More than 250 Morton High School students got a glimpse of the new school year as they gathered and filled out class schedules at the high school Monday morning. Superintendent Ray Lanier estimated that some 1,250 school bells will ring in the school year at 8:45 a.m. Monday, Sept. 6.

before high school principal Bob Travis and counselor Paul Davis for class selection Monday morning. The main topic of the youngsters' conversation was senior rings — the red and gold symbol of their years of work. Rings were distributed Wednesday morning at 9 a.m.

attendance figures for the new year would be almost impossible to calculate, but he estimated that this year's enrollment for the entire system would be slightly less than in the previous year. He forecast about 290 students in high school by the end of the first month, 310 in junior high, 575 elementary students, and 50 students in the Eastside School.

Sixty-eight teachers, principals, and other school staff member will begin the year officially several days ahead of the annual swarm of youngsters.

Lynn Tuck, sixth grade language arts; Richard Houston, junior high social studies; Robert Taylor and Lane Tannehill, coaches; Bob Letherman, music director; Charles Borland, high school science; Mrs. Bob Letherman, music director; Charles Borland, high school science; Mrs. Maxine Cadenhead, third grade; Mrs. Diane Yates, second grade; David Mitchell, junior high science and his wife in the fifth grade.

The new staff additions, brings to 31 the total number of employees at the elementary level. Another 12 staff members hold junior high positions and 22 work in the high school. Eastside School has a teaching staff of three and one industrial arts instructor is still being sought.

Lunchroom, bus service and all other such services will be in full operation on the first day of classes.

School officials have mapped out 175 days for the coming school year. Holidays will include two regular school days off for Thanksgiving, approximately eight weekdays off for Christmas, one day off for students while teachers attend the annual District XIII T.S.T.A. meeting in Lubbock March 3, and three days off for Easter.

The city of Morton launched a three-pronged attack against the possible menace of mosquitoes last week. Increased precautions were taken to control the insects on land, water, and in the air surrounding the town.

A year-old project of improving State Highway 16 from Lubbock through Morton and across the New Mexico line to Highway 70 on to Roswell took a giant step along its own figurative road to success Monday with the announcement of an appointment with the New Mexico Highway Commission to discuss the plan.

The appointment, set for 10 a.m. Sept. 15, was announced Monday by Morton Area Chamber of Commerce Manager Jesse T. George after a telephone conversation between him and John F. Sudderth, Chairman of the New Mexico State Highway Commission.

George called a meeting of the Chamber's Highway Committee on Wednesday morning to explain the developments to committee members and to formulate new plans. No official delegation to the Commission meeting has been named.

They also claim it would be the shortest and best route from Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Seymour and other cities to Ruidoso, N.M.

Endorsement of the highway improvement plan has come to the Chamber from various Texas towns and as well as Roswell's Chamber of Commerce. Support has also come from the Cochran County Commissioners Court and from Lubbock's District Engineer, Oscar Crane.

A traffic count along the road in Texas is now being conducted by the Texas Highway Department to determine how much the roadway is traveled. Results are expected soon, according to George.

Many supporters of the project here view the New Mexico Highway Commission as the only remaining major group to convince. The plan's supporters will go to the Sept. 15 meeting armed with several reasons to justify the cost of the highway project in the minds

The Morton Area Chamber of Commerce and the local Jaycee chapter have worked toward getting the highway improvements since June of last year.

Chamber to name farm family and citizen of the year

Ballots for the selection of Citizen of the Year and Farm Family of the Year were mailed Monday by the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce to each of its 92 members.

Classes opened at Three Way

Classes at the Three Way schools opened Tuesday, according to Superintendent Harrel Holder.

The two honors are bestowed each year by the Chamber at its annual banquet. This year's banquet has been set for Oct. 25.

Approximately 255 students in the 12 grades reported for the first day. About 50 of those were high school students. The youngsters were greeted by the 16 member teaching staff which includes seven new instructors. They are Della Bacus; Mrs. Susie Bickley, a fifth grade teacher; Cloice Winters, sixth grade; Rosemary Cockery, homemaking teacher; Eddie Armstrong, high school science teacher; Van Price, junior high principal and social studies teacher; and LaJean Williams, remedial reading instructor.

All members will vote once for their choice for each award.

Holidays for the Three Way system are scheduled to include the Thanksgiving weekend beginning Nov. 24; seven days at Christmas starting the week of the 24th; and a full week at Easter. Students will have a day off March 3 while teachers attend the district TSTA meeting in Lubbock.

Farm Family of the Year is judged on citizenship, participation in community affairs, and loyalty to the area. The family's ability in farm management, its contribution to farms other than its own, and the individual family members will be seriously considered.

Classes will be conducted Labor Day, Holder said.

Families must derive at least three-fourths of their annual income from farm sources to be eligible for recognition. Citizen of the Year will be selected on the basis of his loyalty to the community as well as his leadership in civic affairs, church and school activities, and family life.

All ballots must be returned to the Chamber office in Morton by Tuesday, Sept. 6. Final decision on awards will be made by the Selection and Criterion Committees of the Chamber.

Absentee vote

Absentee voting in the Sept. 20 bond and road tax election began Tuesday and will continue through Sept. 16, according to the county clerk here.

Truck taps phone lines in Whiteface

Telephone connections with Whiteface were harder to make than usual for about five hours last week after a heavy-duty oil truck and trailer broke a transmission pole and downed lines just off highway 125 inside the city.

Voting will be open at the Cochran County Clerk's office at the Courthouse in Morton from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Construction contractors from Brownfield arrived about 8 p.m. Thursday night and labored until the early hours of the following day to restore service. Calls from Whiteface to Morton and surrounding areas were disrupted during much of that time.

Two ballots will face voters. One contains a 15-cent road tax rate hike proposal. The other involves proposed permanent improvement bonds totaling $525,000.

Hodge said a high wrench on the vehicle owned by a Levelland trucking company apparently snagged lines causing the pole to break as the truck turned onto a dirt street from the highway. No one was injured and no charges were filed.

Texas' secretary of state to keynote dedication of Girlstown bus Friday

... Secretary of State

Texas' Secretary of State John L. Hill will deliver the keynote address at the formal presentation of a school bus by Morton Jaycees to the girls of Girlstown U.S.A. near Whiteface, according to State Representative Jesse T. George, state vice-president of Texas Jaycees.

year-old Breckenridge native, is a 1947 graduate of the University of Texas from which he earned a LL.B. degree. He is a charter member of the Texas Bar Association, former vice chairman of the State Bar Grievance Committee, and a former director of the University of Texas Law School Alumni.

Ceremonies have been scheduled for Friday at 3 p.m. at Girlstown U.S.A.

Hill is currently director of the International Academy of Trial Lawyers, a member of the American Judicature Society, and vice chairman of the Insurance Section of the American Bar Association. During his 18-year career as a practicing trial lawyer, he has been cited often for his contribution to the legal profession, particularly in the field of legal education.

The donation will climax two months' work by local Jaycee members who purchased, sanded, and painted the five-year-old bus for use by the 66 girls who live at Girlstown U.S.A. Financing of the $650 project will come from the sale of 600 bright red stadium cushions to the public during football season. Advertising space was made available on the cushions to local and area businessmen to help defray the production costs of the cushions. The bus was purchased from Freshness in July.

He is also married and the father of three teenagers.

This need has been evidenced by the number of uses the girls have already found for it. ### Mill called "profitable" by experts at hearing

More pledges were signed and more interest created as the result of a public meeting on a planned cotton spinning mill here Thursday night.

Dinner rescheduled for Rep. Jesse T. George

An appreciation dinner honoring Jesse T. George, originally set for Sept. 2, has been rescheduled for 7:30 p.m. Sept. 17 in the Morton High School lunchroom.

About 60 persons in the County Activity building heard a series of speakers discuss the proposal for a $600,000 installation. The meeting was the first public meeting since the formation of Frontier Textiles last month.

The change was announced this week by Cleve Bland, president of the Morton Jaycees which will sponsor the public dinner.

More than $4,000 in pledges have been signed by interested local residents, most of them agreeing to put $1,000 each into a corporation. Backers are attempting to raise about $300,000, with an equal amount to be borrowed. It is estimated that a 6,000-spindle operation would cost about $500,000 including site, building and equipment.

Speakers for the evening will be District Judge M. C. Ledbetter. Tickets will be sold to the public at a price yet to be determined, the program chairman said.

Speakers at the meeting included Bill Crumley, associate director of the Textile Research Foundation at Texas Technological College in Lubbock; A. Frank Kelley of Victoria, textile consultant; Jack Maddox, Hobbs, N.M., president of New Mexico Electric Company; and Rusty Reesler, vice president of the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce.

Just back from a visit to textile mills in the southeastern part of the United States, Crumley reported the yarn demand still is increasing faster than present production. "The country needs five million more spindles just to meet current needs," Crumley reported. As in earlier meetings, Crumley urged that Frontier Textiles consider the purchase of good used equipment since machinery producers are now about two years behind the demand.

Kelley told the group, "I'm interested in what you people want to do. This can be a profitable venture if it's approached in the right way." Kelley has been in the textile business in various aspects for the past 35 years.

Crumley used a recent research paper from the University of Texas to point out the reasons for locating new textile mills in the state. Present plants, most of them in the southeast, are being expanded due to increased demand, but many are quite old and obsolete.

The points favorable to locating such plants in Texas, the report indicated, included: availability of local cotton, adequate labor supply, closer to present midwest and west coast markets, favorable tax structures, good transportation facilities and lower transportation costs.

Presiding during the meeting was Glenn Thompson, vice chairman of Frontier Textiles. He introduced Maddox, pointing out that Maddox was a graduate of Texas Tech with a degree in textile engineering.

"The need for industry in Morton is indisputable," Maddox declared. "We need diversification in this area and we need it badly."

The report you heard on water (referring to a report on the Texas Water Development Plan made by Ed Dean during a meeting of the Plains Cotton Growers) points up the need to diversify. . . We know there is a shortage of yarn, from the coarsest to the finest combed yarn. You need to plan your program in a careful manner, research your plant and determine what type of market you will have 25 years from now.

"There is a great need for proper engineering of this plant by experts," he concluded.

Jack Russell, secretary-treasurer of Frontier Textiles, reported on signed pledges as of that time.

Gene Benham, president of the First State Bank of Morton, made the final statement, following numerous questions, saying, "Towns are built by people and this is one project all of us can work on." Following the meeting, a number of persons signed pledges.

It was only because such trips that Morton Jaycees were able to carry out their renovation plans for the bus. The remodeling included repairing many of the seats, replacing broken windows, and changing the bus's traditional yellow body to white.

Black lettering on the sides which for years labeled it a school bus was exchanged for bold blue letters reading Girlstown, U.S.A. Whiteface, Texas. Even the bumpers have been trimmed in blue.

"The Morton Jaycees encourage the public to be present for this bus presentation," said local president Cleve Bland. "We feel the enthusiasm which has developed over the project has strengthened the inter-community attitudes between Morton and the communities in our area."

The public ceremony is expected to draw people from the Morton, Whiteface, Levelland, Bledsoe, Lehman, and Lubbock area. Members of the Board of Directors of Girlstown U.S.A., Marshall W. Cooper, Girlstown managing director, Home Manager Mrs. Laura Miller, and several national officials have been invited. Four members of the home's board of directors have already accepted invitations. They are D. L. Adcock of Lamesa, Roy E. Carter of Kermit, H. P. Clemons of Lubbock, and Burnett Roberts of Levelland.

Girlstown U.S.A., founded originally in 1949 by Apelia Anthony at Buffalo Gap near Abilene, is now situated on a 1,425-acre site nine miles south of Whiteface.

The home is supported only by contributions and does not receive money from state or federal funds. Its primary support comes from individual donations from civic clubs and private organizations as well as through a monthly contribution from the Beta Sigma Phi International Endowment Fund.

Head football coach Fred Weaver introduced his staff — Robert Taylor, Lane Tannehill and Ted Whitlock — and discussed the varsity football roster.

All the coaches agreed that this year's squad has an outstanding attitude and that all the boys want to play. Weaver said that the season will rest heavily upon how quickly the sophomore players develop. The 28-man squad includes only six seniors, 10 juniors and 12 sophomores. Four starters and ten lettermen are returning from last year's team that posted a 3-7 season.

Thomas named Dean Weatherly as membership chairman and appointed Kenneth Thompson and Robert Taylor to investigate booster posters, including players' photographs, that would be placed in downtown business windows.

First step in their proposed highway plan was a meeting in March, 1966 of Chamber members from Morton, Muleshoe, and Levelland to sound out initial interest.

Later that same month, George contacted Herbert C. Petry, Jr., of the Texas Highway Commission concerning the improvement plan. Petry advised George of a "gentlemen's agreement between Texas and neighboring states to extend and improve any existing highway to the state line provided the other state involved agrees to do so. Petry added that the Highway Commissions of the individual states involved in such an agreement would be the source of funds needed for the improvement projects.

Acting on Petry's advice, George then contacted Crain, Lubbock District Engineer, who promised his full support wherever possible. With evidence of support from this side of the state line, plan supporters turned their attention to New Mexico's reaction.

A Morton delegation, headed by Chamber Highway Committee Chairman Van Greene, met with members of Roswell's Chamber of Commerce March 31. They returned home with Roswell's endorsement, too.

A visit with Sudderth was also planned during the Roswell trip, but he was then out of town.

Since that time, letters have been sent from Morton to various towns which might benefit from the highway improvement program. George estimated that not only Morton but Levelland, Lubbock, Littlefield, Muleshoe, Wichita Falls, Seymour and other cities to the east would be helped financially by the improvements. To date, Chamber presidents from Muleshoe, and Seymour have offered their written endorsement.

All members are asked to bring all of their old clothes. The clothes will be donated to the Morton Public School system by the Swingin' Teens.

Later on, when you clean your catch, you'll have time to remove the hook with ease and safety.

PCG elects Van Greene, re-elects Roy Hickman

Members of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., in Cochran County re-elected one director and elected another during a meeting Thursday night.

Convening in the County Activity Building, members re-named Roy Hickman as director to the PCG board representing cotton producers in the county. Van Greene was named to replace E. O. "Red" Willingham as business director to the board.

Conducting the business session was Ed Dean, field representative of PCG from Lubbock.

The directors were elected according to new by-laws, which call for producer directors to be elected on even years and business directors on odd years. To get in step with the new procedure, Hickman was re-elected for two years and Greene was named for one. In the future, directors will be elected each year for a two-year term.

During his report to members, Dean stated the PCG's vigorous opposition to the Texas Water Development Plan, as it excludes the High Plains and Pecos-El Paso areas, "despite most critical needs in these areas."

Dean stated that the statewide plan, which would move surplus water from northeast Texas to south Texas, would provide for 8,000 to 9,000 acres in South Texas to be irrigated which aren't even cultivated now. "We don't feel that enough study has been made on the cost of moving water from east Texas to west Texas," Dean declared. "It is important that we act now; otherwise, we will never get any of that water."

Dean urged that everyone attend the Water Development Board hearing in Lubbock at 9 a.m. Friday, Sept. 9, in the Municipal Auditorium.

Dean also reported on the group's boll weevil control program. He reported that reports showed a 90 per cent kill two years ago, when the program started, and a 98 per cent kill last year. He urged that members continue their 40-cent-per-bale donation to the boll weevil control program to insure complete success this year. He said the control program would begin about Sept. 1.

Pigs feet and gum are among loot recovered

An early morning ride through Morton Wednesday morning Aug. 24 ended in the arrest of two teenagers by local police and filing of burglary charges against the pair by Bailey County authorities.

Larry Parks and William Collins, both 17 and both of Hereford, visited Morton about 2:30 a.m. Within a few short hours they were "visiting" our jail and awaiting officers from Bailey County who would bring charges against them in connection with the break-in of Simmons Grocery in Enochs the night before.

Patrolman Frank Davison said he saw the boys' car pull off of N.W. 5th St. about 2:30 a.m. and turn west on highway 116. He went to investigate the early birds.

He said the auto stopped before he reached it and both youngsters got out. They explained they were looking for a friend but that they could not find him. Then the officer began a little looking of his own.

A glimpse into the car's back seat revealed boxes of ammunition, socks and other items which were hardly standard equipment for the model. Davison placed the duo under arrest, ordered them to put their hands on top of the car and searched them. He recalled that neither of them tried to resist, and he said he did not pull his gun.

They were then taken to the city jail where they remained until sheriff's officers from Bailey County took them to their jail to await trial.

Later examination of the car and its contents yielded a curious assortment of merchandise. Identification on some of it led to suspicions here that it came from Bailey County.

Kids' chewing gum, men's cigars, boys' pants and girls' socks were but a part of the collection.

The auto looked more like the scene of a carnival than of a crime, but looks in this case could prove deceiving. The accused boys, for instance, may look like boys; but in the eyes of the law, they are adults and will be tried as such.

Parks became a man legally on his birthday in June. Collins turned 17 only two days after his arrest here.

A list of the stolen goods included pigs feet and pecans, shot gun shells, and cigarettes. Even the container for the loot — the car itself — proved to be stolen from a Bushland man.

A trace of the boys' travels Tuesday night indicated they came to Mulshoe that night. It was there, that they gained possession of the car which belonged to a man visiting in the town. Next they reportedly drove south to Enochs and Morton.

Hickman favors bale assessments at Dallas hearing

Roy Hickman, Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. director from Cochran County joined cotton producers from 23 High Plains counties and 31 Rolling Plains counties in supporting a proposed cotton promotion program at a two-day hearing in Dallas Aug. 25-26.

The hearings were called by the U. S. Agriculture Department to determine grower sentiment toward a voluntary $1-a-bale charge to producers to be used for cotton promotion and research.

Hickman, like fellow members of the PCG, stressed the necessity of financial support for cotton promotion at a time when more and more markets are being captured in a growing and well-financed web of man-made fibers.

Opponents of the promotion plan also turned out in force at the hearings. Chief among them was the Farm Bureau. Spokesmen for the Bureau said the proposed program of bale assessments would eventually lead to too much power in the hands of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Their counter-proposal called for a health to government control of cotton production and prices.

The program being debated was authorized by Congress this year in the Cotton Research and Promotion Act.

About the only thing producers seemed to agree on was that their cotton markets were growing smaller all the time and that now was

Auto mishap kills one-time area man

A freak auto mishap 10 miles south of Moab, Utah, took the life of a one-time Bailey County resident Friday night as he returned home from a family reunion in Stegall.

Investigating officers from the Utah Highway Patrol said J. W. Phillips, 38, was killed about 10:07 p.m. when the car in which he was riding went out of control and skidded on rainslick highway 169 in eastern Utah. He was thrown from the car and died instantly when his head struck the pavement, officers said. The car did not overturn.

Phillips' daughter Mrs. Alta Jewel Holmes, identified as the driver, and his wife Ina Pearl were treated for minor injuries at a Moab hospital and released.

Phillips and his wife were enroute to their home in Hermiston, Oregon, when the accident occurred. The trio had been to a Phillips family reunion at the home of Mrs. J. M. Phillips of Stegall. They began their return trip about 8 p.m. Friday.

Phillips had grown up around Stegall and left this area for Oregon in 1947.

The body was taken to a Moab funeral home pending funeral arrangements in Hermiston, Oregon.

Phillips is survived by his wife Ina Pearl; two daughters, Riba Kay and Mrs. Alta Jewel Holmes, both of Portland, Oregon; two sons Alvin Ray of Wallawalla, Wash., and Kenneth Wayne of the home-five sisters, Mrs. Winford Wilson of Dimmitt, Mrs. J. H. Julian of Winsboro, Mrs. Lloyd Pollard of Bula, Mrs. Hazel Cunningham of Mulshoe, and Mrs. Don Lamar of Morton; six brothers, Monroe of Hart, Foster of Mulshoe, Orby of Arch, N.M., J. C. of Galt, Calif., and Sid and Cliff, both of Stegall.

A number of nephews and nieces also live in this area.

★ Bula revival

The Bula Methodist Church is having a revival Sept. 5-11 with Dr. R. Luther Kirk from Pampa bringing the services. Morning services will begin at 10:00 a.m. and evening services at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend.

the time to change the trend. The big question was — and remains to be — what method to use in accomplishing that goal.

Final decision on the matter will come in a vote by cotton producers at the end of a round of scheduled USDA - called hearings like the one in Dallas. Similar hearings are scheduled later for other parts of the cotton belt.

At least two-thirds of the growers voting will have to vote favorably in a referendum before the research and promotion program can take effect.

10th Field Day set for September 8 at Halfway

The Tenth Annual Field Day of the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway has been scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 8.

Keynote speaker for this year's event will be Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, according to an announcement by Foundation President Frank Moore.

The Field Day is expected to be the largest in a decade. Last year, a crowd of over 6,500 was on hand to view the many displays.

Tours of the Research Farm will begin at 1 p.m. and continue throughout the afternoon until 4:30 p.m. Secretary of Agriculture Freeman's address will be delivered at 5 p.m. following an introduction by Congressman George Mahon. A free barbecue will be served by area Lions Club following the address at 6 p.m.

Firms throughout the area donate the use of large trucks for the use of visitors each year. Seats are placed on the trucks so a comfortable ride over the 312 acre-research farm is arranged.

Tours for the afternoon will be dispatched by Ollie Linder, Hale County Agent; Lee Dent, Executive Vice - President of the Hale Center Chamber of Commerce, and Mervyn Igo, Member of the Board of Trustees of the Foundation. Guides will accompany each seated truck for the tour. They will supply information on research in progress seen en route. Guides will be professional agricultural leaders from throughout the area and will include County Agents, Soil Conservation personnel and representatives from the Farm Home Administration service.

James Valliant, Water Engineer and Chairman of the Coordinating Committee at the Foundation, announced that the Committee had arranged for four major stops on the field tour with members of the Foundation Staff speaking at each stop. A fifth stop of a walk-through pause for those desiring has been arranged close to the end of the tour so that the visitors can make a short walk through the grain sorghum and cotton variety tests. This walk through program has been added at the request of farmers who desire to view these varieties at close range.

The first major stop on the farm tour will be at the High Plains Foundation Farming System demonstration plots. Loyd Langford, Associate Agronomist, will show the value of the system of interplanting of cotton with other crops, and also give the results of farm centered research on this system with seventeen farmers throughout the High and South Plains in 1965. The so-called "United Nations Garden" planted from the Foundation's world-wide seed bank can be seen by visitors just as they leave stop number one.

The recharge well, and bench leveling with seven years successful results, along with contour plowing values, will be explained at stop number two. Use of certain grasses in playa lakes will also be outlined. James Valliant, Water Engineer, will be the speaker at this stop.

Stop number three on the farm tour will show the results of weed control with a combination program of chemicals and flame cultivation. Use of flame in vegetable production will also be explained by Dean Howard, Assistant Agronomist. Sugar beet production research can also be viewed at this stop.

Soybean varieties, future releases, production principles and state wide farm centered research on soybean varieties and experimental strains will be shown and explained at stop number four by L. T. Cooper, Assistant Agronomist.

Trucks will pause near the end of the farm riding tour for those who desire to take a short walk-through tour to have a closer view of the grain sorghum and cotton variety comparison plots. Sixty-six hybrids and varieties of grain sorghum and 32 varieties of cotton are planted in these areas. The riding tour will proceed and unload at the farm equipment exhibit around the Halfway Community Building.

Moore stated that provisions have been made to hold the evening program in the Plainview High School Auditorium and Cafeteria in case of inclement weather. The High Plains Research Foundation is situated 15 miles west of Plainview on Highway 10 in the community of Halfway.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lujan, Jr. and family from Colorado Springs, Colorado spent the week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Trejo and family of 101 N.E. 4th Street, Mrs. Lujan and Mrs. Trejo are sisters.

Won't you please drive safely to have 41 traffic fatalities this weekend and it surely would be nice to have none at all. We hope that all of you will have a most enjoyable Labor Day weekend, the time that traditionally signals the end of summer.

As far as I'm concerned, Cochran County has had enough rain to last for a couple of months. What we need now is hot, dry weather to fill out the cotton bolls and mature the grain sorghum. The Soil Conservation Service reported 7.83 inches of moisture during the big rains last week. Sunday night's downpour added .97 and we got another .55 Tuesday night. That made the total 10.89 inches for August, which is the wettest the month has ever been since the SCS started keeping records here.

You know, if this keeps up our best bet might be to start growing rice in this country. Of course, if we started trying that crop, it would turn dry again.

We are pleased to report that printer Norman Beauchamp decided at the last minute to remain with the Tribune shop. Now we have two printers and they are both busy as beavers. Norman will be doing some outside sales work for printing and office supplies.

There was a good turnout for the first meeting of the Morton Athletic Booster Association Monday night. The group is working on a membership campaign right now. The best report I've heard is that R. L. DeBusk had sold 18 memberships, by mid-afternoon Tuesday. The group will sponsor an ice cream and cake party for the varsity players about 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 2, in the school cafeteria. That will be following the team's 4 p.m. scrimmage with Coronado High in Lubbock. Included will be a football film. All members, their wives and prospective members are invited to attend. Just pack up a freezer of cream or a cake and come on out.

Head gridmaster Fred Weaver and his assistants are really enthused about the varsity players and their enthusiasm. Despite a lack of size and experience, Weaver and the other coaches feel that spirit and willingness to work hard will help make the team develop during the year. And the first game is just eight days off.

While we're on the subject of football, it is reliably reported that the Booster Club put Rev. Fred Thomas in as president and Rev. Bill Hopson as vice president because the group was interested in getting leaders who were experienced money-raisers.

Just a reminder that the appreciation dinner for Jesse T. George, who has resigned as Morton Area Chamber of Commerce manager, has been rescheduled. It will be held Saturday, Sept. 17, in the school cafeteria at 8 p.m. sponsored by the Morton Jaycees.

As far as we can determine, most of the businesses in Morton will be closed Monday for Labor Day. In fact, a large number of residents are planning to be in Ruidoso for the running of the All-American Futurity, the richest horserace in the world.

Seniors are going around with extended right hands this week after getting their long-awaited senior rings. Most of them will

WOMEN from the First Missionary Baptist Church of Morton met in the home of Mrs. Maurice Lewallen Monday to prepare peaches for shipment to more than 100 youngsters at the Texas Baptist Home for children in Waxahachie. Five bushels of fruit, contributed by residents from this area, will be canned and sent to the home with peas and other vegetables later this month. The project is part of the church's annual gift to the home. ## Joyce Clark and Eddie Fincher vows exchanged Saturday evening in Clovis

Miss Joyce Clark and Eddie Fincher exchanged wedding vows Saturday, Aug. 27, at 6:16 p.m. in the Church of God in Clovis, N.M. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Clark of Muleshoe. She wore a street length dress of pink whipped cream and white lace with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white admit they sit up knight trying to figure how many things they can do with their right hands.

We've been informed that a number of youngsters have started playing a most dangerous game. They are riding behind the city's fogging truck on their bikes, completely hidden by the dense fog. 'Nuff said, parents?

Thoughts on the official end of summer: How many items we planned to do during the summer didn't get done, but how many pleasant times we had.

We've listened in on a couple of practice sessions by the Morton High School band and they are beginning to get ready for the grid season. Johnny Stockdale and assistant Bob Letherman have been rearranging some of their music to substitute for a shortage of bass and baritone horn players.

If you can possibly arrange it, be on hand at Girlstown USA on Friday, Sept. 2, at 3 p.m. when the Morton Jaycees have the formal dedication of the bus they are providing the girls.

Summer's ended, so much undone; Picnics, trips, visiting incomplete. But planning events will be such fun.

Inside while winter runs on frigid feet.

Six Arabians view farm practices in Morton area

Six men from the Departments in the Ministry of Agriculture traveled thousands of miles from Cairo, Egypt, part of the United Arab Republic, to study the United States Agriculture Program.

These participants, being responsible for all Ministry of Agriculture activities in their respective provinces, will use the knowledge gained in: strengthening the administration of extension programs; training of extension workers under their direction; improving planning procedures in extension and related areas and determining priorities in allocation of funds on a more efficient basis.

These six gentlemen visited our community Wednesday, Aug. 24. They discussed farm planning with Mrs. Bobby Travis, FHA County Office Clerk, Marvin Elliott, FHA County Supervisor Cochran County, Everett Martin, Leader of the Entourage, USDA, and Truman Jones, FHA County Supervisor, Lamb County. Wednesday afternoon they visited the farms of Burt Darland and Roy Brown, both of Morton. At Mr. Darland's farm they studied the High Plains system of Farming. They studied Contensive Farm Planning at both farms. They also visited Mr. Basped Jr. who showed them the improvements made with a small farm loan.

They were very amazed at the decisions our farmers make concerning what they plant, where they plant and how they plant. The farmers of the UAR are told by the government what, where and how to plant. They were also amazed by our large amount of machinery that is used everyday and they were very amazed by our large rainfall we had just received. Egypt's annual rainfall average is just 5.3 inches. Our 9 inches in less than one week was almost too much for them.

These gentlemen have been touring the U.S.A. since July 7, when they arrived in Washington, D.C. They have traveled from Maryland to Texas, stopping in between for visits. They are going to New Mexico before returning to Washington, D.C. for another visit and then to their country.

These Arabians are heads of agriculture programs in their governments which would be the same thing as the heads of our agriculture programs in the different states of the United States.

They are: Mr. Selim Abemad Naziz, Director General, Agriculture Department; Mr. Mahmoud Hosni Ismail, Director General Agricultural Areas Affairs Department; Mr. Tawfik Aly Abbassy, Director General of Agriculture, Menoufia Governorate; Mr. Mohammed El Sayed Ali, Acting Director General, General Organization for Agriculture Production; Dr. Ibrahim Abdel Megid, General Manager, Animal Welfare Centers; Mr. Megally Abdel Sayed Habib, Sub-Director, Agriculture Re-organization Project.

Upon completion of this training, the government of the UAR agrees that these participants will return to their previous positions, similar ones or superior positions where their training will contribute to the further development or strengthening of agricultural extension services.

Whiteface Antelopes took advantage of a break in the weather to begin two-day outdoor workouts in preparation for the coming season.

Coach Dale Read and assistant Max Dickerson opened practice Aug. 22, but kept the boys out of pads and helmets most of the time.

Approximately 30 boys showed up for the team. About 15 are seniors, four are juniors, and the sophomores, and four are freshmen. Most of the team members, Read said, were in last year's lineup.

Appointments include Westwood, Jerry Howard, Ricky Gary Freeman, Jerry Artis Summerline, and Riccio as ends, Hubert Kennerly Roberts, Mike and Kenneth James, are backs, Guards are Alvin Tommy Moore, Dewayne Dean Sanders, and Russell Flores.

Team's centers will be Ronny and Danny Wall, Quarles and Randy Wheeler, Dale and Wayne Legan. Named fullbacks are Lupe Alaniz, Barry, Ike Flores, and Bennett. Fullbacks Leon and Arthur Costillo will start the lineup.

Coach forecast a tough 10-season for his District 2-B. He estimated that almost all the upcoming opponents had improved since last year.

Quick to add that the team, too, had improved and was ready and willing to go. He noted that his players had an average of 15 pounds of weight loss at last season's close of the Whiteface football game of the Whiteface football season will be a home contest on Roosevelt Sept. 9.

C of C elects directors, approves by-law changes

Members of the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce approved a long list of by-law changes and elected five new directors Thursday.

Action came during the annual Chamber membership meeting at 7 p.m. in the County Activities Building. About 25 persons attended the meeting.

Named to two-year terms on the board of directors were Royce Hanna, James McClure, Orville Tilger, H. A. Tuck and James Walker. They will take office in January.

Outgoing directors are Tommy Lynch, Cleve Bland, Butch Wright, plus president Joe Seagler and secretary George Hargrove. Ray Wells is serving an unexpired term on the board.

Directors who remain on the board include vice president Rusty Reeder, Carl Ray, Roy Gentry, J. C. Reynolds and Tommy Hawkins.

President Joe Seagler presided at the meeting. Reeder gave a financial report, which showed a current bank balance of $194.12. However, he pointed out that the Chamber had retired a $2,600 bank note during the past year. Hargrove explained a program which began Monday, as the "Ten at Ten" meeting started. "Directors will serve as hosts for ten people at 10 a.m. for a one-hour meeting," he said. "Each person invited is asked to bring one idea or suggestion for improving the town or the area." He explained that the meetings would include a complete cross-section of the community and would be designed to gain new goals from many persons not active in Chamber work now.

C.C. manager Jesse T. George submitted a list of proposed changes to the by-laws. After an amendment was offered from the floor, a vote killed one of the proposed changes and left it in its earlier form. That question was in regard to a proposal that allowed nomination of Chamber members for the board by individual inquiry and restored a nominating committee.

Among the changes approved were: Calling the annual membership meeting at a time to be decided by the board, rather than on or about Nov. 30; providing for paid employees, with salaries and responsibilities established by the board.

Also adding two more directors to the board, the president and immediate past-president of the Morton JCs; dividing the posts of secretary and treasurer; providing for immediate run-off balloting in the event of tie votes for one or more director posts.

Also adding two new sections, specifying methods of filling board vacancies and officer posts; providing a five-day interval on announcing proposed amendments and requiring a posting of the proposed changes in the Chamber office; and changing requirements for signing Chamber checks.

New officers and directors will be installed during the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, which is slated tentatively for Oct. 25.

J. A. Woolley ... new preacher

Preacher named at Church of Christ

J. A. Woolley has been named preacher at the Church of Christ on 2nd St. in Morton. He replaced Lee Sargent who moved from here July 1 to become preacher of a church in Dickson, Tenn., near Nashville.

Woolley came to Morton Aug. 15 from Spur where he had preached at Hill Street Church of Christ for the past 13 months. He was accompanied by his wife Helen; son John, 16; and three daughters, Lynda, 15; Penny, 11; and Becky, 4.

Woolley held his first services here Aug. 21.

Church wedding for Ginger McCasland and Pvt. R. W. Carter

The First Baptist Church in Morton was the scene of a wedding Tuesday August 23 uniting Miss Ginger Louise McCasland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burl McCasland and Pvt. Robert Wayne Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Carter.

MORTON TRIBUNE, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1966

How important is your driving?

It's not pleasant to think about, but we wish that each one of you could go with us to an accident scene, then follow an ambulance to an emergency room, watch anxiously as doctors and nurses work futilely over an accident victim, then talk with grief-stricken parents.

Perhaps that would make it easier for you to understand why each year we write about safe driving, and particularly why we are concerned about driving habits around schools and during holidays.

This coming weekend will be Labor Day holidays. Many persons will use it as their last pre-school outing and will make long trips. Immediately following that, on Tuesday, school will begin.

The Texas Highway Department officials have predicted that 41 persons will be killed on Texas streets and highways this weekend. The odds are not so long but what you, or one of your family, could become one of them. "It can't happen to me," you answer. But it can! Cochran County already has reported two highway fatalities this year.

Take your time, use seat belts, rest often and be alert for "the other fellow". Leave yourself a margin of safety and always look for a way out of a rapidly-developing situation that puts you in danger. Texas was among the top states during the Fourth of July weekend in traffic deaths. Please don't add to this needless toll this weekend.

When school starts, we always try to remind drivers that the children are careless. But what are some of the dangers? First, everyone knows that children often are careless. They don't mean to be, but a friend will call or they will follow a ball into the street without stopping to look both ways.

Bicycles, motor scooters and a high concentration of cars add to the dangers. In Morton, congestion is terrible around all but one of our schools. Traffic speeds are reduced and there are two traffic signals to assist drivers and students. But these are mechanical items and won't ever replace a drivers' judgment or common sense.

We know of one town which has posted signs near its school crossing. Each one says, "Drive carefully, we don't have a single child to spare."

Cochran County hasn't a single person to spare, adult or child... so please drive carefully this weekend and then make it a habit for the rest of your life.

It's smart to be a drop-out!

It's smart to become a school drop-out. You bet, for you have just made it easier for someone else who's dumb enough to stay in school.

This is the time of year when many students weigh the monotony of returning to school against the "good" money they are making on a summer job. But they might ought to take another look at becoming a drop-out.

If they want to look at money, then let's look. A high school graduate can expect to earn about $100,000 more in his lifetime than a person who fails to get his diploma. And a college graduate ought to earn about $235,000 more in his lifetime than a high school graduate. Yessir, it's real smart to drop out early and start making that big money. You can do a large part to eliminate yourself from competition before the real competition starts.

Demands now are for persons with education. The low-skill jobs are disappearing. Oh, you want to be a farmer. That's great! But just ask a farmer how much he needs to know about accounting, business investments, short-and long-term financing, chemical composition of weed controls, soil additives, fertilizers. How many companies are going to hire a truck-driver and trust him with a $40,000 rig today if he didn't think enough of himself to finish high school?

Sure, we know of the self-made men who succeed without a formal education. But they are rare exceptions. The trouble with most self-made persons is the construction process stops too soon. Most of the self-made men we know have been self-educated and have absorbed great amounts of knowledge on their own initiative.

There is no substitute for education, and the best time to get it is the first time around. Often, there's no second chance.

Mill project still looks good

Last Thursday night's meeting in connection with a proposed cotton spinning mill provide still more encouragement for the project. A number of interested citizens heard a discussion of the financial costs, planned markets and personnel needs of such a plant.

Supporters of the project still are optimistic about their chances for success. Of course, they need a lot more money than has already been pledged, but it seems that individual contacts

Price and wage controls

After Election Day it may be assumed, if inflation continues to be a major threat, that much more will be heard of proposals to impose a price and wage freeze for some fixed period as a way out of a situation created by the breaching of voluntary guidelines. It seems, to bureaucrats, such a simple thing to do: Just decree that prices shall not rise beyond those of a certain date and that wages shall also stay put.

The idea is very old. Roman Emperor Diocletian was the first to try it out in 301 A.D. and the end result was that the people couldn't buy anything in the markets and wouldn't work for the maximum wages. Those who violated the decree through black market operations got the death penalty and such punishment still is occasionally meted out in some parts of the modern world, more recently in Russia. Today in most nations jail sentences or fines are the penalties, yet the rewards sometimes makes them worthwhile.

The idea that wages and prices may be frozen for some specified period is becoming more popular as "incomes policies" spread all through today's world. British Prime Minister Wilson has received full Parliamentary authority to have a price and wage standstill for a year; Israel is to have one for 18 months and Brazil for 12 months. The unique feature in Brazil is that it will take effect only after all pending wage increases have gone through, which naturally poses a strong incentive to make the increases big enough to last through the freeze.

The United States has had wage and price freezes in two wars. A country virtually has to have a war emergency to obtain people's tolerance of them.

Wars, which generate inflation, and peacetime booms which are fed by profligacy in Government spending, usually create labor shortages and scarcities of goods. In the course of time labor circumstances a wage freeze through necessities loopholes in the law. For example, when the United States had wage freezes it was always possible for an unskilled laborer through some legerdemain, such as a little extra training, to become reclassified as a laborer having special skills which entitled him, under the law, to a higher wage. And people could get wage increases by promotions and in a labor short economy promotions came more frequently, both to keep existing jobs satisfactorily filled and to make room for new employees who had shifted from other jobs or had been reclassified as to skills.

Keeping prices stable is a job of equal difficulty, for if the fixed prices prove too low as shortages grow, the goods that everybody wants are (1) not produced in sufficient quantity because there is no profit in them, (2) are exported to markets which can pay more or (3) are diverted to various grey or black markets which just automatically spring up because there are always people who will pay more regardless of criminal penalties.

Profit and regard are the incentives of the marketplace and without them goods are inadequately produced and people will work only inadequately. In today's modern society all wage and price freezes have to contain built-in exceptions to make them even temporarily workable; in time new exceptions have to be made for this, and that purpose, which provide new loopholes and there has to be an enormous new bureaucracy to carry out the regulations and to change them when needed.

There is only this to be said for price and wage controls: They slightly delay the progress of inflation in both prices and wages and so put off the evil day when the fundamental causes of both higher prices and wages are remedied. This can come about through an ending of a war, which automatically cuts military spending, or it can come from a political change created by a popular desire for a return to financial sanity. And it can come from re-sole central bank policy which cuts off the growth of the money supply which is one of the basic causes of rising prices and currency depreciation which impels inordinate wage increase demands.

The ending of control periods usually sees a big burst of inflation, but this reflects merely that inflation which has been underground right along has found it safe to come out in the open.

The fundamental reason why all price and wage controls cannot work satisfactorily, no matter how powerful may be the government enforcing them, is that they interfere with supply and demand. Manufacturers cannot be compelled to produce at a loss, and labor, in periods, when workers are scarce, cannot be compelled to work for insufficient pay. Nor can investors be compelled to put money into enterprises where there is no hope of an adequate return.

The architect of Germany's remarkable economic recovery, Ludwig Erhard, is now having his problems, but is quoted as having said, "The British experience lately, that wage and price controls are not the right way of going about solving them. He was behind his view all the cumulative weight of history over a period of 1665 years — since Diocletian, Journal of Commerce lose their audiences, then they are simply agreeing with the Beatles whether they ban them or not. So, why all the furor?

Trampolines ordered taken out

The five trampolines used in Seminole school gym classes have been ordered taken out of use by the school's board of trustees.

The order came Monday night at the board meeting after a lengthy investigation and many discussions, following the death last May of a high school junior, Norma Williams, from an injury suffered on a trampoline in a physical education class.

The ban on trampolines was made an iron-clad one by the school board. At first the board ordered use of trampolines discontinued in gym classes; a few minutes later the order was changed to "prohibit the use of trampolines in Seminole schools." Board members explained this means that trampolines could not be used in classes, after school or at any time.

Rather than discard the five machines, however, the school officials ordered that they be taken out of the gym and put under lock in a storage building. That way, the school system will still have the trampolines should views be changed in future years.

The action in banning the trampolines preceded a later act by the school board to pay remaining expenses of $2,109 incurred by the Williams family in the fatal injury of their daughter.

Members of the board and school officials expressed opinions that the trampolines were probably no more dangerous than other sports, particularly football.

But the educators cited public opinion frowning on the use of them since two serious injuries and the death occurred here. Also, school administrators said, the physical education instructors of the Seminole school system appeared reluctant to use the trampolines now in their classes.

School officials said that work on the trampolines had been on a voluntary basis in high school and elementary school gym classes — that is, students who did not want to jump on them were not required to do so.

A survey of other schools, ordered by the local board of trustees, showed that trampolines are used on a voluntary basis in Lamesa, Brownfield and Odessa schools, are compulsory in Andrews gym classes, were discarded several years ago by Kermit schools and have never been used in Levelland's schools. None of those schools reported any serious injuries from them.

Members of the board at first discussed a plan whereby students would be required to furnish written permission from their parents in order to participate in trampoline classes.

But after hearing that gym instructors apparently were not in favor of continuing to use them, the school board ordered the trampolines removed.

Two lands, two tempos

Two Americans have grown accustomed to a quick, efficient way of giving instructions and doing business. "Don't litter." "Hands off."

"Keep out." "Yup." "Nope." But few United States folks notice this trend toward brevity until they find themselves in the more leisurely atmosphere of Britain. In the old world there seems more time for amenities.

Here are some observations of a recent American visitor: "You go to the bank to cash a traveler's check. And how are you enjoying your stay here?" the bank clerk asks you. You find yourself

Highlights and Sidelights —

Cities seek state tax split

AUSTIN, Tex. — Officials from major Texas cities, beset with money problems, are calling on the Legislature to allow municipalities a 50-50 split in any new broad-based state taxes enacted next year.

Gov. John Connally pledged to recommend "very substantial new sources of revenue" for the cities after a group of metropolitan area mayors conferred with him.

Question as to whether the kind of revenue-sharing plan advocated by the mayors is permissible under the state constitution will be briefed by the Texas Legislative Council, at the request of House Speaker Ben Barnes.

Cities petitioned for a 50 per cent refund of any increase in the state sales tax or an equivalent amount of any new broad-based tax, with the state doing the collecting and apportioning half of new funds where paid.

While agreeing to ask the Legislature for financial relief for the cities, Connally declined to spell out the precise form and amount he will seek. He did promise there will be "no strings attached" to his recommendations.

Connally also reported an agreement for regular conferences on urban problems between the mayors and top state officials.

What will happen to the cities' request for financial assistance in a legislative session where a state tax bill of more than $200,000,000 is regarded as a certainty remains to be seen.

Some legal authorities do not believe a straight refund is possible without a constitutional amendment, although the Legislature could authorize the cities to levy their own sales tax with the state serving as collector.

NEW MANSION SOUGHT — At its initial meeting, the Texas Fine Arts Commission, created by the Legislature in 1965, recommended a new governor's mansion and said the present residence, completed in 1855, should be operated as an historic house.

Governor Connally has not yet expressed his view on a new mansion. However, last year when the State Building Commission, of which he is chairman, recommended a new $1,000,000 mansion, he deferred and recommended that the money be used elsewhere.

Commission outlined a far-reaching program to encourage development of, and participation in, the arts, including traveling exhibits, festivals, awards, nighttime family entertainment in communities and revived band concerts on the square.

"When you drive over the narrow back roads of Wales you are surprised (coming from America) at the patience of other motorists. The roundabouts are difficult for one not accustomed to left-side-of-the-road driving. Halfway around you stop, trying to find the right direction. You expect to hear honking horns. Instead you look up and see cars waiting for you to make up your mind. You wish you had a mechanical signal for saying 'Thank you all!'

"Less pushed by time than their western counterparts, London gentlemen in bowler hats walk to work swinging tightly furled umbrellas like canes, obviously enjoying the exercise. But some are adopting the American quick-lunch habit and on occasions are sending out for sandwiches at noon. 'Dreadful habit,' we heard one mumble to a companion as they approached a restaurant. 'Every time I have a sandwich lunch I vow I won't have another.'

The slower pace delights no one more than the Americans who ask themselves, "Why not?" and promise themselves to be more relaxed when they return home. But once back they fall quickly in step with the American tempo. The first thing they know they are honking their horns and jockeying for position in traffic again. When it comes to lettering a sign, they do not do it in the British vein, such as "May we suggest that you avoid the use of this bench until the paint is thoroughly dry." Instead they print "Wet paint. Keep off" and let it go at that. Each country keeps to its own ways.

Trucking school eyes

Establishment of a National Professional Truck Driver Training School in Brady awaits only the return of a signed contract from the executive office of the school in Atlanta, Ga.

Officials of the school met last week with the city council to discuss terms of the contract and the establishment of the school. Daniel Gilbert S. "RED MEANS WRONG" — You will be seeing lots of red if you drive the wrong way on a Texas freeway.

In a move to curb wrong-way freeway pileups, State Highway Department is installing red reflector buttons and pavement markers at entrances to interstate and other controlled access highways.

If you see a red arrow pointing at you from the pavement as you enter a freeway ramp, you are entering the wrong way. A straight red line pointing against you on lane lines means you are going in the wrong direction.

Highway Department has spent or obligated $76,600,000 in an overall four-year safety program.

LOANS — Tight money has made it hard for Texas colleges to sell their building bonds. Some still are looking for buyers.

On a third try, buyers were found for the 4 per cent bonds of Angelo State at San Angelo ($1,200,000); Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches ($2,600,000); and Sam Houston State at Huntsville ($2,500,000). But Southwest Texas State at San Marcos and East Texas State Commerce still need buyers for their respective $2,400,000 and $300,000 bonds. Constitutional setting of 4 per cent makes the bonds less attractive to investors than other issues bringing higher returns.

MORE MONEY — Mounting demands of higher education in Texas seem certain to force a tax increase by the Legislature next year in January.

Budget requests for the 22 state colleges are almost double that of the current two years, in large part because of a need for "catching up." Coordinating Board for Higher Education and University System says that the previous practice of providing money based on past enrollments just won't work. It should be provided for the 22 colleges and the 34 junior colleges on the basis of what the enrollments will be, instead of what they were.

Junior colleges, fast growing in Texas, are, will be some $16,000,000 short of operating money during the current two years. It will take $100,000,000 to put senior college appropriations on a current basis.

Prospects for a surplus in the state treasury of $75,500,000 have led to talks of increasing college tuition and fees, so states would pay more of the cost.

APPOINTMENTS — Governor Connally appointed Billy G. Compton, senior Amarillo corporation court judge, district attorney for Potter and Armstrong counties. He is a native of Brady and attended Pampa school.

Compton replaces Dee Miller, who resigned to campaign for the Congressional seat left open when U.S. Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa died not to run again.

Dr. Luther L. Bailey was named project director by State Health Agency Policy Board, appointed by the governor to conduct statewide planning for vocational rehabilitation.

SHORT SHORTS — State Health authorities last week reported 193 suspected and 65 confirmed cases of encephalitis (two strains) in Texas.

Texas' Good Roads Association has warned it will oppose any new highway law in the 60th Legislature to give highway user taxes to other purposes.

Texas auto insurance companies are pledging "aggressive" support of highway safety measures this year.

Attorney General Carr advised Dist. Atty. William Hunter of Potter that a commissioner's report in a county under $10,000 can pay travel expenses of constables serving their private cars, but constables buy their two-way radios.

Texans pay out less taxes from their personal incomes than citizens in 33 other states. Only about 9.1 per cent of the average Texan's personal income goes for taxes. The national average is 9.1 per cent, according to Texas State Teachers Association.

Buying at Home

is much like The Golden Rule

Everybody Recommends It for Everybody Else

But... the sad fact that some folks who preach buying at home don't practice it much, doesn't keep it from being a wise habit. There always will be people who regularly stand in their own light, even when they know better.

Unlike The Golden Rule, the principle of buying at home has few moral aspects. It's just a matter of good hard dollars and cents, and fuller living.

Because somebody else does... or doesn't... is no good reason to give away what is ours.

Yet that is just what we're doing when we spend our money off somewhere else, with the excuse that our neighbors are doing it.

Let's quit watching them, and examine our own habits, reminding ourselves selfishly that of each dollar we spend, nearly one-third goes to pay for community progress and upkeep.

But it's no soup in our pot, no schools for our kids, no churches for our souls, nor increment for our property, if it is some other community.

"Please Don't Hurt My Kids"

Dear Driver:

TODAY, MY DAUGHTER, who is six years old, started to school for the first time. Her brother was with her, but he's only nine himself, and he still looks pretty little to me. Their cocker spaniel, whose name is 'Scot' sat on the front porch and whined his canine belief in the folly of education as they waved "goodbye" and started off to the halls of learning.

LAST NIGHT WE TALKED ABOUT SCHOOL — my daughter and I. She wondered what the teacher would be like . . . she hoped she could sit beside Mary (the little girl next door). She said her "letters" for me—just to be sure she knew them. Oh, we talked about a lot of things—tremendously vital, unimportant things. Then she tried on her plaid pinafore to show me . . . and then to bed.

SHE LOOKED SO HELPLESS — sound asleep, with "Princess Elizabeth" (that's her doll) cuddled in her right arm. You see, I'm her daddy. When her doll is broken or her finger is cut, or her hand gets banged, I can fix it—but when she and Brother start to school, when they walk across the street, then they're in your hands.

THEY'RE NICE KIDS, both of them. They like to ride horses and swim and hike with me on Sunday afternoon. But I can't be with them all the time. I have to work to pay for their clothes and education. So please help me look out for them. Please drive carefully past the schools and intersections—and please remember that children do run from behind parked cars.

PLEASE, DON'T HURT MY KIDS!

Buying at Home

Everybody Recommends It for Everybody Else

But... the sad fact that some folks who preach buying at home don't practice it much, doesn't keep it from being a wise habit. There always will be people who regularly stand in their own light, even when they know better.

Unlike The Golden Rule, the principle of buying at home has few moral aspects. It's just a matter of good hard dollars and cents, and fuller living.

Because somebody else does... or doesn't... is no good reason to give away what is ours.

Yet that is just what we're doing when we spend our money off somewhere else, with the excuse that our neighbors are doing it.

Let's quit watching them, and examine our own habits, reminding ourselves selfishly that of each dollar we spend, nearly one-third goes to pay for community progress and upkeep.

But it's no soup in our pot, no schools for our kids, no churches for our souls, nor increment for our property, if it is some other community.

"Please Don't Hurt My Kids"

Dear Driver:
TODAY, MY DAUGHTER, who is six years old, started to school for the first time. Her brother was with her, but he's only nine himself, and he still looks pretty little to me. Their cocker spaniel, whose name is 'Scot' sat on the front porch and whined his canine belief in the folly of education as they waved "goodbye" and started off to the halls of learning.

LAST NIGHT WE TALKED ABOUT SCHOOL — my daughter and I. She wondered what the teacher would be like . . . she hoped she could sit beside Mary (the little girl next door). She said her "letters" for me—just to be sure she knew them. Oh, we talked about a lot of things—tremendously vital, unimportant things. Then she tried on her plaid pinafore to show me . . . and then to bed.

SHE LOOKED SO HELPLESS — sound asleep, with "Princess Elizabeth" (that's her doll) cuddled in her right arm. You see, I'm her daddy. When her doll is broken or her finger is cut, or her hand gets banged, I can fix it—but when she and Brother start to school, when they walk across the street, then they're in your hands.

THEY'RE NICE KIDS, both of them. They like to ride horses and swim and hike with me on Sunday afternoon. But I can't be with them all the time. I have to work to pay for their clothes and education. So please help me look out for them. Please drive carefully past the schools and intersections—and please remember that children do run from behind parked cars.

PLEASE, DON'T HURT MY KIDS!
—A Proud Daddy

★ Honor God Sunday
 ★ Honor Labor Monday

SPECIAL DAYS... Monday has been set aside by man as a day to honor labor. Throughout the year, man works hard and deserves this recognition and rest. However, even before man saw this need for rest, God set aside one day a week for rest and worship. Attend church each Sunday. Worship the Lord in His house, on the day that He set aside.

"And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it He had rested from all His work which God created and made."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
