason producers are asking these questions now is because soybean prices have gone up. There's a check list available that you can use to determine the economic threshold for treatment. Check with your local university or county extension agent or agrichemical dealer.

Dear Mr. Bohling, why do the thresholds for corn and rootworm beetles differ between first-year corn and continuous corn, and how does plant population affect threshold levels?

The threshold level for corn rootworm beetles in first-year corn is lower than that for continuous corn because you generally find more females in first-year corn. Therefore, there's a greater threat for more eggs in first-year corn and for increased root damage from larvae the following year. For example, the threshold level in a corn field $ that has 20,000 plants per acre is .7 beetles per plant in first-year corn and 1 beetle per plant in continuous

On Friday, August 27, the team will host Caprock in their second scrimmage, and it has been declared "Towel Day." Those attending are asked to bring a bath towel, to be used by this season's athletes.

The Caprock scrimmage also begins at 5 p.m., again with freshmen, followed by JV and Coach James Morton says the workouts have gone well, but that the boys are anxious for outside contact. "The kids have worked hard. They're excited about the prospects of a new season and are looking forward to playing," Morton said.

He said the biggest problem appears to be a lack of depth on the offensive line. But if the team can avoid injuries, it should be all right, he added.

Last Friday, August 13, a 1993 Kenworth truck owned by Mesilla Valley Transport of Las Cruces, N.M. hit a pickup-truck driven by Francisco Villarreal of Muleshoe at the stop light at Main Street and Highway 60.

Driver of the truck was Francis Vierling. It was loaded with

A passenger in the pickup, Rebecca Toscano, 27, of Muleshoe, was taken to Parmer County Community Hospital for treatment. The drivers of the vehicles were not injured. Both were headed east on the highway.

The Friona police department station wagon driven by Forest Osborn was hit by a 1993 Mitsubishi driven by Deann Aderholt of Amarillo. The Aderholt vehicle was headed east.

Officers said that Osborn failed to yield to the other driver.

Neither driver was injured. On Tuesday, August 17, a 1986 Ford Aerostar van belonging to Richard Lee Slaughter, 53, of Lubbock, caught fire at Fifth and

Parmer County Shows Good Sales Tax Receipts Increase

Parmer County's three municipalities received checks this month from state comptroller John Sharp, and all three noted increases from the comparable period in 1992. The overall gain for the period was 13.07 per cent. Bovina showed the biggest gain. The City of Bovina received a check for $3,513.24. This was a tidy increase of 35.69 per cent over the $2,589.03 that the city received at the same time a year ago.

For the calendar year, Bovina has now received $17,775.55, which is up 9.44 per cent increase over the yearly total of $16,241.22 the city had received at the same point in time in 1992.

The City of Friona's check amounted to $11,731.08. This was a 1.16 per cent increase over the total of $11,596.47 the city received for the same month of 1992. Friona has now received $75,196.98 for the year, and is lagging by 3.54 per cent for the calendar year. At this point in 1992, Friona had received $77.958.20.

Farwell's August check was for $5,235.70, up by 33.37 per cent from its 1992 amount. For the calendar year, Farwell has received $32,861.78, and this is up by 15.43 per cent.

Farwell now receives 1.5% in sales tax, compared to an even one cent for both Bovina and Friona.

Parmer County's three cities have received payments from the Motley County-Wilburn Martin state comptroller for a total of $125,834.31 to this point for the calendar year. This is up by 2.58 1tc per cent over the same time in 1992, when the cities had received a total of $122,666.59.

The August increase indicates a continued growth in the state's economy, Sharp stated. "Employment in Texas has continued to rise from last year. The service sector led all other industries by adding more than 59,000 jobs over last year. As the national economy recovers, increased consumer spending has caused sales tax rebates to increase," Sharp added. Statewide, the tax rebate increase amounted to 15.9 percent, from $142.6 million to $165.2 million.

The city of San Antonio continues to lead the state's major its service sector, and 1,400 construction jobs since last year, Sharp's figures indicated. In addition, the city of Austin has added 1,400 construction jobs. "Austin's growing reputation as a high-tech mecca continues to attract manufacturers such as Motorola and Applied Materials. Both companies have announced plans to build new manufacturing plants in the city," Sharp said.

This month's sales tax payments include taxes collected by monthly filers on June sales and by quarterly filers for April, May and June, and reported to the comptroller in July.

Don't Cuss A Farmer With Your Mouth Full

By MIKE BARNETT It's not nice to cuss a farmer with your mouth full.

consumers learn that lesson, the better off they, and the farmers that put food on their table, will be, according to one who makes his living from the land.

After all, this opinionated South Texas farmer says, the general public gives very little thought to where their food comes from. "Everybody takes their food for granted," he relates. "The people that are killing us are in the cities...the people who's children think milk comes from a carton."

Q.M. Priday would like to see a change in the public's attitude toward a beleaguered agricultural industry. This fourth generation cotton and grain farmer seeks not sympathy, but understanding and support for his profession. Public mistrust of agriculture has been bred, he maintains, by a national media that would rather deal in controversy than in fairness. Misinformation, he says, is being presented to young children through public schools. And mismanagement of government resources, he feels, has resulted in a bureaucracy out of control.

He says his beloved profession is suffering unfair attacks from all sides. The farmer gets blamed for everything from poisoning the food supply to destroying the ozone layer, he says. And according to Priday, these outside influences are putting the family farm in jeopardy. Environmentalists, the media and Congress increasingly determine how farmers can farm, this San Patricio County farmer maintains.

What's missing from the equation is common sense. And unless common sense is restored, he says, the family farm is likely to become a thing of the past.

Priday would like to set the record straight.

For example, one thing the consuming public doesn't understand is that farmers are not out to poison the food supply or the environment, he says. And consumers are justifiably concerned, he adds, because of sensationalism and misrepresentation by the national media.

Farmers will not pursue profit by misusing pesticides to control crop diseases and insects, he stresses. Their families, after all, are involved in the operations.

"My contention has always been, that my wife goes out there and runs cotton module builders in the summer. My boy's running tractors, my oldest son, runs the spray rig. Do people think we're so stupid that we're out there using methyl parathion for deodorant?" he

Then again, there's a basic misunderstanding about pesticide

"It's funny," Priday says. "The same people that don't want you to use a pesticide on a crop will run around the house after one fly with Meason Family Met Recently In Logan, N.M.

The Meason family reunion was held this past weekend in Logan, New Mexico with 65 members of the family present.

Pete and Margaret Meason of Bovina went to Logan for the reunion and Pete's seven brothers and sisters were there. They are: Stan and Kitty Miller of Mangum, Oklahoma; Laverne Martin of Stockton, California; James and Lee Meason of Muleshoe; Charles and Jo Meason of Lubbock; Marda Singleterry of Logan, New Mexico and Marcella Cave of Tucumcari, New Mexico.

The family took part in games of 42, Pollyanna and Wahoo. Awards to the winners were presented and Margaret said the family gathered Saturday and Sunday and several stayed up all night Saturday night playing games. Saturday evening's meal was catered by Dyer's Barbeque of Amarillo.

Another highlight of the reunion was the white elephant auction that was a lot of fun.

The reunion was held at the Logan Community Center. The Meason children were raised at Progress, Texas and their parents were Jessie and Hazel Meason. Jessie died in 1949 and Hazel in a can of Raid, and spray it all over." But the misunderstandings don't stop with food safety. The sooner American Another perception is that farmers are feeding at the public trough, siphoning billions of taxpayer dollars to support a lavish lifestyle.

The family had a lot of fun and Margaret said only one of their sons, Don and Cheryl Meason, and daughter, Nicole, of Pampa was able to be with them at the reunion.

"Everybody thinks that the $58, $60 billion expense or allocation for the USDA comes to me and my colleages to buy a new Cadillac, when in fact the biggest percentage goes to food stamps, commodity programs for schools, and for university and various experiment station research," Priday says. "In reality though, as I told somebody not long ago, it's heck when your ambition is to have a good enough year to break even."

Priday reminds consumers that farming is not like a store. First, if a farmer loses a crop due to excessive wet weather or from drought, he can't just turn around and reorder. "Twelve months go by before we can recycle," he says. "We can't go back and reload and go back next month or next week like a store, who can call a warehouse and get a truckload of merchandise."

Second, farmers are price takers--they can't raise their price when expenses increase. "So we absorb the cost," he says.

Many of those costs, he charges, are being unnecessarily added by an out-of-control federal bureaucracy. Priday hints that government bureaucrats have two purposes. "They have no real interest in anything but perpetuating their bureaucracy and advancing their own career," he

This results in excessive government regulation, he says, which is "occupying us with administrative activities totally useless and not productive and wasting vast amounts of money. It is just ridiculous as we are trying desperately to continue surviving in an agricultural venture that is challenged on every side by inane and useless regulations."

Even with the dealings of zealous government regulation, food safety concerns and uncertain income, the American public enjoys bargain basement prices for the highest quality food.

"We've got the cheapest food in the world...and nobody knows that," Priday says. "Not many people give it much thought that we pay less of our earned income for food than any other country, probably on earth."

He doesn't think it will take a food crisis to reshape the public's attitude toward their food supply. He hopes consumer's stomachs will eventually lead them back to the land.

"People care about farming. They just don't understand about farming," he admits. "We simply want people to understand we're a fairly critical cog in the national well being."

Did You Know?

By George Rushing

When peace like a river attendeth my way, When sorrows like sea-billows roll; Whatever my lot, Thou hast taught me to say, It is well, it is well with my soul.

Tho Satan should buffet, Tho trials should come, Let this blest assurance control; That Christ hath regarded my helpless estate and has shed His own blood for my soul."

These are the first two verses of the hymn, "It Is Well With My Soul." Do you know the story behind the writing of this great hymn? It was written by Mr. Horatio G. Spafford, a well-known Christian lawyer in Chicago, who also had great holdings in real estate. He had been led to a deeper dedication of his life and wealth to the Lord through his association with D.L. Moody and Henry Moorehouse., the English Bible teacher who had come to Chicago and preached seven sermons on John 3:16.

In 1871, fire struck Chicago and in a matter of a few hours much of Mr. Spafford's real estate holdings were nothing but ashes. This proved a real test for him, but little did he know there would be far greater testing for him in the nottoo-distant future.

In November of 1973, some two years after the fire, Mr. Spafford decided that he would take his family to England. Just before they were to leave, Mr. Spafford was called to take care of some lastminute business and was unable to travel with his wife and children. He would come later.

Mrs. Spafford and the children boarded the S.S. Villa De Havre in New York and were sailing for England. In mid-ocean, there was a collision between their ship and an English sailing ship. The Villa De Havre sank, taking with her most of the crew and passengers, including Spafford's four daughters. piece of wreckage and later was able to cable a short message to her husband which read "saved alone."

Through the dark trials of this time, he was experiencing the sureness of God's promises. God would not leave him. The thought came to him "peace like a river, or sorrows like sea billows--with God all is well!? Mr. Spafford then sat down and penned the words of the song, "It Is Well With My Soul."

He took the words over to his friend, Mr. P.P. Bliss, the composer who wrote the music to the words we sing today.

> The last two verses: "My sin, O the bliss of this glorious tho't, My sin, not in part, but the whole, Is nailed to the cross, and I bear it no more; Praise the Lord, praise the Lord, O my

And, Lord, haste the day when my faith shall be sight. The clouds be rolled back as a scroll: The trump shall resound and the Lord shall descent, Even so, it is well with my soul."

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Cunningham, former Friona residents, who now live in Central Texas, spent a long weekend visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Cunningham.

The couple arrived on Saturday and left for their home at Cushing the following Wednesday. They reported that they had had a hot dry summer down there.

Recent out-of-town visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D.G. McClellan have been Russell and Arletta Scales of Arkansas City, Kansas.

Arletta is the couple's daughter. She and Russell have owned and operated a steak house called The Rusty Nail in Arkansas City for many years. They were enroute to cool Colorado for some rest, relaxation and golfing.

Also, two of McClellan's nephews, Clay and Bruce McClellan, and their wives and children have been guests of Dennis and Helen. This group lives at Mountain View, Missouri.

Then, too, Michelle Collins of San Jon, New Mexico, has been here. She's the daughter of Bob and Glenda McClellan Miller, who live at Tucumcari, New Mexico.

Winnie Beaton Cupit of Sun Sites, Arizona, and her daughter, Winette Parr, who lives in Albuquerque, New Mexico, have been here for a brief visit with relatives, friends and former neighbors.

Winnie and Winette are both former Frionans.

Sylvia Roth has recently moved to 309 West Ninth. Moving isn't really a new experience for this lady, but this time she had to do it without the assistance of her husband, Les, who is residing at Prairie Acres.

She feels very fortunate in having had the assistance of her daughter, Darline Cole, and her children, Tonya, Clinton and Trina, as well as her two children, Travis to Friona and the two couples drove Colorado.

This group departed early this week after having been here five

Sylvia said, "Darline was such a help to me in arranging furniture, putting things in place and doing other odd jobs I had difficulty

She also visited with her sister and brother, Myrna Adams and Darrell Roth, and was happy to be able to spend her dad's 84th birthday with him on the 29th of June.

The Roths' other son, Kenneth, and his family, who live at Los Lunas, New Mexico, have also been visiting their Friona kin.

June Rhodes arrived back home late Sunday afternoon from Duncan, Oklahoma, where she had been called due to the heart problems her son, Tim, was having.

While she was down there, Tim had successfu angioplasty after spending several days in the hospital, but had been dismissed and was planning to report for work in the family business on Monday.

Mrs. Rhodes, who grew up in that area and began her long lasting teaching career there, had the privilege of attending the annual Rush Springs Watermelon Festival.

This small rural town has a population of about 1,500, but more than 15,000 persons attended this event.

She reported, "We are well pleased with the progress our business is making and that Tim had good doctors, nurses and hospital care and is progressing nicely."

The Bass twin brothers, Estis of Friona and Ertis of Rocky, Oklahoma, recently spent more time together than they had Ertis and his wife, Dortha, came out for a long weekend visit then returned home on Monday. The following day, they received word that a sister-in-law, Mrs. Raymond Bass of Visalia, California, had died.

The Oklahomans then returned and Samantha, who live at Yampa, to the West Coast for her funeral

The couple came back after the girls on Wednesday.

Recent out-of-town guests in the home of Mrs. L.D. Taylor have been Billy and Juanita McClennen and Glen and Ludie McClennen of Duncan, Oklahoma.

This group came for a visit with their cousin following the funeral of another cousin, Olvia Benson Smithers, of Hereford.

Three of the five Gray sisters, who grew up at Fort Sumner, had a mini reunion at the home of Rene and Jinx Snead this week.

Her sisters, Joan Waites and Murl Stokes, and husbands, James and Bobby, all of Groves, Texas, have been here.

Joining in the visiting, game playing and eating at different times were the local kin, Gary, Kay and Josh Snead and Joan and Jenny Ahrhart.

One of the highlights of the week was a trip to Palo Duro Canyon for the Tuesday evening performance of "Texas."

By the way, if you haven't seen that show this season and want to, you need to make reservations right away. It is just about over for She's at home and is pleased to be back with her family. Needless to say, they're pleased to have her home, too.

The same day she came home, one of her brothers, Gerall Wyly, who farms northwest of town, received severe injuries to one leg in a farm accident.

Surgery to repair the damage to his right leg is scheduled for Thursday morning at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

Estelle Caffey had surgery at High Plains Baptist Hospital, Saturday morning, to repair damage to her left hip and left elbow. She fell at her home Friday evening and was taken to the local hospital for first aid before being transferred to Thelma Coffey, a neighbor who was on the scene until the ambulance left Friona, expressed a feeling that is prevalent throughout the community.

She said, "We're so blessed to have our volunteer firemen and ambulance personnel."

She went on to say, "The three young men, who were on call Friday night, Larry and Mike Martin and John Clark, could not have been more caring and helpful." Then, she added, "I think they deserve a lot of respect from all of Her final remark was, "And you can report this if you want to.

I don't care who knows how I feel." So, hats off to our volunteers. I feel the same way.

Little Sasha Dixon, daughter of Milon and Karla Dixon of Amarillo, had her seventh birthday last weekend. Her paternal grandparents, Jim and Jane Dixon of the Rhea community, honored her with a party, which was followed by a "grandchildren's camp" in their country home.

Other kith and kin present for the party were her brothers, Dallas and Trapper; cousins, Mollijane and Tanner Woolsey, also of Amarillo; and uncles and aunts, Mendan and Kim Dixon of Stillwater. Oklahoma; Tom and Melodi Woolsey of Amarillo and Douglas and Milli Watson of Frederick, Oklahoma.

Also, her great-grandmother, Ella Collier of Happy, was present.

On Sunday afternoon, the adults all returned to their homes and the children stayed.

By the end of the week everyone had gone home and Grandmother Jane reported, "It surely has been quiet around here."

Mendan, a graduate of Friona High School and Texas A&M University, College Station, is currently working on a master's degree in animal reproductive physiology at Oklahoma State University.

He recently gave a presentation at Colorado State University, Fort Collins.

Out-of-town weekend visitors in the homes of Opal Baxter, John and Debra Baxter and family and David and Lou Behrendsen and daughters of Friona and Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Pipes, Jr. and family of the Rhea community were Sue Piercy and daughters, Shenna, Alicia and Dana Sue of Elk City, Oklahoma; Carolyn Foster of Oklahoma City and Jonathan Stamm of Lamar, Colorado.

Randy Weatherley took a respite from his vigorous exercise and training schedule and went down to Celeste, Texas, for a few days of rest and relaxation.

mother, Owana Weatherley, and sister and brother-in-law, Linda and Terry Hicks, and saw a lot of other relatives and friends he had not seen since his accident last October.

Highlights of his trip were seeing the new home Linda and Terry have had built since he was there last and seeing several spring colts for the first time.

On the way down, Terry drove Randy's pickup, but coming home was his first trip alone with his new driver's license which restricts him to driving a vehicle completely equipped with hand controls.

He's reducing his horse population by three head which he brought back in a trailer Monday and took to Clovis to the sale on Thursday.

Now, in addition to being back on schedule with exercising, swimming and such like, he says, "I'm going to have to diet as I gained too much weight eating mother's cooking."

One more Frionan has passed the half century mark. Tiny Taylor and her mother, Grannie Brooks, honored their son and grandson, Larry, with an "Over The Hill" birthday dinner in the back yard of the Taylor home at noon on Sunday.

Others present were Brenda, the wife of the honored guest; Kim and Ronnie Sanders; Dee and Sue Taylor and daughter, Lesslee Dee; Kenneth Taylor; Lilly Peek Todd, Cookie and Taggart Taylor and Walter, Laurie, Allison and Ashton Paetzold, all from Hereford.

Also, Johnny and Robin Broyles and children, Michael, Jennifer and Toni; Tory Taylor and sons, River and Dakota, and friend, Betty, Amarillo; Deaney, Shirley and Jayson Lambert, Avery, Texas; and Vincent and Jennifer Starck, Strasbourg, France.

The Brownie Scouts earned badges in wearable art and food fun. The junior girls earned badges in campfire cooking, hiking, outdoor fun and our outdoor surroundings.

The juniors learned to pitch their own tents and set up their camping area. They cooked on the campfire, box ovens and buddie burners.

One evening at camp, the two groups combined their talents and prepared supper. Using the box ovens, they prepared enchiladas, beans, Mexican combread and apple and cherry cobblers for dessert.

Economic Change Challenges Business

As long as investors believe their financial future is tied exclusively to the success of familiar old corporations, investors will resent economic change. That is the message of George Will, a syndicated columnist, writing for The Washington Post.

In a recent editorial, Will emphasized how a changing world economy requires changing business practices. Corporations that recognize changing needs and adjust accordingly will prosper. Those who reject change will suffer or fail.

History reveals numerous examples of thriving enterprises that allowed a changing economy to erode their competitiveness. Railroads, for example, dominated the 1800s and remained a powerful influence well into this century. The first railroad stock began trading on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange in 1830. rail and transportation stocks appeared. By 1850, "Rails" was the leading industry traded on the exchange. Until recently, when it was changed to Transportation, Rails was part of the Dow Jones Index, along with Industrials and Utilities.

At the height of the railroads' success, one would be hard-pressed to find any economist who suspected their downfall. Railroads were an essential industry that should have dominated all forms of future transportation, including the trucking and airline industries. Yet, because the railroads failed to bend with the times, they became victims of a changing economy.

There are many other examples of industries that have become obsolete. For example, the rural farm economy prospered at the turn of the century, but today it is facing a major challenge just to survive.

There are also success stories. Specialty retailers, for example, have become fierce competitors in terms of pricing and in offering merchandise consumers trust. Consumer buying habits have changed, and successful retailers have reacted to that change.

Does this mean our traditional corporate giants are dying? Not the ones that recognize and react to a changing economy and population. Immediately, a flurry of other American corporations have always faced the challenge of adaptation or extinction. Most have met that challenge.

"In dynamic capitalism, the pace of change is generally rapid and usually accelerating," says Will. "But freedom is not supposed to be restful."

Help For Low Vision

More than 11 million Americans have some form of serious visual impairment, called low vision. For more than a million of them, the impairment is severe enough that they cannot read a newspaper with ordinary glasses or contact lenses.

In most cases, low vision is due to an age-related impairment like cataracts, glaucoma, macular degeneration or retinal disease. It's when reading becomes difficult that the person with low vision consults with

Though low vision cannot be cured, the optometrist works to maximize remaining vision so that patients can function at their usual tasks. Your eye specialist may prescribe optical magnification systems--such as strong reading glasses, hand-held magnifiers, stand magnifiers and video print enlargers--that make small print big enough to read. Special telescopes are available to enable a person with low vision to watch TV or go to theater and sporting events.
