

Morton gets multi-million feed lot operation

A multi-million dollar feed lot industry became a reality for the Morton-Cochran county area Tuesday.

Long months of hard work by the Industrial Foundation with the strong backing of the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce, culminated in the signing of the lease-purchase agreement and the announcement at approximately 11:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Location of the feeding complex will be on the 525-acre Bob Ramp farm approximately six miles east of Morton and a mile north of the Levelland Highway.

Installation of the huge plant, at an estimated cost of well over $1 million dollars, will begin in the immediate future, with the first cattle expected to arrive by July 1.

Owen Brothers Livestock Commission Company, of Texarkana, Dwayne Owen, president, is owner of the new industry. The company has operated cattle auction barns in the Taxarkana area for years but were lured to West Texas by the vast abundance of feed grains and other supplies necessary for the operation of major feed lots.

"We will not spare expense in installing one of the most modern, if not the most modern, feed lot operations on the High Plains," Owen is reported stating on signing the contract.

The initial capacity of the feed lot is expected to be 20-24,000 cattle, with the intentions of expanding to a maximum capacity of 48,000 as soon as possible. The number of men employed will be on a ratio of one man for each 1,000 cattle, giving a substantial boost to the local employment picture.

Contractors for construction of the plant will be Brown and McKee of Lubbock and preliminary work is expected to begin by the first part of next week.

Installations will include a large complex of steel cattle pens, a feed grain processing mill that will reach 135 feet in height upon completion and automatically metered trucks to transfer the feed from the mill to the feed pens.

It is expected that a substantial amount of the construction workers as well as those for the feed lot itself will be drawn from local sources.

The new company expects to feed its own cattle as well as to do a large amount of custom feeding on contract to other individual persons and companies.

The feeding periods will extend from 120 to 150 days, giving the lot a capacity in excess of 50,000 at the 24,000 level and over 120,000 per year when it is expanded to the 48,000 level. It is estimated that when the feed lot is operating at full capacity, there will be $14,000 per day being spent in the local area.

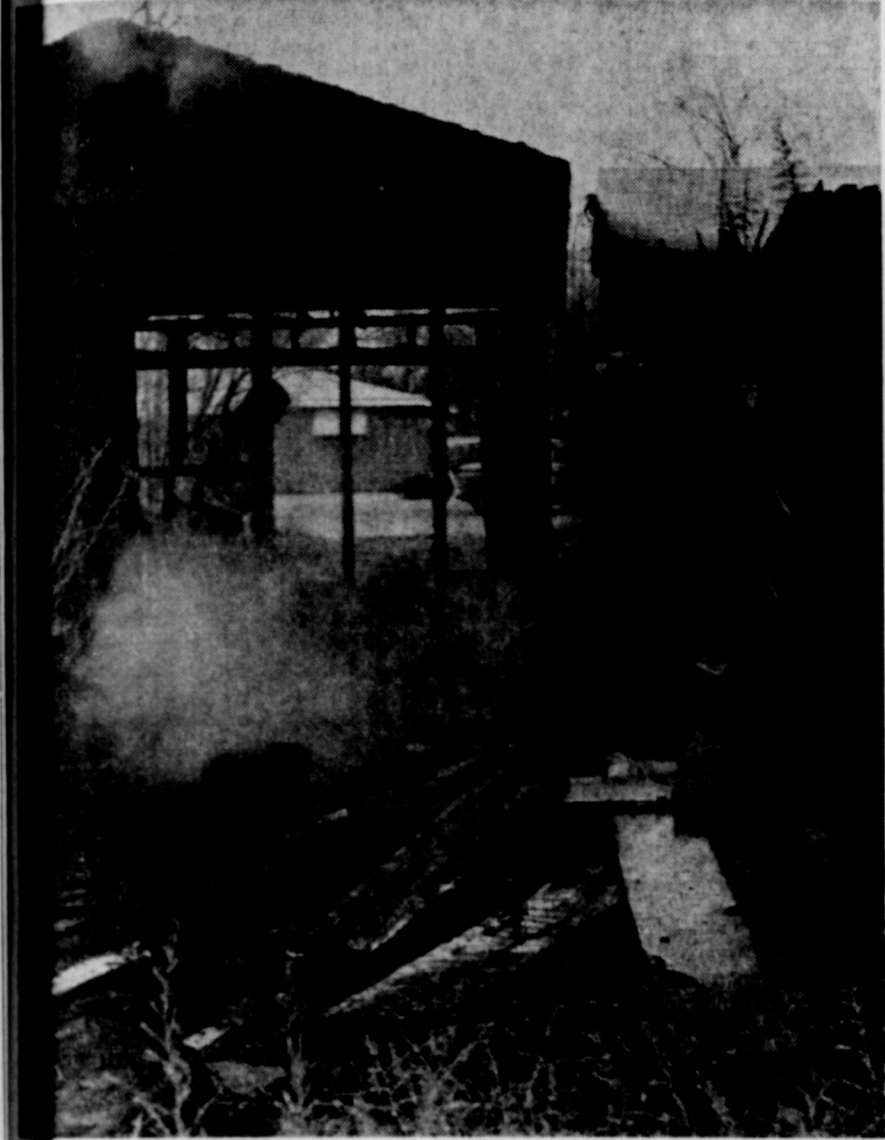

It has further been estimated by Industrial Foundation personnel that, if this operation raises local feed grain prices only five cents per 100 pounds, it will increase the area's economy by at least $150,000 per year.

Most of the cattle to be fed out here are expected to go to the meat packing plants on the High Plains, further boosting the economy of the area.

Until permanent offices are constructed at the site, Owens will occupy temporary offices in the Great Plains Natural Gas Building and can be contacted there in the near future. The company will continue to operate from its present offices.

MHS junior class production 'Girl Shy' slated Friday night

The Morton High School Junior Class will present its class play Friday night at 8:30 in the County Auditorium.

This year's production is a romantic comedy by Kathryn Kavenaugh, entitled "Girl Shy." The lively story is concerned with two college boys and their last days before graduation, and the problems they encounter with girl friends.

Tom Arsdale, portrayed by J. Wayne

McDermott, is girl-shy, and thus becomes the target for a marriage-minded co-ed named Barbara Sanford, played by Vicki Goodman. Tom's roommate, Oke Stinson, played by Jerry Steed, certainly is not girl-shy, and has a girl friend to prove it. Peaches Carter, Oke's girl friend, is played by Ruthie Smith.

Tom's shyness is not helped with the arrival of his dad's pick for him to marry; namely, Sylvia Webster, portrayed by Lana Smith. Tom's Aunt Caroline, played by Kay Davis, arrives for graduation along with Tom's father, played by Gerald Baker. Aunt Caroline finds the college dean, played by Larry McClintock, quite charming, and thus is no comfort to Tom.

Asma, the colored wash-lady, played by Jane Holloway, and Birdie LaVerne, played by Diane Avery, are servants that add delightful comedy to the play. Two other young men, Alfred Tennyson Murgatoyd, played by Dennis Clayton, and Chuck Mayo, portrayed by Mike Bryan, stand by to upset all plans in the hectic day before the graduation dance.

"Girl-Shy" is a charming play that will appeal to old and young alike. Tickets for the play may be purchased from any junior or at the door. Admission for adults will be $1.25, and 75 cents for students.

Area burglaries may be solved in capture of fugitives Sunday

A series of recent burglaries in Morton and other South Plains towns may have been solved with the arrest of two Mexican-Americans at Plainview and Lubbock Sunday.

Thomas Ramon Ysasaga, 22, and Louis Martinez, 24, both of Lubbock, were taken only hours apart — Ysasaga at Plainview and Martinez at Lubbock — and Martinez is said to have made a statement about a number of burglaries and thefts, some of which involved Ysasaga.

What is believed to be the same couple was in the grasp of Morton police Saturday but managed to escape and outrun the city patrol car. They had been stopped on suspicion by a city patrolman who ordered them to drive to the police station when they suddenly jumped the curb, ran across a lawn and escaped out of town.

The two are suspects in three burglaries in Morton and more than a dozen in other towns in nearby counties. The Morton burglaries included Higgenbotham-Bartlett Lumber Co., Fralins pharmacy and an auto body shop.

A grand jury sitting in 121st District Court in Morton Monday returned indictments for burglary and attempted burglary against Ysasaga for the Morton break-ins.

Cochran county sheriff Hazel Hancock told the Tribune there was not sufficient time between his arrest and the sitting of See AREA BURGLARIES, Page 5a

Texas and donated to Girlstown as a means of beautifying and improving the landscape.

She expressed the hope that each new arrival's first view of Girlstown will be through the fresh, tunity which will serve as a symbol of beauty and anticipation for the future.

"These trees are dedicated to each girl now residing at Girlstown and may this entranceway truly be their avenue of opportunity," Mrs. Decker said in concluding the dedication.

The dedication ceremony was preceded by a short talk by Marshall Cooper, executive director of Girlstown, who expressed the hope that the girls would have a bright future.

Area bookmobile given $2,000 state grant

A state money grant that should enhance mobile library services in Cochran County was announced in Austin this week.

Texas State Library announced a grant of $2,000 to the four-county High Plains Bookmobile library headquartered in Muleshoe. This grant is made under Title I of the Library Services and Construction Act for federal fiscal year 1969 for the purchase of books, binding or microfilm.

The four-county High Plains Bookmobile library is one of 125 libraries in Texas participating in the statewide plan for public library development by locally meeting criteria necessary to receive such grants. Participating libraries have increased local tax support, give free service and participate in the Texas State Library Communication Network.

The cooperative network enables local residents to have access through a nearby Area Library or Major Resource Center library to public library sources throughout the state. This cooperative program is sponsored through the Field Services Division of Texas State Library.

Texas April draft call shows rise over March

The April draft call for Texas is 1,737, up from 1,572 for March, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Wednesday.

The state quotas for February and January were respectively 1,564 and 1,363. A few of the inductees for February, March, and April are scheduled to be selected for the Marines, but most are scheduled for Army duty.

Quotas for physical examination have mounted steadily since the first of the year, the call for April being 7,293 men, while January was 2,706, February and March are respectively 3,371 and 4,585.

Colonel Schwartz also said that Texas had been called upon to furnish 18 doctors of medicine for the Army during the period July 1969 through January 1970, the state's share of a national quota of 437.

He said that the state also had been requested to provide two optometrists during the same period, as well as one doctor of osteopathy, the optometrists for the Air Force and the osteopath for the Army. Nationally, the Air Force is asking for 25 optometrists and the Army is requesting 23 osteopaths.

The national draft quotas for 1969 and their allocation to the Army and Marines are as follows:

January — 26,800, all for the Army; February — 33,700, 32,200 for the Army and 1,500 for the Marines; March — 33,100, 31,600 for the Army and 1,500 for the Marines; April — 33,000, 30,500 for the Army and 2,500 for the Marines.

The determined and highly unified effort of cotton producers across the belt to secure new Commodity Credit Corporation loan and sales policies that will prevent the "catalog cycle" of recent years and give them a reasonable chance at existing markets for each year's crop has taken formal shape.

The Beltwide Cotton Producer Committee met in Dallas February 28 and voted unanimously to support a proposal for revision of CCC policies and have since had the proposal printed in booklet form and presented it personally to USDA officials. The committee is made up of cotton producer groups from all across the belt and has support from an assortment of other groups, including the Texas and National Farmers Union and several State Farm Bureau Federations.

Committee Chairman is L. D. (Don) Anderson of Crosbyton, President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson is Secretary. The two vice-chairmen are from Georgia and California, and these four officers, acting as the Executive Committee, presented the proposal to USDA in Washington March 6.

The final draft of the producer request, as set forth in the booklet "CCC and Cotton," is based on one principle: "Cotton from one crop, properly supplemented by reserves, should supply the market through private trade channels until the succeeding crop is fully available."

Therefore, the booklet continues: (1) The loan period should be adjusted to match the marketing period and should extend from harvest to harvest; (2) Government stocks of cotton should enter the market to fill a shortfall or to relieve shortages of certain qualities, not to displace the kind of cotton in plentiful supply; (3) The producer should be allowed to repossess loan cotton at a cost equivalent to the price at which CCC is willing to sell comparable cotton from its inventory, and (4) The loan level should be adjusted annually as required to maintain a competitive price, taking due care to avoid decreased production and unwarranted increases in program costs.

To accomplish number (1) producers are recommending a loan period which extends 14 months from the month the loan is made to a producer. This is being referred to as an "anniversary month" loan. It would give producers a period from the harvest of one crop through the harvest of the next to find a market for their cotton.

These changes producers believe would return cotton to a private marketing system and move it to market through normal channels of trade — an industry-wide goal for many years. Producers believe it would build cotton markets by making a continuously adequate supply of cotton available to mills at reasonable and stable prices.

On the other side of the question are those who contend the changes would "withhold cotton from the market," "create an artificially high price," and thereby destroy cotton markets.

In answer to that charge Committee Chairman Anderson, in a letter to Congressman George Mahon and others, points out that no producer wants to put cotton into the loan and leave it there. "He wants to sell his cotton at loan value plus carrying charges and a grower equity, in accordance with long-established marketing procedures."

Consequently, cotton would neither be withheld from the market nor made less available. "In fact," Anderson continues, "cotton under this system will be considerably more available to the country merchant than it is in the hands of CCC."

On price, the letter says the question is not one of whether producers seek to create an artificially high price for cotton, but a question of whether CCC will continue to create an artificially low price by forgiving carrying charges, offering re-class privileges worth about $6 per bale and offering substantial savings on compression of most cotton for export.

With reference to the producer request that CCC not take title to all 1968-crop cotton on July 31 this year, the accusation has been made from several quarters that this would be "changing rules in the middle of the game" and "breaking faith" with those producers who have already sold their 1968-crop cotton.

To this Anderson replies that rules for the disposition of 1968-crop cotton after July 31 have not been made, and not having been made, can't be changed.

He quotes the language found in the Federal Register and on both Form A and Form G loan papers which explicitly gives USDA authority to extend loans following public announcement, and says this should serve notice on all concerned that the loan maturity date may be changed at any time.

The term "breaking faith" would imply that adoption of the proposal would have some harmful effect on producers who have already sold their 1968-crop cotton. But it should be noted that any producer who has sold his cotton did so at a price above loan value. And Anderson thinks it would be a rare thing if that producer objected to policy changes being made which would give his neighbor a chance to do the same thing later in the year.

As to the price at which 1968 cotton may be offered after July 31, assuming CCC does take title, all in the industry should be aware that sales prices and terms for each marketing year are not announced until the preceding March, Anderson said in his letter.

He concludes that portion of his argument by saying "At issue is what happens to cotton AFTER July 31, the end of the marketing year, not what happens to it in the middle of the game."

The letter continues "We are similarly dismayed at use of the argument that, changes would benefit cooperatives more than non-cooperative interests, and we certainly don't believe that such an attitude originated with any producer. Differences that may exist between cooperative and non-cooperative elements cannot legitimately be injected into arguments for or against CCC policy changes which stand to benefit ALL producers."

"It should be kept in mind that this is a cotton PRODUCER proposal, supported by virtually ALL cotton producers, and that three out of four producers now market their crops through non-cooperative channels."

Producer sign up for the wheat, feed grain, and cotton programs is not quite up to expectations at this point, according to Danny Key, Chairman of the Cochran County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Additional sign up in the wheat, feed grain and cotton programs is needed in Cochran County if we are going to obtain the diversion necessary to reduce wheat and feed grain supplies, the Chairman pointed out.

As of February 28, 215 producers in Cochran County had signed to divert 30,264 acres from wheat and feed grain production.

"On the basis of the February 28 sign up report, it appears that wheat sign up across the country is somewhat behind, and feed grain and cotton sign up also seems to be lagging," the Chairman said.

"Intended additional diversion on signed wheat farms, as of that date, was 2.1 million acres. By the end of sign up we should have about 5 million acres additional diversion."

For feed grains a 37 million acre diversion would bring about the slight reduction in stocks needed this year, the Chairman said. As of February 28, total intended diversion on signed farms was about 19.9 million acres.

For upland cotton, slightly more than 7.6 million acres out of a total cotton allotment of just over 16 million acres, was enrolled at the end of the reporting period.

While sign up appears to be slightly behind at this point, producers still have until March 21 to sign up to take part in the programs.

"We would like to urge every producer to study his own operation carefully before he makes a final decision. Those who have questions concerning program benefits should visit the local ASCS office for further information," the Chairman emphasized.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M.

Hardin announced that Price Support for 1969 crop soybeans will be at $2.25 per bushel, No. 1 grade, and for cottonseed at $37 per ton, basis 100 grade.

Hi there! How's it going with you? Activities have been fairly scarce around MHS this week, but I'll do the best I can.

First off, we had a holiday last Friday as the teachers went to a teachers' meeting in Lubbock for the day. But six members of the speech department didn't get to rest over the holiday. The group went to the Hardin-Simmons Speech Tournament in Abilene Friday and Saturday. Those going were: Carol Freeland — persuasive speaking, Karen Fred — extemporaneous informative speaking, and Donna Williams, Janella Nebhut, Curtis Griffith, Danny Williams — debate. Danny took the place of J. Wayne McDermet, who was in the hospital through the weekend. David Murrah acted as sponsor.

The two-car caravan left Morton Friday morning at 8:45 and arrived in Abilene at about 1:15. They had lunch and checked in their rooms in the Downtowner Inn. Registration was at Hardin-Simmons at 4:30. The first round of events started at 5:30, and the second started at 7:30 and lasted until 9:00. After these first two rounds, the group ate at the Town Crier and went back to their rooms.

Round three started Saturday morning at 8:30 and lasted until 10:00, with only the debate teams going into the fourth round at 10:00. The kids then ate at the White Pig and left for home, to arrive at about 9:30.

In the contests, the speakers were allowed to draw three topics and choose one on which to base their speeches. They were given 30 minutes to prepare the speeches, which had to be given from an outline. Speeches were given before judges and a very small audience.

The debate topic was the same one that will be used at all debate tournaments this year: Resolved: that the United States should establish a system of compulsory service by all citizens.

District Interscholastic League literary events will be held March 29, where these speakers and debaters will be able to make use of their experience. (The above account came from an interview with Carol Freeland.)

Also, several other kids missed out on the long weekend's rest by going to Austin to the state basketball tournament. I think quite a few went, but since I don't know much about it, I won't go into any detail.

WTPA announces newspaper scholarship contest for 1969

West Texas Press Association is looking for another winner in its $800 newspaper scholarship contest.

Applications in the 1969 contest will be received from high school seniors until April 15, John H. McGaughey, chairman of the scholarship committee, has announced.

Application should be sent to John H. McGaughey, editor of the Albany News, Albany, Texas 76430. Announcement of the winner will be made by May 15.

West Texas Press Association, which started the newspaper scholarship in 1956, has four students in college this year. One will graduate this spring.

Rules for the scholarship contest have been mailed to high school principals and to newspaper editors or publishers of the West Texas Press Association area towns, who will be glad to help with the necessary application details.

Interested students should talk with their principal or editor and start immediately to prepare the application.

All applicants must be in the upper percent of their class, must have demonstrated ability in newspaper journalism and a desire for a newspaper career.

The winner will receive $300 per semester ($100 per semester) for each of the years of college, providing satisfactory academic requirements are met.

Eleven West Texas colleges and universities have been designated for scholarship winners by WTPA. These are: Christian College, Angelo State College, Hardin-Simmons University, Howard College, Midwestern University, Ross College, Texas Tech, University of Texas at El Paso, Texas Christian University, Wayland College and West Texas State University.

Morton Tribune personnel will make the opportunity to assist interested students in making application for the scholarship or to answer any questions concerning the field of newspapers and journalism.

Court decrees not wanting babies grounds for annulment

During his romance with Myrtle, Jack often spoke tenderly of the children they would have once they were married. But after the wedding, he changed his tune. In fact, he insisted on the use of birth control measures.

Finally Jack confessed that he had never intended to have children in the first place. Myrtle promptly sued for an annulment on grounds of fraud, and the court awarded her a decree.

Annulment of a marriage is not granted lightly. But it is granted, as a rule, if one of the parties was deceived during the courtship about something "essential" to the marital relationship. And having children is considered essential — that is, part of the very foundation of the marriage.

Suppose the subject of having children had simply never been discussed before the wedding. Could the wife who wants children still complain that she had been deceived, even though her husband had never made her any promises?

Yes, because that kind of commitment is implied in the marriage contract. As one judge put it: "Affianced parties do not generally exact from each other a promise that they shall have off-spring. Procreation, though not discussed, is taken for granted."

The juniors have been busy readying their play, which will be put on tomorrow (Friday) night at 7:30 in the county auditorium. The play, "Girl Shy" is sure to be a winner, so ya'll be sure and go if you can. The profit from the play will go toward the junior/senior banquet, which the juniors will sponsor March 29.

Well, here it is again — THE END!

On the other hand, complaints of a deceived are relatively easy to file and an easy way out of matrimony. For this reason, the court may refuse an annulment if the complaining spouse's argument is not convincing.

In one case, a woman sued for annulment after 12 years of childless marriage. After all this time, she and her husband had finally admitted that she had deceived her from the very beginning and had never meant to have a large family. But the court decided that she herself could not have been any more deceived for children. Denying an annulment, the judge said:

"She allowed 12 years of her life to slip by without insisting on her right to a family. I do not think she can be held to complain at this late date."

By Libby Mudgett

IN THE LAST ISSUE of The Ladies' Home Journal is a very interesting article entitled "You Can't Find God in Church Anymore!"

The Journal had polled 1,000 women and correlated the results.

The part that intrigued me the most was the reasons different women gave that they no longer attended church.

I decided to conduct my own survey and, as usual, women in rural West Texas gave answers almost entirely different from the nationwide poll.

I INCLUDE HERE answers only from the women who attend church very seldom or not at all.

"My husband and I are compromising. We belong to one denomination and I belong to another, so we don't go to any."

"Listen, sister, if you stood on your feet all week long like I do, you wouldn't wanna go stand on 'em again on your one day off. Especially not in dress shoes — they make my dogs SCREAM!"

"I'M COMPLETELY out of the habit. I went when my children were little and couldn't go by themselves, but I don't anymore. I think churchgoing is three-fourths habit, don't you?"

"I'll tell you exactly why I don't go anymore. It's (man's name). I know enough on him to put him in jail and when I saw him passing the collection plate Sunday after Sunday, I nearly threw up. So I quit going."

"It's the only day I have to sleep late. I know that's not right, but that's the reason. I just get so behind with my sleep, I HAVE to catch up."

"I DON'T HAVE nice enough clothes. That shouldn't keep me from going, but nevertheless, I feel downright dowdy. Every other lady dresses up so much better than I'm able to."

"I don't enjoy it, that's why. Why would I go if I don't enjoy it?"

"I listen to the sermons on t.v. They get any preacher around here. No, I can't miss the fellowship of others."

"Oh, I keep intending to start back. I am, too, someday soon."

"I GOT SICK and tired of being told 'Don't do this' and 'Don't do that.' Seldom do I ever hear the words 'Do this and do that.'"

"I got tired of going by myself. My husband wouldn't go with me, so I finally quit going, too. If he'd go, I'd go."

"I work on Sunday. I nearly die laughing when all the church members that talk about businesses staying open on Sunday come into this cafe to be served their Sunday dinner!"

"I GOT TIRED of having money talked about constantly. It got to where everytime I went, there was some special drive of some kind or other on that I was expected to give to."

"Church? You can have it!"

"Habit. Pure habit. I miss going, but not enough to get back in the habit. I make a New Year's resolution to start back each year, and I really intend to keep it, but I never do."

"I DON'T LIKE the preacher we've got right now. Whenever we get another one, I'll start back — if I like him, that is."

"It's unfriendly. I can walk in that church, stay until the service is over, and leave without one single soul having even spoken to me."

"Frankly, the whole thing bores me. It's just a bunch of folderol."

"I REALLY COULDN'T tell you why I no longer go to church. I'd have to think about it. I really just don't know."

"It's too noisy. Kids cry and the people talk. I can stay home and worship just as well, anyway."

"OUR SERVICES were too formal. Everything was done the same way each Sunday. Sometimes I wanted to scream for just one little part in the whole ritual to be changed, even just slightly."

"Oh, those people won't leave you alone! They're not satisfied for you to just come and enjoy the services, no. They keep after you to take part in this or the other activity."

"Sometimes I think all they do is eat."

tinued to operate its auction activities in the east Texas locations and will maintain buying services for custom feeders.

Managers for the feed lot and the grain mill have not been named as yet, but are expected to be announced in the near future.

No local stockholders or subscribers will be involved in the financing of the new industry. It will all be done within the company resources, an Industrial Foundation spokesman informed the Tribune Wednesday.

Obtaining the new industry for the Cochran county area represents a solid victory for the Industrial Foundation, which was organized approximately six months ago for the specific purpose of obtaining just such industry here.

In an exhaustive search for the right location there were 28 sites that underwent thorough investigation by foundation personnel, with approximately 10 proving satisfactory for this type operation, a spokesman said. Of those 10, the site chosen had the most desirable features over all, he added.

"This is a very fine start, but there is no reason that it should be the last, or that we should slack off in our efforts," Roy Hickman, first vice-president, stated and added "we have several other projects underway, some of which look very promising. We hope and expect that there will be more such pleasant announcements in the future."

"We had solid support from the Chamber of Commerce throughout the three months we worked to obtain this feed lot and we expect to receive the same support on future projects," he concluded.

Members of the Industrial Foundation include D. E. Benham, President; Roy Hickman, First Vice-President; J. W. McDermott, Second Vice-President; Jack Russell, Treasurer; Mrs. J. C. Morton Future Homemakers conduct annual banquet here

The Morton Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America held their annual banquet on Friday, February 28. The banquet was held in the Morton High School Cafeteria.

Parents of the girls, school board members, Mrs. Elmer Jones, Mrs. Bill Thomas, Miss Rita Buestamente, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weaver, and Bob Travis were special guests.

The food for the occasion was prepared by the members of the FHA and served in a buffet style.

After the dinner, Mrs. Murray Crone presented Miss Donna Williams, Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow, with a special charm.

Another presentation was the one made to the Chapter parents. The Chapter Parents are usually the president's parents as they are this year. They are Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Courtney. Their daughter is Sandra Courtney.

The Girl's Sextet from the Morton High School choir department presented several special selections for the banquet.

The most interesting feature of the evening was a panel discussion where Mrs. Bill Thomas, Mrs. Elmer Jones, and Miss Rita Buestamente were questioned by Miss Cindy Kuehler.

Mrs. Thomas came from Holland when she was 14. Mrs. Jones was originally from Germany, and Miss Buestamente is from Bolivia and presently attending South Plains College in Levelland.

The Panelists were asked several questions concerning their customs, the way of life in their country, their schools, their government, and their social activities. It was found that their Christmas is much different from the American Christmas, and that in Germany the school week was six days and in Holland the summer vacation from school is only four weeks long. Rita took everyone by surprise when she revealed that there were hippies in Bolivia as well as in the United States.

The banquet ended with a prayer given by principal, Fred Weaver.

Conservation District News

From the Office of BUDD FOUNTAIN

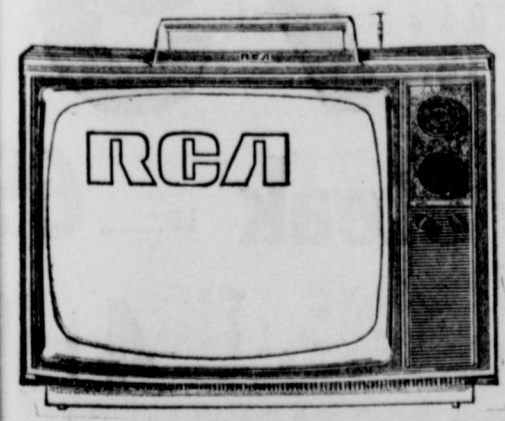

Contour farming is a practice whereby rows are laid out according to the contour or profile of the land. This means if you have a sloping piece of land the rows would be laid off going around the hill on level in a curving manner. This helps to stop gully and washing and conserves moisture, as the contoured rows stop and hold the water. This is greatly beneficial especially on dryland.

Contour rows are designed to hold slow rains that fall and not the big rains that usually occur on a ten year frequency. The big rains that come need diversions and parallel terraces to hold water and stop gully.

Dryland farmers had an exceptionally good year in 1968 but won't always be so fortunate in the future. This is why they should think about contouring their rows in order to conserve moisture and prevent washing and gullying to keep their land more productive.

Town and Country Club has Texas Day program

"Honoring Texas Day" was the theme of the program at the regular meeting of the Town and Country Study Club in the home of Mrs. Cheryl Inglis on March 5.

Mrs. Willard Henry gave the invocation and Mrs. Alvie Harris, chairman for the program, introduced Elvis Fleming, guest speaker.

Fleming, author, and history teacher in Morton High School, spoke on "Early Days in Cochran County." He told some of the highlights of a 1915 board of directors report of the C. C. Slaughter ranch.

The ranch headquarters had been completed at a total cost of $3,000, and they had made progress in eliminating prairie dogs, scabies, and loco weed, and they were experimenting with farming to help solve the feed problem.

Over $161,000 was earned in 1915, and a recommendation was made to install a telephone line from Lubbock as the make-shift line they were using was a failure.

Fleming also quoted from short biographies prepared by Morton High School students on some of the early settlers in Cochran County, and gave some interesting facts on the building of the courthouse.

Following the program a business meeting was conducted by the president. Everyone was reminded again about the Arts and Crafts Exhibits to be shown at the Community Building on April 12.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames A. A. Fralin, Connie Gray, W. L. Foust, Roy Hill, A. E. Sanders, Ross Shaw, Weldon Newsom, W. G. Freeland, Alvie Harris, Willard Henry, R. B. Spence, Cherylne Inglis, and T. W. Roberts.

The old and new business was taken care of and Mrs. Ludi Cooper served as the secretary in the absence of Mrs. Ebbie Stracner. A gift was sent to Mrs. W. L. Miller who was sick and not able to attend.

The hostess served refreshments to the following members: Mesdames L. W. Barrett, Henry Bedwell, C. C. Benham, W. E. Childs, Ludi Cooper, A. R. Lindsey, Clayton Stokes, and Walter Taylor.

Several members were absent because of illness. New members are needed and everyone is asked to come and sit in on the next meeting. The meeting is to be Thursday, March 20, at 2 p.m. in the A. R. Lindsey home.

Y. M. Study Club meets at Robinson's

The Y. M. Study Club met March 6, in the home of Mrs. Bob Robinson. Mrs. Max Clark presided over the business meeting. She announced that the tree planting ceremony at Girlstown would be March 8 and the District Convention would be March 31 and April 1 at Plainview.

The nomination committee presented officers for the coming year. The following were elected: President, Mrs. Leonard Groves; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Herman Bedwell; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Billy Weems; Secretary-Reporter, Mrs. Robbie Key; Treasurer, Mrs. Dexter Nebhut; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Lewis Hodge; Historian, Mrs. Fred Weaver; and Auditor, Mrs. Dalton Redman.

Mrs. Kenneth McMaster brought the program entitled "Invitation to Life through Abundance of Wisdom." When we think of wisdom we usually think of Solomon. Solomon wrote three books of the Bible, Solomon's wisdom is known to all. His reign started with wisdom and wealth and ended with shame and idolatry.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Herman Bedwell, Max Clark, Leonard Groves, Robbie Key, Kenneth McMaster, Dexter Nebhut, Billy Weems, Jerry Winder, Weldon Wynn, and Lewis Hodge, by the hostess, Mrs. Bob Robinson.

1936 Study Club meets in Rose home March 5

The 1936 Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Neal Rose at 404 East Lincoln on March 5. Mrs. Lloyd Miller presided for the business and Mrs. Mike Barrett was elected to membership.

Mrs. John Crowder introduced the speaker, Mrs. John Casey of Greenville, North Carolina, author, homemaker, and world traveler.

Mrs. Casey's talk was entitled, "Just Folks Like Us." She told of her experiences in her travels around the world as she sought to overcome language barriers and customs in the countries served by her husband. He worked with the Voice of America.

Since the family left Abilene in 1953, they have lived in Germany, Africa, the Philippine Islands, Vietnam, and Hong Kong. "People around the world," she is convinced, "are interested in the same things we are." She has discovered that a smile is the same in all languages.

Refreshments were served to fourteen members and two guests. In addition to the hostess and the guest speaker.

Those present were: Mesdames, D. E. Benham, John Crowder, Cyrus Fields, Gage Knox, Lloyd Miller, Joe Nicewarner, Hume Russell, James St. Clair, Glen Thompson, B. H. Tucker, Maurice Lewallen, C. H. Silvers, Mary Ann Rose, and Evelyn Smith.

Use macaroni products and others which will make your food go further. A macaroni dish, for example, with a small amount of meat added will serve more people than the same amount of meat, cooked alone. In addition, the meat makes the otherwise bland macaroni very tasty. Learn how to use rice this way or even potatoes.

Bob Lilly heads Texas football boys' drive for crippled children

Bob Lilly, who usually plays defensive tackle for the Dallas Cowboys professional football team, this spring is heading up a bigger team. Lilly is chairman of the Texas Football Boys' Lily Day for Crippled Children, an event being staged March 22 by the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

Lily Day, the offering of plastic Lily lapel pins for donations in shopping districts, will be conducted by football players from Texas high schools all over the state. Each team will handle its own local areas, and will be competing for trophies for the five teams doing best. Trophies, which were donated by a national firm, will be awarded the top team in each classification.

Lily Day Chairman, Bob Lilly, invited over 500 high school coaches in Texas asking that their teams join in the event.

Over 1,400 Texas football boys will take part in the Lily Day event to raise funds to help provide treatment and services to disabled children and adults of Texas. Funds will be used by the Easter Seal Societies in Texas to provide services to the disabled in Texas.

Lily Day has been planned for March 22, with March 29 or April 5 set as alternate dates in case of poor weather on the 22nd.

Dolls for Cotton meet in Muleshoe

Members of the "Denim Dolls for Cotton" organization hosted a meeting Thursday, March 6, in the Activity Room of the First State Bank in Muleshoe. The guest speaker was Horace McQueen of Lubbock. His speech was based on what the women can and should do to help promote cotton.

Betty Harlan and Judy Kirk were responsible for getting the speaker and selecting the meeting place for this occasion. Refreshments were served to fifteen ladies.

The purpose of this meeting was to try to get the ladies in the Muleshoe area familiar with the Women's Cotton Organization and its purpose.

The aim of the Denim Dolls Organization is to get enough members so that it may become county-wide. In order to do this an organization will be needed for Bailey County and another for Lamb County. If any of the women in Muleshoe are interested in helping to promote cotton and would like to be a member of this organization, please contact Mrs. Jean Lovelady in Muleshoe.

For the ladies in the Littlefield area who are interested in promoting cotton, start planning now to attend the all-cotton style show that is to be held March 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the Willy room of the Lamb County R.E.A. building.

All the women in the area are welcome to attend the style show.

American College Test will be given at SPC on April 26

An announcement of interest to all area high school students planning to attend college was made at South Plains College in Levelland this week.

The college has been designated as a test center for the American College Test on Saturday morning, April 26. Donald J. Melton, test center supervisor, said, "High school students who want to take the test on April 26 must acquire a test registration form and mail it, along with their $6.00 fee, by Monday, March 24."

The necessary registration form may be acquired from Melton at South Plains College, or by writing to Dr. Vernon L. Odom at 1626 50th Street, Lubbock, Texas 79412.

Nearly one million students will write the ACT test at 2,100 test centers around the world this year. One hundred one of the colleges and universities in Texas participate in the ACT program. Some colleges use the test results as admissions instruments; others use them primarily as counseling tools.

The test battery consists of sub-tests in English usage, math usage, social science reading and natural science reading. A unique feature of the ACT assessment is the Student Profile Section by which students describe some of their non-academic potentials and other personal data for the use of college admissions officers and high school counselors.

Each student's assessment is sent to the three colleges of his choice. Currently over 1,500 American colleges utilize the data provided by the American College Testing Program.

NEW FRONTIERS

We are preparing a completely new way of life for our children. Every day we hear talk of rockets and missiles. This is truly the space age. However, history has taught us that man's need for God is ever present, and new frontiers have never changed this.

TAKE YOUR FAMILY TO CHURCH

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
