Wreck Victim's Rites Held At Oplin Tuesday

Funeral services for Bailey Windham, 21, of Oplin, who died Sunday evening in Hendrick Memorial Hospital after being injured early Sunday in an auto wreck, were held at Oplin Baptist Church at 3 p. m. Tuesday.

Rev. J. P. McKissick officiated. Burial was in Tecumseh Cemetery near Oplin, under direction of Elliott's Funeral Home of Abilene

The youth's automobile overturned three and one-half miles north of Oplin on Farm-to-Market Road 604 early Sunday morning. Apparently he was alone in the car when the accident occurred, Highway Patrolman G. G. Fitzhugh said. The car, headed south toward Oplin, was heavily pounds casing and 750 pounds damaged.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Windham of Oplin, he was born April 11, 1932, at Oplin and had lived there all his life with the exception of time spent in the Army.

He is survived by his parents; two sisters, Virginia Lee and Winnie Joan Windham, both of Oplin; five brothers, Robert, Tommy, Hal, J. D., all of Oplin, and Billy Ray Windham of Wyoming.

Pallbearers were Tommy Windham, Frank Windham, Charlie Tom Straley, Richard Windham, James Windham and Charlie Straley.

Folks around here have stopped asking when it will rain -they just want to know if it's going to. Perhaps we need some prayer service for this purpose, but there are two schools of thought along that line. Some contend that our needs are known and will be answered in due time; others argue that you must first ask in order to receive. All of us agree that prayer is a necessity whether it is for temporal or eternal gifts, however, it might be well to remember that Heaven isn't to be looked on as a gigantic slot machine into which you insert your prayer and count it a success only when the prize slides out. Prayers can be in adoration as well as in supplication.

Our very best wishes go to Earl Ellis, who is in an Abilene hospital recovering from illness. All of us hope he will be home soon.

Congratulations to Anne Barton who celebrated her eighth birthday this week with a luncheon party in her home and theatre treat afterwards. Anne's parties are always a delight to her

STOP COTTON PESTS

Insects destroyed $18,783,000 less cotton and seed in Texas last year than in 1951.

This optimistic news was released last week by the National Cotton Council which reported that, in spite of he evident progress in this direction, insects reduced the full yield in the state an estimated 7 per cent.

Obviously, our cotton farmers have made a concerted effort to control boll weevils, bollworms, aphids, thrips, and the other pests that plague their crops and, consequently, a great industry.

They have learned through painful experience that a hungry insect has little respect for cotton and they stand ready to great his arrival with a control program recommended by their state entomologists.

Last year, crop losses due to insect damage in Texas amounted to $100,932,000. This seems staggering, even in the face of the fact that it is $18,500,000 less than the year before.

And it is urgent that farmers check fields frequently for pests and carry out a thorough poisoning schedule if the current crop is not to suffer as much or more than the one of two years ago.
