Red Devils Smash Stanton, Meet Big Lake Here Tonight

The fast breaking Rankin Red Devil basketball team rolled over the Stanton Buffaloes 59-39 in the local gym Tuesday night. Stanton is a member of District 8-A, while Rankin comes from 89-B.

The Buffaloes were never in the game. Rankin grabbed an early lead and rolled it higher as the game progressed. Jimmy Yocham and Virgil Trower played an outstanding game for the victors. Bill Munselle and Bobby Goodwin did a bang up job under the backboards.

Rankin's "B" team came out best by a 40-28 score. This was a wild game with both teams the ball away many times.

The Big Lake Owls come to Rankin tonight with a determination to get revenge on the Devils for the beating handed them in the first game of the season. Rankin beat the Owls by a wide margin but the score does not give a true picture as to the closeness of the game. The Devils will get their stiffest test thus far in the season tonight.

The Red Devils have set one of the toughest schedules in the school's history. The remaining schedule is as follows:

- Dec. 9—Stanton, here.
- Dec. 11—Lakeview, here.
- Dec. 12—Iraan, here.
- Dec. 18—Ozona, here.

The first Chrysler equipped with Chrysler Corporation's newly developed automobile air conditioning unit has been delivered to a Houston, Texas, buyer. The new unit—the highest capacity air conditioning system yet developed for use in passenger automobiles and the first in the industry to be quantity produced—is a result of 13 years of research. Drawing 25 percent of its air supply from outside the car, this fresh air system gives the fastest cool-down time of any unit yet developed. The picture shows J. H. Horn, sales manager of Judd-Manroe Motors of Houston, Texas, explaining the unit's operation to Mrs. Arden R. Judd, the first buyer of a car so equipped.

Mechanization Makes Farming Attractive

It has been only a generation since the First World War started. On the average farm at that time there was a "hired man" who received a modest wage plus room and board. He helped with the chores, such as milking, and the ordinary work of the farm which was largely done with human and animal labor.

That war swallowed men by the millions, and when it was over, many of them never returned to the farm. The Second World War imposed far greater strains on our manpower. At a time when farms had to produce record crops, the labor shortage was a devastating problem. The thing that saved the day was the ability of our industries to turn out labor-saving machines for peace as well as the weapons for war.

On the average farm today the "hired man" is virtually a thing of the past. Horses have disappeared. The tractor which uses fuel only while it works, instead of 365 days in the year, is the mode of power. The milking machine has taken the place of hand labor. Everything from land preparation, harvesting, irrigation, drainage, etc., is done by power equipment.

The ingenuity of our country's farm machinery manufacturers has enabled the family farm to become the backbone of our nation's food supply. Crops can go in on time with a minimum of labor. The elimination of back-breaking drudgery has made farming more attractive to boys. They can see an independent future in it as a real business.

THERE AREN'T ENOUGH RICH PEOPLE

If you are still gullible enough to believe that we can pay most or even a substantial part of the incredible cost of government by "soaking the rich," some facts that Senator Walter George presented in a Look magazine article will come as a rude awaker.

If Congress confiscated all taxable income over $100,000, by imposing a flat 100 per cent tax at that level, the amount of additional revenue would be sufficient to operate the Federal government for four hours.

If all taxable income over $26,000 were confiscated, the yield would run the government for three days.

If everything above $10,000 was taken in toto by the tax collector, it would pay the government's bills for 16 days.

Finally, if Congress shot the works by imposing a 100 per cent tax on all income above $8,000, the additional revenue would keep the government going for 22 days.

This being true, who must pay the great bulk of the government's spending—and who must pay almost all of future tax increases if they come? The answer is, people of small and moderate means—the people who work for wages and moderate salaries, the people who have little businesses, the people who represent the majority of America's population and the backbone of America's strength.

They must pay for the simple reason that no one else can. There just aren't enough "rich" to make a dent in the government's spending.

HOW ABOUT IT, NATURE?

If profits are evil, somebody ought to speak sharply to nature!

That is the theme of a striking advertisement which a machinery manufacturer recently ran in a business magazine.

It pointed out that "The very existence of the world depends on profits; the improvement of the world depends on big profits," and used agriculture as an illustration. A farmer plants one potato and gets back about 15—for a profit of more than 1,000 per cent. He plants a pound of corn and gets back 338 pounds—a profit of 33,600 per cent. "To legislate against profits is as silly as to legislate against things growing," the advertisement said in conclusion.

Moreover, there has been a great deal of misrepresentation and exaggeration of the profits earned by our typical businesses. In case after case they are lower—very much lower—than the left-wingers and other enemies of free enterprise want us to believe. A good current example is the meat industry, which has come in for much criticism because of the price we pay for its products. On the average, the profit earned by the meat packers has been running at substantially less than one cent out of each dollar of sales. Certainly, this is as low as profit can get and still exist. Actually, in the case of the packers, profits have been so small as to stand in the way of needed plant expansion programs.

In any event, those who denounce profits as evil fly in the face of history and fact. Profits—or the hope of profits—make men take chances and create jobs and opportunities. Profits—or the hope of profits—were and are a basic element in creating and maintaining our living standards. Profits—or the hope of profits—are a cornerstone of our strength and vigor as a free nation in a world of conflict.

REPORTS CITE GAME ARRESTS

AUSTIN.—The Director of Law Enforcement for the Game and Fish Commission said the latest arrest reported accurately portrays some of the "don'ts" for big game hunters now swarming through the Texas deer and turkey haunts.

The report, covering prosecutions for October, shows how close to 500 people got into trouble. "Many of the offenses," said the Director, "are the type of offenses that may tempt big game hunters."

He cited cases involving shooting game out of season such as doves and quail; shooting deer at night; shooting fawn or doe deer; possessing deer, evidence of sex missing; possessing more than the legal limit; hunting from automobile; hunting with unplugged shotgun, and hunting with headlights.

The report coincided with an observation by the director that the newly equipped warden force is using two-way radio and better trained personnel to check on the wayward hunters.

The total of fines and court costs for the 493 cases was $12,875.75 compared with 320 cases and $8,462.98 for October last year and 303 cases and $10,788.90 for the previous month this year.

Justices of the peace were stern with many offenders, according to the Director. He cited the case of two Baytown men who paid close to $1,000 for killing a buck and a doe out of season. They got $200 for killing a doe, $200 for killing a buck, $200 for trespassing, $100 for possessing doe meat, $100 for possessing buck meat, all plus costs. And the radio network whereby a warden in one county flushed the pair and notified the warden in the next county was responsible for the seizure.

State Health Officer Warns Against Deadly Carbon Monoxide

AUSTIN.—"You can't see it . . . you can't smell it . . . you can't taste it, and yet it can kill you," said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, referring to carbon monoxide. A silent enemy, it strikes its victims in closed rooms, garages and cars where wood, coal, gasoline, or natural gas is burning.

Some victims of this silent poisoner never knew their life was in danger. As others died, they may have realized that the killer was at hand, but were helpless to do anything about it. They were so benumbed that they could not get out into the fresh air; they could not walk or even stand up. Those who escape death, once this silent killer permeates a closed room, garage or automobile, are rescued by someone who discovers their plight.

Carbon monoxide is given off when coal, wood, gasoline or natural gas is burning, but not all the gas is burned. Its danger is greatest in cold weather because people tend to close their homes and cars so tight that no fresh air can circulate. When this happens, carbon monoxide accumulates to a dangerous concentration. It kills because it prevents the victim from getting enough oxygen.

To help prevent such deaths, all stoves should be vented, keep heated rooms ventilated, do not leave gas heaters burning while you and your family are asleep, do not entirely close all the windows in your car and do not run your car in a closed garage.

Whether your stoves, heaters and your car serve you and family usefully, capably and safely, or whether they become agencies of death, depend upon how wisely you use them.

Remember, ventilate at all times.

VET'S QUESTIONS WITH ANSWERS

Q: I've been totally disabled for six months, and I applied to VA for a waiver of my National Service Life Insurance premiums. Now that I have applied, may I stop paying my premiums?

A: No. You should continue to pay your premiums regularly, as they become due, until you have received word from VA that you are entitled to waiver. In that way you will avoid the possibility of your insurance lapsing, in case your claim is not granted.

Q: Does the $310-a-month ceiling under the Korean G. I. Bill apply to all types of training?

A: No. It applies only to veterans training on-the-job. It means that if a job trainee's monthly allowance plus his earnings as a trainee exceed $310 a month, VA will reduce the allowance accordingly.

Q: I was under age when I enlisted in the Army during World War II. I was in for six months before the Army found out and sent me home. Would that service entitle me to a GI loan?

A: Yes. A veteran whose enlistment was cancelled because he was under age is entitled to eligibility credit for GI loans.

Q: Are there any types of courses not permitted under the Korean GI Bill education and training program?

A: Yes. Courses in bartending, dancing and personality development are prohibited by law, and cannot be approved under any conditions.

Help Sought For Children Of Korea

"How Can We Help?" was the question of a seventh grader, Johnny Nicholas, put to McCamey's John Marquis, when Marquis had finished telling about the effort of the 40th Infantry Division to rehabilitate the children of the Kapyong area.

The question is simple and sensible, Marquis, discharged on September, from two years service in the 40th Infantry Division, related that Kapyong lies just south of the 38th parallel on one of the main roads between east and west Korea. The Communists had bombed the place; then came the United Nations to force the Communists back. The Communists took with them all able-bodied men and women, leaving the younger children and the very old behind.

The 40th Infantry Division was sent up along the road, passing through Kapyong. Here they discovered little children living under bridges, in dugouts, and in out-of-the-way places.

A Civil Affairs Committee was organized under the supervision of the headquarters section of the 40th Infantry Division. The men of the 40th Infantry contributed $1 each, raising $2,400, to build a school for these children.

Because there are more than 300 children in the town of Kapyong and the building is only 56x30, the school is open seven days a week with a staggered program.

Marquis said winter brings weather below freezing most of the time in Kapyong. Children are scantily clad. Few have shoes, wearing various sizes picked up off a battlefield, or cast off by GIs.

Some wrap their feet in paper or old clothes. Soap is scarce.

How can we help?

(1) Earmark a care package for The Students of the Kenneth Kaiser High School.

The Commanding General Headquarters, 40th Infantry Division, APO 6, co. Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif.

2. Send a Thanksgiving check addressed to the above.

3. Place an outgrown coat or jacket or any other warm clothing in a box at the Baptist Church before the Thanksgiving service.

4. Place warm clothing in a box at the McCamey Chamber of Commerce.

Your offering will be gratefully accepted by the 40th Infantry and the children of the Kenneth High School at Kapyong, Korea.

Of this school in Korea the commanding general of the 40th Infantry Division writes:

"We of the 40th Infantry Division are very proud of this project, and your assistance, coming as it does from American children of the same ages as those in Kapyong, makes us feel especially good—we accept it with gratitude."
