Midland Man Asks Support of Local Lions

Lions of Brownfield are being asked to support Marion F. Peters of Midland candidate for Governor of District 2-T of Lions International. The election of district governor will be held at Colorado, Texas during the convention April 23 and 24.

Harry L. Haight, Peter's campaign manager, says if there ever has been a district governor elected from the central part of District 2-T, or within a 100-mile radius of Midland, he doesn't know about it, and he argues that it is to the best interest of Lionism in arousing new zeal and loyalty to get the officers from the various areas of District 2-T when men of ability like Lion Peters can be secured.

Marion F. Peters is classed as one of the outstanding Lions and civic leaders of West Texas. During his administration as president of the Midland Lions Club, attendance more than doubled. What he did for Lionism in Midland he will do for Lionism in the district, friends say. Peters knows Lionism and works at the job.

How high Marion Peters is valued by people who know him best is shown by honors shown him in Midland. He is a past president of the Lions club; re-elected a director of the Chamber of Commerce for the past six years; Red Cross Roll Call leader three years; Boy Scout official; church officer for several years; welfare association treasurer and now a director of the Relief board, and manager of the West Texas Gas Company, at Midland, Peters will have time to work among the Lions Clubs of District 2-T. Vote for him it is urged.

Lamesa Boy Loses Part of His Arm

His hand badly mangled from accidentally inflicted gunshot wounds, Allen Salser, Lamesa young man, was brought to a local hospital Saturday afternoon for treatment, where it was found, a portion of the arm had to be amputated.

Young Mr. Salser was shooting rats near the barn at his home near Lamesa, when the gun slipped out of his hand. He grabbed for it to keep it from dropping on the ground, it discharged and tore his hand up badly.

He had been plowing during the day and came in in the afternoon and decided to kill some rats. The accident happened shortly afterwards.

Mr. Salser is a local preacher in the Methodist church and his many friends join The Reporter in hoping for him a speedy recovery. He is getting along nicely at this writing. We are glad to state.—Lamesa Reporter.

BELL THANKS VOTERS

I thank my friends for the support they gave me for Mayor. Though defeated, I am still 100 per cent for Brownfield, and ask that our Mayor-elect have your whole-hearted support toward making his administration a success.

Yours sincerely,
W. A. BELL.

More of the "Tower" To the Golden State

Where did we leave you last week. Oh! yes, we were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holden. Well, along about nine p.m., Sallie Morgan had returned to her home at Long Beach and heard that we had called. She came back to Los Angeles, and was with us that night and next day. Next morning us Texans and Sallie left for the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Irwin. Annie (Holden) Irwin will be remembered by the old timers here as an elder sister of Mrs. Stricklin. That meant a trip to another part of this city of a million and a half people, about 25 miles distant, and right through the business section. Folks, if you've been in that city, you know what we are talking about, but if you haven't and go out there some time, just avoid that place as much as possible if you are looking for peace and contentment, get out to the smaller towns, and stay there. Sallie is a pretty fair hand to direct one through this traffic but even at that, we were some two hours in making this short journey. And even if you are allowed to make a left turn at some intersection you can't. Too dogged many others wanting to do the same thing. If you must see the city, take a street car or sight-seeing bus.

In making the trip, we passed over the famous, or should we say infamous "Suicide Bridge," but we had no desire to try our luck, as it appeared that one would be rather badly squashed when they hit the earth some 100 feet below. We understand that to date some 50 people have taken this route to destruction. We reached Irwin home some where around eleven, and pretty soon, the pots and pans were playing a pretty tune to our ear in the kitchen. They live in a much more scenic section than Roy, as mountains encroach close to them, and the Presbyterians have a nice college snugly right up against this mountain, but with a very beautiful campus out in front. Luncheon was had near the noon hour, and by that time George and son, Wayne had come in. This was the first time we had ever met our brother-in-law, although he lived at Big Spring and Coahoma for most a year, but that was before we could afford a car. Got to see the oldest daughter, Marguerite, but the other, Roberta, was off on a visit. We also encountered old Daddy Holden here, and he was, he said about ready to return to Texas.

We left the Irwin home about three in the afternoon, making a drive of some five miles to the jail where Roy works. Yes, we just as well shell down the corn, we all got in jail while out there. Roy has been a Los Angeles officer for twelve years or more, and he became too fat for a patrolman, and he was given one floor of the new jail when it was built a few years ago. Four thousand prisoners can be confined in its several stories, and it covers nearly a half block. Roy was just getting off, but he carried us through all of it we wished to see, but he wouldn't let Elmer and ye editor see the female ward—only Letha and Sallie. But they reported that there was some real tough looking femmies up there—dopers and everything else imaginable. And we want to say those matrons—female officers—that took the ladies in charge, looked like they could fight Jack Dempsey, although they were the soul of politeness to their visitors. There was also some tough looking hombies in the "gentlemen's" wards. We went through the kitchen and dining rooms and found everything as clean as a new pen. They can seat an entire floor of prisoners in the dining room at one time. And ladies, we saw some of the biggest "dinner kettles" in there we ever saw. Roy drove back through the traffic, and did a fair job—almost as good as we could have done. We could not tarry long at Roy's, as we had to get out of that blasted city somehow before night, and return to Redlands. We didn't even have time to look up Rev. Victor Trammell, once a Brownfield Methodist pastor, and the man that said the words that made the madam and ye scribe one. Not because we are mad at the Rev. gentleman for pulling that trick on us. No, no! We were voluntarily led to the altar.

Well, we got our crowd together, Mrs. Holden and Alpha, the latter being Texie's youngest sister, who was attending a costume designing school in Los Angeles, and finally got out of that burg about sundown. It was our intention to stop in Pomona long enough to see our old friend, W. H. Gist, who was a Terry County Commissioner when we came

Singers to Feature Annual East Texas Convention

The A Capella Singers, a group of 36 young people under the direction of Ruth Johnstone Curtis, will be presented by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce as a feature of the program of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce annual convention to be held in Texarkana, Texas, beginning Sunday, April 22. The A Capella Singers are well known to Texans, having given three Sunday concerts at the State Fair of Texas in 1933. (Texas News Photos.)

Heaviest Vote of Any City Election, Tues.

A record vote in the history of Brownfield turned out Tuesday in the municipal election here, and three new faces will be seen in the city family, viz. L. C. Wines, the new mayor; E. Brown, the new City Marshal and Tom Cobb on the Council. A total of 555 votes were cast in the election, which Jim Miller tells us is 49 more votes than was ever cast before. Chester Gore was re-elected, the only old official to withstand the flood of votes. L. C. (Daddy) Wines takes place of W. A. Bell as Mayor, and Tom Cobb replaces A. M. Brownfield on the Council. Mr. Brownfield had been a member of the council since the city was organized, according to our informant.

There was a steady vote all morning, but when the afternoon came in bright and warm, the election holders, Jim Miller, Dube Pyatt and Ben Hilyard were well nigh swamped. About five o'clock it was found that the Herald had short-potted the city on ballots, giving them only 500 instead of 600 ordered, and a rush order of another 100 tickets was placed. Thirty minutes later the tickets were printed while 20 voters stood in line waiting for them. The vote was as follows:

For Mayor:
L. C. Wines	218
W. A. Bell	181
Clyde C. Coleman	149
For City Marshal:
E. Brown	284
L. M. Rogers	142
Cliff Fitzgerald	121
City Council (2):
Chester Gore	316
Tom Cobb	244
G. S. Webber	232
A. M. Brownfield	215

Gins Are "Debugging" The Cottonseed

The Herald representative had the opportunity Saturday of seeing one of the sterilizing plants of Brownfield in action at the West Texas Gin. There is another over at the Farmers Gin, but as we are getting fat, we decided to see the nearest one to us. If Mr. Pink Boll Worm is able to come alive this spring after going where we saw him go, he deserves to live. Even the gates of hades would hardly prevail against him.

The farmer brings his seed in his wagon or truck bed, and they are shoveled into a hopper through which a conveyor screw runs crosswise to the steam box. It dumps the seed into the steam box where another conveyor carries them some fifty feet along this chest which is heated to the number of degrees that is sure to kill all egg life therein, yet the government men in charge told us that it would not hurt the germinating qualities of the seed. This conveyor then delivers the seed to another that carries them out of the building where they can be reloaded on the wagon.

This service costs the farmer nothing except hauling the seed into town and out again, and the inspectors believe that if all Terry county farmers do this, the quarantine will be lifted this fall. Seemingly, all the farmers we have talked with are willing to have their cottonseed sterilized.

Hit and Run Driver Seriously Hurts Lady

About dark Tuesday evening, Mrs. Edith Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Ashenbeck, who works at the Treadway-Daniell Hospital, was hit by a car and seriously hurt. She had just started home and had reached Broadway, and turned west around the old Mercantile building. The only eyewitness to the accident was the lady who runs the Commerce Hotel. She says that Mrs. Davis seemed to have been struck and knocked down, and perhaps the wheel grazed her face. The car turned at Broadway and 7th, down the Seagraves road.

Mrs. Davis doesn't remember much about the accident. A few minutes before the accident the fire alarm was turned in, when the corn pile belonging to Ed Ballard took fire at the west edge of town, but the traffic had settled down to normal, especially on west Broadway, when she started home. She remembers a truck passed by going east, and she heard a car coming behind her, and started toward the curb. The car tracks show that the driver swerved in toward her, which leads some to think the driver was intoxicated, but the tracks turned in more toward the center of the street after striking her.

The lady at the Commerce Hotel went to Mrs. Davis' assistance at once and called for help to take her to the hospital. Officers were notified at once, and began working on the case. One of the officers of the sheriff's department informed us that they had some pretty good clues, and were working on the case as fast as possible. Others believe that an arrest will be made in a few days at the outside. Mrs. Davis was resting as well as could be expected Wednesday morning, but the side of her face was badly lacerated and swollen, and she complained of her back and one arm being painful.

Work About Complete On Grading No. 137

The Panhandle Construction Co., which had the job grading and draining State Highway 137 between here and the Gaines county line just this side of Seagraves, have about completed their job. In fact they were at work in the Brownfield city limits the first of last week, and grading was completed then, and dragging and leveling is being finished on this end this week.

We were over the road from here to Wellman Sunday afternoon, and we found it in fair condition. At Wellman one has to take the old highway, but we understand the new road on the west side of the track is settling very well. There is about a mile, from where the old road crosses the railroad to the Gaines county line that has not been finished, but the concrete culverts are in ready for the grading.

It is hoped that congress will make another road appropriation of which Texas will get some 24 million, and the all weather surfacing of this highway can then proceed.

Terry County Fruit Crop is Still Safe

It was thought by many that the big snow and below freezing temperature would get the peaches, which were beginning to bloom, but an examination this week of the trees which are now in full bloom reveals the fact that they still contain a fair crop. The apples, plums and grapes have not bloomed yet.

If Terry county gets a fruit crop this season, it will be the first one for about three years, and the first peach crop in a half dozen years.

Information About Federal Farm Loans

W. H. Black, secretary-treasurer of the Brownfield National Farm Loan Association, received word today (Wed.) from Wm. I. Myers, Governor of the Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D. C., that Federal land bank loans and land bank commissioner's loans will be made in the future through the Federal land bank in bonds of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, which bonds are guaranteed by the United States Government both as to principal and interest, which will be at the rate of 3 1-4 per cent. per annum for the bonds to be issued at this time. These bonds will take the place of the cash distribution in the disbursement of the unclosed loans previously approved by the Federal land banks.

The bonds of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, according to the statement by Governor Myers, will have behind them not only the unconditional guarantee of the Federal Government as to both principal and interest, and the capital of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation amounting to about $200,000,000, but also the consolidated bonds of the Federal land banks issued in exchange for the bonds of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation and the mortgages accepted by the land bank commissioner as security for loans.

Governor Myers assured Secretary Black that the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation bonds will be an attractive investment. "They will be as readily marketable as bonds of the United States Government and they will be quoted in all of the principal markets," he continued. "Holders who have to dispose of these bonds should not sell them without first ascertaining their real market value."

The Governor particularly stressed the fact that country bankers probably will be large investors in these securities since the creditors of farmers who are being refinanced may not all be in the position where they can hold the bonds so acquired and will find it necessary to sell them. Secretary Black states that these bonds, which will be tendered to farmers' creditors in payment of the refinanced indebtedness, are "exempt from all Federal, State, municipal and local taxation, except surtaxes and estate, inheritance and gift taxes. They are lawful security for fifteen-day borrowings by member banks of the Federal Reserve system. They are also lawful investments for all trust, public and fiduciary funds of which the deposit or investment is under the authority or control of the Government. The payments of the interest on these bonds and the repayment of their principal are guaranteed by the United States, which means that if the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation should ever be unable to meet the payments on the bonds, the Treasury will assume such payments.

"These bonds will be issued in denominations of $100, $500, & $1,000. However, amounts less than $100 will be disbursed in cash. For example, a loan of $965 would be made in a $500 bond, four $100 bonds and the rest in cash. In addition, to provide for certain debts, such as taxes which cannot be paid in bonds, cash covering the required amounts will be provided.

"Loans which have been applied for and approved, but on which the cash has not been paid out, as well as those approved by the bank in the future, will be financed on the above basis. This arrangement in no way disturbs or alters the other provisions of the loans. The interest rate on new loans will continue to be 4 1-2 per cent for the emergency period when made through a national farm loan association and 5 per cent when made directly by the bank."

By a vote of more than 100 majority, Lamesa set its foot down on beer in an election Tuesday.

City Oil Salesmen See Conoco Movies

Adventures of a typical American on a motor vacation trip under the guidance of the Conoco Travel Bureau and unusual views of some of the nation's topnotch scenic regions were highlights of a motion picture program Thursday night which attracted approximately 400 members of Continental Oil Company's local marketing group to a special meeting at the District Court Room and a special showing to Lions-Rotarians at a joint luncheon at the Wines Hotel.

A number of the city's leading business men, not connected with this Company's activities, were also on hand as a result of an invitation by C. B. Quante, local representative for Conoco, and Chas. S. Ritchie, commander of the huge Travel Bureau bus which rolled in Thursday morning carrying the new Conoco talking pictures and a number of officers of the marketing division covering this area.

Although the main purpose behind the arrival of the big red, green and white bus and the showing of the new films is to better acquaint the public with the free services offered the tourist by the Conoco Travel Bureau, considerable time is also being spent in explaining a number of new merchandising methods which Continental has recently adopted.

The Conoco Travel Bureau, Ritchie explained, has grown, in four years' time, from a small branch serving a few hundred people to the largest free travel service in America. It was founded by Continental in response to the demands of motor vacationists and everyday travelers who wish to be certain they are taking direct, trouble-free routes to their destinations and yet see the most interesting sights found in the country they journey through.

The Bureau's second major aim is to increase tourist travel to all of the nation's scenic regions. Through approximately 18,000 Company and dealer service stations, and hundreds of newspapers, hotels and chambers of commerce, the Bureau is distributing attractive maps and literature featuring this city and its surroundings as well as other interesting points in America.

This unusual service, to which every motorist is entitled without spending a cent—even for postage—goes farther than literature distribution. In the Bureau's central offices in Denver, more than a hundred carefully trained employes consult daily road reports from every state in the Union; note even the shortest detours, and incorporate this information into the routes they mark on all maps sent out.

Motorists who apply for free Travel Bureau service also receive a special "Passport" which helps them to keep a careful expense record of their trips, identifies them wherever they may be and secures additional privileges for them at all Conoco stations. Each station acts as a field branch of the Bureau and is prepared to furnish valuable local information to all tourists. All cottage camps and hotels throughout the country have been catalogued and described in free literature now being sent out by the Bureau.

Some idea of the popularity the Bureau has attained may be secured from the number of motorists served during 1933. During this period 196,415 groups of Travel Bureau motorists drove more than 665 million miles. These groups represented every state, as well as Mexico and every Canadian province. Of the total, 59,000 groups were routed into or through Texas, and, in addition, 16,500 groups living within the state were given assistance. Included in the latter figure were 28 groups from this city.

Conoco division officers accompanying Ritchie were C. L. Oden, Assistant Division Manager; A. E. Herring, District Superintendent; R. H. Robinson, Operator.

The Conoco bus is equipped with special loud speakers which make it possible to broadcast radio and phonograph music, as well as announcements made by the bus commander, for almost a mile in any direction.

Free Conoco Travel Bureau service is available to readers of the Terry County Herald and may be secured by writing direct to the Conoco Travel Bureau, Denver, Colorado, or filling out special application cards distributed by all Conoco service stations and dealers.

Agricultural Notes—Hog-Corn Program

By R. C. Reed, County Agent

CORN-HOG PROGRAM

The report that the Corn-Hog Program has failed is absolutely false, untrue, and uncalled for. In other words a lot of idle rumor without a foundation.

Mr. Finley, the State Statistician, was here a few days ago and complimented the Corn-Hog Control Association on the accuracy of their work. The contracts are in good shape and are being tabulated in order that they might be turned over to the State Review Board for inspection.

Seven hundred contracts offering to retire 5550 hogs and 14385 acres of corn have been completed up-to-date.

COTTON CONTROL PROGRAM

The one thousand sixty-five reduction cotton contracts from this county are now in the hands of the State Board of Review. It is hoped that this work will be completed in time for a payment the latter part of this month.

DAIRY CONTROL PROGRAM

The Extension Service reports that Texas Dairy Farmers who have been struggling to make both ends meet are to receive their share of the farm relief in a dairy control program. The Agricultural Adjustment Administration describes it as a genuine effort to increase the purchasing power of the dairy farmer without bringing hardships to the consumer.

As outlined the County Agents will have the job of carrying out the program calling for a ten to twenty per cent reduction in milk and milk product sales below the 1932-33 average. The farmer may bring about this reduction in any way that he sees best as: weeding out boarder cows; feeding less grain and more roughage and pasture; eliminating diseased cows or feeding surplus to hogs and chickens.

The benefit payments to the cooperating farmer will be forty cents per pound butterfat for the net sales reduction. Other supplemental features of the program are the distribution of surplus milk to the under privileged children; transfer cows from surplus areas to needy farm families; to weed out diseased cattle. The program will be purely optional and not forced.

FARM RECORD BOOKS TO BE DISTRIBUTED TO CONTRACT SIGNERS

Farm record books will be furnished by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to farmers who have signed reduction contracts. The object in supplying these books is to enable farmers to keep records needed in the contracts signed. By keeping records farmers are able to determine strong and weak points in their business, making suitable changes for making more money. Furthermore these record books will be very valuable in making application for government loans.

Kirksey and Gore Buy The Hunter Dairy

On March 27th, a deal was consummated in which Milton Kirksey and Bill Gore, both of this city, became the owners of the Sanitary Dairy, which up to that time belonged to J. C. Hunter. These are hustling young men and deserve your patronage.

Mr. Kirksey has had considerable experience in making butter and handling cream in general, having taken a course in dairy husbandry at Tech College. Bill was raised on a Terry county farm that has specialized in dairy farming, and for several years took a big interest in 4-H Club work along this line.

The Herald is of the opinion that their customers will have no occasion to grumble at their service.

Brownfield-Tahoka Tie in Ball Game

The colored baseball team of this city, with Louis Beverly as manager, opened their season here Sunday with the Tahoka colored team. A fast game was played considering that it was the season's first for each team. The game was called on account of darkness with the score tied.

Jim Parks was in Monday from the Tokio community.

How I Broke Into The Movies

Copyright by Hal C. Herman

BY VICTOR McLAGLEN

I BROKE into the movies during the Oxford-Cambridge boat races, miles away from Hollywood. As a matter of fact I was in the movies five years before I even saw Hollywood. Commodore J. Stuart Blackton was visiting England at the time of the race and met a producer for whom I had made one picture called the "Call of the Road."

While thousands were breathlessly watching the progress of the boats on the Thames, this British producer introduced me to Blackton, and we had a conference, then and there, regarding my work in some pictures.

I never saw the finish of that boat race as the commodore started me right in on "The Glorious Adventure," a strikingly appropriate title for a debut in the movies.

Another thing worthy of mention in connection with this picture was the fact that Lady Diana Manners was my leading lady. She has since achieved fame no end as the Madonna in "The Miracle."

During the next four years I was starred in any number of British productions, chief of which were "The Roman" and "The Sailor Tramp."

Then came the real "glorious adventure"—coming to America at the behest of Commodore Blackton to play with Charles Ray in "Percy" and later "The Hunted Woman."

There have been many pictures since, chief among them one of the "Unholy Three" with Lon Chaney, and Victor McLaglen.

Diocletian's Palace Is Survival of Roman Epoch

The first of the great "show places" of the Dalmatian Riviera is Split (Spalato), a town of 30,000 inhabitants. The city has a history running back to the times of the Roman empire. It was the favorite residence of the Emperor Diocletian (himself a Dalmatian by birth), who built a magnificent palace there. This palace, with its baths and temples, is one of the most interesting survivals of the Roman period.

The palace is of rectangular form and is 216 meters long and 179 meters wide. It is entered by three gates, on the north by the Golden Gate (Porta Aurea), on the west by the Iron Gate (Porta Ferrata) and on the east by the Silver Gate (Porta Argentea). Each of these gates is flanked by two octagonal towers. There was yet another gate on the southern front, leading to the sea, and adorned with 50 columns, part of which is still to be seen. A quadrangular tower defended each corner of the palace.

The most beautiful portion of the building is the open peristyle, still serving as the vestibule of the mausoleum of the great emperor (now the Cathedral) and to the Temple of Jupiter (now the Baptistery). The classic beauty of these buildings and the decorative architecture of the Porta Aurea, the Loggia and the arcade of the southern facade and, last but not least, the marvelous subterranean constructions excite the admiration, not only of tourists but also of engineers and architects.

MARRIED

Miss Margaret Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Murray and D. A. Johnson, both of this city, were married Tuesday night about 8:30 by Rev. J. B. Vinson at his residence. As the young man's home is in Alabama, they may reside in that state in the future.

It is reported that one of the new city officials-elect was led by a number of his friends into a beer parlor after the election results were known Tuesday night, asked to remove his hat, don an apron and get behind the bar, and begin to draw beer. He was real awkward at first, it was said, but soon improved, and at the end of half an hour he had to pay for just eighteen schooners—total $1.80.

Snow Preserves Berries
Much of the food supply of the bird inhabitants of the forest areas in the heart of the Ural mountains in north-eastern Europe consists of berries of the previous season's crop. The snow comes so quickly after the berries have ripened in the short summer season that much of the fruit is covered with snow, either on the bushes or where it has fallen on the ground, before it can be harvested or has time to decay. The snow serves as a preservative and when it begins to melt away in the early spring the berries are just as fit for consumption by the birds as when they were first covered.

Moisture in Corn
Thirty per cent or more of the weight of corn at harvest time may be water. The moisture content decreases after the crop matures at varying rates in accordance with the weather and storage conditions, until it approximates the average moisture content of the surrounding atmosphere, when the corn is commonly considered dry.

No Mice, No Snakes
There are no mice in the northern reaches of Greenland, and that region rates with Ireland in the absence of snakes. Hares are about the only creatures that are really numerous in the land and it would be difficult to find wilder specimens than the Greenland variety, which is white the year around.

the part of the American doughboy in the French Foreign legion in the wonderful film play, "Beau Geste," and Captain Flagg in "What Price Glory." The last two being talking pictures.

My favorite parts have been those of the rough and ready type of soldier—the good-natured rascal.

I admire a he-man who can swear and fight and still have a soft spot in his heart for a child or a woman—or even a comrade.

And those are the parts I like to portray on the screen because a great deal of my life has been one of an existence among men of that caliber.

I ran away from home at fourteen to join the British army in the Boer war and got by as a member of the Life Guards because of my height. All members of this organization are more than six feet tall.

Later I went to Canada where I worked as "hired man" on a farm in Ontario, and when the news of the silver strike in Cobalt came to my ears I tried that; working my way there by odd jobs.

During a hard siege of prospecting in that time I was cheated out of my share of one strike, things were rather rough living and I finally resorted to entering boxing and wrestling exhibitions to earn money. Some time later I won the title of champion of eastern Canada.

With my brother, who has since gained considerable fame as Fred McKay, we literally fought our way around the country with a carnival. On one occasion as a special feature I was told that I had to wrestle an entire football team within an hour. I won but I wouldn't do it a second time and so informed the carnival officials in no polite terms.

Then came a long string of vaudeville and other adventurous engagements including a six-round, no decision fight with Jack Johnson, then heavyweight champion of the world. My brother and I decided to spend some of our earnings in a cruise of the South seas, after which we joined the gold rush to Kalgoorlie, Australia, where we nearly died of thirst in the desert. Next we toured India, Africa and Ceylon until we heard of the World war.

The whole family, four brothers, joined up and served with the Irish Fusiliers. Our war experiences carried us through the African campaigns and we were in on the capture of Kut-el-Amara. I lost my beloved brother, Fred, during the war—he was killed in Mesopotamia—but happily the rest escaped serious injury.

It was while I was training for a diplomatic post in England that I met Commodore Blackton—and then I broke into the movies.

So you see, my parts in life have been equally as thrilling, if not more so, than my picture parts—and from the many men I have met in my wanderings about I have found the material for my picture characters.

FRIENDLESS PIGS WILL AID SCIENCE

Berkeley, Calif., March 27.—Pigs and not dogs will be the subject in future experiments of Dr. Robert Cornish to restore life after death.

Dr. Cornish, University of California anatomist who has succeeded in restoring respiration and circulation for a few hours to two dogs pronounced dead, explained that dogs have too many friends.

"Hogs more nearly resemble humans in their digestive and circulatory systems and have fewer friends than dogs," he said.

"We will use pigs—they seem friendless."

BUDWEISER

beer is bottled, pasteurized, labeled and packed—ready for the tables of the finest hotels, homes, restaurants and clubs in America.

Whenever you taste Anheuser-Busch Beers you will sense at once the quality which brilliantly sets them apart from other brews.

Such quality is not derived alone from skillful brewing . . . nor alone from fine and modern brewing equipment . . . nor alone from choice ingredients. It is the result of a combination of all three.

As for skill, Anheuser-Busch employees have an abundance of it under the personal management of the fourth generation of the Busch family. There is 81 years of fine brewing experience behind every drop of Anheuser-Busch beers.

As for equipment, Anheuser-Busch has the world's largest and most modern and efficient brewery. It has a yearly capacity of 2,500,000 barrels. It has a lagging or aging capacity of more than 600,000 barrels at one time. It has the largest and finest bottling plant in the world—a plan where 1,000,000 bottles can be filled, capped and cased every 8 hours and in whose basement 130 railroad freight cars may be accommodated.

The laboratory, which watches over Anheuser-Busch products, is one of the finest, best equipped and best staffed in this country. One or more Anheuser-Busch chemists and executives in the production end make annual research trips of from two to four months in Europe.

From a mechanical standpoint the Anheuser-Busch Brewery today is in better condition than when it was operating at full capacity before prohibition. Old machinery has been junked and replaced with the modern type. The legalization of beer did not find this brewery unprepared to resume operations, because Anheuser-Busch made real beer throughout the 14 years of prohibition. In order to make the cereal beverage sold during prohibition, it was necessary first to make the same good old BUDWEISER of today and of the days before prohibition. After this real beer had been made it was de-alcoholized to meet legal requirements. As a consequence of this continued brewing, Anheuser-Busch kept up with all new developments, both in method and mechanics, perfected in European breweries where there was no prohibition law.

The brewery is independent of utility companies since it has its own power generating plant and its own coal mines to provide fuel and operates its own railroads as well.

A USEFUL INVENTION

From Paris comes news of an invention which should be hailed with enthusiasm by the motoring public. It is a automatic jack which operates from the instrument board of the automobile.

In case of a flat tire the driver may raise the wheel by simply pressing a button. Each wheel is supplied with a jack in the form of a steel cylinder fitted with a double telescopic piston. When not in use the lower end of the jack is drawn up level with the axle, so as not to reduce the road clearance.

This Seal is Your Assurance Of EFFICIENT GAS APPLIANCES

"To receive the American Gas Testing Laboratory BLUE STAR approval seal a gas range shall produce no carbon monoxide." In the photograph above, a laboratory chemist is testing the products of combustion of a newly designed gas range. Your gas range is—or should be—the best designed gas appliance in your home. For a good gas range, to be satisfactory in every respect, must meet more exacting requirements than any other household gas appliance. The American Gas Association of which this company is a member, has invested more than one-half million dollars in its Cleveland testing laboratory. Thus facilities have been provided to truly test new gas ranges and all other new gas appliances. The good are separated from the bad; and every approved appliance is REQUIRED to have the BLUE STAR approval seal, illustrated above, affixed to it. A gas range or other gas appliance does not necessarily need to be costly in order to be an approved type. Nor can you assume that because a gas appliance is very modern and beautiful in appearance and finish, that it has the BLUE STAR, which assures tested merit, however costly it may be. This approval seal represents recognized standards for performance, efficient operation, and substantial and durable construction. Therefore, no gas appliance, at any price, should be purchased that does not have this BLUE SEAL affixed to it. When shopping for a new gas appliance, ask the dealer to show you only those appliances which have this approval seal—as this is more important than all other considerations combined.

Gomez School News

This Edition ----- Stevens Heartsill

The past week has been full of exciting and enjoyable happenings in the Gomez High School.

Opal Bingham entertained the high school with a "tacky party" Thursday night, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended.

Mrs. Jones made a good time possible for the high school Friday night with a candy pulling. "Weenies" were roasted over a fire in the front yard, and bread, pickles, hard and soft candies were served.

Although we regret very much to lose our teacher Mrs. Jones, we are very glad to have our old teacher, Mrs. Redford, back with us this week, and we hope she gains strength rapidly.

The ninth grade are working right along with their play entitled "Whittlin'" which they expect to present next Friday night, April 6. There will be a small admission charge as there is quite a bit of expense in working up the play.

An Easter egg hunt was enjoyed by many at the school house Sunday afternoon. A short but interesting program was presented along with the egg hunt and was much appreciated by all who attended.

A COUNTRY EDITOR LOOKS AT BANKING

The editor of the Norwalk, Ohio Herald takes a somewhat different view of the banking situation from a good many people. His idea is as follows:

"With rents falling and unpaid, real estate does not present a happy picture. Nor does the owner of carefully selected bonds feel any happier, with a bunch of them going wrong. A lot of folks very carefully invested in preferred and common stocks in the finest companies in the world and have seen them fall to perhaps a tenth of what they paid for them, and no dividends at all. Some folks kept their money in savings accounts in banks, and some banks have closed and left them high and dry. But the situation is worth looking at very carefully.

"On government authority, most banks that closed were really solvent but for frozen assets and popular timidity. Gradually the closed banks are coming out from under and depositors in even bad cases will get at least 50 per cent of their savings. That's tough of course; nobody likes to lose half of what they had scrimped and sacrificed and saved. But when you hoard and stick the roll of bills in a coffee pot or under a mattress, some plug-ugly comes along and burns your feet till you tell him to take it and welcome.

"And what about the great majority of the banks that weathered the storm, met all comers and dare doing business as usual, carefully and conservatively, but safely? What about the savings in those banks? They are a full 100 per cent today—and they are the only thing we know of at 100 per cent anywhere. After all is said and done, a good, well managed bank is still the best place in all the world for money or savings. Right now in Ohio the banks pay the taxes on all savings and pay their depositors net interest on their savings. We can't think, just now, of many other investments that are as tenth as safe as a savings account in a solid bank. Why, even a savings account in a closed bank is actually worth more today than many stocks."

Angler Fish Have Their Own Rod, Line and Bait

Angler fish have a miniature rod with line and bait attached to the top of the head. Found in the greatest depths worked with a trawl, many are small, but the chief part of their bodies is the mouth. They evidently obtain their food by waiting for some smaller creature to snap at the permanent "bait," which hangs temptingly at the end of their rod, for most of their other organs, such as fins, eyes, and tail, appear to be useless. But in a world darker than the darkest night how do their prey find their way to the bait?

On the other hand, says Tit-Bits Magazine, we find an angler fish developed in the opposite way. Its fins and tail are well adapted for swimming, and the rod has dwindled, showing that as the creature depends more upon its swimming powers for capturing food, so the rod and bait become smaller.

The sack-throated whip-tail is hideous. One specimen was six feet in length, and had a body two feet long with a huge mouth, over which were a pair of pin-point eyes, the remainder of its length being a whip-like tail. Several specimens have been taken dead on the surface, their bodies each containing a fish practically the same size as the hunter. Live specimens have been obtained at a depth of 1,000 fathoms.

Trawls used at great depth are necessarily small, and the objects brought to the surface are, in consequence, not large, but it is probable that in those sinister depths there are other fish as huge as they are ugly.

Bronze Age Cemeteries in Circle Arrangement

Druidical circles, cromlechs or domings, depending on whether they are found in Britain, France or Scandinavia, are groups of three or more stone pillars, arranged in circular form when sufficient have been erected, and are believed to be cemeteries of the Bronze age.

Often these stones are arranged in a large circle with one or more smaller circles contained within the outer.

The largest circle found in Scotland is the group at Stennis, Orkney. There are 13 still standing, the largest being 14 feet tall. A moat 6 feet deep and 30 feet wide surrounds the stones.

At Stonehenge on the plains of Salisbury, England, stands the greatest collection of the stones, however. A circle with stones 13 feet high and spaced 4 feet apart is the most extensive, while other circles and ovals are composed of stones in some cases 23 feet high. Altogether, there are 140 pillars in the layout.—Washington Star.

Tithes in the Past

Though tithes have been an issue in the Essex courts, harvest no longer brings so harassing a time for the country clergy as it used to do in days when they were expected to take personal delivery of their tithes in actual crops. All manner of dodges were resorted to by unscrupulous farmers to avoid paying the parson his regulation share of the corn, and Samuel Wesley, at Epworth, once caught a man deliberately cutting the ears off the tithe corn before handing it over. He seized the offender and marched him off to the judgment of the people. The general attitude of the rural population, then and later, was summed up in the old Harvest Home song: "We've cheated the parson, we'll cheat him again, for why should a blockhead have one in ten?"—Montreal Herald.

Strained With Human Hair

Great quantities of human hair were imported into this country up to a few years ago, to be used in the manufacture of hair nets to be worn by the American women. The hair came from China and Europe, but when the "bob" came into fashion the demand for hair nets declined to such an extent that the shipments almost reached the zero point. But the hair is still coming in limited quantities, especially the Chinese hair, for an entirely different use. It is used for straining oil in the refineries. This process takes place under pressure and all of the materials which have been generally made use of have been found to be unsatisfactory. They are either too frail or too costly.

Weight of Water

The weight of fresh water is about 62.4 pounds a cubic foot. According to the principle of Archimedes, the lifting effect on a submerged body is equal to the weight of the displaced liquid, and any object weighing more than 62.4 pounds a cubic foot will sink in fresh water. Sea water is somewhat denser than fresh water, owing to its salinity, weighing about 64 pounds a cubic foot at the surface, and about 69 pounds a cubic foot in the deepest known places. Any object weighing more than 69 pounds a cubic foot will sink to the bottom in such water.

Uncle Sam Paid France

France received from the United States all of the money which was borrowed during the time of the American Revolution. This debt was discharged between 1791 and 1795 by money borrowed in Holland. The latter debt was finally paid Holland in the early part of the Nineteenth century. The money borrowed from France was borrowed between the years 1778 and 1782. The interest on these loans was forgiven until 1783, and in fact little interest was paid until 1790.—Washington Star.

How I Broke Into The Movies

Copyright by Hal C. Herman

BY BEBE DANIELS

MY ABILITY to film an afternoon dress and a pair of high heeled slippers enabled me to "crash the gate" in motion pictures.

As a matter of fact, I had played around motion picture sets while a child in company with my mother, when she took a fling at the screen, and occasionally I was given just a bit by a kind-hearted director, but my first real opportunity was given me because I "borrowed" the dress and the slippers.

It happened on an afternoon when things looked rather black. I was living with my mother again after three years of school and the financial situation of the Daniels was far from being pleasant. Mother had been playing bits now and then, and on this particular afternoon, was out on location with a company, leaving me to my resources. I had wanted to help but the goddess of luck and the casting directors ignored me completely. My name was known to a few of them but the securing of a job was another thing.

Suddenly the telephone rang. It was Harold Lloyd's manager with the information that he would like to see Mrs. Daniels.

"Mrs. Daniels is not in," I replied. "Not Mrs. Daniels," he went on Bebe Daniels.

somewhat impatiently, "I want Miss Daniels."

I managed to splutter that he was speaking to Miss Daniels.

"Please come in to see me this afternoon, if possible," he said, and this I promised to do.

I was so excited I could have yelled, but on top of this excitement came the realization that I had nothing to wear. How many times have women been in this situation.

A hasty survey of the house revealed nothing in my wardrobe, but the luck had changed, for mother had just bought a light afternoon frock. Without any debate whatsoever I grabbed that and put it on. Then I found that I needed slippers. Another problem, but still another search and I found a pair in the wardrobe of my aunt who was visiting us at the time. These were appropriated in a like manner and I set out for the interview.

To make a long story short, I got the contract as Harold Lloyd's leading lady.

Sitting in the producer's office awaiting an appointment is not the most pleasant thing in the world, for in the majority of cases, the wait is a long one. It seemed to me that I sat there fully eight hours, although in reality, as I afterward learned, it was close to two.

I really had no idea what sort of a proposition would be offered me so I was mentally concocting stories relating to my capabilities, my experience and so forth. In addition to this I had done up my hair in such a way that added several years to my appearance and this was helped out by the long skirt on the dress and the high heels.

Finally I was admitted into the private office of the manager. He was very kind and cordial but I was so scared I couldn't say a word. I just mumbled something incoherent and stared. All of the fine stories I had made up went out of my mind in a flash.

He asked me to stand in one corner of the room and then to walk to and fro across the floor which I did.

With a puzzled look he said: "Hi, I thought you were much younger, Miss Daniels."

All my hopes went out the window. Here I had tried to look older and that was the very thing he didn't want.

I couldn't say anything for a moment but realizing that something must be done I started to take down my hair and dress it as I had been in the habit of doing. I can see the expression on that man's face even to this day. He was absolutely dumfounded.

When I had finished and given him an opportunity of seeing how I looked, he smiled.

After a bit of questioning he appeared satisfied and offered me a contract as leading lady to Harold Lloyd.

Sometimes we go about our reformations in the wrong way. The Herald does not believe that we will ever stop crime by disarming the innocent. When laws are passed making it a crime to possess firearms even in our home, the good citizen obeys the law. But does the criminal have such conscientious scruples? No, he will get his firearms by fair or foul means. Then if he knows that every honest citizen is without any protection, he has no fear nor care of invading that home for plunder and murder.

The time has arrived in grand old Texas as it does every two years, when a bunch of state politicians write in to the newspapers to tell them that they are not able to finance an advertising campaign, and appear to the patriotic sense of the county weeklies to give them publicity. They will state that if they do not get the support of the weekly, the dailies will elect some demagogue who will wreck the state financially and morally. We have often wondered why every guy gets it into his noodle that the papers are under any obligation to help elect them.

The Clean-Up Campaign instituted by the city authorities, we hope will be of great value to the town. We hope, too, that every one does their best to put the town in A-1 condition. First, because it will mean better health to the entire town. Second, because it will be easier to look at.

But it does mighty little good for one householder to clean their premises, and to be careful that no trash and paper blows over on their neighbor, when friend neighbor burns paper and trash openly and it blows wherever the wind listeth. Lots of us sometimes appear to be very careless of the right and feelings of our neighbors.

Nila Cram Cook went tearing off to India to follow Mahatma Gandhi. She made several discoveries: that she didn't care for the scantily dressed little man nor his ways; that she wasn't doing Gandhi any good; that she wasn't getting much advertising for herself; that she didn't like to stay in India; that she wanted to come back to the good old U. S. A. She came back last week. Now she is happily, we hope, married to an American writer who should try to give her a little advertising in the books he may write. The moral of the whole thing seems to be that if you are going to be silly, you should be superlatively silly. Your chances of getting it over seem to be better. —Ralls Banner.

A meeting was called at a hotel in Lubbock last week for the purpose of trying to get better loans from the Federal Land Bank or some other agency, for west Texas farmers. It was stated that justice and equality had not been meted out to western Texas farmers. As a comparison, it showed that Lamb county plow up checks last year amounted to $17 per acre, compared to $9 for McLennan county, whereas, McLennan county got loans of $40 per acre and Lamb county only got $15 per acre loans. Of course the Herald sees the justice of the move. In fact, this is not the first time that west Texas has been undervalued by the state except for taxing purposes. But, we found that most of us can borrow more on our stuff now than we can ever repay, and loans is what is running most of us. We borrow because we want to borrow, or to buy a new car or something when times are good; we borrow when times are bad because we have to—if we can. We are borrowing pieces of furniture.

This week a lady asks us for an opinion of a man who will eat down town and not bring anything home. Really we thought that custom passed out when prohibition stopped all the sale of booze. As a suggestion, hang him up head down and let the ducks pick him to death. And during the same week we have a complaint from a man who says that his wife sits up late reading or playing games, and then won't get up and cook his breakfast, and he eats down town. All of which goes to show that trading husbands and wives should be a popular pastime rather than looked upon as a disgrace. In this case, the man who eats down town but does not take anything home beyond the bare necessities, should be tied up with the woman who sleeps all lay—she would not know the difference. The woman who wants something to cook would no doubt be glad to get up and cook anything that was handy, any old time. This is just one of the many reasons I think marriages were not arranged in heaven.—News, Clarendon.

Space grafters are getting smarter and smarter all the time. They no doubt draw fancy salaries from their employers. It is their business to "chisel" newspapers out of their space that is sold to other legitimate advertisers. We have before us a nice "news story" from "Save The Bird Club" of New York. It is three columns by eight inches, has a nice photograph of boys building bird houses. It is in mat form, very handy for the publisher to use. The story goes on to relate what is being done to save birds of the country, gives instructions just how to build bird houses, and suggests that the best and quickest way to build a bird house is by using "an empty log cabin syrup can." There is only one log cabin shaped syrup can; we all know that, so there is your "joker." Every boy in the country after reading the story is supposed to begin right then and there to demand that his parents buy Log Cabin Syrup so he can have the empty can for a bird house. We just chuckled to ourselves and tossed it into the waste basket along with other space grafter's junk.—Lockney Beacon.

OUR 23 YEAR COLUMN

There was nothing of local note on the front page of our issue of April 7, 1911, except to say that J. E. Vickers, County Attorney of Lubbock county had been appointed district attorney of the newly created 72nd judicial district, by Gov. O. B. Colquitt. On the editorial page, we said: "The world is wagging at a rate she never wagged before. The generation of today is entirely too slow for that of tomorrow. The bald prairie of today is a noisy city of tomorrow." Well, we hate to hand ourselves a bouquet, but now wasn't we some prophet. There had been a very tight game of baseball here the Saturday before between Lubbock and Brownfield high school students. The score was a 1 and 1 tie at the end of the eleventh inning. Earl Hill pitched the entire game for Brownfield, which was a no hit game, struck out 13 and walked one.

Will Moore and wife were in from the farm. D. P. Peck was back from Scott, N. M. Cla Hughes visited Tahoka and Lubbock. Dr. Lee of Snyder was a business visitor. Arthur Moore was in town several days. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lanier took in the ball game. Prof. and Mrs. A. E. White of Gomez, took in the ball game.

Mrs. C. F. Timm was a pleasant caller at the Herald office. Artie Shepherd was helping out at the Assessors office. C. W. Duke was up from Loop. W. A. Bell was adding another room to his residence. Will and Uncle John Arnett passed through Brownfield. Judge Robinson of Lubbock, was a visitor here. G. J. Mallard, formerly of this city was here. E. T. Powell was having his residence papered. J. H. Haliburton, of Oklahoma, had rented the Banowsky place. Mrs. Kinard and daughter, Miss Etta, called at the Herald office.

Miss Eldora Lewis and brother Clyde, spent Saturday night at the Allmon home. Jim Burnett wrote in that his father was still in serious condition. Miss Goldie Day had joined the Rebekahs. Ed Copeland of Scott, N. M., was visiting here. L. H. James had resigned his position with the telephone company, and was moving to his bonus in New Mexico. Judge Neill was handing out calendars. Rev. Balch, Baptist minister of Tahoka, was over. Commissioners Court was laying more pipe to water the trees. Tom May of Lubbock, had succeeded C. V. Young as manager of the McAdams Lumber Co. Brownfield school had a class of four to graduate, Misses Jeffie Ray Harris, Kathryn Powell, Ruby Bynum and Roy Scudday. A large crowd attended the dance at the Brownfield ranch.

Uncle Charley Lyon had returned from Brownwood, not much improved in health. The school trustee election resulted in H. T. Brooks and J. C. Green being elected; J. F. Winston was the holdover. H. H. Longbrake was attending the bedside of an uncle in Gaines county. Dick Brownfield on a bicycle crossed the path of his dad who was in his car. The bicycle was a wreck, but Dick escaped. A good shower had fell over Terry. In putting the paper together, we used too much glue, and therefore can't copy any of the Gomez items this week. Notice was given of the death of Mrs. Sallie Fulton, wife of W. A. Fulton. She was buried in Gomez cemetery. It was all a hoax and an April Fool joke about W. A. Bell's three-legged calf. However, Mr. Bell used the callers to help him unload a new piano. S. A. Shepherd was giving notice of a stray dark bay mare took up at his place.

All for this week.

Wild Horses Are Menacing Life in Tex.

Austin, Texas.—A herd of wild horses was responsible for approximately one thousand deaths in Texas last year, according to Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. Under the hood of the automobile are from 40 to 100 horses. Whether these are tame or wild and dangerous to human life depends to a large extent upon the drivers. Pedestrians, also must be "safety minded," if the number of lives lost in fatal automobile accidents is reduced.

In cities, hundreds of thousands of people in the aggregate deliberately and habitually throw caution to the winds by jay walking, by crossing streets at all points but at intersections, by dodging around street cars and even by deliberately disregarding traffic signals. And highway walkers also are more likely to move with, rather than against traffic, which of course results in greater risk, especially at night.

The automobile driver himself, intoxicated by the joy of effortlessly stepping up his machine to an excessive speed, and in hundreds of other ways violating the rules and the ethics of the road, makes of this magnificent invention the Frankenstein it has so sadly turned out to be.

It needs to be more emphasized upon the average brain than it is today, that all the healthful living in the world is of no avail when one either of the chances with the automobile and loses. Moreover, proper water and milk control, as well as the many

IN MEMORY OF RUBY HOLCOMBE

God in His wisdom, love and truth, We know does all things well. Yet when affliction comes our way, His plans we cannot tell.

We cannot see just why it is, That death must sometime come Our loved ones to steal And fill our homes with gloom.

And oft, when life the brightest seems, These trials come anon. Yet childlike and with simple trust, We must go bravely on.

The all-wise Father has seen fit, With tender, loving care To take with Him to mansions bright Earth's fairest of jewels. At His appointed time he came To call our precious Ruby, That she might with the angels shine In that bright heavenly home not made with hands.

But, Oh, our hearts are sore and sad; No one can take Ruby's place; No one can hear that angel voice And see that smiling face.

Just twenty-one years her life was spared; Two short years her mission she fulfilled, With cheer and laughter And all her ways so dear.

God has taken away our loved one, To his precious home above, Up to the golden streets of heaven; He has taken our precious Ruby.

We loved her, Oh, we loved her, But still God loved her more. Oh! Let us prepare to meet her, Upon that Golden shore.

During Ruby's short stay on earth friends she made so dear; Enough cannot be said for those winning ways and sweet smiles. Much will she be missed on earth, For she was loved by all.

PARDON PETITION SIGNERS

The strange circumstances attending the case of a former convict who, less than one year after his release from the Texas penitentiary on a full pardon by Governor Ferguson, is to be electrocuted in Oklahoma for the murder of a peace officer in that State, suggests a good piece of counsel to citizens who may be approached to use their influence to obtain pardons for convicts. The convict in question, one Earnest Oglesby, had a Texas record of several robbery convictions in various counties and one escape from jail where, after being sentenced on one charge, he was awaiting trial on another. After receiving a pardon from Governor Ferguson, Oglesby was heard from in Illinois, where he, with two others, robbed two business establishments. Then he stole an automobile, and apparently headed for Oklahoma, where his next criminal action—the one which earned him the death sentence shortly to be carried out—occurred. Oglesby shot and killed an Oklahoma City policeman who was questioning him about a stolen automobile. Apparently the sole basis for the clemency which Governor Ferguson extended to this confirmed and desperate criminal on record was a letter from an assistant warden at Huntsville expressing the opinion that Oglesby would "go straight" if released.

The Oglesby case's warning to citizens, however, arises from its connection with that of Joe Newton, another many-times criminal, who was Oglesby's partner in the crime which brought about their sentence to the Texas penitentiary. Newton's par-

CONOCO INTRODUCES A Remarkable new MOTOR OIL Its lower consumption and greater protection to motors proved by the most convincing test ever made!

THIS new oil has a tremendously increased "film strength"—and a penetrative oiliness to always protect your motor. The "Hidden Quart" never leaves a dry spot or a bearing without lubrication—it resists dilution—and eliminates much trouble caused by carbon and sludge.

New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil excels in the most convincing test ever made, under the supervision of the AAA Contest Board.

IN presenting New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil you are furnished facts of performance. You will at once be convinced of the direct value of this new oil. A test so dramatic, so honest, that it will go down in history!

This test was held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. The Contest Board of the American Automobile Association supervised all details, thus assuring an unbiased opinion. Six new regular stock cars were delivered direct to them. They tested and measured each to obtain an equal condition in all.

Six brands of motor oil, of the same S. A. E. grade, were used. Five of them, all purchased by the AAA on the open market, were nationally known, widely recognized leaders. The other one was New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. All cars were then carefully broken in for 2500 miles. Five quarts, a new and complete fill, were put in each car and the crankcases sealed. Then the real battle for supremacy began. The cars were driven for as long as the motors continued to operate.

Here are the results: Oil No. 4 quit at 1713.2 miles; Oil No. 6 quit at 1764.4 miles; Oil No. 5 wrecked the motor at 1815.9; Oil No. 1 ceased its lubricative protection at 2266.8 miles; and Oil No. 3 at 3318.8 miles.

New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil carried on to a total 4729 miles! Over three thousand miles farther than the first oil to go out, and over four-hundred miles farther than the final oil of the five!

It is the Germ Processing principle, only used by Conoco, that won the test. This "Hidden Quart" that lubricates all parts at all times—that stays up in your motor and never drains away. Drive into a Conoco Station or Dealer for a fill. You are getting the most in lubrication value that money can buy.

Warning TO NEW CAR OWNERS... Some car manufacturers are using new types of bearings which will stand greater pressures and temperatures, resulting in increased power and speed. New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil has been exhaustively tested on these new bearings. The results show that it gives them greater protection against damage than many straight mineral oils now on the market. Protect your new car by using the motor oil you can be sure of.

1 The Representatives of the Contest Board of the AAA who supervised every detail of the test. 2 Five quarts of each brand of oil were carefully put in the cars by AAA officials. 3 The official sealing of crankcases after final fill of five quarts was put in. 4 These were new motors before the test. They were wrecked to prove to you how to protect yours.

RECEIVE IT OR NOT—

A man said that friendship was no good unless you could impose upon it. Well—some people certainly don't deny themselves any privileges.

The typing class of '34 is very industrious. They do "pecks" of work.

—and the serpent approached Mrs. Eve and tempted her, saying "Come, come, Now! An apple each day keeps the doctor away."

There wasn't much said when boys began wearing trousers with legs on 'em, but when girls began wearing dresses with legs on 'em it was different.

TRACK TEAM GOES VISITING

The B. H. S. track team went to the West Texas Invitation Track Meet held last Friday at Lamesa and brought home what they went after—a trophy. They were few in number compared to the two teams that beat them out. However, there were larger teams there that didn't beat them. The boys scored 26 points against some good track teams. There were six schools represented in the meet: Lamesa, Lubbock, Snyder, Midland, Higginbotham and Brownfield.

The winning teams were: Lamesa 1st; Snyder 2nd; Brownfield 3rd and Lubbock 4th. The high point man was the captain of the Snyder team. The one mile relay trophy was won by Lamesa. That race was said to be the best race of the day. Lubbock ran first until the finishing stretch, and there Lamesa took the lead. Brownfield did not enter a team in that event.

The West Texas Invitation Track Meet is to be an annual affair according to the president of the Chamber of Commerce of Lamesa. All teams were invited to attend again next year.

ONE ACT PLAY CONTEST

Brownfield High School is presenting a one-act play contest to be staged in the high school auditorium

Tuesday evening, April 10. Each class in high school is entering the affair. Judges from the audience will decide the winning team, the best actor, and the best actress. Plans are being made for each class to sit in a reserved section and host for the troupe representing them. A large crowd of townspeople is expected to form an interested audience. A ten cent charge will be made for admission and the money collected will go to further improvement of the high school library.

The Senior class is presenting "The Pretty Farmer's Daughter," a burlesque rich in laughs. The cast includes:

Hezekiah Wampusingus—
Howard Boucher
Nell (the daughter)—
Esther Ruth Smith

Sin-Sin (a Chingman)—L. C. Green
Desmond Gaye (villain)—
Weldon Moore

Lustania Sweeney—Imogene Luckie
The Ghost—
The Juniors are staging "Along Came Jerry," a rip-roaring farce, filled with predicaments. This cast follows:

Elsie Webb—Jocelyn Lambert
Mr. Jake Webb—Logan Redford
Bob Dwight—Bill Savage
Harry Selden—Truett Flache
Jerry Seller—Roy Chambliss

The Sophomore play is a true comedy dealing with political trickery in the high places. It is entitled "The Bungler." Those appearing in this troupe are:
Jim Holden (Political Boss)—
Clifton Jones
Durkle (door man)—Bill McGowan
Horace Van Alden (candidate)—
John McLeod
Adela Brown (accomplice)—
Evelynne Judd
Lois Enders, intended bride—
Bernice Hale

J. D. Stewart
The Freshman play is a serious comedy entitled "Just No Good." It is dramatic in appeal and pathetic in effect. It is the kind of didactic tale that sets one to pondering. The dramatis personal is listed below:
Ellen Davis—Maxine Hardin
Alma Bond—Lucille McSpadden
Curtis Bond—Burdett Auburg
Officer Kelley—Wayne Mullins
Officer Woods—Robert Pharr

HISTORY CLUB

The History Club met April 2nd and heard a debate between Martha McClish, Pauline McCollough and Lois White, Virginia May. The subject was "Resolved, That reading is more important than writing." The first team took the affirmative, and the second team took negative.

The judges cast their vote in the negative's favor.
The club party was planned for Thursday afternoon.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club met Monday, April 2. The time was spent discussing the pageant which is to be held at Levelland, April 7. A definite decision had not been reached late Monday, but the Club is hoping that they will get to go.

Kathleen Perry directed the girls in two popular Home Economics Club songs, and the enjoyed it.

STUDY HALL RULES

1. Do not enter until tardy bell has rung.
2. Do not pay any attention to teacher in charge.
3. Note writing is encouraged; it promotes good penmanship and offers English training.
4. Do not talk below a whisper.
5. Sing, if you cannot whistle.
6. Do not chew your gum with your mouth shut.
7. Get help from and help the other fellow if the examination is too hard, for it is written, "Be ye kind to one another."
8. Do not study over fifteen minutes a day, for overwork in due time will turn your hair gray.
9. Do not fail to take a daily nap; your health must be preserved.
10. Do not forget to fill your extra pockets with chalk.
11. Those breaking these rules shall be prohibited from picking up paper on the study hall floor.

Friends of Pete Owens will be sorry to know that he is wandering in his mind; however there is no danger, for he cannot get lost in so small a place.

THE SENIOR CLASS IS WONDERING

If Mary Dee would look good in a short dress and a big hair ribbon.
How Roma would look if she weighed 165.
If the Juniors have as much talent as the Seniors.

If the Seniors do not have the hardest time of all four classes in high school.
If Robert Pharr would make a good dance instructor.

If Mr. Wester isn't one of the real "Gold Dust Twins."

MORE ACTION THAN CENTURY OF DO-NOTHING-NESS (The Pathfinder)

Russia has her famous five-year plans, President Roosevelt has his 50-year plan for an ideal United States, and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace says it will take a whole century just to solve our sugar problem. In any case no doubt the first hundred years will be hardest. After that it should be easier. It is a general rule that it takes at least as long to get out of any trouble as it took to get into it. Hence those who imagined that Uncle Sam could lift himself out of this hole by his bootstraps, and do it all in a minute have another guess coming.

For a century, in round numbers, the United States worried along under a policy that was REACTIONARY. When Franklin D. Roosevelt took the reins of power he reversed everything and initiated a policy that was ACTIONARY. "Actionary" is a new Pathfinder word. It means "taking action, going ahead," as opposed to "reactionary," which means "holding back or obstructing action." Prof. George F. Warren, at Cornell university, had dug into the records for 135 years and come to the conclusion that nature could be allowed to take its course if the human family—and especially the farmers—were to be protected against the ravages of recurring depressions. He found that in the past the price of gold and the average price of other commodities had run parallel. And from this he drew the conclusion that if the price of gold were raised, the prices of all other commodities would follow as a natural result and the country would come out of the depression automatically.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, when Governor of New York, had become familiar with the work of Professor Warren and been converted to the idea. When he entered the White House therfor he called in Professor Warren as one of his chief advisers on monetary and economic matters. Other college professors and economists of the "young liberal school" of thought who had been engaged in similar work were also drafted by the new President. Such a thing as this had never been done before, and this group of learned experts soon became known under the nickname of "the brain trust." In choosing his cabinet and other close advisers President Roosevelt also made a new departure by largely passing up the politicians of the old school. He had to find places for a few of the old type, but these have gradually been eliminated for the most part.

A bold stroke was struck when the President, in due time, moved Henry Morgenthau, jr., into the key position of Secretary of the Treasury. This was a great stroke because Morgenthau was an old neighbor of his, whom he knew and trusted and who had himself been a student at Cornell and a close associate of Professor Warren. Morgenthau at the same time was himself a practical farmer, and he had no connections with the race of professional politicians. The President also did a good stroke when he picked Henry A. Wallace to be Secretary of Agriculture. Wallace's father had held the same position years ago under a Republican administration. Wallace was the publisher of an agricultural paper and hence knew all about the farm problems from the inside. He also was in close sympathy with the doctrines of Warren, Morgenthau and the others of that group.

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs had a social entertainment and feed at the hall Tuesday night. There were several visiting Three Linkers here from Lubbock.

H. H. Timmons, former citizen of this county, but now living in Lubbock, was a visitor here this week.

CEMENT PRODUCTION IN TEXAS ON INCREASE

Austin, Texas, April 6.—Production of cement in Texas during February totaled 280,000 barrels, against 195,000 in January and 197,000 in February, 1933, gains of 44 and 42 per cent respectively, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Shipments of 273,000 barrels were 3 per cent above the 264,000 barrels in January and 35 per cent above the 203,000 barrels during February last year. Stocks at the end of February stood at 492,000 and were 23 per cent below those of the corresponding date a year ago.

Miss Gertrude Rasco, who recently underwent an operation at an Amarillo hospital, has asked the Herald to thank those who sent Easter flowers to her, through its columns.

The only low-priced car with fully-enclosed Knee-Action Wheels and what a difference that makes in performance and dependability

Simple as a Shock Absorber!
Chevrolet's "fully-enclosed" Knee-Action is, in reality, a gigantic shock absorber, built solidly on to Chevrolet's big, heavy frame, with the front wheel solidly anchored to the "shock absorber" arm. The result: When the front wheel comes in contact with a bump or hole, it rises or falls to absorb the shock.

A smooth, restful, gliding ride... a bounceless back seat... a new feeling of safety and relaxation in high-speed or rough-road travel. All these pleasures are yours with Knee-Action wheels. And if your car has enclosed Knee-Action, like Chevrolet's, you not only get this gliding ride at its best, you also get two other extra advantages. One of these is shock-proof steering. And the other is dependable operation, thoroughly protected against wear and tear. The patent rights on this special kind of Knee-Action are held exclusively by General Motors. That's why no other low-priced car has it. Also, no other has a Fisher body, cable-controlled brakes, a Y-K frame, or a Blue-Flame engine of unsurpassed economy.

A REASONABLE EDITOR

After all is said and done, it must be admitted that the average small town editor is reasonable. He will agree to almost any proposition which seems fair. He will even suggest several propositions and let the other fellow take his choice.

This obliging attitude is well illustrated by an item in the Tribune, published in Altoona, Kan., which says:

"Anyone owing this paper is requested to call and pay at once. Anyone not owing is requested to call and subscribe for this paper in advance for the full amount of the debt and pay us another year in advance, cash. Anyone who is not owing us and will not do so, is requested to move to North Dakota and make room for someone who will."

Texas Mules Break World's Record

Here are Hully and Kit, two mare mules which recently broke the state and world's records for weight pulling, by moving a weight of 2,600 pounds on the dynamometer. The feat broke the Texas record for horses and mules and the world's record for mules. Hully and Kit belong to John Tarleton Agricultural college of Stephenville, Texas. (Texas News Photos.)

Kearney Brim of Sulphur Springs was unanimously elected chairman of the state committee to succeed Maury Hughes, who is running for governor. Ed. J. Hussion, Houston, was elected vice-chairman of the committee to succeed Mr. Brim. The meeting was held in Houston, and it was a runaway race for the Ferguson faction from start to finish (Texas News Photos.)

How I Broke Into The Movies

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS

STRANGE as it may seem to his friends in fandom, "Doug" didn't jump into the movies with one of those hair-raising hurdles over a ten-foot wall.

And stranger still, he actually entered the picture game as a stage star and not as an athlete.

His athletic proclivities came to the surface somewhat later and only after causing the picture producers some sleepless nights. They had plenty of visions of thousands of feet of film going to waste because he "moved" too rapidly for the "movies"—and expected to see nothing but streaks and blurs on the screen.

However, an earlier career—which ran the gamut of law, stocks and bonds, hardware and other adventures including a job as valet to several hundred cows on a cattle boat bound for Europe—kept being interrupted every so often by stage appearances.

Some were good and some not so good. All, however, were diligent, and this diligence brought experience and eventually "Broadway Stardom" through association with William A. Brady, George M. Cohan and Cohan and Harris.

About this time D. W. Griffith was standing the theatrical world on its head with his picture, "The Birth of a Nation." Previously the theater looked down on the movies as rather, pesky poor relations.

Then came a rush of legitimate actors to the screen but "Doug" decided that he who leaps, like he who laughs, must leap last to leap best.

So he did. In the summer of 1914 he went to work for D. W. Griffith at $2,000 a week for ten weeks and he made a picture called "The Lamb" which was an immediate success. Triangle, of which Griffith was the head, came forward with a three-year contract and from then on Fairbanks was "in" the movies for keeps.

He also had a habit of going to a given point by the shortest route and in his earlier pictures he would sometimes leap over a fence or hedge—and once negotiated the other side of a house by going over it.

Here the producers and technical experts gave vent to grave misgivings as to the camera's ability to record such rapid movement. Everything heretofore had been done very slowly in pictures and all gestures were deliberate—like the old melodramatic poses. However, in spite of all the howls of protest, Griffith waved them aside and waited to see what would show up on the film.

The result brought forth an avalanche from the press about the acrobatic ability of "Doug" Fairbanks and before long all his stories were being written with new and more difficult leaps.

The astonished public viewed a long series of pictures including "Double Trouble," "Manhattan Madness," "The Good Bad Man," "The Half Breed," "In Again Out Again," "Wild and Woolly," "Man From Painted Post" and among others, a screen version of his old stage play, "He Comes Up Smiling." "By this time," Doug said, "A long nourished desire to do other things beside leap and smile started the urge to produce my own pictures. Whatever success I may have gained in this direction is most apparent in such production as 'The Mark of Zorro,' 'The Three Musketeers,' 'The Black Pirate,' 'Robin Hood,' 'The Thief of Bagdad,' 'Don Q,' 'The Gaucho,' and 'The Iron Mask.'"

"What is the secret of screen success? Well now, I refuse to play the part of preacher or one of those 'follow-me-and-get-there' men, but my own observation is that the way to screen success is the same as in any other line of endeavor. "It takes enthusiasm, intelligence and courage. Enthusiasm to give your best to anything you attempt; intelligence to direct the enthusiasm and courage to carry through in the face of all obstacles."

From Stage to Screen

Following a noted Broadway stage career during which she appeared in many play hits, Marjorie Gateson made her screen debut in 1931 in "Beloved Bachelor." Then followed in rapid succession important roles in "Husband's Holiday," "False Madonna," "Street of Women," "Society Girl" and "Okay America."

It is reported here that Ralph Woolcy formerly of this city, but now of Longview, is making the race for re-election for Governor of the east Texas oil fields. It used to be his hobby to run for City Limits here.

Frank Weir and family have moved to their new home that has just been completed on east Broadway.

Honolulu Honolulu is situated at the foot of the Evergreen mountains. It is the principal city of the Hawaiian Islands, which have been an American possession since 1898. Honolulu has a population of about 100,000, and a perpetual mild, spring-like climate. About the city are extinct volcanoes, mountain peaks, sugar plantations and mills, great fortifications, army posts and naval stations.

Oldest Legal Code

The oldest legal code so far discovered, that of Hammurabi of Babylon (about 2850 B. C.) had, for instance, a minimum wage statute. Price-fixing was common under the Roman Caesars, and the decree of Diocletian (301 A. D.) fixed salaries and the price of practically every commodity of Roman commerce.

The Word "Climax"

The word "climax" comes from the Greek and meant originally a ladder or stairway. In the ancient Greek theaters the stairway which led from the lower part to the upper seats bore that name. In rhetoric, a climax is a statement in which the thought leads upward step by step to a culminating point. An anti-climax is the opposite.

Wild Turkey Disappearing

Originally the wild turkey ranged from the Atlantic coast north to Ontario and west to southern Mexico. With the coming of the white man and clearing of forest and brush lands for farming the bird was gradually forced to more inaccessible hide-outs. It is still found in some 18 states and Mexico.

Southampton Trading Center

Southampton has been an important trading center for the interchange of British and foreign goods ever since the days of the Phoenicians and Ancient Greeks 1,300 years ago. Today 170,000,000 tons of shipping enter the docks annually.

No Such Animal as Unicorn

There was no such animal as a unicorn. It was a fabulous animal mentioned by ancient Greek and Roman authors as a native of India, its body resembling that of a horse, and having one straight horn on the forehead.

Bachelors and Old Maids

The term "old maid" is no longer in good usage. By the time a man or woman has entered middle life, that is to say, at about thirty-five or forty years, the terms "bachelor" and "single woman" begin to be applied.

Havana Third Capital

Havana is the third city to serve as the capital of Cuba. Baracoa, on the northern coast of the island, near its easternmost tip, was the first capital, established by Diego de Velazquez in 1512. Two years later, Velazquez transferred the headquarters to Santiago, which remained the second capital until 1551. Meanwhile, the original Havana was founded in 1514, near the site of what is now known as the town of Batabano, on the south coast and about 50 miles from Havana. This infant city bore the lengthy title of "San Cristobal de la Habana."

For Lieutenant Governor

WALTER WOODUL.

HARRIS SENATOR ASKS ELECTION AS LT. GOVERNOR

Houston, Texas.—Senator Walter Woodul of Houston has formally announced his candidacy for the office of Lieutenant Governor, saying:

"I aspire to the honor of being Lieutenant Governor of this state. I was born in Texas and educated in her schools, including the University. I volunteered to serve in her National Guard on the border in 1916 and served in the world war. I have been privileged to represent the people of Texas in both houses of the legislature, and I believe I know the problems of the state.

"As the campaign progresses, I will discuss and give to the electorate my position on pertinent issues. Senator Woodul has represented Harris County in the senate for the past six years and was unanimously elected president pro tempore at the last regular session. He was born in Laredo, Texas, and worked his way through the University of Texas. He led in the organization of Houston Community Chest, is active in the civic life of this city, and is one of the leading lawyers in this section of the state. Senator Woodul was elected state manager of the Garner-for-President forces in Texas and served in that capacity at the National Democratic Convention in Chicago.

Senator Woodul married Miss Ethel Eldridge of Sugar Land in 1917, and they have one son. He is a member of and active worker in the South End Christian Church of this city.

According to the most authentic reports, the German and Russian press are bound and gagged by dictatorship and the people are fed only such opinions as the ruling powers desire. Such a breach of liberty would be intolerable in the United States. In all history, hard-won freedom of the individual has been safeguarded by a free press and free speech. Even an innocent gesture toward trespass upon such freedom must be resisted.

WHAT a beaver dam looks like? Here is one that these industrious little animals have built across a stream in northern Quebec. Although these dams are built by the beavers with the object of providing a depth of water to make a safe underwater entrance to their lodges, they also assist materially in storing up large reservoirs of water and creating fine spawning beds for game fish. The beaver is protected by the government in Canada.

WHAT after the geographical department of the Government had erected this monument to mark the boundary between Alberta and British Columbia on the top of the great divide at Mount Robson, a glacier inconsiderably moved and changed the height of land, and consequently the boundary line by about two hundred feet? It also caused a river which had flowed north to flow in the opposite direction. All provincial boundary lines in Canada are clearly though not so elaborately marked as this. In the picture, the man on the right is standing in Alberta, and the one on the left is in British Columbia.

Unique Demonstration Cars Join Crusade Against Carbon Monoxide

One of the two demonstration cars being used in the crusade against carbon monoxide in this section of the country. These cars have been especially built for this work and contain much costly technical equipment, which will be used in lectures and demonstrations.

THE dangers of carbon monoxide gas and the proper way to eliminate this hazard of modern day motoring will be forcefully brought to the attention of motorists in all sections of the country when two elaborate demonstration cars set out soon on a nation-wide educational tour sponsored by Cities Service Oil Company.

Under the auspices of police and health officials in many cities and states, tests will be conducted to learn the efficiency of the average car under various traffic and climatic conditions. The quantity of carbon monoxide found on the country's leading highways and in the interior of cars also will be recorded and studied.

On the tours to be made by the demonstration cars, motorists, service station attendants, civic organizations and other groups will hear lectures on the history, future, construction, operation and adjustment of the motor car. Following the lectures, cars will be tested and adjusted to show the motorist just how to avoid waste of power, oil and gasoline.

The cars have screens for the projection of illustrations and are equipped with valuable scientific instruments, including the company's exclusive Power Prover, which accurately measures motor efficiency and detects those faults which cause the production of carbon monoxide in dangerous quantities.

Exhibit of Fine Pictures to Be Placed on Display Here — April 10th, 11th and 12th

150 Reproductions of the Works of Great Artists Will Be Exhibited to Students and General Public

The Maids and Matrons Club has announced that an exhibit of 150 of the finest reproductions of recognized masterpieces of art has been engaged to be placed on display in the Leader Building to local students and the general public, April 10-11-12.

A small admission charge will be made, and the fund thus raised will be used to purchase pictures for Brownfield Public Schools.

In making the announcement, Mrs. Cobb, Art Chairman, said:

"It has been the privilege of students and the general public to enjoy the masterpieces of music and literature for generations; but an enjoyment of the masterpieces of art has, until very recently, been restricted to those who were wealthy enough to travel throughout the world, visiting the museums in which the original paintings hang.

"Recent improvements in color photography and printing now make it possible to bring the art of the world to even smaller towns and villages through the medium of faithful reproductions. These reproductions are true to the originals in all respects, with the possible exception of size.

Even the most delicate variations in color are maintained. In most instances the brush strokes in the original picture are clearly discernible.

"I feel that we are fortunate indeed to be able to bring to Brownfield a collection of these splendid pictures."

How I Broke Into The Movies

Copyright by Hal C. Herman

BY AL JOLSON

I DON'T believe I "broke" in the movies at all. I think I sauntered into them through a front door that was left open by the Warner Brothers.

And there was a "welcome" mat in the hall! At least I did a lot of "looking" before "leaping."

I "looked" into the movies several times during the years that immediately preceded the development of Vitaphone pictures, but I couldn't be convinced that the silent screen was a proper medium for me to use to reach an audience.

Several producers and directors tried to persuade me but I was always dubious. I went so far as to make tests to plan a story, but I was still dubious and finally decided that the silver screen was for me.

I'm still skeptical—about silent pictures—but the public has been kind in its approval of "The Jazz Singer" and "The Singing Fool."

I had resisted some tempting offers to try the silent picture and was on the road with my show "Big Boy" when the suggestion that I make a "singing" picture was first discussed. We were in Denver with the show and before we left there I had thought the proposition over and decided to make the experiment.

Warner Brothers who had just then perfected the Vitaphone and who had approached me with the proposal that Al Jolson.

I make their first full length talking and singing picture, were notified that I would accept their offer to make one Vitaphone picture. During the rest of the tour of "Big Boy" we planned the story of "The Jazz Singer" and when the road show closed I went to Hollywood for the first tests.

I was not easily won away from my intention to make the legitimate stage the only medium between the public and me but Vitaphone offered me an opportunity I could not resist.

The success of "The Jazz Singer" is motion picture history. It did "break" into the movies with a loud bang, and I found a new and satisfactory way of reaching a vastly increased audience.

Having made the break and having learned that the public approved of the break, it followed naturally that Warner Brothers wanted more pictures and that I was willing to make them.

In a way I have "gone Hollywood." I have a home there and will probably always spend a part of my time and energy making pictures. I looked a long time before I leaped, but once the leap was made into the movies I had no regrets.

Buck Jones Has Played in More Than 300 Features

Buck Jones has been a successful screen star for more than twelve years. After ten years with Fox, he left that organization to produce independently. Three years ago he joined Columbia pictures and today holds the remarkable record of having appeared in more than 200 feature screen plays.

A fan poll conducted a year ago by a national magazine, revealed that Buck Jones was the most popular outdoor screen star in the opinion of the millions of the publication's readers. The rapid development of the Buck Jones Rangers clubs attests to the star's appeal to the youth of America. Some 3,000,000 Rangers are enrolled throughout the country, in these boys' clubs with a goodly portion of them meeting regularly in more than 500 theaters.

Hobart Bosworth Played Leads to Notable Stars

Hobart Bosworth started his stage career in 1885, subsequently appearing as leading man for Minnie Maddern Fiske, Julia Marlowe and Henrietta Crosman. Mr. Bosworth had the distinction of starring in the first picture ever made in Los Angeles, in 1909, "The Sultan's Power." A few months later he wrote, directed and played the leading role in "The Sea Wolf." He has appeared in "Blood-ship," "Flight," "Dirigible," and "Hurricane." His most recent pictures include "Fanny Foley Herself," "Carnival Boat," "County Fair," "Phantom Express," and "The Miracle Man."

I heard a woman say not long ago that she had lost her faith in religion. She had prayed and prayed for something she wanted and hadn't got it. It struck me that there was something decidedly wrong with the church or the teacher of religion from whom this woman had got that selfish idea of the use of prayer. I never have found anything in the Bible to suggest that one can petition the Almighty for personal benefits and expect to get them. Those who profess faith in God but try to dictate to the Supreme Being as to how every detail of their lives should be shaped have a totally false idea of the teachings of religion, says my friend Harry Fosdick, whose sermons draw the largest crowds in New York. I agree with him that many people regard themselves as the center of the universe, and what they need most is the sort of faith that assures them that all they need to do is to live up to the Golden Rule and take what comes without whimpering.—State Line Tribune.
