

Gerald Charles Grusendorf

Morton High honor students named

Senior boys have been named as valedictorian and salutatorian of the 1971 graduating class of Morton High School.

Gerald Charles Grusendorf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grusendorf of Morton, registered a 10.73 average to win valedictorian honors. On the letter system, Grusendorf's average for his high school years is well above the A minus level.

Robert Garnett Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Taylor of Morton, averaged 10.44, also above an A minus average. Taylor will deliver the salutatory address at the annual commencement on Friday, May 28.

Both Grusendorf and Taylor were quite active during their four years at Morton High School, having been honored by fellow students in being named to offices in student organizations. Both boys actively participated in all phases of the school's program.

Grusendorf lettered three years in football, and during the 1970 season, displayed outstanding effort in his play as center for the Indians. He was honored by district coaches by being named as honorable mention all-district center. Recently, Grusendorf was also cited by his fellow team members as they named him to receive the coveted Neal Rose Sportsmanship award, annually presented to the MHS athlete that displays the best sportsmanship conduct during the year's athletic seasons.

The valedictorian also served this past year as president of the National Honor Society, and president of the Speech Club. Active in speech events during his past two years, Grusendorf worked in the district one-act play production, and served on the debate team for two years.

He plans to major in chemical engineering in college and will attend South Plains College at Levelland and Texas Tech University.

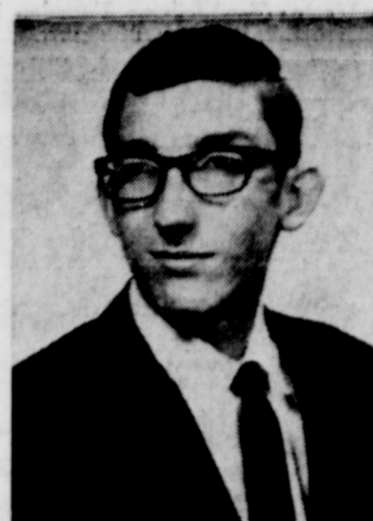

Garnett Taylor has been active as a member of Morton's fine high school band where he served as drum major for the organization during the past two marching seasons. During Taylor's tenure as drum major, the Indian band received two first division ratings in marching.

Taylor was vice-president of the National Honor Society this past year, and was treasurer for the Future Farmers of America during his junior year. Taylor also was featured in this spring's one-act play production.

Taylor currently plans to attend Texas Tech University, but has made no definite plans about a college major.

Top girl in the 1971 class is Becky Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harris, of Morton.

Many activities on tap for Crazy Day May 22

A full afternoon and evening of events and entertainment will be on tap for residents and visitors to Morton Saturday, May 22, as 'Jamboree Crazy Day' is observed for the second time.

A brand new highlight of the Crazy Day celebration will be a giant auction to be held beginning at 2 p.m. in the former Ideal Gift Shop building on the northwest corner of the square. Everyone who has an item to sell, no matter what the size or value, is urged to bring it, or them, to the chamber of commerce auctioneer sell it for you for the low cost of 10 percent of the sale price.

It is emphasized by the chamber that this is not a sale for profit, by the chamber but a service for those who have items they would like to get rid of but don't want to give away. Items too big to carry will be transported to the auction free of charge by a truck from Gwatney-Wells Chevrolet-Oldsmobile. All they need to act is a telephone call.

Sale items will be accepted right up to sale time at 2 p.m. Saturday, so get these items in there and contact Lloyd Barber or Jimmy St. Clair for recording and tagging.

There will be three drawings for free money on this Crazy Day rather than the one that took place at its inaugural last month. There will be a drawing at 2 p.m., 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. with the amount of the prize to be drawn for unknown until the actual drawing time. In the April drawing there was no claim for second prize of $25, so that amount has been doubled and there will be two $50 drawings and one $5 drawing.

Of course the evening of Crazy Day will be topped off in grand style by the big country and western jamboree presented from 8-11 p.m. in the county auditorium. A long list of first rate entertainers in the country and western music field has been obtained for the show, so come out and enjoy a good old fashioned get-together.

Meat packing plant sets opening date first week in June

The long-awaited opening of the Prairieland Packing Company plant now under construction five miles southeast of Morton, has tentatively been set for the first week in June, it was learned here late last week.

At a recent board meeting of the company held in Lubbock, Joe Rice, president of Morton Bi Products Company, was designated as general manager of the plant. Rice has announced the hiring of Donnie Fesbre as office manager and Jerry Rowlett as superintendent of the killing floor. from local sources is presently underway, Rice indicated.

He went on to state that the last of the plant's equipment had arrived and was being installed and as soon as the paint dries he will initiate a shake down run-through of all facilities for satisfactory operation so the plant may be accepted from the builder, Plains Steel Construction Company of Lubbock.

The formal opening and dedication of the new plant will be delayed for approximately 60 days so that guests at the open house will be able to see the plant in full operation and receive a complete picture of its facilities.

Voters OK Amendment Four

Cochran county voters, closely followed the state-wide trend as they turned out at the polls in pitifully small numbers to defeat three of the proposed amendments to the state constitution and pass the fourth. According to late reports these exact same conditions prevailed throughout the state on the amendment balloting.

The negative attitude of county voters spilled over heavily onto the referendum election concerning weather modification that was held in conjunction with the amendment election. The latter was not an official election and sought only to determine the actual wishes of the people of the county concerning the modification of the weather by cloud seeding. The vote was strongly against the cloud seeding by a more than two to one vote of 174 against to 81 for.

Slightly more than one seventh of the county's 1,743 registered voters showed up at the polls, with 264 total votes being cast.

Amendment One, dealing with the establishment of an ethics committee and setting the compensation for state Legislators, was solidly defeated here by a vote of 12 for and 177 against.

Amendment Two, which would have established an easier system for amending the state constitution was soundly trounced by a vote of 66 for and 193 against.

Amendment Three, which would raise the ceiling on certain parts of the state welfare program went down to Cochran county defeat by the narrow margin of 127 for and 136 against.

Amendment Four, which would allow the state to issue $100 million in bonds for water quality enhancement purposes,

DOING DUTY AS CITIZENS . . .

TWO MORTON HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS were caught by the camera's eye as they fulfilled one of their obligations as citizens and cast their votes in the state constitutional amendment election Tuesday. No one will ever know how they voted, but if they conformed to the Cochran county and state-wide trend, they voted no on Amendments one, two and three and yes on four. A light turnout of 264 of 1,743 eligible voters showed up at the polls in the county's four precincts.

Large crowd in attendance at 'drug awareness' meeting

An estimated three hundred persons were in attendance at a "Drug Awareness" program presented at the county auditorium Monday night under sponsorship of supervisory personnel of the Morton school system.

Lasting approximately three hours, the program consisted of a tape recording played to the audience in which Art Linkletter, whose daughter died in 1969 as the result of misuse of drugs, gave his views on the drug problem in America today; a talk by Dr. N. L. Dubberly on the medical and psychological aspects of drug abuse; a talk on the legal aspects by county attorney James Walker; a briefing by Tommy Williams, a registered pharmacist of Lubbock, on methods used there in combating the drug problem and a short talk by Becky Greene, Morton High School senior who has represented the school at various drug abuse workshops during the school year.

Dr. Dubberly stressed several main causes of drug abuse among children, the correction of which would go far in the prevention of their ever turning to narcotics. Among these causes are over-submissiveness by the parents, over indulgence in the child by the parent, repressive measures by not allowing the child to develop a set of rules for himself, distrust on the part of the parent which leads to a form of rebellion by the child and neglect of the child which can lead him to take to

★ Measles shot

Vaccination for German Measles (Rubella) will be given to all those in Cochran County who desire it at the Morton public schools Tuesday, May 25.

The immunization is free of charge and will be given at the elementary school from 9-10:30 a.m.; at junior high from 11-12:30 and at the high school from 1-2:30.

All persons over one year of age, with certain exceptions concerning pregnancy, will be immunized upon request. Those previously immunized or who have had the disease or who are allergic to eggs or feathers should not receive the vaccination.

'Indian Capers—71' plays to packed, delighted audience

Some three hundred music fans were treated to what was probably the finest offering yet of the Morton High School choral department which presented its production of Indian Capers — 1971, staged last Friday night. Don Chandler, MHS choral director, and his choir were rewarded with a standing ovation at the end of the program.

"Sing a Song of Joy" served as the theme for the fast-moving two-hour program as 35 numbers provided a complete range of musical variety and entertainment in the county auditorium. From the opening number of "Tonight," sung by the two top vocalists of the choir, Shelby Race and Sue Winder, to the finale, "Ode to Joy," by the entire choir, the music was well-performed and staged.

The audience responded most favorably to the choir's number, "Let It Be," and the girls' choir production of "He Ain't Heavy, He's My Brother."

Senior Shelby Race also received acclaim for his solo numbers, "Didn't We," and "Bridge Over Troubled Waters."

The choir also entertained with comedy as several skits were presented. The audience howled as five girls and boys combined to perform a simulated burlesque routine. Becky Greene and Jackie Richards also portrayed a mock ballet that produced a hilarious ending.

The program was enhanced by an adequate sound system and lighting. Two

FHA drought loans available to farmers

Farmers Home Administration State Director J. Lyon Futch has announced the Cochran County has been designated by the Secretary of Agriculture for the making of emergency loans to farmers and ranchers who have sustained substantial losses on account of the drought.

The designation continues in effect through June 30, 1972, and will authorize emergency loans to be made to those persons who suffered substantial losses from any adverse weather conditions, such as high winds, hail, or flood, that have occurred or might occur during the period of this designation.

Funds are available and applications for such loans may be made at the FHA County Office located at 200-E West Taylor, Morton.

INDIAN CAPERS CUTUPS . . .

ONE OF THE FUNNIEST of a host of funny acts was the one above in which three MHS "hillbillies" ham it up during the production of "Indian Capers of 1971" that was reeled off to the delight of an estimated 350 persons in the county auditorium Thursday night. There was something for everyone in the fast-paced musical extravaganza under the direction of choir director Don Chandler.

Weed control under dry conditions is test of farmer's ingenuity

Weed control in cotton under dry conditions is a situation that can test a grower's ability to use mechanical cultivation along with chemicals to effectively and economically protect his crop.

A post emergence herbicide is one way for growers to spray their way out of grass without spending money until it is necessary, according to Fred C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist.

He noted that where low rainfall conditions are prevailing, Johnsongrass will usually emerge from greater depths than in periods when more moisture is available. Postemergence, laterally directed DSMA, would probably be most effective under these conditions, he advised.

Elliott added that if broadleaf weeds are mixed with the Johnsongrass, combinations of DSMA with materials such as Herban, Cotran, Karmex, and Caparol should be used.

He reminded growers that in postemergence weed control programs, DSMA should be laterally directed and not used "over the top." Elliott noted that DSMA is a little milder on cotton and should be used during the growing season on young cotton in preference to MSMA. MSMA is a little "hotter" on the Johnsongrass, but slightly more injurious to the cotton.

A preemergence program during dry conditions may require an increased amount of water in application, according to Elliott. In windy weather a wider angle nozzle might be used.

"If lateral nozzles are used to control grass and weeds in young cotton and windy weather persists, narrow angle fan tips, used in connection with fender protection are advisable," Elliott commented.

In western areas of the state in sandy soils, some growers are using a procedure where incorporated herbicides can be applied in the water furrow with two and one-half gallons of water per acre on a band at a cost of less than one dollar per acre, he noted. Local county agents can supply detailed information on the type of chemical weed control program best suited to a particular situation, Elliott said.

Meet on law enforcement radio communications system slated

The South Plains Association of Governments will host a half day meeting on Thursday, May 20, 1971, to discuss the upgrading of the law enforcement radio communications system. The session, to begin at 1:00 p.m., will be held in the Reddy Room at Southwestern Public Service Company, corner of Main and Avenue K in Lubbock.

As this meeting will lead to a submission of a regional grant application (similar to the approach used on the regional teletype system.) it is important that all law enforcement agencies expecting to upgrade or purchase radio equipment in the next few years be represented, 75% of the cost of equipment conforming to the plan will be paid by the Texas Criminal Justice Council.

The Texas Criminal Justice Council consulting engineer will be in attendance, along with a member of the Texas Criminal Justice staff. We hope that the meeting will provide the information from which a system can be designed, upgrade the law enforcement radio system and minimize the communication problems that are currently being experienced.

Agency representatives should be prepared to discuss problems, needs, and situations now existing as well as a system or combination of systems already prepared or being evaluated. The meeting will be general enough that non-technical people can participate, yet specific enough that the technical people will want to attend and participate.

The degree of need expressed at the meeting by your agencies will determine how quickly we can expect to be able to purchase needed equipment.

Should you desire any further information concerning the meeting, please contact George S. Johnson, criminal justice coordinator.

Pirates win LL first round with undefeated record, 5-0

Eleven-year old Rusty Lamar slapped a double to drive in the winning run, then pitched three scoreless innings to pace the Pirates to a big 3-2 win over the tough Colt 45's Monday night in Little League action.

The win wrapped up the first-round title for the Pirates, insuring them a playoff spot after the three rounds have been played. The winners of each round will be involved in a playoff if necessary to determine the league winner at the end of the regular season.

Tuesday night, the Pirates saw their undefeated record snapped as the Sox pounded out a big 7-4 win over the first round winners in the first game of second round action. The Sox scored six big runs in the top of the fourth to break a 1-1 deadlock, and winning pitcher Lloyd Joyce held on to his lead in spite of a three-run rally staged by the Pirates in the bottom of the sixth inning. The Pirates beat the Sox, 5-1, in their first meeting of the year.

In another top game played this past week, the Colts edged by the Sox, 6-4, as Ruben Martinez and Troy Patton scored in the top of the seventh to break a 4-4 tie in an extra-inning affair. Then, in the bottom of the seventh, Colt relief pitcher Bobby Patton walked the first two Sox batters before striking out the next two, and then got Rual Guardo to ground out to the second baseman to preserve the Colts' third win of the season.

In other action, the Pirates won their fourth game by slipping by the Cubs, 7-6, last Thursday, with Ricky Dunn picking up the win. Monday night, the Sox clobbered the winless Giants, 19-2, as Sam Johnson and Rual Guardo scored three runs each for the winners.

In the final game of the first round, the Cubs took the measure of the Cards, 15-11, after scoring a whopping 12 runs in the first inning. The Cards scored six in the first and three in the third to narrow the margin, but the Cubs added three insurance runs in the late innings to preserve the win for winning pitcher Tino Sahala.

FINAL FIRST ROUND STANDINGS
 Pirates — won 5 lost 0;
 Cubs — won 3 lost 2;
 Colts 38 won 3 lost 2;
 Cards — won 2 lost 3;
 Sox — won 2 lost 3;
 Giants — won 0 lost 5.

Ms. Sinclair gives program for Tops

Mrs. Jane Sinclair gave the program for the Tops Club meeting May 12 at 8:30 a.m. in Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Sinclair demonstrated making flowers from scraps of shag rug using a styro foam ball, pieces of wire, hair spray and florist tape.

The meeting was opened with a prayer and the Tops song. Thought for the day was "The trouble with being a parent is that by the time you are experienced, you are unemployable."

Gene Bridges and Donletti Chesair had the most weight loss for the week.

A new contest was started with the winner being the member with a perfect attendance at the meetings and a consistent weight loss.

Attending were: Rita Thomas, Marie Adams, Ludene Taylor, Mildred Oden, Wilma Dulle, Nellie Fincher, Gene Bridges, Donletti Chesair, Odessa Daniel, Brenda Gardner, Ruby Davis and Jane Sinclair.

The recent rains and humid weather could be a factor in the spread of screw-worm flies. During April 13 cases were confirmed in Texas, compared to only one case for the same month a year ago. Livestock producers should continue to check animals for possible worm cases. When infested wounds are found, a sample of the worms should be collected and mailed to the Mission Laboratory for possible identification. Local county agents have collection kits available.

Telephone contract negotiations open

Negotiations were scheduled to begin May 19 on a new contract between the Communications Workers of America and General Telephone of the Southwest. Opening session is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. at the Rainada Inn in San Angelo.

The current three-year contract is due to expire June 27.

Mrs. Rose attends 'Right to Read' seminar in Dallas

Mrs. Neal Rose, Curriculum Coordinator for the Morton I.S.D., attended a one day seminar in Dallas on THE RIGHT TO READ. The seminar was one of eight sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education and this regional group comprised of 150 representatives from Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Arkansas. Attendance at the meeting was by invitation only.

On July 31, 1970, President Nixon announced the appointment of 40 men and women to serve on the National Reading Council, a supervisory board to a new national reading program. In order to measure the extent of reading deficiencies in the United States, the Council commissioned Louis Harris and Associates, Inc. to make a study. This study would determine the percentage of Americans lacking the functional or practical reading skills necessary to "survive" or progress in this country. The Council and the U. S. Commissioner of Education set as their goal for the end of the 70's - that the right to read shall be a reality for all.

Ask a mayor, a school superintendent, a ghetto parent, a business executive, a labor official or a television producer about the causes and treatment of America's reading problem and you are likely to get six different answers. Ask them where the major responsibility lies for helping the estimated 25 to 30 million adults and youngsters who have difficulty reading well - and the three million adults who cannot read at all - and your answers are likely to be equally varied. All the answers may be right for this failure stems from a variety of causes and conditions.

The basic premise of the seminars is that the job of improving reading competence is too big and complex for the schools to handle alone. Cooperation of government agencies, volunteer organizations, and representatives of the mass media are needed to assemble and develop support for programs designed to reach all who need reading help, including the large number of inadequate readers who are beyond school age.

It is hoped that a RIGHT TO READ COUNCIL may soon be formed in Morton and the groundwork laid for promising programs.

received solid approval by a vote of 169 for and 89 against.

The Cochran county vote by precinct was as follows:

Precinct One - Amendment One, 50 for, 88 against; Amendment Two, 38 for, 90 against; Amendment Three, 77 for, 85 against; Amendment Four, 112 for, 25 against. Total vote, 142.

Precinct Two - Amendment One, 20 for, 36 against; Amendment Two, 21 for, 36 against; Amendment Three, 26 for, 31 against; Amendment Four, 37 for, 19 against. Total vote, 57.

Precinct Three - Amendment One, 10 for, 33 against; Amendment Two, 4 for, 29 against; Amendment Three, 14 for, 18 against; Amendment Four, 9 for, 24 against. Total vote, 33.

Precinct Four - Amendment One, 2 for, 27 against; Amendment Two, 3 for, 25 against; Amendment Three, 8 for, 21 against; Amendment Four, 10 for, 19 against. Total vote, 29.

Although state totals were not complete at press time, the trend has been sufficiently established to assure the passage of only the one proposed amendment, that of issuance of quality water bonds. The welfare amendment count was fairly close, but the other two, the ethics and the easier amendment tallies were overwhelmingly against.

COUNTY AGENT NEWS

From the Office of Roy L. McClung, Jr.

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of weekly articles on narrow-row cotton production. Other articles will feature weed control, planting, irrigation, fertility, insect and disease control and harvesting.)

A bright future is lingering on the horizon for South Plains cotton producers as they move into narrow-row production. But choosing the wrong variety for this type of production could be a disaster.

Dr. Levon Ray, who heads up the cotton breeding program at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock, points out that "varietal selection is the key to successful narrow-row cotton production. And, the right variety may not be the one which the producer has found best for conventional row spacing."

"Certain characteristics adapt a variety to narrow rows," explains Ray. "Our research program at the Center has identified some of these. First of all, the plant should be small in stature - short in height with short limbs. The variety should produce minimum vegetative growth.

Small leaves are also advantageous as they allow light to penetrate into the plant canopy, thereby allowing normal development."

The type of row spacing to be used will affect varietal selection, contends the cotton breeder. Much of the narrow-row cotton will probably be planted double-row - two rows spaced 10 to 16 inches apart on the bed - or in rows spaced uniformly 18 to 26 inches apart. With these row spacings, producers have a much wider choice of varieties than with grain-drilled row widths (7 to 12 inches). In fact, most early maturing, High Plains varieties will perform satisfactorily in double-row or other intermediate-row spacing patterns, Ray points out.

"Varieties such as Blightmaster, Acala and Western Stormproof that are late-maturing and vegetative will generally be poor performers in narrow rows," says Ray. "Even if these varieties did yield more in narrow rows, the large plants would be difficult to harvest."

For the very narrow rows (10 inches or less), variety selection is even more critical. According to the researcher, the potential of narrow-row production cannot be attained with any of the presently available varieties. However, several of the early, close-fruiting varieties have performed well in such row spacings. These include Gregg 35, Rilecot 90, Stripper Lockett 4789A, Little's Special and Blackco 3363.

Certain other varieties which are similar in earliness and plant characteristics may perform well in narrow rows, adds Ray. However, these have not been tested at the A&M Center.

"We are in the process of developing new varieties specifically for narrow-row production," says Ray. "They will greatly enhance the potential of narrow rows for increasing yield, improving fiber quality and lowering production costs. The first of these should be on the market in 1973. Such varieties will allow South Plains producers to make one of the most spectacular advancements in cotton production since the introduction of the stormproof boll and once-over, mechanical harvesting."

narcotics in order to command the attention of his parents.

Walker explained the various sections of the penal code that pertain to drug abuse and defined the penalties assessed for each type of offense. He further explained the limits to what law enforcement officers can and cannot do in investigating and enforcing the law as it pertains to narcotics.

The latter portion of the meeting was taken up by a question and answer period, with individuals in the audience directing their questions at the person on the program who was most competent in the field dealt with by the question.

Following the program a static display of a large variety of drugs and drug-producing plants were on display in the lobby for viewing and familiarization by the audience.

Area youth to attend Salvation Army camp training program

For most young boys, the arrival of summertime means daydreaming about hiking, swimming and horseback riding at a summer camp, and for 5 boys from Morton, Whiteface and Bledsoe that dream will come true this summer at The Salvation Army's 370-acre Camp Hoblitzelle.

The boys, sponsored by the Cochran Co. Salvation Army Service Unit Committee, will spend a full week exploring the wonders of camp life. They will join the 800 other boys from 326 Service Unit cities across Texas who will attend one of the four Service Unit camps.

Harold Drennan, camp chairman, said the youngsters will leave by car on June 6, and return June 13.

Attending camp from Morton, Whiteface and Bledsoe are Mario Gonzales, Rolando Lucio, Alfred Herlocher, Steven Brown, and Lewis Perez.

"The camp offers boys this camping experience at no cost to them, and most of these boys would not otherwise have the opportunity to attend a summer camp," said Drennan.

Camp Hoblitzelle, located seven miles south of Midlothian, was built through the generous gifts of more than one hundred men and women of Texas. Each year approximately 3,500 people attend one of the sixteen different camp sessions.

The camp features a 25-acre lake for fishing and boating. Campers are housed in attractive brick and redwood cabins and enjoy well-prepared meals served in the camp's own dining room.

Activities vary from swimming, sports and horseback riding to crafts, games, Bible study and worship services.

It's just like any boy ever dreamed it would be.

Bledsoe soldier in experimental unit

Army Private Paul G. Row, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert O. Row, Box 66, Bledsoe, is assigned to Fort Ord, California where he is training under the modern volunteer army field experiment.

The new concept, called Volar, combines basic and advanced individual training into a single 16-week program. Decentralized instruction at the unit level and a reduction of formations and inspections gives the soldier more time to train and increased off-duty time. Fewer restrictions on off-duty travel and improved living facilities are other benefits of the Volar concept.

Pvt. Row entered the army in March 1971 and is scheduled to complete the Volar program in mid-July.

His wife, Margret, also lives in Bledsoe.
