DEFEAT of the water bond authorization amendment last week was a shocker, and at first glance, a tragedy for this area. But it may not be a hurdle which can't be overcome. The issue can be resubmitted, and maybe next time, more voters will turn out.

A lot of people are being blamed for not voting on the amendments, which to most people is not a very exciting ballot issue. But you just can't get people to go out and vote FOR something. People will turn out in force to vote AGAINST things, but not for them. It's just human nature.

The south and east Texas vote killed the water amendment. People in East Texas just couldn't see any point in paying taxes so that we in West Texas could have water. They couldn't see the benefits.

Consequently, we ought to put a tariff on all East Texas products brought into West Texas. Or maybe Sen. Red Berry had the right idea back there when he suggested splitting Texas into two states—north and south. His reasoning was that the more conservative West Texas area could go along just as it has been, and the South Texas region would have horse racing and open saloons.

Anyway, they seem to like liquor best, and we prefer water. So since we voted down their liquor, they have cut our water off. I wonder how they'd go for a plan to transport liquor through big canals into West Texas? If we irrigated out of that, though, all our cotton would have to be planted in staggered rows.

ONE SMOKER grumbles that death can result from cigarette smoking. "You'll starve to death paying the new taxes," he said.

THE WAY PEOPLE ACT, scientists no doubt have about given up hope of finding any intelligent life on Earth, much less Mars and the Moon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lalo Jaloma, Sudan, are parents of a son, 6 lbs. 8 oz., born at the South Plains Hospital in Amherst, Monday, August 11, 1969.

MRS. MICHAEL JAMES LIND

Nix-Lind Wedding Vows Exchanged

Miss Debbie Marie Nix and Michael James Lind were married at 7:30 Saturday in the First United Methodist Church.

Beginning the ceremony, groomsmen escorted the bridesmaid to the altar, followed by the best man and the matron of honor. The groom escorted his mother and father to their places where the three stood awaiting the bride. The ushers rolled out a white sheath, and the ring bearer and flower girl preceded the bride, who was escorted to the groom by her mother and father. The bride then presented a rose to her mother and to the groom's mother.

The bride was escorted by the groom to the altar, where prayer was offered to open the service. Ushers came forward with chairs for the bride and groom. The wedding party was seated and the soloist sang "More" for the wedding party and guests.

A short charge on the responsibility and sanctity of marriage was given by the Rev. Aubrey White, pastor of the church, after which the bride and groom went to the altar for communion. Then the couple exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony, lighting one tall candle from two candles that stood burning during the ceremony. They put out the two candles, and left the one tall candle burning, and preceded the wedding party out of the sanctuary.

The bride wore a formal gown of white organza flowing from an empire bodice of imported lace. Lace accented the full puff long sleeves with a wide cuff buttoned to fit the slender wrist. The bridal veil of silk illusion net was fastened by a pearl accented crown. Her bouquet was a dozen white rosebuds centered with a cattelaysa white orchid removable corsage. The bride carried a white lace covered missal presented to her by her mother for something new. She carried a pocket watch and chain that belonged to her grandfather, the late John Matison Nix, for something old. A necklace belonging to a friend, Miss Andrea Thomason, was the something borrowed, and she wore a blue garter accented with white lace and seed pearls, fashioned and presented to her by her sister, Mrs. Reagan Cox of Muleshoe.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Matt Nix, Jr., and the groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Lind of Dallas.

Mrs. Reagan Cox of Muleshoe, sister of the bride was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Gwyn Ann Vaughn of Tulsa and Miss Janet Ritchie of Lubbock, with Mrs. Mike Nix of Lubbock as bridesmatron. They wore formal gowns made of apricot georgette and carried apricot net nosegays centered with a white cymbidium orchid.

Best man was Mike Craft of Austin, and groomsmen were Pete Lucas of Dallas, Bruce Johnson also of Dallas, and Mike Nix, brother of the bride, of Lubbock. Lou Garcia of Alexandria, Va. and Bonner Markham of Sudan seated the guests.

Marleea Cox of Muleshoe was flower girl, and she wore a formal dress fashioned to match the bridesmaids, with a white lace mantilla atop her head. She carried a white basket trimmed with white carnations and white satin streamers. Chadd Schroeder of Lubbock was ring bearer, and wore a double-breasted Tuxedo matching those of the

Devotional

By HAZEL HOUSE

THE VOICE YOU HEAR
Voices, Voices, Voices, Voices!
Yet this is the day one seldom rejoices;
Voices are rumbling and voices
do shout;
I want my rights; Give, or look out!

I'm disgusted; the church is not relevant,
Too many speeches are planned
like an elephant, Big body, small tail, and none
give a remedy,
So what can we do but say there's not any.

Yet is there an answer for problems like ours?
Do you know a cure with mightier powers
Than atomic, nuclear, missiles and such,
Wars and confusion—is it really too much?

Hope does spring eternal within a man's soul,
Broken, divided, with emotions untold;
Yet shut up inside with no outlet today;
We listen to voices, but what do they say?
Nothing to help us, nothing to guide,
Nothing to heal the sickness
inside
Nothing for pain or headache today Destruction and death—so we go our own way.

Yet Man has an answer, relevant and sure;
We have Christ and the Cross,

and none to obscure Our view of His rising from death and the grave;
What is the answer today that God gave?

He gave us the Bible, we can learn what He said, But what chapters or verses today have you read?
He sent us His Son, and gave us a plan
All there in the record, on which is no ban.

You can have Jesus, a Savior
from sin,
Lord of your life, and nothing can win Over His power, for Almighty is He,
And that power is available to both you and me.

But will you listen, amid all this 'smart'
And hear a small voice deep down in your heart That calls you by name, and seeks you out In this world of confusion, wars, and doubt?

You have the answer, if you will obey
The plan God gives and follow
His way;
Read John 3:16; Romans 10:9
and 10
And turn back to 8:35-39, then—

Faith comes by hearing, and I'm preaching Good News,
So I pray you to listen, and not to confuse
This as another bad poem or lecture For 'tis life or death, not just a 'conjecture'.

So come unto Christ, respond to His love,
And learn the delight and joy
from above;
He gives it now, amid all these vices,
The world cannot win—His power suffices!

Christ is the answer, and there is none other Who can give life eternal to you, and your brother.
What voice do you hear that gives you a cure For all of your needs, and makes you secure?

Hear all these voices, but listen
with calm,

DIVING

To estimate the proper distance for your approach when diving from a board, go to the end of the board and the face in, away from the water.
Take four walking steps along the board for a three-step approach, (five steps for a four-step approach) and add six inches. Turn, face the water, and begin your approach from this spot.
Don't let skin beauty take a dive because of sun, salt and chlorine. You'll make a splash—socially—if you protect your skin from summer dryness with Desert Flower
moisturizing fragrance veil.

A service I can give to you,
Is something I should gladly do,
Not in return or paying back,
To recompense some kindly act,
Not to expect, to long or yearn,
For something given in return,
But service I would gladly do, Because I'm really wanting to.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Is Ours a Bad Moral Code?

Commenting on the Kennedy-Kopechne tragedy, in the Washington Post recently, writer Nicholas Von Hoffman reviewed certain aspects of the careers of some other men in politics—men whose names had been linked with allegations of immoral conduct.

Of these individuals, he said,
"They were not bad men, but they lived under a bad moral code. They lived under a code that forces them and millions of less conspicuous people to lie, dissemble and scratch false names on hotel registers."
Is it true that it is bad to live under a code which prohibits stealing, lying, killing, and adultery?

Are we wrong in requiring our national leaders to adhere to a code of conduct based on sound ethical principles?
Or has the nation sunk to the level that we must expect our leaders to disregard the laws God and the laws of the land?

Or should our laws be made more lax?
Changing Code
Is the state of Connecticut right in recognizing the loose-ness of moral behavior in this generation by radically altering its laws against immoral conduct?

A special commission of the Connecticut general assembly studied the state's laws in this area and recommended that sexual activity between two consenting adults of normal mental competency be considered
"no business of the criminal law."

The revised relaxed law—signed by Gov. John Dempsey last month—will go into effect in October, 1971.

But the question is: Is this progress—or is it a sign of deterioration?

Serious Questions

In the Kennedy case, not only the question of possible immoral conduct between the senator and the secretary persists, but also the question of whether the truth has been told, along with the admission that a girl was killed and that her body was allowed to lie in the wrecked, partially submerged car for hours—while the senator went away and slept.

His defense is that he was in a state of shock. But what about his two companions—Gargan and Markham? Were they in a state of shock, too? Or what explanation do they have for their failure to notify the authorities that a fatal accident had occurred and that the body of the victim was still lying in the wrecked car, hours later?

Have we now come to the place in this country that this kind of conduct can be considered acceptable—or, at least, excusable.

As the moral level of the nation sinks lower and lower, it is probably to be expected that actions that were thought incredible in other times will be considered acceptable—or, at least, excusable.

But the Bible says that there is a time coming when "there is nothing covered that shall not be revealed, neither hid, that shall not be known."

Our standards of permissible conduct may have changed.

But have God's?
Individuals and nations rise or fall as they obey or disobey the commands of the Supreme Ruler.

Answers Given
On Social Security

When John Z. Public files his claim for Social Security benefits, how soon does he receive his first check?

The answer to this question depends to a large extent on the individual, according to John G. Hutton, social security district manager.

"People in this area have their applications processed faster than those from any other section of the country," Hutton pointed out. "Our people take pride in their prompt handling of claims," Hutton continued, "but the real key to speedy payment of claims is the applicant's coming to our office prepared with the proper information."

As an example, Hutton mentioned the worker's income tax return for the year just before he makes application. Age evidence is almost always needed in initial claims. If a person has a birth certificate on record at the County or State level, a copy of the record of birth must be submitted with any application.

"Everyone who wished to get his check started as quickly as possible should bring in the evidence above, and every applicant who has a social security card must show his card when he applies," Hutton said.

The social security office for this area is located at 3428 Avenue H, Lubbock, Texas. The mail address there is P. O. Box 2917, and the telephone number is P O 58541.

SCS NEWS

Bare land (land that is clean tilled on summer fallowed) will need cover this fall and winter to protect land from wind and water erosion and to maintain organic material in the soil.

There are other advantages also, if a cover crop is planted early and grows off well, it can be cash leased for livestock grazing. This works very good if it controlled to maintain enough cover to prevent erosion. If it is overgrazed there will be an added erosion hazard. Cover crops are needed most on turn rows through and along the edges of the fields, and on diked or clean tilled land.

Cover crops can be broadcast seeded in peas or cotton with the last cultivation without causing any trouble with harvesting of either.

Cover crops can also be planted in feed or hay stubble where conditions are good and enough acres are involved. Generally 30 to 90 days grazing can be expected.

The Lamb County Soil and Water District Board of Supervisors, the County Extension Service and the County Agriculture Stabilization Conservation Program (ASCP) urges the planting of cover on bare land.

For information on cover crops, what kind, how much, and proper management, contact any of the personnel at the Soil Conservation Service (SCS). Office staff members will be glad to help any way they can.

Good Book Improved
Family Bible too heavy and print too small for some members of the family? That's no reason to give up reading the Good Book. A Bible that's easier to read because it's printed in larger-than-usual type is now available. Developed especially for family use and study, this edition contains 32 pages of full-color maps, more than in any other Bible, a "Helps to Bible Study" section and a complete concordance to both testaments. Words attributed to Jesus are printed in red. To increase understanding of the Bible, references to related Bible passages are printed within the text. Called the Master Verse Reference Edition, this King James version issued by America's oldest Bible publisher, A. J. Holman, Philadelphia, Pa., also is less bulky, despite its 1,650 pages, because of a special lightweight paper used. Presentation and family record pages are printed in silver ink, with floral decorations and verse references. The Bible is available at bookstores, department stores, libraries and schools.

This is a suit for divorce alleging cruel treatment, alleging that there were no children born of the marriage of plaintiff and defendant, and no children adopted by him, them or either of them, alleging that there is no community property, real or personal, owned by the community estate of plaintiff and defendant, and alleging that defendant's name prior to her marriage to the plaintiff was Ann L. Hughes.
Praying for divorce, that defendant's name prior to her marriage to the plaintiff, which was Ann L. Hughes, be restored to her by judgment of this Honorable Court, and for general relief, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this writ shall promptly serve the same according to requirements of law, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said court at Littlefield, Texas, this the 28th day of July A. D. 1969.

Lamb County, Texas

Pray for one another. —(James 5:16)
In praying for another, our prayer should first of all be a recognition of him as a child of God, a spiritual being. Our prayer should be a prayer of faith that sees him as filled with God's Spirit, as possessing strength and abilities and powers that enable him to meet and overcome his problems. Our prayer for him should be a prayer of thanksgiving.
