Post office has not yet felt onslaught of holiday mail

Local post office has not yet felt the annual heavy onslaught of holiday mail, a check with Postmaster Murray Crone showed today. Crone said that this week would be the heaviest day for mail, but that the onslaught of sending air-mail packages overseas. It is almost too late to send packages by regular mail.

Handy helpers . . . JERRY DANIEL AND JERRY HANNA, members of the Retail Promotions Committee of the Morton Chamber of Commerce, are shown busily sacking candy for Old St. Nick. Santa is scheduled to be on the square Thursday, from noon to about 2:30 p. m. and will listen to the youngsters and distribute candy, courtesy of the Morton businessmen. About 22 persons turned out Monday evening to help sack the candy.

Gay Christmas season to begin here today

Thursday will mark the beginning of the Christmas season in Morton with a Santa Claus giving bags of candy away, a festive parade with floats, registration for the give-away by Morton merchants, and the turning on of the Christmas lights and Christmas music.

Santa is scheduled to be on the courthouse square from noon to 2:30 Thursday. He will listen to the youngsters and distribute candy, courtesy of the Morton businessmen.

The participants in the Christmas Parade will assemble at the south corner of Doss Thriftway, Buchanan St., at 4:00 p. m. Thursday. The parade will begin at 4:30 p. m. and proceed north on Main and continue to the north side of the square, Wilson St. It will then complete the square and continue down 1st St. and disassemble on Taylor St. in front of the Activities Building.

The Morton High School band will participate in the parade and the Morton Junior High and Whiteface High and Junior High bands have been invited to participate. Five floats are entered as of this date. Two new floats were entered this week. They are the FHA float and the Stockdale School float is sponsored by Jones Ford. Other entries in the parade include floats by the Emla Smith Junior Study Club, sponsored by Morton Spraying & Fertilizer; L'Allegro Study Club, sponsored by Morton Tribune; and Little Folks Kindergarten, sponsored by Ideal Gift Shop.

Residents turn out to sack candy for Santa

Santa Claus and the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce received a big helping hand from the 1936 Study Club and Wocoha 10th grade Camp Fire Girls Monday night. These groups turned out in force to help sack Christmas goodies for St. Nick to give away to small fry of the community today (Thursday) when he greets the youngsters on the courthouse square. Over 700 sacks of Christmas delights were filled in record time by those working on the project—in less than an hour.

Those from the 1936 Study Club helping were Mrs. Hume Russell, Mrs. Neal Rose, Mrs. Joe Gipson, Mrs. James St. Clair, Mrs. Kenneth Thompson, Mrs. Doyle Brook, Mrs. Gage Knox, Mrs. G'enn Thompson, Mrs. M. C. Ledbetter, and Mrs. Joe Nicewarner. The young ladies from the Wocoha Horizon Club who pitched in were Ginger McCasland, Barbara Brook, Dana Webb, Margaret Ledbetter, Linda McCormish, Lanya Dolle, Alice Black, Sharon Davis and LaNelda Romans. Members of the retail promotion committee of the C of C who supervised the "candy sacking" were Jerry Daniel, Ed Sursa, Royce Hanna, Carl Ray, and Gene Snyder, along with Neal Rose and Hume Russell. Santa extends a great big "thanks" to all who helped in the project.

First freeze arrives here, rain follows

The weather has, and in a slight sense hasn't cooperated with the farmers this week. The long awaited hard freeze finally came, but a few days later rain accompanied it. According to SCS records, the low for Monday was 27, Tuesday's was 23, and Wednesday's was 24. As of 7:00 a. m. Wednesday .03 of an inch of rain had fallen here. Until Wednesday, harvest conditions in Cochran County this week were almost ideal, with cold nights and fairly warm and sunny days prevailing. The high on Monday was 54 and the high on Tuesday was 57. The high Wednesday morning was 57 with cloudy skies. According to SCS records this has been the longest period on record with out a sub-32 degree freeze. According to SCS records over the last ten years, the average freeze date is Oct. 29. This year, there was a slight freeze recorded Oct. 22, but there were no hard freezes recorded until this week. With the hard freeze finally arriving, area farmers have started their stripping operations on a large scale. County Agent Homer Thompson predicts that by next week the cotton gins will be working around the clock, if no serious problem arises from the rain.

★ Fund drive

James Dewbre, County Committee Treasurer for the Salvation Army, announced today that $586.46 has been turned in so far for the Salvation Army Fund drive here. Dewbre said that not all of the funds have been turned in as of yet. The goal for the fund drive is $1500.

Bank to be open on Saturdays

Officials of the First State Bank of Morton have announced that beginning this Saturday, December 4, the local banking institution will be open from 9 a. m. until 12 noon on Saturdays. This change of policy was made by the board of directors of the bank at a recent session. Reason for the Saturday opening at this time of the year is that during the harvest and holiday seasons, business activity in the area surges, and the Saturday opening will greatly add to the convenience of business people as well as other regular bank customers. One bank official commented, "We are constantly striving to improve our service to the public, and being open on Saturday morning should do this."

Home Tour scheduled Sunday by garden club

The second annual Tour of Homes is being planned for Sunday, December 5, 1965, by the Cochran County Garden Club. The theme for this tour is "Holiday Jewels". Three homes will be open between the hours of 2:00 and 4:00 p. m. beginning at the home of Mrs. Truett McCuiston, 307 E. Lincoln. Those attending the tour will be given the addresses and the order for continuing the tour. This tour is designed to show three homes decorated throughout for Christmas. Arrangements or decorations have been made by the Cochran County Garden Club members and each home will carry out a different theme — "An Old Fashioned Christmas", "Trees of Christmas" and "A Religious Christmas". The decorations on exhibit will give many "do-it-yourself" ideas to those attending the tour. Admission is $1.00. Tickets are available from any Cochran County Garden Club member or may be bought at the McCuiston home. Each home will display one decoration or arrangement which will be given as a door prize. The drawing will be at the last home following the completion of the tour. Garden Club members will deliver the prizes to winners. This is the second year that the Cochran County Garden Club has presented a Tour of Homes. The 1964 tour was an outstanding success. The purpose of the tour is to show decorations that were made by club members. The tour is being scheduled earlier than last year. See TOUR, Page 8

Two and three-fourths bales per acre . . . LOWELL WEBB, farm manager for T. K. Williamson, is shown kneeling beside some heavily laden cotton plants. The cotton is so thick that the stripper can only take one row at a time, and the yield is running over two and three-fourths bales per acre on this one 60 acre cotton allotment about eight miles southwest of here. The cotton is Ril-Cot variety and was planted May 5. It was fertilized after it was up to a stand with 70-70-12 the cost of which was $15 per acre. Sixty lbs. of delinted seed per acre was used and after a hail the stand was still good. The crop was watered five times, twice before planting.

Witness stand jitters afflict many in court

Right now, cases are pouring in to our legal channels at the record rate of half a million every week. One result is a growing likelihood that you yourself, some day soon, will be summoned to the courtroom to be a witness.

Many people get the jitters at the mere thought. A woman witness was so flustered that, when asked for her age, she gave her bust measurement instead. A man, when asked if he wanted to clarify a point, blurted out that he would "rather depend on the ignorance of the court."

Frightening setting

No doubt the very setting of a courtroom helps to frighten the witness. Above him sits the robed judge, majestically representing the awesome might of the Law. In front of him, hanging on his every word, sit the embattled litigants and their attorneys. Strangers in the jury box study him intently to see if he is telling the truth.

Yet, if you should be called upon to testify, you might find reassurance in a few fundamental facts:

1. You are a witness, not an actor. You are not expected to give a smooth and polished performance. Remember that the jurors, too, are in unfamiliar surroundings—likely to know just how you feel. Sincerity, not gibberish, will impress them most.

2. You have powerful allies. One is the lawyer who summoned you. And the judge has every reason to be patient and sympathetic. The more he helps you to do your job, the more you are helping him to do his.

3. That big bugaboo, cross-examination, is usually not terrifying. Tell the truth and you have nothing to fear. The slashing, bullying cross-examination, so often seen on TV, is seldom seen in court.

Cross exam

After all, a lawyer's cross examination — like a wife's cross-examination of her tardy husband — has one main purpose: to probe for lies. Unless the opposing attorney has good reason to think you are lying, he is not likely to treat you roughly. He would be running too much risk of winding up as a villain in the eyes of the jury.

Why not see for yourself? Before your own day in court, visit a courtroom to watch what goes on. For witness stand jitters, familiarity is the best antidote of all.

Drilling reports list Basin rigs

Reed Roller Bit Co., on the Friday survey of rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin Empire, listed 202 rigs, eight more than were reported on the count for last week and two fewer than 204 on the comparable survey in 1964.

Most notable of the week's activity is the climb of Reagan County, third place holder for the past several weeks, from 14 units, to 20 drilling new holes.

Pecos County still is in first place on the tally with 28, down four from 32 last week and Lea County, N.M., with 26, up four during the week, is second. Yoakum County had seven rigs on Nov. 19 and six on Nov. 26.

Texas Tech historians write history of Texas

Six Texas Tech historians embarked on an ambitious venture, a history of Texas from the tumultuous days of Spanish conquistadors to the present.

As a result of this prodigious effort, the six-volume "Saga of Texas" is being published this month by the Stack-Vaughn Company of Austin.

Members of the scholarly and extensive readable series are Dr. M. Vigness, Dr. Seymour V. McKay, Dr. Ernest Wallace, Dr. McKay, Dr. Odie B. Faulk, Dr. Billy M. Jones, each of whom has specialized in his own period by recounting a segment of the more than 550-year history of the Lone Star State.

From 1519 to now, the segments are pieced together that, taken as a set, the series presents a chronological picture of an era.

Chronologically, the first volume in the series, "A Successful Future" by Dr. Faulk, starts with the thread of history in 1519 when the first Spanish ship sailed along the coastline of what is now known as Texas, and continues through 300 years of Spanish possession until the revolutionary ideas of the early 1800's swept through the Spanish colonies in America.

Has written books

Faulk, who received his B.S., M. A. and Ph.D. (in 1962) degrees from Tech, was completing requirements for his doctorate when the idea for the series was generated. A specialist in early Texas history, he also is the author of "Tom Green: A Fightin' Texan," and "The Last Years of Spanish Texas." He currently is associated with the Arizona Pioneers Historical Society in Tucson, and a former assistant editor of "Arizona and the West."

In "The Revolutionary Decades," Dr. Vigness interprets the years of transition from Hispanic-American to Anglo-American influence (1810-1836), the years during which the Spanish empire in America crumbled, setting the stage for martyrdom at the Alamo and victory at San Jacinto.

Fulbright lecturer

Dr. Vigness, professor and head of the Tech history department, speaks with authority concerning this period of the state's history. In addition to having published articles in historical journals, he was a staff writer for "The Handbook of Texas" and co-editor of "Documents of Texas History." He was a Fulbright lecturer at the University of Chili and the Catholic University of Santiago in 1957-58.

Dr. Connor, general editor of the series, takes Texas through the problems of a new nation in "Adventure in Glory (1836-1849)." After winning their independence from Mexico, Texans were faced with a new set of problems, recognition by the United States and Europe, defense against both Indians and Mexico, and financial difficulties.

Award winner

Dr. Connor, professor of history at Tech, established and directed the Southwest Collection from 1955 to 1963, and became director of publications this year. While archivist at the Texas State Library, he edited the 3-volume "Texas Treasury Papers" which won an award of merit from the American Association for State and Local History. He is the author of "A Biggers Chronicle," "The Peters Colony of Texas" and was a staff writer for "The Handbook of Texas."

In "Texas In Turmoil (1849-1875)," Dr. Wallace brings together in a connected narrative the story surrounding the strife of the 1850's, the Civil War and Reconstruction, a state whose western frontier was in constant danger of Indian attack.

Dr. Wallace, professor of history and former assistant dean of the School of Arts and Sciences at Tech, has long been interested in the period covered in "Texas in Turmoil." He is author "Charles DeMorse, Pioneer Editor and Statesman," and Ronald S. Mackenzie on the Texas Frontier," and co-author of "Comanches, Lords of the Plains."

Maturity search

By 1875, the wounds of the Reconstruction were beginning to heal and in "The Search for Maturity (1875-1900)," Dr. Jones delineates Texas' transformation from frontier status to political and economic maturity, an era which required the efforts of many people less glamorous than the famed gunslingers.

Dr. Jones, now chairman of the department of social sciences at Angelo State College, San Angelo, was another who was working on his Ph.D at Tech when plans for the series were drafted. He has written articles for the Southwestern Historical Quarterly and the Southwest Social Science Quarterly and his another book - length manuscript, "Search for Health in the Development of the Southwest," currently under consideration for publication.

Oil era

"Texas After Spindletop (1901-1965)," by Dr. McKay and Dr. Faulk, marches forward from the spectacular discovery of oil at Spindletop in January 1910 which ushered in the twentieth century in Texas. Coming at a time when the market was increasing, the gushers literally pumped money into the Texas economy and provided the impetus for the growing industrialization of the state, its coming of age politically and economically.

Dr. McKay, who retired this year after 36 years as professor of history at Tech, has long been a commentator on the political scene in his native state. Among his best-known published works are "Texas Politics, 1906-1944," "W. Lee O'Daniel and Texas Politics, 1938-1942," and "Texas and the Fair

Inventions may stem from the average idea

Even in this era of large-scale research, a surprising number of inventions still come from the tinkering individual. Valuable patents are still being won by "basement inventors" ingenious enough to come up with something new.

However, to be entitled to a patent, an invention must be not only new but also — in the wording of the United States Constitution — "useful." What kind of an invention is useful?

First of all, it must be able to work.

"Not useful"

One man invented a "perpetual motion machine," complete with a dazzling array of doodads and thingumabobs. But his invention was held not patentable because, being contrary to the laws of nature, it could not possibly do the job it was meant for.

Second, to qualify as useful, the invention must do something that is beneficial, not harmful, to society.

Thus, courts have denied patent rights to a device for faking the quality of tobacco leaves, and to a gadget for "curing" disease by mysterious vibrations. Both inventions were found to be useful only for the purpose of cheating — hence, not useful in the Constitutional sense.

What if an invention, while useful for evil, is also useful for good? That is enough basis for a patent.

Better pistol

For example, an improved pistol could be patented. Although an instrument for evil in the hands of a robber, it could also be an instrument for good in the hands of a policeman.

A third requirement, for an invention to be considered useful, is that it must be more than a mere frivolity.

Of course, what is frivolous to one generation might not be to the next. A century ago a federal court said that a hoop skirt could not be patented, because it had no serious value to society. But today's courts are not likely to be that prim and proper.

"Odd-balls"

As for what might be called "odd-ball" inventions, the Patent Office generally takes a tolerant view. For instance, it has issued patents for an automatic hat-tipper, a shield for grapefruit-eaters, and a gun for shooting down flies.

For who can be sure that the oddity of today won't be the success of tomorrow? Wise men scoffed, too, at Alexander Graham Bell's talking toy — one of the most useful, and profitable, inventions of all time.

By VERN SANFORD

There is no such thing as an all-purpose rifle. Nevertheless, for financial reasons the average hunter must make one weapon do for all his hunting needs.

Let's say that he wants to hunt mule deer in West Texas or Colorado, whitetail deer somewhere else, even antelope. In that case he needs a rifle that will adequately cover his needs.

Then let's consider the .30/06. With Texans it still is the most popular of all hunting rifles.

This time-honored weapon will do the job even on the bigger mule deer and the huge black bear. And it's adequate for whitetails and even antelope within certain limitations.

Sight demanded
Nowadays, however, there are other rifles just as good, like the .308 and the .243. But to operate within full potential and satisfy all the needs, the weapon demands a sight that will give comparable performance.

Today the trend is to scope-sight. Under almost all circumstances the scope will do the job better than will conventional iron sights. But a fixed-power scope is, at best, a poor compromise.

Suppose you have a four-power (4x) sight. It isn't quite strong enough for antelope shooting, yet at times it is a mite too powerful for hunting whitetails, particularly when shooting at short range, in fairly heavy brush, or when shooting at a fast moving deer.

What's answer?
So what's the answer? Nearest thing to an all-around sight is a variable!

Modern engineering improvements have made the variable scope adequate for almost all hunting needs. And the price tag is coming down to compare favorably with fixed-power scopes.

You'll pay more for the variable, but the old saying that "you get just what you pay for" certainly is apt here.

Early variables weren't too favorable. For one thing, they tended to be unnecessarily bulky. For another, the size of the crosshairs changed size as you switched power. And in damp weather they often fogged up and were practically worthless.

No resemblance
Any resemblance between this first model and modern-day variables is purely coincidental. At first glance it is difficult to tell a variable from a fixed-power scope anymore. And when you change power the crosshairs remain constant in size.

Modern scopes are fogproof and greatly improved. Sturdy mounts make them almost as durable as iron sights. Sure, the scope is sticking up there just begging to be knocked out of alignment, but it takes quite a blow to throw one off anymore.

Range-finder
One model even has a range-finder built into the scope. In long-distance shooting, like with antelope, you actually can tell how far the game is away. So, if you know the range your rifle is sighted in, you can compensate for any added distance by holding it slightly high, to offset any drop of the bullet. Or aim lower at closer targets.

Most variables range from about 2-1/2X to 7X or 8X or even 9X. This means at lower power you have two-and-one half times the magnification of your normal eyesight, and with 8X you have eight times.

But magnification is just part of the scope story. A quality glass has the ability to gather and intensify light. This makes it much easier to use early in the day or during heavy overcast. These are the times when iron sights tend to blur.

With a scope it's also easier to pick out game standing still in underbrush. Good scopes almost seem to "see" through the brush. Only real draw-back is that a scope is difficult to use on running game at close range, such as when hunting deer. But this is more a matter of experience than anything else . . . as we quickly learned.

Open eyes

Idea is to leave both eyes open when you raise your weapon. The power should be at the lowest setting possible, to give you a wider field of view (as the power increases, the field of view decreases). With both eyes trained on the target, you can readily pick it up in the scope. Then it is just a matter of leading it the correct amount and squeezing the trigger.

In long-range shooting, when after mule deer or antelope, you can dial the power up to its strongest magnification. Also, if you want to study a deer for antelers, you can twist the dial to full power and look it over.

For spotting
A scope never will take the place of binoculars in spotting wildlife, since the twine picture is much more in perspective and you can see more. But a scope will serve double duty in an emergency.

When buying a variable for all-purpose work, you should consider the reticule. Medium crosshairs are the best for all-around use. Fine crosshairs are almost worthless for quick shooting after whitetails. And coarse crosshairs, dots and posts tend to cover up the game in long-range shooting.

All modern-day rifles are tapped and drilled to take top mounts. So putting a scope on your rifle requires mere minutes. The time it takes can add much to your hunting pleasure, convenience and success.

Morton Indians whip Bula Bulldogs 68-26

Morton's young basketballers found their shooting eyes Tuesday night as they completely overwhelmed the Bula Bulldogs, 68-26, on the local hardwood. The Morton B team outscored the visiting B squad, 64-30, in the curtain-raiser Tuesday evening.

Paced by Jimmy Joyce and Byron Willis, the Indians vaulted to a 46-16 halftime lead, and were in control of the contest from the outset. Joyce and Willis each scored 14 points in the first half.

Morton climbed to a 22-7 first period advantage, and were in front 33-20, at the end of the third canto. Everyone on the Morton all-man squad scored but one.

Whiteface lost a heart breaker with Cooper Tuesday in the closing seconds of the game by a score of 44-43.

Whiteface was leading 43 to 42 in the last 12 seconds of the game, when Jimmy Peterson of Cooper, was fouled. Peterson made both of his free throws and won the game for Cooper.

Randy Wheeler and Ronnie Schriener of Whiteface were tied for high point man with 13 each. The 'B' boys won their game with Cooper 40-29 the same evening. The girls lost 56-32. Sheryl Peters was the leading scorer for the girls with 17.

The annual Whiteface tournament will be Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

The schedule is as follows. Thursday: Whiteface girls vs. Avernath-7:00, boys 8:00; Bledsoe boys vs. Sudan 5:30, girls 4:00. Friday: Whiteface girls vs. Sudan 4:00; boys 5:30; Bledsoe girls vs. Avernath-7:00, boys 8:30.

Saturday: Whiteface girls vs. Bledsoe-7:00, boys 8:30; Sudan Sudan girls vs. Avernath-4:00, boys 5:30.

Each team in the tournament will play three games. The winner of the most games will be champion of the tournament.

Willis ended up as high-point man for the evening, as the freshman canned eleven field goals for 22 points. Joyce dropped in 19, including nine fielders and a single free toss. Willie Moore added six to the Indian cause, while Freddy Thomas made five tallies.

Sammy Nichols bucketed 19 points for the Bulldogs, while Gordon McDaniel and Shorty Richardson each had two.

The Morton B's held a 30-8 lead at halftime. They were led by Alton Black's 13 points, while Tommy Davis added eight. Ricky Arend and Rodney Claunch were high scorers for Bula, with seven and six points, respectively.

Seaney and carried.

Kenneth Thompson made a motion that three suits of clothes each consisting of a shirt and trousers, be purchased for Police Chief Burtis Cloud and patrolman Cunningham. Each year, as the need arises, the city purchases uniforms for the city police department.

Heart Chairman...

MRS. ELWOOD HARRIS has been appointed as the Heart Association Memorial Gifts Chairman of the Texas Heart Association. Mrs. Harris will serve Cochran County, receiving memorial gifts which will be used for conquering heart diseases. Contributions mailed to her, 502 East Hayes Ave., Morton, will be promptly acknowledged to the bereaved family and a receipt sent to the donor.

Mrs. Harris appointed Cochran Heart chairman

The appointment of Mrs. Elwood Harris as the Heart Association Memorial Gifts Chairman of the Texas Heart Association's Cochran County activities was announced today by the President of the State Association.

Mrs. Harris will serve the entire county, receiving memorial gifts which will be used to support programs aimed at conquering this Nation's number one health problem — Heart Diseases. Contributions mailed to her, 502 East Hayes Ave., Morton will be promptly acknowledged to the bereaved family and a receipt sent to the donor.

Mrs. Harris explained that more deaths result from heart diseases in Texas than from all other causes combined. Research has already developed much that is cutting this heavy toll. For instance, rheumatic fever is yielding to drug therapy, and we frequently read of heart operations that enable patients to live normal healthy lives. Some of the most dramatic developments have been made in the heart research centers in Texas.

GI insurance bonanza due only to few veterans

World War II Texas veterans are swamping VA offices because of a misleading report that many of them did not collect the first dividend on National Service Life Insurance 1950 and 1951.

Actually, 99.8% of the 766,000 Texas veterans who has NSLI at the end of WWII received the dividend, according to information made public by the Veterans Administration. The rumor about the "GI Insurance Bonanza" apparently started because several industrial publications printed, under a 1965 date line, the old law authorizing the payment.

The VA has estimated that there may be about 1,000 ex-GI's in Texas who never got paid. Most of these dropped their insurance upon leaving the service and did not give VA a mailing address. They can still collect this dividend if it has never been received, but before making application, every veteran should try to recall whether they received this dividend. They may do this by recalling where they lived and what they were doing in 1950 and 1951. If they are unable to recall receiving a Government check about that time, then they can still write to the VA.

State American Legion endorses 'Show your colors'

The American Legion's Department Commander Clayton Mann of Wichita Falls announced the full support of Texas in the program "Operation Show Your Colors" by National Commander L. Eldon James.

The first pin was placed on the lapel of Legionnaire Governor John Connally today as the Texas Department kicked off the program. When pinned, Governor Connally gave his wholehearted support of the aims and purposes of "Operation Show Your Colors."

The giant Legion began flexing its muscles to marshal support of U.S. foreign policy in Vietnam by calling on its millions of members to wear an American Flag Lapel Pin to demonstrate support.

The lapel flags to be passed out by the millions will be accompanied by a small card carrying the message: Operation Show Your Colors — Americans are serving the cause of freedom in Vietnam. I wear my country's flag to show that I support their efforts.

For distribution "The pins and cards are being mass produced and will be ready for distribution within the next few days," said Commander Mann.

He emphasized this is not just for Legion members only, but for all loyal Americans as a symbol of American unity.

"Any business or other civic organization interested in obtaining a supply of the pins for distribution to its employees or members, may do so without charge by contacting the American Legion Department Headquarters, Drawer L, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711. All requisitions will be filled as rapidly as possible," Mann stated.

Texas oil men drilled 13,152 wells in 1964, or 29.1% of U.S. drilling.

Early planning for retirement held necessary for young married couples

Couples need to set values and goals early in marriage in order to plan for security in retirement, says Mrs. Doris Myers, Texas A&M University Extension area home management specialist.

The need for more adequate planning for retirement was disclosed in a recent study which Mrs. Myers conducted in Central and East Texas.

"Young couples need to manage all their resources and make changes in financial management in line with long range goals, rather than stressing short term goals and living from year to year," the specialist says.

The research focused on how aged farm couples in the two areas were living six years after the Social Security Act had been amended to include them. Data were collected on expenses for family living and levels of net worth.

Eighty percent of the retired farm couples included in the study had incomes from social security. Slightly over 10 percent of the couples had so little income from social security or other sources that they applied for and received old age assistance to make up deficits in their income. For various reasons, planning for retirement had not been adequate.

The study also disclosed that 67 percent of the farm couples were receiving enough social security benefits or income from other sources that they did not receive any old age assistance benefits. Although their average money income after taxes decreased 19 percent following retirement, it averaged $3,141 — or well above the "modest but adequate" budget of $2,500 set up by the Bureau of Labor Statistics for a retired couple, Mrs. Myers says.

Planning for retirement by couples receiving social security — but not old age assistance — allowed them to maintain their former level of living, according to Mrs. Myers.

Peggy Ramsey and Peggy Cheek of Wayland Baptist College visited in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Ramsey and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cheek, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Key of Idalou visited Thanksgiving Day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Key.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Monacelli, seniors at New Mexico State University at Las Cruces, New Mexico, spent Thanksgiving holidays in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Brown and family.

Representatives of local Youth Conference meet

Representatives of the Area Youth Conference met Monday, November 29 at 5:30 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce office, with fourteen students and thirteen adults present. Jesse T. George presided.

The assembly committee is working on a schedule for the speaker that will present the assembly program at the local and area schools on Friday, January 21st.

Fifteen local and out of town speakers have been confirmed, also a speaker from Kingsville, for the Latin American students and parents, with a date and place to be given later. This will be on local radio Spanish program to urge all to attend.

Waggoner Carr sent his congratulations to the group by Jesse George for having the first youth conference in this area. Carr will give the key address on Saturday, January 22, if at all possible.

Individual letters and re-registration plans are being made.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Seagler with Mike Irwin, Sue Lewis, Cheryl McDaniel and Don Vanlandingham will go to Bledsoe on Monday, December 6 at 8:00 p.m. to acquaint the P.T.A. with the youth conference.

Reports from other committees were given and all were urged to make their final plans.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, December 13, at 5:30 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce office.

One out of two brides to be under twenty this year

Teen-agers are flocking to the altar by the hundreds of thousands. One out of two brides this year will be under 20. The same ratio will end up in separation or divorce, according to Changing Times reporting on "What happens to teen-age marriages?"

The chance of success for a teen-age marriage in the U.S. is about a third as good as for marriages of those in their twenties. The fact is that today more girls marry at age 18 than at any other age and this tendency to marry young is one that is peculiar to the United States.

Not just women — It's not just the women either; nearly half of all American young men are married by the time they are 25, compared with only a quarter in most of Europe and as few as a tenth in Norway and Ireland. Only in Asia do you find a marry-young pattern comparable to that of the U.S.

Interested in improving the chance of success of thousands of marrying teens, Changing Times offers these guidelines:

The young married — particularly the groom — must understand the necessity of completing high school and, if possible, going on to college or other advanced training.

More needs to be done to help teen-agers understand what marriage entails — realistic education on what marriage is like, what obstacles must be overcome, why money is important.

More help is needed for married couples in trouble in family counseling, baby care, supplementary education, and general encouragement in making the best of the situation.

And, parents must not cringe at prospects of a teen-age crisis. Wise parents can accept what is and give every support they can.

Parental advice — If your teen-ager wants to marry . . . tell her or him these facts:

One out of two teen-age marriages ends in divorce or separation. Teens who drop out of school to marry rarely go back.

Pregnancy occurs early for most teen brides — ending hopes of career or more education.

Teen husbands average a little over $2,000 a year, but most families need two or three times that to get by.

For teen husbands with limited education, job advancement is almost impossible.

Most teens are overwhelmed by the emotional and psychological trials of marriage.

A few years of waiting is the best assurance of a lifetime of married happiness.

Feathers to fly soon as duck season opens

Feathers soon will begin flying on one Texas wildlife front while action ceases in another air-borne target area.

The annual fall duck hunt opened at sunrise on November 24 throughout the state, the day following the close of the south zone mourning dove season. The dove season ran from September 1, when it opened in the north zone, through November 23 when it closed in the south zone except in those counties having a whitewing season where it closed on November 19.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department described the dove hunt in both the north zone, which closed October 30, and in the south zone which had opened September 25, as "better than average."

The duck hunt, opening at sunrise on November 24 and closing at sunset January 2, is another story, according to the Department. The season is unusually short and the harvest provisions changed again, although the bag limits remains at four per day and eight in possession, after the opening day.

The official proclamation provides: "The daily bag limits of ducks may not include more of the following species than: (a) 2 wood ducks; (b) 2 canvasbacks; (c) 1 mallard; and (d) 1 pintail. The possession limit may not include more of the following species than: (a) 2 wood ducks; (b) 2 canvasbacks; (c) 2 mallards; and (d) 2 pintails."

While the pintail limit was drastically reduced, along with mallards which have been heavily protected lately, the curb on taking redheads was removed completely. This fleet is particularly popular along the lower Texas coast.

The other phase of the waterfowl season, the goose hunt, continues on through January 12 from its October 30 opener. The Department reported that the goose population continues to grow especially in the coastal marshes and that the early shoot has been normal.

More than one-fifth (2,972) of Texas wells in 1964 were "wild-cat" wells, which seek new fields. Only 29% found oil or gas.

year to enable those who attend to get Christmas decorating ideas for their own homes.

The homes will have decorations in every room and carry the central theme through out the entire house. Many materials and decorations will be made by club members and all decorations shown will be made by club members and decorations shown will be arranged by club members.

Tickets for the tour are available from any Cochran County Garden Club member. Mrs. Don Workman, projects chairman, is in charge of the tour and can be contacted for further information.

Library

The Cochran County Library is open four days a week, Monday through Thursday, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., in the County Activities Building.

There are enough books on different varied subjects to interest almost anyone, according to librarian Mrs. Hesia B. Spotts.

Christmas

will be in the form of gift certificates, will be on Saturday December 18, at 2:00 p.m., on the courthouse square.

As of Tuesday, ninety-six gift certificates will be given by 20 merchants. The total value will be close to $450.

Winners of the certificates do not have to be present to win, and the gift certificates will be mailed to the winners on the same day as the drawing. They will be redeemable in the different Morton stores all the following week, December 20 through 24.

The decorations, purchased last year by donations of Morton businessmen and individuals, are in place, and Thursday the switch will be thrown to light them.

Plans have been completed for the piping of Christmas music throughout downtown Morton, with the speakers already in place. The music will originate in the Chamber of Commerce office and is scheduled to begin Thursday.

The Christmas program this year appears to be one of the most extensive that Cochran County has had. Much planning and organization has gone into it by the Retail Promotions Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Members of the group are Royce Hanna, Ed Sursa, Jerry Daniel, Carl Ray, and Gene Snyder, with Ray and Snyder as Co-Chairmen.

GUNS AND BOOZE

The Texas Safety Association warns hunters that "gunpowder and alcohol don't mix." Two drinks can reduce visual acuity as much as wearing dark glasses at night. Drinking also affects judgment, balance and reflexes.

LINDA AND THE GOVERNOR—Linda Hollins called on Governor John Connally, asking that he support the Christmas Seal campaign against tuberculosis. Linda's mother, Mrs. John Hollins of Austin, a former WAC, was recently hospitalized with the disease. Linda, her two sisters and her brother, are being cared for by an aunt and by their father, who is employed as a welder. Governor Connally apparently found Linda pleaded her cause well.

Drugs may make auto drivers sleepy

The Texas Safety Association today reminded Denver City drivers that many drugs, such as those which relieve nasal congestion and combat allergies, can contribute to traffic accidents.

"Many modern lifesaving and health-restoring drugs can affect reaction time or sensory functions," J. O. Musick, TSA General Manager, said. "Drivers should use caution when taking such drugs."

He emphasized that all persons do not experience side-effects from drugs but that those who do should not drive. He further warned that side-effects do not always show up immediately.

Many drugs induce sleep and cause inattentiveness several hours after their consumption," Musick explained.

Accompanying each entry must be a separate sheet of paper on which the child's name, age, street and address and telephone number are written.

Extra copies of the coloring page are available at Morton Insurance Agency.

Types cited

He cited six major types of drugs which may impair driving ability. These are:

Antihistamines — Certain brands have unpredictable side-effects on different individuals. They can cause sudden drowsiness, or a dizzy spell that makes a person unfit for driving.

Pain relievers and sedatives — These can affect reaction time and sensory functions. Some give such a strong feeling of well-being that a driver may forget driving is a demanding business. Others may make a driver sleepy, dim vision, or interfere with his concentration and reflexes.

Tranquilizers — Great care must be exercised to avoid some surprising effects. Some people become giddy, others experience sudden episodes of drowsiness, faintness or disorientation.

Never stimulants — Often these are recommended for the tired traveling person. The best rule is never take more than one. While, reportedly, they increase alertness and driving efficiency, as soon as the effect of the first tablet wears off, a person should stop driving at once and get plenty of rest. The brief period of stimulation (about two hours) is followed by greater exhaustion and depression. Additional pills will only put a driver into a "zombie-like" trance and make him a menace on wheels.

Motion-sickness drugs — These may be helpful for passengers in a car; but for the driver, they can be dangerous. They may slow reaction time or have harmful effects on driving alertness.

Wonder drugs — Some of the valuable drugs that fight infections also can produce side-effects, such as nausea, temporary deafness and, occasionally, a loss of the sense of balance.

Ask physician — Musick urged motorists under the care of a physician to heed his advice about driving while taking drugs, and advised those persons making across-the-counter purchases of these types of drugs to take note of warnings on labels concerning side-effects. "Remember, traffic is hazardous, even when drivers are in complete control of all physical and mental faculties!" he concluded.

ADVERTISING PAYS

Dairymen now have proof the fluid milk sales can be increased through advertising. Sid Jenkins, Texas A&M University Extension dairy marketing specialist, says recent studies in six test markets showed dairymen could expect good return on funds spent for promoting fluid milk.

"SAFETY" TIP

The Texas Safety Association advises hunters to never trust a gun that's "on safety". The more hunter counts on a safety catch for protection, the less reliable it becomes. Any mechanical device can fail — unless it's backed up by skill, good sense and safe habits.

Let's go together to choose the tree.
With a merry, merry Christmas this will be!

Even our puppy is eager to play
With Christmas ribbons so bright and gay.

Now's the time every girl and boy
Will proudly sing carols of Christmas joy.

At jolly old Santa we wanted to peep,
But when he arrived, we were sound asleep.

What fun it would be to take a ride
On Santa's reindeer, this merry Yuletide.

To help Santa, a-shopping we'll go
We'll find many wonderful gifts, I know.

Brother's stocking is big, you see.
Santa, please leave my gifts under the tree.

Not all gifts come on Santa's sleigh.
We're wrapping surprises for Christmas day.

My Christmas wishes make a long list,
But I'll cut it down, Santa, if you insist!

The story of Christmas lives today
In the manger scene of our special play.

Names on Texas map do double duty

By BUCK SCHEIB

Many local residents are now planning their holiday vacations. The Texas Highway Department has released some information which may, or which may not, aid Cochran Countians in planning these trips.

All the information may be found on the Official State Highway map. It all begins rather simply. Let's take a city we all know, Lubbock. Lubbock can be found in Lubbock County, and from this we can logically infer that Dallas will be found in Dallas County and El Paso in El Paso County.

Now, it begins to get a little tricky. Jefferson, the town, is not in Jefferson County. It is 200 miles north of Jefferson County, in Marion County.

Jefferson County does include, however, the town of Sabine. Sabine County, on the other hand, is 75 miles away and is the site of a town named Milam, but Milam County is a far piece west in central Texas.

Cameron is the county seat of Milam County, not Cameron County, because Brownsville is the county seat of Cameron County. Naturally, Brown County is hundreds of miles north in west central Texas. Strangely enough, Brownwood is the county seat of Brown County.

If you are still with us, let's take a look at Caldwell County. The city of Caldwell isn't there, it's in Burleson County. Burleson, the town, is in Johnson County. Johnson County, you've probably heard of the place, is miles away in Blanco County.

Possibly area residents are considering Houston for their Christmas vacation. Houston is in Harris County, not in Houston County. Houston County is three counties north, and the city of Crockett is its county seat. Crockett County is in West Texas, however.

Getting still closer to home than Crockett County, Hale Center, north of Morton, is not in Hale County, which is also north of Morton. It is in Castro County, and Castroville, the town, is back in South Texas, in Medina County. Naturally, this would place the city of Medina in the next county north, Bandera.

Dimmitt County is in south Texas. But the town of Dimmitt (spelled with an extra 't'), is back in west Texas in Castro County. The city of Yoakum is not in Yoakum County about 30 miles south of here, but is in Lavaca County, and the city of Port Lavaca is down on the Texas coast.

The town of Brownfield, located southeast of here, is not in Brown County. It is in Terry County. A further check shows that Huntsville is not in Hunt County, but is in Walker County, and that Smithville is in Bastrop County, not Smith County.

Smith County does include the town of Tyler, but Tyler County is further south and includes the town of Woodville. Wood County is further north, in east Texas next to Smith County.

As you might have guessed by now, we have been pulling your leg a little. Many area residents are planning their vacations now, however, and an Official State map might prove to be of assistance to them.

One of these maps may be obtained by writing the Travel and Information Division, Texas Highway Department, P.O. Box 5064 Austin (78703). Ask for specific travel information about the area you wish to visit, and they will be happy to help you, possibly a little more than we have.

Holiday vacation time . . .

MANY AREA RESIDENTS are turning to their Texas road maps in preparation for their coming holiday vacations. The Texas Highway Department, which prints the official Texas road maps, has released some information in a humorous vein, which may aid, but will probably do more to hinder, local persons in planning their trips.

Extension Service to give course

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has planned a Fertilizer Management and Technology Short Course which will be presented in late November and early December in four High Plains towns.

According to James Valentine, soil chemist at the South Plains Research and Extension Center, near Lubbock, who has worked with county agents in planning the sessions, the short course is designed for fertilizer dealers, agency personnel and program building committee members.

Presenting the educational meetings will be Extension and fertilizer-industry personnel. The short course will be presented November 29 through December 9. Valentine said the purpose of the short course is to improve management skills of fertilizer dealers and to bring them up-to-date information on soil pesticide relationships and on potentials of new fertilizer materials.

The meetings will be held in Hereford, Plainview, Lubbock and Lamesa in two sessions scheduled one week apart.

Three topics will be covered during the first session at all locations, Kenneth Wolf, Extension economist specializing in agri-business, of College Station, will speak on "Management Lag & Management Process" and "Use of Managerial Time." James A. Potts, President of Taylor-Evans Farm Stores, will talk on "Personnel Utilization."

The second sessions, scheduled one week later at all locations, will start with a dinner. Dr. Jack D. Price, an agricultural chemicals specialist at the headquarters staff of the Extension Service, will talk on "Soil Pesticide Relationships." Dr. Yates Smith, field representative with the Tennessee Valley Authority, will speak on "New Products and Processes in Fertilizer Manufacturing." John Seibert, Extension farm management specialist, of Lubbock, will give summary comments at the meeting and present the short course certificates.

Valentine said the Extension Service is offering the short course to help agribusiness people so they will be able to more efficiently serve area farmers.

People interested in attending the short course are urged to contact the county agent in their home county as soon as possible. The fee for attending is $5.00.

Short Course Times and Places:

Nov. 29 at 7:30 p.m. Hereford meets in the Bull barn, Dec. 6 at 6:30 p.m. East Highway 90.

Nov. 30 at 7:30 p.m. Plainview meets at the Chamber of Commerce, 710 West Fifth.

Dec. 7 at 6:30 p.m. Plainview meets at the Alcove Restaurant, 908 West Fifth.

Dec. 1 at 7:30 p.m. Lubbock meets at Vann's Catering Service, 4004 Ave. A Dec. 8 at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 2 at 7:30 p.m. - Lamesa at Forest Park Community Center. Dec. 9 at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. LeRoy Johnson named MOD advisor

Mrs. LeRoy Johnson, Morton, has been appointed northwest Texas volunteer advisor for The National Foundation-March of Dimes, Basil O'Connor, president, announced today.

Mrs. Johnson, whose two children had polio in 1945, has been a March of Dimes volunteer for many years.

She lived in San Angelo until 1953 and was an active leader there in the P.T.A., Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, and teen activities.

The voluntary health organization is stepping up its attack on birth defects which afflict more than a quarter of million infants born in the United States each year.

Since healthier mothers usually have healthier babies, the March of Dimes strongly emphasizes the need for pregnant women to obtain prenatal care and is seeking to improve the quality and availability of such care throughout the nation.

The March of Dimes group is also substantially expanding its nationwide network of Birth Defects Centers as well as intensifying its public and professional education programs while financing basic research into puzzles related to defective prenatal development.

Mrs. Johnson will work closely with women's clubs and youth-serving organizations to develop educational projects concerning prenatal care, the problems of birth defects and the help available to patients, families and communities through the March of Dimes.

Mrs. Johnson is a member of the Town and Country Study Club and third vice-president of the Caprock District of Texas Federated Women's Club. In 1964, she was chosen "Mother of the Year" by the Cochran County Federated Clubs.

Saturday night guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Roddy were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Farr and Ronnie of Tucson, Arizona.

Mrs. O. B. Williams was a Monday visitor in Lubbock.

Highway sign vandalism costly

Highway signs are erected for the safety and convenience of the motoring public — not to provide gun-toting punks with a handy target for plinking.

Yet, a major share of the $450 thousand vandalism to Texas highway signs annually is caused by gunfire, according to D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer.

Bullet-riddled roadside markers accounted for 85 per cent of all signs which had to be replaced in one Texas Highway Department
District in West Texas in one year.

Small costs
Even a small highway sign costs about $10 to replace. Larger, more elaborate signs costing hundreds of dollars have been targets for wanton vandalism, too, Greer said.

If apprehended, vandals can be made to pay for the destruction they cause. But the person who operates a motor vehicle in Texas foots the greater portion of the bill for replacement through his motor fuel taxes and licensing fees,
Greer said.

More important, destruction of signs causes inconvenience — and many times deadly peril — to motorists using the highways.

"So be a good sport during this hunting season," Greer said.
"Point your gun only at game, not our highway signs."

Mrs. C. S. Lightfoot of Levelland

ly, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Waters, Sunday.

Honor Miss DeBusk at nuptial courtesy

Miss Sandra DeBusk, bride-elect of Dale DeBord, was honored with a bridal shower Saturday morning from 9:30 to 11 in the home of Mrs. J. C. Reynolds.

Hostesses with Mrs. Reynolds were Mrs. Scott Hawkins, Mrs. James St. Clair, Mrs. Loyd Miller, Mrs. C. E. Luper and Mrs. John Crowder. Their gifts were three kitchen appliances.

Miss DeBusk wore a red veiled-teen dress and added a white carnation corsage. Her mother, Mrs. R. L. DeBusk, and future mother-in-law, Mrs. Ralph DeBord also wore corsages of white carnations.

The bride's chosen colors of red and white were carried out in the table decor. A red felt cloth covered the table which was centered with an arrangement of peppermint carnations accented with wedding bells. White doves held a red ribbon bearing the names of "Sandra" and "Dale" in silver. White china completed the setting.

Approximately 75 guests called on the morning and were served miniature rolls, breakfast sausage, hot cranberry punch and coffee. Miss Kay St. Clair greeted the guests and Miss Betsy Crowder, registered.

Miss Mary Kate Miller, Miss Mary St. Clair and Mrs. Sherrill Griffith, alternated at the serving table. Assisting in opening the gifts was Miss Pam Reynolds.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Paul Farrar, and Mrs. Jimmy Rodgers, aunts of the bride-elect and Mrs. Dennis Q. Lilly, grandmother, all of Brownfield. Mrs. R. L. DeBusk, Sr., grandmother and Mrs. Wallace White, aunt, both of Slaton.

 that binds

A true love for our Lord and Saviour binds our hearts in Christian love.

This love encourages us to put our energies and efforts together to serve our Lord at home, at work, and at Church.

A truly wonderful fellowship exists for those who believe and worship together. Attend Church and worship with kindred minds.

"That I may come unto you with joy by the will of God, and may with you be refreshed."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family.
 Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
