

COCHRAN COUNTY RED CROSS DRIVE STARTS SATURDAY

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Alone and bewildered, the cow-advanced toward the tall piles of steel and brick that rose in the bright morning sun. The street was like a chute in which he was being prodded; unwilling victim of necessity. Coarse, blue trousers were tight about his bowed legs and pushed deep into the tops of his worn boots. The close-fitting blue jacket was open at the throat and the brim of his windwashed hat was folded for convenience in pulling it low over his eyes. Stopping for an instant, he surveyed the strange and perplexing city that had taken root and grown on the prairie. There were many fog-smothered memories of the previous night climbing over each other in his thoughts; the lurching cattle train caboose and the frequent appearance of the brown bottle. He watched a changing traffic light and remembered that hunger was driving him down the street and that he was broke. Time thumbed back through the years and he saw the wood shacks that faced the same street, lumbering chuck wagons reloaded with provisions and cowboy red rolls; the sound of hoofs on unpaved soil. He watched the hee-dass, gliding automobiles and the hurrying shade-bleached people. He turned quickly at a sound. Boot heels trapping the concrete were like music. His eyes followed them up to the bronze feet of a tall man and he froze face wrinkled in a smile. A hand was outstretched toward him.

There is no method of measuring the future unless we allow God to hold the other end of the tape.

Need of shelter has been one of mankind's oldest problems and currently farther from solution than ever before. Shortage of materials is resulted in many forsaken and lapidated houses being moved in rural districts to cities and reloaded into modern homes. Some the soul of a home remains attached to it has been moved away. Soil d by the bare feet of children aims a sacred quality. Unknown sams haunt the lonely places ere shadows fell through endless ys. Moving a home is like pulling up a tree; some of its roots must ravs remain.

stench of tobacco smoke and spiration filled the crowded passenger coach where khaki-clad iths dealt limp cards in a fruit- effort to subdue the monotony their journey. Others gazed out dingy windows and watched the rning landscape with listless in- st. An uncomfortable night was ind them and the day held no mise of improvement. The sticky 1 of home-sickness was on their ry faces. At one end of the old ping car a partly-opened door oed the small room with gear the moving soldiers. Something cal was contained in the five letters on the door: "Wcmen." oughs are easy to control un- hey reach the maturity of words action.

Ceiling Prices On Grains Are Given Increase

Cochran County farmers and livestock raisers will be interested in a statement from the Department of Agriculture saying that the ceiling prices on grains were raised last Monday as a part of a program to adjust livestock feeding to the reduced supplies of grains and to encourage prompt marketing of supplies.

Effective last Monday, the ceiling prices for grains will be raised as follows:

Wheat, 3c a bushel; corn, 3c a bushel; barley, 4c a bushel; oats, 2c a bushel; grain sorghums, 9c a hundred pounds; ceiling prices for rye, which go into effect June 1, will be increased 4c a bushel.

Other steps in the program outlined in a statement issued by Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson and Price Administrator Paul A. Porter, with approval of the Office of Economic Stabilization, are:

Hogs ceiling will not be changed prior to September 1, but consideration meanwhile will be given to lowering the ceiling price on heavier weight butcher hogs after that date. Consideration also will be given to lowering the subsidy on heavier hogs before September 1.

"Purpose of these changes," the official statement said, "would be to encourage farmers to finish hogs at lighter weights and thereby by make more efficient use of our limited supply of feed grains."

The subsidy of 50c per 100 pounds now paid on cattle feeders for certain types of animals will be ended June 30. This subsidy was paid to encourage cattle-feeding operations.

Changes will be made in corn and processed grains regulations designed, the announcement declared to aid in restoring normal distribution by country elevators and carload sellers.

Detailed changes will be outlined in a separate announcement by the OPA.

WHY DON'T WE HAVE LUMBER FOR HOME BUILDING?

There are Plenty of trees, plenty of lumber mills, but very little lumber for home building. WHY?

Here are the simple facts behind the lumber shortage—these facts are stopping Home Building:

Over 50% of our lumber was once cut by small mills. Thousands of these mills were put out of business during the war by OPA ceiling prices. OPA still clings to wartime policies and these mills are still out of business.

2.

OPA's blind "hold the line" policies, plus lack of enforcement, have led to the development of a huge Black Market in lumber. "Black Market" lumber is lumber that costs the people more money than they would pay if lumber were flowing to them through the normal channels of distribution—the retail lumber dealer.

3.

Wartime ceiling prices made it profitable for the lumber manufacturer to cut sizes of lumber for war uses but not suitable for home construction. As OPA continues this unrealistic policy, manufacturers continue to cut lumber sizes which are unsuitable for home construction. In some cases premium prices granted by OPA encouraged production of lumber not usable for Home Building. Proper peacetime adjustments have not yet been made to encourage production of home construction lumber such as flooring, ceiling, siding, millwork, plywood — all essential items in home construction. This situation affects all lumber production.

The manufacturers of lumber have been provided with a hidden premium on export lumber. The OPA has made it more profitable to produce lumber for export to foreign countries than to produce lumber for home construction.

These are merely examples from the lumber field which indicates the type of OPA action that is blocking the production of home building materials in many fields.

The fact remains that homes cannot be built by any industry or Government agency without materials.

Homes cannot be built without lumber—whether that home be wood frame, brick, concrete, or stone.

The lumber and building material dealers, and the contractors of the nation can build all the homes needed—if they have the materials. But the flow of materials must be unblocked. Only increased production of building materials can solve the so-called housing problem and the unrealistic pricing policy of OPA is the biggest present block to increased production!

Any government program that does not FIRST remove the obstacles blocking production of materials will simply add additional difficulties to the problem facing the industry.

News Students Hold Interest In Profession

Education by the press and for the press had become a major concern of journalism this week as the New York Times opened an eight-week lecture course for teachers and the newly established American Press Institute drafted a program of seminars for working newspapermen.

Designed as an "in service" function for the New York teaching field, the Times' course is based on the general subject "The Newspaper-Day by Day." It began with the meaning of news and editorial comment and will embrace all of the departmental aspects and treatment of news. Advertising will also be covered in its related newspaper role.

"How News Gets Printed," was the opening keynote, discussed by Edwin L. James, managing editor of the Times, while Chas. Merz, editor, dealt with comment and interpretation in "The Function of the Editorial Page."

Reader approach and values in the news will highlight the second session of the course Monday when Lester Markel, Sunday editor of the Times, will discuss "How to Read a Newspaper." Nicholas Roosevelt, of the Times, is presiding at sessions held in cooperation with the Board of Education.

Seminars Scheduled

Meanwhile, a coast-to-coast undertaking within the press had formulated around the American Press Institute, with a projected series of seminars at Columbia University.

Selected groups of newspapermen formed papers and press associations posts throughout the country will participate in the seminars, studying and discussing news techniques and background. Proposed subjects will include separate seminars on Soviet and American Relations, designed for editorial writers' benefit, and specific approaches to such newspaper techniques as photographing.

Sevellon Brown, editor and publisher of the Providence Journal-Bulletin and originator of the plan, explained in an interview this week that it entails an application of the idea of clinical study to journalism.

Seminars, to be housed and held at the Columbia University School of Journalism, will not have any relationship with the school other than an administrative affiliation. Carl W. Ackerman, dean of the Graduate School of Journalism, helped Mr. Brown organize the institution, which has Floyd Taylor, editorial writer of the New York Herald-Tribune and professor of journalism at Columbia, as director.

Six Sessions Annually

Six seminars, with an enrollment of 25 men each, are projected for the first year. A fund of $142,000 contributed by 27 newspapers or newspaper chains from New England to the Pacific Coast will finance the undertaking.

Professional interest in the practicing field brought a renewal this week of criticism of U. S. Army censorship. A New York Times dispatch said that the Army is still blocking the flow of news in Germany and that official handling was bogged by confusion over methods of classification of documents. This confusion, the dispatch said, extended to obstacles and handicaps for correspondents traveling in the U. S. zone of occupation.

While German civilians travel freely, the dispatch said, correspondents are balked by cumbersome regulations which still entail classification of travel orders as restricted.

Historic Town Fears Bypass

Harpers Ferry, W. Va. — Residents of this historic town had expressed fear this week that their role in the nation's history would be by-passed and forgotten as a result of new road construction plans which virtually isolate the community.

Joint Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia plans, it was pointed out, call for construction of new bridges over the Shenandoah River east and west of Harpers Ferry, leaving the town by-passed as far as major traffic is concerned.

A public meeting arranged by Representative Jennings Randolph urged that a washed-out bridge in the downtown area be rebuilt for limited traffic and that a Y-approach of one of the new bridges be constructed so as to prevent complete re-routing of traffic away from the Ferry.

Negro Physicians Attend Meeting

Approximately fifty per cent of the Negro physicians in the State are expected to attend the tenth annual meeting of the Postgraduate Assembly of Negro Physicians in Texas to be held at Prairie View University, Prairie View, March 4-7, according to Miss Pansy Nichols, Executive Secretary of the State Tuberculosis Association, who has served as secretary of the Assembly since it was organized in 1937.

Sponsored by the Texas Tuberculosis Association, the Texas State Department of Health, the Texas State Medical Association, the Lone Star State Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association, Prairie View University and the National Tuberculosis Association, the Texas Assembly has set the pattern for simple groups now meeting annually in fifteen other states. Miss Nichols pointed out. Its program, designed to raise the professional level of the general practitioner, has won the acclaim of landing physicians in the State, nineteen of whom have not missed a meeting in the past nine years.

Following the precedent of former years, the 1946 program will include both lectures and clinical demonstrations conducted by specialists from various sections of the country. Subjects discussed will cover internal medicine, polio, obstetrics, syphilis and tuberculosis. A special feature this year will be an award of $200 offered by Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, Chicago, to the physician bringing the most interesting case for study to any one of four clinics scheduled for the four-day period.

Guests of honor who will appear at the session on public health planned for March 5 will be Dr. H. F. Connally, Waco, President, Texas State Medical Association, Dr. James G. Greene, Houston, Professor of Medicine, Judge H. Baker, Austin, Chairman, State Board of Control and Dr. Cameron St. Clair Guild, New York, Director of Special Programs, National Tuberculosis Association.

Wheat Order Hits Products

While first tests of the new "Truman" bread had brought favorable reaction as to quality, leaders of the food industry had warned this week of serious disruptions of production resulting from extraction of 80 per cent of the whole grain in making flour.

Chief effects of the government order to millers will be felt in poultry, dairy, and meat supply as a result of feed curtailment. Also disappearing of items requiring highly refined flour was foreseen, as well as revision of other food products in which is the basis.

Improved working conditions as well as increased wages are steps being taken by forward looking Irish linen mills—particularly in the Belfast area—to attract workmen and speed production of damasks, household and dress linens. The mills are also being modernized and made more attractive places in which to work.

A. Yes, more than one person may be named as beneficiary as long as all who are named are in the permitted class of beneficiaries.

Vets Chances Are Dwindling

Boston—Upward trend of unemployment benefit rolls found another reflection here recently when Massachusetts announced that a total of 53,154 discharged veterans in that state are now receiving unemployment pay of $20 a week. Officials emphasized however, that job opportunities for, ex-servicemen had reached a new low.

Texas War Bond Buying Pleases State Officials

"Texans are not only patriotic, as evidenced by their record purchases of U. S. War Bonds during the war years," Nathan Adams, State Chairman of the Advisory Committee for Texas, declared, "they are also thrifty. With the war over, Texans continue to buy U. S. Savings Bonds in a satisfying manner with a total of $17,681,000.00 invested in Texas during January."

"Availability" of U. S. Savings Bonds with the same rate of interest as War and Victory Bonds is a direct result of demands by management, employees, and schools throughout the land," he continued. "Savings Bonds are handled on the same basis as War Bond purchases with payroll savings plans, banks, schools, and other issuing agents. Too much stress cannot be put on the value of accrued savings through Savings Bonds investment for both the individual and the nation. The individual should continue to save for his own security."

Partial Cotton Insurance Plans Now Available

Partial insurance protection is now available on cotton crops under a new plan announced by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. This is in addition to the regular coverage already available. County Agent Roy Hickman said Saturday.

The new co-insurance plan is designed to make it possible for producers to insure even though they do not carry in full the 50 per cent of 75 per cent coverage. Now they can take out partial protection of 60, 70, 80, or 90 per cent of either the 50 or 75 per cent insurance coverage.

Here's how it works, according to Donald L. Cathran state crop insurance director: If the insured percentage is 75 per cent of the average yield, and the producer elects to obtain 60 per cent partial protection, the premium will be 60 per cent of that determined for 75 per cent insurance. Then, any indemnity payable will be 60 per cent of that which would have been payable if the producer had obtained full protection on the basis of 75 per cent of the average yield.

But, Cathran continued, since it all may sound a little complicated, the best thing to do is go to your county AAA office and discuss your cotton crop insurance with the officials there.

Queen Liner To Be Fitted

London — A six-months refitting operation awaits the 85,000-ton Queen Elizabeth, world's largest liner, when she finishes her troop carrying assignment in two months, according to the Trans-Atlantic Daily Mail.

Already shipped from Australia, the liner's original furnishings and fittings will be ready for installation and will run from smart cocktail bars to 13 miles of curtains, draperies, and other fabrics. More than 200,000 items of earthenware and glass and 16,000 pieces of cutlery will make up the ship's table service.

and for the security of the financial structure of his country." "The best way to safeguard the country from ruinous inflation is for individuals to continue to invest in U. S. Savings Bonds," Mr. Adams concluded.

National sales of E Bonds in January amounted to $640,900,000, which was 80% of the January, 1945, rate, according to figures released by the Savings Bonds Division of the U. S. Treasury. Redemptions for the month amounted to only 1% of all the outstanding E Bond holdings.

Church Fostered Development Of High Quality Irish Linen

Handspun linens are still being made in Ireland, where leadership in techniques of weaving fine linens was attained during the thirteenth century. History has it that the development of extra long-fibered strains of flax and the skills of Irish craftsmen in spinning and weaving it were greatly influenced by the demands of ecclesiastical embroiderers, who required linen of a texture which would enable them worthily to present their offerings to the church.

Sidelights From Washington

By George Mahon

This is being written on George Washington's birthday and shortly after the reading in the House of Representatives of Washington's Farewell Address, an annual custom.

I think the Father of our Country would approve the action we took in Congress yesterday in passing overwhelmingly a bill designed to curb the actions of James Caesar Petrillo, head of the Musicians Union. You will remember that this is the man who in recent years has set himself up as the director in the field of music.

On one occasion, he refused to permit the broadcasting of a special program at a National Cemetery in Virginia, commemorating Memorial Day, because a U. S. Army band furnished the music. He demanded $2,800 for one of the Washington theatres because some young women who were members of the armed forces were allowed to put a home-talent play at a program sponsoring the sale of war bonds. He stopped a home-talent program for crippled children on one occasion. These and other unreasonable actions by Mr. Petrillo have brought down the wrath of the people upon his head.

The general public, as well as labor unions whose cause has been unfairly injured by the unwise actions of Petrillo, will, no doubt, be glad to see Caesar's wings clipped.

On yesterday we also had the final roll call vote on whether to continue Federal participation in the public school lunch program. The vote was 275 for and 101 against. I voted to continue the program.

The program was begun several years ago, the Federal Government sharing in the purchase of the food and seeking to stimulate the wise disposition of surplus farm products. It is felt here that the school children and the public generally approve the program.

My mail on the subject was very light. Six Parent-Teacher Associations and 37 individuals in our district wired or wrote me, requesting that I vote to continue the school lunch program.

Bill Sims, former Army sergeant, of Fluvanna, Scurry County, is a frequent visitor in my office. Bill is a Tech graduate and is now attending Georgetown Law School.

Capt. Harold Brennard, Colorado City, has invited Mrs. Mahon and me to attend his wedding, which is to take place in Washington on March 2nd, Independence Day.

West Point graduate Bill Jones of Lubbock called to say goodbye last week before taking off from Washington airport for Germany where he will take up his duty as a U. S. vice-consul with the State Department.

Clint Cook of Post, who is now out of the Navy, called me on the telephone the other day and reported that he was in Washington and back on his job with the Department of Agriculture.

Naval Academy graduate Lt. (jg) Bob Crawley of Lamesa and his wife, Peggy, came by for a little visit. Bob will be on duty in Washington for a few weeks before returning to the fleet.

Techsters To Enter Border Olympics In Laredo March 8-9

Ten boys will wear the colors of Texas Tech in the Border Olympics at Laredo March 8-9 as the Red Raiders open their track season.

Athletic director Morley Jennings is negotiating for meets with other colleges and has six tentative dates arranged, including: March 28, quadrangular meet in Abilene with Hardin-Simmons, Abilene Christian and McMurry; April 13 triangular meet in Lubbock with West Texas State and Hardin-Simmons; April 20, triangular meet in Albuquerque with West Texas and New Mexico; April 27, duel meet with West Texas at Canyon; and May 10 and 11, Border Conference in Tucson. The latter date is the only definite one.

Coach Walker Nichols expects to take several men to the Fat Stock show in Fort Worth March 15 and 16, also, the number depending on performance at Laredo and in try-outs.

Entries at Laredo probably will be selected from a group which includes: Bobbie Lewis, Hale Center, high jump, 440 and mile relay; Hewitt Allison, Odessa and San Angelo, 440, 220 and low hurdles; Allen Cockrell, Corrigan, half mile and 440; John Sessums, Lubbock and San Angelo, 100, 220, 440 and sprint relay; Charles Reynolds, Denver City, 100, 220 low hurdles and sprint relay; Henry Fischer, Plainview, broad jump and high jump.

George Brewer, Lubbock, 100 and sprint and half mile relays; Harold Terrell, Port Neches, javelin throw, shotput, high jump, and 880 relay; Cecil J. Lee, Pecos, 440, mile and half mile relays; Charles A. Roe, Rockport, 100, 220 and half mile relay; Odis Duncan, Big Spring, 100, 220, and 440 relay; Walter Schlinkman, Dumas, discus throw and shotput; Maxey McKnight Littlefield, 440 and high hurdles; Robert Cooper, Crowell, mile; and James Cruser, Rockport, half mile and mile.

Tech is resuming track this spring after a three-year lapse during the war.

FARM FACTS WORTH KNOWING

Q. Are weed seeds normally long-lived?

A. It is hard to believe, but nevertheless true, that weed seeds may produce plants as long as forty years after the seeds ripened. For this reason, the fight against weeds must be continuous and unrelenting.

Q. What causes some turkeys to develop a crop which is excessively long, flabby, and pendulous?

A. A pendulous crop may be due to heredity, to climatic conditions, or both. Gorging water after going without it during hot, dry periods, or the consumption of coarse dry grass or other high fibrous materials are contributing factors.

Q. How much does it cost the farmer for each pig that dies?

A. Considering the feed cost to be 2 cents per pound, the U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that the money-loss for a dead pig is as follows:
Pig dead at birth $2.80
Pig dead at weaning 5.20
Pig dead 8 weeks after weaning 7.20

Adding the cost of labor and overhead, the cost of each dead pig reaches an even higher total. Fortunately, scientific management and sanitation practices have substantially reduced losses from cholera and other preventable diseases.

Q. Does the feeding of wheat germ oil boost the fertility of dairy bulls?

A. No; this conclusion was reached after extensive research at the Research Farm of Purina Mills in 1935, and has since been confirmed by work done at Cornell University.

Q. Does the presence of large and numerous "milk veins" in the udder of a cow indicate that she will be a heavy milk producer?

A. Probably not, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. These external veins assist in carrying blood away from, and not to, the udder. Moreover, the internal veins are apparently large enough to return all the blood from the udder.

Send your questions about any phase of farm management to FARM FACTS, 835 South Eighth Street, St. Louis 2, Mo. Questions will be answered without charge, either by mail or in this column, as a service of this newspaper.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Saver AND Robin McKown

After the heavy losses suffered the first months of the war in the Pacific, the situation seemed very dark. It is now no secret that we were for a time hard-pressed to keep even one aircraft carrier in operation against Japan.

LT. OLIVER JENSEN

Today, the picture has completely changed. By the end of August 1944 the Navy possessed roughly 100 aircraft carriers, either in or nearing action, and some 47,276 Navy and Marine fliers. And step by step we are regaining the enemy's conquests.

The magnificent story of the rebuilding of our fleet, and in particular the exploits of one carrier, the Yorktown, are described in "Carrier War" by Lt. Oliver Jensen, USNR.

A carrier serves her fliers as a grand combination of mother, wife, nurse and maid-of-all-work. Air Group Five, during the many months it was aboard the new Yorktown, was the excuse and reason for the carrier's existence. One of the biggest air groups at sea, it mustered less than 300 men, a little more than a tenth of the Yorktown's total complement of over 2,500.

"Carrier War" follows the Yorktown and her sister ships through the victories at Marcus, the Gilberts, Kwajalein, Truk, Palau, up through the two great battles of the Philippine Sea, off Saipan and Leyte. Incidentally, that very fine documentary film, "Fighting Lady," although it never mentions the name of the Yorktown, is said to be based largely on her exploits.

The Marine fliers in the Solomons, reports Lieutenant Jensen, discovered a very good use for such un-war-like objects as empty beer bottles. It began when they dropped a few near their comrades on the ground, as a rather heavy-handed joke, and discovered that a falling bottle sets up a weird whine just like a projectile coming down, and sends everyone to foxholes. The stunt was at once applied to the Japs. When they caught on and stopped running for cover every time they heard the noise, the Marines would surprise them with real bombs.

One of the drawings in "The Thurber Carnival" shows two of the humorist's mild little men having a duel. One of them has just severed the other's head from his body, and the caption reads "Touché!" This is one drawing for which Thurber did not think up the idea. It came into The New Yorker office from another artist, and while the editors liked the idea, the picture was too gory. They held a conference and decided to let Thurber re-do it, because, after all, the way he draws people, a man who has his head cut off can just put it on again and go about his business.

Mother Bears Third Twins

Brooklyn, N. Y.—When hospital attendants say "two" to Vincent Calicchio, 26-year-old father of this city, it's a virtual short story.

The young father heard the story the third time recently, at Brooklyn Hospital, where he learned that his 25-year-old wife, Mary, had given birth to twins for the third time in three and a half years. The new arrivals brought the couple's family to a total of seven. The first twins were a boy and a girl, the second two girls, and the third, a boy and a girl.

After all the war time meals most people had to eat off glass, linoleum and bare wood table tops in restaurants and factory cafeterias, a full-size Irish linen damask tablecloth has become the symbol of our happy return to the ways of peace. So for family as well as for company, do use the cloths you've been saving. More linens will be coming from Ireland now and hoarding is no longer necessary.

"It's a buy!—with an OIL-PLATED engine!"

You want an eye-ful of 1946 style. . . . And you're taking in many an earful on chassis features. . . . And you can have an OIL-PLATED engine—a wear-fighter!—by simply saying a mouthful. Just say you want Conoco Nth motor oil—because you want minimum carbon and sludge, plus fat mileage. Those gains depend largely on wear-resistance, and that's exactly what OIL-PLATING is for. Here is how it works . . .

In any make of new car—or equally well in your old car—OIL-PLATING will make an addition to inner engine surfaces. That's where it's fastened durably—across the path of wear—by Conoco Nth oil's magnet-like action. This power to OIL-PLATE and protect comes from the added Conoco Nth ingredient. It will add to the safety of your new car investment. . . . It will add to your veteran car's chances! . . . And the cost it adds is a few cents! Veterans Should File Claims For Pension Benefits

(Editor's Note: This is the twenty-fourth in a series of stories pertaining to services being offered by the American Red Cross for discharged veterans.)

Harry C., age 40, served with the Army in numerous South Pacific campaigns without receiving any disability other than a slight nervous condition. He was hospitalized three months in Australia before being returned to the states for discharge through a separation center. He received an honorable discharge for the convenience of the government on account of age and length of service. At the time of discharge he did not file a claim for pension. He has been home for several months now and he wonders whether he ought to file a claim with the Veterans Administration.

Many veterans are discharged from service either with or without disability and for some reason have not filed a claim for pension. It is highly important for the veteran to realize that the Veterans Administration not only pays pensions but is the sole determining agent as to whether he is entitled to pension. Often a physical or nervous condition is so slightly disabling as not to warrant the payment of a pension. Nevertheless, the Veterans Administration may find that such a condition is incident to the veteran's military service, thus enabling a service connected disability. It is recommended that every veteran upon his return home, go at once to his family physician for a thorough physical examination.

If the veteran finds he is suffering from any physical complaint, or if he believes he is not in as good physical condition as he was upon induction, or if he has any residual scar wound or other disability, he should file a claim with the nearest regional office of the Veterans Administration for the purpose of determining soon after discharge whether such condition has resulted from or has been aggravated by his service.

The filing of such a claim is beneficial both to the individual and the government since an early determination of the medical situation may establish future benefits for the veteran and avoid the difficult procedure of establishing a claim years later when evidence is harder to obtain.

WORD is that Sweden wants to become a member of the United Nations. Well, what that Assembly needs, one gathers from the first meeting, is a good neutral.

West Texas Leads In New Flowing Wells

Weekly drilling report of the state railroad commission today showed greatest number of new oil wells for the week in West Texas' district 8, followed closely by North Texas' district 9.

West Texas had 29 new oil wells and the other 28.

Total oil well completions for the week were 104 to bring the 1946 total to date to 742, comparable with 639 at this period of last year. Twelve gas well completions brought the 1946 total to 136 compared with 88 for this time a year ago.

Average daily permitted production from 103,411 oil wells for the week was 1,890,746 barrels.

Walkie-Talkie Will Be a Civilian Soon

You got the jeep. Pretty soon now, you can have that other wartime innovation—the walkie-talkie.

That was the promise of government officials who said that civilian owned portable and mobile radio sending and receiving devices would be authorized this year.

This includes the walkie-talkie which, according to officials, is nothing less than a "pocket-sized" radio station, subject to regulations of the federal government.
