Morton Indians trounce Muleshoe for third victory of season, 50-38

Morton devastated a highly-touted Muleshoe basketball team Tuesday night and took its third straight win, 50-38. In the B team contest, Morton took a decisive 27-17 win. It was the first game of the season for the B team.

to Plains. First game starts at 4:30 p.m. Defense was the name of the game in Muleshoe Friday as a sinking defense doubleteamed the high-scoring Mickey Wilson and held him to only seven points during the game. Muleshoe took a 2-0 lead, Morton came back quickly and went in front 4-3. A free throw knotted the score at 4-4 with 5:27 left in the first period. That was the last time Muleshoe was even with the scrappy Tribe.

Lorenzo Green, playing his best game at center, put Morton in front to stay with a free throw and guard Freddie Thomas sank a back-handed lay-up. Then Thomas and Charles Carter netted free throws to give Morton a 9-4 margin. Muleshoe managed two field goals, to get within a point, but Bryon Willis sank a basket to give Morton an 11-8 edge at the end of the first period. Muleshoe again pulled within a point, but Green tossed in a two-pointer, Muleshoe matched that, but Donnie Harvey and Thomas hit back-to-back goals for a 17-12 margin. The Mules netted a free throw and a basket. But Morton applied pressure with three quick baskets. Willis hit and then Harvey stole the ball twice and made two goals for a 23-15 bulge. Muleshoe closed the gap with two goals, but Green netted a two-pointer with five seconds left to give Morton a 25-19 lead at the half. The Mules opened the third period with a goal. Thomas and Harvey each tossed in a free throw and Willis netted a jump shot for a 29-21 edge. Don Huff and Willis swapped two baskets each and Thomas tossed in a two-pointer to give the Indians a ten-point lead, 35-25. Almost singlehandedly, Huff managed to pull Muleshoe a little closer as Morton had an eight-point edge, 37-29, going into the final eight minutes. Huff hit a pair of free throws as Muleshoe got within six points. But Morton smelled victory by then and turned on the pressure. John St. Clair hit a pair of free throws and Willis added another charity toss to regain the ten-

The Morton High School Indian Marching Band showed their stuff at the regional marching contest at Jones Stadium in Lubbock, Tuesday, and came home with a first division rating. A first division is given only to bands with superior ability.

Band director John Stockdale said, "I'm real, real pleased, but not at all surprised. Luck is usually the result of hard work, and I think our kids have worked a lot harder than most bands."

The 72-piece marching band ran through a varied and intricate series of maneuvers that the judges apparently appreciated. Some of the drills included step-4, double pin wheels and company fronts.

"We did an expanding diamond that nobody had ever seen before, at least the judges hadn't," Stockdale said.

The marching contest is graded on appearance, all aspects of playing, uniformity, spacing, stride, execution and originality of drills, continuity of the show, fluency, and several others.

Bobby Travis, high school principal and one of those who watched Morton march, said, "Morton was the only band that received a standing ovation during their marching. And they received by far the largest ovation of any band after they had finished their show."

Music that was used included March Blue Bells, Bells Across the Gridiron, Anchors Away, I Feel a Song Comin' On and assistant band director Bob Lethermon's arrangement of Love Song from El Cid.

Criticisms from the judges came out more like praises. They ranged from "nice band, band marches well," from one judge to "nice appearing, great marching drills, cornets not tuned well," from another to "band plays well, nice job, low brass needs to separate," from the last.

Stockdale said, "That was probably the best show we've ever done. Overall, it was very good."

Rural development council formed

The Cochran County Rural Planning Commission was established during a special meeting Friday, Nov. 18. The group was charged with hiring an engineer to make long-range recommendations for city and rural improvements.

Vern Beebe of Whiteface was elected chairman of the Commission. Mrs. J. C. Reynolds was named secretary. Other members include Ray Lanier, M. C. Hall and T. M. Tanner.

Establishment of the group was made possible by resolutions passed by the Morton City Council and the Cochran County Commissioners Court. An enabling resolution also will be passed by the Whiteface City Council.

First step for the group will be hiring a qualified engineer to make a detailed study of the county. Included will be such items as water for municipal use, sewer disposal and treatment, drainage, recreation and other problems which might be suggested by the Commission.

Federal funds, up to 50 cents per capita, will be used to pay the engineering fee.

County Judge J. A. Love presided at the organizational meeting, which was held in the County Commissioners' meeting room.

Marvin Elliott, county director of the Farmers Home Administration, told the group that the FHA had been authorized to coordinate the activities and requests of the group for areas of less than 5,000 population. The 5,000 figure, he explained, referred to the maximum population of any town within the county.

In counties where one town is larger than 5,000 population, the program is supervised by the office of Housing and Urban Development.

Elliott outlined the purpose and scope of activities by saying, "The government is interested in doing this to avoid overlap and duplication by different government agencies." He used an illustration of an area seeking a federal grant to build a dam. One group might approach the U.S. Corps of Engineers while another would request assistance from the Soil Conservation Service. "Both groups

How to hunt turkey . . .

AS MOST MODERN housewives know, there is only one way to hunt turkey for Thanksgiving: dress up in your hunting gear, complete with cap and shotgun, make the long trek to the corner grocery store. Here, with a little shooting, the hunter can bag a completely dressed and frozen turkey. Which is what Mrs. Peggy Cook has done. You can tell she has had a good hunt by the way she is smiling. ## Extra-busy schedule keeps Morton school board on the ball Monday

The Morton School Board filled a busy business session with an annual audit, free lunches, approval of a text book committee, changes in the tax roll, payment of October bills, and a Human Resources Talent Bank.

The annual audit, which must be submitted to Austin for approval was presented to the Board by local CPA, Fred Payne. Payne answered questions and explained the various parts of the multi-paged audit. Payne suggested that the Board give next year's auditor an earlier start so that he might work on it during the slower summer months. He also suggested that receipts for student funds be held in the office. The Board took note of the suggestions and approved the audit.

Superintendent Ray Lanier then told the Board that an old school bus would be disposed of. He said that the bus will be sold to the highest bidder. Date of the sale was not announced.

The free lunch program gained a few more hungry mouths during the meeting. A total of seven new students were added to the program, but several others were dropped when their renewals were refused.

The first person to appear was a gin worker who had been injured while working, had to have an operation, and was told by his doctor not to work for several weeks. The applicant needed the meals for his children only until his operation had time to heal. He also was not receiving Workman's Compensation due to some reason. The Board urged him to look into the matter and see why he wasn't receiving the checks.

Lunches for his six children were approved until Christmas or until he went back to work, which ever was sooner.

The second applicant was a 64-year old grandfather who was accompanied by his nine-year old grandson. The boy, who acted as interpreter, told that he had to stay with his grandfather because his stepfather didn't like him. He also told that his two brothers and one sister had died.

The grandfather receives $140 monthly in welfare checks and pays $55 monthly in rent, car and TV payments. The Board approved lunches for a 30-day period.

One family was taken off free lunches because the man had recently received a $1,000 payment from an insurance company because

Christmas Parade now set Dec. 2

A Christmas Parade in Morton was re-scheduled this week. Originally, the parade had been set for Wednesday, Nov. 3, but has been scheduled now for Friday, Dec. 2, beginning at 4:30 p.m.

The parade is being sponsored by the Morton Junior Chamber of Commerce and will form near the hospital, moving north on Main Street, circling the square and dispersing in the vicinity of the county activity building.

Parade chairman Royce Hanna said that additional float entries are being sought. Any club, organization or school class is eligible to enter and compete for $25, $15 and $10 cash prizes. Sponsors will pay $10 towards the cost of constructing a float.

Three Way vs. Dawson in bi-district grid game

Local football fans will have a chance to see a bi-district play-off without having to travel very far as Three Way meets Dawson in Indian Stadium Thanksgiving day.

The 3 p.m. game will match the district 1-B winners, Three Way, against the district 2-B winners, Dawson. Coaches for the respective teams are J. W. Aldridge and Sam Adams.

Dawson will hold the edge in the game with an 8-1 season record, which includes a 14-6 win over Three Way. Three Way has a 6-3-1 record, but Aldridge said that his charges had really developed the last few games and would be out for blood.

Scouting reports show that Dawson will probably run a spread T offense, like that run by Denver City, and will mix up their running and passing attacks. Quarterback Ralph Drennan is Dawson's most outstanding player, combining speed with strength and experience. Left halfback Mark Jones was also listed as being very fast.

Dawson's defense operates on a stunting-type principle with hard

What's it . . .

IT'S A MILKER that's used on the H. R. Ramp Dairy near Morton. This piece of machinery, which is seldom seen by most people, is a vital link between the cow and the milk on your table. Ramp is now milking 156 cows and soon expects to be milking about 400. TRIBPIX

Mooo! Morton man makes milking more modern Mooo!

Dairying is not a spur of the minute business for H. R. "Bob" Ramp of Morton, as a quick tour through his facilities will show. The dairy, which has been carefully researched and constructed, will eventually be "one of the most modern in the United States," Ramp says.

Located about five miles east of Morton on the Whiteface highway, the dairy is already valued at more than $200,000. This value does not include calf pens, corrals, dairy barn and pasture land.

"We're milking 156 now and should be milking about 400 in June or July," he said. All of his two-year old cows are second and third generation artificially inseminated pure bred Holsteins. For his breeding work, Ramp keeps 20 working bulls and breeds each cow every year. This keeps the cows fresh, provides replacements for his herd and gives him stock to sell.

Ramp, who has been in the dairy business before, decided to re-enter it following an accident which laid him up for a year. During that year, he and his wife traveled to California, Wisconsin, Michigan, and several other dairying states to get ideas for a "dream dairy."

Apparently he picked up some good ideas, because his dairy incorporates the most modern techniques in use. And, he's not through. Even though his dairy is very functional, Ramp also intends to make it a show place by landscaping the area around the milking barn.

Already he has had visitors from Mexico and England checking on his operations. "The Texas Public Health Dept. is always sending out people to get ideas from our operation," he said proudly.

The milk, which is produced at the rate of about 1,000 gallons per day, now is stored in a 4,500 gallon holding tank. The tank, a stainless steel model made in California, is believed to be the largest milk holding tank in the state.

There are two milkings a day, one at 5 a.m. and one at 5 p.m. The cows are placed in a holding corral behind the milking parlor until time for them to enter the building. As they wait in groups of 10, sprayers along the ramp thoroughly wash the underside of the cows.

After they are placed in their milking stalls, the cows are washed again. The workers then operate automatic feeders which distribute feed to each cow. Each cow has a numbered tag on her hind foot, which is used to record amount of feed consumed, milk produced, breeding record, and health record. In the milking stall, the operators use these numbers to give the proper amount of feed to each cow.

To get the cow's cooperation during milking, the automatic feeder also has a dribble control which issues a portion of the feed at various times during the milking. After the cows have been washed, the milker is attached to a two and one-half inch seamless milk line. The milker is then attached to the cows until they have given all the milk possible.

Ramp was quick to point out that unlike most dairies, his operation uses the double-10 herringbone system of placing the cows in the milking stalls. This means that 10 cows are placed on each side of the parlor in a herringbone fashion. The milkers are then placed on the cows from the rear and between the legs. Usually dairies operate from the side of the cow.

After the 10 cows on one side of the parlor are milked, the milkers are placed on the cows on the other side. This gives time to run in another set of 10 cows, operate the feeders, and wash them down. In the parlor next to the cow's back feet is a mesh-covered trough which runs the length of the barn. This provides a place for the manure and water to drain. The ramp leading into the parlor is washed down after every milking, with the mixture draining into a liquid manure system.

The liquid manure system, which Ramp says costs about $9,000, is completely underground and is used to fertilize and water his feed. The feed is chopped after harvest and is placed in one of two large underground silage pits. Both pits are about 350-feet long but vary in depth. One pit holds about 3,800 tons while the other one holds about 800 tons.

The silage is top dressed with cotton seed and is fed to the herd at the rate of 4,000 tons per year. The usual ration for the herd is hay and grain. Approximately cause of an injury. Lanier was asked about the present school enrollment, to which he said it was down approximately 80 from the same period last year, but with daily attendance down only 40 from last year. He estimated the enrollment to run about 1,220-1,230.

Payment of $3,543.70 for October bills was approved by the Board.

A $972 error in the tax roll was shown to the board with the explanation that some of the people who were taxed have since moved out of town and that some of the items taxed were not in this district. The Board approved the change in the tax roll.

Lanier read the list of the teachers recommended to make up the text book committee. The committee will check over approximately five books for each of several fields before selecting the books for adoption.

The committee is headed by Ray Lanier, as stipulated by state law. Members include Mrs. Cheryl Ingles, Mrs. J. N. Leavitt, Mrs. Johnny Love, Mrs. George Tuck, Mrs. Glen Thompson, Everett Johnston, Mrs. Davy Mitchell, Mrs. Bill Choate, John Coffman, Mrs. Ora Pearl Morrison, Mrs. Hub Cadenhead, Mrs. Iva Williams, Mrs. Sandy Ashbill and Harold Drennan. The list was approved.

Lanier told the members of the board that money had already been appropriated for a new school bus, and that due to the long delivery time because of the war, a new bus should be ordered now. The delivery time runs about 6-7 months instead of 3-4. The Board approved.

He then read a letter from the West Texas Schools Study Council asking that the names of outstanding teachers be submitted to form what they called a Human Resources Talent Bank. The Bank would be used by the member schools to help each other.

The teachers would be asked, individually, to act as consultants in their special fields when called upon. The Board agreed to participate with the stipulation that the teachers from Morton could only make two one-day trips per year.

The meeting was then adjourned.

Huff hit two more free throws as Muleshoe got one-and-one shots beginning after Morton's fourth team foul. Then Willis was whistled down and benched, although two score books showed he only had four fouls in the game. Alvin Walker made one of two free throws and Morton had a 41-34 edge.

Then Thomas laid in another backhanded shot and Dick Vanlandingham came off the bench and got two free throws.

Huff made two free throws. Thomas made one and Huff made a basket with 1:03 left. Morton took six free throws within the last 48 seconds and made four of them, two each by Thomas and Harvey to give the Indians their 50-38 win.

Willis was high for the Indians with 14. Thomas added 13. Harvey had nine and Green seven. Huff got 17 for Muleshoe, while Wilson and Eddie Derrick each had seven.

In the B team game, Morton used a balanced scoring attack and a strong defense to down the young Mules. Morton had quarter leads of 11-2, 25-6, and 40-13 heading towards its 52-27 win.

Tommy Davis topped the scorers with 18 points. High for Muleshoe was Terry Field with ten.

tackles and quick linbackers. Again, Drennan is listed as being very capable. He shares the spotlight with center Ronny Keener.

Aldridge said that Three Way will use basically the same offense and defense that they have used all year. Offensively, Three Way will use a tight, straight T formation. He said that they use their fast backs to get outside and trap inside. Also they will balance their attack between passing and running.

Outstanding blocker and tackler for Three Way is Bill Dewbre, who has been named to all-district for the past two years and who is likely to make it again. Scoring for Three Way has been concentrated between three individuals: left halfback Monte Toombs, 90 points, quarterback James Kindie, 60, and right halfback Tommy Black, 60.

Starting lineup for Three Way includes left end, Wendell Williams, 167 pound soph.; left guard, Bill Dewbre, 175 pound senior; center, Charles Abbe, 167 pound soph.; right guard, Tommy Gish, 135 pound senior; right end, Bruce Pruitt, 150 pound soph.; quarterback, James Kindie, 153 pound senior; left halfback, Monte Toombs, 145 pound, junior; and right halfback, Tommy Black, 142 pound senior.

The engineering survey, he said, would be valuable as towns and communities in the county tried to solve future growth problems.

A model of modern dairy operations: Ramp Dairy

The Morton (Tex) Tribune, Thursday, November 24, 1966

A pen of 200 . . .

THIS PEN, which holds about 200 purebred Holstein cows, is part of the H. R. Ramp Dairy, located five miles east of Morton on the White-face highway. The cows feed while standing on concrete slabs. The slabs are easy to keep clean and help prevent foot rot. TRIBPix Washing down the ramp . . .

RAMPS LEADING INTO the milking parlor of the H. R. Ramp Dairy near Morton are cleaned after each milking session. The manure and water flow into an underground liquid manure system which is then transferred to grain fields. The grain is used to feed the cows either as grain, hay or silage. The liquid manure system is valued at $9,000. TRIBPix Attaching the milker . . .

during the daily 5 p.m. milking. This cow will produce an average of 45 pounds of milk per day and will produce about five pounds more by next year. TRIBPix

500 head are fed in a hour with the herd standing on concrete slabs. The slabs are easy to keep clean and also help prevent foot rot.

Ramp showed his quiet enthusiasm for the dairy business and his cows in particular by saying that his Holstein's give about their own body weight in milk each month, gain weight each month and reproduce each year. After they stop being good milkers, they are sold for beef. "We sell all our bull calves and cull about 20 per cent of our herd each year. This leaves us with nothing but top quality stock," he said.

"The farmer will eventually produce what people eat, drink or smoke," he said. "The farmer has to supply what people want and need. That's why we're in the dairy business," he said with finality.

But, all is not roses for H. R. "Bob" Ramp. "The main thing that's hurting us is that we don't have a good road to connect with the highway. We can't even get it graded most of the time," he stated.

Ramp went on to explain that during bad weather the milk truck, which operates out of Lubbock, is frequently unable to get to their farm. Also, during normal weather, the rough road condition tends to damage the thermos lined milk truck.

"The milk man said that of all the roads he covers, this is the worst, and he covers central West Texas," Ramp stated. "Take for example," Ramp said, "the time in August when we had 19 inches of rain. The milk truck couldn't get in and we had to sell our milk to a cheese plant. If that happens during full production, we would be hurt bad."

With winter snows and bad road conditions just around the corner, Ramp is worried. "There is a possibility that if the roads continue to deteriorate, then I'll either have to buy my own milk truck or sell out," he said glumly.

"I've tried to have the road graded, but they just say they'll get to it pretty soon. It's been two years since I first asked to have the road fixed up and it hasn't been worked on yet. I haven't asked for a paved road, just an all-weather caliche road," he said.

Returning to his usual optimistic state, Ramp said, "We'll eventually have ten families living and working out here. Right now we have five, I'll have to build some more houses before they come." He estimated that the ten families would spend approximately $100,000 in Morton a year, when the dairy gets into full operation.

Bell Dairy, which buys Ramp's milk, also buys the majority of its milk locally. Ramp said that about 70 per cent of the milk used in West Texas is brought in from New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and East Texas.

Ramp says that if this county is to grow, it has to grow with the farm, because there is no railroad in Morton and there is no labor. "I'm a firm believer in building up this county because everything I have is in Cochran County. And, with better farms, everyone will have a higher income and everyone will do better," he stated.

He closed by saying, "This ought to be one of the best cattle county in Texas because the cattle brought here do better."

His milk production verifies his optimism. While dairies generally get about 20-25 pounds of milk per cow per day, Bob Ramp is getting 45 from his two year old cows. Next year he will be getting 50 and expects to get as high as 100 pounds per day from some of his cows.

Highway Patrol investigates one wreck in October

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated one accident on rural highways in Cochran County during the month of October, according to Sergeant A. E. Roberts, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

This crash resulted in an estimated property damage of $340. The rural accident summary for this county during the first ten months of 1966, shows a total of 21 accidents resulting in 2 persons killed, 13 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $17,505.

Get the jump on the winter months by having your vehicle safety inspected by an authorized garage to assure its safe mechanical performance. Then have your car "winterized" by checking the following items: anti-freeze in radiator, battery, an engine tune-up, brakes, exhaust system, tires, windshield wipers, lights, turn signals, horns and defrosters. For an extra measure be sure you have ice scrapers, snow tires or tire chains.

The Sergeant stated, "Today's inspection is tomorrow's protection."

Washing down cows . . .

BEFORE COWS ARE ALLOWED to enter the H. R. Dairy's milking parlor, they must have their undersides cleaned. The controls for the sprinkler system are located beside the parlor and are operated as needed. The number tag on the hind feet serves to identify the cow and to keep track of her breeding, feeding, milk production and health.

Mail to be air lifted to Vietnam

Postmaster Murry Crone of Morton today announced that henceforth all first class mail, personal sound recordings (voice letters), and parcels weighing five pounds or less and measuring not more than 60 inches in length and girth combined, will be air-lifted on a space available basis between the United States and all military post offices overseas.

Also, under Public Law 89-725—The Dulski Military Act which was signed by President Johnson on November 2, 1966, second class publications such as newspapers and magazines published weekly or more often, and featuring current news of interest to the military will be air-lifted from San Francisco to the armed forces serving in Viet Nam.

Postmaster Crone explained that parcels weighing five pounds or less and not exceeding 60 inches in length and girth combined, paid at surface rates, will be moved by surface transportation within the United States from points of mailing to the port of embarkation.

To speed up separation and delivery of these smaller parcels falling within this category, Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien directed that all parcels be clearly marked upon acceptance at the post office with the letters SAM (Surface Airlift Mail).

This will eliminate the task of re-weighing and measuring the parcels at the San Francisco Concentration Center prior to dispatch to Viet Nam or other overseas military post office.

Postmaster Crone also reminded mailers that Christmas parcels weighing five pounds and under, though they are given airlift priority from San Francisco to Viet Nam on a space available basis should be mailed no later than December 1. Airmail he said should be sent no later than December 10.

The deadline for Christmas parcels weighing more than five pounds and going to Viet Nam and other overseas military post offices means that parcels may be mailed after the holiday but may not arrive in time for the holiday.

The father has been in the Navy since Coronado, Calif., was discharged Monday and will arrive home with his family soon.

Donald Eugene Coffey was born Nov. 18 at 12:45 a.m. in Memorial Hospital. He weighed 8 lbs. 7½ ozs. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pep. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jenkins of San Antonio and Mrs. J. E. Coffey of Chilla, Calif.

Bill Johnson named chairman

Bill Johnson, owner of Discount Center in Plainview, has been named chairman of the county South Plains Region of the Community Gifts campaign. The Abilene Christian College's million Dollars for Development. This region includes Cochran County.

The Design for Development initiated in 1963, is a 10-year program to raise $25.7 million for economic, physical, and social expansion. The Phase I target of the campaign is $1 million, and currently over $1 million has been raised. The Community Gifts campaign will be conducted among the alumni, parents and friends of ACC in Texas cities. The effort will be between 30 and 40 thousand sons, seeking three-year pledges up to $3,000 during the first half of 1967.

Weaning pen . . .

THIS YOUNG HOLSTEIN CALF isn't too sure what is going on yet, and probably doesn't care. His feed containers are army helmets. H. R. Ramp, on whose dairy farm the picture was made, said helmets are used because they are seamless, therefore easier to clean and also because they won't hurt the young calf's tongue. TRIBPix

Mrs. Green host to L'Allegro Study Club

Mrs. Van Greene hosted the L'Allegro Study Club Nov. 17, 1966 for it's American Day Observance program.

The meeting began with a prayer given by Mrs. Harold Drennan. Mrs. R. L. Debusk led the pledge to the American flag and Mrs. Greene read the American Creed.

Mrs. Eddie Irwin introduced the program "The Art of Freedom in our community", as well as the guest speaker, Mr. H. A. Tuck, editor of the Morton Tribune.

Mr. Tuck emphasized our freedom as stemming from the "individual" on the local level. Obvious freedoms consisting of "speech, religion, action are guaranteed by our Constitution and the Bill of Rights." In order to apply our freedom locally, Mr. Tuck used for an example, the right to vote. Statistics were given from a recent election whereby only 60% of eligible voters participated exercising this particular freedom.

Mr. Tuck urged all club members and spouses to acquaint themselves with activities of the government by attending organizational meeting, read editorials, take part in political activities, part in church, keep up with city, county and school board meetings by attending and reading reports from same.

Mr. Tuck went on to say, "The age of individual action is not over. There are still goals to achieve, new worlds to conquer! When you stop to think about it, every major action has been initiated by one man, one lone person who feels a need for a change, a new invention, a better way of doing things! Examples were given stressing this point."

Mr. Tuck concluded his program by saying, "A man can still aim for the gold at the foot of the rainbow. While he may not reach his lofty goal, he is a better man for having tried."

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Drennan, President. Reports from standing committees were given. Mrs. H. B. Barker stated that approximately $30.00 was netted from the recent Halloween carnival booth.

Mrs. W. B. McSpadden was responsible for mailing the Christmas box to Big Spring for the club. The next regular meeting will be held Dec. 1, 1966.

Mrs. Greene served the following members and guest speaker: Mesdames H. B. Barker, R. L. Debusk, Truman Doss, Harold Drennan, Eddie Irwin, James McClure, W. B. McSpadden, W. B. Merritt, Bobby McGeehee, Al Mullinax, J. C. Reynolds, Bud Thomas and Mr. H. A. Tuck.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Nesbitt, along with their son Floyd, and grandson Allen, went to Mora, N. Mexico this weekend. This trip served two purposes. One was a short vacation and another was to get a load of Christmas trees.

Lonnie Hamilton, a student at South Plains College at Levelland visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hamilton this weekend.

Life of George Gershwin is reviewed for 1936 Study Club

The 1936 Study Club held its regular meeting in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Miller on Wednesday, Nov. 16 at 4 p.m.

A short business session was held with the president, Mrs. Glenn Thompson, presiding.

The special guest speaker was Mrs. Kenneth Wyatt, who reviewed the book "A Journey to Greatness" by David Ewen. This was the life story of George Gershwin who became one of the most successful American composers of music.

Mrs. Wyatt told of his early life as one of five children on New York's Eastside. When George Gershwin was ten he began to show a definite talent toward musical instruments. He heard the violin strains of "Humoresque", and waited in the rain forty-five minutes to meet the 8 year old musician, Maxie, who was playing. Maxie opened up the world of good music to George. He played his violin for him, talked to him about the great composers and explained to him what made up the elements of a musical composition.

The Gershwin household was not musical but when they purchased a piano when George was 12. He amazed them by playing some tunes he had already picked up from his friend Maxie.

George changed teachers several times before he found one that met his needs. From that time on, he sought out friends who were able to satisfy his hunger for musical knowledge. From these friends and teachers, he quickly acquired direction and purpose, background and training. His formal music lessons were devoted to the masters, but his heart and his private hours of creation belonged to composing music for Tin Pan Alley as Broadway was then called.

George began writing music in 1916 and received $5 for his first song.

He so on began writing the music for Broadway musicals. As he became well known his brother, Ira, began writing the lyrics. Rarely have two collaborators worked together in such complete harmony as did these two.

By the time George Gershwin was 25 he had written the music eight musical comedies and had achieved fame and fortune.

His two most well loved musical compositions are "Rhapsody in Blue" which was written for the orchestration of Paul Whiteman, and "Concerto in F". His opera "Porgy and Bess" opened in Boston in 1935. It was so well loved, the State Dept. sent the opera to Europe on a mission of goodwill at a cost of $150,000.00 in 1943.

George Gershwin died in 1937 of a brain tumor at the height of his career. The following eulogy was given by his close friend, Oscar Hamerstein at his memorial services:

"Our friend wrote music and in that mold he created gaiety, sweetness and beauty. Twenty four hours after he had gone his music filled the air and in triumphant accents proclaimed to this world of men, that gaiety and sweetness and beauty do not die. Some will want a statue erected for him. He deserves this. Some will want to endow a school of music in his name. He deserves this. But his friends could add one more tribute in his honour. They could try to appreciate and be grateful for the good things in this world. In his honour they could try to be kinder to one another and this would be the finest monument of all."

Mrs. Wyatt ended her book review by playing on stereo the most familiar and loved "Rhapsody in Blue".

Members present at the meeting were: Mrs. W. C. Benham, Cyrus W. Fields, Joe Gipson, J. D. Hawthorne, L. F. Hargrove, Gage Knox, Joe Nicewarner, Neal Rose, H. R. Ramp, Hume Russell, James St. Clair, Glenn Thompson, Kenneth Thompson, C. H. Silvers, Paul Davis, John Crowder and the hostess, Mrs. Lloyd Miller.

The next meeting of the 1936 Study Club will be held at the home of Mrs. J. B. Nicewarner on December 7. The program will be "The Bible, Love, Knowledge, and Wisdom. The speaker will be Mrs. H. B. King.

Once upon a time . . .

Once upon a time there was a big bullfrog that lived on the edge of a quite little lake. For identification purposes, we'll call this big bullfrog "Sam."

Now Sam was a good-looking bullfrog, with his bulging eyes, sleek green hide, strong webbed toes and lightning-quick tongue. His voice was strong and, on a good night, could be heard booming and croaking for miles.

Sam had been right next to the old hollow log where he sat most of the time. He had grown large and muscular on a diet of blue-tailed flies.

The little lake where Sam lived literally swarmed with blue-tailed flies, enough for Sam and all the other bullfrogs who lived at the lake. So Sam was a contented frog. "Humph" he croaked, feeling alive and strong and healthy. "Humph" he belched after an especially good meal of blue-tailed flies.

Sam and the other frogs lived very happily for many years, croaking their contentment and catching all the blue-tailed flies they could eat without even moving from their favorite sunning spots.

Then tragedy struck! A late spring snowstorm hit. And when the snow finally melted, most of the blue-tailed flies were dead in their eggs.

That summer, the frogs resumed their usual places in the sun and their croaks again were overshadowed by the boom of Sam's voice. But it wasn't long until the frogs began to notice that there weren't very many blue-tailed flies flitting around the edge of the lake.

A delegation of frogs finally visited Sam to ask him about the shortage of blue-tailed flies.

"Humph, and nonsense," Sam bellowed. "There have been blue-tailed flies around this lake ever since I was born. And, what's more, there will always be plenty of blue-tailed flies."

The other frogs hopped away, having heard these words of wisdom. But they still continued to sit on their logs, waiting patiently for the swarms of blue-tailed flies that failed to come.

They went back to talk to Sam again.

"Sam," they croaked weakly. "We're hungry, but there aren't any blue-tailed flies to eat this year. What are we going to do?" "Fiddle, you're all a bunch of weak-eyed amphibians," Sam snorted in disgust. "There are just as many blue-tailed flies as ever . . . you just aren't looking closely enough."

"All right," they chorused thinly.

"Sam, how about eating some of these other things that are flying around?" one little frog asked timidly.

Sam swung his eyes around, glared at the one who dared suggest such, and then just cleared his throat. "Hrrrruumph!"

All the frogs jumped away, frightened by the audacity of such a suggestion.

So the frogs slowly starved, waiting for the blue-tailed flies to appear in magnificent swarms once again.

All but the tiny frog who had dared question Sam.

"I'm hungry," he complained to himself. Then he looked around quickly to see if anyone was watching. No one was. He sighted a big bunch of gnats boiling over the surface of the water.

"Even those would be better than starving," he told himself.

His tongue whistled out, curled around a bunch of gnats and returned to his mouth.

"Hey, those are good!" he exclaimed.

He snatched some more, and some more, and some more. He even became so adventuresome as to try a couple of dragonflies, some mosquitoes, a few bees, a wasp and finished off his feast with houseflies and horse flies.

From that time on, the little frog began to grow as he ate every insect his greedy tongue could reach. His puny little croaks took on timbre and deepness that rivaled Sam's old cries.

And the little frog told his friends of the wonderful new food he had discovered.

"And some of them taste better than blue-tailed flies," he chortled.

They timidly tried other insects.

"Great!" they echoed. "Wonderful!"

But not Sam; no, not Sam.

"What! Me eat those things. Not on your life," Sam declared in a voice that had lost its power. "Why, I'd rather die, first."

And he did.

But the other frogs continued their varied diet. And they grew and they sang and they sunned themselves. And they never had to worry again about a lack of blue-tailed flies.

. . . And once upon a time there was a cotton farmer who declared, "What? Raise something else, why I'd rather . . ."

Return of the Rod?

Subtle hints are beginning to filter from the U.S. Supreme Court that suggests at least a majority of the justices are beginning to get nervous about the mad spiral of criminal viciousness in the nation. In its just-opened term the court has already refused to hear several cases which lend themselves aptly to the Warren philosophy of "Spare the rod, spoil the rotten." Take the case of the California man who claimed that, because he was an alcoholic, he couldn't be punished for public drunkenness.

The tribunal ruled in 1962 that jailing a narcotics addict for his addiction is outlawed by the Constitution's prohibition of "cruel and unusual punishment." It would have been simple to extend this philosophy of "he can't help it" to alcoholics (who like drug addicts, can get treatment if they so desire.)

Such an extension of the he-can't-help-it rule would then lay the foundation for the prohibition of all punishment for criminals on the grounds that they are merely victims of a society they did not make and are not responsible for their antisocial acts.

But the court balked and refused to hear the recent case. This doesn't indicate that the justices agree with the California law that allows prosecution of public drunks; it officially means the court is too busy on other, more important cases.

But, as emphasized before, it may mean that the court has decided — for the time being — to let society wield the little bit of rod it has left so that Supreme Court justices as well as ordinary citizens can be safe on the streets at night.

Dallas Morning News

Bill unclear . . .

Intensive analysis indicates that the startling new "one-vote, one-dollar" contribution law for financing presidential campaigns must be clarified or revised by the 90th Congress.

Evidence indicates that the homeward-bound 89th passed the law without fully knowing what it was doing, that its constitutionality is questionable, and that it conflicts with other laws on the statute books.

On the other hand, approval of Sen. Russell B. Long's proposal indicates an almost universal belief that the time has come for revolutionary changes in campaign financing, and a desire for a broader contributor base using tax-supported funds.

Here are some of the anomalies of the new law:

—It gives the taxpayer the right to earmark a tax dollar belonging to the government to finance presidential campaigns. But under the Constitution only Congress has the right to designate or appropriate a tax dollar is upheld, then income tax Form 1040 may blossom out with dozens of other designations. Or, in reverse, it might carry "referendum" deductions for such items as, say, the war in Viet Nam.

—The law provides possible contribution up to $30 million or more for a presidential candidate. But the still unrepealed 1925 Corrupt Practices Act puts a $3 million limit on annual contributions to national political committees.

—Sponsors of "Cinderella" third parties would probably sue on the charges of unequal tax treatment. Thus, for example, a third party that got 5,000,001 votes in 1968 would get no public funds while the Democrats and Republicans get around $30 million each. If the same third party got a theoretical 14 million votes in 1962, it would get only $1 under the complicated formula, while the two major parties would get the same ### as in 1968.

President Johnson has not yet signed the law but is not expected to veto it. It was added as a non-german rider to the Foreign Investors Tax Act of 1966 which the administration strongly favors. The tax act carried so many before Congress quit that it was called the "Christmas tree" act. Among them were tax favors for clam and oyster shells and funeral homes.

The Presidential Campaign Act tendance on a Saturday afternoon during an almost hysterical stampede to adjourn. It was added by Senator Long to the tax bill with minimum testimony or hearings. The haste was indicated in Senator Long's own explanation. Speaking to a handful of critical senators, Oct. 22, he said:

"If he (the taxpayer) wanted to, he could designate that $1.50 would go to pay for the Democratic campaign and 50 cents to pay for the Republican campaign."

The statement is incorrect. No money can be designated to a specific party. The essence of the plan is that each $1 designated goes 50.5 . . . to the major parties, save where a third party qualifies.

Confusion exists among know-how-ers as to how to enforce the law. A reporter was informed by and Treasury Department, for example, that taxpayers will be given the $1 tax option only in presidential years. Shortly afterward a telephone call came correcting this. A Treasury lawyer said the option will be on Form 1040 every year.

In the same way, the staff of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee had one version of the treatment of potential third parties. This version was later over-ruled by consultation with the Senate Finance Committee staff.

Senator Long's own office referred all technical queries to outside officials, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D) of the Ways and Means Committee gave only meager details to the House, Oct. 20, in introducing conference report. No House vote was taken on the measure itself but only on a motion to recommit (kill) the parent tax bill. This failed, 95-127. This was a bare quorum in the House of 435 members.

Congress now has gone so far that it seems impossible to retreat altogether in this field. The big funds are regarded as a bonanza for television companies. The money will go only to presidential candidates.

However, with the head of the ticket generously financed under tax money, Mr. Long told the Senate he expected contributors now would loosen up in donations to Senate and House members. This probably helped House passage of the unique rider.

The law is designed to discourage third parties. To qualify, each party must have gotten 5 million votes at the prior presidential election.

For example, if Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace runs on an independent ticket in 1968 and gets 4,000,001 votes he will draw nothing from the fund because his party did not exist in 1964. The two "major" parties will get perhaps $30 million each.

Suppose the Wallace party continues and gets 14 million votes in 1972. This time it is entitled to draw $1 from the Treasury, because four years before it exceeded the qualifying 5 million by a single vote. (Again the regular parties divide the kitty half and half.)

If a splinter party finally gets 15 million votes, however, it has "arrived." It is entitled to draw one-third of the total fund as a legitimate "major party under the curious law.

Legion Resolution might

Recent adoption of a resolution by the local American Legion post concerning the U.S. involvement in the war in Viet Nam points up a problem that has been bothering many people throughout the nation and particularly those who have sons fighting in southeast Asia.

The resolution calls for a formal declaration of war as a condition precedent to the sending of any member of our armed forces into combat in a foreign land in order that these troops will come under the protective umbrella of the Geneva conventions.

Whether this is the answer to our problems or not is something that could be debated long and hard. It is a complex situation and there are many sides to it. But certainly it is inconceivable that the people of this nation would wish to send young men into combat, knowing full well that these same men, if captured, would be treated like common bandits. To top it off, they have little or no hope of eventual liberation.

This is a strange type of struggle in which we have become involved to be sure. One that seems to have no end and one that is becoming more and more unpopular as the months go by.

For the most part, we are dealing with an enemy that could be classified as a "band of bandits," supplied and directed of course by the Communists of North Viet Nam. But with the appearance in the south of regular North Viet troops, we need to direct our attention to the source of the trouble — Hanoi.

Perhaps then, it is time to serve notice on the government at Hanoi that we are indeed at war — that we recognize our responsibilities to the South Vietnamese and to our own men in the field and will be in there to win. Perhaps it is time that we "rattled the saber" and put the Communist on notice for any atrocities committed against our fighting men.

The Korean conflict should have taught us a lesson. The Communist understand only one thing — superior force. We have this superior force but we do need to take the politicians out of the picture and turn the war over to the generals who have been trained to fight. Until we do this we're not going to impress Hanoi or anyone else and we can expect to get the same brutal and humiliating treatment of prisoners that we have received in the past.

Meanwhile, we would like to commend the Herford American Legion Post for its interest. If the resolution does nothing else, perhaps it will help to wake up the American people to the fact that we are at war, with hundreds of men dying in the field daily while we at home are expending our energies trying to win the "war on poverty," endeavoring to make this the land of "milk and honey."

Somehow, it just doesn't seem right.

Highlights and Sidelights —

State budget certain to climb

AUSTIN, Tex. — Gov. John Connally has made his big decisions on state spending and taxes for the coming fiscal period.

He scheduled releases of his budget by sections starting this week. Reportedly, it calls for just under $200,000,000 in new taxes.

First section on state employment problems calls for payroll hikes of $75,000,000 from all funds and $26,000,000 from the general revenue.

Connally told Texas mayors and council members that he will not recommend the optional local sales taxes they advocate. He indicated that he won't ask for an increase in state general sales levies.

Speculation is that the governor will include a gasoline tax increase, college tuition boost and sales tax on alcoholic beverages in his revenue program.

He definitely will recommend some financial relief for hard-pressed cities. He hinted this will be in the form of state assistance for building, maintaining and policing streets.

While Connally completed his financial recommendations which will be sent to legislators on December 15, legislative budget writers made no progress.

Gov. Preston Smith has not called a meeting of the Legislative Budget Board since dismissal of August 29. Smith promised a legislative budget would be submitted by the January 15 deadline, however.

REQUESTS DOUBLE — Texas' state agencies have requested 93 per cent more money for the 1968-69 biennium than they are receiving during this biennium. Governor Connally said that's evidence of the increasing complexity and magnitude of state government.

Connally said general revenue appropriations for the current biennium total $635,000,000, and requests for the next two-year period amount to almost double that sum — $1,216,000,000.

"Biggest item in the budget is public and higher education," Connally said, "and it is in this critical area where the largest increase is requested." The current appropriation in this area is $347,000,000, but $683,000,000 is requested, he said.

OIL ALLOWABLE — Santa Claus came early for Texas oil producers. Railroad Commission set the highest production factor in seven and a half years for December.

Statewide allowable will be 36.5 per cent of potential. Factor will permit production of 3,322,712 barrels a day, compared with November's 34.5 per cent which produced allowable of 3,205,042 barrels daily.

Commented Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey in announcing the happy tidings: "The crude oil market is extremely tight. Demand is extremely strong, and will remain strong for the next several months."

SIGNUP PROPOSED — A bipartisan election law sub-committee, headed by Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, has agreed unanimously on a proposed new free registration system for Texas voters.

System would sign up like this: all voters must sign up personally with county tax officials, initially. Afterward, they can register annually by signing an official application form sent out by the tax office.

Voters must carry a registration card or certificate and identify themselves by signature at the polls.

Creighton said he hopes to submit the plan, together with an omnibus election law "clean up" bill, to the public hearing early next month.

Voters at the November 8 general election expressed preference for annual registration as opposed to permanent signup.

BENEFITS — Texas college teachers may not get salary increases from the 60th Legislature, but they may get a new battery of fringe benefits as compensation.

Interim recommendations of the Faculty Compensation in State-Supported Colleges and Universities are followed.

In reporting to approximately 200 college presidents and professors, the committee said it would recommend to the Legislature an optional retirement or annuity program, paid research or study leaves, state aid for group insurance plans, the waiving of tuition for faculty members and their families and lifting the legal ban against construction of parking lots that don't charge user fees.

WATER PLAN — Twelve West Texans have been named as an advisory group to the Texas Water Development Board to keep the board informed of West Texas attitudes toward the state's fulfilling its Texas Water Plan.

The 12, nominated by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., of Lubbock, will be kept fully informed and will be asked for advice as two major Texas engineer firms and the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation explore various ways to get water surpluses from East and Northeast Texas to West Texas.

Board authorized the preparation of two contracts aimed at the West Texas water problem and accepted the bureau's offer to make a study of the possibility of pumping water back up the Colorado River to serve San Angelo, Midland, Odessa and El Paso.

Appointed to the advisory group were C. B. Ray of El Paso; K. B. Watson of Amarillo; A. V. Jones of Albany; Hank Avery of Midland; Bill Clayton of Springlake; Fred Conn of San Angelo; Jess Cooper of Dumas; J. Lee Johnson of Fort Worth; George W. McClesky of Lubbock; S. B. Whittenburg of Amarillo; H. R. Drew of Fort Worth; and Joe B. Pate of Lubbock.

SHORT SPORTS — District Judge Marvin Blackburn and attorneys for both sides agreed on Dec. 9 as pre-trial hearing date, and Dec. 19, as the trial date, on a suit by landowners to the condemnation of their land within the site of the proposed Lyndon B. Johnson State Park. State Selective Service headquarters says 1,946 Texans called to service during the war compared to only 744 for December, and 2,339 for November.

Land Commissioner Jerry Land announced that the School Board awarded 22 oil and leases, but rejected 78 others too low, and the veterans' Board awarded sales of 72 of land (repossessed RI) amounting to 4,307 acres.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Editor
and Members of T.C. of C.
Dear Sir:

We, the members of the Family Circle Hobby Club read editorial in the Tribune, Nov. 10.

We were shocked and in that merchants and "certain individuals" in town, think their friends and neighbors, and paying taxes, utility bills and helping!

Anything sold at the rummage sale has already had a sale price on it once and we don't want a law that such a tax must be paid a second time or more.

Furthermore in the event you "town folk" haven't heard for YOU ARE NOT the only "hard hit" by weather conditions this year. Please consider Transit Laborers, gin and elevator operators, schools and churches if you don't care to include farmers and ranchers of V. AREA.

As for as a "Hick Town" pearance, will you go a few beyond the rummage sales, a good look at the inside of Courthouse? Some parts of "Square" are not exactly a reduction of a well kept National Monument! Not to mention premises of the Co activity building, City park, and some other lots as well as individual yards.

We realize some of the merchants and a lot of individuals are not responsible for this action. They are our friends who have often lent equipment, other services, most readily, assist with the rummage sale. Since most all such sales are club or church groups the money is taken to aid in some charity and/or Christian work which they otherwise could not do.

Our club purchased a Robt. electric clock for the Robert Memorial Rest Home, which patients, employees and visitors alike enjoy. We also sent a case Hair spray to Girl's Town Whiteface and plan to send a of tooth paste for this year's annual project. We realize this is not compare to a bus but had not been for the rummage sale we could not do this much.

Maybe they don't look at you on the Lawn but there is a nicer way of saying what you did. As for as individuals, think you have a point there.

Signed:
The Friendly Circle
Hobby Club
Reporter:
Mrs. L. Z. Scogings

(Editor's Note: We explain our position last week, along with the lack of involvement by the Chamber. We agree that the good house doesn't look that good that's the reason voters approve bonds to make repairs and improvements. Again, we point out that the editorial was not so much against rummage sales as against where they are held.)

Money matters affect Chamber

Money matters furrowed the brows of Morton Area Chamber of Commerce directors during their regular meeting Monday afternoon. They agreed that the situation was temporary and caused by recent higher expenses and lower

Three Way Eagles clinch district title by 44-0

Three Way's powerful Eagles scored 44 points in the first three periods and coasted to an easy 44-0 win over Whitharrel at Three Way Friday night. The victory gave them undisputed possession of the District 1-B eight-man grid title. The Eagles will meet the area's number one eight-man team, the Dawson Dragons, at Morton at 3 p.m. Thursday, Nov.
24, for the bi-district crown.

Tommy Black, Eagle right half, opened the scoring with a 14-yard jaunt. The points try failed. Quarterback James Kindle ran a TD in from seven yards out just a few minutes later, but the points try failed again.

Then Kindle passed to end Wendell Williams from 38 yards out for the third TD. Black ran for two points and the Eagles had a 20-0 margin after the first period.
Left half Monte Toombs cracked the scoring column in the second quarter from six yards away. Kindle passed to end Bruce Pruitt for the extra points to make it 28-0.
Black scored on a 23-yard dash later in the period and reserve quarterback Jackie Dupler passed to end Wayne Cunningham for the extra points. The Eagles carried a 36-0 bulge into the dressing room at halftime.

In the third period, Kindle passed 12 yards to Pruitt for the final score, then hit Pruitt again for the extra points.

rest of the game. Quarterback

The Three Way Eagles scored in every period to down the Bula the District I, 8-man football title.

The Eagles scored quickly as down and quarterback James Kindle ran the extra two points to put the Eagles out in front by a 8 to 0 margin. Midway in the first period James Kindle ran for a 25-yard touchdown to bring the score to 14 to 0 in favor of the Eagles, the try for extra points failed. In the second quarter Kindle added to his point production by scoring on a 15-yard run. The extra point attempt failed and the Eagles led by a 20 to 0 score at this point in the game. Kindle again hit the scoring column later in the second period as he galloped for a 40 yard score. Halfback Gary Gibbs ran the two extra points and the score stood at 28 to 0. This was the scoring in the first half of play as the Eagles left the field supporting a 28 to 0 margin.

Monte Toombs scored his second touchdown in the third quarter as he ran 20 yards for a score

the GOOD NEWS!

An excited aliveness!... That describes a man getting good news over the telephone. Then, there is the gospel, which means "The Good News" which gives life when it comes to a man. It generates life anew. This Good News is proclaimed weekly and oftentimes daily, through God's messenger in His Church. Jesus announced the Good News when He said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." Matthew 10:10. Listen to the proclamation of the Good News in the church of your choice on Sunday.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Miss Pat McClure, a McMurry College Band member, will be with that organization when they start a four day tour Dec. 4.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McClure, 501 E. Grant. On the McMurry campus she is majoring in biology and minoring in education. Graduating from Morton High School in 1966, she was a member of the Morton High School Band.

The Indian Band will travel to 8 West Texas towns to present concerts in high schools and complete worship services in Merkel and Lamesa. The band will also play in Brownfield, Slaton, Ha'e Center, Ralls, Floydada, and Spur before returning to Abilene, Dec. 7.

The band, under the direction of Dr. Raymond Bynum, will present a program that includes oboes, flutes, South American numbers, a prominent display of soloists and a generous sprinkling of showmanship and comedy. Novelty numbers are a tradition of the McMurry musicians. Another tradition is a stirring rendition of "Stars and Stripes Forever" that ends each concert.

The most distinguished achievement of the McMurry College Band is that of being able to present in churches a complete worship service built around the theme, "Let Us Worship Through Music."

Garden Club plans tea

Members of the Cochran County Garden Club are busy preparing for a tea to be held on Sunday, Dec. 4, in the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. McSpadden. The theme for this tea will be "Christmas Sparkles" and will display Christmas decorations made by club members. These decorations will include floral arrangements, hanging pouf-balls of tissue paper candles created by members and worked into arrangements, and even baked goods, some of which will be for sale by the Merry Goals Junior Garden Club. All of these items on display will be for sale.

In the past this Garden Club has held a "Tour of Homes" merely to show what can be done with decorations in the home for the holiday season. This year, because many have expressed a desire to purchase holiday decorations, the club decided to have a "sale"

Whiteface YH holds meeting

The Whiteface Chapter of Young Homemakers met for their regular meeting in the home for the holiday season, Nov. 21. During the meeting it was decided to sponsor a demonstration of making decorative pieces (grapes, etc.) with a rosin material. Glenn Sealy from West Texas Tile Co. in Lubbock will present the demonstration. It was also decided to have the chapter's annual Christmas Party as a dinner party at the Spot in Levelland. The members wound up a three week drive to collect articles to send to Viet Nam. The club collected razor blades and razors, pressurized Koolaid, shaving cream, and soap which are articles that the soldiers in that country need.

The program was given by Mrs. Bittie Scifres who exhibited some decorative pieces made of rosin material. Many of the pieces were made in the Christmas theme. A question and answer session followed the demonstration.

rather than simply a "show." Proceeds from the sale of these items will help the club to further their many projects of Civic-Development, such as the landscape of the Morton Memorial Hospital grounds.

Door prizes will be given and the tea will begin at 2:30 p.m. and will continue until 5:30 p.m. There will be an admission charge of 50 cents for the tea. Tickets may be purchased from any club member or at the door. Mrs. Kenneth Thompson, projects chairman, is in charge of the sale. The entire club will be present.

In his talk, Dr. Baker gave the background of the educational system and stressed how we have progressed to keep up with students. Dr. Baker also pointed out that he was very much against the current legislation to put five year olds in the first grade in the public schools. A question and answer period followed.

The next meeting will feature Mrs. J. W. Walker from Plainview. She will present a lecture and slides on the Dead Sea Scrolls. The program will be presented in Elementary Auditorium, December 1, 1966, at 7:30 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Indians make it two in a row over Bledsoe, 44-37

Morton Indians took their second straight win of the young basketball season here Friday night. They knocked off the Bledsoe Antelopes 44-37. In Morton's opener, they had edged the Antelopes 46-44 in overtime.

Morton actually took command early in the third quarter and was never headed, stretching its lead to as much as 12 points late in the fourth period.

Bledsoe took an early 2-0 lead on Crist Bowley's field goal, which was matched by Byron Willis, Benny Rawls hit from the field for Bledsoe, but John St. Clair and Lorenzo Green each made a field goal for the Indians. Then Bledsoe raced out from 7-4 and later led 10-4. Each team managed to hit one free throw during the final moments of the period with Bledsoe leading 11-9 at the rest stop.

Bledsoe missed four free throws in the period, while Morton missed three. The Antelopes missed 15 of their 26 free throw attempts during the game, many of them on bonus situations. Morton missed five of 19 charity tosses.

The Indians pulled into another tie early in the second quarter on Dick Vanlandingham's two free throws and got their first lead as Dick Van shoved in a rebound for a 13-11 ledge. Velton Funk matched this field goal.

Charles Carter's long field goal made it 15-13, but Bowley stole the ball and went in for a lay-up to knot the score again.

Steve Sutton hit one of three free throws but St. Clair got another, matched by Sutton. Donnie Harvey hit a field goal, but Rawls matched that one. St. Clair tied the score 20-all with a free throw, then put Morton in front to stay with his second charity toss.

Wayne Thompson made two free throws for the Indians, but Bowley made a goal to narrow the gap to 23-22 at the half.

The Indians increased its lead in the third quarter by scoring eight points and holding the Antelopes to only five. Bledsoe was able to hit only three of eight free throws in the period.

Playing cautiously because of four fouls, Freddie Thomas still was able to rack up six points on two field goals and two free throws. Willis added the other two points during the period.

Bledsoe committed only two fouls during the period, while Morton had seven. Bledsoe went into one-and-one on free throws with 2:47 left in the third quarter, but made only one free throw.

Morton padded its lead as the final quarter started with a free throw by Willie Moore, a basket by Willis and another free throw by Harvey. That made it 35-27. Mike Eason and St. Clair traded baskets, then Bledsoe missed four straight free throw tries.

Morton then took its biggest lead of the night, 41-29 on baskets by St. Clair and Carter.

Coach Ted Whillock emptied the bench then and the reserves held Bledsoe in check for the last 3:15. Funk made two free throws, Dick Van made one at the line, and Funk made a basket and Rawls added a pair of free throws.

Rory Keuhler made a basket for the Tribe and Rawls hit for the Antelopes to set the final score at 44-37.

St. Clair was high for the Tribe with 11 points, one less than Velton Funk's 12.

One tree will make a million matches! One match can burn a million trees!

How do you measure an inheritance? Henry A. Tuck of Dumas died Tuesday afternoon in an Amarillo hospital and the survivors included two sons. Henry wasn't a rich man and the estate he leaves his wife and sons will be small financially.

But the legacy he left his sons is priceless. He gave us the comfort of a home where we found love, a pride in accomplishment, a sense of roots and companionship. He carefully handed us his strong sense of the good in each person. From him, we received an education — that most precious of all gifts.

He taught us to enjoy and explore the wonderful knowledge that was found in books, knowledge that made him an educated man despite a lack of degrees. From him came a deep awareness of God and his belief that religion is found in men's actions, regardless of their church affiliation.

Henry handed us a never-ending obligation to serve our nation and our community. As mayor of Dumas for two terms, he demonstrated that men need to serve others for the common good. As a Scoutmaster for almost 40 years, he showed that unselfish leadership and training for youth were among life's highest goals. For this work in Scouting, he was awarded the Silver Beaver medal for distinguished volunteer service to boys. And among his fondest recollections were the summers he accompanied Scouts to camp in New Mexico and to an international Jamboree in France.

During his 37 years in Dumas, he worked tirelessly for his community as president of the Chamber of Commerce, a leader in highway development and as charter president of the Rotary Club.

As an independent businessman, he understood the importance of free enterprise and the dignity of work. He employed countless young men and imparted to them many of his values. He gloried in their achievements and sorrowed over their failures. In them, and in his sons, he invested his friendship, his encouragement and his sense of values.

He taught us to love the gifts of nature's beauty, the wonder and excitement of exploring new places; he never tired of glorying in the unexpected that lay around the next turn in the road.

Henry realized that you truly become immortal only by investing in the future of your children, in youth, in your community. This, indeed, is a priceless heritage to receive. It is an obligation that takes a lifetime to repay.

Henry A. Tuck will be buried Friday afternoon in Dumas, but will endure in the hearts of his wife, his sons, many relatives and countless friends.

Cochran County Garden Club has Thanksgiving meal

Jewels to Remember was the title and "Thanksgiving is only our annual time for saying grace at the table of our eternal goodness" was the quotation setting the theme for the Thanksgiving Dinner held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Taylor on November 21, 1966 by the Cochran County Garden Club, and guests. Mrs. Charles Jones, President, welcomed husbands of members by saying "I'm sure that you will find that not only can we make arrangements, we can cook, too." Mr. Clyde Brownlow gave the invocation to begin the evening. Members and guests served themselves from a buffet table set with a golden roast Turkey which was carved at the table, and a large fruit and vegetable arrangement symbolic of the bounty of our land.

Garden Club husbands especially enjoyed this festive dinner and to add a note of humor on "second helpings" one husband was given the "wish bone" and another a whole "drum stick" from the turkey. Another husband was presented a "drum stick" to take home for snacking later. Lamp globes, candles and fruits were center pieces for the groups of tables set in autumn colors of gold, green and orange.

Following dinner the tables were cleared and a fellowship period of games was enjoyed. Everyone agreed that it would be nice if we would take time to have a "social event" like the dinner every two weeks.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Travis, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. W. B. McSpadden, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Schooner, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hempill, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brownlow, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Tuck, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hill, Mrs. C. B. Jones, and Mrs. R. L. DeBusk.

At 3 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 24, the Three-Way Eagles will tangle with the Dawson Dragons in a bi-district football game. The encounter will be on the Morton High School field. Both teams are winners in their eight-man football districts and a real battle is expected. The Dragons edged the Eagles 13-6 in a non-conference encounter. If you haven't seen eight-man football (no tackles and no fullback in the line-up), you are in for a treat. This is fast, wide-open football and a real crowd-pleaser.

Morton High's basketball team is showing polish and improvement every week. Tuesday night's upset of the taller Muleshoe squad demonstrated they are capable of polished performances. If you haven't been out to see them yet, be on hand Tuesday night, Nov. 29, when they host the Plains Cowboys. The B game starts at 6 p.m. and the varsity encounter is set for 8 p.m.

Scientists and automotive engineers are constantly seeking new fuels and improvements on existing fuels. But I think they can mark at least three items off their research list. Tom Rowden reported that he removed: Bermuda grass roots and runners, bottle caps, rocks, fountain pen, a complete jumping rope with handles and the plastic hand-grips from a tricycle from the gasoline tank of Dean Wetherly's car the other day. None of them seemed to improve either gas mileage or engine performance. Dean attributed the exotic fuel additives to his Number One Son, Kevin.

New Cubmaster Robert Taylor reported that Pack 644 added 17 new Cubs during a pack meeting last Thursday night in the First Methodist church fellowship hall. That makes about 30 Cubs in all, divided into five dens. He still has some openings for boys 8 through 10 who want to become Cub Scouts.
