SHORT AND SIMPLE

Inaugural Ceremonies of Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

BOTH MADE BRIEF ADDRESSES.

The House of Representatives Will Pledge and the Large Assemblage Appreciated.

Deeply Impressed.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 16.—At high noon Tuesday Gov. Joseph D. Nease and Lieut. Gov. Browning, in the presence of the legislature, in joint session, were inaugurated for their second term.

The lower floor of the house and the galleries were crowded, hundreds of beautifully gowned women being present. The speaker's stand was lost to view in the midst of the decorations of potted plants, while rare bouquets were seen everywhere throughout the house.

The joint session was opened with prayer by Mr. Deavenport, chief justice of the legislature. The governor and lieutenant governor and state officials came in at noon and the oath was administered by F. C. Williams, associate justice of the supreme court.

The governor's inaugural address was short, as he said it would be. It was listened to with much interest. The governor spoke as follows:

"As I assume, for the second time, the duties of chief executive of this commonwealth, I have deep thoughts how can I sufficiently rejoice the people for this confidence so generously renewed?"

"Two years ago I stood in this place with lighter heart and more buoyant spirits than now. Experience warns me against the anticipation of pleasure and ease for the two years to come."

"The hour is not far indeed; the responsibility is no less."

"As guaranty for the future I can only offer the record that I have made, public and elsewhere, in the public service."

"That record, whatever it may be, I shall earnestly endeavor to improve, by the aid of my department, the sincere and hearty co-operation of my associates in every department of the government, and in return faithfully pledging to them my own and the responsibility is no less."

"It is no easy task to successfully and satisfactorily administer the affairs of so great a state, yet in its infancy, with its extensive domain, its varied and abundant resources, and its many conflicting interests; and to them upon whose grave responsibility may fall the administration of this king's affairs with especial force."

"Let not him who girdeth on his harness boast himself as he that putteth it off."

"With a full appreciation of the importance and magnitude of the work that I am undertaking, I enter upon its performance with a determination that I shall not falter, but maintain upward the circumstances, to do all that may be possible to advance the prosperity of the state and the welfare of its citizens. With this motto as my guide during the term for which I have been elected, my measure of my ambition will be complete."

"The hairs of my head have grown gray in its service, as well as the field as in the council chamber, and when my public career shall have closed I shall not feel that I have taken with me into private life the consolation of duty well performed. If, indeed, I could say no higher encomium than that I had served the people faithfully and well. Senators and representatives, I rejoice to have you share with me the responsibilities, the duties and the honor of the hour, and upon your wisdom and patriotism I shall most confidently rely."

Lieut. Gov. Browning addressed the house briefly. He said two years ago he had promised faithfully to discharge the duties of his office. The record would show whether he had fulfilled his pledge. With that he had before them the people had re-elected him. He thanked the people for this renewed assurance of their confidence and pledged himself to do it with care, make his coming administration more faithful to the interest of the people than had been the one just closed.

Some Progress.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Some progress was made by the senate on Tuesday in the consideration of the reorganization bill. The amendments had created much debate and were disposed of and a vote agreement has been reached for a vote very soon.

Gray Successful.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 16.—After a memorable struggle which has continued for several years, Hon. M. S. Gray, Republican nominee for United States senator, was elected by the Pennsylvania legislature to fill the place made vacant by the expiration of his term on March 4, 1909. The combined vote of the senate and house of representatives was 219 more than the number necessary to a choice. Gray's commission has been prepared.

Franklin Fight.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 16.—George White, an electrician of the Texas Southern Electric company of this city, was sent to Alamo-Gordo, N. M., to repair the electric plant at that place. While at the work he was struck by a trolley and White was struck blind. His eyes are paralyzed, but he is not thought to be totally blind. It is believed that he will lose his eyes and the bandage over his eyes when he looks toward the sun.

SUFFERED AT STAKE.

A Mob at Leavenworth, Kan., Makes an Awful Fate to a Negro.

Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 16.—Fred Alexander, the negro who Saturday evening attempted to assault a white girl, was hanged at the stake in this city in November last, and the stake afternoon taken from the city. The guard and hanged at the stake at the scene of his crime, half a dozen blocks from the center of the city. Probably 5000 people witnessed the hanging.

Alexander was brought to the city from the penitentiary at Lansing at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday and placed in the county jail. The citizens gathered in great numbers and finding peaceful entrance to the jail impossible armed themselves with railroad iron. The jail doors were battered down and Alexander was dragged to the scene of his crime, followed by hundreds of howling, frenzied men and boys.

Alexander was hanged by the gallows which was stuck into the ground and the negro fastened to it with chains. Then coal oil was poured over his body and the man was burned to his innocence to the last.

A mob took him out of the jail and he was taken to his doom in a park, before the mass was gathered. John Forbes, the father of Pearl Forbes, stepped up to Alexander and said:

"Are you guilty of murdering my daughter?"

"I don't know what you have me here for," said the doomed man.

"For killing my girl," cried the father.

"Mr. Forbes, if that is your name, you have the wrong man."

"You're a liar, born him," cried the crowd.

"Gentlemen, you've got the lot of me," said Alexander. "You're burning an innocent man. You look at me for my very spot."

"Mr. Forbes, if that is your name, you have the wrong man."

"A man in the crowd called for the father, but he was not in the crowd. He then said:

"Will you let me shake hands with my friends?"

"You have no friends in this crowd, you're here," said one of the men in the crowd of the crowd. "If you have anything to say do so in a hurry."

COMMITTEE CHOSEN

Speaker Fisher Names House Members to Conduct Investigation.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 16.—In the house Saturday the speaker asked Mr. McFall if he had decided what course he had determined upon in regard to his investigation of the case of the late Congressman Bailey's course in the Waters-Pierce Oil company matter.

Mr. McFall replied that President and parliamentary procedure required that the mover of a resolution be a member of the resulting committee, and he should be on the committee. But since the speaker had taken it upon himself to decide that he should not be a member of the committee, he preferred to have the appointment of the committee entirely to the speaker and to allow him to assume the responsibility for it.

Mr. McFall stated that he accepted full responsibility for the committee; that he thought Mr. McFall stood in the position of a prosecutor, and that he should be on the committee. When a division was demanded after a close viva voce vote, Mr. Robertson withdrew the resolution.

The senate concurrent resolution No. 1, inviting David B. Hill of New York to address the legislature upon political ethics, was called up for passage by Mr. Robertson.

Mr. Terrell opposed the resolution, saying its adoption would be unnecessary, and might be taken as an endorsement of the recently accepted reorganization of the Democratic party. He moved to table.

Mr. Napier yielded the floor of the argument to Mr. Mulker, who favored the resolution.

The house returned to table.

Mr. McMeans offered an amendment inviting W. J. Bryan in the invitation.

Mr. Strother moved to table.

The motion to table was lost—yeas 25, nays 7.

The amendment was then adopted.

Mr. Bryan of Taylor, interrupting the pending question, asked to be referred from service on the Bailey investigating committee.

The speaker refused the request, saying he supposed the duty was distasteful to him, as he was appointed on the committee, but it must be performed.

The senate concurrent resolution inviting W. J. Bryan and David B. Hill to address the legislature was adopted—yeas 25, nays 7.

Mr. Gary was added to the committee on revenue and taxation by the senate.

Mr. Bailey was before committee and announced that he was ready for the investigation; that he would come at the call of the committee, and that he would secure the attendance of his witnesses without cost to the state.

Head Distribution.

Wharton, Tex., Jan. 14.—A meeting of citizens convened at the courthouse to appoint a committee to visit and disseminate cotton seed with $200 sent by Gov. Sayers for that purpose, to the Wharton county state sufferers. Gov. Sayers had been informed that the committee for the needs of the citizens of East Bernard, the point in this county where the ravages of the storm were most seriously felt.

Ample—on January.

Waco, Tex., Jan. 14.—The Duncan McClean trial came to a close Saturday, and after Justice Scott read his charge to the jury, the court retired to consider the case. The courtroom was crowded, many ladies being present. The plea of insanity was used by the lawyer for the defense. Saturday night the jury brought in the following verdict: "We, the jury, acquit the defendant on grounds of insanity."

A wild shout of applause went up.

We regret to learn that Mr. S. M. Moon is seriously ill. Mr. Moon was taken sick last Friday evening and his family becoming alarmed at his condition Wednesday his brother S. C. Moon of Stephens county, and other relatives were notified. Mr. S. L. Moon arrived Wednesday night and is with his brother. Mr. Moon was resting a little easier yesterday morning, and there is hope that the worst is past.

LATER.—As we went to press yesterday evening it was reported that Mr. Moon was dying.

Ruseo & Holland is the firm name of the amusement company which produced the Russo-Siberian play, "FOR HER SAKE," a four-act melodramatic creation said to embody many original features. The piece tells the story of a Russian nobleman whose love for a seer girl engenders a series of plots of the intensely dramatic quality which these Siberian plays are famous for. The "heavy" in the play is a member of the Czar's secret police and at the same time a nihilist. The play will be seen at the Athlete Hall Thursday, Jan. 24th.

Some of County Treasurer Holland's bondsmen gave him up this week, which required him to give a new bond which we learn he has done. We do not know why the bondsmen desired to get off the bond unless it was because Mr. Holland has been unable to attend to his official duties for several months, owing to his long illness. The treasurer's bond in this county is large, in fact out of all proportion to amount of money handled. It is becoming exceedingly difficult for a treasurer to give bond in this county. This is Mr. Holland's third term and he has always discharged his duties honestly, faithfully and efficiently, so it could not be for any dereliction of duty that he was required to give a new bond.

A CASE OF SMALLPOX.

A young man recently from East Texas, brother of Mrs. Chas. Moon, was discovered at his sister's Sunday with a well developed case of smallpox. The City Council at once quarantined the house and put Dr. Present city health officer in charge. The young man is doing well and expects to be entirely well in a few days. No apprehension is felt, at Baird, that the disease will spread, though nothing is being neglected in making sure that the disease will not spread.

EDITOR STAR:—I desire to say to the citizens of Callahan county and the public generally, through the columns of THE STAR that the smallpox case, and all who came in contact with him, so far as I have been able to inform myself, are under a most rigid quarantine and will be closely guarded until every vestige of danger is passed off of us. I wish to visit Baird for trade or other business I offer a positive guarantee of freedom from any danger of contracting the disease. I also wish to convey publicly my thanks to the Hon. Mayor and Aldermen and the Hon. County Judge for their hearty and liberal support given to this effort to corral and stamp out this most loathsome disease.

Respectfully,
S. T. FRASER, M.D.
City Health Officer.

We are glad to see T. W. King out again after his long illness. He looks considerably improved.

About one inch of snow fell at Baird last Wednesday night, 10th, the first snow of the season.

Capt. J. W. Jones and wife and W. E. Gilliland and family attended the funeral of Mrs. Fannie Windham, at Teacomb last Saturday. See obituary elsewhere.

The following resolution was passed by the Councils of the county: That the citizens of Baird are respectfully asked to be vaccinated, and that this be printed in THE STAR.

H. SCRYMANTZ,
City Sec.

The Athlete Hall, it is said, was packed Wednesday night of last week to hear Professor Blank lecture (?) though it is said that only six men in Baird will acknowledge that they were present. The lecture for some one only announced to come off on Thursday night was only a ruse to fool the audience. The Professor and his original bandmates were performing the Hoosier Cooze to "men only" in the next town on the night they were to give an exhibition for "women only" in Baird.

"FOR HER SAKE."

Close readers of newspapers for a few years back will recall that at one time there was in this country a strong sentiment against the Russian government because of the treatment of political convicts in the mines of Siberia. In diplomatic relations the United States and Russia have always been allied to a certain extent, and it looked at that time as though the reputation of a large section of our people for the penal system of the Czar would operate to produce a rupture of the entente then existing between the two countries. The feeling of dislike for Russia was fostered by the revolutions of Wellman and Kennan, the lecturers. Nobody has forgotten the scenes they described, and a play that deals with such subjects ought to prove of unusually interest. Such a one is FOR HER SAKE, a four-act melodrama which will be seen at Athlete Hall Thursday night, Jan. 24.

Glove Handkerchief.
 "Have you a glove hankerchief?" This is the latest thing in handkerchiefs. Its place is inside the glove. It looks as if it might be intended for "fit-in," but it pleases manufacturers to talk it out when walking just to write the tips or flick a little imaginary dust off the face.
 The glove hankerchief is the successor of the sleeve hankerchief which was tucked in at the wrist of the holder, and the honor of the invention of which belongs to Mrs. James Brown Potter.

More Boys Than Girls.
 As a rule in all public schools first-summer term boys, but in one, the Park school in Chicago, just the opposite is the case.
 In one room of that school, it is said, there are thirty-three boys and only five girls.
 This is because those pupils are Italian, whose parents are willing to comply with the law insofar as to send their boys though most of them have at least an hour before the close of the session to sell papers.
 The girls are not supposed to need education.

French Meat to Eat.
 An American soldier, stationed in the mountains of northern Lebanon writes that the region is full of deer wild caribou and wild hogs, and that fresh meat is served to the troops every day. In three months the detachment of seventeen men has been supplied with thirty-seven deer, eleven caribou and seventeen wild hogs. Deer are always in sight of the camp. On the other side of the river, two miles away, is a village of 15,000 natives, almost naked and armed with bows and arrows, spears and battle-axes. They are not unfriendly toward Americans.

To Attract the Whelp's Foot.
 The law-makers are wrangling over the abolition of the whelp's foot. The man who succeeds in passing such a bill, will prove as great a benefactor to the breaker of man's laws as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, but to the breaker of man's laws. If you've neglected your stomach, bowels, liver and kidney troubles are upon you, there's but one cure, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Don't fail to try it for a grippe.

MODERN JERUSALEM.

People in Quaint Costumes Great This, Traveler on All Sides.
 Studied them from his thoroughfare, says Cleveland Moffet, in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly, Jerusalem looks like all the world like a huge, rambling fortress, with light towers and round domes. On either hand are endless lines of houses, you have furnished and continuous walls, pierced with iron-cased windows. You cannot tell where one house begins and another ends, nor where a certain opening leads to roof or courtyard or walking room. There is, indeed, one way to tell, that is, to push boldly in and up alone stairs and passages and see what you can see. Whatever else you fail to do in Jerusalem, and you are sure to neglect half the guide book (simoniacal) do not fail to study the streets from overhead, as many of them as possible. You can always get a viewpoint by a little searching. Take Christian street, about mid-day, when the sun lights both sides, and get your station on the arch near David street, no matter if you have to do some "barbering." Look to the north, there where the greenish dome and white minaret rise. You see a straight way along the base of the minaret window-pledged, with a lower wall on the other side. Its stones old and grass-grown. Behind you see two lines of simy awnings, tipped down like the visor of a cap, to shelter the booths beneath from the white glare. You see donkeys, camels, sheep, peasants, soldiers, Greek priests, sisters of charity, tourists, pilgrims, Turks and all who visit Syria, veiled women, abashed women and beggars (you will see them all if you wait a little) moving to and fro, now lost under the awnings, now coming into the open. You can follow them between two amber archways, the one that you see on another, yonder where a cross-wall stops your view. You can watch them until you tire.

MOULT OF BIRDS.

Mr. Wilmer Stone addressed the Biological club of the University of Pennsylvania recently on the "Moult of Birds."
 This subject, said the speaker, is one that has interested me for a long time, but it seems to have been generally neglected by ornithologists. All birds moult regularly once a year; this is a physical necessity, for the wearing of the feathers makes their replacement an absolute requirement if flight is to be continued. This annual or post-natal moult occurs in a large number of the nesting season. The feathers never drop out at the same time; the process is gradual and during its continuance the bird has never more than one or two feathers missing at once. In the body, as recently discovered by Professor Dwight, the moult takes place along regular tracts. The wing feathers moult from the innermost to the outermost, the tail feathers moult from the outermost to the innermost. In the tail the first feather lost is the middle one, and, as with the wings, it is followed by the loss of the next outward one, and so on. Here Mr. Stone exhibited specimens showing the various stages of wing and tail moulting. He then referred to a number of exceptions to the rule, such as that of the woodpecker, which in moulting loses the side feathers of the tail first, and, continuing, said some species have additional moults, like the scarlet tanager. It undergoes two moults. It is a green color in winter and a red color in summer. The claim has been set up by some ornithologists that this is not the result of moulting, but due to an actual change of pigment. There is, however, no evidence to sustain this view. The speaker then explained the succession of plumage from the egg to the adult, and followed with a detailed consideration of plumage, with the reasons for same and for exceptions to general rules in a large number of birds, illustrating his remarks with specimens. The subject was discussed by Drs. Montgomery, Cuyler, Cookin and Harshberger.

From a Small Beginning.
 Some interesting facts regarding the coffee tree have been printed recently. The native home of this plant is said to be Kaffra, in southern Abyssinia. It was not until it had been in use for centuries by the Arabians that a plant was carried to Java. In 1706 a tree from Java was sent to Amsterdam, and what is now the second seedling and a young seedling was presented to Louis XIV. From this plant seedlings were sent to Martinique and from those plants again seedlings were sent to Jamaica, Cayenne and San Domingo, while from Amsterdam the young were sent to Surinam. In fact, it was from the one plant sent from Java in the beginning of the sixteenth century by Governor General Van Hoorn, that everything in the French possessions and West India sprang. This way has traveled the progeny of the original coffee plant, introduced from Arabia at the end of the seventeenth century.

Growth of a Paris Library.
 The Paris National Library which has today over 2,000,000 volumes, was opened in 1641 with 1,500 volumes. It includes today, among other things, about 250,000 volumes relating to French history and the 415,000 volumes relating to the history of other countries.

In America the Salvation Army has 788 corps and 2,512 officers.

Drinks No Water.
 "There is a man in our company," says a Philadelphia stage manager, "who hasn't drunk a drop of water in twenty-seven years. He boasts of it. He is always the first man into the theater for a performance, and is as regular as clockwork at rehearsals. No, he isn't a trummy! In fact, liquor is most repugnant to him. But for twenty-seven years he has drunk nothing but tea, and he will probably continue in his present course until he dies. He carries his little portable arrangement about and between act makes strong tea."

Shops in Paris.
 Two points are soon noted by shoppers in Paris. Although there are frequent "expositions" or "exhibitions" of certain lines of goods, there are, in the American sense, no periodical sales.

It must, however, be admitted that on exposition days certain lines aren't put on sale are often offered considerably under the usual price.

The other point of even greater importance to the American visitor is that, while no great shop has cared to add a restaurant to its other attractions, it generally has a reading room.

And light dressings of CUTICURA, purest of emollient skin cures. This treatment at once stops falling hair, removes crusts, scales, and dandruff, soothes irritated, itching surfaces, stimulates the hair follicles, supplies the roots with energy and nourishment, and makes the hair grow upon a sweet, wholesome, healthy scalp when all else fails.

MILLIONS USE CUTICURA SOAP
 Assisted by CUTICURA Ointment, for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and healing red, rough, and sore hands, for hairy rash, itching, and chaffin, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Millions of women use CUTICURA SOAP in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and excoriations, for too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for obnoxious weaknesses, and for many antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women and mothers. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used these great skin purifiers and beautifiers, to use any other. CUTICURA SOAP contains delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients, and the most refreshing of flower oils. No other so-called soap is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. That it contains, in ONE SOAP ONE PRICE, viz., TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the most skin cure, and the most refreshing of flower oils, that has ever been used in the world.
