Local 3-Year-old Bitten By Dog Friday Morning

A three-year-old Morton boy, Gregory Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Howell, suffered a group of deep lacerations on his right cheek Friday, when bitten by a neighbor's dog.
The dog, a collie, was immediately penned up and is being watched for any signs of being rabid.
The boy was taken to the Cochran County Hospital where it required approximately 2 1/2 hours of careful work to close the wounds inflicted. Doctors were required to take several deep stitches in addition to skin stitches.
The wounds on the right cheek were described as three large lacerations.

"Mother of the Year"

They can't be with their own mothers this Mother's Day, so the children at Soharo school, operated at Tucson, Ariz., by the National Foundation for Asthmatic Children, have made their own unanimous selection of a "Mother of the Year". She is Mrs. Helen Hagarty, a house mother of Soharo school where 55 children, aged 6 to 14 years and coming from 19 states and two foreign countries, are being provided resident care by the foundation. With Mrs. Hagarty are, left to right, top, Felix Padillo, Douglas, Ariz.; Tommy York, Riverside, Calif.; and Lonny Johnson, Fayette, Wis. Below with Mrs. Hagarty are Gordon Whitley, Springfield, Ore., and Emlyn Lee Gordon, whose parents formerly lived at Napa, Calif., but are now residents of Phoenix. Soharo school is the only establishment in the nation catering exclusively for asthmatic children on a non-profit, non-sectarian basis.

TATUM WOMAN IS SERIOUSLY INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT JUST WEST OF BLEDSOE, FRIDAY MORN.

A 42-year-old Tatum, New Mexico woman was seriously injured Friday morning when a car in which she was riding failed to negotiate the rugged Bledsoe curve, several miles west of Bledsoe, just on the Cochran County side of the state line.
Mrs. Ardith Patrick, of Tatum, suffered a broken back and paralysis of her leg as a result of the mishap which occurred around 11 a.m. Friday. Mrs. Patrick, who was driving, was attempting to pass another car when her vehicle failed to negotiate the tricky curve that has brought injury and death to a good many persons in the past two or three years.
Mrs. Patrick's 18-year-old daughter was riding in the car but she apparently escaped with only a nasty bruise.
Mrs. Patrick was rushed first to the Cochran County Hospital and then to the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.
A Brownfield man was killed in an accident on the curve about 3 years ago. Since then, Joe Evans, a gypsy who was staying in Morton at that time, was seriously injured in an accident on that curve and on last report, was not expected to ever completely recover from the effects of terrible head injuries. County FIA Administrator Bob Cross, also received a broken back more than a year ago when his car failed to make the curve.

There's A Lot of Confusion In A Name

Cecil E. Lindsey and family were moving to Maple. In fact, they still are.
But they also aren't going anywhere, he said, Thursday.
This confusion to Morton folks is old stuff to the two Cecil E. Lindsey who get their mail at Morton. For a long time they've been getting each other's mail, and for a long time they've been denying doing things the other Cecil Lindsey did.
And, the confusion doesn't always stop there, either.
One has a son Ronald, the other, a son, Donald.
One's wife is named Thelma, the other's name is Alma.
So, if you've argued either point, that Cecil and family were moving to Maple, or that they weren't, you were right.
And, to set you straight, the Cecil Lindsey moving to Maple, is the Cecil E. Lindsey who has been employed by Hawkins Oldsmobile — the one who has a son named Donald, and a wife named Thelma ... or is it the other way around?

Grover Edgar's Statement to County Voters:

TO THE CITIZENS OF COCHRAN COUNTY:
In offering my candidacy to the citizens of Cochran County for your County Judge and Ex-Officio School Superintendent, it is felt that you might be interested in my background as well as my qualifications for the office.
I was born in Missouri in 1890, reared in the dry farming area of western Oklahoma. My time, it seemed to me, was spent following a team of mules, carrying a hoe, and dragging a cotton sack between two cotton rows. Since 1923, by choice, I have been a Texan. I am a Democrat all down the line.
In 1926 I graduated from the Cumberland University Law School, Lebanon, Tennessee, and was admitted to the Texas Bar the same year. Since that time I have practiced law and am a member of the Texas Bar Association.
The office of County Judge and Ex-Officio County School Superintendent is the most important office in the County. The County Court is a Court of record, and I feel should be manned by a lawyer.
It is hoped that before the primary, I shall have an opportunity to meet each of you personally, and if anyone is missed it will not be intentional. Should the old-timers not receive a copy of this letter, please do not feel offended, as your names do not appear on the poll tax list.
I belong to no organization that would in any manner prevent me from exercising the duties of the office impartially. If elected, my time will be spent in the office, doing my duties, to the best of my ability. I believe in progress and realize we must either go backward or forward, and it is my purpose to move forward.
In making this statement to you good people of Cochran County, I fully appreciate the importance and the duties involved in both offices, and if elected, I pledge to you that the duties of the office of County Judge and Ex-Officio School Superintendent will be carried out to the best of my ability, co-operating with the County Officials and School Officials to the fullest so long as it is to the best interest of Cochran County and it is felt that they are right, and opposing them when they are wrong. I would like to know the wishes of the people of the County and would attempt to carry out their desires.
This is my first time to run for public office. If elected I shall not be a candidate for the office again.
With these remarks, I respectfully submit my candidacy to you and will graciously abide by your choice at the polls.
I would appreciate our investigation of me and my record, and if you find me to merit your vote, your vote and support will be most appreciated.
Respectfully yours,
Grover D. Edgar

Tourists Bringing Welcome Money To Lone Star State

Visitors to Texas spent more money and stayed around longer spending it in 1957 than during any previous year, so indicates the Tourist Industry Report released by the Texas Highway Department recently.
D. C. Greer, state highway engineer, pointed to statistics in the report which show that expenditures per person per day jumped to $8.22 in 1957, as compared to $7.71 in 1956. "More-over the typical tourist extended his visit to 6.3 days in 1957, as against 5.9 days the previous year," Greer said.
The report defines tourist dollars as new money earned elsewhere and brought into the community where it is then spent and repaid into local business cycle.
Specifically, tourist dollars to the tune of $531 million made music in Texas cash registers and jingled in the pockets of Texas jeans last year. This was cleared from tourists traveling by automobile. Greer pointed out that this was an increase over 1956's intake of $379 million.
The report says $98.9 million was spent also in 1957 by tourists visiting Texas by air, rail, bus, and ship.
Largest part of the tourist dollar in Texas is spent for food, lodging, and car upkeep. To serve these basic needs, the report estimates, 25,320 established businesses with 102,265 employees are required. The final figures are increased many times when the retail stores, amusement spots, gift shops, and other places where the remainder of the tourist dollar is spent are considered.
Tourists themselves provided the records from which the department obtains the statistics in the annual report, Greer said.
Survey cards, to be completed and mailed back after the visit in Texas, are given tourists stopping at the department's seven state, last year they played host to 174,000 such out-of-state guests.

MONDAY IS DOLLAR DAY IN MORTON

WITH BLINDFOLDED RATTLER

Rattlesnake Theory Is Proven
Biology Laboratory Tests

The following is from THE RATTLE, student newspaper of West Texas State College.

Blindfolded rattlesnakes are scarce in any land, but West Texas State College is one exception. A diamond-black, 36-inch rattler, about the size of a scorpion's scorpion, has been the center of attraction in a biological research program now in progress here.

Contending that the old theory that rattlesnakes can strike without seeing is correct, Ralph Goven, a student lab instructor, set up a project to prove the theory to a group of skeptical freshmen.

Using a well-matured rattlesnake, bearing 12 rattles and a skin, on the "guinea pig," which, on the "guinea pig," Goven wrapped across the snake's eyes and turned it loose in a cage.

"THE SNAKE was not dejected or chagrined," Goven said. "He had to have a snake in perfect condition or the experiment would have been useless."

The next step was the crux of the project—testing the striking sensitivity of the dangerous pit viper.

"I filled a balloon with warm water until it was about the size of an apple, and then tied a net about 18 inches in length to the balloon," Goven explained. "I held the balloon at convenient striking distance from the snake and let the balloon pop in a wide pendulum-like arc."

During the period of two weeks during the snake was 100 per cent accurate in hitting the balloon. Goven added that the balloon did not always burst because of gusting winds, but the snake always hit it.

Goven pointed out that all rattlesnakes, related to the pit viper family, have small organs called pit organs located in the side of their jaws which are sensitive to heat.

"A RATTLESNAKE can detect a three-degree change in temperature within striking distance," Goven said. He confirmed this theory with the experiment.

Handling the writhing rattler with skill, Goven showed his keen eye for the small depressions in the snake's head where the heat-sensing tissues are located. He also explained the dangerousness of a rattlesnake at night or in heavy brush. Thus, small rodents and other live organisms are never safe from the deadly fangs of the coiled rattler. ABOUT 1,500 PEOPLE are bitten each year by poisonous, with 90 per cent of these being rattlesnake bites, and about 70 per cent of these are in Texas. This makes the Lone Star State number one in the nation in both rattlesnake bites and deaths which are attributed to snake bites. About 50 people die each year in the United States from snake bites.

Goven emphasized the differences in pit vipers and constricting snakes (bull snakes). A bull snake, also in captivity here, would grip Goven's wrist until blood circulation was nearly shut off, whereas the rattlesnake would only hang limp about his arm.

"A rattler can only strike the length of his body," Goven said, "and even then he must have some sort of leverage device from which to launch."

A SENIOR of Amarillo, Goven will be graduated this month with a B. S. degree in biology.

An Expert Talks About Hair Care
MARY RICHARDSON
Richard Hudnut Beauty Consultant

Do you put off washing your hair as often as you feel you should because setting it is such a chore—because your hair is wild and unmanageable and just won't hold a set? Actresses and models, whose hair is literally their "fortune", often wash and set their hair as frequently as once a day. They've learned how to handle their hair—and you'll find it couldn't be easier once you know some of their professional secrets.

Before each shampoo give your hair a good break brushing to loosen all dirt and dust. At the same time, you will distribute the natural oils evenly along the hair shaft. Shampoo thoroughly with a good shampoo and give it two generous lathers and a thorough rinsing with warm water.

Then, to eliminate those "nasty" snarls and tangles which make combing and setting such a chore, there's a wonderful preparation called Creme Rinse. Set which is used on your wet hair immediately after the final shampoo rinse. It's a pretty blue lotion you shake out right from the bottle and comb through.

You'll be thrilled with the way your hair responds instantly. Like magic, snarls and tangles will disappear, your hair will have more body, seem to want to curl. And you'll love the healthy gloss this conditioning-and-setting formula gives your hair.

Set your hair while it is slightly damp and learn this trick to make firm neat pin curls. Wind your pencil around a pencil, then turn pencil, held end against scalp and curl will slide off easily. Anchor in place with a bobby pin. If your hairstyle needs fuller body, learn to use large mesh or wire rollers for setting the front, top and sides. Rollers give the "curl without curliness" needed for the new loose, casual swirls and flatteringly soft bangs.

When your setting has dried and you are ready to comb—use the hairdressers' technique called "blousing". Brush all the curls thoroughly in an upward direction—to make them springy and lively. You'll find your set looks softer and prettier if you actually brush your hairstyle into place.

Morton Medical Clinic Sighted

Meeting of the Cochran Hospital Board, Monday night, Dan M. Brown, advised the board that he is definitely contemplating the construction of a clinic in Morton and asked for an extension in which to remove his office from the hospital.

Extension was quickly granted by the Board after hearing the progress Dr. Brown has made in the clinic construction.

Being told by Dr. Brown that the finances for the clinic should be made available, the Board granted Dr. Brown an extension until October to begin construction on the clinic.

Brown told the Board he would complete the clinic by the end of the year.

The Board agreed to give full time for him to get the clinic started, and if, by October, the construction has not started, the Board will again get together with Dr. Brown and see what is holding it up.

Mondays call meeting was set simply for the purpose of finding out what progress Dr. Brown had made on his clinic. The doctor had been asked to move his offices from the hospital previously, and he had been granted an extension to allow him time to make plans for securing a new office location, either in Morton or elsewhere.

Dr. Brown has advised that he has paid a deposit on the lots which he intends to purchase and use for the site of a proposed medical center.

He has also obtained a written commitment for $15,000.00 to be used in construction of a medical clinic in Morton, the money being in the nature of a loan and to be secured by a second mortgage against the property.

Bill Burns, architect, has been employed to draw up the working drawings for the construction of the medical center and the specifications therewith. Mr. Burns had previously made several drawings and blueprints on the proposed building.

On or about June 5th Dr. Brown hopes to have the plans ready for bidding, and by the latter part of June he hopes to see the construction underway.

Provided the contract is let by June 23rd, the 90 days working time estimated would set October 15th as the estimated earliest date of occupancy, according to Dr. Brown.

Dr. Brown also asked the Board to consider granting any physician or dentist who plans on entering the medical center, the professional courtesy of occupying space within the hospital, if such space is available and not occupied by a practicing physician, as temporary quarters until the medical center or clinic as planned is completed.

Bible School Three Way Baptist To Open Monday

THREE WAY (Sp.) - Saturday, May 31, from 3 to 4 o'clock, is preparation day for the Three Way Baptist Church Vacation Bible School.

The Bible School opens on Monday, June 2nd, and will continue through Friday, the 6th. The School Hours are from 8:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m.

Miss Bonnie Blattes will be the Principal of the school.

Set Bible School For July 20th

Bible School has been scheduled to begin July 20 at the Morton Church of Christ, Southwest Second St.

Denton Thompson is Minister at the church.

By the end of April, pretty blonde Pat McKeen will have earned the title of "Little Girl Glue" by giving away her secrets on unusual uses of glues and tapes to leading personalities in 38 cities.

Pat's job is to welcome people aboard the specially fitted DC-3, known as the "Flying Showcase," show them the LePage line of glues and sticky tapes, and suggest interesting uses for the "sticky stuff." As "Little Girl Glue" she will appear on television, and will present special plaques to the mayor of the 38 cities which they will visit. As the "Flying Secretary," he will type letters and keep in touch with the home office as the Showcase flies between cities on the 13,000-mile whirlwind tour of the country.

Here are a few of the ideas she has for using the glues and tapes. To trim bangs to an even line, tape bangs flat and cut along bottom edge of tape.

Colored utility tape is useful around the home for decorating and mending jobs. Use it to edge a lampshade, to repair the binding of a book, or to mend plastic items such as garment bags and shower curtains. Glue is good for do-it-yourself decorating projects, such as covering a lampshade or wastebasket to match the draperies, or applying an unusual motif to a valance. A piece of felt glued to the base of a lamp will prevent scratches on the table. An unusual coffee table may be made by gluing tiles to a piece of wood. Liquid solder, usually considered a tool-box item, is good for repairing broken earrings, or replacing stones in costume jewelry.

Pat discovered two new uses for her sticky products while flying around the country. When the hem came out of her skirt, she taped it up until she had time to stitch it. And when she snagged her stockings, a drop of clear glue stopped the run, and lasted through several washings.

BETTER SCHOOLS — AND YOU

It's become very fashionable in recent months to extol the virtues of foreign education with the clear implication that it's better than anything we have to offer students in this country.

Another frequent example is the college preparatory course in England. Again, the critics don't bother to say that only a very few are allowed to follow that course. In most European countries, the student has little to say about what course he does follow. It is determined in most part by examination. If an English boy of eleven, for example, doesn't qualify for the college preparatory course, it's only rarely that he's given a chance later on to get into college.

There are things that are very fine about European education. There are also some things wrong with American education. What is needed instead of an unfair comparison, however, is a sincere attempt to meet the best from both systems. We can learn some things from foreign schools but they can be incorporated into our system where the student is given a broad opportunity to make the most of his abilities no matter who he is.

What's done in comparisons of foreign and American education is putting the best in European education up against the worst we have to offer. For example, critics cite the education German students get in the gymnasium, without bothering to point out that only the very elite in Germany have that educational advantage.

Rx for Health

Prevention — and Treatment — of Sunburn

Probably the most common summertime ailment is sunburn. And its causes are so little understood that many thousands of people actually harm themselves in their innocent pursuit of a beautiful tan.

The advice, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," applies more to sunburn than to most illnesses. For sunburn can be prevented if one understands what causes it and practices certain common sense rules.

Sunlight is composed of three main components: visible light, ultraviolet and infrared light. Waves producing sunburn are within the ultraviolet region. Contrary to the opinion of many, fog and clouds are poor protectors against ultraviolet rays, so that you may get a severe burn on an overcast or even cool day.

People at beaches run extra hazards of sunburn, even though they may lie under umbrellas part of the time. Water and sand reflect the burning rays, and moisture in the air softens the skin and makes it more vulnerable to ultraviolet rays. Cooling breezes off the water fool many people into thinking they are not being burned.

Always keep in mind that the time of day has a lot to do with whether or not you will be burned. The sun's rays produce the most severe burns between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., when the ultraviolet rays are most numerous.

Sunburn, commonly classified as first or second degree burn, may vary from a mildly uncomfortable redness to a painful skin eruption of blisters, and in the more severe cases fever, chills, pain and swelling. The redness comes from dilation of minute blood vessels in the skin. Later, the peeling and itching are the first signs of recovery from the burn. Repeated exposure to the sun exhausts the skin's ability to replace pigmentation and thickens the skin, a protective measure, and may ultimately lead to permanent peeling, shrinkage of the skin, areas of discoloration, freckles and, in severe instances, various kinds of growths and even skin cancer.

It is good advice to start your exposure to the sun gradually, about 20 minutes on the first day, less for children, since they can stand only about half as much ultraviolet light as adults. Most medical authorities advise some kind of protective preparation on the skin, until it is tanned. This is effective, as are ointments and salves containing calamine, titanium oxide or zinc oxide. These have the effect of impeding the passage of ultraviolet rays.

Mild sunburn can be relieved with a wide variety of soothing, analgesic ointments and oils, which are easily available. However, if you should experience severe sunburn, see your physician right away, for prompt medical attention may help prevent serious complications.

The best advice, though, is to be very cautious exposing yourself to the sun and avoid a burn. For while Old Sol furnishes us with vitamin D, he can also cause a lot of aches and pains.

YOUNG IDEAS in Polly Ponder

"I'm only five feet in height and would like to look taller without having to wear high heels all the time. What would you suggest?"

An Fiver I'd suggest that you learn to accept your height by turning it into an advantage. There is nothing more charming than a tiny, trim and well-proportioned figure. For instance:

Don't count on a hand to give you additional height. An oversized pompadour or too many curls will only throw your entire figure off-balance by making your head look larger. Keep your hair uncluttered and if it curls the shape of your face worn close in a little cap cut or drawn into a bun at the back.

Avoid puffs with short boy jackets or extreme color contrasts between the blouse and skirt that will seem to cut you off in the middle. Steer clear of large plaids or patterns and too-long hemlines.

You're a perfect size to wear the new chemise look, soft, subtle colors, subtly short skirts. You don't know how lucky you really are!

Salt On The Farm

For purposes of this column the primary use of salt on the farm is salt for the livestock. Mixed in the rations and fed free choice salt serves to assure efficient production of meat, milk, wool and work.

Adequate salt, or its two elements, sodium and chlorine, are vital to the health, growth and reproduction of all classes of livestock. Indeed, some animals will die if denied supplemental salt for lengthy periods. This was dramatically demonstrated in research with dairy cattle at Cornell University within the last few years.

Countless research projects have shown that the various classes of livestock suffer retarded growth, poor reproduction and losses from generally poor health when denied salt in their rations. For instance, a study at Purdue University showed that salt-fed pigs gained two-and-a-half times as fast as pigs fed identical rations but denied salt.

Besides its vital role in animal nutrition salt serves many purposes in livestock management and general farm use. Salt becomes a labor saver on rangelands where, mixed with the daily supplement intake to the desired levels for self-fed cattle and sheep. The feed may be put out once a week or even less often, in contrast with daily feeding required when salt is not used as a "regulator."

Since livestock will consume a remarkably constant amount of salt each day and then retire from the salt or salt feed—this makes salt-regulated self-feeding practical—it is also used as a carrier of medicines, minerals and other animal needs.

Salt plays a part in conservation too. Placement of the salt and mineral boxes is often used as a conservation measure to aid in controlling the grazing pressures.

As a confinement salt is used to increase the consumption of rather unpalatable feeds, often permitting the use of feeds which would otherwise be wasted.

In some areas salt is used in soil amendment, principally East of the Mississippi. Experiments at the University of Wisconsin showed that sodium in the soil produces a marked increase in the yield and quality of many crops. Common stock salt was used as the sodium source in experiments with celery, barley, wheat and oats, as well as many other crops. The amount of salt (200 to 800 pounds per acre) depends on soil conditions and other plant foods to be applied.

Recently, salt has been reported an aid to fish growth in farm ponds. Some South Carolina farmers having trouble despite recommended pond fertilization practices reported increased fish growth with the "add sodium" remedy suggested by Clemson authorities. The farmers provided added sodium in the form of mineralized livestock salt blocks at the rate of one 50-pound block of salt per acre of pond surface, applied every three or four months.

These are just a few of the many uses of salt on the farm.

LUBBOCK - A third or more of the Texas High Plains two million allotted acres of cotton for 1958 is reported up to a good stand and farm officials estimated as much as 90 percent was planted as of May 25.

Warm sunny days the past week enabled farmers to plant and replant where necessary. With present ideal weather conditions the entire 2,131,000 acres available for planting is expected to be planted this month.

Farmers figure this is almost an ideal situation as compared to the 1957 planting season when more than a million acres had to be replanted in June and much of it after June 15. Thus far, cotton officials estimate this year's crop is a month to five weeks ahead of 1957.

D. W. Sherrill, District Irrigation Agent, said last week that this year's May 19 and later plantings may catch up with the late April and early May plantings, due to better growing conditions in the early stage, warmer soil and warmer day-and-night temperatures.

Planting operations reached a peak during the week May 18-24 as favorable weather prevailed & fields dried more rapidly than had been expected.

A large amount of early planted cotton in the southern counties of the High Plains is reported up to a good stand and farmers are already watching for early season insects. Reports from individual counties indicate Dawson leading with more than 50 percent up to good stands; Hale County has about 40 percent up; Lubbock, Hockley, and Terry report 30 percent or more up and other counties possibly 20 percent or more up.

A cottonseed shortage, which was feared, did not develop and sufficient and desirable varieties were and are available to plant the full two million plus acres. While germination was low, farmers have tried to offset this by opening up planters and planting thicker than normal. Many good planting seeds are still being advertised for sale and there is no apparent seed shortage in any section.

Plantings this year, as in 1956-57, have been mainly Lankart, Lockett, Paymaster, Northern Star, Empire, and Gregg and Dunn with a scattering of other varieties including Acala.

W. O. Fortenberry, President of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., who farms both in Lubbock and Gaines Counties, said cotton was up to a good stand in Gaines County and looks as good as he had ever seen it look there.

Fortenberry urged PCG producers to be on the lookout this year for insects and recommended early season insect control where necessary in order that farmers might preserve the early crop.
