This week the nation marks the 50th anniversary of D-Day for Operation Overlord, that momentous event half a century ago when, on the 6th day of June, 1944, some 130,000 allied troops, including nearly 60,000 Americans, crossed the English Channel and stormed the beaches of France.

America had been at war since December of 1941. Other D-Days had already taken place. Many bloody battles had already been fought. Many casualties had already been suffered in many other places. Rome was already in American hands. The names of any number of South Pacific islands had already been etched, temporarily at least, in the minds of Americans.

Still, the invasion of central Europe marked the beginning of the end for the war in Europe, though there were, as history records, many more battles and a great many casualties before that end came.

We sat down to write an entirely different kind of column about this anniversary, coming as it does within days after Memorial Day, when those who died in the nation's wars are remembered in differing ways by those now benefiting from their sacrifices. But something happened. The phone rang. It was the wife of George Williams of San Angelo, or rather the now widow of George, telling us her husband and my friend, had died during the night.

George, or "little George", he was sometimes called back on Corregidor (we had another George Williams in our battery, and he was a much larger man, physically, and that was one way of making the distinction), had been in poor health for years. But he kept fighting, until his heart finally gave out.

After Bataan fell, and Corregidor was finally also beaten into submission, the road ahead was uncertain at best. George and I, and another friend named Johnny Turner, a ranch youngster from West Texas whom we called "Tombstone", and still another friend named Roy

Floyd County seeks lawyer to serve as county attorney

The Floyd County Commissioners Court met briefly on Thursday, June 2, to discuss alternatives to an elected county attorney. The county has been without an elected attorney to staff the post since the retirement of Kenneth Bain several years ago. In the interim, the district attorney filled the post, followed by attorney Dena Reece. Each was paid on a case by case basis.

The resignation of Reece because she is relocating has left the county with no prosecuting attorney. District Attorney Becky McPherson has offered her assistance in finding a suitable replacement according to County Judge Bill Hardin.

"I have checked with other counties that have no elected county attorney," said Hardin, "and they are handling it in various ways. Motley County has the Briscoe County Attorney come one day a week and they pay $750.00 per month for the service. Dickens County has an attorney from Lubbock that comes from Lubbock on a regular basis. They pay $15,000.00 per year for this."

The commissioners authorized Judge Hardin to check into finding a suitable attorney to serve Floyd County. He will bring a report and recommendation back to the court at a later meeting. Motion for the action was made by Precinct 1 Commissioner Connie Bearden. The motion was seconded by Precinct 2 Commissioner Floyd Jackson and approved by unanimous vote.

The court also approved three farm work contracts at the morning session. All were for work in Precinct 2. They included: cleaning up old improvements to return land to cultivation at a site 2 miles west of Lockney for W. L. Thomas Jr.; cleaning up old improvements to return land to cultivation for Ray Aston at a site 1/2 mile south and 1/4 mile west of Lockney; and cleaning up the old railroad right-of-way 1 1/2 miles south and 1 1/2 miles west of Lockney for Floyd Jackson at the request of Rusty Wilson.

Motion to approve the work was made by Jackson and seconded by Precinct 4 Commissioner Howard Bishop. The vote was all in favor.

Lockney ends season with fall to Holliday

Longhorns' dream of state playoff shattered

by Lisa Mosley

There wasn't any one play that was a turning point. It was just a steady one-run-at-a-time whittling away of the Longhorn's dream of a trip to Austin.

In a quarterfinal matchup, the Horns came upon a strong No. 2 state-ranked Holliday Eagle team that boasted a winning record of 25-1 and lost by an ending score of 8-0.

Perhaps it was the Eagles previous playoff experience that gave them the edge against the Longhorns. "We were pumped up," said game-winning pitcher Josh Bobbitt. "We came up short last year, and this year we wanted it bad!"

As the driving force behind their victory, Bobbitt cited the fact that last year "we were already looking to Austin when we met up with New Deal in a similar game. This year we didn't."

"Coach told us that the Longhorns had a lot of speed and strong athletes and we needed to keep them off the bases," said Bobbitt.

And that's just what they did. Knowing the Longhorns ability to come from behind, no one ruled out a comeback until the final out in the seventh inning.

The Eagles scored one run on one hit in the first inning, and then brought in 3 RBI's on two deep hits to left and center fields during the second inning. But after a throw by Chris Ochoa pulled him off the bag, first baseman Jared Mosley was able to end the Eagles second-inning surge by tagging out the runner. This left the Horns down 4-0.

With excellent fielding by Jr. Guerrero on a groundball to second, and two strikeouts registered by relief pitcher, Leo Vargas, the Horns came up to bat in the third inning.

Bobbitt walked Ochoa. Then hits by Guerrero and Alfred Martinez found bases loaded with only one out. With Leo Vargas coming to the plate, Longhorn fans could see an opportunity to tie the game. But Vargas' groundball to shortstop David Twilliger who stepped on second, then fired to first, saw the Eagles turn a double play, ending the inning with the Horns still trailing 4-0.

Stranding six men on base during the seven inning of play, the Longhorns were never able to capitalize on three

Floydada ISD hires new athletic director

FLOYDADA — After sifting through approximately 30 applications, the board of trustees for Floydada Independent School District selected Bryan Davis to serve as the athletic director and head coach for the school system during the coming year. Davis replaces Dean Bates who recently submitted his resignation.

Davis, 35, was hired after being interviewed in executive session at a special called meeting on Monday, June 6, according to school superintendent Jerry Cannon.

The new head coach comes to Floydada from Olton with three district championships to his credit during his four year tenure as athletic director and head coach with the system. Prior to that, he was assistant coach at Frenship ISD for eight years.

A graduate of Post High School, Davis participated in football, basketball, track and golf. He attended Howard Payne University and played football during his college years.

Davis and his wife Karen have three children, a ten year-old son, Brady, a seven year-old daughter, Marissa, and two year-old B.J.

The new head coach will assume his post with FISD this summer in preparation for the upcoming school year.

City council expands water improvements

FLOYDADA — The Floydada City Council acted on Thursday, June 2, to increase the water line improvements previously approved. Council members added 4,900 feet to the 9,100 feet already in the process of being completed. This means a total of 14,000 feet of new and/or larger water lines will be installed in the city.

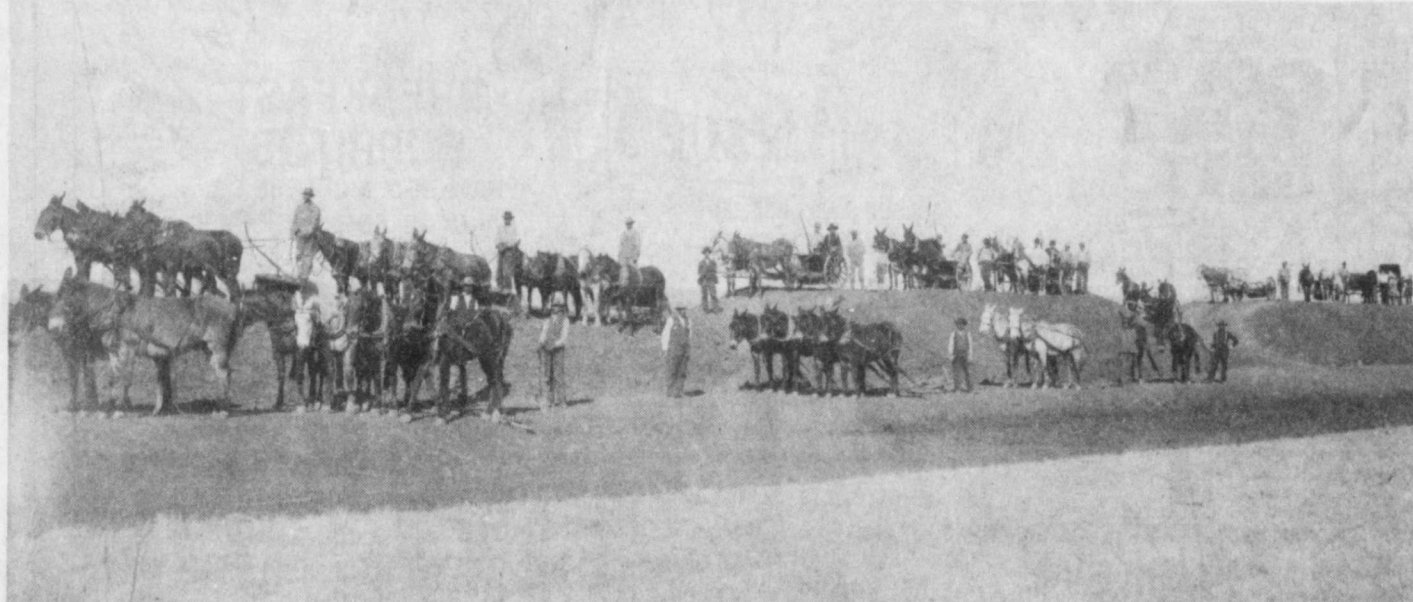

Motion to approve advertising for bids on the water line improvement work was made by Councilman Clar Schacht and seconded by Councilman Albert Hill Sr. The vote was unanimously in favor. A resolution to amend the grant proposal was also passed by unanimous vote on a motion by Councilman Wayne Tipton with a second by Eric Cornelius.

The second item handled at the noon called council session was the appointment of the city electrical superintendent to serve as a representative to the West Texas Municipal Power Agency (WTMPA) board. Motion for the appointment was made by Cornelius and seconded by Tipton. All voted in favor.

The City of Floydada has two representatives on the board, the city manager and now the electrical superintendent.

THEN AND NOW -- The laying of track for the Llano Estacado Railroad in 1909 provides a stark contrast with the operations currently going on to remove the rail line between Lockney and Floydada. Early railway builders ish in just a few hours what took the original crews many days to install. The removal of the steel rails and wooden ties along the pathway of the abandoned railroad brings to an end the era of rail transportation in this area of Texas.

Railroad history comes to a close in Floyd County

By Alice Gilroy & Juanita Stepp

An era is coming to a close with the final abandonment of the railroad line connecting Plainview, Aiken, Lockney and Floydada. For weeks crews have been spotted pulling up the former Llano Estacado Railroad Company tracks along Hwy 70.

Like all towns in West Texas, Floydada transportation started with the horse and the covered wagon. The development of the "Ironhorse" revolutionized travel and shipping in the early days of United States History, coming to Floyd County in 1909. The Llano Estacado Railroad connected Plainview and Floydada. The Llano Estacado began with a group of local citizens determined to help the area grow.

Temporary officers and directors formulated a $200,000.00 capital stock plan for the sale of 2000 shares at $100.00 each. Included in this group were: W.M. Massie who served as President, General Manager and a director; R.C. Andrews, Vice President and director; A.D. White, Secretary and director; W.T. Montgomery, Treasurer and director; R.A. Childers, General Solicitor and director; and directors Thos. L. Price, C. Suginer, W.W. Nelson, and E.C. Henry. All were Floydada residents with the exception of Price whose residence was listed as Jefferson City, Missouri.

According to information gleaned from the files of the Floyd County Historical Museum, other original stockholders included J.S. Pickel, G.T. Riley, Daff Griffith, J.E. Burns, T.M. Moore, J.A. Nail, J.L. Dagley, S.K. Hamilton, W.L. Smith, W.A. Potts, T.J. Marshall, J.E. Huckabay, Nathan E. Waller, Bob Kropp, C.M. Bell, W.N. Allen, J.R. Vandegriff, R.L. Reeves, P.M. McDonald, Randolph Bros., J.W. Carroll, W.E. Broyles, W.S. McNeil, R.A. Stalcup, and W.C. Parkinson. The company grew to a total of 230 stockholders scattered from Floydada to Lockney and on to Plainview. Each owned at least one share. The largest stockholder was W.M. Massie who held 210 shares.

The Llano Estacado was bought in 1910 by the Santa Fe Railroad and ultimately operated as a part of the Burlington-Northern Railroad Company System. On June 1, 1989, Burlington-Northern announced their intention to abandon or discontinue service on the line. Local South Plains residents decided to come to the rescue. A group of concerned businessmen and farm producers formed the South Plains Rural Rail Association in August of 1989.

The association consisted for one representative from each of the five counties in the Lubbock cluster. Floyd County Precinct 1 Commissioner Connie Bearden represented Floyd County. Other counties represented were Hall, Briscoe, Hale and Lubbock. The purpose of the organization was to secure backing to purchase the rail line and keep it operating.

These organizers believed it was their interest in the line that ultimately attracted a buyer. "In my opinion, the forming of the South Plains Rural Rail Association is what attracted a buyer and operator," said Bearden in a April 5, 1990 interview with the Floyd County Hesperian. "Up until that time there had been no interest shown in buying the line. In the first meeting we had, with shippers and bankers, we got enough pledges ($80,000-$90,000) to buy bonds to rehabilitate the line."

The group raised funds for their project from local banks, businesses and producers. This enabled them to work with lawyers, consultants and agents to try keep the line open and serving the area.

Local rehabilitation of the line was not necessary because the Floydada Spur was sold to AMERAIL, an Illinois-based subsidiary of the TEMCO Corporation in April of 1990. "The 27-mile Floydada line will continue to operate as the Floydada and Plainview Railroad," said Richard C. McClure, president of AMERAIL in the April 5th Edition of the Floyd County Hesperian.

Local producers and residents of the county were pleased to see the newly painted and brightly colored red, white and blue engine operating along Floyd County lines. The pleasure was short lived, however and the company announced plans to abandon the line in 1992 after the grain harvest was completed. The Plainview-Floydada line was quietly disbanded in 1993. The tracks along the line in Floyd County are now being removed and the right-of-way is being returned to cultivation in many areas.

Longtime Floydada resident, Will Martin, remembered the coming of the railroad in a March 23, 1989 story printed in the Floyd County Hesperian. He shared his memories, saying, "I remember my mother telling me about the time the first train came to town."

"There was a big crowd on hand for these times. There were speeches, forecasting what a neat place the railroad would make Floydada, etc. The train men took all the school kids to Lockney and back but doggone it, I was too small to take a ride."

"I have a great liking for the old steam train. Ever since I was large enough to see one run down the track, I liked to see them trail smoke behind when going toward the wind and seeing them blow steam to clean out the pipes. It was wonderful to hear that loud whistle when the train came up to a road crossing, and when the engine was switching in the yards, we could hear that old brass bell ring."

"The depot was first located across Price Street on the north next to what we used to call the depot lake. In 1913 we had two or more weeks of rain and the depot was surrounded by water...the wagons had quite a time carrying freight to and from the depot."

"In the early days, the section crews went to work on hand cars," recalled Martin. "There were usually five men in all, with two of them on each end of a long lever pumping up and down to propel the car along the tracks. The foreman sat between the two men in front. I always thought he was lazy" Martin remembered the automobiles being unloaded from boxcars and the grain coming to and from the elevators along the track. "Most of the businesses also had coal shipped in to sell to most everybody for fuel to heat and cook with," said Martin. "They would hire people to unload cars of coal and other things had to be loaded onto cars to be shipped out of town. Indirectly the early railroad gave lots of people employment."

"The first trains spent the night in Floydada and went to Plainview about eight each morning. They would pick up and leave freight as they went through Lockney. They would leave Plainview, come back through Lockney and reach Floydada about 2:30 or 3:00. It was a mixed train, freight with baggage and passenger cars combined."

Martin also remembered an unusual event on the railway in the "early 1920s or late teens."

"It seems that on a fairly windy afternoon; a train was switching in the yards in Plainview. The engine bumped a car to the east. A brakeman had failed to direct the car to a branch track and it just kept coming on down the main line. None of the train crew noticed the runaway car."

"As the wind was pretty high and Plainview is several feet higher in elevation than Floydada, the car was gaining speed. Someone saw the car as it passed Lockney. A brakeman met the car at about Muncy and stopped it by the time it reached the yards in Floydada. That sure was a brave man. The car had been going an estimated 50 m.p.h. when he caught it. I don't know if Santa Fe kept a record, but they should have."

In that old railroad story Martin expressed his sorrow at other lines begin abandoned around the county and was hoping that the railroad history was not coming to a close.

"I hear that they are trying hard to do away with the branch line and other lines in this part of the county," said Martin. "I was born before railroad came into Floyd County and surely I won't live to see them all gone."

Sadly that statement has proven true for Martin and others. A new generation has begun which will have no memories whatsoever of the railroad lines in this part of West Texas.

Council expands water improvements

Gary Brown and Connie Galloway are the current holders of those positions and will represent Floydada in matters concerning cities which continue to operate an electric company.

Council members also agreed to employ Mary Kelley to develop a grant proposal concerning the Community-Care phone system the city would like to obtain. Kelley will be responsible for putting together a grant request designed to secure funding for the community service system which would be utilized to monitor ill and elderly citizens on a daily basis.

Motion to approve the hiring of Kelley was made by Councilman LeRoy Burns. Cornelius provided the second and the vote was unanimously in favor.

Council members were shown a video concerning the role of a council member before the session ended.

Area code needed for all long distance calls

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company customers in West Texas and the Texas Panhandle will soon start including their three-digit area code when making long-distance calls within their own area codes, it was announced recently.

The dialing change, which will not affect customers' rates for basic telephone service, their long-distance rates or 9-1-1 services, is a result of mandated modifications to the North American Numbering Plan, which was announced last fall. The new dialing pattern will affect customers in the 806 and 915 area codes.

The plan is administered in the United States, Canada, Bermuda and parts of the Caribbean by Bell Communications Research (Bellcore). Last fall, Bellcore and Southwestern Bell announced that the changes would begin in July 1994.

Local business and residential customers are being reminded of the change again later this month and in June through letters and bill insert notices. Additional reminders will be provided through newspaper ads, bill inserts and bill messages until the new dialing pattern becomes mandatory.

During the "permissive" dialing period beginning July 1, Southwestern Bell customers may start dialing their area code in long-distance calls within their area code region. Beginning January 3, 1995, customers must dial a "1" or "0" plus the area code and seven-digit number for all long-distance calls.

When the system was created in 1947, it established 152 area codes that were projected to be sufficient until the year 2000. However, due to the nation's increase and shifts in population and the technological advances that have enabled the skyrocketing use of cellular phones, pagers, facsimile machines, and additional telephone lines, the system is exhausting the available supply of phone numbers.

While no new area codes are projected in the foreseeable future in West Texas and the Texas Panhandle, this new dialing pattern will enable local telephone switching devices to define the call's routing. For most residential customers, this new dialing pattern will be little more than a minor inconvenience until they become accustomed to it.

Business customers, however, must modify their private branch exchanges (PBX) or internal telephone switching systems and other equipment, such as fax machines and email systems, to ensure that they can recognize and process calls under the new dialing pattern.

Plexar systems currently in use by local businesses will automatically be modified through Southwestern Bell. If they are not using a Plexar system, business customers must contact their local vendors to discuss modifying their PBX

All customers, residential and business users, must also reprogram the phone numbers used in their Call Forwarding and Speed Dialing services to include their home area code for long-distance calls.

hits and an Eagle error, while Holliday added runs in the fourth, fifth, and seventh innings to realize their dreams of being one of the final four teams bound for Austin.

"They were good, really good," said David Norwood, head baseball coach for the Longhorns. "We just got beat by a good ball team."

For the eight seniors on the Longhorn team who graduated the week before, it was a disappointing end to an unbelievable season.

"I wanted to go further," said Chris

Ochoa, "but it was a good year." Ochoa, who moved to Lockney at the beginning of the year, said that he was glad he was able to be a member of the Regional Champion Longhorn team.

For Leo Vargas, a four-year letterman who was on the first competitive baseball team fielded by LHS four years ago, it was the end to a stellar career. Named MVP of the 1994 Longhorn team, Vargas was a key component with his outstanding pitching ability and team-leading bat in the Longhorns advancement through the playoffs. Even though the disappointment showed on his face, Vargas admitted that "it feels great to have made it this far."

"It was a great season...and a lot of fun," Norwood said.

And in the words of shortstop Tanner Johnson... "We'll be right back in it next year!"

Home-schooling is alternative taken by Floydada parents

By Alice Gilroy

You can find the "Home-Schoolers" all over the United States in almost any size town, but because of misconceptions about "Home-Schooling" most families are very quiet about their choice of staying home to study.

According to the mother of one local "Home Schooler," Marie Poteet, "There is a ridiculous feeling among some people that if you "home-school" your child, the only reason he is scoring high is because you are cheating."

"It takes a great deal of discipline on the part of parents and children to home-school. Statistics show that test scores of children who are taught in the home exceed the scores of children who are taught in public schools."

According to those that home-school most people do not understand that the children still have to pass the same SAT tests that children in public schools do. The tests are monitored and are accepted by all Universities. The cost for an achievement test is $20.00 which is then graded and ranked by the state. Parents also keep very accurate records of their daily activities.

"Many people stay away from home-schooling," said Poteet, "because they think the Universities won't take their children unless they graduate from a state accredited high school-but that is not the case. The colleges just look at the SAT tests and there are also all kinds of scholarship resources available to home-schoolers."

Marie's son, J.W. Poteet Jr., began home-schooling when he was in the 2nd grade because of the Poteet's dissatisfaction with the public schools in the Austin area. "My son was being taught that homosexuality was alright and that same sex parents were O.K. as long as everybody loves each other. We decided to pull him out of school and I began to home-school."

J.W. was home-schooled by his mother until he entered Floydada High School as a sophomore. He graduated this year with a 3.762 grade point average, but because of a local school board ruling he was unable to graduate as a Valedictorian.

"The school board ruled this year that you had to attend a state accredited school for four years before you could be considered as Valedictorian or Salutatorian," said Poteet. "We thought that may hurt our son's chances to get scholarships but J.W. is being considered for the National Merit Scholarship and the University of Texas has already offered him a $1,000 scholarship. The University of Houston has also offered scholarships."

According to Poteet, "Anyone can home-school. You don't have to be a brain-you just have to be dedicated. If you are not good in one subject there are all kinds of resources you can draw on."

Poteet obtained her curriculum from Alpha Omega in Arizona, at a cost of $200.00 per year. Besides books, curriculum is also offered through videos and via satellite through your own television. There are also all kinds of extra curriculum you can obtain in areas that your children are interested in.

"For instance, J.W. wants to study Aeronautics in college so we obtained curriculum in that area. At the age of 17 years old, on the same day J.W. graduated from Floydada High School, he was also able to obtain his pilots license. The flight training was part of the home-schooling course."

In the Poteet household, "home-school" begins the same time as public school and ends at the same time. If there is a snow day at the public school there is a snow day at home.

"We go on field trips but we don't have assemblies," laughed Marie. "Many times several families of home-schoolers will come together for field trips."

Even though Marie has finished with her son's school she is still busy home-schooling her 13 year old daughter, Jeanette. "Jeanette has never been to public school," said Marie.

"Lots of people think that is terrible. They question the kids ability to 'adjust to the real world'. I tell them that my kids get plenty of interaction outside of school through their church and their neighborhood. Children will always find each other and will play with whoever they are compatible with. I believe it also makes the children very independent. They are not swayed by peer pressure."

"Home-schooling makes children very disciplined. They have to sit and work until the work is done. If my child made less than an 80 on a test then I assume he did not understand, so we go over it until they do. It is very good for the kids because of the one-on-one discipline."

"I don't know very many teachers in public schools who wouldn't love to be able to do that with their kids. It is an ideal environment for learning."

According to Marie, when J.W. entered Floydada High School and was tested he excelled in some areas and was weak in others. "When he saw where he was behind then he stayed after school and tutored and pretty soon he was excelling in those areas also. I really appreciate his teachers, Mr. Lockwood and Mr. Wilson. They were fantastic and really pushed J.W. to achieve. They took that extra time. The principal, Mr. Christian, also was great in helping us make sure J.W. had all the credits he needed to graduate."

Said Marie, "There are a lot of home-schoolers now and the number is on a steady increase every year. Home-schooling is the poor man's answer to tutors or private schools."

RICKEY DAVIS

FLOYDADA — Rickey Davis of Plainview is the displaying artist for the month of June at the First National Bank in Floydada. His works will be on exhibit during regular bank hours throughout the month.

Davis is the co-owner of Uniques & Antiques and has been an art teacher in Plainview for 21 years. He is a graduate of West Texas A&M in Canyon, earning a B.S. Degree in Fine Arts.

According to Davis, his favorite media to work in is oil, "but, I have worked in watercolor, tempera, acrylics and pastels." He favors landscapes and florals as subjects. "I have also done some portraits and character studies."

Davis has studied with Dr. Emilio Cabellero, Stephan Kramer, and Romaine Swan, all of Amarillo. Others he has studied with include Pat Krahn and Paul Milosowitch of Lubbock. He is a past president of the Plains Art Association.

Says Davis, "As an artist, I am very critical of myself. I admire the work of others much more. In fact, I have maybe two or three of my paintings in my home. The other things I have and enjoy are by someone else."

Everyone is invited to stop in and see the paintings of this talented South Plains artist.

MR. AND MRS. JAY HOLLUMS

April Denton and Hollums exchange wedding vows

Jay Hollums, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Hollums of Floydada, and April Denton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Denton of Waco, exchanged wedding vows in Miss Nellie's Pretty Place in Cameron Park in Waco, with Dr. Earl Blair officiating.

The bride wore a full length white satin wedding gown with a train edged in several layers of voile netting. She carried a bouquet of white roses with blue accents.

Wedding vows were exchanged in front of a center fountain with a backdrop of a floral arch and centered cross. The background of bluebonnets surrounded the tiered stair setting where the guests sat.

In addition to being the best man, D.G. Hollums, brother of the groom, sang "I Will Be Here" for the solo.

The bride's sister, Michelle Mae Denton, was the maid of honor and was dressed in a short length blue formal. The bridal gown attendant was Miss Casey Tomlinson.

At the conclusion of the wedding, guests were feted with the bride and groom wedding cake and punch in the arbor above the seating area. Guests included the grandmothers, Mrs. Dorothy Tomlinson of Waco, Mrs. Edwina Hollums of Floydada and Mrs. Lois Gay of Cleburne. Other guests, that were relatives, included Clifford Gay of Dallas, Christy Purvis of Dallas and Harryette Hollums of Cisco.

National Highway Traffic Safety Administration recalls safety seats

—From Melissa Long, CEA-HE
Child Safety Seat recalls are issued by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and involve serious safety problems that should not be ignored. The repair kits are "FREE" of charge and to delay in requesting them could put children at risk needlessly.

Owners who have questions about recalls or any safety recall should call NHTSA's toll-free Auto Safety Hotline at 1-800-424-9393.

The manufacturer should be contacted if one owns a safety seat that has been recalled. In most cases, the defect is a small part on the safety seat. The manufacturer will supply the replacement part or kit for no charge. The child should continue using the safety seat until the repair kit arrives. An unrestrained child is at far greater risk than using a seat that needs some adjustment.

Recent recalls include:
Dream Ride seats manufactured by Cosco, Inc., 1-800-221-6736; light blue and pink plaid fabric, manufactured from 1/1/89 thru 1/11/94, seat cover material does not meet federal safety standard for flammability.

Renolux child safety seats produced by FBS, Inc., 1-800-476-5273; blue tweed safety covers, manufactured from 5/89 thru 6/93, seat cover material does not meet federal safety standard for flammability.

Century Child Safety Seats, 1-800-837-4044; red harness release button on all 3000STE, 3500STE, and 5500STE models may jam in a sudden stop or crash. Century will send replacement kit for free.
Fisher Price, 1-800-845-8813; plastic part inside buckle fails so that the buckle will not fasten and the child will not be restrained, contact FP for new shield with buckle assemble.

Gerry Guardian - Takata-Gerico Corporation, 1-800-845-8813; buckle assembly fails to meet release force requirements, too easy for children to release themselves, new buckle replacement kit available.

Owners should be able to find the manufacturer, model number, etc. attached to the safety seat and have the information available when calling the manufacturer

Floyd County 4-H Council holds meeting

By Cody Hayes
On Tuesday, May 24, the Floyd County 4-H Council had a meeting in Floydada at the 4-H Extension office.

At the meeting the 4-H county camp was discussed first. Decisions were made about who would lead certain activities during the camp. The recreations would be directed by the 4-H recreation team members. The council decided that the flag ceremony for the camp would be done by Mark Terrell and Max Green. We also decided that the theme for the party would be Spanish Times.

Max Green and Jerod Glasson volunteered to bring a sound system for the dance and everyone is to bring a board game.

After the discussion of the camp, there was a discussion over library volunteers for the Floydada library reading time. Kaci Mathis, Tim Mitchell, Cynthia Martin, and Charla Yeary all volunteered to present a demonstration at the library. Next, we discussed about a sewing project to aid the junior 4-H'ers. Kaci Mathis and Charla Yeary volunteered for that.

Floydada team participates in West Texas Baseball League

by Bill Gray
After the first week of play, Floydada's entry in the West Texas League has found the competition considerably stronger than last year's Plainview Summer Baseball League. Sponsored by Floydada Power and Light, this is virtually the same team that dominated the Plainview League a year ago with an undefeated run enroute to the championship.

The team, called the Floydada Tornadoes, composed of returning Floydada varsity and incoming freshmen players, is coached by Edd Henderson, Jr. and Mr. James Webster of Lubbock.

Graduated senior Brandon Gilliland is also playing on the Floydada team, in anticipation of having a chance at collegiate baseball this year.

The Tornadoes opened against Tulia at Watson Field on May 31 and came up on the short end of a 15-4 score. Since that opener a week ago, Floydada has defeated Levelland, and lost to Amarillo High, Canyon, and Plainview. As Henderson noted, "It will be a long season (over 30 scheduled games plus two tournaments), and our kids will have to quickly adjust to the level of competition—especially the younger ones. We want them to have fun, while at the same time tune up their basics of hitting, pitching and fielding."

Game Terminated on 10-run rule.

Game Comments: Because Angel Aleman and Michael Mercado were unable to play, Monty Anderson was pressed into service as starting pitcher. He gave up ten earned runs and walked six while allowing 9 hits in the shortened game.

Game 2 Conner Field, Canyon June 2, 1994

Floydada	000	001	3
Canyon	111	003	6

Game Comments: Floydada played much better offensively and defensively. The key to the loss was Floydada's inability to score with runners on base—the Tornadoes stranded 14 runners on base. Tomas Barrientos went 2 for 3 at the plate and scored a run. Angel Aleman pitched well in the losing cause as he issued only 4 walks while allowing 6 runs.

Game 3 Watson Field, Floydada June 3, 1994

Amarillo High	000	343	2
Floydada	100	100	6

Game Comments: Floydada had its best offensive showing of the season by scoring eight runs on six hits, including 6 runs in the bottom of the 7th inning to make the score respectable.

Game 4 Jaycee Park, Plainview June 4, 1994

Floydada	203	003	2
Levelland	003	000	0

Game Comments: Floydada logged its first victory of the season with a 10-3 verdict over Levelland at Plainview's Jaycee Park. In-coming freshman Richard Casillas pitched the complete game, allowing only 5 hits while walking 3 batters. Gilliland led the Floydada offense with a triple and 2 RBI's, and Tomas Barrientos cracked a double with a pair of RBI's.

"All in all, it was our best game to date—we showed improvement in a number of areas," said Coach Henderson.

Game 5 Jaycee Park, Plainview June 4, 1994

Floydada	240	00	6
Plainview A's	430	21	10

Game Comments: Floydada had only one hit into the 5th inning game. Jason Henderson pitched the first four innings, and allowed 3 hits. Blake Bramlett pitched on inning of relief and allowed one hit and a run.

Floyd County 4-H'ers head for Texas A&M State Roundup

Twenty Floyd County 4-H'ers will attend State 4-H Roundup June 6-10 on the Texas A&M University Campus. Over 2,000 4-H'ers, parents, and leaders from across the state will be involved in the week long event.

Allen Martin will begin the week of competition with an interview for a 4-H Foundation Scholarship. On Tuesday and Wednesday, Cynthia Martin and Charla Yearly will take part in the State 4-H Fashion Show. Wednesday will also see the rifle team of Tim Mitchell, Kaci Mathis, Matt Whittle, and Josh Robnett in competition.

Thursday's activities include the State 4-H Food Show involving Mandy Hunter and Kaci Mathis. A Landscape and Production Horticultural Illustrated Talk will be presented by Charla Yearly and Amand Ogden. Mark Terrell, Max

Green, Allen Martin, Rhonda Hickerson and Kay Lynn Lusk will make a Family Life Presentation and a Share-the-Fun Skit will be given by Leslieanne Hickerson, Bryan Bybee, Kristen Abney, Cynthia Martin, Chelsea Patridge, Cody Hayes, Stacey Lloyd, and Eric Bartlett.

FOOD SHOW CONTESTANTS PREPARE FOR COMPETITION by Kaci Mathis

Mandy Hunter and Kaci Mathis were up early Tuesday morning to leave for the State 4-H Food Show. The girls earned the tip to the Texas A&M campus at College Station by winning first place at both the county and district levels. Only four 4-H'ers (one per category) from District 2 will compete at the state level. The Foods and Nutrition project not only involves cooking, but learning the nutritional value of food and fitness.

To participate in the food show, a 4-H'er must be involved in a foods project.

The food show is a way to be recognized at many levels. A 4-H'er must choose a dish to prepare by himself, that falls into one of the following categories: Main Dish, Fruits and Vegetables, Nutritious Snacks and Desserts, and Breads and Cereals. The dish needs to be nutritious in some way. Contestants research and study many questions which the level of intensity depend on the age group. Some sample questions are: What are the main nutrients in your dish and what do they do for the body? What are the food groups and how many servings do you need daily? What preparation principles did you learn as a result of this project?

A judge at the food show interviews you, and they can choose any question they want to ask. For example, one year, a judge asked a nine year old girl, "How many calories are in a fat gram?" When you are preparing for the food show, don't be surprised if the judge asks you an off the wall question. The dish is also judged on taste, uniqueness, appearance, and overall value.

For the Food Show, Mandy made Light Potato Salad. This potato salad uses red potatoes and light nonfat dressing. Because Mandy's dad is diabetic, this recipe is very good for him. Not only is this recipe good for diabetics, but for any other person looking to stay healthy. Kaci made a Spinach-Mushroom Cheesecake. A special ingredient in this cheesecake is Feta Cheese. This cheesecake is especially good at parties and brunches. It is much like a cheesecake, because it is served on crackers.

To cook at A&M, both girls must take everything they need to prepare their dish, from a mixer to paper towels. Nothing will be provided at the contest preparation site. Mandy and Kaci will have four hours to prepare their dish before they are judged. The state contest is different from county and district in many ways. At state, contestants are judged by three judges on a one-to-one basis. At the other shows, there are two judges at the same time. Also at county and district, you bring your dish already prepared.

To advance to state is a great achievement. Even if they don't win, Mandy and Kaci will gain experience for years to come. Below are their recipes for reference.

1/4 c. grated carrot
1/4 c. diced dill pickle
1/4 c. sweet pickle relish
12 oz. jar diced pimientos, drained
1/4 c. plain nonfat yogurt
1/4 c. light mayonnaise
2 TBS. spicy brown mustard
1/2 teas. salt
1/8 teas. pepper
Wash potatoes and cut into 1/2 in. cubes; cook in boiling water until tender. Drain and let cool. Combine potatoes and next 8 ingredients; toss gently. Set aside. Combine yogurt and remaining ingredients; stir well, and pour over potato mixture. Toss gently; cover and chill. Yield: 9 servings (72 calories per 1/2 cup serving).

1/3 cup milk
4 large eggs
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground red pepper
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg
Grease bottom and sides of a 9-inch springform pan with butter. Dust sides of pan with 1 tablespoon breadcrumbs. Combine remaining breadcrumbs and 2 tablespoons melted butter; firmly press into bottom of pan. Set aside.

SPINACH-MUSHROOM CHEESECAKE

from Kaci Mathis
Butter or margarine
3/4 cup Italian-seasoned breadcrumbs, divided
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted and divided
1-10 ounce package chopped frozen spinach, thawed
1 cup chopped fresh mushrooms
1/4 cup finely chopped onions
2 cloves garlic, minced
1-2 ounce jar diced pimiento, drained
3-8 ounce packages cream cheese, softened
1-7 ounce package feta cheese, drained

Drain spinach on paper towels; set aside. Cook chopped mushrooms, chopped onion, and minced garlic in remaining 2 tablespoons melted butter in a large skillet over medium-high heat, stirring constantly, 3 minutes or until crisp-tender. Stir in spinach and pimiento. Set aside.

Beat cream cheese at medium speed with an electric mixer until creamy. Add feta cheese, beating until blended. Gradually add milk, beating at low speed until blended. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Stir in spinach mixture, salt, red pepper, black pepper and nutmeg. Pour into prepared pan. Bake at 300 degrees for 1 hour or until almost set. Turn oven off, and partially open over door; leave cheesecake in oven for 1 hour. Remove cheesecake from oven, and let cool completely on a wire rack. Cover and chill until serving time. Serve room temperature with crackers. Yield: 25 appetizer servings.

FLOYDADA—The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Leigh Marie Dawdy of Floydada has been named an All-American Scholar and her sister, Erin Nicole Dawdy has been named as a United States National Award winner in English.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. The All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or better grade point average. Only scholars selected by a school instructor, counselor or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the USAA.

Leigh, who attends Floydada Junior High, was nominated for this National Award by Mrs. Deanna Logan. She will appear in the All-American Scholar Directory, which is published nationally. This is the third consecutive year, she has been nominated for this award. As a sixth grader, she was nominated by Mrs. Frances Hambright and as a 7th grader by Mrs. Dara Ware.

Erin, a student at R.C. Andrews Elementary, was nominated for her national award by Mrs. Margaret Jones, an English teacher. Erin will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

Criteria for selection as a National Award winner are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative competitions. The Lubbock native attended Monterey High School and went on to earn acting honors at both Wayland Baptist University and Hardin Simmons University.

She was a teacher at Denver City High School for four years prior to accepting the position at Floydada.

Shannon Gammage announced as USAA national award winner

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Shannon Gammage has been named a United States National Award winner in Mathematics.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognized less than 10% of all American high school students.

Miss Gammage, who attended Coronado Junior High was nominated for this National Award by Julie Brantley a math teacher from Coronado Junior High in Plainview.

She will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook published nationally.

Shannon is the daughter of Ron and Shelley Gammage of Plainview and is the granddaughter of Emma Collins and Mr. and Mrs. N.H. Gammage all of Lockney.

Deadline is June 24 for TASP registration at SPC

June 24 is the registration deadline for the final TASP exam of the summer scheduled July 23 at South Plains College in Levelland.

The exam will be administered at 8 a.m. in the SPC Student Assistance Center on the third floor of the Library building. Fee is $26.

The TASP (Texas Academic Skills Program) test measures a student's strengths and weaknesses in reading, writing and mathematics. The test is required of any full or part-time student who has not earned at least three semester hours of college credit prior to 1989.

The TASP test is not used as an admissions criterion but is designed to indicate whether or not a student possesses adequate basic college-level skills necessary to begin an undergraduate degree, said Claudine Oliver, director of guidance and counseling at SPC.

All three parts of the TASP test must be successfully mastered before a student is awarded an associate degree or allowed to transfer into junior or senior level courses. Exemptions are granted to students who have earned at least three semester credit hours of college-level work prior to the fall of 1989 or who are enrolled in certain certificate programs.

A pre-TASP test, designed for students who do not take the TASP test prior to fall registration at SPC, will be administered June 21 and July 19. The test will be given from 9 a.m. to noon in the Student Assistance Center.

For more information on SPC's testing procedures, contact the SPC guidance and counseling office at 806-894-9611, ext. 366 or 368.

ABC's for summer protection

This summer, parents should teach their children the ABC's -- Away, Block and Cover.

"Skin protection from the sun's harsh rays should begin early in life since people get approximately 80 percent of their total lifetime sun exposure by age 18," said Dr. John Wolf, chairman of dermatology at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Wolf says teach your child the following ABC's for safe, summer fun:

A = Away. Stay away from the sun from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. when the sun's rays are most intense. Let your child have indoor fun like playing games, reading a book or helping bake cookies.

B = Block. Use a sunblock with a sun protection factor (SPF) of 15, covering the shoulders, lips, nose and ears. For fun, your child might enjoy wearing colored sunscreen.

C = Cover. Encourage your child to wear a T-shirt and a baseball-type cap, and ask them to play in the shade. Letting them run through a water sprinkler under a large tree is a time-tested way to have fun and keep cool. Protect young eyes with sunglasses. Choose fun shades like neon-colored, cartoon and multi-colored glasses.

The natural effects of aging increase with more sun. A serious result of sunlight exposure is skin cancer, the most common form of cancer in Americans.

A sunscreen is the best defense against damage to a young child's tender skin - especially for infants. Although some sunscreens are especially formulated for infants, it is best to keep babies out of the sun.

"Babies 6 months old and younger should be kept out of direct sunlight and wear protective clothing," Wolf said. "If an infant is outside in a stroller, be sure there is shade or a protective covering."

Wolf says parents should have a skin first aid kit including a sunscreen, a moisturizing lotion and a pain reliever.

For sunburns, place a cool, wet compress on the affected area and apply a soothing lotion to treat peeling and dryness. Give the child a non-aspirin pain reliever for burning and stinging. If blistering occurs, consult a dermatologist immediately.

If your child is taking medication that makes skin sun-sensitive, be especially wary about protecting the skin from sun exposure.

"To a child, nothing's more fun than playing outdoors," Wolf said. "But don't let sunburned skin ruin your child's summer."

Bugs are back and in a buzz

The bugs are back. And they're in a buzz.

Even if you dread that familiar summer scenario, there is little you can do to prevent a run-in with one of the many vicious, venom carrying insects that invade every pool party, picnic, baseball game and barbecue.

"Repellent will keep mosquitoes at bay, but the only way to avoid the sting of a harmful flying insect like a wasp or honeybee is to stay a safe distance away," says Dr. Robert Fromm Jr., Director of Emergency Services at The Methodist Hospital in Houston.

Dr. Fromm says swatting at them with your hand may just stir them up, so it's best to just move away as fast as you can. "If you should disrupt a nest or beehive, run!" says Dr. Fromm.

Certain flying insects, like the honeybee, can sting just once, but several will strike several times and that means more poison penetrating your skin.

"Nausea, vomiting, shortness of breath, weakness and generalized swelling usually mean a lot of venom has been secreted into the skin," says Dr. Fromm. "If you notice those symptoms, it's time to see a doctor."

If you are stung by a honeybee, the bee will leave its stinger stuck in your skin along with a small sack which contains venom. Don't squeeze it! Dr. Fromm advises gently scraping it off the skin so the venom will not penetrate.

All insect stings will likely produce some localized swelling, redness of the skin, pain and an itching sensation. "The best way to treat most stings is to apply ice for the swelling and a lotion or cream to relieve the itching," says Dr. Fromm, "but try to resist the urge to scratch the affected area since that often causes an infection."

And one more thing. Interestingly enough the smell of some fragrances and trash is a magnet for most stinging insects.

Anita McCormick named on HSU President's List

Anita R. McCormick of Floydada has been listed on the President's List at Hardin-Simmons University for the 1994 Spring semester.

The President's List is composed of students carrying 12 or more semester hours who have grades of A on all courses for the semester.

ASCS announces haying and grazing on ACR and CU acres

Floyd County has been approved for emergency haying and grazing of ACR and CU for Pay acres, under the 1994 Acreage Reduction Program, because of conditions that caused supplemental feeding above normal during the winter and spring, hay stocks were reduced significantly. The County Committee also requested that CRP acres be released also, but this request has been denied at this time. To my knowledge, there have not been any counties approved for Emergency Haying and Grazing of CRP acres anywhere. Producers that want to hay and graze these acres must file an application with this office BEFORE any haying and grazing takes place during the restricted period.

Some of the restrictions are as follows:

- The producers shall not:
 - *Remove cover to the extent the land is exposed to wind and water erosion.
 - *Harvest approved covers for grain or seed.
 - *Hay or graze wildlife food plots.
 - *Hay or graze wildlife habitat.
 - *Hay or graze alfalfa this is or could be irrigated.
 - *Hay or graze locally approved program crops or mixtures containing program crops.
 - *Cover established with ACP funds until the growth is well established.
 - *Grazing Small Grain crops allowed to remain standing.
 - If the participant sells standing or harvested hay, or leases the grazing privilege to a livestock producer, the participant must obtain from the livestock producer a signed statement that the livestock producer will not resell the hay or sublease the grazing privilege to anyone, and that the haying or grazing will be used to feed livestock owned or leased by that livestock producer.
- This approval will allow Floyd County producers to continue grazing any substantially destroyed small grain grazing they may still have, (except small grain left standing requests), and will also allow producers to plant hay-grazer (non-hegari mixtures or other grain sorghum mixtures) on these acres for grazing and/or hay. Inaccurate certifications or failure to make application and complete necessary paperwork could be very costly, so remember to take care of this promptly to avoid contract terminations.

CERTIFICATION REMINDER

July 15, 1994, is the final certification date for Feed Grains and Cotton. Please contact this office to schedule an appointment so that we can help save you time, and avoid unneeded delays.

LIVESTOCK FEED PROGRAM

Floyd County has been approved for the emergency livestock feed program. Livestock owners that have lost part of the grazing or crops normally produced to feed livestock should apply. It is important that an application be initiated as soon as possible. An application may be initiated by contacting the Floyd County ASCS office either by phone or in person. Producers should be prepared to provide the livestock owners and farm serial numbers where the feed crops or the grazing is located. Applications will be taken of an appointment basis. Please call to schedule an appointment if interested in the program. If an appointment is scheduled and/or the application is completed within fifteen (15) days from the date application is initiated, the date of application will be the date used to start your feeding period.

TOLERANCE RULES

In complying with the farm programs, tolerance rules have changed for 1994. Tolerance will be the larger of 5% or one acre, not to exceed 50.0 acres. An accurate acreage report is essential, acreages reported outside of the allowable tolerances are subject to the affected crop, or land use being ineligible for program benefits, or a penalty. Please make sure your reported acres are accurate. Guaranteed measurements can be obtained from this office when the applicable fees are paid. Measurement Service is offered at a reasonable rate, and can save you money, stop by and check it out.

Post-directed herbicides in cotton —From Kerry Siders, CEA-Ag.

If you have problem weeds in cotton which your preplant herbicides are not controlling and/or you did not utilize the preemergence at-planting herbicides, you need to plan on using post-directed herbicides. Directed sprays will be most beneficial when applied to 3 to 6 inch cotton in order to catch the weeds when they are small (generally less than 2 inches).

Applying herbicides to 3 to 6 inch cotton requires specialized equipment and precision nozzle arrangement. Excellent results can be obtained on small cotton with "sliding show or skid-type" application equipment. These rigs may also be used in larger cotton.

Fender-type cultivators are effective for making precision-directed applications to small cotton while cultivating the middles. Nozzles can be mounted on the fender and adjusted to cover a 12 to 16 inch band under the cotton. A regular cultivator with gauge wheels to maintain constant nozzle-ground clearance may also be used to apply directed herbicides.

Some herbicides which can be used as post-directed are: Bladex, Caparol, Cotoran, Direx or Karmex, DSMA, MSMA, and Cobra. Consult your chemical dealer or give me a call on specific usage of each of the chemicals which vary in weeds controlled and various restrictions.

Figures reflect lower deficiency payments

By Shawn Wade

Marketing figures and the average price received by farmers for the period January through March indicated lower cotton deficiency payments can probably be expected in 1994 according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG).

PCG officials note that tightening world stocks and increased demand have helped drive cotton prices higher, causing the weighted average price for cotton through March to climb to 66.1 cents per pound. Through the same period in 1993 the weighted average price was a full 12.9 cents lower at 53.2 cents per pound.

Marketing during the first quarter of 1994 are running behind 1993 figures by some 749,000 bales. Cumulative marketing for the first three months of 1994 totaled 3,764,000 bales.

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) estimated the 1994 Upland cotton deficiency payment at 12.9 cents per pound in February with an advance payment of 6.45 cents per pound available at programs sign-up.

Although it is still too early to recognize any meaningful trend from the year to date marketing and price information that has been released, given current marketings and the weighted average price received the projected 1994 deficiency payment totals 8.26 cents per pound. After subtracting the advance payment of 6.45 cent per pound many producer's have already received the final payment would only total 1.18 cents per pound.

"The good news for cotton producers at this time is the increase in the price of cotton over the last few months," notes PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. "The only down-side to higher prices is its effect on the eventual size of this year's deficiency payment."

Historically, Johnson adds, the calendar year weighted average price of cotton used to figure deficiency payments is higher than the prices actually paid for High Plains cotton.

Upland cotton deficiency payments are calculated as the lesser of the difference between the 72.9 cent target price and either the Commodity Credit Corporation loan rate or the average price received by farmers weighted by total marketing for the calendar year.

The preliminary volume of marketings and prices received in cents per pound as reported by the National Agricultural Statistics Service through March appear below.

Preliminary Marketings and Prices Received Through March 1994

	Marketings (1000 Bales)		Price (cents/lb.)		Weighted Ave. Price
	1993	1994	1993	1994	1993	1994
January	2681	2100	53.0	63.7	53.0	63.7
February	1009	922	53.8	65.6	53.2	64.3
March	823	742	56.3	66.1	53.8	64.6

FmHA loan program targeting socially disadvantaged groups

Socially disadvantaged groups are benefiting from a special loan program offered by the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA). "FmHA is reaching out to members of socially disadvantaged groups to help them obtain their goals of farm ownership," said George Ellis, Texas FmHA State Director.

Applicants must be a member of the following race/ethnic origin groups: black (not of Hispanic origin), Hispanic, American Indian or Alaskan Native, Asian/Pacific Islander, or women.

The socially disadvantaged outreach is mandated by the Agriculture Act of 1987, and defines a Socially Disadvantaged Applicant (SDA) as "an applicant who has been subjected to racial or ethnic prejudice or cultural bias because of his/her identity as a member of a group without regard to his/her individual qualities."

Under this program, FmHA will try to find persons in the SDA categories who are interested in farming. FmHA will be prepared to seller lease, to those applicants who qualify, a farm held in inventory if any are available in the county of the applicant's choice. FmHA can also provide other loan and technical assistance, if needed, to help the borrower get started.

The SDA statistics (all categories) so far in Fiscal Year 1994 (as of March 31, 1994) are as follows:

Direct Farm Operating Loans: Obligated: 111, Amount: $4,374,340

Guaranteed Farm Operating Loans: Obligated: 21, Amount: $1,602,960
Direct Farm Ownership Loans: Obligated: 20, Amount: $1,825,700
Guaranteed Farm Ownership Loans: Obligated: 6, Amount: $1,113,420
Total: Obligated 158, Amount: $8,916,420
