

United Fund campaign takes another step toward reality

Formation of a united campaign by many groups and agencies took a bright look Monday night as steering committee unanimously endorsed further action.

Election of officers and directors expected to take place when steering committee meets again at 7:30 p.m. Friday, April 1 at the Wig Wam Restaurant.

Roy Gentry was named as chairman of the nominating committee. Serving with him will be Cleve Land, Mrs. J. C. Reynolds, Char-Bowen, Mrs. Van Greene, J. Allen, Mrs. George Hargrove and Joe Seagler.

The nominating committee is to submit names for president, three vice presidents, treasurer and 30 directors. The vice presidents would serve in the areas of public relations, budget and admissions for the campaign.

Plans to form a united campaign organization began last fall with investigation by the L'Allegro Study Club. Action really got started last week with a meeting of several representatives with Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce officers as directors.

Attending the last two meetings was Roy Davis, manager of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, executive director of the Muleshoe United Fund and a director of the Texas United Fund.

At Monday's meeting opened, Joe Seagler acted as temporary chairman until H. A. Tuck was named permanent chairman of the steering committee.

In his talk, Davis outlined the organization of a united campaign and pointed out that it serves people in many different ways, including health, welfare, youth activities, recreation and character building. "You have a need to preserve the patience, the goodwill and the efforts of your workers and your contributors, and also to economize on the cost of having a number of drives," Davis pointed out.

"The purpose of a united drive is not to cut donations, but to encourage consistent contributions and thus strengthen the base of agencies," he said.

Davis also emphasized that a united campaign can be organized locally without affiliating with any other state or national group. He also said that the united organization was not an authoritarian group.

He also said that it would be advisable to have more than 100 persons working in the group, including the campaign work, directorships, officers and committee workers.

Contratulations go to Mrs. James St. Clair and Mrs. Bobby Travis for being selected District Mother and District Clubwoman of the year for the Caprock District of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. We were also pleased to hear of the appointment of Mrs. James Brownlow as district advisor for Junior Clubs, They, and the many other members of Federated Clubs, have done an excellent job in building a better community. We were also pleased with the number awards won by local clubs at the district meeting.

While we are on the subject of clubs, it might be appropriate to explain deadlines. The Tribune has a Tuesday afternoon deadline for all its news except for front page. But that deadline is the LATEST that we can accept news. If a club meets on Thursday, we would much prefer getting a report on Friday, Saturday or even Monday. This allows us more time to make sure that your club gets a good, accurate report of its activities. We also prefer that the club reports be typed or written, rather than phoned in. Written reports are more accurate and provide us with a check on the information. Thanks.

One of the funniest cartoons we have seen in recent months is a panel done by F. E. DeLeon for the Texas Tech newspaper, The Toreador. The strip is named after the central character, Cisco. One in particular, on March 18, really hit our funny bone. It went like this: Panel One: Mop-haired Cisco looks up from reading newspaper and asks, "What kind of a war is this anyway?" Panel Two: Cisco visualizes himself carrying a rifle and sneaking through the jungle wearing a coolie hat. He thinks, "We're coming out on the short end of the stick. . . I mean the Viet-Cong guerrillas are holding all the cards! These few hungry recruits fight dirty and sneaky!" Panel Three: Still in the jungle, jabbing his bayonet in the ground, Cisco observes, "You never see who you're fighting with! They make use of the element of surprise, and with their untrained personnel and obsolete rusty weapons, do manage to inflict casualties on our side!" Panel Four: Throwing away the paper, Cisco shrugs and asks, "How can we hope to defeat them with ONLY 220,000 combat p trained Marines, green berets and Army troops; plus our 600-airplane daily raids; over 100 aircraft carriers and battleships; jillions of helicopters, umpteen submarines, tons and tons of napalm bombs, and trouble-shooter H. H. Humphrey?"

Work began Tuesday to beautify the courthouse lawn, which was given a large treatment of fertilizer and watered all night. Many of the yards are beginning to turn green, but honors in the pretty lawn department probably go to L. B. and Minnie Childs. I understand that L. B. spent nine hours last week mowing his yard. . . and that's the second trimming of the year. Sounds like he might be a prospect for a herd of shep or a couple of horses.

Seldom have we enjoyed a movie more than Walt Disney's "That Darn Cat", which drew big crowds of children and adults here this week. I really can't understand why the moviemakers continue to pass up the family-type comedy. Disney is almost alone in the field and all of his productions are winners and money-makers. Most adults have to wait a long time to find a picture that is suitable for their children to see and then may feel they need to cover the youngsters' eyes and ears during the previews of other, less suitable, movies. Anyhow, HOORAY for Walt Disney.

During the next five days, local voters will have to make two important decisions. One is on school board trustees and the other on city councilmen. We hope that every eligible voter will cast his ballot so that the true will of the citizens is reflected in the results. Those who don't vote certainly have no right to criticize the actions of those who are elected.

Applications to Medicare at Post Office in Morton

M. L. Crone, Morton Postmaster, announced today that application blanks for supplemental Medicare benefits are available at the window of the Morton Post Office.

The application blanks are being made available as the Social Security Administration seeks to contact 3.1 million senior citizens before a March 31 deadline imposed by the Medicare law.

President Johnson has proclaimed March as "National Medicare Enrollment Month." He urged all federal agencies and all citizens to cooperate in enrolling senior citizens in the program.

Initially, some two and one half million application blanks were distributed to nearly 34,000 main post offices throughout the 50 states. Additional forms are available as needed.

Through direct mailing and other means, the Social Security Administration has had contact with 16 of the 19.1 million citizens who will be 65 or over on July 1. Of the 16 million who replied, less than one million said they did not want to sign up for the supplemental program.

The supplemental program costs $3 a month and provides doctor bill and other benefits. Everyone 65 and over is eligible for the basic hospital benefits under Medicare.

A copy of the application blank is displayed on the lobby bulletin board of the Morton Post Office.

Senior citizens who reached 65 before 1966 face a two year delay if they do not sign up by March 31. The application forms are preaddressed to the Social Security Administration in Baltimore, Maryland.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sullivan over the weekend were their son, Joe Eddie, from Plainview and their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Truitt and family from Lubbock.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. McMaster Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Evans from Levelland.

Set swine short course schedule

The 1966 Swine Short Course will be April 4 and 5 at Texas A&M.

"Pigs — And How To Increase Hog Profits" will be one of the topics discussed, according to the Cochran County Agent, Homer E. Thompson.

Two nationally prominent out-of-state speakers will headline the program. These are Dr. A. H. Jensen, a highly regarded swine researcher from the University of Illinois, and Roy Keppy, America's most well-known commercial hog producer.

Another program highlight will be a discussion on the "Progress of the SPF Program" by Dr. Donald B. Hudman, the new Extension Swine Specialist at Texas A&M.

A favorite of each short course is the "Producers Panel." This is where successful hogmen from over the state show slides and discuss their operations. Scheduled on this year's panel are G. A. Frank, Jr., of Alice; Parker George of De Leon; and Sam A. Thomas, Jr., of Amarillo.

UNDERGROUND WATER

The Texas Tech Tax Institute on Water Depletion was held recently in Lubbock. The following is a rundown of some of the topics covered.

First of all, only the taxpayers in the Southern High Plains of Texas and New Mexico who are pumping from the Ogallala formation are entitled to claim water depletion. Notice that this does not include the area north of the Canadian River. The boundaries are roughly the Canadian River on the north, the Pecos River on the west, the caprock escarpment on the east, and the extent of the Ogallala formation on the south.

Depletion may be claimed separately for the years starting with and following 1962. Water depletion claims for the year 1962 must be filed before April 15 of this year. However, if complete data is not available by this time, an estimate or protective claim may be filed and the exact data can be supplied later. Two Inter-

Plan Little League park improvement

Fence construction problems occupied most of the time when the Morton Little League baseball officials met last Tuesday at the Wig Wam Restaurant.

Workers are urgently needed, LL president Herman Bedwell reported. The old fence has been removed from the outfield and a new, solid board fence is being installed. New bleachers also will be constructed during the new few weeks in preparation for the 1966 season.

Bedwell urged any person interested to assist with the construction and other work which must be completed before the season starts.

Team sponsors are to be contacted soon and one new set of uniforms is to be purchased.

The new outfield fence will be constructed of redwood. Anyone having an old redwood water tank to donate to the Little League is asked to contact Bedwell, Buddy Franks or Leonard Groves.

Bonds climb in February

The citizens of Cochran county purchased $2,203.00 in Savings Bonds during the month of February according to Mr. S. M. Monroe Chairman of the Cochran County Savings Bonds Committee.

During the first two months of 1966, Texans purchased $25,555,227 in Series E and H Bonds. This represents 17 per cent of the state's goal of $147.5 million.

Although the news media have done a wonderful job in announcing the new interest rate on Savings Bonds, we want to remind all citizens of the county that Savings Bonds are "better than ever." Effective December 1, 1965, the interest rate on Series E and H Bonds was increased from 3.75 per cent to 4.15 per cent, compounded semiannually when held to maturity. E Bonds now mature in 7 years. Starting June 1, 1966, H Bond interest checks will be larger than before. All older E and H Bonds will earn 4/10 of 1 per cent more than before for the remaining period to next maturity.

BEEF OUTLOOK

All signs point to a favorable year for beef producers. John G. McHaney, Extension economist at Texas A&M University, says a slight decline in the nation's cattle numbers plus a good demand for feedlot animals; plus the herd rebuilding which seems underway and a growing population with more money to spend for the meat they want on their tables all add up to a good year ahead.

County Agent's report

By HOMER E. THOMPSON
SOIL TESTING

If you have not done so, now is a good time to collect soil samples.

Sampling well in advance of planting offers the advantage of allowing time for the samples to be tested and time to obtain the needed fertilizers. Presently it takes about 10 days for processing at the soil testing laboratory.

If the soil samples are wet, to reduce shipping weight, samples can be dried a day or two at air temperature. However, they should not be heated since heating some soils causes the potassium to be fixed so that it cannot be removed by chemical methods.

If reliable information is to be obtained from a soil test, it's best for the sample to be carefully taken and not represent too large an area. A core or slice of soil from 10 to 15 spots in fields of less than 40 acres works fine.

The field or farm should be divided according to the type of soil, as well as past and future cropping practices. Take enough time to collect a good sample and fill out the information sheet as completely as possible.

Pint boxes, mailing cartons, history sheets and instructions are available from the county agent's office. Visit his office and let him tell you how soil tests can supply information that will help you make greater profits from use of fertilizer.

REMOVING TREE STUMPS
There are several ways to remove tree stumps from valuable land — none of them are easy.

To prevent sprouting, paint the top surface of freshly-cut stumps with a herbicide such as 2, 4, 5-T or ammate. It's best to paint them within a day of cutting and thoroughly paint the area where the wood and bark join.

The quickest way to remove the stumps, but also the most difficult, is digging or grubbing them out of the ground. It's probably best to confine this method to stumps under 14 inches in diameter — these don't have such an extensive root system.

To dig out larger stumps, dig a trench 1 to 2 feet wide around the stump and about 1 to 2 feet deep. Cut the lateral roots as close to the stump as possible, and cut the same root near the outside of the trench to give more working room.

Now, the stump can be pried slightly to one side and the tap root cut. Roll, drag or winch the stump from its hole.

The easiest and cheapest way to remove stumps is to cut the tree trunk off as near the ground as possible and cover it with soil and sod. Grass sprigs or runners may be planted if sod is not used. Keep the ground moist for the best results.

TAXATION OR REBATES
Many farmers and non-farmers recently have received an IRS form 106 from a cooperative with which they did business during 1965. These patrons may not understand the distinction between taxable and non-taxable rebates from cooperatives.

Rebates on payments for goods and services that are for personal use and not income producing are not taxable. Examples of such goods would be fertilizer and insecticides used for home beautification and feed and grooming supplies for a saddle horse that is not used to produce income. An example of service would be a food locker used for family food. Generally, rebates on purchases that are business expenses must be reported as income and rebates on purchases that do not qualify as business expenses are not taxable.

Members of cooperatives are usually obligated by the By-laws of the association to take taxable rebates into their tax accountability in the year in which they are allocated. Non-member patrons usually acquire this same responsibility

Postal increase goes into effect on special mail

Increases in money orders, insurance, registry, certified mail and C.O.D. rates went into effect March 26, Postmaster Murray Crone said today.

The cost of operating these five special services now exceeds revenues by $60 million annually. The fee increases will narrow the cost-revenue gap by $26 million, based on business handled in Fiscal Year 1965.

Fees for money orders, registry and C.O.D. were last changed in 1961; insurance and certified mail in 1957.

The fee changes, announced in the January 11th Federal Register and confirmed in the register on February 25th, are put into effect under the existing administrative authority of the Postmaster General.

The increases include:
Money Order Fees: Domestic and international money order fees will be increased by 5 cents.

Insurance Fees: The minimum fee bracket will be increased from $10 to $15 and the minimum fee will be 20 cents instead of 10 cents. The revised insurance fees will be as follows:

$0.01 - $15 . . . 20 cents
$15.01 - $50 . . . 30 cents
$50.01 - $100 . . . 40 cents
$100.01 - $200 . . . 50 cents
$200.01 - $500 . . . 60 cents

Registry Fees: The present 60 cents and 75 cents fees will be combined into a single fee at 75 cents for values up to $100. Registry fees for articles valued in excess of $100 will remain unchanged.

C.O.D. Fees: The present 40 cents and 50 cents fee brackets will be combined into one fee bracket at 60 cents for amounts up to $10. There will be no change in the fees covering items valued above $10.

Certified Mail: The fee will be increased 10 cents from the present 20 cents per item to 30 cents. Losses incurred in the operation of special services are paid from funds drawn from the Federal Treasury. The fee increases will shift a substantial portion of the special service cost borne by the public to the users of these services.

General Report 105 prepared by Farmer Cooperative Service, U.S.-D.A., entitled "How the Revenue Act of 1962 Affects Farmer Cooperatives" is a helpful reference on taxation of agricultural cooperatives. Some complicated situations require special rulings from Internal Revenue Service and from the courts each year.

Conservation aid offered in area
"Uncertain climatic conditions in this area often cause reduced crop yields and higher production costs says Budd Fountain, Work Unit Conservationist. During periods of uncertain weather many farmers and ranchers will need financial help to maintain their operations.

The Great Plains Conservation Program was established to help landowners and operators meet these climatic changes. This Great Plains Program offers cost-share assistance, ranging from 50 to 80 percent, for establishment of permanent conservation practices, such as establishing grass, terracing and irrigation pipelines.

There have been 158 Great Plains Conservation Program contracts signed in Cochran County since the program was established. New contracts recently written on Don C. Hill, James Greener and John A. Wheeler. A system of parallel terraces have just been completed on the Don Hill farm. The terraces were cost-shared at 70% under the Great Plains Conservation Program.

The Great Plains Conservation Program is administered in Cochran County by the Soil Conservation Service assisting the Cochran Soil and Water Conservation District.

Records at the courthouse show that no decision has been recorded, and the lawyers are said to be preparing more papers to present.

No verdict in civil case

A civil suit was heard in 121st District Court last week before Judge M. C. Ledbetter.

The case was styled: Eveline Greener, Individually and as Independent Executrix under the Last Will and Testament of Sylvester Greener, and as Co-Trustee under the Testament and Trust of Sylvester Greener, and Joe Beseda, the remaining Co-Trustee, and Cynthia Greener, Brenda Greener, and Debra Greener, by next friend, Eveline Greener, vs. Hubert Greener and wife Linda Greener.

Almost three days of testimony was heard in the case, and the jury of ten men and two women deliberated until Thursday morning before announcing that they could not answer two of the special questions in the charge.

Records at the courthouse show that no decision has been recorded, and the lawyers are said to be preparing more papers to present.

LARRY SEIGLER . . . perfect AF aptitude test score

Larry Seigler has perfect score on AF aptitude test

A Morton High School senior, Larry Seigler, was honored Friday for making a perfect score on the Air Force Aptitude.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Seigler, Star Route Two, Larry scored perfect 95 grades on each of four general areas included in the test. According to Staff Sgt. Clifton W. Harr, who administered the test, Larry is the first senior to make a perfect score. Sergeant Harr said that he had tested more than 400 seniors this year.

Charles Bowen, counselor at Morton High School, said that a perfect score on the test had not been achieved here since 1961.

The four general aptitude areas included mechanical, administrative, general and electrical.

Sergeant Harr presented a certificate of achievement signed by Capt. John K. Honnold, commanding officer of the area recruiting service.

The 17-year-old Seigler said that he plans to attend college after graduating this spring, probably at Texas Tech or South Plains College.

Several other Morton High School seniors made perfect scores in one of the four major areas on the test.

Cotton staple to change within next two years

LUBBOCK—The entire two million bale High Plains crop is not likely to be in the 1-1/8 inch staple range, but certainly a good portion of it will be out of the short staple category within the next two or three years.

So concluded an article on High Plains cotton quality and varieties in the March 21 issue of THE SOUTHERN TEXTILE NEWS, "bi-annual" of the U. S. textile industry. The article was written especially for the annual meeting of the American Cotton Growers Association by James S. Parker, textile industry consultant for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

"Until now Plains farmers haven't had much trouble deciding what seed to plant," the article says, "because there has been no great pressure to produce any particular quality or variety." Parker explained that the farmer's greatest concern in recent years has been yield per acre, and that high yields alone have resulted in nice profits.

"But it's getting to be different," he says, "and more and more farmers on the Plains are determined to grow cotton that will sell on the market instead of going to the government loan."

The difference, as Parker points out, is largely one of price and markets.

In 1963 the base loan rate for middling one-inch cotton was 32 1/2 cents, which meant the loan price for average High Plains quality was around 29 1/2 cents. The base loan rate dropped to 30 cents in 1964, then to 29 cents in 1965, and average High Plains grades and staples went into the loan for about 26 cents or into the market for a few cents over that price.

The loan rate for middling-inch cotton under the new cotton program has been set at 21 cents for 1966. And the kind of cotton the High Plains has been growing will rate only about 18 cents in the loan schedule and is not apt to sell in the market for much more than that.

Hence the emphasis on quality. It is true that farmer income will be bolstered by direct payments on both the acreage planted and the acreage not planted, but the actual value of the cotton produced will not be affected by these payments. And this is why Parker says: "Some big changes may be made in the cotton varieties planted on the High Plains this year and in years immediately ahead."

He points out that several years back the short staple cotton of the Plains was in good demand, but that it is now finding a more difficult path into market channels. And this is particularly true now that the textile mill's cost for 1-1/16 inch cotton is below what it used to be for 15/16 inch. Also cited as a strong factor contributing to the move away from the shorter, weaker fibers is the new high speed textile machinery being installed by virtually all spinners. This machinery and the recent stress on high strength fabrics demands a longer and stronger raw material.

"To get a better price for their product and regain some of their markets, Plains farmers know they will have to switch to varieties that produce the fiber stronger fiber," Parker reasons.

He goes on to say that the move to improved cotton quality and new varieties on the Plains is not only coming, it is already underway. The most dramatic shifts, he said, are toward varieties that likely were never intended for the Plains in the first place—Acala 1517 and Del Cerro. Both are long and strong.

The Acala, grown commercially near Lubbock with considerable success this past season, has staples of from 1-3/32 to 1-3/16 inches and a strength of from 90,000 to 110,000 pounds per square inch. Del Cerro is even longer and stronger, as shown by a recent series of tests on the variety grown near Lamesa last year. The tests revealed an average length of 1-7/32 inches and Pressley strengths up to 119,000 psi.

Production of these varieties is expected to increase in 1966 and several thousand bales of each variety should be available to interested mills.

Breeders are working as rapidly as possible, with full encouragement from Plains Cotton Growers, to develop varieties, adapted to Plains growing conditions, that will produce the longer and stronger cotton growers are looking for. Some of the results he quotes are as follows:

"The Rilecot Seed Company has several new varieties under development. Lockett Seed Company's new 4789 boasts good strength and length. Paymaster Seed Farm already has its 111 variety on a commercial basis, and several mills are very pleased with the way this cotton spins and the quality of yarn it produces. Lankart Seed Company has a new variety called 3840 with considerably greater length than the familiar Lankart 57. And the Gregg Seed Company has just announced their new 25V, which retains the exceptional strength of Gregg 35 and is reported to have some increase in length."

Parker's article on the SOUTHERN TEXTILE NEWS is certain to be widely read by cotton mill executives and buyers. It gives notice to the textile industry that new and better cottons are soon to come from the Texas High Plains.

Strong opposition voiced by producer groups and others across the cotton belt has apparently blocked the Administration's proposal to have farmers pay for Smith-Doxey cotton classing and to collect fees for warehouse inspection.

The bill which would have authorized the proposal, S-2821, was referred to a Senate subcommittee headed by Senator B. Everett Jordan (D-N.C.) and it is reported that Jordan does not plan to hold hearings or take any other action.

Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee Harold Cooley (D-N.C.), has said his committee would not act until the Senate acts. So it is almost certain the move has been stalled at least for this session of Congress.

Representative E. C. "Took" Gathings (D-Ark.), long time champion of agricultural causes in Washington, last week aimed a solid slap at the proposal from the Bureau of the Budget that federal funds for agricultural experiment stations be cut by $8.5 million and that another $4 million be knocked off appropriations for the USDA's Agricultural Research Service. He said such a budget would "curtail agricultural research by folding up or cutting back programs in 69 locations and decrease payments to experiment stations," and added:

"The ingenuity of our farmers using the results of research discoveries has made for an abundance of food and fiber. Our farms are the most productive in the world. To adhere to the recommendations of the Bureau of the Budget would mean a march downhill and a retreat. This will not be done."

FOREIGN DEMAND

Export sales of U.S. farm products for the fiscal year ending in July 1966 are expected to total $6.2 billion. Such Texas agricultural products as grain sorghums, rice and soybeans going into foreign trade during the last half of 1965 were at record volume compared with previous years, said J. E. Kirby, Extension economist-marketing and policy at Texas A&M University.

MORTON TRIBUNE, THURSDAY MARCH 31, 1966

Two opportunities to speak

Two opportunities will be offered the voters within the next five days to express their opinions and help determine the course of events. These opportunities come in the city council election and the school trustee election.

Both of these are important, for the influence of these two groups are widespread. One is dealing with the molding of youth through the education of today. The other is concerned with the daily events of your city government.

There are well-qualified persons running for every post and they desire your serious consideration . . . and your decision at the polls.

Your single vote is important and should be exercised after consideration. We urge you to vote in both the city election and the school board election so that you will have a voice in the conduct and attitudes of these two very important groups.

Diversification key to future

In the age of specialization, it seems strange to advocate diversification. Yet diversification is what is desperately needed in this area.

This issue of the Tribune is carrying stories from South Plains about some plans which are taking shape in other communities about new crops they are trying. The stories are quoted in the adjacent column, "Views from other editors," one described a large planting of peach trees in Gaines and a current one with soybean production near Quanah.

A few weeks ago, the Tribune carried some news about a regional meeting to explore grape-production as another new crop.

Last week, the story of a booming new agricultural export area was told in Business Week magazine. The area was north of Mexico City and the crop was strawberries. Key phrase in the whole story was the one which explained that the berries were grown in a high plateau area with abundant sunshine, low humidity, long growing season and adequate water supply.

Somehow, that description seems to fit Cochran County as well as it fits central Mexico. And we are a lot closer to the market than Mexico.

The South Plains of Texas is a productive area. New crops constantly are being tried and nearly all of them will grow well here. Peasants are being discussed widely on the South Plains as a new cash crop. Some counties are producing mountains of cucumbers for pickles. Others are growing soybeans, or castorbeans or vegetables.

There is virtually no limit as to what will grow in this region. Hothouse tomatoes are being produced in large commercial quantities north of this area.

This climate is good, with a relatively long growing season, with good soil and good water. Add to this the good farmers who have made this a strong agricultural area, and you have a combination that can be successful.

Other agricultural crops are needed to supplement cotton and grain sorghum. Our neighbors across the South Plains are beginning to explore and try new crops. If we are to stay abreast, we must also try new crops and new production ideas. Our local farmers are skilled enough to take advantage of the opportunities which exist for expanding markets in an expanding population.

Where are the dollars going?

Inflation is a word most of us use with familiarity. We have read about it, talked about it and, most of all, experienced it. But most of us realize the threat of inflation only in a few areas. Information we received last week provided an insight as to many other areas where inflation has been hitting us, almost without our knowledge. So try some of these statistics on for size:

A normal Texas family will have to earn more money this year just to stay even with its purchasing power of 1963. If your family income was $6,000 back in 1963, you will have to earn $175 more this year just to maintain your 1963 standard of living.

Our dollar, worth 100 per cent in 1955, is now an 85-cent dollar. Here are a few concrete examples, although local prices and experience may vary somewhat from these national figures:

In the last ten years our food dollar has dropped to 85 cents. Our rent dollar is now an 87-cent dollar.

Our clothing dollar is now a 93-cent dollar.

Our medical-care dollar is a 73-cent dollar.

Our home building dollar is an 82-cent dollar.

Our college-cost dollar is now a 76-cent dollar.

Our car-repair dollar is now an 80-cent dollar.

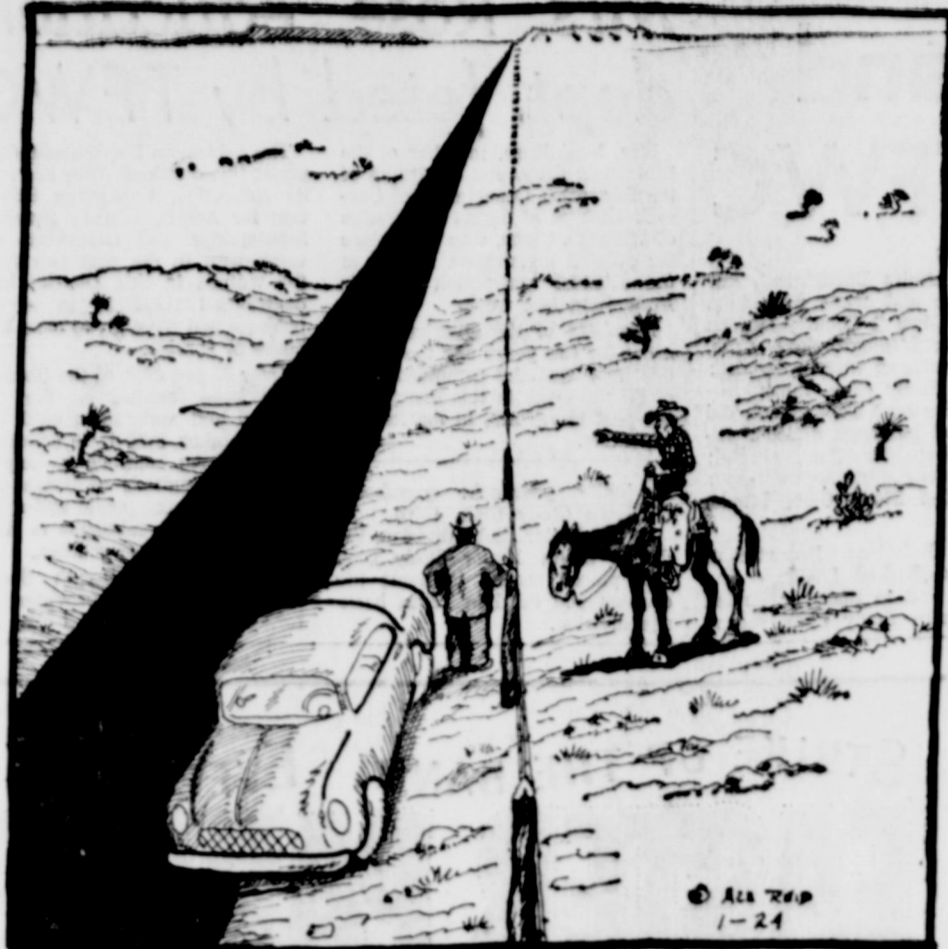

A loaf of bread costs 17 per cent more.

Bacon has jumped 61 per cent.

TV repair cost are up 17 per cent.

Teachers militant

This is a protest period. It is not surprising, then, that many teachers, who formerly soft-pedaled their grievances, now join militant unions and strike. Or that a conservative group such as the century-old National Education Association endorses an alternative to strikes, namely sanctions, in an effort to dissuade teachers from working in any school system until it meets association standards.

Protests are widely scattered. We hear of a strike threat in Lanarkshire, Scotland, called off pending an official salary investigation. In the United States, New Orleans and Plainville, N.Y., are now providing strike news. In the last two years two states, Utah and Oklahoma, have been subjected to sanctions. A major stoppage in New York City was averted last September by the granting of pay increases. So it goes in many American cities.

Few would deny that teachers should have the right to organize. Nor is there much argument about the need for pay increases in many areas. More debatable is the question of how teachers are to get redress. Many of them dislike pressure tactics but both the National Education Association and the American Federation of Labor which use them are gaining members. It cannot be denied that both strikes and sanctions have had results when milder methods failed.

Whatever can be done to improve teaching conditions and thereby attract larger numbers of able people into the profession is to be commended. But it takes more than high salaries to recruit and keep talent. Usually what a career teacher most desires, after his basic living needs are met, is the opportunity to use his powers to the full. He seeks freedom from patrol and clerical duties which would prevent him from giving full time to the children. He wants opportunities to take part in planning and experimenting. He would like to feel he has the respect of his community. Can he get these things without militancy?

Yes, if his community helps. The citizen's responsibility for maintaining teacher morale was well stated by Francis Keppel when he was U.S. Commissioner of Education. No, he didn't like strikes; he accepted them only as a means of last resort; but he added: "I am just as opposed to the public neglect and apathy that drives high-minded, normally unaggressive people to that kind of action."

The federal government has no intention of paying its bills or cutting its spending. Just this week the old problem of raising the debt ceiling again was raised and this will be done, to $312 billion. It

No community should allow itself to drift into that position. But teachers, for their part, must show themselves true professionals.

The joke's on the people

The administration is paving the way, through a series of carefully planted announcements, for a tax increase pretty soon, and hoping that when the bigger bite comes out of the paycheck, the wage earner will at least have been prepared for it.

This tax increase is said to be made necessary to stave off inflation, and while not exactly a palatable remedy, it is one that is necessary if the dollar is to remain anywhere near stable.

That's what they tell us, anyway. But it is tax boost the best way to combat inflation?

We all assume that it is. After all, if the government takes another bite out of income, we are going to have less money to spend, and thus we will have cut down on inflation.

And if we cut our spending, the demand will be lessened for factories to produce more goods and retailers to sell them.

But this reasoning has some holes in it. The Wall Street Journal had an article this week which points this out.

A tax increase is in itself no guarantee that spending will dry up, any more than a tax reduction can be positively counted on to boost spending.

The fallacy in the government theory that tax increases reduce spending and thus curbs inflation is government itself.

There has been no indication whatsoever that our federal government is going to cut its spending. So if we get a tax increase, slow down our spending, what good will that do if it merely gives the government more money to spend?

The result is still more inflation, but we won't even get the benefit of spending our money — the government will do the spending.

With a tax increase, we won't be buying as many cars, but the government will buy more of them. We may not be able to buy a house as quickly, but the government will be buying thousands of them and giving them to "underprivileged" people.

The federal government has no intention of paying its bills or cutting its spending. Just this week the old problem of raising the debt ceiling again was raised and this will be done, to $312 billion. It was just a few years ago that economists worried about boosting it to $100 billion.

When tax hikes come, it will be a cruel joke on the taxpayer. For inflation will still be with us, and created by the same government that wants us to trim our spending while increasing its own spending.

Splashes down wet

The three national television networks were deluged with telephone calls last week when entertainment shows were cancelled to report on the emergency Gemini splashdown.

It seems that thousands of viewers were upset about the loss of the Virginian, Batman and Lost in Space, and let the networks know they didn't appreciate their being cut off just to report the Gemini story.

A lot of other people were equally disgusted with the attitude of those who seemingly would rather see a fiction adventure than the real thing. And this is a natural reaction.

But the protesters did have a point. I didn't realize this until I asked one of my own kids why he wouldn't rather see the real adventure on television than his "Lost in Space", which he would wade through fire to see, if necessary.

He pointed out that there was no adventure shown on the real thing. "It was just a bunch of guys standing around talking."

And he was right. After 30 minutes of listening to the commentators repeat that nobody knew from nothing about why the Gemini 8 was down, I got pretty tired of it myself. Even Batman is better-looking than Chat Huntley.

Soybeans good crop

With the Quannah Cotton Mill now in the market for soybeans and soybean products, a new avenue of income has been opened for area farmers.

Soybeans can be grown in all irrigated sections of Texas, though most of the commercial acreage harvested for seed is on the High Plains. Although profitable yields have been produced in some seasons under dryland conditions on bottomland soils of the Red River Valley yields have been rather inconsistent over a period of years, and the crop has not been grown widely on dryland farms.

Soybeans are adapted to about the same general soil and climatic conditions as corn or cotton and do well on properly drained, mellow fertile loams and sandy loams with adequate moisture.

The soybean plant is a legume with seed containing approximately 20 percent oil and 40 percent protein. At maturity the plants vary from 2 to 3 feet in height depending upon the variety, soil fertility and available moisture.

Soybeans should be planted after the minimum soil temperatures have reached 65 degrees F. and after the effective daylight period reaches or exceeds 14 1/2 hours in this area. Planting should be between June 1, and June 15.

Seeded preparation for soybeans is the same as for cotton or grain sorghum. In irrigated areas, unless a good subsoil moisture is available, a preplanting irrigation should be applied to wet the soil to a depth of 4-6 feet. Seeded should be free of weeds.

Information sources say that this additional crop used in rotation improves yields of the area's major crops — cotton and grain sorghums. Farmers have reported one-fourth bale per acre increase in cotton yields and 1,000 to 2,000 pounds more grain sorghums per acre when these crops followed soybeans.

Highlights and Sidelights —

615,000 additional voters

AUSTIN, Tex. — Texas has some 615,000 new voters as a result of the March 3-17 free registration period.

Turnout was six times larger than state officials had predicted and could be an indicator of a dawning new era in Texas politics.

More than half the total came from four big counties — Harris with an estimated 100,000, Dallas with 96,017, Bexar with 88,100 and Tarrant with 50,962.

Gubernatorial candidate Stanley C. Woods and two members of the state Democratic Executive Committee are attempting to intervene in the federal court action resulting from the poll tax suit and force reopening of the registration period. They are urging the court to allow registration up until 30 days before each election.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr is strongly opposing the motion — arguing that all Texans interested in voting this year had ample opportunity to sign up during the 15-day period provided by the Legislature.

Federal judges have promised a decision — after they review evidence — on whether the period should be lengthened.

Carr has submitted a 7,500 page report (including 3,500 newspaper articles from 500 Texas newspapers) to support his claim that everybody who wants to vote got a chance to qualify.

APRIL ALLOWABLE — Texas Railroad Commission, at a time when oil demand usually lightens, has raised statewide oil allowable for April to 33.7 per cent of potential.

Increase was the seventh straight monthly boost. Only once before in the last 20 years has April allowable been higher than March.

New allowable permits maximum production of 3,199,550 barrels a day. March operation is under 33.2 per cent of potential factor, permitting production of 3,170,316 barrels daily.

FEDERAL FUNDS — Texans hope to have eight new programs approved by the federal government by April 1 to launch a venture to promote technical services for business and industry.

Under the State Technical Services Act of 1965, programs approved by the U.S. Department of Commerce would make available new scientific and technological discoveries to inquiring businesses, industries and commercial enterprises.

Texas now is seeking $144,000 for the last quarter of this year to get the requested programs started at Texas Woman's University, University of Texas, Texas A&M University and Southern Methodist University.

Federal funds fully support these planning programs.

These eight fields have been suggested in proposals submitted to the Commerce Department:

Texas A&M — Training formation specialists, chemical engineering workshop; electronic corporation managers, primary metal industry and petroleum industry workshops.

University of Texas — Continuing education for engineers.

Southern Methodist — Technical information services, North Texas.

Texas Woman's University — Activation analysis workshop.

DRAFT QUOTA — Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service director, says 979 men will be called to fill the April draft quota. This is the lowest call since August, 1965.

Monthly calls in the period from September through March ranged from a low of 1,068 to a high of 1,523.

Pre-induction physical and mental examinations will be given to 3,005 men during April. This also is a reduction from March, when 5,515 were tested.

During the same period, he said, men classified as students rose from 85,000 to 104,000. At the end of January, there were 106,000 men classified in 2-S as students.

COMMISSIONER NAMED — Dr. Jack Kenny Williams, Clemson University dean and academic vice president, is Texas' new Commissioner of Higher Education, at a $40,000-a-year salary.

Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System unanimously selected Dr. Williams, offering him $15,000 more than the governor makes. Some $17,500 of the total salary will come from private foundations or from members of the coordinating board itself. On August 1 Dr. Williams will assume his far-ranging duties of planning of 22 state-supported secondary coordinating activities and six colleges and universities and 22 public junior colleges.

Board staff recommendations for new role and scope of state educational institutions to overhaul and strengthen the system. Final decision is due April 18. East Texas State University is protesting proposed loss of its doctoral program and reduction to college classification. Texas Southern University wants to hang onto its law school which the Bond staff feels should be eliminated.

After requesting an attorney's opinion on its responsibilities to pass on college buildings financed by general revenue, Board approved $1,800,000 library addition for Texas College of Arts and Industries, Kingsville, and endorsed purchase of Rosemont Apartments and land by Angelo State College, San Angelo, for $380,000. Apartments are being used for student housing.

IMPORTANT ADDITION — Secretary Commissioner William M. King believes a recent decision by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals is an important addition to the legal protection afforded Texas investors against fraudulent practices in the sale of securities.

Court held that misrepresentation of material facts in offering securities for sale is a crime under penal provisions of the Texas Securities Act.

SHORT SNORTS — Gov. John Connally has announced approval of Community Action Program grants for El Paso ($246,988); Dallas ($46,905); Waunder ($21,983); and Lockett ($649).

Land Commissioner Jerry Seiler has announced that more than 515,000 acres of submerged lands off the coast of Texas and more than 16,000 acres of uplands and riverbeds, most of them in far West Texas, will be offered for oil and gas leases at the Lease Sale to be held in the General Land Office on May 3.

Texas crime rate increased nine per cent last year, to 2,967.2 for each 100,000 population, for an all-time high of 284,249 offenses, according to Col. Homer Garrison, Texas Department of Public Safety director.

Texas Water Pollution Control Board will send a representative to the Rio Grande Valley to consult on cleaning up the Arroyo Colorado Watershed from Hartlingen area to Gulf of Mexico.

Autos must have safety checks by April 15 inspection deadline and Department of Public Safety says more than 1,300,000 cars still are to be inspected.

Attorney General Carr has announced recovery of $4,830 in judgments from two defendants for allegedly operating stanted oil well in Upshur County.

UT's Bureau of Business Research reports February retail sales for state were up three per cent over February, 1965.

Progress Report

Texas' Last Frontier
Compiled by Morton Area Chamber of Commerce

Two weeks ago we presented an analysis of the work and responsibilities entailed in the development of a growing community through your Chamber of Commerce. It was pointed out that progress and growth stems from optimism and cooperation among merchants, farmers and civic-minded individuals.

Today we shall begin to lay out the suggested program of work which the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce has adopted. We must be cognizant of the fact that all of our problems and programs must first be recognized, explained and then firmly supported. As interested citizens, we must be bold in our plans and firm in our determination to succeed.

Committees of the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce have been meeting frequently during the past two weeks and are actively engaged in detailed planning on the program of work before us.

The Highway Committee, headed up by Van Greene, met March 10 in a joint meeting with the Community Development Committee of the Morton Jaycees, headed by Butch Wright. Primary concern of the committee is continued investigation on the Highway 116 extension. Completion of the project would involve improvement of State Highway 116 from Lubbock through Morton to the New Mexico line and to extend the roadway across New Mexico to U. S. Highway 70 on to Roswell.

Letters are being sent to area communities by the Chamber of Commerce and the Jaycees explaining the proposal and seeking letters of support. A visit to Roswell by delegates of the Highway Committee and the Jaycees is planned.

The Advertising and Public Relations Committee met March 16 and adopted an outline of work vital to the creation of a proper public image. Among the items adopted and being investigated is the construction of new "Welcome" signs on the highways into Morton. This endeavor could be co-sponsored by the various civic organizations in Morton.

Mention was made of preparing a brochure advertising and property the Morton area.

Civic organizations and committee members will be added to the list of those receiving the Chamber of Commerce Newsletter.

The Civic Improvement Committee of the Chamber and the Community Development Committee of the Jaycees are actively engaged in the study of creating a Morton Area United Fund to strengthen the existing agencies involved in annual fund drives and to co-ordinate most of the drives into one yearly affair.

Chairmen of the various fund drives have been meeting with the joint committee and are in agreement that the need for such an undertaking is evident. A co-ordinated annual drive would conserve time and energy of civic leaders and would foster the patience of merchants and individual contributors, who are constantly called and sell at public auction, for cash to the highest bidder, all the right, title and interest of DOB Oil Properties, Inc. in and to said above described property.

Witness my hand this 28 day of March, 1966.

tion, method demonstrations,

by Combs, Jan Thomas and Marilyn Cade were appointed to be the conservation practices. He discussed terraces, cover crops, contour farming and home landscaping. Slides were shown of land in Cochran County to illustrate each point. He urged 4-Hers to make farmsteads more attractive.

County Food Show and explained it to the group. She and Jan Thomas answered questions on nutrition

We all thrill to a...

FAMILIAR TUNE

It is so soothing, comforting, and pleasing to listen to our favorite tunes when played by capable artists. These tunes can make our minds wander back to pleasant memories of days gone by, and also awake us to new joys. Each Sunday we have the opportunity to be thrilled by the preaching of God's word, and the story of God's great love for us. Attend church Sunday and enjoy worshipping God with others.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
