World's Largest Oil Reservoir

UPON DISCOVERY THAT THE CLAY at Amuay, Venezuela, was impermeable enough to hold oil without any appreciable loss from seepage, the U. S. owned Creole Petroleum Corporation, with the help of experts from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has drastically cut storage costs in the construction of this 8,800,000 barrel earthen storage reservoir-the largest in the world. Covering nearly 29 acres, it is 60 feet deep and has an earthen dam 275 feet wide at base around two sides. This type of storage, built at a cost of $2,800,000, cuts cost to about 35 cents a barrel compared with $1.65 to $2.00 for conventional tank storage.
