WOODWORK

BY DALTON

EATING PECANS is not of like eating chicken, except the pecans taste better. But in each case, the eating, no matter how good, is just not worth it.

Chicken, for example, is pretty good, but by the time you gnaw around on the bone, you've got a little bit of meat, and grease all over your face, and in spite of all the contortions you go to trying to get the good parts separated from the bone, you usually wind up biting down on a bone.

Exceptions, of course, include gizzard, which chews like a nutcracker. OR The Shell. I also like the pulley bone, which some folks call the wishbone, and which is pretty easy to separate good from bad.

To me, eating chicken is just more trouble than it's worth, and if you want a real mess, try it barbecued.

Pecans offer another frustrating food. But pecans are so good, I eat them in spite of all my complaints. Little pecans just aren't worth fooling with. But big ones, paper shell, one can eat. What you do is take a couple of them and squeeze them in the palm, and just when you think it ought to be called iron shell instead of paper shell, it gives way suddenly and you smash it into little gibslets all over your hand. Then you throw it away and crack another.

Then you start digging. You see a big half pecan that looks delicious. By the time you get it out, it is in 17 pieces and your thumb is beginning to hurt. Finally, triumphantly, you have the kernel separated from the shell and you eat it. Delicious, but just barely enough to taste, so you tackle another one feverishly, mouth watering, and this just gives you another tantalizing taste, so you've got to try another. Pretty soon your thumb is raw and bleeding and you have to quit.

Of course, if you have the will power to wait, you can shell 15 or 20 pecans before you even taste them, and after 30 minutes of shelling, you can take two big delicious mouthfuls, and that way you may figure it was almost worth it.

I remember one time I shelled out a pile of goodies like that once, anticipating a real good bite, and some fiend came along and swiped the pile and ate it. I exercised remarkable restraint and only hit her twice.

Vandals, Burglars Busy In Sudan

At least part of Sudan's "holiday crime wave" was cleared up this week when three Sudan men, ranging in age from 20 to about 23, admitted cutting valve stems off tires on cotton trailers parked at the Watkins Gin yard last Friday night.

The trio, which spent two nights in city jail after being arrested by Deputy Homer McLaury and Marshal Tom Hamilton, each paid fines of $100 and costs when private property before justice of the Peace A. B. Jenkins.

The three also paid the gin $25 for repairs to the trailers.

Although they were questioned in regard to another reported incident of vandalism, the young men denied any connection with the shooting of a .22 caliber gun at two planes parked at Sudan airport. This incident occurred last Thursday, and an estimated $500 damage was listed by the

Pioneer Couple In Sudan Die

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Linton, residents of Sudan since 1925, died within one week of each other at Knight Rest Home, Littlefield. Mrs. Ida B. Linton died about 6 p. m. Tuesday, Dec. 31, and A. D. Linton died at noon Tuesday, Jan. 7. He was 90 and she was 88 years old.

Services for Mr. Linton are scheduled at 2 p. m. today (Thursday) at Sudan Church of Christ, with Mickey Blake, minister, officiating. Burial will be in Sudan Cemetery under direction of Payne Funeral Home, Amherst.

The Lintons came to Sudan in 1925, and for several years they operated a hotel and dining room across from the present Sudan post office. They married in Dallas County in 1918.

Services for Mrs. Linton, a former nurse, were conducted Jan. 2, with Mickey Blake officiating at the Church of Christ.

Her survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Ora S. Rife and Mrs. J. E. Castleman, both of Glen Rose; one niece, Mrs. Alton Parker of Odessa; eight other nieces and nine nephews.

Palbearers were Weaver Barrett, Frank Rose, Noel Lumpkin, Loyd Gilreath, Chester Harvey and Connie Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. House Jr. and Mrs. W. B. Arnold visited over the holidays at Graham, Bowie and Newport.

vandalism had cost them several hundred dollars more.

In addition to the vandalism, seven Sudan businesses were burglarized last week, five of them on New Year's Eve, and the other two the following night. In each instance, entry was gained by breaking a window or forcing the door. The firms hit, and their losses:

Robinson Motor Co. — about $10 taken, plus a portable typewriter.

Sudan Automatic Laundry — undetermined amount taken from coin machine and one washer. Wm. Mills — electric calculator valued at $250, table model radio.

MAGCO — electric typewriter valued at $250.

Doty's Garage — nothing missing, but some vandalism, including damage to tools estimated at more than $300.

Sudan Variety Store — $23 in cash from register, including $12 in quarters.

Higginbotham-Bartlett — nothing reported missing.

Officers have some leads in the burglaries, but nothing conclusive was reported.

To top it all off, two men engaged in a wild fistfight at Sands Cafe and were fined for disturbance.

Girl Cagers To Play Sudan Men's Team

The All-American Redheads, a team of girls basketball players which plays only men's teams — by men's rules — will meet a team of Sudan teachers and ex-students at the school gymnasium at 8 p. m. Saturday.

Sponsored by the Student Council, the game will pit the red-headed girls against a team including Wayne Potter, Jimmy Alup, Dempsey Watkins, Ralph Stewart, Dale Masten, Bobby Smith and Don Dyles, according to Stewart.

Admission to the game will be $1 for adults and high school students and 50 cents for children.

The Redheads feature the tallest girl in basketball, 6-foot-7 Rosalie "Bo Peep" Kaschmitter from Idaho. The team averages playing a game a night, and last year defeated 129 men's teams, mixing humorous antics in with some fancy basketball. Organized in 1936, the group has played before more than 5,000,000 fans and has been featured in magazines and on television.

At halftime, the Redheads will present a special show "of basketball comedy featuring every girl on the team".

Scripture: II Corinthians 4:3-10, 14-18; St. Matthew 27:32.
"For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus, the Lord..."
But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency of the power may be of God, and not of us."
"For if our gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost."
Do you really know Jesus as your personal Savior and Lord, and Friend, and Great High Priest? Do you see with the spiritual sight He gives, even to Him standing at the right hand of the throne of Power, the mercy seat, interceding for you and me?
Do you feel yourself in His presence, feel Him near you, yet also know His omnipresence—here and everywhere? Do you look to Jesus in prayer, and in the record of Him and His way, which is in the Bible?

the suffering, the agony, the sorrow, the hopelessness and despair—the "lostness" of people without Christ, I am compelled by the love of Jesus and my love for people to tell them of this gospel news which is hid from the world. Then just maybe the light which has shined in my heart may shine forth in the darkness to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

Oh, that my knowledge of Jesus—my knowledge that Jesus saves and keeps us from death and hell into eternal life could be transplanted into you!

How can I "shoot from the housetop" this good news of how to live eternally? How can I share with you this glorious know-

By God's love, mercy, forgiving grace, are you saved, through your faith to believe that Jesus is the Son of God who came to seek and to save us who were lost!

Will you believe? Will you follow Jesus? For He seeks you in everlasting love; not willing that even one of us should perish. Take Jesus now, and learn of Him as you walk step by step with Him all the way back Home! Jesus! He is the only One who can give you abundant, eternal life.

SHORT AND SWEET

Americans have a taste for sweets—the average person eats more than 17 pounds of candy a year... Candy has a higher consumption in cold areas—for instance, in the high altitude states of Utah and Wyoming the rate is 34 pounds a year while in sweltering Mississippi the figures show a low eight pounds per year... Its intake also seems to be highest among young boys from 10 to 17 who eat from 2 to 5 or more candy bars a week... Candy takes its name from the Persian word for sugar, kandisafid... The earliest recipe on record is in the files of the Egyptians who used honey and spices and herbs as candy 4,000 years ago...

The world's smallest republic, San Marino, is in the heart of Italy and covers only 38 square miles... Because of accumulations of sediment on its bottom, Lake Michigan is growing 3 inches shallower every 100 years... Walls in South Africa's deepest gold mine which is about 2 miles deep are so hot that a half-million-dollar air conditioning plant is required to keep miners from roasting...

The number of permutations possible on a 10-ball ring is 3,628,800... It would take 100 days... The human ear stops hearing at a 20,000 cycles-per-second range, dogs at 50,000 and bats at 90,000.

QUEEN BEES are not really leaders, according to Dr. Roger A. Merson-Davies of Cornell University. It is true that the flight will not move without her but the secret lies tell the swarm where to go and, normally, the queen follows.

The great highway performer

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury-Chevrolet

What does it take to make a car a great highway performer? If the car happens to be a '64 Chevrolet, one thing only. A highway. You'll find everything else already neatly packaged for you — on the car exactly as you pick it off the showroom floor. There's a choice of seven engines — all the way up to a twin-carb high-compression 425-hp V8* — and four transmissions, including a finely honed 4-speed stick shift.* And underlying it all — a bump-skimming Jet-smooth ride that helps keep the performance great even when the highways aren't so great.

What about special performance equipment? Professional driving skills? Forget them. Nobody has to doctor or coax or soup up these Chevrolets to get the best out of them. And that's really the test of a great highway performer: Just about anyone can get a kick out of driving one, just about anywhere, just as it comes out of the showroom. Next time you're out your dealer's way, allow a few extra minutes to sample one of these highway performers on your own. A few Jet-smooth rides that help keep you really all you'll need. That's enough time to do a lot of driving in a Chevrolet. *Optional at extra cost.

Dyer To Seek Reelection As Lamb Sheriff

This newspaper has been authorized to announce the candidacy of Dick Dyer for re-election as Lamb County Sheriff.

Following is Dyer's formal announcement.

"To my friends, the citizens of Lamb County, I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the people of Lamb County for their past support and cooperation. I have tried, at all times, to make you the kind of sheriff I would want for my family and myself."

"I feel I am better qualified to make your sheriff now than I have ever been, at least I intend to try my best to do so. It is impossible for me to get out and see each and every one of you, and to visit in your homes and places of business as I would like to do, but you are now paying me as your sheriff and it wouldn't be right for me to neglect my duties and get out and wage a full fledged campaign on your money."

"I think you know I am trying to take care of my job which I hired out to do, and my platform is based on my past record. If you desire to reelect me to the office of Sheriff of Lamb County I will continue to do my best to stay on the job and see that our laws are enforced in an efficient and courteous manner."

"I will certainly appreciate your active SUPPORT and your VOTE on the 2nd of May."

Very sincerely yours,
Dick Dyer
Sheriff, Lamb Co.

Farm Bureau Seeks End Of Agriculture Controls

A national farm leader has called on the new administration to reassess the unsatisfactory experience with a government-controlled economy in agriculture and take steps to permit greater freedom for the market to operate.

"Farmers are ready to lead the way," Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, asserted.

Mr. Shuman said that farmers "have indicated in many ways their rejection of a government-managed agriculture—they ask only to be unshackled and given the opportunity to produce for consumers rather than for politicians."

He added that "Farm Bureau will gladly cooperate with the administration in any sincere re-evaluation of government agricultural programs and policies. "The time is here," he said, "to clear the decks for competition in both domestic and world markets," but he pointed out that if farmers are to do this, "it is imperative that the entire national economy be more definitely market-oriented."

Mr. Shuman said that "clearing the decks for competition" will not be accomplished "merely by blocking new attempts to increase government intervention in agriculture," but "existing government production control devices and artificial pricing mechanisms" must be eliminated as rapidly as possible.

"We may never find a better time than now to dispose of these legalistic and costly structures which have become such a burden on farmers and taxpayers alike," he said.

Medicare Would Cost $35 Billion Congress Is Told

WASHINGTON—Enactment of the Administration's Medicare health program (King-Anderson Bill) will cost $35 billion for benefits to the aged eligible for treatment, the American Medical Association has told Congress.

Testifying before the House Ways and Means Committee, the AMA said that this huge outlay would be necessary to pay for the health care for the rest of the lives of the elderly qualified to take part in the program at the start even though they would have paid little, or nothing, under the program.

Other arguments against the measure that have been presented to the Committee include the following:

1. The resulting Social Security Tax increase would have to be double the amount proposed by the Administration.
2. This proposed boost comes at a time when the Administration is urging Congress to lower personal and corporate income taxes as an incentive to economic growth.
3. There is no justification for the use of tax funds collected from workers at the low end of the income scale to pay medical expenses for the entire elderly population, including the self-supporting and the wealthy.
4. The aged who need help in meeting medical bills are already receiving it through private health insurance, through public funds and through self-financing.

A majority of the voters opposed passage of the King-Anderson bill in 34 polls conducted by senators and congressmen to ascertain the sentiment of their constituents, according to Rep. Tom Curtis (R-Mo.).

March of Dimes Plans to Double Birth Defects and Arthritis Centers

Announcing plans to double the present number of March of Dimes birth defects and arthritis centers in the nation, the world's most successful voluntary health organization this week launched its traditional January fund-raising appeal.

Basil O'Connor, president of The National Foundation-March of Dimes, which financed development of both polio vaccines, said the goal this year would be $45 million, "a sum our medical and scientific advisers agree we can wisely use to combat the ravages of these crippling diseases. This sum would apply to patient care, research, professional and public education."

The March of Dimes now supports some 77 birth defects and arthritis treatment centers across the country. According to Dr. William S. Clark, director of the medical department of The National Foundation-March of Dimes, the national dimensions of the health problems posed by birth defects and arthritis "have grown to a point where this nation requires at least 150 centers for birth defects and 50 for arthritis."

"Through the generosity of the American people, we will build up our chapter and center programs across the United States to meet their needs. Our offensive against both these crippling afflictions will be redoubled in 1964."

Leading in this offensive will be the members of the 3,000 March of Dimes chapters in the nation plus the volunteers who enlist—an expected army of two million people. The campaign continues throughout January and culminates with the Mothers' March during which some 15 million homes are visited from coast to coast. In addition, a total of 36 million "mailers" are distributed nationally to inform families of the health aims of the March of Dimes and they also serve as a means of returning contributions to local chapters. The herculean task of addressing these envelopes regionally is usefully assumed by volunteers—thousands of teenagers, homemakers, grandmothers. Helping to dramatize the campaign will be the cross-country tour of winsome Mary Lou Graves, 5, of Flint, Mich., who was born with an open spine, since repaired, and who developed excess water on the brain, another birth defect which has now rectified itself. Mary Lou, however, is paralyzed in the legs but moves with surprising alacrity with leg braces, crutches and her wheel chair. In addition to vivacious Mary Lou as the National March of Dimes Child, many states, counties and municipalities across the country designate their own March of Dimes Child symbolizing the aims of their local campaigns. In her travels this month, accompanied by her parents, Mary Lou is scheduled to call upon President Lyndon B. Johnson at the White House and has already visited with many Senators, Congressmen, Governors and other high officials. The pretty five-year-old has "interviewed" the heads of such influential national organizations as the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Elks, Rotary, Kiwanis and other service clubs including the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets, Catholic War Veterans, Jewish War Veterans and others. An estimated total of 250,000 infants are born each year in the United States with serious birth defects. This is equivalent to one in 16 births, or 700 children a day. Of the quarter million total, more than 30,000 die, including stillbirths. As to arthritis, the other major health area in which the March of Dimes leads the attack, fully 11 million Americans are tormented by one or another form of this, the Nation's No. 1crippler.

WOODWORK

(SPORTS VERSION)

I RECEIVED A letter from a University of Texas student which is sort of long, but which I think I should print here, since it concerns this column. The letter follows, just as I received it, except for the numbers in parentheses I have inserted in order to answer at the end of this the various comments made by the writer, who is a pretty sharp young man especially around the knees and elbows.

Dear Mr. Wood,

Re the Woodwork column of Dec. 5, especially the last paragraph; in your column you may print your opinions on whatever subject you desire, whether they are wrong or right; but I think it is not only my privilege, but also my duty to point out to you one case in which you are mistaken.

(1) You stated that the officials wanted to make sure the team ranked No. 1 in the nation was from the Southwest Conference. I do not know the officials involved, (2) but I do know that a No. 1 ranking for Texas existed for six weeks before the Texas A and M game. This rating I am sure did not come from any Southwest Conference officials. There were many reasons, not the least of which was nine victories without a defeat or tie.

(3) Concerning the call itself: I am sure you will agree that you did not have a better position to the play than did the officials. If you will remember, there were think some credit should be given to a team that waded through mud, 3 fumbles, and rain to come from behind and score two touchdowns in the last 14 minutes to win the game. (7)

I am sure that most of your opinion was formed after looking at the AP photo that was in most newspapers. I agree that it looks like the man had control of the ball inside the end zone, but if you will look at the two pictures, in the same sequence immediately following the one AP sent out, I think you would have believed the catch to have been made out of the end zone. (8)

Thank you for your time. (9)

Sincerely,
Bennett Hutobinson

My answer to all that follows; with each comment keyed to its proper spot in the letter

1. Why is it that people always feel it's their duty to point out my mistakes?
2. Me neither.
3. A point well taken.
4. I was only two yards from the TV set.
5. Fastest frameup in the west.
6. Ever hear of the Gag Rule?
7. Oh, come now. Sounds like the postmaster general (neither rain, nor sleet nor snow shall keep the mail from going through).
8. As a matter of fact, I never did see any of the pictures. I was so mad I didn't even read about the game.
9. Thank you for the letter. I would be disappointed in any student of any school who failed to stand up for his colors. And I will say that Texas really did look great against Navy. But while I still think the Aggies should have won Thanksgiving, I still think the Aggies should have won Thanksgiving with your contention that they didn't.

yards keep the play. (4) It is true that the call was one of judgment, but it seems decisive to me that both of them, at the same instant, ruled the catch out of the end zone. (5) I am sure you realize the finality of the call, as it seems the Aggies did not. It is true that the A and M coach and also the player involved thought the catch should have been allowed, but neither of them were in the best position to call the play. Also after having had time to watch the game film, no more was said about the call by A and M. (6)

Still it is your right to form whatever opinion you like, but I think only fair that you should present something of the true picture of the game. True, A and M played very well, probably way over their heads, but I
