pictures will be in the elementary or old gym, where 150 art prints

he exhibit will be shown first a 12:30 p.m. in the elementary audorium, and will be shown each nour thereafter until 3:30 p.m when the final performance will get underway. The original an-nouncement carried a different time and place for the show.

Musical interpretations for the various "living picture" poses will be arranged by Mrs. W. H. Maan, elementary music department cher, and Henry C. Hornsby MHS choral director

Mrs. Joe Seagler, Mrs. J. A. lowdy and Hornsby will supervise he posing of "the living pictures."
"We think parents will enjoy seeing their children dressed oring "to life" subjects created by great artists like Renoir, Law ence, Lenbach, Hencke, Reynolds, Glicklick, and many others," Mrs. eagler pointed out.

Mrs. John Barnes, high school English teacher, will be in charge of the fifteen guides who will conduct tours of the pictures and discuss the paintings, techniques, and lives of the painters.

They will also aid in the presenation of the "living pictures." The school is to receive 20 per the masters are to go to the school to aid in the teaching of art apprec-
