Rankin Methodist Church --

Shurley to Fill Pit Sunday Night

Shurley will preach evening, July 22, at the worship service of the Methodist Church. The Reverend Austin Mas-instructors for this group at the camp this week where enrollment is restricted to a total of 200 girls and 125 boys.

Clearance Sale To Continue at Johnsons

L. Porter Johnsons have announced that their big July Clearance Sale is still on.

The annual sale opened last Thursday with an almost capacity crowd on hand to gather in bargains that ranged from mens white dress shirts and a selection of shoes for $1 to ladies dresses where you bought one at the regular price and got another for $1.

Mr. Johnson said that there are still some fine bargains on sale at the store. A few of these items are pointed out in an advertisement appearing in this issue of The News. Of particular interest to the wise shopper is one group of dresses for toddlers to teens—girls and ladies—all at half price.

Coaching Staff Change Seen For Rankin High

Changes in the coaching staff for Rankin Schools appeared almost definite this week when it was learned that Boone Wilkening, head basketball coach has submitted a letter of resignation to the school board.

The board will likely take up the matter at its next meeting in August and decide on the release of the coach and high school teacher from his contract. Wilkening came to Rankin last year and served as head boys basketball coach and as an assistant football coach as well as a high school teacher. His basketballers showed marked improvement over their previous two years performances.

Wilkening will go into a full-time selling position.

It has also been learned that Coach Don Leach, presently out of town attending summer school, will start his fall football practices on August 20. The first game of the season will be with Bronte, played here, on September 7. Rankin will be playing in a new district this year composed of Eldorado, Sanderson, Big Lake, Ozona, Iraan and Rankin. Other practice games will include Coahoma, Crane, Alpine and Mc-Camey. One open date appears on October 5 on the schedule, giving the Red Devils a 10-game series for the season.

"B" games have been scheduled between McCamey, Ozona, Big Lake, Monahans, Iraan and Crane with two games each with McCamey and Iraan, making an 8-game series for the "B" squad.

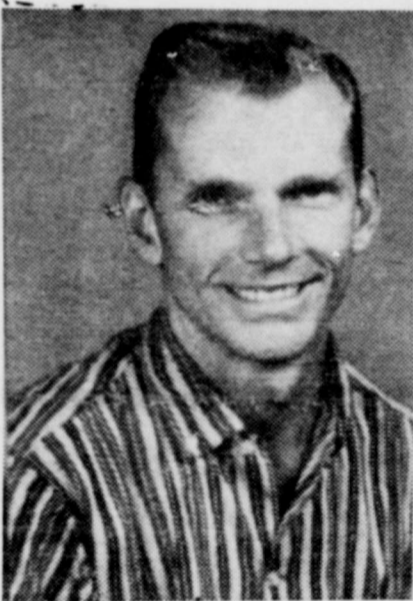

Their first game will be with McCamey, to be played here on September 13.

Junior High games call for contests with McCamey, Big Lake, Crane and Iraan with two games each except Crane, giving a 7-game schedule for Junior High footballers.

Their first game will also be played here on September 13.

The 1962-63 boys and girls basketball schedule has also been worked out with games to be played with Garden City, Wink, McCamey, Sterling City, Monahans, Marathon, Big Lake, Grandfalls, Iraan, Sanderson, Eldorado, Ozona and Big Lake. Several tournaments are included in the play.

In district competition, only the Rankin, Sanderson, Crane and Eldorado schools field a girls' team.

Rankin Teacher Completes Austin Training Course

Mr. A. C. Copeland, Rankin High School teacher, is participating in the second Texas Instructional Media Summer Workshop in Austin, according to Mr. W. T. Kinnell, Director of the Division of Instructional Media of the Texas Education Agency. Mr. Copeland and family had returned to Rankin this week.

Approximately 50 educators in the state are engaged in the month-long workshop, learning of new teaching techniques and for training in the use of new teaching media. Half the group is in training to appear on Texas Instructional Media Project regional conference programs next year; members of the other group are school-sponsored and are preparing for such activities as faculty workshops within their own local school system. Mr. Copeland will be available for instruction to the area schools next year.

He is preparing lesson plans and teaching demonstrations based upon his study of educational County Agent, Upton County

THE BEAUTIES—

Well, by now each of us should be thoroughly versed in the fine art of selecting Miss Dishwater of 1962 what with just about all the newspapers, magazines and tv programs plugging some sort of beauty contest to name Miss Susie Cutie from Podunk as the new queen.

All this may be well and good and may even appeal to some of the populace but I for one fail to see much benefit for all the money spent in staging these so-called "queen contests"—from the little jerkwater towns to the big Miss Universe Contest it all looks like a bunch of skinny, scared teen-age kids poured into bathing suites and put on public display.

And for what? Is the young lady finally selected really the most talented, the most beautiful and the most deserving girl from—say, in the case of the Miss Universe Contest—in all Argentinia and in all the universe or does she just happen to be one who had the means and backing to be put forward? How do we now there is not some poor, obscure peasant girl out in the flatlands of the Argentine who couldn't knock all the shine of the current queen and have enough left over to help out some of the runners-up? And how can you honestly rate as many contestants as were in that one event and come up with just one that is supposed to be tops?

The only part of the contest that I watched was the bathing suit competition (wow!) and for my money the judges either goofed or had some inside information that was not made available to the tv watchers.

But what the heck—I guess if folks who sponsor such contests want to poop off their money in that fashion, it's all right with me. At least the Feds have not subsidized any contests so far—that we know about.

It does seem, however, that the money spent on a beauty contest might do a lot more good if it were taken out to some poor section of a town and used to clean up some of the dirt and help a kid or two who will never have much of a chance to acquire any of the nicer things—like a new dress, some soap and a few lessons in good manners and proper social etiquette.

IT IS A SMALL WORLD—

Last week they flung out into space a little gadget called Telstar that makes it possible to talk by telephone to someone in Europe almost as easily as calling next door—or will when the people running the works get everything perculating. Bell Telephone put up a big hunk of the money for this job and there can be little doubt about its eventual success since these people hardly ever lay out the long green unless they're pretty sure of what they are doing.

They also say that it will be possible to see live tv programs from such places as France, Italy, Germany, etc. Now that ought to be real interesting—if one is fluent in the language that happens to be broadcasting. And it will be a fine chance for us to get even with the Russians by beaming some of our tv programs onto them. That would be a dirty trick, however, to pull on even a communist.

WHAT'S NEW—

It may be that some really are looking for new happenings or it may be that they just want to rub it in but of late I've had a rather large number of readers

New "TELSTAR" relays phone calls and TV pictures for first time!

Bell System microwave-in-sky satellite is latest communications triumph for America arising from telephone research

The world's first private enterprise communications satellite is now being used for dramatic experiments in relaying telephone calls and television internationally.

Its name: Telstar. It was launched from Cape Canaveral at Bell System expense by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Telstar receives signals beamed to it from a ground station, amplifies them and transmits them to another station on the ground below—perhaps an ocean away from the first one. The new satellite thus acts as a microwave relay station in the sky, enabling voices, TV pictures and data messages to leap thousands of miles in a new and exciting way.

The ground stations in the U.S. now being used for Telstar were built by the Bell System at Andover, Maine, and Holmdel, New Jersey.

Telstar is a first major experimental step toward a worldwide satellite communications system that was first proposed as a practical venture at Bell Telephone Laboratories. Progress toward such a system would not have reached its present state without continuing research and development by the private communications industry.

Above all else, Telstar is the latest achievement in an unending Bell System quest—the search for ways to make your telephone service still better, more economical, and more useful.

Satellite Will Benefit Rankin Residents

A small satellite hundreds of miles in outer space is sending signals to earth in tests that will lead to better communications services for Rankin residents.

The satellite, Telstar, is the Bell Telephone System's pioneer in the new frontier of space communications. Telstar tests will help pave the way for a worldwide satellite communications network to send overseas phone calls, live television and other signals. The satellites will receive and retransmit signals, much as overland microwave systems do in today's long distance calling.

Telstar was successfully launched from Cape Canaveral by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration which is co-operating with the Bell System in the experiments. The Bell System will repay NASA for the Telstar launching costs, about $3 million.

Rankin television viewers will have opportunity to see Telstar's work first hand in a series of live telecasts planned between this country and Europe. Television signals will be sent from ground stations in England and France to Telstar and retransmitted to the Bell System's ground station at Andover, Maine. American programs will also be sent to Europe via Telstar.

Live overseas telecasts have not been possible up to now because ocean cable and radio systems in use don't have the transmission capacity for the signals.

Major experiments involve sending signals from the main ground station to another Bell Station at

The Rankin (Tex.) News—
Thursday, July 19, 1962

Holmdel, New Jersey, via the satellite. Telephone calls, video tape signals, facsimile news photographs and high-speed data signals are being transmitted in these tests.

In addition to communications transmission, Telstar gathers technical information on outer space as it orbits the earth at altitudes up to 3,500 miles. These findings will be shared with scientists throughout the world to help advance the peaceful use of space.

Upton County Sends Seven To NTSU

DENTON, JULY 21 — Upton County was represented by seven students at North Texas State University in the school year just ended, the Registrar's Office has announced.

During the nine-month session, a total of 10,065 different students were enrolled. They came from 212 of the state's 254 counties, from 45 other states and from eleven foreign nations.

Texas higher education added 10,180 students last fall, and 1,355 of these were at NTSU. The U. S. Office of Education reported a national enrollment increase of 7.8 per cent in the past year. North Texas gain was 18 per cent.

Satellite - -

Built by Bell Telephone Laboratories, Telstar is a 170-pound satellite, just under three feet in diameter. It carries more than 10,000 electronic parts and this gear amplifies signals 10 billion times for their return trip to earth.

A number of Bell Laboratories inventions, including the transistor and solar batteries, are essential to Telstar's operation. The small transistors make possible the satellite's complex circuitry. Telstar is lined with 3,600 solar battery cells that convert sunlight into electricity for the satellite's power supply.

SATELLITE TALK—Telstar, the Bell Telephone System's first communications satellite, is now orbiting the earth at 16,000 miles per hour. White lines show how signals for phone calls, live television and other communications are sent from a ground station to the satellite and retransmitted to another earth station. Electronic gear on Telstar boosts signals 10 billion times for their return trip to earth. Telstar tests will help pave the way for a worldwide satellite communications system.
