

A Communist is like a crocodile. When it opens its mouth you cannot tell whether it is trying to smile or preparing to eat you up.

... Winston Churchill

I'm a little bit unhappy--no-- I am very angry. Some lunkhead smashed the side of my car Tuesday of last week while it was parked on the street and I was inside taking pictures for this issue.

That was bad enough, but there is more. He (or she) ran off before I could get back to the car. And that is BAD--for me anyway, I've got to pay for having it repaired.

But I am not as much disturbed at the thought of having to pay the repair bill as I am at the idea of having someone smash up my car--or any car for that matter--and then run off like a yellow coward instead of facing up to the consequences of his actions.

What is more, I am not the only one to endure such an experience during the past few weeks. I have fairly reliable information that some knobhead scraped the chrome off the side of a car at the PTA variety show and didn't even leave an apology.

What I am going to say now will not make any of you parents feel good. In fact, it will probably make you mad. If it does, good. Someone needs to get mad and do something about the irresponsible, vicious acts of vandalism which this town is cursed with.

First, look at the scraped cars. I won't say that some teenager is guilty, but whoever did the damage is certainly irresponsible. You can't argue with me on that point.

Second, some madman is loose in town with an air rifle or CO2 pistol. Several place glass windows in town have ugly holes in them where some maniac shot them last weekend. There are three holes in our window at the STAR. I know of five other buildings which were also hit.

But that is not the end. I have a report of one of the pellets being fired through the screen of a house and slaming into the room where people were watching television. If the weapon has enough power to knock a hole in three quarters of an inch of glass, what would it do if it hit someone? It would either seriously injure or kill them. If that is not the height of irresponsibility, I will welcome the Red rockets when they start falling.

There is one more point. That concerns firecrackers. If my father had heard that I pulled some of the stunts which have been reported to me, I couldn't have found a soft seat for a month--and he was very lenient. It is because of the youngsters standing on the street, firing roman candles at passing cars and tossing firecrackers into vehicles, that the absurd firecracker ordinance was proposed a short time ago.

Well, I say that we don't need a law. We need some parents who will stand on their own two feet and control their children instead of letting the children control them. You parents are just as irresponsible as the teenagers when you let them raise H-- with such abandon as has been done in the past.

If your son or daughter is not guilty of such acts, then I am not talking to you. BUT, I suggest that you give some realistic, serious consideration to the capabilities of your "little angel."

I have always heard that the small town in the country was the ideal place to raise a family, but if something doesn't change, I would rather not have a family at all than to have to keep it here.

The streets and gangs of the big city are not any worse--just more publicized.

I can't remedy the situation.

BLAZON STREETS . . . Pete Hollis changes a light bulb in the first strand of Christmas decorations to be raised over the streets of Friona. The light strands are twisted with the new strands of tinsel which the Chamber of Commerce purchased this year. A total of 25 of the strands will blazon the streets before Christmas.

21 Students Try For Region Band

A group of Friona bandmen will enter the all region band tryouts in Borger Saturday, Lowell Bynum, band director reports.

Each school in the region is allowed to enter up to 25 percent of their band in the tryouts. Friona is sending 21 students to the event.

Students who win a spot on the band will return to Borger Dec. 8-9 for practice and participation in a concert in the Borger High School. Members of the all region band will receive a symbolic patch for their jackets.

Students who rank high in their sections will qualify for all-state tryouts which will be Dec. 9 in Borger. Last year, 12 students were entered in the regional tryouts and all won spots in the band.

Students who will be entering the tryouts in Borger Saturday are Pam Roden, Mikie Welch, Myrna Bennett, Diana Taylor, Brenda Deaton, Ann Baxter, David Talley, Craig Tannahill, Iva Ben Parr, Richard Fortenberry, Carol Coffey, Ada Beth Akens, Bob Welch, Danny Carmichael, Wayne Cason, Larry Hough, Pat Barker, Brenda Collier, Sharon Reeve, Linda Castleberry, and Jeanne Taylor.

Hargrove Directs Religious Survey

Billy T. Hargrove will direct the inter-denominational religious survey in the Friona area Dec. 3.

Hargrove is secretary of the department of survey and special studies of the southern Baptist Mission Board's division of Missions. He has led in the development of a program of church community survey and directs such surveys of communities, cities, and states to get permanent information on families and to pinpoint mission needs.

A meeting for instruction will be in the First Baptist Church Friday night. All committee members and volunteer workers are asked to be present according to Audye Wiley, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church and local survey chairman.

Hargrove will be in charge of the instruction meeting and will organize the group into a working force.

As an aid to those persons who will not be at home during the day, a survey blank is printed on the last page of this section. Residents are asked to complete this blank and attach it to their door if they will not be at home when the survey representative arrives. The blank should be clipped and filled out completely.

The information gathered in this survey will be made available for all participating churches in Friona.

. . . The above scene will be repeated many times Dec. 3 as volunteer workers help in taking the area-wide religious census. Shown above are Mrs. Jane Williams (left), and Mrs. Charles Allen.

New Law Threatens Abandoned Property

Escheat, means the reversion of land to the state by failure of persons legally entitled to hold the same.

A Texas Escheat law became effective Nov. 7.

A comparatively full digest of this law and its implications appear on page seven of this section. Briefly, it legalizes the seizure of "abandoned property" by the state.

It includes all personal property under the following conditions:

- (1) If the whereabouts of the owner are unknown and have been unknown for the past seven years.
- (2) If no claim or act of ownership has been asserted or exercised during the past seven years.
- (3) No will of the last known owner has been recorded or probated in the county where the property is situated within the past seven years.

In its definition of personal property, there seems to be very little which is not covered (Continued on page 2.)

Basketball Teams Enter WT Contest

Friona's Basketball teams will begin play in a weekend tournament at West Texas State College today.

The Chiefs will meet White Deer in their first contest at 9:45 a. m. to open the boys' competition. Eight teams are entered in the tournament.

The Squaws will play their first game with Farwell tonight at 7 p. m. Eight girls' teams are also entered.

Tulia and Claude are rated one and two in the girls' division. White Deer is expected to be in one of the two top spots at the end of the boys' events.

"Our greatest weakness is a difficulty in adjusting to new situations but we will work out this handicap," Coach Baker Duggins said when discussing the progress of the Squaw team.

Santa Fe Railway's miniature freight train has been a favorite in parades or civic celebrations in on-line communities for 30 years. Modernized a number of times during that period, the six-car freight train is 92 feet long, weighs nearly 14,000 pounds and stands six feet and seven inches high. It is headquartered at Topeka, Kans.

Santa Due Saturday To Distribute Candy

Santa Claus will visit Friona Saturday.

He will arrive somewhere near 3 p. m., according to all present indications. He also has a large number of sacks of candy for the youngsters.

The sacks will contain an orange, an apple, nuts, candy and bubble gum.

A total of 1375 sacks have been filled by the local American Legion so that Santa will not run short. The candy is financed by the Legion and the Chamber of Commerce on a fifty-fifty basis and the Legion sacks the candy for Santa.

It is not known yet whether Santa will arrive on the miniature train which is scheduled to reach Friona at 3:30 p. m. or if he will arrive on a fire truck.

The train will be on hand to give rides to all those who wish if time permits. It is mounted on rubber wheels and is furnished as a courtesy by Santa Fe Railroad.

Thieves Doubt Pickin's Thin

Thieves just can't seem to believe that the pickins are slim at the Cicero Smith Lumber Company in Bovina.

They broke into the building again Nov. 22 for the third time in the past six months. And the pickings were slim again. Only about $15 were reported taken from the office.

On the same night, the two or more persons entered the Bovina Implement Company to meet the same situation. Approximately $15 were taken from the office according to Sheriff Charles Lovelace.

New Business Opens Recently

R. V. Pennington has recently opened a radio and TV repair shop located in the rear of Western Auto building. The new business is named Penny's, and Mr. Pennington will do any kind of repair work including car radios.

Livingston Joins School Staff

Kenneth Livingston, Portales, joined the staff at Friona Junior High School this week. He will fill the vacancy created by the death of Coach Sam Green.

Livingston recently completed work on his Masters degree in Physical Education. He has coached and taught at Farwell, two years; White Deer, two years; Grants, N. M., five years; and Artesia, one year.

He will teach seventh grade science and coach the junior high and seventh grade teams. He is married and the father of four girls. Mrs. Livingston will remain in Portales where she is teaching school until the end of the year.

Chamber Schedules 2 Turkey Drawings

Any Friona shopper may obtain chances at from 90 to 100 turkeys before Christmas.

The Chamber of Commerce has persuaded Friona merchants to back two giant turkey drawings Dec. 9 and Dec. 16 in the city park at about 3:45 p. m. Martel LeVeque, Chamber president, reports.

Merchants have been given the opportunity to distribute their tickets on any basis which they may choose, and at any time they desire. Between forty and fifty turkeys will be given away each Saturday.

Jack Patterson Seeks Election As Commissioner

Jack Patterson, Rhea farmer, this week announced his candidacy for county commissioner of Precinct 2.

His candidacy will be subject to action of Democratic primary Saturday, May 5.

In making announcement that he would seek election to the office, Patterson said, "If elected, I will do everything within my power of the office to represent the people of Precinct 2 in their best interest. During the time between now and election, I will greatly appreciate influence of voters in the precinct."

Patterson points out that if he is elected he will devote sufficient time and effort to fulfill duties of the office.

This will be Patterson's first race of a political nature. Parmer County's Precinct 2 is composed of Bovina and Rhea communities.

FFA Teams Enter State Competition

Friona's junior and senior FFA skill teams will meet representatives of the nine other areas in state competition at Huntsville Saturday.

The teams will leave this morning and arrive early Friday evening to familiarize themselves with the setting and practice their demonstration for the last time before the opening of the events Saturday.

Both teams won the first place banners in the area competition in Plainview Nov. 18. This year is the first time that both teams have won a first banner in area competition, according to reports from school officials.

PLEASANT CHORE . . . Charles Ray, FFA president, gives the FFA Sweetheart and Plow Girl brief instructions on Tractor operations. Editorial Comment:

Pulling Our Punch

While poor, deluded fools here and there over the country and on the sidewalk in front of the White House continue their ban-the-bomb demonstrations that can only serve the forces of appeasement and Communism, seasoned military men chew their fingernails over the indecision of our leadership and the zig-zag course of defense planning.

The voice of Brigadier General Bonner Fellers (USA Ret.), the brilliant strategist who was General MacArthur's chief of planning in the crucial years of '43 to '46, is among those crying in this wilderness of confusion. He writes:

"Russia is the base from which the Communist-announced dream of world domination must of necessity emanate. The Kremlin will not knowingly risk destruction of this base. Therefore, our air and space striking power, if maintained superior to that of Russia, is reasonably certain to preclude a major nuclear war.

"Today, however, some are failing to appreciate the fact that the only effective free world military shield is US nuclear striking power . . . It is the only military force which the Kremlin fears. On it our defense has been based.

"Despite these obvious facts our 1963 defense budget falls to insure continuance of US supremacy in nuclear capability. Instead of continuing superior nuclear striking power - which we unquestionably have today - a wholly inadequate conventional warfare capability is gradually to be substituted. . . ."

General Fellers proceeds to outline the drastic cuts planned for missiles and the virtual scrapping of our supersonic bomber and fighter program, the domination of "peaceful" space projects over military development and the $2 billion cut in Air Force research and development for fiscal 1963!

"One is compelled to wonder," General Fellers concludes, "what the reason is for our failure to plan future superior striking power over the Red forces. Could it be that we are deliberately permitting our striking power to fall into second place? Will we next be told that since the Soviets have become stronger and have the power to destroy us, our only hope for survival is to join a world order? Whatever may be the reason, if we drift into second place militarily - this much is certain: it will be the end of free men everywhere."

The Congress that convenes next January still save us. But it will have to place patriotism (which seems to be in ill repute) before pol-

The law can't correct such acts. Only YOU, the parent, can do the job the way it must be done. The youngsters are fast proving that they are too irresponsible.

Once thought that all persons--regardless of their age--were members of the human race, but after seeing and hearing of some of the acts perpetrated on the citizenry here, I am beginning to have my doubts.

Now, you parents can do one of three things. You can get mad at me for writing this and blow off a lot of hot air. You can ignore this column the same way you might ignore a bee in your garden. Or, you can do something about the situation.

As for the persons guilty of the vandalism, I suggest you face the music. Someone, somewhere, knows what you have done and sooner or later, it will become known.

Remember this: "The right thing to do is usually the hardest thing to do."

It is up to you.

Jear Mr. Cook:

The staff and students at Abilene State School wish to express their sincere thanks for the 7 big boxes of candy for Christmas. We have received a lot of candy for different occasions, but never in such abundance. Words cannot express our appreciation.

We are always looking for new projects for schools to participate in, and we think you have a very unique idea. May we ask you how many students participated, how many hours were spent, and how the project was carried to completion.

Once again, thank you very much for your thoughtfulness and interest in our school.

Dinner Opens Drive For Building Funds

About 125 members gathered at the school cafeteria Monday night to participate in the kick-off dinner for the Methodist building campaign.

Huge platters of fried chicken, pies and salads filled the biggest part of two tables as the members began filling their trays.

Purpose of the campaign is to raise funds for building an addition to the present building, constructing a parsonage, and retiring the present indebtedness. The goal for the next five year period is $110,000.

A song session led by Jimette McLean and accompanied by Beth Akens on the piano, opened the program after the meal. A quartet composed of Mrs. H. L. Outland, Mrs. J. K. Anthony, P. L. London and Floyd Reeve rendered their version of "Our Best."

Dr. Luther Kirk, pastor of San Jacinto Methodist Church of Amarillo, was introduced by London as the speaker for the evening. Dr. Kirk stressed the need for each member to give their full support to the building program to assure its success.

Dalton Caffey, co-chairman of the drive, instructed the solicitors who will be contacting the 225 church families in regards to the campaign this week.

by the law. It includes such items as money, stocks, bonds, membership in corporation or association, dividends, accrued interest, amounts due and payable under any insurance policy, undistributed profits, production and proceeds from oil, gas, and other mineral estates.

For farmer cooperatives, the principal sources of property subject to escheat would be those undeliverable funds which came into being in connection with the payment of dividends on stock and the retirement of stock and other forms of equities.

Completion Nears On London Test

The drilling is completed — depth, 9,414 feet. The rig will probably be moving this week.

Crews on the London oil test were running a drillstem test Tuesday afternoon as a final check to ascertain whether or not there was any oil in the hole. If there is no "show," the rig will be moved to a new location near Dimmit.

According to all present indi-cations, the test will be a dry hole. No oil appears to be there to produce.

The test which was conducted Tuesday is one of the surest means of checking for oil. Checks on the formation cuttings, and electrical logging are generally accepted means of locating the areas where a drill stem test might prove worthwhile.

The test tool—to put it simply —consists of a built in valve, a packer (a section which is covered with rubber and will expand to seal the hole at the given point) and several joints of a perforated pipe.

The tool is lowered to the depth to be tested and the packer is set just above the zone. Then the valve is opened and any oil, gas, or other fluid which is in the formation will be forced into the inside of the drillpipe.

The pipe has been kept empty until the tool is opened and the drilling fluid which is above the zone is held back by the packer.

In brief, a drill stem test consists of putting a well on production as a test to determine the oil bearing qualities of a certain formation level.

One of the more critical fac-tors in the drilling and testing of a hole in this part of the country is the condition of the drilling fluid. As for the test, a wrong combination of mud could cause the formation of extra thick wall cakes in the hole and stick the packer as it went down or came up. A poor fluid could cause the for-mation to break down and cave in or it could crush formation and seal out any oil even from the drill stem test.

Periodic checks must be kept on the condition of the drilling mud to be sure that the fluid consists of its various com-ponents.

A gel material is mixed with the water to raise the viscosity of the fluid to 48 and give it body. Preservative chemicals are added to keep the mud from becoming sour and to keep it "live."

The weight of the mud must be maintained at nine pounds per gallon. If the weight rises to high, it will begin to break down the formations in the hole and circulation of the fluid will be lost. When this happens, much time and money may be needed to close off the rupture and start the flow of mud and samples again.

At the London well, four pounds of cotton seed hulls are mixed with each gallon of fluid to help seal off small cracks in the formations and prevent the loss of circula-tion.

In addition, the mud is five per cent oil. The addition of oil helps to keep the mud light and prevent the breakdown of the formation. With the modern techniques, oil in the drilling fluid poses no problem in determining if samples of for-mation contains traces of oil. If a sample is dipped in oil, it will show on the surface. But when the small rock is broken, only oil which is brought from the formation will show on the new surfaces. In addition, most all of the oil from the drilling fluid is washed off the cuttings before they are studied.

The correct combination is a must to provide a fluid used to drill holes such as the one near Friona. If the wrong com-bination of chemicals, water, gel, preservative and oil are used, an untold amount of dif-ficulties will result.

As a final result, the well could be abandoned and never completed if the improper com-bination is not corrected quick-ly. Care and checking of the fluid is one of the major duties of the derrickman when the rig is drilling.

A FINAL CHECK . . . The day crew on the London wildcat make up a test tool in preparation for a drillstem test. The crew started in the hole with the tool Tuesday evening. Results of the test will determine if any further work is warranted on the hole.

Something To Think About

6th. Street Church of Christ
Box 515 -- Friona, Texas

How many times have you heard the statement, "Consistency, Thou Art a Jewell!" Here are a few reasons why that statement is so true. Can you imagine a man who preferred to drown rather than get into a boat with a hypocrite? Yet some will refuse to become a Christian because there is a hypocrite in the church. Can't you just see someone who would quit going to the movie because the manager did not speak to him? Yet some Christians "quit the church" because the preacher does not speak to them. We know better than to refuse to pay our taxes just because we disagree with the way some of that money is being spent. But you have known some who quit giving to the church because they did not like the way the elders were using the money. This is one area of inconsistency, but there are many others. For example: There are parents who tell their children that it is wrong to get drunk and warn them against the dangers of alcoholism, and then have a cocktail party that evening. Other parents teach their children the virtue of honesty, and then when the doorbell rings to the same child to tell who ever it is that mother is not at home. Perhaps one of the greatest tragedies of all is for parents to insist that their children go to "Sunday School" but by their own absence (for no better reason than to sleep, or read the paper) they contradict their own teaching. Consistency is a forgotten art in too many of our modern activities.

Come To Church Sunday

"I could have bitten off my tongue!" How often have we heard that expression of regret or sorrow. May we have said the same thing. All because the tongue said something that caused hurt or shame or fear.

"I am going to have some friends for dinner tomorrow," Xanthus, the philosopher, told his servant according to the legend, "so buy the best thing you can get on the market for our meal."

The next day when his friends arrived for the meal the servant set before them only tongue. There were several courses of tongue, each cooked in a different way. Xanthus became angry and demanded an explanation.

"You told me to get the best thing on the market," the servant explained, "and isn't the tongue the organ of sociality, the organ of eloquence, the organ of kindness, and the organ of worship?"

"Well, tomorrow buy the worst thing on the market," said the philosopher.

The next day the servant served them again several courses, but each one was tongue again. Again Xanthus lost his temper. He called for an explanation.

"You told me to get the worst thing on the market," said the servant, "so again I bought tongue. Is it not the organ of blasphemy, the organ of cursing, the organ of lying, and the organ of criticism and slander?"

An ancient writer declared that a slanderer and the one who listens to slander, ought to be both hung. One should be hung by the tongue, and the other hung by the ear! "The tongue is a little member, and boasteth great things. Behold, how great a matter a little fire kindleth. James 3:5.

Thespian Play Opens Dec. 7

The Friona High School Thespian Play, "Hillbilly Wedding," will be presented Dec. 7 in the high school auditorium.

If the acting matches the dialogue, it will undoubtedly be a "scream." Some of the carrying on at a rehearsal went something like the following:

"Marry that girl? Never," said Ronald Maxwell (Tom Gee).

"I reckon you will," replied Paw Belsnickle (Craig Tannahill) as he threatened him with a gun.

"But Paw, Ya can't shoot a dude fer a husband," shouted Maw Belsnickle (Carol Coffey).

"Aw Maw, it wouldn't hurt 'im much," said Cellie Belsnickle (Carolyn Herring).

"The very idea. My Ronald Marry a country hickl," exclaimed Aunt Lucy Maxwell (Kay Burleson).

Several of the actors for the upcoming play also held parts in the recent Junior play which met with great success.

Others in the cast are: Mikie Welch, Janell Daniel, Carolyn Guinn, Brenda Deaton, Dianna Taylor, Earl Crow, Reggie Hays, Wayne Cason and Arlen May.

Rep. Spears Says Bankers Blocking House Committee

AUSTIN, Tex.—Rep. Franklin Spears of San Antonio says that bankers in the banking business are blocking attempts by the Special House Committee appointed to investigate enforcement of the Texas Escheat laws.

Spears claims that officers of the Texas Bankers Association have advised members to ignore a questionnaire the committee sent to every banking institution in the state. But he says hundreds of banks and savings and loan companies are exempt from reporting procedures set out by the 57th Legislature, they are included in the escheat laws.

House Committee's questionnaire asked for non-confidential statistical information to try to determine the number of abandoned accounts. Representative Spears says the study will be very valuable, if enough banking institutions cooperate.

Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson filed the first suit under the new escheat act. Suit seeks to recover $1,094,150 in stock and dividends held for the unknown owner of a missing railroad land trust certificate.

The missing certificate was first issued in 1888, but Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Braswell says no one has been able to establish ownership since.

Suit was filed in the 101st District Court in Dallas against Mercantile National Bank of Dallas, trustees of the Texas Pacific Land Trust, and various claimants to the missing certificate.

Wilson's suit alleges that the property should go to the State of Texas under provisions of House Bill 5, covering abandoned property, since its owner has been unknown for seven years or more.

RACE IS ON—Kellis Dibrrell of San Antonio told Young Republicans in Austin that the Democratic primary no longer will be tantamount to election, now that the Republicans are gaining prominence in the State.

Dibrrell has announced for lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket. He predicted that Texas voters will have a problem on May 5 when they're forced to choose between voting in the Republican or Democratic primary.

A Democrat, former Secretary of State Tom Reavley, was first man to announce for the Attorney General's office. Reavley, an Austin attorney, says he considers that office the largest, most varied and most important "law practice" in Texas.

UP TO THE COURTS—The University of Texas Board of Regents has agreed "unanimously" to let the court decide whether they should integrate dormitories.

Judge Thornton Hardie of El Paso, chairman of the regents, says a test case filed by Austin attorney Sam Houston Clinton in behalf of three Negro students has been turned over to Atty. Gen. Will Wilson. In a letter to Hardie, Clinton asked the regents to integrate the facilities and ease the suit.

Hardie has accused Clinton of filing the suit for "the purpose of publicity and propaganda."

Regents originally planned to study further integration. Hardie refused to say whether the suit has changed their plans.

Students and faculty have asked the regents for dormitory integration through campus polls. Integration in athletics also has been at issue. The regents chairman says they do not want to do anything that would disturb the "excellent relations" U. T. has had with other members of the Southwest Athletic Conference.

It Is Very Important That All Of Us Know The Full Implications Of The Texas Escheat Law As Passed By Our Last Legislature --- Please Read This Very Brief Digest ----

TEXAS ESCHAT LAW GENERAL PROVISIONS

This law, passed by the last Texas Legislature, requires that certain "persons" who are holding personal property subject to escheat shall transfer this property to the State of Texas.

Person -- The term "person" means any individual, corporation, business association, partnership, governmental or political subdivision or officer, public authority, estate, persons having a joint or common interest, or any other legal, commercial, governmental or political entity, except banks, savings and loan associations, banking organizations or institutions. (This, of course, does include cooperatives.)

Personal property -- The term "personal property" includes, but is not limited to, money, stocks, bonds and other securities, bills of exchange, claims for money or indebtedness, dividends, deposits, accrued interest, purchase payments, sums payable on certified checks, certificates of membership in a corporation or association, amounts due and payable under the terms of any insurance policy, security deposits, unclaimed refunds and deposits for utility or other services, funds to redeem stocks and bonds, undistributed profits, dividends, or other interests, production and proceeds from oil, gas and other mineral estates, and all other personal property and increments thereto, whether tangible or intangible, and whether held within this State, or without the State for a person or beneficiary whose last known residence was in this State. (For farmer cooperatives, the principal sources of property subject to escheat would be those undeliverable funds which came into being in connection with the payment of dividends on stock and the retirement of stock and other forms of equities.)

Subject to escheat -- The term "subject to escheat" shall include all personal property with the following characteristics:

1. The existence and whereabouts of the owner are unknown and have been unknown to the holder for more than seven (7) years.
2. From the knowledge and records of the holder it appears that no claim or act of ownership has been asserted or exercised during the past seven (7) years.
3. No will of the last known owner has been recorded or probated in the county where the property is situated within the past seven (7) years.

Dates & Reports--This law became effective November 7, 1961. Within sixty (60) days after November 7 (any date prior to January 6, 1962), every person holding personal property subject to escheat shall file a report thereof with the State Treasurer.

Procedure After Report Has Been Made--A brief outline of the escheating procedure after the State Treasurer has received the report is as follows:

1. Within sixty (60) days, the State Treasurer will send a report containing the necessary information to the Sheriff of the county of the domicile of the holder who originally sent in the report.
2. Within ten (10) days the Sheriff will post this report on the courthouse bulletin board where it will remain no less than thirty (30) days and then return it to the State Treasurer.
3. At the expiration of one hundred twenty (120) days after the State Treasurer first received the report, he shall certify to the Attorney General that all the unclaimed property listed shall be deemed to be abandoned and shall escheat to the State.

As is the case in most every instance when a new law becomes effective, there are many vital and important questions to be answered and decisions and interpretations to be made based on the wording of the law in connection with the practical application of the law. The State Treasurer has been authorized to make the necessary rules and regulations to carry out the provisions of the law and the Attorney General will render rulings and opinions on the legality and constitutionality of these rules and regulations.

There are several general and specific questions to be answered regarding the application of the law specifically to farmer cooperatives. The answer and decision to these questions when converted into the rules and regulations by the State Treasurer could vitally affect farmer cooperatives.

Since the principal sources of property subject to escheat for farmer cooperatives would evolve from undeliverable funds which came into being in connection with the payment of dividends on stock and the retirement of stock and other forms of equities, there are several rulings and regulations to be made in relation to these items and we have discussed them with the State Treasurer and have requested rulings. Included in these subject matters are the following problems and questions:

When is a Cooperative the "Holder"? Is the farmer cooperative the "holder" (and thus be vested with the responsibility to make the report for escheat purposes) of stock or any other media of equity evidence where the records of the cooperative disclose the ownership of these equities to be vested in a person whose whereabouts is unknown to the Cooperative and whose whereabouts has been so unknown to the cooperative for more than seven (7) years?

The law reads that "every person holding personal property subject to escheat shall file a report thereof." It is our position that when the patron of a cooperative accepts noncash refunds, he is investing his cash in the capital structure of that cooperative; that his investment has the same status as an investment in any type corporation; that the certificates or credits representing the stock or other types of equity rights may be held by someone for or on behalf of the original owner and such person may be unknown to the cooperative; and only until the stock or other evidence of equity is retired or redeemed, and the funds incident to such retirement or redemption are available for disbursement and undeliverable, would the cooperative become a "holder of personal property subject to escheat."

There is an indication that the State Treasury Department at present is leaning toward the position that under a situation where a cooperative became aware that the owner of stock or other equity in the cooperative could not be located, then seven (7) years later that stock or other equity would become subject to escheat, even though the stock or other equity were not eligible for retirement or redemption. (Should this become an established ruling, the State of Texas will become a substantial stockholder in all our farmer cooperatives.)

When Does the "Seven (7) Year Period" Begin? Closely related to the question of when does a person become a "holder" is a question perhaps peculiar to cooperatives. Suppose on January 1, 1961 the board of directors of a cooperative vote to use the current year's margin to retire the preferred stock issued on January 1, 1954. The funds to retire the stock held by the stockholder John Doe are undeliverable. The cooperative has had no reason or occasion to contact John Doe since January 1, 1954. Question: Do the funds belonging to John Doe become subject to escheat January 1, 1961 (seven (7) years after 1954) or January 1, 1968 (seven (7) years after it became "officially" known to the cooperative that John Doe was "out of pocket"?) (Although the Treasurer has not given us an official answer to this question, the present thinking of that Department is that in the foregoing situation the funds would become subject to escheat on January 1, 1961).

In General, From A Cooperative Standpoint, This Means That We Will Have To Turn Over To The State Of Texas All Unclaimed Funds Such As Dividends On Stock And Stock Redemption Funds. The Following People Have Such Funds Available With Us -----

Big Enough To Accommodate - Small Enough To Appreciate

Phone 2521 Friona

Members of Friona's Little League Mothers organization are disturbed about the absence of the coffee urn which purchased last year. It has been removed from the building at Little League Park and no one seems to know its whereabouts.

If any of our readers have the urn or know where it is, it will be greatly appreciated if you will call Mrs. James Procter, Mrs. Aubrey Rhodes or any Little League Mother.

Little Mark Fairchild is just about three weeks old and it is too early to determine whether or not he is on the way to becoming an athlete. However, since his father, Weldon, and mother, Ruby Lee, were both athletic, there is a strong possibility that he will be.

Maybe having the distinction of being the youngest Squaw fan at the Junior High girls basketball game in Canyon Monday evening will have some bearing on the case.

Although he showed no particular interest in what was going on, he was very cooperative all during the game and didn't prevent his mother from being able to watch every play.

If all Frionans who attended the giant parade in Amarillo Friday evening came home with ideas for floats, the next Friona parade should be very outstanding.

From all reports every town in the Panhandle was well represented. A vast crowd was on hand all along the long parade route and the entire spectacle was well received.

A lot of us are faced with the problem of trying to keep in the middle of the road in facing all issues of everyday living. None of us really want to be too far off the road in either direction, but making decisions to this end is quite a chore.

I like this bit of verse. Hope you enjoy it, too.

Keep to the right as the law directs,
For such is the law of the road;
Keep to the right, whoever expects
Securely to carry life's load.
Keep to the right, within and without,
With stranger, with kindred and friend;
Keep to the right and you need
Have no doubt
That all will be right in the end.

The Ways of the World

Oh where are the playmates of yesterday, the fellows we knew in school? Oh, what has become of the studios one, and where, oh, where is the fool? Oh, what has become of the orator, whose passion was to recite? And the bashful kid who could speak no piece unless he succumbed to fright? Oh, what has become of the model boy, who was always the teacher's pet? And, where, oh, where, is the tough young nut, the one we can never forget?

The studious one, so we have been told, is driving a cab these days; while the fool owns stock in a bank or two, and a railroad that always pays. The orator that we knew so well is a clerk in a dry goods store; while the bashful kid we know has been in Congress ten years or more. The model boy is behind the bars for stealing a neighbor's cow.

And you ask what of the tough young nut? Oh, he's a preacher now! - - J. W. Johnson, Printopics.

Cotton Harvest Slowed By Fluctuating Weather

Cotton strippers began moving into Farmer County fields during the latter part of last week and the first of this week to take advantage of the few days of sunshine.

Loaded cotton trailers began to pile up at gins in the southern part of the county as the harvesting gained momentum. In the northern part of the county--above Hub and around Friona--cotton harvesting operations were still scattered.

Reports from several gins in the county indicate that harvesting ranges from a high of 35 per cent complete in the south to a low of 10 per cent complete in the north of the county.

Staples are holding at about 15 for most cotton, according to reports. Quality has tended to fall about one grade following the recent snows and wet weather.

There are still many farmers in the northern part of the county that have not yet taken a bale of cotton from their field. At the same time, there are a few fields in the south part of the county that are stripped clean.

Most of the fields are mature enough that about 85-90 per cent of the bolls are ready for harvesting. But there are a few farmers who could salvage only about 40 per cent of the bolls in their fields if they tried to harvest now.

Deryl Coker, county agent, is urging every cotton farmer to catch his burs and waste and spread it over his fields as a fertilizer.

Coker reports that the cost involved in spreading the burs over the field is much less than the dividends which will be gained as a result. Cotton production will be increased over 100 pounds per acre, according to Coker, as a result of returning the burs to the field.

"Burning the burs is like throwing money into a fire," he said.

Low-hanging fog and light mist has prevented the farmers from starting stripper operations until noon or later this week, but several farmers are not wasting a minute of clear weather in their efforts to get their cotton out of the field.

W. R. Mabry, east of Hub, sent two strippers and 21 trailers into his fields on Nov. 11-12 to account for 95 bales. All the cotton was taken to a Lazbuddie gin. He resumed operations last weekend and will finish his stripping this week if the weather permits.

"Have I told you about my grandchildren?"

"No, and I appreciate it."

Cattlefeeding Tour Dec. 14-20

Farmer County sorghum producers and cattlemen are offered the opportunity to inspect commercial feed lots and develop grain markets in Arizona and California Jan. 14-20.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a special train tour through the western states in an effort to develop better grain markets for the Texas grain.

Pullman cars will originate at Fort Worth, Amarillo and Lubbock and will become a special train at Clovis. The train will depart from Clovis at noon on Jan. 14.

Tour cost for one person, including first class train fare, Pullman, club cars, bedroom facilities, gratuities, hotels, chartered bus fees, two planned dinners and insurance has been set at $264.00.

Requests for reservations must be submitted before Dec. 15 to: Agriculture and Livestock Department, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 1561, Abilene, Texas.

Having dined in a restaurant with her husband, a woman missed her gloves when she was on her way out. Murmuring something to her husband, she hurried back to the table to look for them. Not seeing them on the table, she lifted the cloth and began to grub around on the floor.

Just then a waiter came up. "Pardon me, madam," he said, "but the gentleman is over there by the door."

A sailor in a good mood entered the barracks and called out, "I'll give a dollar to the laziest man here."

Everyone scrambled to his feet and rushed forward to tell how lazy he was except one tall Texan. He drawled, "Just roll me over and slip it in my pocket."

"REDDY KILOWATT IS OUR CHIEF COOK AND BOTTLE WASHER."

"Our Medallion appliances do the chores while we're busy teaching!"
say Mr. & Mrs. E. R. Higgins of Lubbock Christian College

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Higgins are delighted with the convenience, efficiency and economy of their Bronze Medallion Home. Particularly, they like and use the automatic features of their electric appliances. It is not unusual for them to place the soiled dishes in the dishwasher, the washed clothes in the clothes dryer, and a complete meal--ready for cooking--in the electric range. A touch of the finger to button and timer . . . and they're on their way to their college duties. When they return at night, they come home to clean dishes, perfectly dried clothes and a hot meal ready to eat. As they say, "Reddy Kilowatt is our 'chief cook and bottle washer'--without him, we don't know what we'd do."

Mr. Higgins, Director of Admissions and Professor of Mathematics, and Mrs. Higgins, Dean of Women and Director of the College's testing program, both enjoy the comfort of their Bronze Medallion Home during after-hour relaxation periods. Your next home should be a Medallion Home. For full information--ask your Public Service Company manager.

Last week a Fertilizer Short-Course Program was held for county agents, fertilizer dealers, and other interested people in Plainview.

Sorghum stubble or cotton burs will, (1) Let the soil warm up faster in the spring, and having a desirable soil temperature at planting time is always a problem with us.

In a test at Plainview, soil with six tons of burs applied, took 4 hours longer for water to get out, than a plot with no burs.

Mr. Gunter, also, said that a normal grain sorghum crop would produce 4 tons of organic matter. He states that organic material from grain sorghum stubble was not as good as cotton burs, because it did not have the nutrient value of burs.

New Finishing Process Improves Wash-Wear Cotton

A new chemical finishing process, devised by USDA scientists to give cotton improved wash-wear characteristics, is currently under evaluation by the textile finishing industry.

The new process, which uses formaldehyde to bind together cotton's cellulose molecules, appears to impart a finish more durable than many other types of wash-wear finishes now in use. Also, formaldehyde treated fabrics show no tendency toward yellowing or other discoloration when subjected to chloride bleach.

Fabrics given the finish in pilot-plant tests rated high on the standard wash-wear rating scale. Garments made from the treated fabric can be either line or machine dried.

Although the chemical cost is about the same, the formaldehyde treatment takes longer and requires more equipment than does most of the wash-wear treatments now in use.

higher than those of most other processes. Most cotton textile finishing plants already have the equipment needed for the formaldehyde process, but some modification in present operations will be required.

There have been many attempts to make use of the advantages offered by formaldehyde, but the reaction of cotton with this chemical is difficult to control. In the earlier trials loss of fabric strength was excessive. In the process, however, fabric strength losses can be kept low enough to allow experimental garments to last as long as those given other types of wash-wear treatment.

Cotton Referendum Vote Due Dec. 12

Parmer County cotton growers will have the opportunity to express their wishes in connection with the 1962 ASCS cotton program at the referendum Dec. 12.

Forms for the referendum will be furnished by the local ASCS office in Farwell.

The Deputy Administrator of the ASCS state and county operations, released the following statement in connection with the upcoming referendum.

"A study of the pattern of participation in referendums on these commodities in recent years indicates that only a small percent of the eligible voters actually vote, and that the number voting is trending downward."

"Last year, for example, less than one-fourth of the producers eligible to vote in the commodity referendums went to the polls and voted. The program directly affects each producer and we firmly believe that a larger percentage of them should vote on Dec. 12."

"The state committee, working through the farmer fieldman, county and community committeemen, is urged to redouble its efforts to increase participation substantially over any one of the past few years."

A fertile soil must be adequate in that it supplies all nutrients required by the plant throughout its life. A plant must not suffer at any time from the lack of one or more required nutrients. This is important because the full capacities of a crop are never realized if starvation occurs at any time during its growth cycle, even though plants are capable of outstanding recovery from short periods of nutrient starvation.

A fertile soil requires more than mineral elements alone. A fertile soil must also furnish a satisfactory environment for root growth. Environmental factors of major importance are: soil water supply, temperature, aeration and soil structure.

Soil fertility is insured by maintaining an adequate supply of plant food for a favorable environment for root growth. Infertile soils are made fertile by corrective measures to bring about favorable environment and an adequate supply of nutrients.

HD Agent's Notes

BY MISS ETTIE MUSIL

Would you ever consider burning dollar bills? Could you picture the smoke to be a gray green from the "green backs"?

Sounds like fantasy or a nightmare for sure. Yes, but that's what it's like to burn leaves from trees and flowers. Why smoke up the neighborhood, too, and create a fire hazard by burning the leaves, when a compost pile will solve the problem.

All you need for a compost pile is scrap lumber or a few feet of net wire and four posts. It's really simple to build a compost pile that will add dollar bills worth of beauty and yield to your flower beds and gardens next year.

Start with a six inch layer of leaves. Sprinkle one-half cup of commercial fertilizer, such as 8-8-8, over the layer of leaves for every four square feet of enclosure. Then add a one-half to one inch layer of soil over the leaves. Continue adding layers of leaves, fertilizer, and soil until the pile reaches the desired height. The top layer should be left somewhat saucer-shaped so it will hold water.

In three to four months, the leaves will decompose and become excellent material for use next summer to increase the organic matter in flower or vegetable garden soils. This compost can be used as a mulch for flowers, shrubs, or vegetables, too.

According to our extension soils chemist, Bill Bennett, he points out that heavy accumulations of leaves left on the lawn can damage the grass especially when they are wet. The leaves may also be responsible for more disease problems. He states, "Leaves should be removed and the extra time required to put them in a compost pile will return big dividends."

This would be a good job for the children who often ask, "Mother, what can I do?" It's not hard, but like a game to rake the leaves and help build the enclosure for the leaves. They could even pack the leaves in layers, then water the pile when finished.

This year Texas homemakers found that the food bill for this year's Thanksgiving dinner was less than at any time in the last decade. This is because turkey growers are selling birds at extremely low prices. In fact the prices were so low that they won't repay the producer for costs, let alone labor.

We received word in the office this week from a Department of Agriculture survey of the cost of the feast dinner. The total cost of an average Thanksgiving dinner for a family of four in 1961 was about $5.42. This was about 80 cents less than a year ago. Foods on which prices were based included a 10-pound ready-to-cook turkey, 1 pound of fresh cranberries, 1 1/2 pounds sweet potatoes, a can of green beans, one bunch of celery, one can of pumpkin, 1 pound of apples, 1 pound of table grapes, and 1 pound of walnuts and four oranges.

Large sized turkeys usually cost less per pound and there is also more meat in proportion to bone. Do watch the individual store prices because recently some stores increased the price per pound for larger turkeys.

If your family is small consider buying a large bird. Then have it sawed in half baking one half for Christmas and saving the other half for use at a later date. Or you may want to cook the whole turkey and freeze part of it. Since turkey is less expensive this year it may be served more often than just for the holidays. In many stores it has been cheaper than chicken, pork, or beef. Have you compared prices?

You may be interested in two bulletins we have in the office. Just write, call, or come by for "Turkey On The Table The Year Round", and "Let's Eat Turkey". They include recipes for croquettes, creole, chow mein, loaf, salad, soup, and turkey ome.
