MAX AND LEORA BOWERS

Morton couple perish Thursday in private plane crash near Brownwood

A massive air search by the Civil Air Patrol ended Saturday at 10 p.m., when a private pilot sighted the wreckage of a missing Morton plane, near Brownwood.

Found near the wreckage were the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Max Bowers, who reportedly had left Morton Thursday to pick up their son, Joe, at Allen Military Academy in Bryan.

The small plane was first reported missing late Thursday night, when the plane failed to land at Esterwood Airport in Bryan on schedule with the flight plan that Bowers had filed at Abilene.

A search was started by the Civil Air Patrol Friday for the well known Texas-New Mexico farmer and rancher, but was delayed because of bad weather conditions in the area.

Both Bowers and his wife Leora were reported to be licensed pilots, with Mrs. Bowers just recently receiving her private license. Max was reported to have held a license for several years.

The bodies were taken to Abilene from the crash scene where the F.A.A. ordered autopsies. The bodies were later brought to Singleton General Home in Morton.

Joint services were held Monday at the First Baptist Church in Morton. Rev. Fred Thomas, pastor, officiated. They are survived by one son, Joe, and one daughter, Mrs. Robert Youre, Clovis, N.M. In addition they are also survived by two grand-children. Mrs. Bowers is survived by her mother, Mrs. Maud Handley, Morton, and one brother, J. J. Handley of Lamesa.

Bowers is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Billie Bounds, Lorenzo, and Mrs. Alene Samford, Morton, and one brother, Earl, of Goodland.

A spokesman for the C.A.P. said that it appeared that Bowers was attempting to turn around and go back to Abilene or Brownwood when the plane struck the side of a mesa, burning after throwing the occupants clear of the main wreckage.

Nine planes from the Muleshoe-Morton area went to Bryan and Temple to aid in the search, carrying some 27 Morton people to the area. It took ground crews almost an hour to reach the scene after it was spotted from the air, as it was in rugged ranch land.

The Morton men who went to aid in the search served as honorary pallbearers at the double funeral.

A MORTON MATH TEACHER, Mrs. J. N. Leavitt, was notified recently that she had been accepted to four colleges under a higher education grant by the National Science Foundation. She is shown aiding Joey Newson with some extra studying for a special test.

Local math teacher gets paid from National SF

A long-time Morton mathematics teacher was notified last week of acceptance for the National Science Foundation for further study in the field of math.

Mrs. J. N. Leavitt, said that she made application to several colleges that were offering the advanced study this summer.

To Mrs. Leavitt's surprise, she was notified that she had been accepted for not just one, but four of colleges.

She is attending Texas State University, Bryan; University of Houston, Houston; Texas Women's University, Denton; and T.C.U. Fort Worth, all notified the fourth year math teacher that she could attend at the expense of the National Foundation.

After much study, Mrs. Leavitt said that she would probably attend the University of Houston.

Mr. Leavitt, a Cochran County farmer, also plans to travel to Houston.

Mrs. Leavitt has been a teacher in the Morton Schools for the last 10 years and has been teaching for the last 22 years.

The Bowers had both been made 'partners for life' by Boys Town.

Mrs. Bowers was born in Lamesa in 1916, and attended school at both Lamesa and Fairview, lettering in basketball for four years.

Max Bowers was born in Lorenzo in 1914, and attended school there.

Coming to Morton in 1939, Bowers worked for Cochran Power and Light before purchasing an interest in the Twin-Mills Pasture land.

Set educational cotton meeting here March 22

An educational meeting on cotton has been slated for Tuesday, March 22, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the County Agriculture Building in Morton. This is an open meeting for businessmen, farmers and others interested.

Pete Brown and Earl Younts of the National Cotton Council will be here to bring the program, according to Homer E. Thompson, county agent.

The purpose of this program is to point out cotton's competitive situation, and to outline the present research and promotion program. One factor to be discussed is the financing of part of the research program proposed by farmers.

U.S. cotton faces four to one odds in research and fifteen to one odds in promotion, according to the Cotton Producers Institute.

Aims of research are to increase producer profits by cutting costs of growing and processing cotton, improving fiber quality, develop new products and expand domestic and foreign markets. The 24 projects now aimed at cutting production costs are in four major areas: weeds, insects, diseases, and the yields.

Other projects are aimed at making improvements in four key areas — creases, resilience, easy care and luster.

"Farmers are urged to attend this March 22 meeting and find out the facts about cotton, so we can put it in its rightful place. This is a united job for all who believe in cotton," Thompson said.

A total of eight groups appeared in the talent show, vying for the three top places.

Commissioners look at possible improvements

The Cochran County Commissioners Court held a short meeting Monday, spending part of its time looking at a proposed expansion of the County Courthouse.

Present for their regular meeting were, Judge Johnnie Love, commissioners Leonard Coleman, U. L. Weis, Leland Scypert, and Harrah Rowles.

In the first action, the commissioners approved the county bills. Miss Jennie Allen presented an annual report from the Home Demonstration office, explaining it in part to the court.

Miss Allen told the court that she had served 418 families in the last year in the field of home economics.

She also reported a total of 72 new members of the 4-H in Cochran County, which now has six clubs, with a total of 241 members. There are a total of 48 adult leaders and nine junior leaders working with the 4-H groups now.

In further action at the court, the firm of Stiles, Roberts, and Messersmith, Lubbock, presented architect's drawing for improvements to the Cochran County Courthouse.

The proposed drawings showed 34 feet to the north side of the courthouse, and 34 feet to the south side, both covering only the first floor and basement.

The plans called for the additions to be constructed of matching material, so they would not have to change the entire building. The inside of the existing building would be remodeled to match the new additions. A complete new air conditioning and heating system would be installed.

A cost breakdown was also presented on the proposed 7,980 sq. feet of addition, at $115,000; remodeling the existing building, $95,000; jail equipment, $37,000; library to be moved to courthouse, $3,000 for equipment; courtroom furnishings, $10,000; architect's fee, $15,000, (6%); and cost of new files, counters, and loose furniture, $24,400, for an estimated total of $300,000.

Rusty Reeder represented the Chamber industrial development committee. Others attending the meeting were: Daniel Weatherly, Wright, Lewis Hodge, Dub Hodge, Webb, Jaycees president, Cleveland, and Morton Chamber president Don Workman and manager Jesse T. George.

Factual survey being compiled by Jr. Chamber

Compilation of a Factual Community Survey for Morton trade territory has begun. The survey, to be completed by April 1, will include statistics on labor force, per capita income, city and county government, water supply, population, schools and other pertinent information. The data will be made available to industries making inquiries for location in the area.

Texas Industrial Commission, Chambers of Commerce, and local organizations and citizens.

Final plans for the survey were made March 10 during a meeting of the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce industrial development committee and the community development committee of the Morton Jaycees.

Jaycees committee chairman Butch Wright reviewed the needed survey material and appointed a committee of Jaycees to help gather the information. Members of the committee include Jerry Daniel, Dean Weatherly, Doyle Webb, Lewis Hodge and Dub Hodge.

Grand jury returns five true bills

The Grand Jury of Cochran County met Monday, returning a total of five true bills.

Jose Garcia was indicted on a charge of forgery and passing, while both Ray Banda and Imogene Banda were indicted for burglary.

Two other indictments are being withheld pending arrests.

Scouts near goal of $1,000 in drive

The end is nearing for the 1966 Fund drive by the Morton Boy Scouts.

Shooting for a goal of $1,000, the Scout leaders now report that they have $700.

Each troop is so far averaging about $50 each. The money raised by the local Scouts is sent to the regional headquarters and returned to them by means of council leaders and permanent camp facilities and training programs.

Outline plans aiming for N. M. highway hook-up

Plans for a highway shortcut through Morton to Roswell, N.M., were re-activated here last Thursday. A joint committee from the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce and the Morton Junior Chamber of Commerce outlined needed steps in the proposed route.

Meeting at 7 a.m. in the Wig Wam Restaurant, the two groups started formulating plans for serious consideration of the route. The total project is envisioned to include improvement of State Highway 116 from Lubbock, through Morton to the state line and extension of the highway to join U.S. Highway 70 leading to Roswell.

Work originally began on June 18, 1965, when managers of Chambers of Commerce from Morton, Muleshoe and Levelland met to discuss the proposal. A telephone call revealed that the Roswell Chamber of Commerce was interested in the proposal.

Morton Area Chamber manager Jesse T. George later conferred with Herbert C. Petry Jr., chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, and with the board of the Levelland Chamber of Commerce.

Morton Jaycees currently are preparing a map of the proposed route and soliciting support from Jaycee Clubs in the area.

Van Greene, chairman of the MACoC Highway Committee, is writing area Chambers for their support. The Committee also plans to set up a meeting with the Roswell Chamber of Commerce and interested citizens there to create more interest in New Mexico.

Greene also is to contact Petry and Oscar Crain, Texas Highway Department district superintendent.

Jaycees are planning a meeting with their counterparts in Roswell, to be followed by a joint committee meeting with the New Mexico Highway Commission.

During the meeting, it was pointed out that the new route would stimulate new business, particularly improving the chances of locating a motel in Morton. It also would provide a shorter route to the Roswell - Ruidoso area and more direct connections with South Plains College, Texas Tech, Lubbock Christian College and Eastern New Mexico University.

Attending the meeting were Greene, J. C. Reynolds, Tip Windom, Leonard Coleman, Carl Ray, Dean Weatherly, Truman Swinney, Whiteface, and Vern Beebe, Whiteface, Chamber highway committee; Chairman Butch Wright, president Cleve Bland, Bud Fountain, Doyle Webb, Wiley Hodge and Ed Pruitt, Jaycees; Don Workman, chamber president; Jesse T. George, and Quentin Rhodes, mayor of Whiteface.

A Morton man, C. L. Robinson, was assessed a life prison term Tuesday in 121st District Court.

Robinson was found guilty of assault with intent to murder with malice aforethought, in connection with the stabbing of J. T. Daniels, former service station manager.

Daniels was stabbed eleven times about the body after an argument over a $3.56 gas bill last September 5.

The life sentence was handed down by District Judge M. C. Ledbetter, after the State showed evidence that this was his third conviction on a similar charge.

Robinson was arrested in October at Liberal Kan., by the F.B.I. The jury of 11 men and one woman deliberated 14 minutes before returning the guilty verdict.

The jury was composed of James Knox, Carl Proctor, Leonard M. Davis, Ken Coffman, L. E. Huggins, Earl Bailey, Donald Masten, Jimmy Hill, Donny Barks, F. J. Collins, and Mrs. Eddie Irwin.

Robinson refused to waive the ten day waiting period for sentencing, and can file for a retrial within the ten days.

City to aid in improving Little League ball park

The regular meeting of the Morton City Council was held at 5 p.m. Monday at the Morton City Hall.

Mayor Dean Weatherly presided over the meeting, in which several members of the Morton Little League asked for both money and materials to improve the ball park.

The Council voted to grant the Little League up to $125 in funds for a fence, and also give them some pipe that can not be used by the city, for fence posts.

A delegation again met with the council and asked that the city join the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce. It was decided to table the request until a further study could be made by the aldermen.

The council also approved a request to extend the city sewer line to the Catholic Church for use by their new building, now under construction.

Mrs. Kenneth McMasters elected president of Y. M. Study Club

Mrs. Kenneth McMasters was elected president of the Y-M Study Club for the coming year during the last meeting of the club on March 10.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. Francis Shifflett, first vice president; Mrs. Weldon Wynn, second vice president; Mrs. Leonard Groves, secretary; Mrs. Ray Lanier, treasurer; Mrs. Fred Weaver, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Garnett Bryan, parliamentarian; Mrs. Robbie Key, historian; and Mrs. Jerry Winder, auditor.

Mrs. Francis Shifflett was hostess for the meeting and Mrs. George Hargrove, president, presided.

Mrs. Jerry Winder reported on a conference with Jesse T. George, Morton Area Chamber of Commerce manager, concerning forming an organization in Morton for some drive per year to cover all charitable funds. Mrs. Winder said the possibilities for such an organization seemed to be good.

The program for the evening was "Stars of Texas". This was opened with the pledge to the Texas Flag. Participating in the program were Mrs. McMasters, Mrs. Lowell Webb, and Mrs. David Stowe.

Mrs. McMasters' topic was "Battles Fought in Texas". One battle she told of was the battle of Bandera Pass. This was a battle with the Comanches fought in 1841, lasting for three days and led by a 24-year-old man. She also told of the battle of Palo Duro Canyon. This was a one-day battle in 1874 led by Colonel Mackenzie against the Comanches, Arapahoes, Kiowas and Cheyennes, who had left reservations.

Mrs. Stowe's topic was "Good and Bad Points About Texas". In part, Mrs. Stowe said, "It's extremely difficult to give a stranger a few casual and general notions about Texas without appearing to be either dangerously interperate or a liar. Texas has in its timber belt an area as large as Indiana. Texas has a mountainous area west of the Pecos as large as West Virginia. Texas has uniformly good farming country, well watered and ranging in altitude from 200 to 2,500 feet above sea level, situated in central and midwest parts of the state, equal to the areas of Ohio and Kentucky. Texas has an area on the Edwards Plateau, well adapted to cattle, sheep and goat raising and diversified crop productions, as large as Tennessee. It's maximum length is 801 miles, its breadth 773 miles.

"Nobody will tell you quicker about his own state's less rosy aspects than a Texan, though of course he'd probably have a flat fight with a non-Texan for putting it half so strongly. But, a Texan knows that the fact that he is a Texan makes him 'somebody'."

For Mrs. Webb's program, she reviewed the story "The Wild Woman of the Navidad" taken from J. Frank Dobie's book "Tales of Old-Time Texas". This was an amusing story about the settlers along the Navidad River and the mysterious visitor they had for a number of years. This person came at night and took things such as chains, saws, clothing, books and food. Most of these possessions were returned after a time and others taken in their place. The settlers had 'watches', hunting parties and many other means to capture this person, but she was too fast and sly for them. After a number of years of these happenings, an African run-away slave was captured and the 'Wild Woman' was never again heard from and finally public curiosity died away and she became a legend.

Everyone has been talking about the marvelous weather we have enjoyed the last few days. Unfortunately, this type of weather doesn't gain any attention from the rest of the world, which hears only about our terrible sandstorms or blizzards. This is the time of year we would like to bottle up and we would like to do this time after time. We've seen a couple of beaver dams mowing their grass, which seems a bit extreme to us. However, we don't relish hard work but do some at the father insistant urging from wife Jennie.

Royce Hanna, chief honcho at Cobb's is back on the job after a bout with the flu. Royce, his wife and two of their three children all came down last week about the same time. Royce is complaining that he felt terrible, but his wife felt worse, which left him to tackle the cooking, cleaning and mediating. He said the only bright spot was that their eldest didn't get the bug and trotted off to school each day to ease the pressure a little. Personally, I think Royce came back to work early just to get away from the housework... and I don't blame him a bit.

Thirty Techsians plan to leave at 7 p.m. Friday, 15 walking and 15 riding in a truck for relief duty. They plan to arrive about noon Saturday. Gristown residents and officials plan to meet the group a mile from the campus and march the last lap with them. To which, the Tribune says "Congratulations!"

Shades of the old west: A horse got loose and created consternation on Main Street Monday morning! He was a big paint that belonged to a family from the Higginbotham community. The couple, with their two little girls, parked their pickup and trailer right in front of the Tribune and Ramsey's shoe shop. While they were gone, the horse leaped out and dangled across the hitch, held by his bridle. Several men managed to get him loose and located the owner. He was loaded in again, but jumped out once more and thrashed violently for a few minutes. About 15 minutes later, he was loaded, with a new halter, and driven away. Oh yes, the horse's name, appropriately enough, was Castro. And he was being taken to the sale in Clovis... apparently none too soon.

Speaking of the Jaycees. (as we seem to be doing frequently now of this busy bunch), they are sponsoring an essay contest for seventh and eighth grade students here on "Why I Would Like to Spend My Vacation in Texas". The state winner will have his choice of going to Six Flags, Aquarena at San Marcos or San Antonio, taking along a friend and parents. Second and third place winners will go to one of places not selected earlier. Deadline for the local contest is April 1.

Just to keep the record straight — I'm not a Jaycee, having gotten over their age limit, but I do admire the work they are doing here and the optimistic ambition they exhibit in their projects.

MORTON TRIBUNE, THURSDAY, MARCH 17, 1966

One drive is worthwhile

A woman's club first advanced the idea this winter of a single charity fund drive for Cochran County. Now the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Chamber of Commerce are studying the idea.

We think it's one of the finest community projects possible, and for several different reasons.

Most of us get a little weary of being approached by different charities, groups and organizations every week or so. Each of them is worthy of our support, but the last one to come along usually gets short shrift from us. We are either short of money or short of patience, and usually some of both.

United appeals work in other places and can work here if we decide to put our efforts behind it. Many of the fund workers in this area are called upon to help every organization in turn and they respond with grace and dedication. But they are being over-worked. When this happens either they will rebel and stop donating their time and effort completely or they will do a slanted job.

We realize that there are some fine organizations which will not allow participation in united fund or community chest drives. But if this community wants and supports a united effort, either these can stay out or they can round up their own volunteers.

From past experience, we know that Boy Scouts and Campfire Girls are always delighted to be included in united efforts. In many places, the Little League, Pony League, or Babe Ruth League baseball programs also are supported primarily through united appeals. Salvation Army also is glad to participate in the single campaign. We hope the plan can be placed into action. It would be much nicer to write a single check and work devotedly for a single drive than to make contributions and work dispiritedly for many groups.

Bookmobile? Yes or No?

A large number of residents in Cochran and three other counties are going to be without convenient library service at the end of this year, unless the four counties begin to take action now.

Almost two years ago, in April 1964, the Texas State Library began a free trial period of mobile library service to Parmer, Lamb, Cochran and Bailey counties by agreement with the County Commissioners of these counties.

But the state now has announced that it will discontinue the bookmobile service on December 31, 1966. It can continue only by financial support from the four counties involved.

The big red and white bookmobile makes a stop in 42 communities with an assortment of 2,000 books for all ages. It draws from a central stock of 10,000 volumes in the headquarters library. Other than its services to individuals, the "wheeled library" users make deposits at libraries in Fronza, Littlefield, Morton, Muleshoe and Olton. Teachers also take collections from the bookmobile for classroom use.

If the service is continued by county support, the Texas State Library will leave the bookmobile and the 10,000 books for future use.

The counties then would have to assume the upkeep and replacement of the bookmobile, replacement and addition of books and salaries for the driver, librarian and clerk.

It seems that the bookmobile service is a good one and needs to be continued. The bookmobile cannot replace a permanent library, nor is it meant to. It is designed to get wholesome reading material to those who are unable to visit permanent libraries on a regular basis.

We recall the story of Abe Lincoln walking several miles to return a book he had borrowed. At least we can now bring the books to those who seek knowledge or entertainment through the world of literature.

THP investigates two accidents

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated two accidents on rural highways in Cochran County during the month of February, according to Sergeant Roberts, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in one person injured and an estimated property damage of $1,050.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county for the first two months of 1966 shows a total of five accidents resulting in no persons killed, four persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $1,500.

Only one month remains for some 2,340,000 vehicles registered in Texas to secure the 1966 safety inspection sticker. The period set by law for securing the 1966 sticker ends at midnight, April 15, and there can be no extension of that deadline. The Sergeant stated, "Any motorist whose vehicle bearing Texas license plates that does not display the 1966 sticker after April 15 is subject to arrest by any Sheriff, Deputy Sheriff, City Police or any Officer of the Department of Public Safety and upon conviction will be subject to a fine not to exceed $200.00."

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clark had visitors in their home recently. They were Mrs. Clark's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Shan and children. They stopped in Morton to visit while on their way to Kansas City, where they will reside.

VIEWS . . . of other editors

Look what they're doing to Post

Four-page pamphlet that is being circulated every time there is a local option liquor election anywhere in Texas is doing Post more harm than a dozen chambers of commerce could do it good, as far as presenting its image to the rest of the state is concerned.

What the circulation of this "dry" pamphlet amounts to is "community assassination," and the Post citizens whose testimonials appear on it haven't much to be proud of as far as boosting their community is concerned.

"The Painful Cost for a Community Gone 'Wet'" is the title of the pamphlet, and it holds Post up to other Texans as a town overrun by drunks, dead-beats and prostitutes, where driving while intoxicated is the rule rather than the exception, and where murders and deaths on the highway have jumped sky-high since one precinct voted "wet" some six years ago.

Do you believe all that? Well, the "drys" are trying to cram it down the throats of people in other towns every time a local option liquor election is held.

The latest one of these pieces of "dry" propaganda we've seen comes from Coleman, Tex., where they're getting ready to hold a local option election. Not long ago we saw one from Corsicana, and we're sure there have been any number of others read thousands of people in other parts of Texas. Post is the "whipping boy" in these pamphlets. No other Texas community in which the sale of beer and liquor has been legalized is mentioned in the Coleman pamphlet nor in any of the others we've seen.

Whether you are for or against the legal sale of beer and liquor, let's look at this matter of "dry" propaganda sensibly.

The "drys" have misused the usually reliable yardstick of comparisons in presenting their "facts and figures" on "what actually happened to this city," as they put it in their pamphlet.

In showing a big increase in the number of arrests and convictions since Precinct 3 voted "wet," the pamphlet fails to mention that shortly before or at about the same time the precinct went "wet," two state highway patrolmen were stationed in Post for the first time, and the size of both the city police department and sheriff's department were increased.

More law enforcement officers on the job naturally means more arrests, and the number of arrests for violations not involving drinking have increased at the same rate.

The figures on the pamphlet are sadly out of date — about six years out of date. The one we're just received from Coleman lists a total of 15 package stores, 17 taverns and five off-premises outlets in Post. Have you counted them lately?

But the "drys" aren't interested in anything as solid as up-to-date facts and figures. What they're mainly interested in is over-riding the right of a political subdivision to decide whether or not it wants to legalize the sale of alcoholic beverages. And they apparently don't care how black an eye they give this community in trying to get their message across.

Nor does the pamphlet put out by the opponents of legalized beer and liquor make any mention about what went on in Post before the citizens of Precinct 3 exercised their constitutional rights and voted it "wet." No mention is made of the bootlegging that went on virtually unchecked and of outright sale of whiskey and beer to minors.

Like most other pieces of propaganda, these pamphlets do not carry the name of the organization or group which compiled the "facts and figures" contained therein; or which distributes the literature. But, whoever they are, we think they should be called upon to give good reason why they shouldn't stop singling out this community to hold up to the rest of the state as a "bad example."

Which is just a nice way of saying we think every civic-minded citizen of Post should be interested in seeing to it that a screeching stop is put to further distribution of any pamphlets of this nature.

The lonely giant
It is wrong to keep on speaking of two world colossi or dominant nations — the United States and the Soviet Union? Has America's economic development and its intellectual and diplomatic influence so far outrun Russia's that there is, in fact, only one real giant in the world today? More and more non-Americans around the world are coming to say just this.

Late last year this newspaper ran a challenging article by an Italian economist. He warned that America's economic growth was so phenomenal as perhaps to make technological, scientific, and industrial cooperation between the United States and even the most advanced parts of Western Europe eventually impossible.

Now comment on the difference between American and Russian power comes from British and French sources. The Economist of London writes: "Most of the developments since the Cuban showdown — the longest economic boom in American history, the dramatic piling up of America's awesome military resources and the political and economic difficulties of the Communist countries of Eastern Europe — have tended to confirm this new sense of a power gap between America and Russia."

Writing from Paris, The New York Times says: "French commentators have been writing and saying, moreover, that more and more the old bi-polar world, in which the United States and Soviet Union faced each other as the two superpowers, is vanishing. In its place, they say, emerges a 'mono-polar' world dominated by the United States alone."

Although such views are perhaps over-simplified, they touch upon a profound fact of these mid-1960's: Soviet influence throughout the world has not kept pace with American. For the hard, cold, inescapable facts of economic life have given America an influence around the globe which Russia, with its skimpier output and ragged development, has not been able to match. In country after country throughout the underdeveloped world, national leaders have come to recognize that it is primarily to America they must turn for the help their countries need.

This disparity between America and Russia has been partially hidden by the desperate efforts that the latter has made to match the former in military strength and space exploration. While these have brought Russia much respect, they have also held back many other phases of development of more immediate help to the rest of the world.

Gratifying as Americans may find this judgment on their country's economic primacy, this disparity brings its problems. Riches and power bring challenges today which were not present a few decades ago. The greater the power, the more delicately a nation must walk, the more it will be blamed for world conditions, and of course the more it will be envied which also being solicited for favors.

At many points America's problems might — surprisingly enough — be simpler if Russia were making the progress, if the Soviet Union were in a better position to extend economic aid to other countries (as it has sought to do). The air on the economic mountain-top may be invigorating; but it can also be mighty windy.

Cotton planting program
Plans to expand the idea of a uniform cotton planting date are being met with enthusiasm and Stamford men are in demand these days for speaking engagements.

Roland Kelley of Stamford Cotton Oil Company who last year along with James Hays, then of the Jones County Farmers Home Administration office, did a good job of convincing county farmers of the value of a uniform date, both have been busy telling others of the success which was achieved from following the plan. They have been joined by Charles Stenholm of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Association.

Meetings have been held at Knox City, Crowell, Paint Creek. Now Kelley has been invited to speak to the agricultural committee of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce.

As set out in the meetings, control of boll weevils is made much easier and the rainfall pattern fits well into the growth pattern of cotton.

This year, the speakers have figures — convincing figures — to use in making their presentation. In Jones County last year, $7,508 acres were planted to cotton. Total bales ginned was $7,245, an increase over the previous year of 15.193 bales, or 36 per cent.

An argument like that is hard to refute.

'Speedup', schools are told

AUSTIN, Tex. — Texas school districts are receiving speedup orders on desegregation.

Integration of facilities, as well as student bodies is the aim of federal authorities in laying down new guidelines for compliance with the civil rights act of 1964.

Both the Texas Education Agency and the State Board of Education received the policy statements and promptly scheduled meetings over the state to post local school administrators as to the requirements.

Primarily concerned are 600 districts that submitted voluntary desegregation plans to the U. S. Office of Education for the 1965-66 school year to assure that they remained eligible for federal aid.

Districts already fully integrated, those whose assurances of compliance have been accepted and those operating under court desegregation orders are not immediately affected by the revised policies.

U. S. Commissioner of Education Harold Howe II estimates that revisions will result in doubling integration in 11 Southern states.

Guidelines provide that "race, color or national origin may not be a factor in hiring or assignment of teachers and other professional staff." State Education Agency officials said evidence of compliance with this requirement is expected to be shown by next September.

Districts which have submitted desegregation plans, including those with geographical school attendance zones, must file by April 15 a form agreeing to observe the new guidelines. Office of Education will review spring reports and schools judged to have shown no reasonable progress will be ordered to take further steps before fall.

School systems also must eliminate segregation in such programs as transportation, athletics and extra-curricular activities.

Where faculty members are displaced as a result of desegregation, staff vacancies later occurring must be filled by these ousted teachers if they qualify.

In other action the State Board of Education directed local school districts to raise their contributions to the foundation school program by $6,100,000 next year. Local fund assignment for 1966-67 is $138,000,000 compared with $132,500,000 for 1965-66. Total cost of minimum foundation education program for the state this year is estimated officially at $645,328,896. Legislature set local school districts' contribution for 1966-67 and thereafter at 20 per cent of the total cost of the preceding year's program. State puts up the other 80 per cent.

Board also approved investment of about $7,000,000 from the State Permanent School Fund. Some $3,000,000 will be placed in common stocks, another $3,000,000 in corporate bonds and an estimated $1,000,000 in short-term Treasury bills.

Investment money will come from maturing Treasury bills, bonds and the regular monthly deposit from school land, oil and gas leases, says Paul Mathews, chairman of the investment committee.

APPOINTMENTS — Gov. John Connally named John L. Hill as Secretary of State. He replaces Crawford C. Martin of Hillsboro who resigned last week to devote full time to his campaign for attorney general.

Hill is an outstandingly successful Houston civil trial attorney. He has tried cases in district courts in most areas of Texas during the past 19 years. His term will run until next January.

Connally named L. D. (Red) Webster and reappointed Al Badger, both of Dallas, to the Texas Commission on Alcoholism.

Also reappointed were Robert B. Gilmore of Dallas and W. E. (Buck) Tinsley of Austin to the Water Development Board.

House Speaker Ben Barnes appointed Reps. Gene Fonden of Taylor, George Cowden of Waco, Ralph W. Scoggins of El Paso, Rayford Price of Frankston and Lee Duggan Jr. of Houston to serve on a key election law study committee.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith earlier had named Sens. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, Don Kennard of Fort Worth, Ralph M. Hall of Rockwall, Jack Hightower of Vernon and Abraham Kazen of Laredo to that panel.

ATTEND FUNERAL
Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lindsey attended the funeral, Thursday, March 10, of his brother-in-law, Mr. Oscar Cavener, in Eldorado, Okla. Mr. Cavener died of a heart attack at his home in Eldorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Cavener have visited here and are well-known by a number of Morton people.

Regional office of the Office of Economic Opportunity says Laredo will get a $2,000,000 grant as a demonstration city in the war on poverty.

Governor Connally has picked the Texas Education Agency to draft plans for long-term vocational rehabilitation needs under amendments to the federal Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

Public school - sponsored club which perpetuate their membership on the basis of decisions of their own members, rather than free choice of any qualified pupil, are prohibited.

Jury fee must be paid before a jury is allowed in juvenile cases.

BONDS SOLD — Texas Water Development Board has sold $15,000,000 worth of development bonds to the First National City Bank of New York City and associates, the low bidders.

Effective interest rate was 11 per cent of the 25-year issue.

First National City Bank was one of five bidders for the bonds. This brings to $85,000,000 the amount sold by the Board from an authorized total of $200,000,000. Another $200,000,000 authorization in water development bonds will be voted upon by Texans in November.

Bond money has been used to finance reservoir projects by the purchase of water storage space and in the purchase of outstanding development bonds of Texas cities and water districts.

VERNON CENTER — A model demonstration center for aged is located at Vernon, "will be the best of its kind in the nation," says Governor Connally.

According to the governor, the center will include facilities for all phases of geriatric care. It will provide cottage-type units for ambulatory patients and a pre-admission unit to screen elderly persons considered for admission.

Center will place patients in community rest homes, nursing homes and convalescent centers in which they would receive proper care.

SADLER SPEAKS — Texas State Commissioner Jerry Sadler, in testimony before a congressional committee in Washington, urged the creation of Gaudalupde Mountain National Park in Culberson and Hudspeth Counties.

However, he stated that while he is interested in the creation of the 71,650-acre park, he also is interested in the 45,171 acres of oil and gas rights which the state school fund owns in the proposed park.

According to Sadler, the mineral rights should be retained by the state for the benefit of the 100,000 school children aided by the Public Free School Fund, which is financed from mineral rights.

Sadler said the state and federal government should work together as partners in the project. This would mean that Texas and the federal government each would get half the benefits of the mineral deposits in the area.

SHORT SNORTS — South Texas crops will be tested for pesticide residue during the next three to six months as the Texas Department of Agriculture moves its soil mobile laboratory to Pharr.

Governor Connally announced approval of Community Action Programs in Beaumont ($21,367), Spring ($33,161), Houston ($32,953), Laredo ($50,530), San Antonio ($104,795), San Saba ($11,489) and Yorktown ($30,063).

Regional office of the Office of Economic Opportunity says Laredo will get a $2,000,000 grant as a demonstration city in the war on poverty.

Governor Connally has picked the Texas Education Agency to draft plans for long-term vocational rehabilitation needs under amendments to the federal Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

READING GOD'S WORD

The reading of God's word is a neglected love by many today. It has been too easy to forget the price paid by many in the past, to make the Bible available to all. There was a time when men were hungry for all the wonderful messages contained in God's word. The Bible is full of wisdom and the teachings that men need. "Man doth not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord."

Coleman Adv. Serv.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Medicare facts explained by federal agency

What is Medicare? There are a lot of rumors about Medicare, but here are the facts from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

First of all, Medicare is hospital insurance. It will help pay hospital bills after July 1st if you are 65 or older and apply for it. You don't have to have a physical examination and you can apply even if you are sick. The hospital benefits will pay for hospital care all but $40 for the first 90 days and all but $10.00 a day for the next 30 days. Hospital insurance also pays for up to 100 visits a year by nurses when you leave the hospital. It also pays for outpatient diagnostic services and extended care in nursing homes following hospitalization.

Medicare is also doctor bill insurance. You pay $3.00 a month and the government pays $4.00 out of every $5.00 for doctor's services, home health services and other medical services like x-ray treatments, splints and casts. You can go to any doctor you choose, you don't have to have a physical examination and you can sign up even if you are sick.

Medicare health benefits can help you with these two insurance plans — hospital insurance and doctor bill insurance.

If you are 65 or older and want help with your hospital and doctor bills but have not signed up for medicare, — see your social security representative and sign up by March 31st.

If you will reach 65 this year, sign up in one of the three months before you reach 65 to get protection as soon as possible.

Dorcas class holds meeting

The Dorcas Sunday Class met for a social and business meeting Friday, March 11, at 4 p.m. The devotional was given by Mrs. Alton Burleson; she read from Proverbs 3, "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart." She went on to say, "Do not be anxious about tomorrow. It is not necessary to see all the way, only one step at a time. The best way is to trust in the Lord, do the best you can and live day by day." The devotional was closed with a prayer led by Mrs. J. A. Daniel.

In the business session two new officers were elected: Mrs. J. A. Daniel, president, and Mrs. Alton Burleson, vice president. It was also decided the class would pay for a meal at a cafe for the revival team.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Fred W. Allen, Bill Williamson, W. L. Taylor, J. C. O'Brian, W. L. Sandefer, J. A. Daniel, Boyd Willis, R. T. Tarver, Alton Burleson and Garland Thiebaud.

'Handicapped child' topic for ES club meet

The Emlea Smith Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Ray Tucker on March 10. Mrs. Bill Foust served as co-hostess.

Mrs. Bob Polvado led the members in the reading of the club collect. Mrs. Gary Willingham presided over the business session. Several major projects were discussed for the coming year. The club also voted to have a car wash sometime in April or May.

Members were reminded of the district convention to be held in Brownfield on March 22 and 23.

A letter was received from Jesse T. George thanking the club for their help and support at the Area Youth Council.

Mrs. Don Lynskey and Mrs. James Walker presented the program for the evening. Mrs. Lynskey's program was on "The World of the Mentally Handicapped Child." She began the program by telling the club the many terms used to describe mental retardation. They are "mentally inferior", "slow learning", "backward", "subnormal", "mentally handicapped" or "feeble minded".

These children can grow up and associate with normal people provided they receive specialized and skilled assistance. These children need extra attention, special care, patience and love, for much of their problem is emotional, she said.

There also is the educable mentally handicapped, the child that because of slow mental development is unable to profit from the elementary school. They can however, learn many things in a special class. They can usually support themselves at the adult level.

Next is the trainable mentally handicapped child. These children are more retarded and can't learn academic skills. They have potentialities for learning self-care, social adjustment in the family and neighborhood and economic usefulness in the home, special school or in a sheltered environment. They will require some care, supervision, and economic support throughout their lives.

Last is the totally mentally handicapped child. They are children who are unable to be trained in total self-care, socialization, or economic usefulness and who need help in taking care of their personal needs. These children will need care throughout their life.

The world of the physically handicapped child was discussed by Mrs. James Walker. She told that the physically handicapped are divided into four classes — the deaf mute, blind, deaf and crippled children.

Modern science has not found ways to cure many of these people but it has found ways to make them independent to a large degree. The blind are taught to read, they learn to get around by themselves. The deaf have been taught to understand speech; deaf mutes have been taught to talk.

Few people are born lame, but become so because of accidents, war, wounds, and disease. There are more children that become crippled under the age of six, some because of heredity, vitamin deficiency, birth injuries, injuries and accidents. There are 50,000 children a year that are permanently crippled. Mrs. Walker said that how a child feels about his handicap depends on his social environment, more than the handicap itself. Always treat the child as you would treat anyone else, she urged.

She closed the program with the quotation, "A man never stands so straight as when he stoops to help

Scority ceremony at South Plains

Two Whiteface girls, Sharon Elaine Dickson, and Janice May, took part in initiation for 29 members of Phi Theta Kappa of South Plains College, Tuesday, March 1.

An impressive candlelight initiation was directed by Mrs. Inez Grant, Phi Theta Kappa sponsor. The group formed a semi-circle, took the pledge and signed the permanent register.

The principal address was given by Academic Dean Nathan Tubb. In his address, Dean Tubb said, "Phi Theta Kappa is the cream of the college and out of this group will be those going toward higher heights in education." He admonished students to continue to make high marks and gain their places in society on the highest level.

The program was concluded with the Phi Theta Kappa song presented by Harley Bulls.

Gunpowder, invented in China early in the 8th century, was not used for blasting in quarries until the 17th century.

100% fresh

There's a look, feel, smell of freshness about 100% cotton that you'll find in no other fiber. That's why you feel so good when you're dressed in cotton — so fresh and crisp and comfortable. And cotton things are easy to keep like new. Simply wash them in the hottest water (cotton comes out truly clean). Dry them any way you please (cotton isn't fussy). Iron them without worry (cotton won't melt, discolor or pull at the seams). Even after repeated launderings, cotton bounces back bright and fresh — without dinginess or odor buildup. For 100% freshness, insist on 100% cotton.

Fifty-plus grain sorghum varieties in test for '65

Fifty-three grain sorghum varieties and hybrids were included in the Official High Plains Test under optimum irrigation at the High Plains Research Foundation in 1965.

Dr. Earl Collister, Executive Vice-President of the Foundation in releasing the research data for publication said, "this test was conducted as a part of the Foundation's continuing efforts to determine the grain sorghum hybrids best adapted to the particular type of irrigation practiced in the High Plains of Texas."

Howard Malstrom, Associate Soil Scientist, who conducted the tests in 1965, reported that the grain yields varied from a high of 7,237 pounds per acre to a low of 5,710 pounds per acre, with an average yield of the 53 entries at 6,582. The relatively narrow yield range of 1,503 pounds per acre was due to the initiation of a limited irrigation test of 35 varieties and hybrids in 1965 in which many of the shorter-season hybrids were included. Twenty grain sorghum hybrids and varieties were included in both the optimum and limited irrigation tests in 1965. A total of 76 different hybrids and varieties were used in both of the Official High Plains Tests.

The five-year average yield of the six top hybrids ranged from a high of 7,237 to a low of 6,986 pounds per acre. These hybrids were Lindsey 788, Excell B52, TE 77, NK 310, PAG 965, Apache, and Texas 660. An average yield over a period of years is a more accurate evaluation of a hybrid than one year since it encompasses many variations in climatic conditions.

In the 1965 optimum irrigation test all 53 hybrids were planted on May 18, on land that had been planted to soybeans in 1964. All entries were given a pre-plant fertilization of 124 pounds of 1-48-0 per acre, and a sidedress application of 80 pounds of nitrogen from anhydrous ammonia on June 30.

A total of 18.96 inches of irrigation was applied as follows: pre-plant April 12, 6 inches; July 4, 3.98 inches; July 17, 4.37 inches; and August 20, 4.61 inches. Rainfall received between May 1 and October 1 amounted to 12.83 inches. The distribution in inches was as follows: May, 1.30; June 6.53; July 0.70; August, 1.50; and September, 2.80. The total amount of water received from rainfall and irrigation was 31.79 inches.

The complete record on the Official High Plains Test under optimum irrigation is in report No. 163 of the Foundation's 1965 Annual Research Report Book. This report gives the average yield of all varieties tested in the past five years at the Foundation, at Halfway. It also includes agronomic data for 1965, such as plant height, percent stand, percent lodging, head length, exertion, head compactness, early vigor, bloom data, and percent moisture in the grain at harvest.

Romanoff has original violin program slated

When Dave Rubinoff appears in popular concert in Morton at the County Activity Auditorium on April 19 he will perform as violin solos the full scores of Chopin's Polonaise, the Warsaw Concerto. The American public has grown to love these numbers arranged for piano and orchestra, but Rubinoff feels they lend themselves to violin equally as well.

A graduate of the Royal Conservatory in Warsaw, Poland, Rubinoff knew as a child the martial feeling inspired by the immortal Polonaise. Even with freedom today confronted with tyranny and treachery as Chopin knew it, the opus is appropriate as a current theme of the times. The Polonaise was written by Chopin with a burning spirit of national sympathy and has been likened to "Cannons Buried in Flowers".

He was more fortunate in preparing the soul-stirring Warsaw Concerto as the Composer, Richard Addinsell, worked with him on the transcribed violin version. Mr. Addinsell felt after hearing Rubinoff play the Concerto that it was a new revelation in depth of feeling as only the violin could express it.
