AT THIS WRITING, the rodeo is just over — finished for another year. We have no report on the financial result, but we feel it has been a big success. As usual there were a few rough spots, a little confusion, some mistakes. But the attendance and entry list, plus the thoughts expressed by those attending the rodeo, lead us to believe, beyond any doubt, it was the best rodeo we have ever had here. Much tribute should go to the directors who put in some long and worrysome hours planning. And, a lot of credit should go to all of the members of the four clubs who did a fine job. Let no one say the Jaycees, the Lions, the Posse and a small but faithful band of ex-Rowing club members didn't carry their load. If any one organization did more, it was because the other clubs were not notified they should do something else. We know of no instance where any of the sponsoring organizations refused to do what they were asked to do.

there are so many . . .
INDIVIDUALS who could have been thanked, we wouldn't even start naming them, and accidentally overlook a few. We think Cochran Countians should be very proud of what was a very good rodeo from almost every standpoint.

not only did we . . .
HAVE QUITE A LITTLE more to be said up in the Democratic Precinct and County Conventions last weekend and the weekend before, but we had a little upsurge of interest in the Republican element of County voters last week. Is that good or bad? We think good, for Cochran County. Although we have no way of knowing at this writing its highly possible that the small group of Republicans here can, if they try hard enough, join some for or county problems the Democrats couldn't get. At least, that is the hope. It stands to reason via the two party system firmly established in the nation, that we in the traditionally Democratic areas of the Country, are going to be 'left out' during a Republican administration unless we are represented by those who lean toward the Republican party's line of thinking. We think you'll be hearing

Operation Redwing

BULLS-EYE marking Ground Zero of Operation Redwing's Cherokee test shot was actually laid out on tiny Namu Island, in Bikini Atoll of the Marshall Islands in mid-Pacific. The bomb was not intended to hit the bulls-eye, but to explode 10,000 feet above it just before dawn.

H-bomb Tests Vital to CD

The sky momentarily lights with the brilliance of a hundred suns, and then, within seconds, returns to the more subdued hues of a tropical dawn.

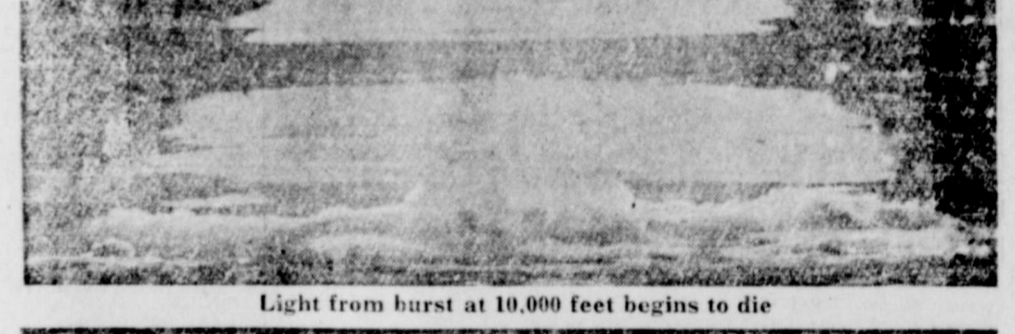

AS THE PYROTECHNICS die away, there begins the real work of checking instruments, analyzing data, comparing Cherokee with former tests. Scientists in concrete bunkers only 23 miles from Ground Zero quickly begin to read their instruments.

DATA-COLLECTING instruments are checked by a technician before they are dropped by parachute from a B-36 seconds prior to the actual H-bomb drop during Operation Redwing. Blast effects information from such equipment is valuable in still defense in planning means of protection against atomic or hydrogen war.

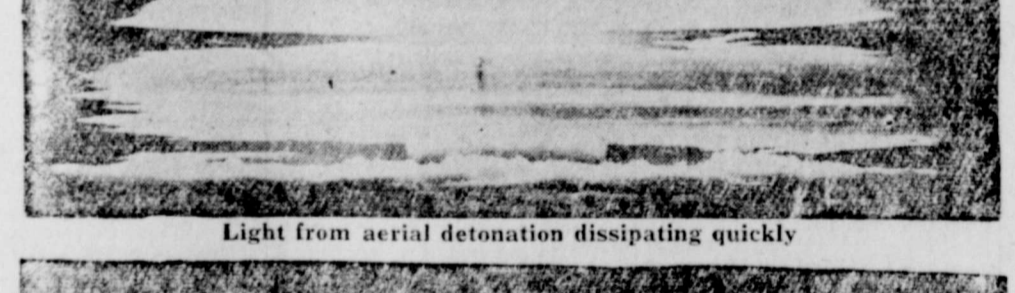

FALLOUT DETECTOR aboard a specially-equipped former Liberty ship was used to gather data on radioactive fallout from the Cherokee hydrogen-bomb shot of Operation Redwing. The collection platform atop the foremast, or "king post," is loaded with various recording instruments. The readings were especially important because fallout is now one of the principal nuclear dangers with which civil defense must contend. Civilians will be told to seek shelter in basements, "cyclone" shelters and the like if fallout from a nuclear explosion is heading their way. (U. S. Navy Photo from International)

Syrian Women Voters Important Force In Democracy

Thirty years ago, shortly after American women won their long fight for equal rights, a young Syrian girl named Adia Beyhum started her country's conservative male citizens by demanding similar rights for the women of Syria.

In a letter addressed to the editor of the Beirut magazine AL-FATAH AL-ARABI, this determined young lady declared that she could see no reason why Syrian women should not participate in public life while maintaining their status as housewives and mothers.

"Emancipation does not mean that a woman will neglect her family," Syria's Susan B. Anthony said. "Our movement aims at restoring the traditional prestige of the Arab woman, adopting only those changes necessary for modern times."

These words, uttered by the daughter of a noble family, struck like a thunderbolt at conservative thinking of the times. However, Adia Beyhum's voice struck a responsive chord in women from Damascus, Aleppo, Hama, Homs and other Syrian cities. Soon men, too, were persuaded by the logic of her arguments and the status of Syrian women underwent a drastic change. Today these women not only enjoy the right to vote, but they are equal partners in business, industry, education, the professions and other fields.

In addition to Mrs. Beyhum, now president of the Feminist Union in Syria, the country boasts of such outstanding feminine leaders as Aama Kheuri, president of the Feminist First Aid Society; Saoud Marfom, president of the Awakening Syrian Women Society; Naziba Hourania and Wisal Bakdash.

These women, like their American counterparts in the League of Women Voters, are energetically urging their fellow-countrywomen to take a greater share in political affairs by teaching Syrian women about their rights and responsibilities in a democratically developing nation.

QUADRENNIAL GOALS OF WSCS ARE TOLD

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church met Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. H. S. Hawkins.

Mrs. Elizabeth Geever, chairman of the Oms Lytle circle brought the devotional and Mrs. Willard Henry presented the new quadrennial goals of the WSCS and Wesleyan Service Guild. The goals of the groups are to call every member:

1. To commit herself to the spirit and principals of Christ for the whole world.
2. To accept responsibility in the total program of the local church.
3. To interpret the place of the educational institutions of the Woman's Division of Christian Service in the world mission of the church.
4. To confront the local church with the challenge of recruitment to Missionary and Deaconess Service.

5. To create a fellowship without barriers in local church and community.

6. To identify herself with peoples of the world.

7. To speak and act boldly in Christ's name for justice and peace for all people.

The president, Mrs. J. D. Hawthorne presided for business. One item discussed was Youth Activities Week to be held at the church next week, and refreshments for each night of the week have been planned.

Those attending the general meeting were Mesdames L. A. Cochran, Pegues Houston, J. A. Gowdy, M. C. Leubetter, C. H. Silvers, Leon Simon, Ed Lytle, E. C. Cox, Martin Wilson, James Harrell, John Cavender, W. G. Bailey, Groer, Henry, Hawthorne and Hawkins.

With Your... COUNTY AGENT

The County Agent was checking 5 fields Monday, August 6th, for insects.

Cotton is farther advanced this year than I have seen it at this time of year. Insect situation is well under control, except in a few fields examined, fleahoppers were numerous. How much damage they can do on cotton with grown bolls and still putting on new forms is hard to say. Perhaps the best thing to do is get rid of the fleahopper. Bell worms are few. No fields were found to have bollworm control at this time. Leaf bugs were numerous in two fields where alfalfa is nearby. These bugs do the same damage as fleahoppers and are controlled in the same way.

The No. 1 enemy of cotton in the county is the disease "bacterial blight or angular leaf spot." It is certainly taking its toll, from 5 percent to 25 percent in nearly all fields. Bolls are spotted and greasy looking, squares dying and either falling off, or remaining on stalk, lower leaves falling off or turning yellow. All these add up to serious damage.

What can be done, adds up to practically nothing. Rains and sprinkler irrigation help spread the disease. Two weeks following the rain or irrigation the damage is much worse. Suggestion is to water heavily and less often.

Next year, begin thinking of planting varieties of cotton more tolerant to the disease. Don Jones of the Agricultural Experiment Station in Lubbock will be here on the evening of August 17 in the County Auditorium to explain these varieties more tolerant to the disease. DON'T MISS HIM, advises the County Agent.

Sharon Thompson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis F. Thompson of Cotton Center, Sr. 4H Club was named winner of the District II scholarship by Mrs. Aubrey W. Russell, District Agent in Lubbock. This scholarship is furnished by the Home Demonstration Clubs of District II and goes to the outstanding 4H Club girl of the District who plans to attend Texas Technological College and major in home economics or related subjects.

Sharon Thompson has been a 4H Club member in Hale County for eight years and has won many honors with her work. In 1956 she was co-chairman for the District II Joint Camp that was held in Lubbock at the Panhandle and South Plains Fair Grounds early in July. She is also the District Representative to the State 4H Council. In 1954 she won a trip to the national 4H Congress in Chicago on her record. In 1952 she was county dress revue winner and represented the county in the District and State Dress revue.

Arab Patriarch
Holds Fond Memories of U. S.

Boulos Maoushi, the patriarch of nearly a million Maronite Christians around the world, is a native Lebanese who spent more than a decade of his life as a parish priest in the United States.
The tall, grey-bearded prelate was appointed last year as spiritual head of the ancient Oriental Catholic community by Pope Pius XII. Although many Americans may not be aware of the size of the Maronite sect in this country, the patriarch estimates that there are 100,000 members now living in the United States.
Patriarch Maoushi became well acquainted with these American Maronites during his service as parish priest in New Bedford, Mass., and Los Angeles. A man with a keen sense of humor and strong moral courage, he came to this country in 1923 to study conditions of the Maronite communities in the United States and Mexico.
"At the time I expected to stay on two years," he recalls, but his tour of duty was extended to 1934. During this period, almost all the Lebanese emigrants in America knew young Maoushi who devoted himself to community service. As a parish priest in Los Angeles, he launched a fund-raising campaign to repay debts incurred by the local Maronite House and also managed to build the city's "Madonna of Lebanon" church.
"We had just completed our new church and I thought at last I could relax when I was called back to Lebanon in 1934 to become Bishop of Tyre," the 61-year-old prelate recalls. He succeeded Bishop Shukrallah Khouri, who died in the same year.
A man with a broad international background, the patriarch was educated in Lebanon, Rome and Paris, and is the master of seven languages. During his eleven years in United States, he absorbed the values of freedom and democracy, plus the intrinsic dignity of the individual, and today stands as a staunch supporter of all these values.

DEMOCRATS ADOPT THREE RESOLUTIONS AT COUNTY CONVENTION; SEND EIGHT TO STATE CONVENTION

Approximately 20 delegates, representing five of the six voting precincts of Cochran County, turned out Saturday for the Democratic County Convention held in the 72nd Street Community Center in Morton. The convention was called to order at 10 a.m. by P. C. Strickland, chairman of the regularly elected county chairman, Tom McAlister, who was out of town.

Strickland turned the temporary organizational work over to Bill Glassford, a delegate from Morton. Glassford asked for voluntary secretaries, and after no one volunteered, he asked Fred Payne to serve. Glassford delayed further work for five or ten minutes to allow any late delegates to arrive. The temporary secretary called the roll and all non delegates were asked to retire, and the temporary chairman announced a break for caucus by the various precincts present.

A member of the election precinct number four delegation protested, after the break was called, that the convention was illegal. Immediately upon the temporary chairman's call for order following the caucus, delegates called for the election of a permanent chairman. Nominated were LeRoy Johnson, delegate from Neely Ward, and Glassford.

Whiteface school, out of a head coach for a week or so, had hired a new one this week, the Tribune

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

Rep. Frank Thompson Jr. (N. J.) reported to Congress that 84% of the nation's independent business, in a nationwide membership poll by the National Federation of Independent Business, favor measure before House to reduce corporation income tax rates to 22% normal, and 31% surtax.

Unfortunately, for many years, American leadership has not understood American strength as well as the founder of Russian Communism.

Over 20 years ago Lenin said, "The strength of capitalism lies in the strength of small business, but unfortunately (for communism at that time) small business still survives in a large degree in the United States, giving birth to the middle classes, constantly, hourly, spontaneously, and on a mass scale."

All this was said, of course, before management of U. S. government had taken measures that put a crushing weight on independent business.

About the same time, Lenin also made this prophesy: "Britain," he said, "will expand herself out of existence, Germany will militarize herself out of existence, and America will spend herself out of existence."

Two-thirds of his predictions have come to pass.

It is to prevent the other third from coming to pass that men such as Rep. Thompson and Sen. Sparkman seek to reverse the present system which soaks up the money needed by small business to expand, to weather the storms, and gives it away. They realize that without a healthy American middle class, there will soon be no America. After all, if it is reprehensible to rob Peter to pay Paul, how much more reprehensible is it to rob Main Street to pay Tito.
