

Invasion From Outer Space Feared Sunday!

Weird occurrences in the Floydada community have residents buzzing about creatures from outer space! A few persons have even left their homes for the weekend.

What he believes was a "flying saucer" was sighted approximately four miles northeast of town just after dark Thursday by Art Ratzlaff. He said the strange object was in flight at a high rate of speed.

"I've never seen a plane moving anything that fast," Ratzlaff informed The Hesperian.

BRIGHT RAYS
He noted that brilliantly colored rays of light were being transmitted from the "saucer," which was in the shape of a "hub cap."

Ratzlaff estimates that he was within "a mile or two" of the object, but "it was traveling so fast I only viewed it for a matter of seconds."

While driving north of town that night, Tommy Cathey also caught a glimpse of the strange flying device, although from a greater distance. He confirmed Ratzlaff's story about the rapid speed and the brilliant lights. Cathey said the lighting "looked some what like twinkle lights on a Christmas tree."

Bill Kincaid was able to capture the weird sight on film, thanks to a telescopic lenses. It is shown at right.

CREATURES SPOTTED
In a perhaps related development, the Rev. Jim Smith, pastor of First United Methodist Church, heard "most unusual noises" Thursday evening at his residence, 127 West Kentucky. He noted that shrill, high-pitched sounds were somewhat like garbled voices.

Rev. Smith caught a glimpse of "two or three objects about three feet tall" as they raced around the corner of his house after he was awakened by the noises. Unlike animals, the creatures were running on two "spidery legs."

Some panic stricken residents are particularly apprehensive because two words "invasion" and "Sunday" were legible from an apparent coded message found scribbled in dirt near the Malvin Jarboe residence in West Floydada.

Could this mean that creatures from outer space plan a rendezvous Sunday in this area?
After all, that is April 1.....

Jail Improvement Decision Pends

County Judge Choise Smith, Commissioners Bob Jarrett, Aaron Carther, Grigsby Milton and Jack Lackey, and Sheriff Fred Cardinal plan to leave Monday morning enroute to Austin for a visit with Robert O. Viterna, acting executive director of the Texas Commission on Jail Standards.

Marvin Stiles of the Stiles & Stiles architectural firm of Lubbock is to meet the group in Austin.

Judge Smith said Friday afternoon that Floyd County officials have an appointment with Viterna "to see if there is any grant money available" with which to update the county jail to reach compliance with regulations handed down by the Texas Commission on Jail Standards. Other matters also will be examined.

Viterna was contacted Friday morning by Judge Smith, via phone.

$501,000 PROJECT

When bids for a jail addition and remodeling project were opened at 2 p.m. Thursday, the county governing body learned that the low bids would total approximately $501,000. This includes detention equipment and the architect's fee.

Five base bids were received, all from Lubbock firms. Two companies submitted sealed bids on detention equipment (cells).

The latter was "what really shocked us," Judge Smith noted. The lowest bid was $138,700. This compares with "about $60,000 for the same work a year ago." An increase in steel prices is responsible for a portion of the drastic hike.

FIVE BIDS
Each of the five companies bidding on the expansion and renovation project submitted base bids plus alternates for an elevator, roof, and windows for the existing building.

Opened by Judge Smith and read by Stiles, the bids were (base, alternates one, two and three shown):

Lost Arts — Found!

"Come on board the Century III Ship at the Massie Activity Center in Floydada on Tuesday, April 3, and rediscover the world of creative arts," according to County Extension Agent Sharon Hillis.

Beginning with coffee and registration from 9:15 a.m., continuous teaching demonstrations will be given from 10 a.m.-3:30 p.m. on making yogurt, cheese, wall hangings and quilting (both machine and hand stitching).

"Each person attending will receive a complete packet of materials including recipes, instructions and patterns to enable you to create your own special designs for your home and family," the agent says. (Check this week's column for further information.)

A special luncheon treat will be from 12:00-1:00 p.m. "Bring your favorite salad and enjoy the favorites of others, too," Ms. Hillis notes.

What is the cost to you? Your time. Mark Tuesday, April 3, a red letter day designed especially for you and come join us in rediscovering exciting lost arts that you can learn to create in one day to use every day in your home, the agent adds.

'We Had Fun In That Canyon'

Clara Day Murry Recalls Early Floyd County

J.J. (Uncle Joe) Day drove a covered wagon from Mason County to Floyd County in April 1886 to carve out a new life in a hard, barren frontier. He often remarked that he arrived with "a wife, a baby, and 35 cents."

"Grandmother Sarah Day" accompanied her young son, daughter-in-law, and grandson.

Both the widowed Mrs. Day and her son, J.J., bought 160 acres of government land. The price: $1 per acre.

They chose land nestled in Blanco Canyon (site of the present Floydada Country Club). This site offered them water from a running creek, firewood, and protection in the canyon from the weather's severe elements.

FOLLOW DUNCANS HERE

The Days followed by two years the arrival of Floyd County's first white settlers, the Arthur B. Duncan family. Mrs. Duncan was the former Kizzie Day, daughter of "Grandmother Day" and twin sister of J.J. Day.

The Duncans had settled "four to five miles east" now part of Montgometry ranch location chosen by the Days.

Amid this virtual wilderness which was part of the last frontier of the Lone Star State, the Day family grew from a single son, 18-months-old Melvin, when they came to Floyd County to three sons and three daughters: Myrtle (Mertie), Clara, Bertha, Joe Jr. (Jody), and Chester. The last son was born in 1912 after the Days had a "new house." Their third child — Clara Day Murry — may be the oldest "native-born" resident of Floyd County today.

A resident of Floydada Nursing Home since July 1977, Mrs. Murry is bothered by failing sight but her mind and sense of humor are keen.

REMEMBERS HISTORY

She perhaps has seen greater changes in this county than any living human. And many of these happenings are embedded in her memory!

Among her early friends was the late Maude Duncan Hollums, first white girl born in Floyd County. The women were cousins.

Clara's first home was a half dugout on the side of a Blanco Canyon hill. Later, the Days built a two-room house and a half dugout "on top."

"There was no Floydada" when Martha Florence (Aunt Mattie) Starkey Day — Clara's mother — "ran a post office in our half dugout home." This was the only county post office except the one at Estacado. Starkey Community was named in honor of Mrs. Day.

Her husband "performed more early day weddings than anyone," his daughter believes. In addition to being a farmer and rancher, Uncle Joe Day was a Church of Christ minister.

'PAPA HARD WORKER'
"We raised hogs, cows, and chickens," recalls Mrs. Murry, who quickly adds that "Papa was a hard worker."

He built three rows of rock fences across the canyon to hold his hogs. Clara Day drove a horse team-drawn wagon bearing rocks through the canyon as her father erected the fence.

Life was rugged in those early days in Floyd County, but "we had lots of fun in that old canyon." The Day children were educated at home by their mother until the Starkey School was opened. They were among the first youngsters to study there.

HEARTY CLAN

Not every early settler was as hearty as Uncle Joe and Aunt Mattie Day and their clan.

One neighbor, disillusioned by drought and the Plains' ruggedness, wanted to leave. He traded Uncle Joe 60 acres of land — adjoining the Day place — for a wagon and team. Day's holdings later totaled 600 acres.

The harsh land also bore its joys. Youngsters often set trotlines in the creek at night. "The next morning, we would have the biggest, nicest fish. We would take them home and fry them for breakfast."

A favorite pastime was gathering wild grapes, plums, and currants for making jelly. This delicacy was a Winter treat.

Uncle Joe was a kindly man. He also

CLARA Day Murry, perhaps the oldest living Floyd County resident born in this county, admires her flowers at Floydada Nursing Home, where she resides.

They plan to be married June 16th in the First United Methodist Church, Lockney. Miss McCarter is a 1977 graduate of Lockney High School and is employed at the First National Bank of Lockney. LOST ARTS — FOUND! Where? In Floyd County! When? April 3, 1979. What's Happening? Many of you have been looking for innovative ideas to express your creativeness—and save money! In response to your requests, "Lost Arts-Found" has been designated specifically for you!

To help you save money, express your creativeness and have fun doing it, you can learn to make your own cheese, yogurt, wall hangings, and quilts by machine or hand. Demonstrations for each of these four creative arts will be given at the Massie Activity Center in Floydada on Tuesday, April 3, 1979. Registration begins at 9:15 a.m. and demonstrations will be from 10 to 12 and 1:15 to 3:30 p.m. Bring your favorite salad and we will furnish drinks and other items for lunch. Packets with complete inspections, patterns, and recipes will be provided at the end of the day for each person participating! What is the cost to you? Your time. This special educational program is being made available without charge through the cooperation of the Floyd County Commissioner's Court with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Come join us and "rediscover" these lost arts just as Dr. Ilya Metchnikoff rediscovered yogurt at the turn of the century! Why has it been ignored for so long? The good doctor made it sound terrible when he said "yogurt is good for you." So smooth, tangy yogurt was dismissed for years as something for health zealots only! At last this cloudy image is clearing. Yogurt is moving up where it belongs—next to its highly regarded cousin, sour cream! In one respect yogurt is vastly different from sour cream: Because (hold on to your waistslines, gals) yogurt has only one third the calories! And it has the kind of calories that convert to energy, instead of an extra half inch around the middle! In addition to this bonus, it is smooth, elegant, good tasting and versatile. Serve it plain or mix with fruit, honey, preserves or use it as an ingredient in a recipe! An extra plus for yogurt is its low fat content and excellent source of both protein and calcium, not to mention its low cost - 10 cents a cup! Learn more about this old world favorite in modern American recipes on April 3!

Right now let's look at another old world favorite — quilting! If you have seen one of the latest issues (April 1979) of one of the most popular women's magazines, you noticed something different in the home decor—that's right, you guessed it—a quilt! Where? Over the fireplace mantle! And if you looked inside the magazine, you found it used in a wall hanging, bed coverlet etc! I recently visited a lovely home in Dallas where the young homemaker displayed an exquisite quilt she had made for her husband's newly redecorated office and presented him for Christmas! Her hubby's comments told me it made a hit!

On a bit of history! (And many thanks to my friend, Wanda Turner for providing us this information) Almost from the invention of weaving, a variety of quilting has existed. The Arabs learned quilting from the Chinese. When the crusaders "rescued" the Holy Lands from the Arabs, they also "rescued" quilting! They learned in a hurry that the Arabic quilted shirts would more effectively prevent their chain mail armor from chafing them than the single layer shirts they had been wearing!

European quilts were made of the finest and longest lasting materials that could be afforded and were handsomely embroidered or appliqued and then quilted. They were meant to last for at least a lifetime and were most often cherished and preserved.

The Dutch and English Colonists brought quilts to America to project themselves from the severe cold of the winters. Quilting was a favorite art in American Colonial and frontier homes and "quilting bees" were popular in towns and villages. Interesting and beautiful quilts designs were developed and passed on from generation to generation. Some quilt patterns portrayed historical events, others sentimental significance. The whole country is "quilt conscious". The making of quilts in the home has become astonishingly popular, even to the extent of entire families working together as a family project, interfering with bridge, shopping, and other club schedules!

A few years ago a quilt made of pieces of dress of Presidents Wives was offered for sale in Colorado for $25,000! Even the "Plain Jane" variety of quilts are going for $35 to $50, today—depending on where you make your purchase!

So, if you are looking for ways to save money or make "extra money," express your creativeness through these innovative ideas from yesterday's old world favorites! The person you share your talents with will be glad you did and you will, too! Join us — April 3!

Homebuilders Club Study

Current Iranian Situation

Homebuilders E.H. Club was hostess to the County Clubs at the Lighthouse on March 27. The lunch of hot chicken salad, green beans, relish dish, salads, hot garlic bread, cake and iced tea was enjoyed by all.

The program was given by Mrs. Carolyn Ramazani, a former Floydada girl who received many honors in 4-H work and in school. Mr. Ramazani, Carolyn and children lived in Chicago before moving to Iran. Carolyn and her children came back to Floydada a short time before the revolution started. Her husband will join them as soon as he can.

The beautiful prayer rugs, carvings, paintings, other artifacts and costumes were beautiful. The Iranian people are very kind and friendly.

Contrary to common belief the people are not all in the oil business, just the government, also the schools, resort places and many other investments.

Carolyn taught school "English" in her home, her students paid $15 an hour for the lessons.

The future of Iran is a big question. Time will tell how the new government will help or hinder the country. Carolyn and her family will stay in the U.S.

CENTURY III — LOST ARTS REDISCOVERED!

On page three we explored the arts of yogurt and quilt creativeness. And this article shares more about two other arts to be included in the "Lost Arts — Found" Program to be held at the Massie Activity Center in Floydada on Tuesday, April 3 from 9:15 a.m. to 3:15 p.m.

Wall hangings! These are beautiful! Easy to make! And inexpensive! You can make one for $2.00 to $5.00 — they retail at better department stores for $40.00-$50.00! Demonstrations for making the background along with four different designs for the wall hangings will be illustrated. Once you get the "hang of it", you can design your own patterns easily and efficiently. Patterns for all the demonstrations given will be provided for you in a packet along with other materials for making the cheese, yogurt, and quilts!

There will be four wall hangings illustrated! And who isn't looking for beautiful, but inexpensive home decor ideas! You can create an endless number of others just from learning the basic techniques of these four!

Now on to the art of cheese

Hester Moore Speaks 1950 Study Club

The March 6th meeting of the 1950 Study Club was held at the home of Ann Helms with Sunny McDonald assisting as hostess.

President Shirley Morton presided at the business meeting. Plans were made for a club trip to the Country Squire Theater in Lubbock April 17 with senior girls from Girlstown at Whiteface as special guests. It was announced that the club's nominee for First Lady of the Year, Helen Dunlap, had been selected for that honor. Club members were invited to attend the reception in her honor on March 11.

A new member, Nell Abram, was welcomed into the club.

Marie Brock Presents Progreso Program

"The first thing education teaches you is to walk alone."

To learn something of "Where we've been and where we are going in education" was the purpose of a meeting of the El Progreso Study Club in the home of Dimon Schacht, March 28, 1979. After delightful refreshments were served by the hostess, roll call was answered by telling of one's favorite teacher.

Secretary Kathrine Ball introduced Marie Brock who gave a most interesting program on our school systems. She stated that education may be compared to a wheel; the hub represents the basics of learning, reading, arithmetic and writing; the spokes represent the widening of the basics into individual areas, and the rim makes contact to all human beings. She gave a short history of education beginning 290 BC in Egypt, through Greek and Roman burden of gasoline rationing on southern and western rural workers. Texas residents would be required to buy ration coupons from coupon holders in the Northeast where per capita income is greater and per capita gasoline consumption is less. This would be the largest income transfer programs in the history of Big Government, Stenholm believes.

KILLER BEES NO LONGER PROBLEM
For years, we have heard horror stories about the killer bees of Brazil, which were headed our way. The killer bees are expected to reach Texas in six years: 1985. But, their danger has rapidly diminished and they no longer seem as an alarming threat. "They are still dangerous," says a Brazilian medical school official but "you have more change of being killed by a mad dog." Don't lie awake nights worrying about the killer bees' danger to Texans when they reach the Lone Star State.

Rewards Of 4-H Project Leader

By Birch L. Lobban
County Extension Agent
The basic ingredient in the 4-H program is the 4-H project. And the success that a 4-H member has with a project is largely dependent upon the project leader, points out Birch L. Lobban, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. As a project leader you have an excellent opportunity to help young people grow and develop in a rapidly changing world. The most important qualities you bring to your job as a 4-H leader are these:
— A strong belief in the basic worth of each individual as a human being.
— A commitment to the personal development of each individual.
— The ability to relate to children, parents and other volunteers. — An understanding that leadership can be fulfilling for both adults and youth. Your leadership is critical to the success of the 4-H program, emphasizes Lobban. Young people need relationships with adults who will recognize their need for good feelings about themselves and their need to develop meaningful relationships with other youth and adults. Young people also need to acquire subject-matter knowledge, physical skills and decision-making abilities. Your success as a leader does not depend on a blue-ribbon or the number of fair exhibits. The good things that happen through the 4-H program will be visible in the young people themselves — and in you. Do the young people feel good about themselves and the things they have done? Have they improved in relating to other young people and adults? Did you, the leader, enjoy working with the boys and girls? It is fun. According to Lobban, the single most important quality you bring to the job of a 4-H leader is that you care about young people and are willing to give your time and knowledge to help them develop to their greatest potential. During your time as a leader, you will surely see many "things" created or planned.

Nobody But Mom Recognizes Choise Smith As Whozit

Nobody except his mother knew the county judge!
 Mrs. A.L. Smith phoned from Lubbock to identify her son, Choise Smith, as last week's Hesperian Whozit. No one else correctly named him. Mrs. Winfred Payne guessed the mystery personality was Neal Bertrand. Pictures from yesteryear — particularly local residents — are welcomed.

LOCKNEY WHOZIT — Even we are not sure of the identity of this week's Whozit subject. The picture was received in the mail, and from the writing on the back of the photo we're pretty sure who it is, but...if you know who it is, call the Beacon office, 652-3318, Monday through Saturday.

WHOZITS . . .

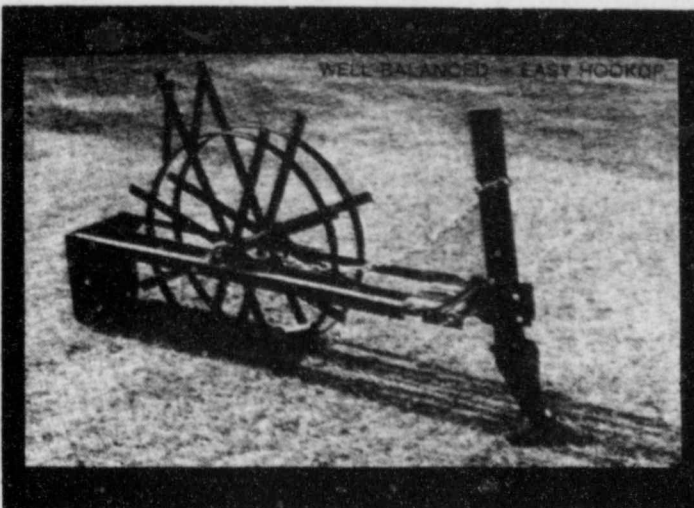

HESPERIAN WHOZIT — Who can identify this well-known Floydada couple from yesteryear photos? The man was "five or six years old" when his pictures was made at Falfurrias and his wife's photo was taken at Strawn when she was four years old. If you would like to guess their identity, please contact our office (phone 983-3737) Monday through Wednesday.

Six Get Lockney Whozit Right

YOU
 make the difference in your electric bill

With the cost of everything going up, it sometimes seems like we're losing control of where our dollars go. There is one expense you and your family can help keep down this summer — your electric bill. You can make your home more energy efficient with simple improvements like insulation, weatherstripping, caulking and adding storm doors and windows. Teaching your family to use energy wisely — like keeping the thermostat turned to an efficient 78° in the summer, changing filters on your air conditioner regularly, keeping lights and appliances turned off when not in use — will help keep your bill down. You and your family make the difference — it's that simple. Call your SPS manager for more information and keep your cool this summer.

FARM & RANCH NEWS

Diesel Shortage Discussed By Stenholm

By Congressman Charles W. Stenholm

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm announces that there is a shortage of diesel fuel that is developing into a major crisis for all businesses dependent on diesel fuel. This has come to my attention in the past week as a result of calls from fuel distributors, marketers, truckers and farmers.

The investigation of my staff in trying to assist in the severe shortage has shown that the northern and western parts of the nation are experiencing almost complete loss of diesel fuel. This comes at a time when farmers are attempting to prepare their land for the 1979 crop; therefore, any delay in securing supplies will be particularly critical to the economy of our nation.

Congressman Stenholm's office has received numerous calls from distributors who have been unable to secure diesel to meet present needs. We have attempted to secure additional supplies, but have had limited success. In all cases, new supplies that are incoming are going to be more costly, but even more money may not be sufficient to guarantee delivery.

One dealer indicated he had not received diesel in over three weeks, and his wholesaler could not promise a future delivery to him or the other 2300 customers that he services in the farm communities. Also, our inquiries have revealed that suppliers holding 50,000 gallons of diesel only three days ago have now sold these supplies to speculators. Thus, these supplies have been withdrawn from the available market.

The Congressman attributes the crisis to several factors: 1) We have the highest demand and declining supply rate in the history of our nation. One year ago we had 152 million gallons of diesel available. Today, we have only 119 million gallons, (5 million less than a week ago). 2) There is more refinery down time than normal due to recent fires and other physical problems. 3) We have experienced a lengthy cold winter which has caused large amounts of diesel stocks to be shipped to the Northeast region of the country. It will take 20 to 25 days to reverse this process. 4) The Iranian shortfall hurt the independent refiners who are unable to replace the missing Iranian crude with high-priced crude from other sources found on the nervous spot market. 5) Brokers are purchasing large amounts of diesel fuel and transporting to storage in anticipation of reselling at 60-70 cents per gallon after April 1.

The Congressman attributes much of the crisis to the overregulation of the petroleum industry by the Department of Energy and other agencies as is evidenced by the stoppage of the Sohio pipeline last week. These agencies fail to take into account their lack of knowledge the special timeliness of diesel usage during peak farming periods. Stenholm further notes that proliferation of a multitude of regulations from the Department of Energy are continually being revised and changed to the point that the refiners and distributors can scarcely know what is proper procedure. It has caused the oil industry to spend millions of dollars in trying to comply with the regulations; monies that could have been used to build refineries.

In fact, there is not even a consensus of opinion within the Department of Energy regarding the interpretation of their own regulations, concluded Stenholm.

Congressman Stenholm has requested that Chairman Kika de la Garza (D-Texas) convene his Investigation and Oversight Subcommittee on Agriculture. The Congressman further states that he expects the hearings to convene next Thursday to examine the problem of current diesel shortages during land preparation and planting time. The hearings will also investigate the 60-day forecast and the long-term outlook for diesel supplies and other energy matters.

In the meantime, Congressman Stenholm urges all farmers to purchase diesel supplies to make the best of a difficult situation.

Stable Farm Income

Net income of Texas farmers and ranchers this year is expected to hold near the improved 1978 level, says Dr. Carl Anderson, marketing economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Anderson also expects income prospects to be brighter for livestock producers than for crop farmers. However, he says rising expenses and insufficient cash flow to support debt loads will continue to plague many agricultural operators.

Gross agricultural sales in Texas last year are expected to exceed $8 billion, or about $1 billion more than 1977 receipts. After adjustments for inventory, 1978 net income should exceed the $1.1 billion of 1977. A sharp rise in livestock prices and stronger prices for some crops contributed to the increased sales. However, a poor cotton crop was harvested.

The index of prices received by Texas farmers for livestock products in December 1978 was 48 percent higher than a year earlier while the crop index was up 19 percent. Commodity prices have been boosted largely by increased feeding of livestock, strong domestic and export demand, heavy placements of grain in the farmer-owned reserve program, and the small cotton crop, notes Anderson.

Red meat supplies are expected to decrease again in 1979, following an estimated 3 percent decline last year. With prospects for a continued strong demand, this will likely mean higher livestock prices. Markets for dairy products are also expected to remain strong as the dairy supply-demand balance is tight.

Record grain supplies overshadow prospects for much improvement in earnings of crop farmers. Increased cotton and soybean plantings are expected to push prices 10 to 15 percent below current levels by this fall. Prices for wheat, grain sorghum and corn will likely be near CCC (Commodity Credit Corporation) loan levels when harvest time rolls around.

Performance of major crop prices hinges on developments regarding overseas demand for U.S. farm commodities, believes Anderson. Fortunately, farm exports have been moving at a rapid pace, and prospects for record exports are good for the coming year. Farm exports may total about $30 billion in 1978-79, up from $27.3 billion the previous year. Increasing numbers and some rebuilding of grain stocks by foreign countries will likely strengthen export demand.

The rising cost of severe financial blow to agricultural economy, notes Anderson. In particular, the New York market for fruit trees, income is sizeable as production from irrigated areas about 60 percent sales.

Irrigation Area Economy

The serious problems of crop production in other parts of the state only through creative bold initiative, notes Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

"Declining water rocketing pumping operate dilemma for farmers, and it is painfully must be found," Brown irrigation, especially Plains, food and fiber be drastically curtailed, consequences of that producer is well aware but it is something the understand."

Brown noted that Texas agriculture. In 75 percent of the produced under irrigation percent of the cotton is

SOMETHING FOR ALL AT SOUTH PLAINS FARM SHOW

Exhibits and special events for men and women, young and old, will be featured at the second annual South Plains Farm Show, Thursday-Saturday, April 5-7, in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center and Coliseum.

The Farm Show brings to the South Plains the largest display of new farm implements and equipment ever assembled in the area. Millions of dollars worth of the latest farm machinery will be on view, free of charge, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Civic Center.

A special addition to this year's show will be Lubbock's first indoor invitational tractor pull. Top modified tractors and 4-by-4 trucks will roar down the track in the Coliseum at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday, April 6 and 7.

Tickets for the tractor pull are now on sale at Hemphill-Wells and at Furr's Family Center ticket offices in Lubbock or from Civic Lubbock, Inc., P.O. Box 5486, Lubbock.

Other features of the three-day exhibition include a public forum on farm financing, a fashion revue featuring apparel created locally from materials of natural fibers, a special day saluting the Future Farmers of America, a state championship micro-mini tractor pull, and a special computer program to help families discover possible problems in their budgeting. All of these events are free.

The Farm Forum, at 10:15 a.m. Thursday, April 5, in the Civic Center banquet hall, will have as its theme, "Money for the Farmer-Where It Will Come From and Where It Will Go."

Speakers will be Tom Benson, president of the Federal Land Bank of Houston, and Dr. Ron Knutson, Extension specialist in economics and marketing policy at Texas A&M University, College Station.

At 2 p.m. Thursday, in the Civic Center Theater, the Natural Fibers Fashion Revue will be staged. Seamstresses from throughout West Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico will compete for hundreds of dollars in prizes. They will display garments they have made of fabrics which are at least 50 percent wool, cotton or mohair.

Friday, April 6, will be FFA Day. Chapters from high schools throughout the area will be special guests at the exhibition and will receive lunch.

The micro-mini tractors — scale models powered by model airplane engines — will match mechanical and driver skills at 1 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the Civic Center auditorium. At stake are trophies and point standings in sanctioned state competition.

"Dollar Watch," the computer analysis of family financial plans, will be conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. each day of the show.

The Farm Show and Tractor Pull are sponsored by the Southwest Hardware and Implement Association with the Extension Service, Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Texas Tech University.

Plans For Computing Capital Gains On Inheritance Opposed

The National Cotton Council has called for permanent repeal of the tax law's carry-over basis for computing capital gains on inherited property, saying Congress should never allow the provision to become effective.

"It would create formidable compliance problems and substantially add to the tax burden at the death of the family farmer," Williams McFarlane, Clovis, Calif., cotton producer, said in a statement filed with the Senate Finance Committee.

In addition, the Council said the new tax provision would seriously affect almost every family or business which had accumulated even a moderate amount of property.

Under the carry-over provision scheduled to become effective at the end of this year, a person inheriting property would be subject to capital gains taxes based on the property's appreciation in value since originally acquired by the deceased.

For example, on land bought by a farmer for $100 an acre and sold by his heirs for $1,000 an acre, the capital gains tax would be based on an appreciation of $900. Under present law, if the land was valued at $800 at the farmer's death, the capital gains tax would be based on an appreciation of only $200.

HEAVY TAXATION

The combination of federal and state inheritance taxes plus capital gains on a moderate-sized family farm estate could amount to as much as 55 cents on the dollar, McFarlane noted. Heavy taxation could well force a farm family to go heavily into debt in order to retain inherited property regardless of economic circumstances, he added.

As an example of the complexities which would arise as a result of the carry-over basis, McFarlane pointed out that each item of equipment or property inherited would have to be computed separately.

"This would apply to each and every item of furniture inherited and to each and every stamp in an inherited stamp collection," he said.

The California producer noted that it would be impossible to ascertain the original cost of many items, and this would result in "massive but not deliberate" non-compliance.

"There are not enough prosecutors and judges to handle the volume of offenses which almost inevitably would occur because of the near impossibility and burdensomeness of compliance," he added.

If the provisions go into effect, McFarlane said tax consultants would have more work than before since citizens would be forced to consider the much greater tax consequences of any decision involving inherited property.

Repeal of the carry-over provision was unanimously called for by the Council's 292 delegates representing all segments of the raw cotton industry from grower through manufacturer in 18 states.

Unlike the weakening trend of the American economy, economic growth is improving in many foreign countries. World use of protein should continue its rapid expansion of recent years, increasing about a tenth in 1979, says Anderson.

The economist also foresees a continuing escalation of production and marketing costs of U.S. agricultural commodities. Wage rates, transportation costs, machinery, fuel, taxes, insurance and interest costs are all expected to increase considerably in

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS

An almost assured increase in acreage planted to cotton in the U.S. this year has led to widespread speculation where cotton prices may be this fall. In turn, this has led Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, to do some thinking on the subject.

"A lot of things can happen to alter the picture of year progresses," says PCG Executive Vice President Johnson, "but there is no arguing with the fact that the now favor surplus production, and depressed prices are a logical expectation."

Trying to determine the exact level of cotton harvest is an impossible task, Johnson continues. It isn't too difficult to arrive at figures that should be close to the minimum per pound return (1) to producers who plant an acreage in 1979 equal to or greater than planted in 1978 and (2) to producers who in 1979 planted percent or more less acreage than last year."

The two minimum figures, respectively, are approximately 49 cents and 51 cents according to PCG calculations. The loan rate on SLM 31/32, 3.4 micronaire cotton considered about the average High Plains quality, should be no lower than 44 cents per pound. That's a little over 5 cents below the 50.23-cent base loan rate for SLM 31/32, 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire cotton.

But if High Plains cotton sells at this price, Johnson says, the national average price paid to farmers in 1979 isn't likely to be above about 51 cents per pound. "And that figure subtracted from the 57.7-cent price would mean a price deficiency payment to all producers on average High Plains cotton eligible for the program of 6.7 cents, bringing the total return to 50.7 cents per pound on all production by reducing 1979 cotton acreage by 15 percent "voluntary reduction percentage" announced in 1979. Otherwise the payment will be subject to a "proportionate allocation factor" yet to be calculated and announced by USDA.

The allocation factor will be figured by dividing the estimated 1979 acreage for harvest into the National Cotton Acreage of 10.6 million. Assuming normal abundance from 14.1 million acres planted, acreage for harvest would come to 13.1 million acres and result in a program allocation factor of 81 percent.

This would mean producers subject to the allocation factor, those who did not reduce acreage by 15 percent would get the target price payment on only 81 percent of their production. Put another way, their average price on all production would be reduced to 5.4 cents per pound. And that 5.4 cents plus the 44-cent market price would be 49.4 cents.

'We Had Fun In That Old Canyon'

was a disciplinarian, firm, but an indulgent father.

'SLIPPED OFF' TO PARTY

The minister believed it was improper for his offspring to attend parties. Clara remembers "slipping off" to attend a party at the school. However, her father did not disapprove of hayrides, which was popular with the younger set in the early 1900s and would attract 15-20 youths.

Clara was the "tomboy of the family". On one occasion, her sister dared her to ride a large yearling, promising to keep the steer from escaping through the gate.

"I didn't realize the yearling could run faster than she could!"

The animal rammed Clara against virtually every strand of barb wire along the fence.

Clara and her sister went to patch the wounds "so Mother wouldn't find out...just like she wouldn't notice the bandages."

SHE LIKED HIM

One Sunday afternoon, Clara was visiting in the half dugout of a neighbor, Emmitt Murry, when she met a young man — his cousin — who captured her fancy. He was Otis E. Murry. They were only 13 at the time (six weeks difference in their ages), but this was only their initial meeting.

Floydada, whose first building reportedly was a "saloon," had begun to grow by 1918 when Uncle Joe and Aunt Mattie moved their family to town "to finish school". They maintained the Starkey residence.

Most of the Day children were already grown by this time.

While Uncle Joe — a humorous

speaker in great demand — was away, Clara was married to her longtime sweetheart, Otis E. Murry, the boy she had met nine years earlier. The ceremony was performed by Uncle Charley Smith in the Floydada home of Clara's sister, Mertie Jones.

The date: Dec. 14, 1913, the bride's 22nd birthday.

GLAD 'DADDY GONE'

She was "glad Daddy was gone." However, he probably would have given the couple his blessings with his favorite quote: "Set your aim high — even if you hit the barn door!"

The Murry's first home was 15 miles southwest of Floydada, but the next year they went to "Dad's weaning pen." Day gave his daughter and son-in-law 80 acres of land, as was the custom in those days.

Clara and Otis Murry traded that small farm for land she presently owns, one mile north of Floydada. The new farm was rented one year after the Murrys secured it in 1930 and they moved there the next year.

Otis died in 1953, two years before his widow moved her house to Floydada.

The couple became parents of twin sons — Lloyd Murry, a Floydada farmer, and Floyd Murry of Canadian, a school counselor. Clara Murry has six grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Due to her pioneer spirit, Clara loves the great outdoors and never missed a football game in which her sons played. She witnessed in person many of the games which involved a grandson, Bob Murry, as a Floydada whirlwind. She also was an avid Dallas Cowboy fan, via TV, until her sight failed.

TWINS RUN IN FAMILY

The grandson, Bob Murry, now of Silverton, Oregon, has helped keep alive a family tradition. He and his wife are parents of 20-month-old twin sons: Shane and Shan.

The tots represent the third set of twins in five generations. Uncle Joe and Kizzie Day Duncan were twins, then his daughter Clara gave birth to twin sons, Clara and Bertha (Bert) Howard of Pueblo, Colo., are the lone surviving members of the original Uncle Joe Day family. Their oldest brother, Melvin, succumbed at age 92 last Mother's Day.

Mrs. Murry, who "hears comparatively well and has a good appetite, has many friends and is very loved."

SENSE OF HUMOR

Inside Room Three of Floydada Nursing Home, Clara Day Murry freely recalls those early days. A longtime friend, Mrs. Paul Murff, remembers the pioneers "had to have a sense of humor to make it. I remember the smile of Uncle Joe and Aunt Mattie and the twinkle in their eyes."

There were "lots of Indians here" when the Arthur B. Duncans arrived in Floyd County. "She was afraid of the Indians and was always glad to see the cowboys come by."

Although food was "scarce," Mrs. Duncan had almost completed preparation of a "fine lunch" for her family and guests when another visitor — a steer — arrived. His heavy foot caved in the half dugout, ruining the meal.

But that hearty stock of early settlers prevailed. The Days and the Duncans — and Clara Day Murry — those people were instrumental in the Floyd County development!
