June Brides Reminded Of Responsibility By Social Security

Acquiring the new name of Mrs. John J. Newlywed represents one of the proudest events in a young lady's life. And we are also proud of her, says Jack Calvert, manager of the Odessa Social Security Field Office. When she and many other brides come to our office to have their names changed on their Social Security cards (as all brides should do without delay), they are sometimes surprised when we inform them that their new name should be shown as Mary A. Newlywed instead of Mrs. John J. Newlywed. Having the correct name on the worker's account number card is important since the social security records are kept by name and number. Now that social security benefits have been extended to dependent husbands and children of insured women workers, it pays women workers as well as men to keep the record straight. Calvert urges that all June brides, and other brides who have not yet had their names changed on their account number cards, should do so at once. Come in or write to the Field Office at Odessa and let us help start the newlyweds off right. Ask for Form 7003, Employee's Request for Change in Records.

State Fair Opening Set October 6 In Dallas

Opening day of the 1951 State Fair of Texas, Saturday, Oct. 6, has again been adopted as official Press Day by the Texas Press Association at its annual convention in Dallas. Press Day traditionally held on opening day, is expected to attract more than 2,000 newspaper and radio men and their families, who will be guests of the state fair at such attractions as:

1. "Guys and Dolls," current Broadway musical hit that will hold forth at the auditorium.
 2. "Ice Cycles of 1952," the always-popular skating extravaganza in the Ice Arena.
 3. The Aut Swenson Thrillcade, an exciting mixture of thrills and spills by world champion daredevils, in front of the Grandstand.
 4. The Southern Methodist-Missouri football game in the Cotton Bowl at night.
 5. All shows on the fair's million-dollar Midway.
- The State Fair's Picnic Pavilion, where registration will be held, will be open all day to serve as a gathering place for the publishers and editors. In addition, the newsmen will find exhibit buildings bulging with the best-balanced array of free shows and exhibits the fair has ever had. The Pan-American National Hereford Show, king of all cattle shows, will be getting off to a flying start on Press Day, and other beef cattle shows also will be under way, along with shows for breeding swine, sheep and Angora goats, and American saddle horses. And quite a bit of livestock judging will be going on in the fair's new $125,000 Livestock Pavilion. At a breakfast extended TPA members on the first day of the Dallas Convention, James H. Stewart, executive vice president and General Manager of the fair, expressed the fair's appreciation for the part the press had played in putting the fair on top and keeping it there.

D-Day For Sportsmen Will Be July 6th

AUSTIN.—Friday, July 6, will be D (for dove) Day for Texas sportsmen. At that time, the results of the popular poll on hunters' preference for the coming mourning dove season will be announced. The Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, according to the Executive Secretary, plans to use the results of the poll as a basis for recommending mourning dove shooting dates for the 1951 fall season. Final action on the dates, hunting hours and bag limits is taken by the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service since mourning doves are a migratory bird, and therefore are under Federal jurisdiction. This is the first time, the executive Secretary said, that the sportsmen's own preferences, as indicated by a mail poll, have been used as a guide in this decision. The Commission asked Texans to write their date ideas to the Game Department, Walton Building, Austin, after considerable conflict in opinion developed over last season's shooting regulations, particularly in the south zone. Some sportsmen thought that the southern zone mourning dove season should have paralleled the quail hunting season which is set by law. The southern zone dove season last year was from Oct. 20 to Dec. 3. The quail season set by law is from Dec. 1 to Jan. 16. The northern zone mourning dove dates in 1950 were from Sept. 1 to Oct. 15. Admiral of the Navy George Dewey, hero of Manila Bay, held "six star" rank until his death.

Posting of Beef Prices Postponed To August 1

LUBBOCK.—The Office of Price Stabilization announced that the requirement that retail meat sellers publicly post ceiling beef prices by June 25 would be postponed until Aug. 1. In view of the fact that mechanical difficulties had forced a delay in the intended June 18 posting date, and that Aug. 1 is the end of the present price level based on the first 10 per cent roll back of live cattle prices, it was decided to delay posting of the charges for the brief period of time before that date. On Aug. 1, new lower price levels at retail are scheduled under the present regulations. In addition, OPS officials said, continued study of the operation of the program indicates that a few adjustments in prices of some cuts may be necessary, to bring them in line with others in the same region. Meantime, it was pointed out, the order requires that all prices be posted on the tray in which the beef cuts are displayed, and that these prices must be at or below ceiling prescribed in the regulations. Koshier beef retailers, who were required to post their prices on June 11 will continue to display their charts, OPS said. Also, any other retail dealers who desire to post their prices for the benefit of their customers, may prepare their own from the prices in the regulation and post them, it was pointed out.

DRUG HABIT COMES EASY

This is a good time to reprint some remarks concerning economic controls that were made several months ago by Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston in testimony given before a Congressional joint committee.

"I must say right now," said Mr. Johnston, "that wage and price controls will not be effective for long. It is essential that we begin to cure the reasons why we have to put wage and price controls into effect. The main objective of economic stabilization is to secure a stable dollar and by that we mean, of course, the stable purchasing power of the dollar."

"It is essential that we preserve freedom in this country, which means that we should get rid of wage and price controls at the earliest practical moment." Mr. Johnston then went on to say that it is absolutely vital that we balance the budget, restore confidence in the dollar, and control the supply of credit.

There are two basic dangers in price and other controls. One is that the people will gradually drift into the idea that these artificial restrictions on the normal functioning of the economy are a permanent necessity—just as the drug addict drift into abject dependence on dope. Many of the politicians, who always want more and more power for power's own sake, encourage that kind of thinking.

The second danger is that we will fall for the fallacy that price controls are actually a cure for the disease that is inflation—where, actually, they treat only certain symptoms and don't even do that very effectively. The current uproar over the meat situation is a good example. The controllers have tried, in effect, to repeal the natural law of supply and demand—and the result is scarcity, growing black markets, and the probability of falling production.

Mr. Johnston was right — if we are to remain a free, strong and progressive nation, price and wage controls must be abandoned at the earliest possible time.

United Nations Secretary-General Meets Marshal Tito

Your Home
 By Frances Ainsworth

If you're like me, you've probably been looking over last year's warm-weather wearables and wondering what you can salvage for another season's wear. As for me, I discovered that my daughter, Bab, has simply outgrown all of hers. If it weren't for my well-stocked Tintex cupboard, I don't know what I'd do! But, luckily, Bab can now fit into my old togs, and I'm making them fresh-looking and color-new for her. My slacks, for instance, I cut off to make pedal pushers for Bab. Using the kind of fast-acting color remover you find at all-fabric dye counters, I took out enough of the old navy color to enable me to re-dye. Then into the dye-bath went the pedal pushers—and out they came a little later, dyed a beautiful bright green. And an old faded beach robe is now bright red—Bab loves them both! Naturally, I'm re-dyeing all of my own casuals that lost their color because of the sun and numerous washings. It's amazing how much money we can save by tintexing old garments and home furnishings. One of my favorite budget-savers is re-dyeing my unmatched nylon hostiery—I just use color remover first and then dye them with the special stocking dyes that come in 10 shades. Incidentally, you'll be interested in hearing about a wonderful whitening product that works miraculously on nylon, as well as all other fabrics. Called White-X, I've used it on white curtains, blouses, and slips which have become yellowed from repeated washings—they're just like new again! You can get this wonder bluing at the dye counters.

REP. KEN REGAN IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON.—Rep. Ken Regan, 16th district, said today that he is highly gratified with the action of the House and Senate Committees on Banking and Currency in which they canceled the next two proposed rollback orders on beef.

"In the belief the rollback on commercial cattle order of May 20 with the proposed two additional rollbacks was working an especially severe hardship on the ranchers of West Texas, I have been very concerned as to the best procedure and am gratified in hearing of the action of these groups."

"The first rollback served no beneficial purpose for saving to consumers and created a substantial loss." Under the present Committee action, this May 20 order will stand, however.

Regan said he is also "taking some measure of satisfaction in knowing I did not support this control law last year and I am not convinced of the need for supporting its extension. I am a firm believer in free competitive enterprise sys-

Game Head Warns Against Making Pets Of Wild Animals

AUSTIN, June 27.—Texans run a risk in trying to make pets out of wild animals and birds, according to the Executive Secretary of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission.

He made the point in commenting on the current vacation "invasion" season which parallels the appearance of fawn deer and other wildlife young.

"The fawn, which are beginning to appear now, oftentimes are believed to be lost by well meaning persons," said the Executive Secretary.

"Usually in such cases, the parent deer have been frightened away temporarily but will return. They find their young either by sight or by scent."

"One of the primary dangers of persons trying to provide a home for 'lost' wild game is that the game will be killed by the public."

"The Executive Secretary said trying to raise wild birds by setting their eggs under a domestic fowl usually proves wasted effort since they seldom hatch, and if they do, the little birds perish. He emphasized that persons insisting on making pets of wildlife must have a permit under the state law."

shock from fright of being handled many times kills the young things. They are very sensitive to human encroachment.

"If the 'lost' animals survive, they usually prove to be a nuisance. This is particularly true of deer. Actually, there is a genuine hazard involved in trying to tame wild deer, especially the bucks. They have been known to follow people around like a dog and then suddenly, in the fall mating season, become violent and attack humans either with their horns or front feet."

The Executive Secretary said trying to raise wild birds by setting their eggs under a domestic fowl usually proves wasted effort since they seldom hatch, and if they do, the little birds perish. He emphasized that persons insisting on making pets of wildlife must have a permit under the state law.

Initial Copy Publication Laws Book Presented Price Daniel

TEXAS' ATTORNEY GENERAL PRICE DANIEL took time out on Father's Day to receive the first copy of his new book, "Texas Publication Laws", as a gift from his family. Gathered around the Attorney General are Mrs. Daniel and the four children—John, Price Jr., Houston, and Jeanie. In spite of a big job and a big family, Daniel found time to edit the law book on newspapers and public notices as a public service for the Texas Press Association.

Price Daniel Receives First Copy Texas Press Publication Laws Book

Texas' Attorney General Price Daniel has a big job and a big family. In spite of that, during the past two years he has found time to compile and edit the first complete book on Texas Publication Laws, a work long needed by Texas newspapers, public officials and newspaper lawyers. The first copy of the new book, published by the Texas Press Association, was presented to Price Daniel by his four children on Father's Day. In addition to his distinguished career as a country lawyer and then as the aggressive attorney general of his native state, Price Daniel is co-publisher of his hometown newspaper, the Liberty Vindicator. His newspaper partnership with Jake Smyth and John Manthey also includes the Anahuac Progress at Anahuac, Texas. Daniel is the son of a weekly newspaper editor. It was in the high schools of Fort Worth at the age of 15 years that Daniel first published his own newspaper, the Fort Worth High School Student. He also worked as a cub reporter for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, and then for the Waco News Triton, 5, and John, 4. They now live in Austin in a rambling house on three lots covered with oak trees—the nearest thing they could get to the open spaces of their permanent home in Liberty. In his first five years as Texas' Attorney General, Daniel has gained distinction for his fight against federal seizure of the tidelands from the Texas public school fund. He insists that Texas will win in Congress if Texans keep on fighting and refusing to compromise or surrender. He has been outspoken in his belief that federal officials are violating the Texas Annexation Agreement in attempting to take these lands. Daniel has been equally persistent against other federal encroachments upon the powers and property of the states and of individual citizens. Also, he has been leading the state's fight against organized crime, vowing that Texas will soon lead the nation in its clean-up of syndicated gambling and warning outside hoodlums and racketeers to stay away from Texas. Daniel is a veteran of World War II, having retired from the office of Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives to enter the service as a private. After three years, the last few months of which were spent in General Douglas MacArthur's occupation of Japan, he was discharged as a captain. That he is a hard worker in his job as "the people's lawyer" is evidenced by a record of 4832 lawsuits and 2498 official opinions disposed of by his administration since January 1, 1947.

Mrs. Wilbur Harris returned on Monday from San Francisco where she attended the Southern Baptist Convention held in the Civic Center in San Francisco June 18-19. Mrs. Harris was messenger representative from the Pecos Valley WMU Association. Mrs. Harris stated that 2,243 were registered for the Women's Convention, and Texas was unique in that all 60 messenger representatives were present. Texas has 19 districts in the Association. The Women's Convention preceded the men's convention which was held June 20 to 24. Mrs. Harris was accompanied by Mrs. Allen Thomas of El Paso, district Young People's secretary, and Mrs. J. L. Clink, district Mission Study and Bible Study chairman of district 7. Rev. and Mrs. W. I. Lee and children also attended from McCamey.

Many missionaries from home and from foreign fields spoke. The welcome address was given by Gov. Warren of California. Among the noted speakers were Dr. W. A. Criswell of Dallas and Dr. Billy Graham of Dallas, it was said, attracted a crowd of 16,000. Dr. R. G. Lee of Memphis, Texas, the Southwide President; Mrs. Geo. R. Martin, Roanoke, Va., Southwide WMU President, were speakers.

Lord and Mrs. F. Townsley of England were on the program; also Mrs. C. D. Creasman, Southwide Stewardship Chairman; Mrs. Edgar Bates, dean of women of Hamilton College, Toronto, Canada; Dr. J. D. Grey of New Orleans, New Southern Baptist convention president, and Dr. Leroy Smith, former pastor of McCamey, and now of the Grand Canyon College. Rev. W. M. Davis of Katy, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Weddle of McCamey, who were visiting in Richmond, attended. The convention for 1952 will be held in Miami, Fla., and in 1953 it was scheduled to be held in Houston, Texas.

Wage and Hour Violators Cannot Use Payments For Income Tax Return

EL PASO.—Violations of national wage and salary regulations may result in the disregard of all such illegal payments for income tax purposes. That was revealed today by John M. Fleuriet, supervisor of the US Dept. of Labor's Wage-Hour office here. Wage-Hour offices throughout the nation serve as local field offices for the Wage Stabilization Board.

"The National Board," Fleuriet said, from his office in the Banner Building, "contends that strong enforcement action is necessary to prevent illegal wage payments which would impair the entire anti-inflation program and lead to the pirating of manpower."

In a resolution, the WSB recognized that by and large labor and industry will comply with the provisions of the Defense Production Act with regard to wage stabilization. But the resolution added: "...violations of the law will occur . . . to disregard such violations, whether they be willful or made through honest mistake or ignorance, can and will impair the entire anti-inflation program. It also places violators in a decidedly advantageous position in obtaining manpower, and leads to the practice of pirating critical manpower."

To insure compliance with the law, the Board therefore feels that strong enforcement action should be undertaken as soon as possible. Part of that enforcement action was spelled out in the Board's new resolution, Mr. Fleuriet said.

The resolution provides that the executive departments and other agencies of the Government shall, upon certification by the WSB, disregard the entire amount of illegal payments—not merely an amount representing the increase—for the following purposes: 1. In calculating deductions under the revenue laws of the United States. 2. In determining costs or expenses under any contract made by or on behalf of the US, either directly or indirectly. 3. In the setting or approving any maximum price ceiling. 4. In determining costs or expenses of any such employer for the purpose of any other law or regulation, whether heretofore or hereafter enacted or promulgated. The Board, in addition, may recommend to other Federal Departments that such Departments "withhold priorities assistance and the allocation of materials" from employers who have made illegal wage payments.

one of which is in Dallas. The National Enforcement Commission, to be composed of three persons who are not members of the WSB, and the Regional Commissions, will make the recommendations, determinations and certifications provided for in the resolution.

Calendar May Save Your Life On Fourth, Says Safety Department

AUSTIN, June 22.—The calendar may save your life this Fourth of July!

That was the unusual statement issued today by Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, in pointing out that the Fourth this year will fall in mid-week, thus affording a single holiday for most people.

Because of the Wednesday holiday, Garrison emphasized that many lives will be saved that might otherwise be forfeited to a longer period. To rely on the calendar to save your life, however, is to gamble with safety, he added.

Every holiday is a day of increased hazards, Garrison said, due to the increased traffic volume and the other extra hazards which usually accompany periods of relaxation. All of these demand extra caution to avert disaster.

When Cashing Strangers Checks

If for some reason you feel you must cash a stranger's check, follow these simple rules:

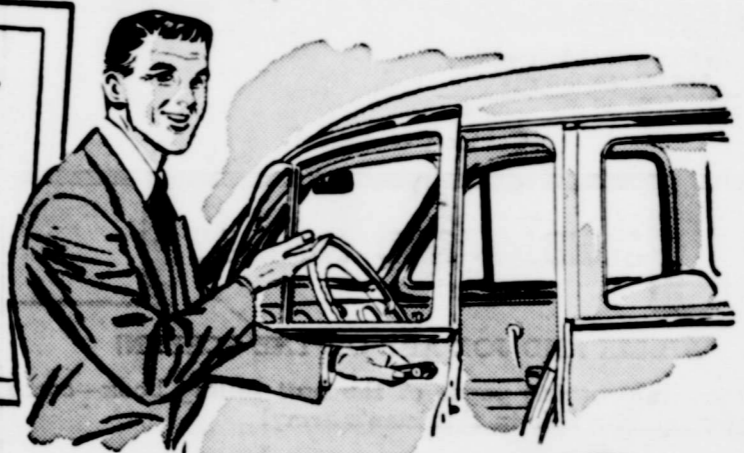

1. Have a stranger sign his name on paper while you wait.
2. Ask for credentials bearing his signature such as drivers license, veterans identification card, etc. KEEP IN MIND THAT CREDENTIALS ARE OFTEN STOLEN OR LOST.
3. Compare the sample signature with the credentials.
4. If you are not completely satisfied, don't cash checks.
5. Be especially careful if they ask for additional cash.
6. Remember—an honest man admires you for being careful—a crook does not welcome investigation.
7. Professional crooks carry impressive checks.
8. You run a business, not a gambling house! Don't bet the profit on a sale against loss of property and money.
9. Not all strangers are crooks—but all crooks are strangers!

While Other West Texas Towns Cry... McCamey Has Adequate Water Supply

With the wrath of summer heat bearing down, blazing headlines of water shortages in many communities, it is comforting to report to the citizens of McCamey that they have plenty of water for the coming months.

But a word of caution before we go further, just because we have plenty "now," don't waste it.

During the past few sweltering days, the improvements made by the city to the water system since last year were put to the test. During the week of June 18 through June 26, 3,012,300 gallons of water was consumed by McCamey water users. This was more than a half-million gallons than was used during the same week last year.

In discussing the local water situation with J. M. Pirkle, city water superintendent, it was learned that the new water well drilled by the city last fall has not yet been connected to the system, but the tie-in is expected to be completed during the coming week. Pirkle said that the new well tested 250 gallons per minute and would add greatly to the water supply.

When asked about the new water storage tank, he stated that had it not been for the unit, McCamey citizens would have been in the same situation they had found themselves the past three years during extended hot spells... without water.

He said that the commercial sale of water was curbed last week, as the water was being used faster than the pumps could bring it to the city, but expressed belief that this situation would be avoided with the new well.

He went further to explain that any shortage in the city would not be of water supply, but due to the lack of a large enough line to bring the water to the booster station. The wells are operating 24 hours a day at the present time. In an effort to conserve water, especially during hot weather, he advised lawns to be watered after five o'clock in the afternoon, asked that water not be permitted to run in sinks, check leaks and faulty commodes.

Citizens were reminded to check all water outlets before leaving on vacations, and were advised to cut off their water if possible.

The following figures were released by Pirkle as to the water consumption in McCamey for the week of June 18-24 for last year and for the present year:

	1950	1951
June 18	461,500	247,600
June 19	483,700	254,900
June 20	483,900	455,700
June 21	450,400	383,200
June 22	416,900	345,200
June 23	414,400	347,000
June 24	301,500	424,000
Total	3,012,300	2,457,600

This year there are about 100 more water meters in the city than last year. Also, there are a number of new homes and most of them are watering grass and other shrubs that help account for the increased water consumption.

All in all, it makes pretty good information, feeling assured that McCamey will not have to be listed among the communities in West Texas, at least at the present time, wondering how they are going to make it through the summer, and not being urged at every turn not to wash your car, or miss a shave, or wash just once a week.

We in McCamey are merely urged not to waste water. It at least eliminates one problem.

Harold Nutter Named As New President Of Lions International

ATLANTIC CITY. — Harold P. Nutter of Camden, N. J., is the new president of The International Association of Lions Clubs (Lions International). He was elected by a unanimous vote at the 34th Annual Convention of the Association that closed here at the Convention Hall today. Nutter succeeds H. C. Peery, Jr., Carrizo Springs, Texas.

The convention concluded a year of unprecedented progress for Lions International, according to the report made by R. R. Keaton of Chicago, Ill., Director General of the Association. He reported the addition of 837 new Lions Clubs and 14,756 men to the roster of the Association during the 11-month period ended May 31, 1951, for a total of 8,757 clubs and 417,597 members. He stated also that during the fiscal year, Lions Clubs were established in three additional countries: Finland, Italy and Uruguay. Lions International, he added, is the largest, strongest and most active service club organization in the world, with Lions Clubs in 31 countries on five continents.

Nutter is a successful business man. He is head of the Nutter Mortgage Service, in Camden, N. J. Born in Milford, Del., Nutter is a graduate of the University of Delaware and Temple University Law School. He is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

In electing him their new president, the Lion delegates elevated Nutter from the office of International First Vice President, in which office he had served during the 1950-51 fiscal year. He had previously served also as Second Vice President and as Third Vice President. From 1943 to 1945—and again from 1946 to 1948—he was a director of Lions International. Prior to that, he was chairman of the Lions Board of Governors in 1942-43. President Nutter has also just completed a year of service as the US member, and vice chairman, of the Lions Board of International Relations.

Lion Nutter has also served his own Lions Club at Camden in many capacities, including president, vice president and director. Also, he served as deputy district Governor and District Governor of the Lions Clubs of the entire state of New Jersey. THE SCISSOR-TAILED FLYCATCHER

"Ka-quee, ka-quees," screams the Scissor-Tailed Fly-Catcher as he rises into the air. So noisily does he call that you might think that he was trying to warn his mate of danger. But his harsh notes are part of his flight.

With each "ka-quee," the Fly-catcher climbs another notch upward. At the same time, he opens and closes his long slender tail. Watching the performance, you can easily imagine that you are seeing a pair of scissors held with points downward and steadily snipping away. Their owner keeps them busy whether he is rising into the air or dropping toward the ground.

There are moments, though, when the Flycatcher rests his tail. It always hangs still and closed when he perches atop a bush or on a fence. That is the best time to get a good look at him.

The male Scissor-Tailed Flycatcher is light grey, with a touch of white at the throat and a dash of salmon pink under his wings, on his sides, and beneath his tail. Almost hidden under the gray on his head is a tiny patch of red. He is from 13 to 15 inches long, including a tail that measures up to nine inches. The female is smaller and a bit duller in color.

The summer home of the Flycatcher, says the National Wildlife Federation, is from Nebraska southward through Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana and Mexico. It spends the winter months in Central America.

When they are in the States, the Flycatchers like to live in the open country. They want a few trees about, not for hiding places, but to use as lookout perches. They also build their nests in trees, about 15 feet off the ground.

The home of a Flycatcher family is carefully put together, but the building materials are soft pieces of plant fibers. It is a warm, comfortable nest in which they lay five small, creamy eggs which are spotted with brown.

It would be risky for a marauding bird to bother the eggs, because the Flycatcher likes nothing better than to dart at a larger foe and chase it away. In fact, the bird with the scissors goes out of his way at times to tease and pester other birds. It is nearly always in fun, though, and no harm is done.

While he may irritate his feathered neighbors now and then, the Scissor-Tailed Flycatcher is a real help to farmers. According to the National Wildlife Federation, he has a big appetite for grasshoppers, crickets and beetles. Despite his name, he eats few flies. Sometimes he goes to the ground in search of insects, but more often he catches them while they are buzzing through the air.

Interesting information on other wildlife species can be obtained by writing to the National Wildlife Federation, Washington 10, D. C.

Anti-Comms Gain

ROME, ITALY — Incomplete returns from Italy's local elections pushed communists out of the city halls of scores of cities and towns, including the important seaports of Genoa and Venice. The four anti-communist parties had polled a big enough majority to keep control for another 5-year term of all the 13 provincial capitals at present under their administration and in addition gained Genoa and Venice. Texas Crime Fight Closes Down Galveston Gambling Empire

AUSTIN.—Texas forged to the lead last week in its anti-crime campaign.

The greatest anti-gambling drive in recent Texas history gained speed when the house crime investigating committee held an open hearing on the Galveston gambling situation and Attorney General Price Daniel got a temporary injunction against telephoning the horse-race data to Galveston betting parlors.

The house crime committee heard ten Galveston officials and civic leaders; after hearing four members of Maceo and Co., the Galveston gambling group, at an open hearing in Austin Monday, June 26.

District Judge Jack Roberts of Austin granted Daniel's request for a temporary injunction against Maceo and Co., S. W. Bell Telephone Co. and S. W. Associated Telephone Co. The temporary injunction took the place of the 10-day restraining order the court had already slapped on the three companies.

Meanwhile, the multi-million dollar Maceo gambling empire shut down operations in other fields besides race betting as a result of the house crime committee hearings and the law suit.

Attorney General Daniel sharply denied published rumors that his blow at Galveston gambling had any political implications.

A Galveston Catholic clergyman, Monsignor Dan P. O'Connell, was quoted as saying that gamblers and business men there believed that Daniel wanted to run for office on a platform as "the man who cleaned up Galveston." Monsignor O'Connell emphasized that: "This is not my opinion. This is simply what I have been told."

Daniel pointed out that he had moved against gambling in seven other Texas cities since 1949, and that he did not intend to make an exception of Galveston.

The attorney general commented that "it is an old trick for those who feel the weight of the law to cry out 'politics' and 'persecution' in an attempt to turn public sentiment against law enforcement officials."
