FIFTEEN CENTS

PIPELINE GOING IN--Work is well underway on the natural gas pipeline that will soon be furnishing energy to the city of Morton residents and businesses. Construction of the 13-mile line, by the Panhandle construction Company reached high gear last week and is expected to be finished in a matter of weeks.

Property taxes bearing less of load in county

How much of the money needed for local governmental operations in Cochran County comes from property taxes?

Do these taxes produce a greater or a smaller proportion of locally-raised revenue than they do in other communities?

Property taxes have always been the chief source of such revenue in most sections of the county and they still are. But they no longer carry as large a share of the load as they did in former years.

With cities and counties requiring more money each year to provide necessary public services, which have been growing more expensive because of the rising cost of labor and materials, they have been forced to increase existing taxes and to seek additional revenue from other sources.

As for property taxes, they have reached the point in many communities at which attempts to boost them any higher are meeting with stern resistance.

In Cochran County, according to the latest findings of the Department of Commerce, approximately 67.1 per cent of the revenue obtained from local sources comes from property taxes.

In other communities across the country, an average of 63.5 per cent is from such sources and, in the State of Texas, 60.0 per cent.

The relative importance of the property tax has been offset, in many localities, by the newer taxes that have been imposed in the last decade or so, such as the gross sales tax and the local income tax. The yield on these two has increased three-fold in the past 10 years.

As a result, although the property tax is now producing $50.9 billion a year nationally, as against $22.6 billion in 1965, it represents a much smaller proportion of the total collection.

PRICE UNDER PRESSURE

Record wheat harvest underway

Harvesting of a record wheat crop is under way, and pressure is mounting on the prices farmers receive for their crop.

Roland D. Smith, grain marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, sees wheat prices at the $2.75-$3 per bushel level during the coming weeks as the 1975 crop moves to market.

"Harvesting of the estimated two-billion-bushel crop is gaining momentum in the wheat producing areas," points out Smith, "although late winter weather and heavy spring rains caused earlier delays. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture crop report of June 10, the Texas wheat crop is estimated at 132 million bushels, more than double last year's output."

The specialist feels that early harvested wheat will be marketed on schedule but that a considerable amount will be stored in elevators as the harvest progresses and prices begin to decline.

City sales tax rebate grows higher each month

Comptroller Bob Bullock sent checks worth $28.8 million Friday to more than 800 towns and cities in the third round of monthly city sales tax rebates. The city of Morton check was in the amount of $3,446.94.

Bullock said the June payments were considerably higher than the previous two months because of big end-of-the-quarter tax payments made by merchants following the April 30 deadline for reporting taxes they collected from the public in January, February and March.

Bullock converted the city sales tax payments to a monthly system in April to get away from the old quarterly rebate system which had been in use since the start of the city sales tax and which forces cities to wait 60 to 90 days for their money.

"The interest alone at six per cent on the $16 million we paid in April and the $19.9 million we paid in May was worth a good quarter of a million dollars to the cities just by not having to wait

County highway accident toll light in May

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated four accidents on rural highways in Cochran County during the month of May, 1975, according to Sergeant H.E. Pirtle, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no persons killed and one person injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first five months of 1975 shows a total of 17 accidents resulting in one person killed and seven persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for May, 1975, shows a total of 524 accidents resulting in 17 persons killed and 310 persons injured as compared to May, 1974, with 406 accidents resulting in 25 persons killed and 218 persons injured. This was 118 more accidents, eight less killed, and 92 more injured in 1975 at the same period of time.

Cannon AFB planning civil fly-in seminar

An orientation seminar civil fly-in is planned by Cannon Air Force Base, Clovis, New Mexico, for Saturday, July 12.

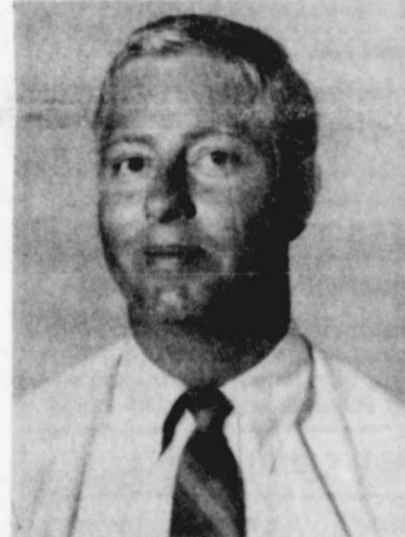

The seminar is under the auspices of the 832nd Air Division, commanded by Brigadier General Robinson Risner and the 27th Tactical Fighter Wing commanded by Colonel John H. Bennett.

The purpose of this seminar is to acquaint the general aviation populace with the military operations conducted by the F-111 aircraft of the 27th Tactical Fighter Wing and thereby to enhance flying safety for all concerned.

Cannon AFB will be open for arrivals at 7:30 AM, MDT. Breakfast will be served at the Officers Club 8:00 to 9:15 AM, compliments of the 832nd Air Division and the 27th Tactical Fighter Wing.

Two copies of Air Force Forms 180, Hold Harmless Agreement, must be filled out by each participant and one copy mailed to 27 CSG-OTB, Cannon AFB, NM, 88101, so as to arrive at Cannon AFB prior to 12 July 1975. The second copy of the form should be carried aboard the participating aircraft. These forms are available at the Cochran County Judges office.

America's will to fight steeled at Bunker Hill Battle in June 1775

On June 17 two hundred years ago one of the most famous battles of the American Revolution occurred. Even though its military importance was not very significant, and it was an American defeat, it has come to be a very symbolic event primarily because it reflected the courage and the willingness of the Americans to fight.

Actions to further aid the troops at Boston and the appointment of George Washington as commander-in-chief had occurred only days before, but they had no significance at Bunker Hill. On June 16, the day before the battle, Col. Richard Gridley was named as the first chief engineer of the Continental Army by Congress. He was already on the scene in Boston and had designed the defense works at Bunker Hill.

Events leading to the battle began in May as both sides reinforced their positions. American forces in the area numbered approximately 10,000 men. General Gage, the British commander, issued a proclamation on June 12 that imposed martial law, declared Americans in arms to be rebels and traitors, and offered to pardon all who would swear allegiance except for Sam Adams and John Hancock.

The battle came when American forces decided to occupy and arm Reed's Hill that overlooked Boston. Fighting started early on the morning of June 17 when the American activity was discovered. The fighting, which actually occurred on Breed's Hill, was fierce. Twice the British were driven off; but on his third attack, General Howe's men, reinforced by forces of Sir Henry Clinton, forced the Americans into a retreat which soon became a near rout.

Even though the British won, it was a costly victory. Among the 1,054 British casualties a large number were officers. American losses were 100 dead, 267 wounded, and 30 captured. One of those killed was Joseph Warren, one of the better orators of Massachusetts and long a leader in the radical cause.

The British had not won very much in this battle, but they had learned a lesson: the Americans would not meekly accept the dictates of the British government any longer.

One of the most serious matters in Texas was the abandonment of the northeastern frontier. The Indians of this region were of crucial importance to the Spanish because if they came under the influence of the French or other foreign powers the threat to Spanish control was obvious. In addition, if these tribes remained friendly they might also be used against enemies of the Spaniards, especially the Apaches and the Comanches.

Therefore, the residents of Adaes, now in San Antonio, were hopeful that their petition to return to the northeast might be granted. Donald W. Whisenand, history professor, Eastern New Mexico University.

One Thing In Common...Two Above Failing...Five More Approved...Sheep, Lamb Feeding Less Than Half.

Texas farmers-from the High Plains to the Rio Grande Valley-have one thing in common for the next several weeks. Harvest of the 1975 crops is underway.

But there is a contrast. While farmers in the northern part of the state get into wheat harvest, those in the southern sections are combining sorghum and getting ready to harvest cotton. Farmers on the High Plains are finishing planting of cotton for this season.

Delays have also been noted in harvests throughout the state due to rains. Wheat harvest is around the 20 per cent completion mark in the state.

IF YOU WENT TO SCHOOL many years ago, you'll recall that any grade you made below 70 was considered failing. Agriculture, based on that grading system, is just barely above failure in its recent parity ratio figure.

The latest parity figure is now a 72; that's three points above a month ago, but six points under a year ago at this time. Of the 26 commodities listed by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, only three are above parity. They are oats, which is 13 cents per bushel above parity, mohair, at 21 cents above parity, and sheep, 70 cents above parity.

Calves and cotton continue to be glaring examples of disparity. The average calf price in Texas is set at 26 cents per pound; parity for calves is 67.10 cents per pound. Cotton price average in the state is 31.1 cents per pound. Parity for that commodity is 77.12 cents per pound.

Even hog prices - which have shown dramatic price rises in recent months-continue below parity. The average hog price in Texas is $43.30; parity is set at $47.50. In other livestock prices, beef cattle averaged $33.80 (that's up $3.10 from a month ago), parity is $54.90.

In crop prices, the wheat price average of around $3 per bushel is more than $1.50 under parity. Grain sorghum about a dollar under parity.

Egg prices at 52 cents per dozen are 23 cents under parity. Turkey prices at 35 cents per pound are a dime under parity.

RED MEAT PRODUCTION in Texas during April is up 25 per cent from a year ago, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes.

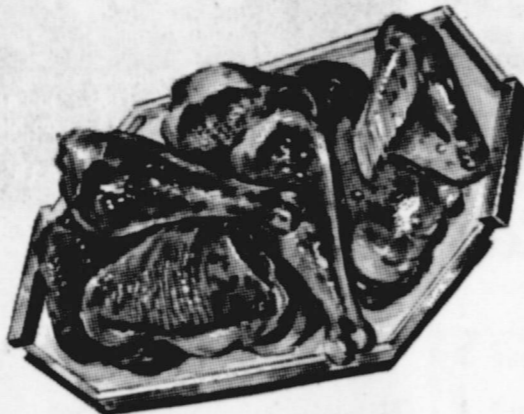

April slaughter of cattle totaled 398,000 head, which was 95,000 more than a year ago. The calf kill for April was 45,500 head, which is an increase of 35,800 head over a year ago.

Hog slaughter during the first four months of this year was down eight per cent from the previous year.

"In addition to the expected record harvest in the United States, limited exports and an expected increase in world wheat production also will have a dampening effect on the prices U.S. farmers receive for their wheat," points out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"Wheat exports are well behind USDA projected levels of 1.1 million bushels, meaning a larger carryover than expected. Of course, the cancellation of wheat contracts by Turkey (some 18.6 million bushels) was a damaging blow. Now importers are counting on the big crop to push prices lower before they have to buy. India is the only significant single buyer of the new-crop wheat."

World wheat production in 1975 should be some 7 per cent above last year, according to the International Wheat Council. There is still much concern over the all-important USSR crop, but recent rains were reported to have alleviated some of the dry conditions.

"This increase in world production is expected to enhance the competition for wheat exports during the coming year," contends Smith. "The European Common Market has enacted an export subsidy to undercut current U.S. wheat prices."

On the brighter side, some expansion of wheat feeding is expected this summer, with the possibility that wheat usage as feed may reach 200 million bushels, according to the specialist.

"Animal nutritionists say that wheat can be substituted in cattle rations up to 35-40 per cent. Wheat prices are already competitive with feedgrains in some of the Plains states where feedgrains are in short supply due to a poor crop last year. Wheat at $2.85 per bushel would be at about a break-even price with corn at $2.67 per bushel. This situation might help set a floor price for wheat, although livestock feeding is still limited."

"Farmer selling intentions are critical consideration in price projections," believes Smith, "since they control virtually 100 per cent of the wheat supply this year. Last year wheat producers held their crop past harvest, partially resulting in higher prices received."

The specialist contends more wheat will likely be stored in Texas and Oklahoma this year if prices fall much below the $3 level. North Texas elevators are reporting limited selling at harvest. Furthermore, wheat producer organizations are advocating "orderly marketing" to insure better prices for growers.

"The wheat market is quite weather-oriented now and will be through July," says Smith. "Good harvest weather will mean a record crop and that will put pressure on the wheat market. Wheat as well as other grain producers will have to pay particular attention to the market situation this year to get the most for their crops," he adds.

Cotton Talks

The weight of current evidence slightly favors a "gradual improvement" in cotton markets over the near-term, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice-President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and a number of factors point to substantially better markets over the next few years.

These were conclusions drawn by the High Plains cotton producer organization executive in a talk before the Board of Directors of the Texas Cotton Ginners Association at a meeting May 29 at Lubbock's South Park Inn.

"Based on the information we have been able to gather over the past week," Johnson said, "it is improbable that U.S. cotton plantings in 1975 will reach the 9.9 million acres indicated by USDA's March 1 planting intentions survey." Acreage is more likely to be around 9 million or a little above, Johnson stated.

Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas, plagued by excess rainfall during the planting season, are three of the states where cotton acreage may fall well below earlier expectations. In Mississippi, for example, where USDA on March 1 projected 1.2 million acres, informed sources now report that the total will be no more than 900,000 and could be somewhat less. Should Mississippi's cotton fall below 900,000 acres, it would be the smallest acreage in that state since 1866.

Along with low acreage Johnson cited generally late crops and far from ideal weather conditions to date as further indications that U.S. cotton production in 1975 may fall a million bales or more below an expected domestic and export combined offtake of around 10 million bales.

The projected 6 million bale carryover on August 1 of this year and currently slack demand would rule against a strong or sudden upsurge in prices this fall or early 1976, he continued, "but more unfavorable weather and/or a pickup in textile demand could change that picture very quickly."

On demand for textile products, Johnson said there are indications of an upturn, "but these are not yet firm enough nor convincing enough to put mills into any sustained buying mood."

For his long-range bullishness on Texas cotton, Johnson leans heavily on the movement of textile producing capacity to Texas and the Southwest.

"We are now at the point of significant industry development, particularly in the area of open-end spinning," he said, "and this will strengthen the position of Texas cotton both here and in the rest of the world."

4-H Ecology Conference set at Brownwood Center

Texas 4-H youth will learn more about wise management and utilization of natural resources at the upcoming ninth annual Texas 4-H Ecology Conference.

The four-day event begins June 24 at the Texas 4-H Center here, announces Tom Davison, 4-H and youth specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the parent organization of 4-H.

Some 78 teenage 4-H boys and girls along with 13 4-H adult leaders will be studying ecology through workgroups in forestry, wildlife, range, soil and water, environmental quality and outdoor recreation. Each work group will be led by an Extension Service specialist in that particular field.

The conference will also feature a number of keynote speakers, according to Davison. They include Dr. Fred Smeins, professor of range science at Texas A&M University; Ben Sims, a rancher at Paint Rock;

Lewis Stumburg of San Antonio, a commissioner of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department; and Lanny Dreesen, a graduate student in forest science at Texas A&M.

"The conference provides for in-depth study of the many ecological implications between man and the natural resources," points out Davison. "The four-day event should be an excellent learning experience for all involved and should help participants interpret information and develop their own personal opinions about the use of natural resources."

In addition to work sessions, there will also be time for fun and recreation, adds the 4-H specialist.

Sponsors of the conference are the Federal Cartridge Corporation and the Texas Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

IS THE CHURCH PART OF YOUR LIFE?

PICNIC MORNING

Happiness is a picnic morning. Happiness is a day spent with the family. Happiness is walking and talking and sharing the fun and beauty of God's world with those you love.

A picnic is always a happy idea. Somehow, just getting away from the daily routine does wonders. The sound of a cool waterfall, the rustle of a bird on the wing, the warmth of a friendly sun, all of it makes you "come alive" with a new kind of freshness.

There is another place where we all may renew our strength for the times we live in. The atmosphere, fellowship, and inspirational teachings of your church will do much to keep you walking happy. Spend next Sunday morning in church.

Jaclyn Claye

has her say

DEAR JACLYN: This is the first marriage for me and the second for my husband. My life is a nightmare. The truth is, I have discovered that I cannot stand his kids. He has four from his previous marriage and they are absolutely uncontrollable. In addition, I am not much older than two of them and I have absolutely no authority around here. Jaclyn, I hate them. Every one. They are all driving me crazy, and my husband is of no use in this situation since he is not in the least, authoritarian. The truth is, I want to be married to him but I don't want to play servant to his kids. I don't care if he sees this printed in the paper so you can print my whole name. Signed L-----S-----

DEAR L-----S----- No, I won't print your full name, and you had better get a good grip on yourself. There is positively no comfortable way out of your dilemma. If your husband can't help you, neither can I. If you want your marriage to continue, you're just going to have to cope. It might be wise to have a long talk with one of the more agreeable youngsters (if you can find one) and try to enlist some help from the ranks of the enemy. The only other alternative is an ended marriage.

DEAR JACLYN: My only daughter gave birth to our only grandchild and naturally I'm interested in how she looks after the little boy. I approve of almost everything she does except this: she lets the cat share the same crib with the child during the afternoon nap. Jaclyn, this is dangerous. I once heard that a large tom cat tried to eat a child because it smelled milk on it. I told my daughter about this, but she just laughs it off. It's true though, isn't it? — A GRANDMOTHER.

DEAR GRANDMOTHER: I've never heard that one before, but I would tell your daughter, that at the very least, the idea is unsanitary... and at the very worst, there is always the possibility of suffocation. It's a bad practice.

DEAR JACLYN WALLACE: I am sick and tired of reading in your column, of your continuous efforts to save failing marriages. You seem to advise women to stay with their husbands even if they are absolute rotters. Let me tell you that my ex-husband rained hell upon my life for seven years until he finally walked out. For about a month, I grieved terribly. Then I started to pick up the pieces of my life and I have not had a happier time in all my years before. I choose my partners at will, and then I send them home. I have no tempers to deal with and no daily negotiations. The next time someone writes you on how to save a failing marriage, advise them to let it fail. Signed, Independent.

DEAR INDEPENDENT: It didn't disturb me at all to receive your comments. Since your letter fails to mention children, I would suppose that yours was a childless marriage. If that is the case, I applaud your courage and your candor. But I have been addressing myself, for the most part, to those women who have children as part of a failing marriage. It's a different situation. And again, I advise young girls and women who read this now, and are contemplating getting married: Avoid having children for at least five years or until you are absolutely certain that your husband is worth the risk. Once you have a child, you are entirely at his mercy. If he is a healthy, mature man, there will be joy in the experience. If he is somewhat of a child himself, there is no room for additional children in your life. I never weep at weddings. But I do weep when some girl, who is close to me, has her first-born.

NOLA KAY BOWLEY

Nola Kay Bowley has been employed as a summer aid at the Morton Soil Conservation Service office. Nola was employed as part of the summer employment program for youth. The program is designed to provide valuable work and training for young people from all segments of our society.

The primary objective of the summer employment program for youth is to accomplish needed work in advancement of agency missions through the temporary employment of youths. A secondary objective is to set an example to employers throughout the nation in providing meaningful employment for our nation's young people, which will provide them not only an opportunity to earn money and enrich their career goals, but also to learn more about activities of their Government.

SOLOMON P. HAMILTON on the right receives a certificate and pin, from District Conservationist, Bob Walkup, for completing 10 years with the Soil Conservation Service. Hamilton, a 1954 graduate of Prairie View A&M, started to work with the SCS in 1967, at Beaumont, where he worked for one year. He moved to Morton in August of 1972. His ten years of Federal service also includes 3 years of Army time. He is married to the former Carolyn Payton of Livingston and they have one son, Shannon who is 4 years old.

EVERYTHING IS BEAUTIFUL. The mini parks on vacant lots around the square are enhancing the looks of downtown Morton. Pictured are Mrs. Ralph Ware and Mrs. Weldon Wynn planting flowers. Both ladies are members of the Y.M. Study Club who have taken charge of the park on the eastside of the square.

Doris Smith services set in Levelland

Services for Mrs. Doris Smith of Whiteface will be held at 10 a.m. in the George C. Price Funeral Chapel in Levelland with Grandell Forehand of the Slaton Church of Christ officiating.

Burial will be in Resthaven Memorial Park in Lubbock under direction of the George C. Price Funeral Directors.

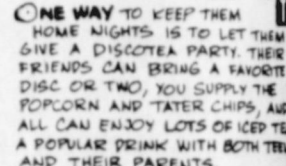

Mrs. Smith, 41, died at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in St. Joseph's Hospital in Houston following a lengthy illness. A resident of Whiteface since 1970, she had been employed with the school system. She had been a former Levelland resident and was a member of the Sundown Methodist Church.

Survivors include her husband, David L.; two sons, Guy Matthew of Lubbock and Paul of Whiteface; her mother, Mrs. Guy Swain of Sundown; and two brothers, Jack Swain of Sundown and Bob Swain of Lovington, N.M.

Fifty Years of Quality Education

Texas Tech University in Lubbock opened its doors in 1925 to 910 students and has been growing since. It now has approximately 22,000 students enrolled in six colleges, the Graduate School and the School of Law. There are 128 enrolled in the new School of Medicine.

Academic excellence is the constant goal of the University. This goal has been the motivating force which has contributed to the growth of the institution during the first half century of service.

Matured by the past, Texas Tech looks forward to the challenges of the future as it celebrates its fiftieth year of quality education.
