Fruit Cakes For Servicemen

CHICAGO—C. J. Burny (left), Chicago, a governor of the American Bakers Association, and Bern Godde (right), former mayor of Battle Creek, Mich., and president of the Associated Retail Bakers of America, receive help from Hildegard as they prepare a shipment of fruit cake for Private Odell Lipscomb, serving overseas with the 93rd Engineers construction battalion, somewhere in Korea.

Pvt. Lipscomb wrote the ABA saying he misses "cake from Stateside." The shipment, provided by Purity Bakeries of Chicago, was sent from the cake branch session of the annual convention of the American Bakers Association here.

Hildegard included a note which read: "I hope you will enjoy the fruit cake—as I have, it is sent with appreciation and love for all you are doing for us. God bless you and your buddies. Love, Hildegard."

Now a $25 million per year business, fruit cakes made in the U. S. consume 2,000,000 lbs. of flour, 2,000,000 lbs. sugar, 1,300,000 lbs. shortening, 1,500,000 lbs. eggs, 57,500 lbs. non fat milk, 4,500,000 lbs. raisins, 2,000,000 lbs. pineapples, 2,500,000 lbs. cherries, 1,500,000 lbs. almonds, 2,500,000 lbs. pecans, 1,500,000 lbs. citron, 500,000 lbs. lemon and orange peel, 600,000 lbs. water, 60,000 lbs. salt and 20,000 lbs. spice.

Fruit cake preserves well, carries perfectly in shipment and will stand the long journey overseas to any part of the world.

Sun Rays Run Motor

Sunlight, lamplight or the heat of a small candle (left) is converted into enough electrical energy to spin the light flywheel (center) of the Sun Motor, a device now being shown throughout the country in the General Motors "Previews of Progress" science shows. Because the sun is nature's greatest power reservoir, GM engineers use this machine to illustrate how to harness an infinitely small portion of the power available in the sun's rays.

Scientists point out that enough sunshine drenches the roof of an average one-family dwelling in 30 minutes to light, heat and run the electrical appliances in that dwelling for an entire year. But as yet engineers and scientists haven't learned the secret of converting the sun's rays efficiently into energy for such household chores.

If a candle isn't available, the Sun Motor can be propelled by the beam of the 150-watt electric lamp (lower right) focused on a series of so-called photovoltaic cells (upper right). Energy from the light beam or ordinary sunlight is converted chemically into electrical energy by the cells and the electrical current spins the flywheel.

Although an extremely inefficient power converter, the Sun Motor demonstrates the principle that sunlight is power.

"STALIN'S MASTER PLAN"

Stalin does not want war—and he does not want peace. That is the theme of an unusually interesting feature article in U. S. News and World Report called "Stalin's Master Plan".

The broad basis of this plan is described in a subhead, which says: "A triple-threat combination is being tried by Stalin. Here's the way it works:

1. Keep Russia strong and ready.
2. Let others fight on the fringes.
3. Use Communist parties to soften non-Communist countries.

"The idea is to keep everybody on shaky ground between war and peace, try to conquer the world without firing a Russian shot."

As the magazine points out this master plan has been working extraordinarily well so far. Six years ago the Soviet dictatorship was confined to the 193,000,000 people who live within the USSR. Today the Kremlin bosses a huge empire with a population of more than 800,000,000. And, during that brief span of time, the number of people who may be regarded as allies of the United States has been more than cut in half—from 1,800,000,000 to 725,000,000.

The master plan has its roots in the relatively new concept of power called geopolitics. Russia sprawls astride the vast Eurasian land mass. As U. S. News puts it, "On this land mass are concentrated nearly four-fifths of the world's population and the greater part of the world's raw materials. Stalin seeks to dominate this land mass and, thus, to dominate the world."

Looking at the situation logically, there is every reason to believe that Stalin does not want a war directly involving Russia's armies—even as he does want "little wars" involving his satellites and the western nations. Korea, obviously, is the perfect example. It is the Chinese Communists who have fought and died, not Russian Communists. It is the Chinese Communists who have tied down the bulk of our military force and who have inflicted terrible casualties on our Army. Russia herself has not been weakened by one iota—her contribution to the war has been confined to a relatively modest amount of military equipment, much of it obsolete. And Korea finds its reflection in Indo-China and other places where native Communists are fighting troops of the western powers.

What is our counter-plan to all this? According to U. S. News, it "does not exist. There is arms aid to U. S. allies abroad. The United States itself is rearming. But the U. S. and allies find it hard to agree on strategy. And neutrals like India leave big gaps in Western defense lines."

Eventually, the magazine points out, the Western countries may take the initiative, and try to break up the satellite empire. Events and policies are definitely turning in that direction. In the meantime, Stalin is exploiting his master plan to the absolute limit—and no one can say that he has not been incredibly successful.

THE GYRFALCON

©National Wildlife Federation
 Gyrfalcon

Gyrfalcons are rugged birds. They have to be, for they live in the cold, barren Arctic and in northern Canada. Sometimes they venture southward, but few go as far as the northern U. S. Only once in a long while is a Gyrfalcon seen in our country.

In the bleak territory which they inhabit, the big birds perform like true members of the hawk and falcon family. They are among the fastest of all feathered fliers, and in their bag of aerial tricks are the skills of soaring and diving.

With a keen eye for prey, they arouse fear in the hearts of their neighbors—birds, rabbits, mice, shrews and other small animals. Many an unsuspecting creature has felt the swift, sure claws of a Gyrfalcon whose appetite was unsatisfied.

The struggle with a victim is usually short, because the Gyrfalcon is a large, powerful bird with strong feet and beak. He is from 20 to 25 inches long and has a heavy body. His wings, built for speed, are long and slim, and his tail is somewhat long, too.

Only experts can be sure of identifying him, says the National Wildlife Federation. This is partly because Gyrfalcons are so rarely seen, and partly because they come in different color combinations. Some are white, with broken bars of brown or black across their backs and wings. Others are darker, with mostly brown, gray or black feathers and only a bit of white.

The young make their appearance in a rough nest of sticks and twigs, built in a protected corner of a high cliff. There are three or four of them to a family. They are hatched from large buff or brownish eggs which are marked with reddish brown.

From their lofty home, they look out on a cold, forbidding land, where ice and snow never completely disappear. But they are husky babies right from the start, and soon they gain the thick layers of feathers which will protect them against wintry blasts.

Not long after leaving the nest, the young Gyrfalcon displays the flying skill for which their family is famous. Beating their wings in rapid flight or holding them outstretched while soaring, the young join their parents on patrols of the arctic skies.

Texas Top Ranking 4-H'ers

TRIPS to the 30th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago were given four Lone Star State club members for their outstanding records in the 1951 National 4-H Canning, Field Crops, Garden and Girls' Record programs. The state winners and brief outlines of their records follow:

Better methods of doing everyday homemaking skills proved to be a challenge to Patsy Harris, 16, of Plainview. Her selection as state winner in the 4-H Girls' Record program proves that this versatile young miss is a first-rate housekeeper and manager. Patsy has been in club work seven years and has completed 30 projects, among which are poultry, clothing, canning and home improvement. Her record shows 59 garments made, 2,588 jars of food canned, 630 chickens raised, as well as meal preparation and gardening. One of her favorite projects was the refinishing and upholstering of six pieces of furniture for her bedroom. She is active in all community activities, speaking before groups and on the local radio station and gives generously of her musical talents throughout the county. Montgomery Ward provided Patsy's trip award.

Growing a garden has served a three-fold purpose for Joyce Weber, 16, of Victoria, state winner in the 4-H Garden program. Joyce has supplied the family with a variety of fresh vegetables, reduced the cash outlay for food, at the same time promoting relaxation and good health. Her trip award was presented by Allis-Chalmers. During the four years she has carried gardening she has raised 3,265 pounds of food, canning 887 jars of it. She has also been in clothing for the seven years of her 4-H Club work and taught crafts not only to club girls but to adults as well. Mrs. Fonda Graham, county agent, says that Joyce is known throughout her community as a gracious hostess and for her winning smile.

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

For making an outstanding record in her food preservation project Virgie McCauley, 18, of Quitman, was named State champion in the 4-H Canning Achievement program. Experimenting with new ideas, she has broadened her knowledge of better homemaking methods through her 4-H art. Home canning also has made it easy to follow the nutrition yardstick and keep the budget low. During seven years in club work, she has canned 471 quarts of food; also made 95 garments, improved 24 bedroom articles, and carried a landscaping project for five years. Two years ago she entered East Texas State Teachers College but still carries 4-H demonstrations on canning and clothing and continues active in church work. Kerr Glass furnished funds for Virgie's trip to Chicago.

Utilizing improved field crop methods has earned state honors for Ray Riley, 16, of Hart, in the 4-H Field Crops program. Long hours and much effort went into learning good farm practices and expert use of farm machinery, but the increase per acre production of food, feed and fibre crops has more than compensated. Seven years in 4-H work, and much individual research and experiment, particularly in the field of seed selection, has brought Ray the title of the youngest licensed certified seed breeder in the State. He has completed 56 projects, is an outstanding leader and has trained judging teams for the last three years. A total of 230 acres in field crops has yielded him an average of 883 an acre. International Harvester provided Ray's Chicago trip award.
