THE SPECIAL SESSION of the Texas Legislature convened this week in Austin. The main reason for the special session is for lawmakers to pass some public school legislation.

No one knows at this point just what the legislature may pass, but just about everyone agrees that before the special session has adjourned, Texas taxpayers will feel the results in their hip pockets.

Virtually everyone has heard by now about the "Select Committee on Education," headed by H. Ross Perot, which has made a number of fairly liberal recommendations. These include a longer school year, a longer school day, and less emphasis on the extra-curricular activities and more emphasis on the basics.

The committee's recommendations go a lot further than that, but this is a simplified analysis.

Just what direction the legislature will go in overhauling our school system is anyone's guess, but regardless of what new legislation is passed--and you can depend on something--it will cost state residents more tax money.

For most of the last decade, our state lawmakers, from the governor on down, have been harping about the fact that they have "passed no new tax laws."

This may be true, but what they have done, on the school situation, is withdraw a big portion of state funds from the educational system, with the local school districts having to make up the difference. As a result, the schools have had to raise real estate and property taxes to the hilt, in order to keep their school systems operating.

Now that the local tax base has been taxed more heavily, the state lawmakers are more or less admitting that they will have to raise taxes on a state level in order to fund whatever new program they decide upon.

And the route that the new taxes may take are making taxpayers jump like they've just been hit by a needle in a doctor's office.

Some of the proposals include raising the state sales tax by another penny or two. Also, there is the proposal to eliminate the sales tax exemption on such things as groceries and services, such as doctor bills, and fees from other professional people.

And, if you don't think your local school taxes are high enough, maybe you need to be aware that one proposal has been advanced which has a "Robin Hood" type of basis. This proposal would take money away from the school districts which are deemed "wealthy," or at least able to pay, and give it to the poorer districts.

It should come as no surprise that those who may do such overhauling of the tax structure will consider districts in the rural areas as "wealthy," due to the large amount of farm land. (Most legislators have never farmed, so they probably don't know about the sad plight of agriculture).

Since our area's legislators, James (Pete) Laney and Bill Sarpalius, are life-long residents of the district, they know the problems our residents are facing. Perhaps if you feel inclined to contact a state representative or a senator, you should pick out one from Houston or Dallas, since they are the ones most likely to do our area "fiscal harm."

Having been a longtime political observer, ye editor always has been inclined to be a little bit nervous when the legislators are in session. However, this season may well call for a double-dose of the tranquilizers.

UNCLE AUSTIN ELLIS of Tennessee says he plans to retire next year when he is 77 years old. "I aim to have some fun. If I'm going to kick up my heels I'm going to have to do it before I get old."

Area Receives Some Rainfall

The Friona area has had a series of cloudy, rainy days during the past week, which brought at least a little hope for a change from the dry conditions.

The city's official weather recorder, Rodney Dunnam, recorded .46 inch of rain on three dates during the week. Reports were that in the outlying areas, more moisture was received, although there also have been reports of spotted hail.

A shower on Tuesday evening left a total of .27 inch of moisture, while an early-morning shower on Thursday added .08 inch (the eastern edge of the city received another shower Wednesday evening that did not register in the official gauge). Friday morning's reading was .11 inch of moisture.

Temperatures for the week were mostly on the mild side. The low on Sunday, June 10 dropped to 54 degrees. Thursday's high was only 78, after a week's high point of 92 degrees on Tuesday.

Farmers are hoping for more in the way of moisture to help out their young crops, and forecasters were expecting the rain cycle to last at least through Saturday.

Anonymous Donor Assists P.C. Hospital

A very important need was supplied for Parmer County Community Hospital recently through the generosity of an anonymous donor, according to Elda Hart, hospital administrator.

The purchase of a new storage building was made possible, plus new shelving for the hospital, a new desk for a person who works with health insurance claims, and a new typewriter for the pharmacy. The gift may also allow for purchase of other small items.

There are always needs at the hospital, which is a non-profit self-sustaining institution. Anyone wishing to help in any way, large or small, should contact Ms. Hart.

The hospital has a building fund account, which can always be added to, in order to be available for future needs, such as roofing and other major repairs. There are a few donors who add to this fund monthly, and their donations are put into a certificate of deposit, to draw maximum interest.

The Parmer County Hospital Auxiliary, through their annual rummage sale, keeps the waiting room attractive. New drapes and new chairs have been added recently, as well as drapes and new paint for the patient rooms.

Modern Study Club is another regular supporter of the hospital, through Project Christmas Card, which gains excellent cooperation from the public, and has added over $60,000 worth of equipment for the hospital in the 28 years it has operated.

Many other projects have benefitted the hospital, such as Progressive Study Club's money doll at Maize Days time.

"We appreciate all of the help we receive. Since we are a private institution, we depend upon the generosity such as that of this latest donor, to keep us going," Ms. Hart said.

Officers Are Named By Co-op

New officers and directors for Friona Wheat Growers, Inc. were named Tuesday at the annual meeting of the cooperative.

David Grimsley will serve as president of the cooperative for 1984-85. A.W. (Dub) Anthony will serve as vice president and Ernest Osborn will be secretary-treasurer.

Directors are Larry Moyer and Sam Mears. Junior directors are Gene Schueler, Roy Don Rector and Clay Bandy.

Meryle Massie delivered the first load of 1984 wheat to Friona Wheat Growers on Monday, June 11. It was Tam 105, and was dryland wheat. Test weight was 60.3 pounds per bushel, and moisture content was 14.0.

Massie said the wheat looked like it would make around 25 bushels per acre.

ELECTRICITY...The Friona area experienced electrical storms two nights this week, during which there was some much-needed rainfall. Both Tuesday and Wednesday nights, however, the electrical displays out-did the rainfall. (Photo by Lisa McLellan)

DAD'S DAY...Bobby Jordan is a happy father as he poses with his two children, Lori, seven and Todd, ten. Bobby is a Friona product who has returned to make the community his home. They plan to have Sunday lunch at his parents' home,

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Jordan. Both Bobby and Todd are involved with Little League baseball. Todd plays for Friona Ford, and Bobby serves as coach and umpire.

Crippled War Vet Stops During "Hunger Walk"

By SCOOTER RUSSELL

Bob Wieland, 36, lost both his legs while serving in the Army 13 years ago while fighting in Vietnam. While on combat-medical patrol, he stepped on and detonated an 82 millimeter mortar round. After surgeries, numerous blood transfusions, a 105-degree fever and a bout with malaria, Bob regained consciousness to find his body blown in half.

Before Vietnam, Wieland aspired to play professional baseball with the Philadelphia Phillies--he was negotiating the contract when he was, instead, drafted with a different "team."

Torch To Enter County On Sunday

Residents of the area will have a rare opportunity to see the Olympic Torch relay, when it passes through the county on Sunday in the midst of its New York to Los Angeles trip across the nation.

The torch runners will be in Muleshoe at about 11:30 a.m. Sunday morning (June 16). They are then due in Clovis, N.M. at about 2:30 p.m. CDT.

Special ceremonies are scheduled for the Olympic Torch runners in Lubbock Saturday afternoon. The runners were scheduled to stop in Littlefield for the night, and resume their cross-country vigil at 8 a.m. Sunday.

Citizens were expected to line the route at the various cities. Texas is one of 32 states, plus the District of Columbia, included in the 82-day relay route, which will end in Los Angeles to herald the opening of the XXIII Olympiad.

More than 2,000 individual torchbearers will carry the flame, which was originated in Greece and flown to New York.

The support/supply caravan includes 34 vehicles, 26 of which are GMC motor homes, trailers and trucks which house and feed the group of runners and technical personnel. ARA Services cater and serve more than 150 meals each day, in addition to nutritious snacks, and provides housekeeping for the 82-day project.

Sponsors of the event include AT&T, United Airlines, Levi Strauss and Converse.

After Vietnam, Bob seized weight lifting as a rehabilitation tool and soon began entering amateur weight lifting competitions. Only eight years

County 4-H Horse Show Set Saturday

Bovina will serve as host for the Parmer County 4-H horse show Saturday, June 16, beginning at 10 a.m.

There are two age divisions: Pee-Wees (under nine years) and 4-H Club members (9-19). Contestants will compete in 23 events, including halter events, pleasure events, timed events and roping events.

Matching head stalls and reins will be given, one for high point performance and one for high point timed event winner.

Also, 15 belt buckles will be given for class winners, and winners of grand and reserve for the mare and gelding divisions. Ribbons will be awarded for the top six places.

The public is invited to attend the show, which will be an all-day affair. Contestants earn points toward the district 4-H show in Lubbock June 26.

FIRST WHEAT...W.M. Massie, left, marketed Friona's first load of wheat for 1984 on Monday, June 11. He is being presented a bonus check by Ron Smiley, manager of Friona Wheat Growers. Massie's wheat was dryland, Tam 105 variety, and he expects to harvest 25 bushels to the acre.

later, Bob successfully broke the world record in the bantam weight division competing against able-bodied men. But officials refused to sanction the 303-pound bench press lift citing (among other technicalities) a little-known rule that says "shoes must be worn during competition."

Banned from competition, Bob hasn't let his disappointment overwhelm him. He now has another dream--to walk across America, from California to the steps of the White House, on his hands.

Bob holds degrees in physical education and recreation. He served six years on the faculty at California State University/Los Angeles' physical education department, coordinating strength and flexibility programs for athletes. Wieland is founder/director of Strive for Success Motivational and Fitness Enterprise. He has appeared on numerous television and radio broadcasts and is the only veteran to be named Outstanding Disabled American Veteran in two states (Wisconsin and California).

Fond of delivering the message, "Through faith in God, determination and dedication, there's nothing a person can't achieve," Bob Wieland lives by his words.

Mrs. Treider Is Buried On Friday

Funeral services for Viola B. Treider, 80, were conducted in Hereford Friday morning, with graveside services at Friona Cemetery under the direction of Rix Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Treider passed away Wednesday, June 13.

Born in Harvey, North Dakota, Mrs. Treider was the middle child of five born to John and Hannah Gischler, early-day Friona residents. When she was five, her mother died of tuberculosis, and the family lived for a time in Canada, later moving to this area.

After receiving her education, Viola became a school teacher. After having taught for two years, she married George Treider, whose family had moved from Iowa to the Star Ranch (later the Lazbuddie community) in 1908.

The couple farmed in the Lazbuddie area for a time, and later lived in California and Oregon for awhile, each time returning to Texas.

George began a partnership in irrigation farming with his brother-in-law, the late Carl Maurer, when that type of farming was new. He passed away in 1966.

Tarter Exhibits Champion Gilt

Tarter Ducros, Lazbuddie, exhibited the champion Duroc gilt at the National Mid-West Conference held June 3 and 4 in Des Moines, Iowa.

According to the United Duroc Swine Registry, Peoria, Illinois, the champion gilt sold for $800 to Ken-O-Kaw Farms, Windsor, Illinois.

The National Mid-West Conference sale resulted in a $63,545 total, with 44 boars averaging $1,084 and 43 gilts averaging $369.

VIOLA TREIDER

The Treiders built a new home on the West Loop (Fifth Street), in 1949. It was the second home built in that area. Mrs. Treider continued to live there until 1982, when she moved to Hereford.

She was a retired school teacher, having taught at Lazbuddie and Friona for a number of years.

Survivors include two daughters, Karen Zinser of Hereford and Phyllis Bagley of Amarillo; a son, Dale of Albuquerque, N.M.; a brother, Ruben Gischler of Eugene, Oregon; two sisters, Constance Walker of Las Gatos, California and Luella Maurer of Denver, Colorado.

Four great-grandchildren also survive.

Pallbearers were George Rushing, Jerry Hinkle, Joe Wilhelm, Jerry Wilburn, Melvin Treider and Mike Lyons.

Honorary pallbearers were Raymond Higginbotham, Ray Cheyne, Bill Stewart, Milford Gresham, Lenoy Tooley, Garland Soloman and Charles Russell.

PUC Approves Rate Increase

The Public Utility Commission of Texas has approved a slight increase in charges for intrastate long-distance calls within the regional calling areas called local access and transports areas (LATA) established by the federal judge overseeing the divestiture of AT&T and the Bell operating companies.

The new charges, effective June 1, do not apply to intrastate calls made between the regional calling areas which are carried by the long-distance carriers rather than the local telephone companies.

The new rates apply to customers of all local telephone companies, including General Telephone, since the local companies are joint providers of long-distance service within each of the regional calling areas.

LOOKING AND FEELING BETTER

QUESTION: Why do so many people go to the bother and expense of switching from eyeglasses to contacts?

ANSWER: There are practical and optical advantages to wearing contacts. However, this is not the primary reason why so many people have switched and are switching to them. According to a recent survey, appearance is the single greatest reason for making the change. Contacts have no unflattering frames to obscure and change the appearance of your face, nor thick lenses to enlarge or diminish the appearance of your eyes.

Looking better (and seeing better) also seems to bring a psychological lift to people. Many contact wearers say they feel less inhibited and more confident after switching.

Thank you to all of Friona for your many acts of kindnesses these past few weeks. The love and concern of you all has been overwhelming and very appreciated.

Our special thanks go to the ambulance crew who acted so efficiently and quickly. We understand the doctors in Friona praised them for their professional manner and we thank them for their real concern shown to us.

Also special thanks to Dr. Paul and Dr. Lee and especially to Gladys Wilson who probably saved Jamie's life with her promptness.

We feel so close to our community that it will be hard going to Denver for three or four months, but we know your prayers are with us and that will make it easier. Thanks to all.

Keeping Your Household In Order

Around this time of year we are keenly aware of household records and getting organized. Tax time does that to us. Many of us make a vow to keep things organized, but are unsure what to keep and what to throw out. Most people have papers all over the house in no certain place or order. Do you know where to look for your records?

You don't have to save every piece of paper to have good family records. Here is a review of what is important to keep.

A notebook and drawer specifically for family records is most helpful. Start with a list of each family member as shown on social security card or birth certificate. Then list family advisors such as attorney, banker, insurance agent, accountant and how to reach them.

Next come the papers, you should keep:

Birth Certificates or adoption papers. These are necessary for everything from starting to school to qualifying for social security. Death Certificates may be needed for legal or financial purposes.

Marriage Records include license or certificate. Also include divorce papers with these.

Military Service Records are needed for benefits both for self and dependents or survivors. Be sure to include any documents related to medical treatment or disability.

Passports—even expired ones are helpful—to satisfy some of the application requirements for a new one. Social Security, Employment records will expedite payment of benefits. Wills are essential for most satisfactory settlement of estates. Keep them updated! Keep one copy in the safety deposit box, one at home and one with your attorney. Tax Records—it's best to keep five year's returns—four back ones plus the latest one filed.

Other papers to keep include contracts, property deeds, guarantees, mortgage papers, citizenship papers and church records. Don't forget current insurance policies.

More Lists! Keep a list of credit and debit cards that each family member uses. Include the account number and who to contact should it be lost or stolen.

Keep a record of debts outstanding as well as money owed to the family.

Investments—Complete up to date records of bonds and stocks.

Real Estate records help you analyze your assets from time to time as well as helping to identify the specific boundaries of your real property.

Household Inventory is as easy as taking a picture of the four walls of each room, open drawers and doors and photograph the contents in cabinets, shelves and dressers. Keep these in a safety deposit box to safe guard them from being destroyed should some disaster strike your home.

As you set your household in order, involve family members—you may not always be around to answer questions or help make decisions. If you would like more help, call this office and request the booklet "Setting Your Household In Order." It will guide you through the steps outlined above.

Hunger Walker..

offers people a chance to get involved with this privately-sponsored campaign against hunger and has been organized partially in response to President Reagan's request that the private sector afford some solutions to the problems of the poor and needy.

Bob travels five to seven miles per day, walking an average of six days per week. If you would like to add your support to his efforts and join hundreds of other Americans in this people to people attack on hunger, you can become a "step sponsor" by sending $5.00 for each step you wish to sponsor to Bob Wieland, Walk For Hunger, Box 2686, Laguna Hills, Ca. 92653.

Wieland arrived in Friona Tuesday evening, and then was sighted by many townspeople as he made his way down Highway 60 on Wednesday.

Wednesday at noon, Nancy and Ray Jackson hosted Wieland and his party at the Parmer House Restaurant for lunch. Marshall Cardiff joined Wieland on February 15 at Las Cruces, N.M., and has pledged to accompany Wieland the rest of the way on his journey. Wieland says Cardiff serves as his "coordinator," and lines up speaking engagements and places to stay.

During his sojourn through Parmer and Deaf Smith counties, Wieland is staying with the Frank Ford family in Hereford.

When he began his trip in September of 1982, Jennifer Roy, who has since begun her own cross-country crusade with her donkey and covered wagon, came to "see him off." They met up again at Ruidoso, N.M., in April, when Mrs. Roy overtook Wieland.

Wieland stresses that he is a born-again Christian, and says that he has prayed with over 400 people along his route, and "asked Jesus to come into their lives."

He will speak at the Sunday evening services (6 p.m.) at the Church of the Nazarene in Hereford, and is also scheduled to speak on Tuesday, June 19 at the Full-Gospel Businessmen's luncheon meeting at the Caison House Restaurant in Hereford.

When he arrived in Friona, Bob had completed 1,126.2 miles of his cross-country trip, and had reached the 41 per cent milestone, which had taken him 1,983,000 steps, he said. His tentative arrival date in Washington, D.C., is August, 1985. But, he adds, there are a number of things which influence his travelling pace.

Wieland's route will take him through Amarillo, Oklahoma City, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Columbus, Ohio, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and finally, the nation's capital.

"Texas has the best highways I've seen," Wieland said. He also was highly complimentary of the nice meal the Jacksons provided for him.

Around The House

By LAURA JACOBS

The salad bar is becoming an American institution. They can now be found in every type of restaurant from fast food stores to the finest steak houses.

Of course, restaurants have salad bars because their customers want them. When the magazine Restaurants and Institutions recently asked customers what menu items they're ordering more often, salad was the number one answer.

People like salad bars for a variety of reasons, most of them having to do with nutrition. Often they'll say they eat at the salad bar because it's not fattening, it's nutritious, you can make it any way you want, and you make a whole meal out of it, and it's good for you even if you're on a special diet.

Salad bars can live up to these nutritional expectations but it's not automatic. Whether your salad is high in nutrients, low in calories, right for your special diet, or adequate for a one-dish meal, depends entirely upon the choices you make.

For some people, a salad is a bowl of iceberg lettuce with dressing. That type of salad is high in fiber and low in calories if you don't over-do it on the dressing. But you can do better nutritionally by adding vegetables high in vitamins A and C.

Pale green leaves, such as iceberg lettuce, don't provide much vitamin A and C. But dark green leaves like Romaine lettuce and spinach do.

The typical salad bar also has many other good vitamin A and C sources such as hot red peppers, broccoli, carrots, cauliflower and cole slaw.

Vegetables can't do everything for you, however. So if your salad is supposed to be an entire meal, you should also include some non-vegetable ingredients like bacon bits, shredded cheese, chopped egg or cottage cheese. These are good sources of protein, calcium and riboflavin.

Some nutrients, like thiamin, iron and niacin are primarily supplied by foods you don't often see at salad bars, such as meats and grain products.

If you're looking for a low-calorie meal, the salad bar may not necessarily be the best place to find it. By choosing helpings of potato salad, cottage cheese, gelatin and cole slaw along with your vegetables, then topping it with bacon bits and croutons and using a non-diet dressing, you can wind up with more calories than a "regular" meal.

To keep your calorie count down when you go to the salad bar, follow these suggestions from the American Council on Science and Health:

*Select the plain raw vegetables because they have the lowest calorie counts.

*Don't take too many pickled foods. They're somewhat higher in calories because sugar is added in the pickling process. Pickled beets, for example, have twice as many calories as plain beets.

*Avoid the non-vegetable items such as cottage cheese and the various high-calorie dressings. Cottage cheese and cheese are good sources of calcium, however, so you might want to include them if you are not normally a milk-drinker.

*Stay away from prepared salads like cole slaw, potato salad and marinated salads. Prepared salads are higher in calories than plain vegetables because they use high-calorie dressings. For example, cole slaw contains more than six times the calories of plain cabbage.

*Use only a small amount of dressing. Some diet dressings have as much as 30 calories a tablespoon, and the calories will add up fast if you use a large amount.

special dinner or gift for dad—may not change much over the years. But a father's role in the family has and continues to change.

Family relations experts tell us that one of the biggest changes in the father's role is parenting.

For years a father's parenting role has been considered secondary to his work, especially for men in professional and managerial positions or for ambitious men in any occupation. In addition, society has tended to equate womanliness with being a mother while fatherhood was less frequently associated with manliness.

But changes in both women's and men's roles are having an impact on fathering. For example, increasing numbers of fathers take an active role in preparing for child birth and the actual delivery. Participation in all aspects of child bearing are being shared to a greater degree by both parents as well.

Many factors including divorce, the employment of women outside the home and more leisure time have increased men's involvement with children. But perhaps the most significant factor is society's recognition that fathers have an important role to play in their children's lives.

"Fathers' Role In Families" The way you celebrate Father's Day—with a cake.

Summer Drama Workshop Is Scheduled July 9-21

July 9-21 has been set as the dates for the 1984 Summer Drama Workshop which is sponsored by the Friona Fine Arts Council. Directing the shows this year will be Phillip Duggins and Lou-Ida Marsh.

Duggins will work with the 10-13 age group and will do "Peter Pan." Mrs. Marsh will direct the older students in a production of "Dark of the Moon," a folk fantasy about a witch boy who falls in love with a girl.

Rehearsal times will be 9 a.m.-12 noon for the younger group. The older group will meet twice daily, once in the afternoon and once in the evening.

Registration forms need to be picked up at 1615 West Tenth (Gaye Tannahill's) or 213 West Eighth (Joy Morton's) and should be returned by Monday, July 2. The fee is $25.00 per individual and $40.00 per family.

"Plan to join Phillip and Lou-Ida for an exciting and educational experience," said a spokesman for the Summer Drama Workshop.

Phillip, the director of "Peter Pan" is certainly familiar to most of us in Friona. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B.E. Duggins and is a graduate of Friona High School.

Many will remember Phillip as the summer time swimming instructor while others will recall his high school performances in "Alice In Wonderland," "Lil' Abner," "No, No Nannette," "Dinny and The Witches," "Pegora the Witch," and "Aesop's Fables."

While in college, Phillip returned to Friona to choreograph "Annie, Get Your Gun," "Guys and Dolls," "Fiddler on the Roof," and "Hello Dolly." College productions that Phillip participated in included: "Aesop's Fables," "The Shadow Box," "The Matchmaker," "Fiddler on the Roof," "The Bad Seed," "Torchbearers," and "You Can't Take It With You."

He served as the president of Alpha Psi Omega, the National Theatre Fraternity, and was twice selected for the Branding Iron Theatre's "Best Director" award.

For the past two years Phillip has taught speech and drama at Dalhart High School and has done some work with the Dalhart Community Theatre. He has recently been hired to teach at San Angelo Central High School.

Duggins' productions in Dalhart included "The Music Man," "Dark of the Moon," "Godspell," "Fiddler on the Roof," "The Wizard of Oz" and "The Diviners."

During Phillip's first year of teaching his one act play, "Dark of the Moon," was chosen alternate at the area meet and this year his production of "The Diviners" advanced to the regional meet.

Besides being a frequent summer time participant in the local workshop, Phillip has directed shows at the WTSU drama workshop. He is eager to come home and teach the children "to fly."

Lou-Ida Marsh has served as the Theatre Arts Director for Caldwell High School for the past twelve years and has been involved in the public school business off and on for 29 years as a parent, a teacher, and a school board member.

Her husband, Jim, is a professor at Texas A&M University. Their daughters, Missy and Mollie, are a working girl and a student, respectively.

Lou-Ida has directed over 40 productions. Included in this number are: "Fiddler on the Roof," "Oklahoma," "Shenandoah," "The Curious Savage," "The Rainmaker," "Our Town," "You Can't Take It With You," "Aesop's Fables," "The Zen Substitute," "The Miracle Worker," "I Never Saw Another Butterfly," "Becket," "The Lark," "Dark of the Moon," "Black Elk Speaks," "Galileo" and "The Trojan Women."

This year her production of "The Trojan Women" won the AAA state championship. Her one act play shows have qualified for the state meet seven out of the last eight years and have received two state championships and two first runner-up awards.

In addition to directing plays at CHS, Mrs. Marsh has also coached all of the speech activities, taught journalism and English, and sponsored classes. She has directed workshops for WTSU, TETA and UIL. Currently she is a member of the UIL Advisory Board.

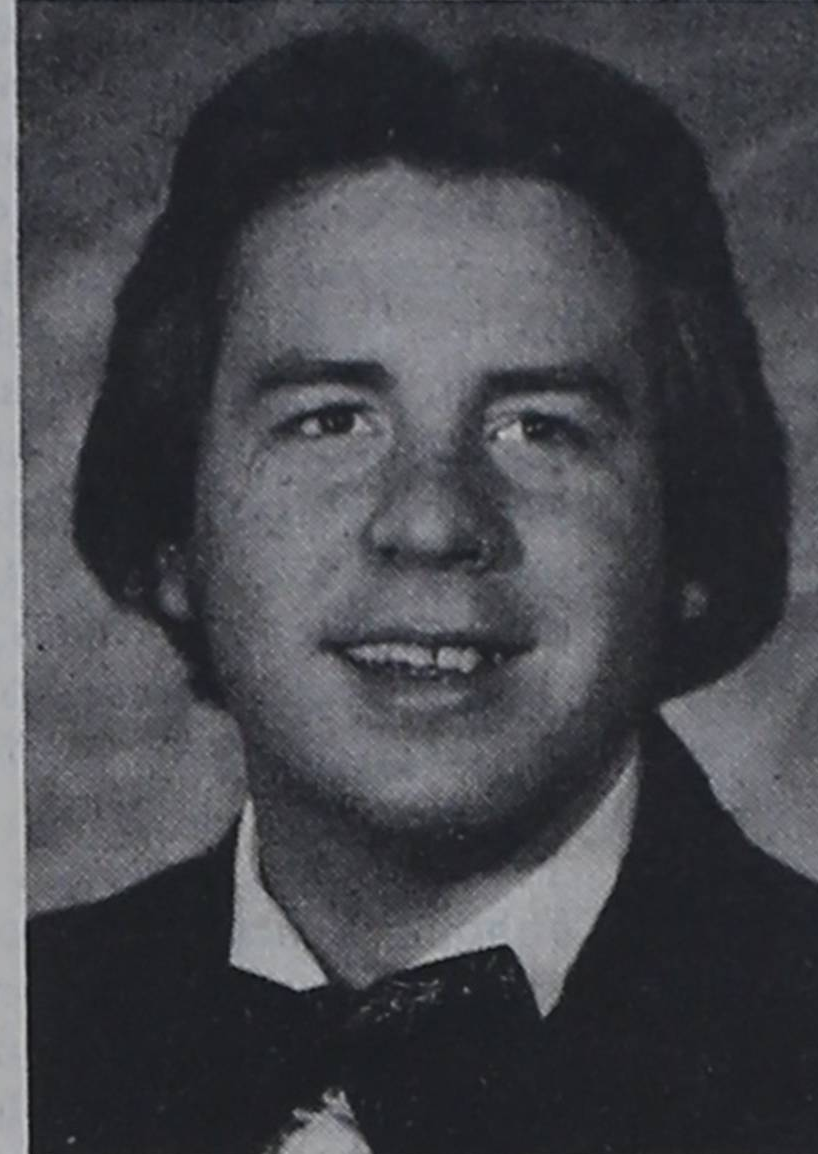

Lou-Ida has received a UIL Certificate of Recognition for Outstanding UIL Sponsor, three awards for Theatre Teaching Excellence from Caldwell ISD, and an honorary membership in the Caldwell High School F.F.A.

This year the City of Caldwell honored her with the Outstanding Citizen Award, and she was chosen Theatre Educator of the Year by the Texas Educational Theatre Association. Lou-Ida sums it all up by saying, "I've had lots of fun."

Phillip and Lou-Ida invite you to come "play" with us July 9-21.

AN EDITORIAL

D-Day Remembered

D-Day continues as one of the most memorable dates of World War II.

On that June 6, 1944, free people everywhere paused in whatever they were doing to pray--aloud or silently--that Almighty God would be with the Allied forces who swarmed onto the beaches of France in what was the biggest military operation in history.

It was a day that everyone knew had to come sooner or later. After the Allied advances in Africa and Italy, most Americans knew the invasion and ultimate liberation of Europe were the next logical steps in that costly war.

We are sure that the people of Britain, France, Italy and elsewhere now demonstrating against America's contribution to the defense of Europe know nothing of D-Day and the sacrifices made then and in the succeeding days of the war. They might recall that after defeating the militarists of Germany and Japan, the American people rebuilt those countries. They might recall that the United States gained not one acre of territory as the result of the war.

For the second time in the first-half of the 20th Century the task of preserving freedom fell to the Americans.

The "revisionists" of today, in their feeble effort to re-write history, cannot erase the valor of the Allied forces--American, Canadian, British, Free French, Free Polish and Free Dutch--who sacrificed everything in what Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of Allied Forces, called the "Great Crusade."

Wednesday, the anniversary of D-Day, might be a good time for each of us to rededicate ourselves to the principles of freedom for which so many were ready to give their lives 40 years ago. (From the Farmington, N.M., Daily Times.)

Kelijon Williams, Jerry Nance United In Church Ceremony

Mrs. Jerry Nance

Broadway Church of Christ in Lubbock was the scene of the April 19 wedding of Kelijon Williams of Fort Worth and Jerry Charles Nance of Causey, New Mexico.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Kirby D. Williams of Fort Worth, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny W. Hand of Friona and E.O. Williams and the late Neva Williams of Anton.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nance, Jr. of Causey, New Mexico and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Ashbrook of Lingo, New Mexico and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nance of Portales, New Mexico, and the great-grandson of Mrs. Glades Ashbrook of Amarillo.

Kenton Harvey, minister of the Aledo Church of Christ, Aledo, Texas, and Leroy Thomas, minister of the Portales Church of Christ, Portales, New Mexico, officiated at the ceremony.

Music was provided by the Lubbock Christian College A Cappella Chorus. Songs previous to the bride's entrance included "Be With Me Lord," "I Can't Help Falling In Love With You," "Blest Be The Tie," "If Ever I Would Leave You," "I Love You Truly," "Sometimes," "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," and "He Has Chosen Me For You."

When the groom entered the church, the bride, from the balcony, sang "Whither Thou Goest, I Will Go," to her groom.

Escorted and given away by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of candlelight satin, voile and chantilly lace. It was designed with a fitted bodice of voile, which dipped to points in the front and back and buttoned in the back, and a high neckline. The bodice and puffed victorian sleeves, which were fitted from the elbows to wrists, were decorated with lace appliques, ivory beads, sequins and crystals. The skirt of heavy satin was enhanced with lace appliques at the hemline. The skirt and chapel length train were also hand beaded.

Her formal length veil and fingertip length veil were attached to a lace crown encrusted with seed pearls, which were repeated on the edges of the veils and sequins.

As the mothers of the couple were lighting the mother's candles on each side of the unity candle, the chorus sang "Sweet, Sweet Spirit."

Immediately to each side of the stage were two standing candelabras complimented with three lemon leaf covered hanging baskets with candles. The center stage area was decorated with stands of uneven candles and lemon leaves with a large rainbow tier candelabrum in the center. Backstage featured a lemon tree with a standing pyramid candelabrum. Below the lemon tree were two white mother's candles and a unity candle.

Mrs. Patti Pavlik of Austin was the matron of honor. Heidi Williams of Fort Worth, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Ashlee Gee of Friona, cousin of the bride, Lisa and Patsy Nance of Causey, New Mexico, sisters of the groom, Marti Mills of Aledo, Belinda Busby of Houston and Bonna Kemp of Kerrville.

They all wore formal length gowns of candlelight taffeta designed with a sweetheart neckline, off-the-shoulder puffed sleeves, marked with a self material rose and miniature train.

The flower girls were the bride's cousins, Mandi and Anne Williams, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. T. Jeff Williams of Garland. They spread rose petals in the bride's path as she walked down the aisle.

Candlelighters were Toya Overby of Grants, New Mexico, Angela Harvey of Aledo and Janet Harris of Odessa.

Ring bearers were Will Doran, son of Dr. and Mrs. Randy Doran of Aledo and Greg Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Jackson of Fort Worth. The rings were borne on candlelight satin pillows with lace satin ribbons set in heart shaped wicker baskets.

Lloyd Nance of Las Cruces, New Mexico, was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Alvin Stamps of Panhandle, James Simpson of Lubbock, Brent Ralstin of Mullinville, Kansas, John Nance of Causey, New Mexico, Russ Nelson of Lamesa and Brent Mason of Post.

Ushers were Dustee Gee of Friona, Brandon Robinson of Joshua, Matt Corkery of Whitharral and Matt Williams of Garland, all cousins of the bride, Kris Johnson of Kerrville and Larry Brown of Albuquerque, New Mexico.

The bride and groom were escorted by limousine to the reception at Tara.

The five tiered bride's cake was candlelight color and was decorated with roses under upturned wine glasses and love birds.

A chocolate cake decorated with figures depicting the growing-up years of the couple and their plans for the future centered the groom's table.

Cake, punch, nuts and mints were served from the bride's table. Assorted party sandwiches, cake, and coffee were served from the groom's table.

For a wedding trip to New Orleans, Mrs. Nance wore a powder blue linen suit with voile camisole with a matching hat and white accessories.

Mrs. Nance is a graduate of Aledo High School, attended Lubbock Christian College three years where she was a member of the A Cappella Choir, Christliche Damen social club, livestock evaluation team and Baseball Belles. She was also a feature twirler for the band.

Nance, a graduate of Dora High School and a 1983 cum laude graduate of Lubbock Christian College, with a bachelor of science degree in animal science, has completed one semester of graduate work at Texas Tech University, where he is majoring in ruminant nutrition.

At Lubbock Christian College he was listed in Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities, was a member of Alpha Chi National Honor Society, served as president of the Aggie Service Club and was a member of a national championship judging team.

Mr. and Mrs. Nance are at home in Fort Worth, where he is employed at North Fort Worth Bank.

Myra and Buddy Witherspoon of Albuquerque have been visiting in the home of Oleta Houser. The Witherspoons also visited Hereford relatives while they were here. Myra and Oleta are sisters.

Mike Styles, a senior at West Texas State University, Canyon, took his maternal grandmother, Myrl Buske of Friona, and paternal grandmother, Kathryn Styles of Lubbock, to Abilene Saturday afternoon.

That evening the grandmothers were special guests at a Silver Wedding Anniversary dinner honoring Rick and Deann Styles. Hosts of the dinner, which was held in the State Room of the Petroleum Building, were the couple's three children, Mike, Scott and Sheri.

The anniversary cake, which was centered with silver numerals "25" was baked and decorated by Sheri. After dinner, slides which were taken from the time of Rick's and Deann's courtship days through Sheri's birth, were shown.

Sunday afternoon, Mike accompanied his grandmothers to their homes before returning to Canyon.

Postmaster and Mrs. Bill Wells have had houseguests this past week. Tiffany and Jennifer Wells, granddaughters of the couple, who live in Brownsville, Texas, have been here.

Other recent out-of-town guests in the Wells home have been Polly Brown and Wilma Fullerton of Jackson, Tennessee; and Hobert and Melba Poteet of Steele, Missouri.

Mrs. Jewell Harris, who lives at Bowie, Texas, spent last week visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W.D. Skipworth, Jim and Karla. Mrs. Harris was a neighbor of the Skipworths when they lived at Tom Bean, Texas.

Other out-of-town visitors in the Skipworth home were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Morrow of Sanger, Texas.

Lillian Williams, Wana Brewer, Iola Nelson and Decima Beene spent last weekend in Odessa. Vicky Fisher of Big Lake, Texas, a former Friona resident, met the foursome in the Ector County Capitol and served as a tour guide.

Saturday evening these five were joined by Lillian's son, Dale, who lives in Lubbock and the entire group attended the Permian Basin Junior Miss Scholarship Program.

Director of this pageant was Mrs. David Adkins, the former Tammy Williams. She's Lillian's granddaughter and Dale's daughter. Wana also visited in a cousin's home.

Jimmie Sue Gibson took time off last week from her busy schedule, which includes preparation for Dawn's upcoming wedding, for a five day holiday.

She accompanied Joyce White of Farwell, Mrs. N.C. Gibson of Fort Sumner, New Mexico, and Dorothy Stahl of Kingman, Arizona to Las Vegas, Nevada.

In addition to seeing the sights in the famous resort town, the group visited in the home of one of Joyce's daughters.

At least eight residents of Olton visited Friona relatives last week. Jerri Lynn and Jody LaFrance spent the week with their maternal grandparents, Ruth and Glen Stevick. Their mother, Janet, was a weekend visitor in the Stevick home.

S.D. and Joan Baize and children, Lori, Bryan and Katie were also here. They were guests in the home of S.D.'s parents, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Baize.

Latest word from A.L. Carlton, Sr., who has been hospitalized at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo several weeks, is that he is making satisfactory progress and expects to be dismissed Friday.

He plans to go to Lockney, where he will convalesce in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rexrode. Mrs. Rexrode is the former Margie Carlton.

Monte Sue Bailey and children, Shawn and Heather, have returned to their home in San Antonio following a visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Welch.

The Bailey family accompanied the Welches and other family members to Creste del Monte in Northeastern

New Mexico for a few days before going back to the Alamo City.

Bob and Roxanne Hurst and sons, Clint and Clay, have moved back to town after a couple of years or so of country living.

The Hursts, who have been living in the Rhea Community, purchased the former Brockman home at 1132 Etta.

Lucille Wilson, who makes her home with her sister and brother-in-law, Arvilla and Bud Elmore, is home again after spending several weeks visiting and vacationing on the West Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. A.L. "Jake" Outland returned Sunday, June 10, from an enjoyable visit to Durango, Colorado where they stayed with their daughter and son-in-law, Linda and Terry Fiedler.

Linda observed a birthday June 8. She works at the Old Tymers Cafe downtown Durango, while her husband, Terry, is the manager and operator of Star Communication Systems with territory of southwest Colorado and northern New Mexico.

One of the highlights of the Outland's stay was attending the Bar-D Wranglers Barbecue and Western Songs held in the open of the mountains and pines nine miles north of Durango Saturday evening.

Linda graduated from Friona High School in 1966.

Students, Teachers Attend Symposium

Safe nuclear energy that does not produce nuclear waste is the goal of a research project studied for four days by area high school science students and teachers at a symposium at the University of Texas at Austin.

If the students are like some of their predecessors at the symposium, they may end up helping conduct the research and experiments after they enroll in college, said Jim Greene, administrator of the university's Fusion Research Center.

Included among high school students and teachers from throughout the state attending the symposium June 5-8 were Brad Moyer, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Moyer of Friona; and Harley Merritt, a science teacher at Friona High School.

They were among 38 participants from the Panhandle and South Plains sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS). SPS is one of ten electric utilities in Texas that compose the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.

SPS does not own or operate any nuclear power plants, but since 1957 SPS and the other utilities have sponsored fusion research at the University of Texas. Berl Springer, chairman of the board of SPS, has been president of the research foundation the past two years.

Nuclear power plants in operation today use a process called fission—the splitting of atoms—to produce electricity. Fusion is the opposite of fission; it is the fusing together of atoms, said Greene.

If the fusion process can be controlled, Greene said, it may enable the development of power plants that get their fuel from water and that don't create large quantities of radioactive waste.

Deuterium is one of the fuels that can produce fusion, Greene said. Deuterium comes from hydrogen. Because water consists of two parts hydrogen and one part oxygen (H<sub>2</sub>O), almost limitless supplies of fuel are available in the earth's oceans, rivers and lakes, he said.

"As long as there's an earth here, and there's water on it, we've got electricity if fusion power is developed," Greene said.

The deuterium in a swimming pool of water could furnish the energy needs of a city for a year, according to the research foundation.

Fusion is the energy source of the sun, Greene said.

In order to create a fusion reaction on earth, temperatures of about 100 million degrees are needed. The hot gases created also must be confined for a long enough period of time for the fusion reaction to take place.

Several projects are under way around the world to create fusion and confine the reaction. The heart of the research at the University of Texas is a machine called a tokamak. A tokamak uses magnetic fields to attempt to confine the reaction, Greene said.

High enough temperatures have been reached to create fusion, Greene said, but the reactions last only a fraction of a second. Because of the brief time of the reaction, it takes more energy to create fusion now than the fusion process generates.

An immediate goal of scientists is to reach "breakeven"—the point when fusion reactions last long enough to create as much or more energy than it takes to get the process started, Greene said.

That point could be reached in the next couple of years at a much larger tokamak at Princeton University, Greene said.

But the day when fusion can be used to generate electricity at power plants is still many years away, Greene said. It probably won't be until after the year 2000, he said.

"It may be past my time," he said, "but these young people coming down here for the symposiums probably will be playing a hand in it."

The symposium this year featured a keynote address by Mack Wallace, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, which regulates the oil industry and some other energy industries in the state.

Area students and teachers attending also had an opportunity to hear university professors and industry officials discuss solar energy, coal and mathematics.

THE FASCINATING HISTORY OF EYECARE-PART X

Fashion Eyewear came of age in the 1970's. Living in a fast paced world of television, computers, and a literal explosion of knowledge and technology put greater demands on people's eyes. They began to recognize the importance of regular eye examinations and the need for up-dating their eyewear on a regular basis. Patients began demanding fashionable styles that made them look good. It was not unusual for a person to have three or more pairs of eyeglasses: for daytime, evening, or casual wear.

Large frames were very popular. This led to the development and widespread use of plastic lenses which had better optical quality and scratch-resistance in order to reduce the weight of the eyeglasses. Photochromic lenses (the type that get darker in sunlight) became quite popular in the 1970's. Photochromic lenses were soon being made in bifocals and trifocals too. Frame styles varied between plastic and gold (wire) or a combination of the two. Fashion tints in plastic lenses became very popular; in fact, plastic lenses are now being used more often than glass lenses.

Improvements in contact lenses (both hard and soft types) have allowed over 14 million Americans to wear them comfortably and with good vision. The "Extended Wear" soft contact lens became available during the early 1980's. For the first time, a patient could sleep in their contact lenses and wear them for extended periods of time. Two new types of oxygen-permeable hard contact lenses were also introduced during the early 1980's. They were made of materials different from the older type of hard contact lens. They are comfortable and provide excellent vision, especially if you have astigmatism. Developments in the contact lens field are happening so rapidly that optometrists are taking continuing educational courses year round just to keep up.

This message is brought to you in the interest of better vision by Drs. Armistead & Smith.

SPS Receives 1984 State 4-H Award

Southwestern Public Service Company of Lubbock, a longtime supporter of the 4-H program in Texas, was cited for outstanding service at the 1984 Texas 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University, June 5-6.

Bill Harr, the company's consumer services manager, was presented a special plaque by the Texas 4-H Foundation, the service organization of 4-H, and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, 4-H's parent organization.

Southwestern Public Service has sponsored the South Plains 4-H Electric Camp in New Mexico for the past 26 years, said Tom Davison, state 4-H program leader with the Extension Service. Through the camp, more than 3,320 4-H members, volunteers and professional staff have gained additional knowledge and appreciation of electric energy.

The company has borne the cost of this annual camp with respect to the program, meals and lodging, Davison noted.

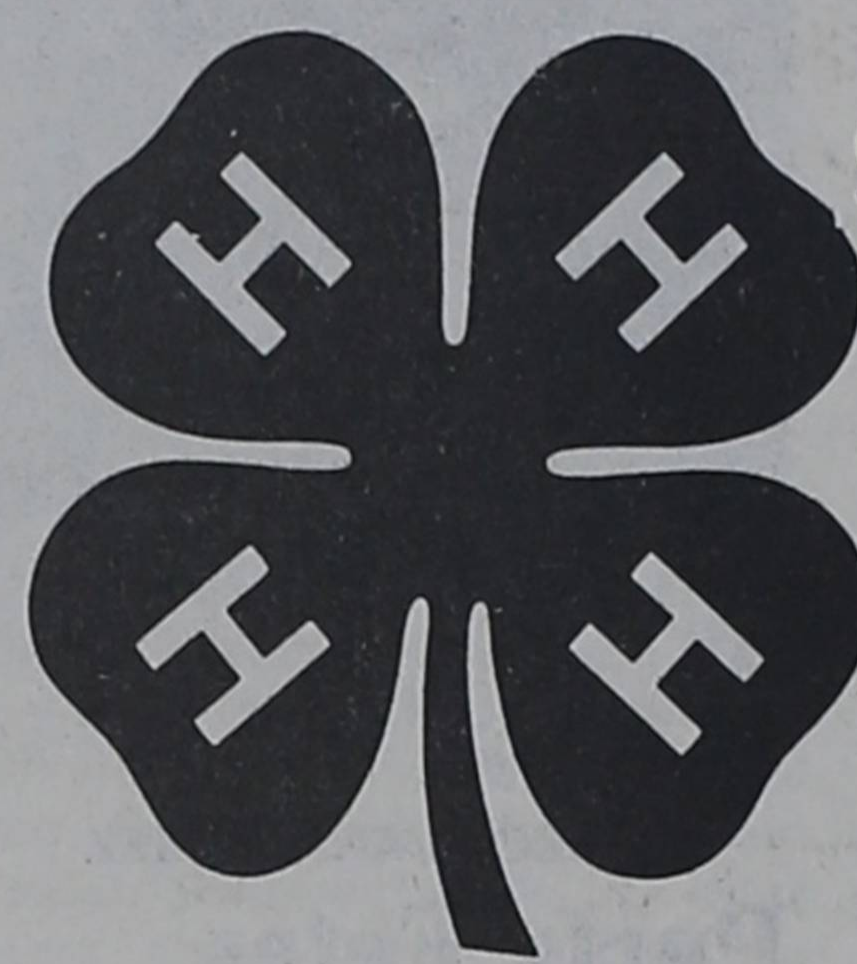

In addition to receiving information on electric energy, camp participants also learn leadership skills, good sportsmanship and an appreciation for their natural surroundings, the 4-H leader said.

Local Youngsters Attend Boys State

The forty-fourth annual American Legion Boys State sponsored by the State of Texas American Legion, and held on the Campus of the University of Texas at Austin got underway this week as 962 high school boys from all parts of Texas began registration, State Commander Charles E. Sonntag, Jr., of Texas City announced.

Among those registering from Friona are Robert Davila and Mark J. Cole who are sponsored by the local American Legion Post.

Following registration, each citizen was assigned to one of two political parties, the Nationalist or Federalist. Each citizen then functions as a member of his party, he attends its precinct, county and state conventions and votes in its primary.

Boys State is one of the most successful youth programs in operation today. Each year, Posts select thousands of students throughout the nation to attend these civic workshops where each boy participates in the practical functioning of local, county and state government.

Boys State helps to develop civic leadership and pride in American citizenship. This program arouses a keen interest in the detailed study of our government. These civic workshops stress the importance of maintaining our form of government and bring about a better understanding of our national traditions and beliefs to the more than 28,000 young men throughout the nation who are participating this year.

In Boys State, the American Legion provides the type of program where the young citizen has an opportunity to learn for himself that his government is just what he makes it. The boy "learns to do by doing."

Texas Boys State enrollment this year brings the total to 27,628 high school juniors who have attended since 1940, when Boys State was first inaugurated in Texas.

Fingerprinting Clinic Held At Lazbuddie

The Lazbuddie Young Homemakers recently held a fingerprinting clinic for the children in the community whose parents wished to have an accurate set of their child's fingerprints.

Parmer County's Chief Deputy, Jerry Atchley, gave his time to help the Lazbuddie Young Homemakers in this project. There was an overwhelming response from parents requesting that their child be fingerprinted. Deputy Atchley spent three days in Lazbuddie on this project.

Kevin Welches Have Baby Girl

Kevin and Linda Welch of Friona are the parents of a baby girl born Wednesday, June 13, at 5:33 a.m. in Deaf Smith General Hospital in Hereford.

Named Kelsey Brook, the new arrival weighed six pounds, thirteen ounces and was twenty inches long.

Kelsey is the first child for the couple.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wise of Dimmitt and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Welch of Friona.

Great-grandparents are Mrs. Ruth Coleman of Dimmitt, Mr. and Mrs. F.B. Harkins of Plainview, and W.H. Welch of Amarillo.

One of the Lazbuddie Young Homemakers was quoted as saying, "We appreciate so much the many long hours that Deputy Atchley put in as he painstakingly fingerprinted each of the many children who came through the clinic. We are also grateful for the Lazbuddie School's willing assistance."

The Lazbuddie Young Homemakers organized the fingerprinting clinic as a community service. Children from pre-school through sixth grade were allowed to participate in the clinic with their parents' permission.

Deputy Atchley took an accurate set of prints of each finger and the right palm. Only one copy of each child's prints was made, and these were given to the parents to keep. These fingerprint records can be used to identify a missing child.

Lazbuddie Young Homemakers vice president, Debbie Magby, was chairman for the fingerprinting project. Other members include Lana Copp, Marca Morris, Joann McDonald, Reta Mimms, Janice Bradshaw, Cindy Cargile, Debbie Weir, Janette Thorn, Debra Redwine, Debbie Smith, Marleen Bennett, Ellen Gallman, Mandi Seaton, Vickie Burch and advisor, Cassandra Cargile.

WT Opry Auditions Are Set

Auditions for the West Texas Opry will be held from 7-9 p.m. Wednesday, June 20, at the Lubbock Garden and Arts Center, 42nd Street and University.

Producer Cecil Caldwell said the auditions are open to all entertainers who are interested in performing on the popular country and western show.

Caldwell noted that a piano will be provided, however, if needed, participants should bring a tape or an accompanist.

The West Texas Opry is patterned after the original Grand Ole Opry in Nashville and its purpose is to provide good family entertainment while giving a showcase to the multitude of talent in the West Texas area, Caldwell said. The proceeds from the West Texas Opry are donated to Crime Line and other various charities.

For further information call Maxine Caldwell at 793-5848.

LILLIAN CLARK

Lillian Clark Is Prize Winner

Lillian Clark, a resident of Prairie Acres Nursing Home, was first prize winner in a letter writing contest sponsored by the Texas Health Care Assn. recently.

In recognition of her honor, Mrs. Clark received a cash prize of $25.00, and a certificate of recognition. Her letter has been published in the April/May issue of Caring, the news magazine for the Texas Care Association.

Mrs. Clark's letter follows: I came to Prairie Acres just after Christmas in 1982 to recover from injuries I got in a car accident.

The home is just beautiful. It has bright colored wall paper, pretty drapes, and shiny floors. All the personnel are very nice and helpful. Jo Blackwell, the administrator, is friendly and always around if you have a problem or just want to talk. Carol Cole, the secretary, runs errands for everyone and helps with just about everything. Debbie Shirley, the activity director, plans exercise class, bingo, Dr. J. basketball, Bible classes, book reviews, and all kinds of parties.

There are lots of volunteers and visitors everyday. We all get lots of attention. Glenda Sifford, our food supervisor, is a real good cook and plans nice meals. There's plenty to eat. Everybody in the kitchen is friendly and helps with activities and always has a surprise or snack for any occasion.

The head nurse, Ora Mae Anthony, is good to everybody. All nurses are efficient and helpful. The aides are cheerful and have so much energy.

I would recommend this home to anyone that needs a place to live.
