14 Housewares In Her Kitchen:-Housewife Says The Cooking's Fine

A HOME WITHOUT A RANGE describes the William H. Bruns residence in Springwood Village, Hyde Park, New York. This family does all its cooking with 14 small electric appliances, powered by two multi-outlet appliance centers.

What does a housewife need in the way of housewares to do a complete electrical cooking job? According to Mrs. Bruns: an electric rotisserie oven, coffee percolator, hot water kettle, blender, but place griddle pressure cooker. Dutch oven two subcomptions not plate, griddle, pressure cooker, Dutch oven, two automatic saucepans and a frypan, toaster, waffle iron and mixer.

To help assuage neighborhood curiosity, a home service representative of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Company confucted cooking demonstrations in the Bruns kitchen.

Mrs. Bruns reports: "The neighbors were plenty impressed with the fast and easy way my housewares turn out a meal. "Maybe if they drop enough hints in the right places, they'll get enough housewares for Christmas to do all of their cooking electrically, too."
