Big Unions Give Generous Funds To Yarborough!

By SAM WOOD Capitol Correspondent

WASHINGTON - Ralph W. Yarborough's 1957 election to the United States Senate was financed in part by money from six of the most powerful labor union organizations in America.

Affidavits on file here with the clerk of the US House of Representatives, in compliance with the sentatives, in compliance with the federal corrupt practices act, show that Yarborough's campaign n the special race for the US senate last spring drew $28,143 from labor groups headquartered in Detroit, New York, Cleveland, Washington and Pittsburgh. The federal records are the first

Sworn reports of the national labor organizations on file in the clerk's office of the House of Representatives show numerous con tributions in other sections of the nation for political campaigns, in-cluding members of legislatures, and in some instances candidates for city offices. A long discussion in the Congressional Record includes an analysis of Michigan PAC activanalysis of Michigan PAC activity. (As noted earlier in this article, Michigan PAC and Texas AFL-CIO joint committee each received $10,000 in 1956 from COPE, the two largest single political contributions from national COPE to local groups.)

The Michigan PAC activities are controlled to the political contributions from the political contributions from the political contributions.

The Michigan PAC analysis is from an article written by Miss Fay Calkins of the University of Chicago on a research project on the political activities of labor or-

She said "in Michigan PAC formed a liberal coalition with the Michigan Democratic Club, reform Democrats, A.F. and L., and a few patronage interest

By entering precinct captains in the primaries, especially in Wayne County, the coalition was trict Democratic conventions and send a majority of delegates to the state convention.

From this position the liberal coalition was able to determine the composition of the Democratic state executive committee, PAC was the strongest single interest group in the coalition.

The contributions from national labor organizations to state labor leaders in Texas for political activity, and the coalition between the "Democrats of Texas" liberal group headed by Mrs. Randolph, follows exactly the Michigan pattern. Texas labor leaders, Holleman, Schmidt and Bryant, to whom the contributions for political activity were sent, hold executive positions with DOT. They represent the strongest single interest group in the DOT coalition. In Texas, Harris County and its strong liberal organization, is the counterpart of the key Wayne County organization in Michigan. In Texas, as in Michigan, the avowed purpose of DOT is the same — to capture the precinct conventions and control the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Second quarter (1958 reports) of the national labor organizations, when they are filed with Congress in compliance with the Federal Corrupt Practices Act, will reflect their contributions, if any, to current political campaigns and political activity in Texas.

Quoted from the Congressional Record, Senate, June 16, 1958, Page 10214:

"COPE-While it is by far the most highly organized and most richly endowed political machine controlled excusively by the labor bosses—is not the only political action group of organized labor.
