

The Terry County Herald

Not Neutral—Not On The Fence—A Paper With An Opinion And A Purpose

The Herald has grown with this section from strictly a ranch country. This area now consists of thriving towns and cities, supported by scientific farming and stock raising, augmented by huge oil fields, with the nation's largest known oil reserves.

Best Advertising Medium

The Herald subscription list is a splendid blend of town and rural readers, folks who can and do pay for their papers—they do not ask or want it donated to them. Many 30 and 40 year continuous subscriptions.

A Better Class Of Farm Homes Is Our Desire

The Herald is glad to announce this week that we have made arrangements with Southern Agriculturalist and Farm and Ranch of Dallas and Nashville, Tenn., to run a picture of a model home, together with the ground plans in each issue of the Herald indefinitely. We are introducing the first of the series this week, and we think it is a great farm home.

There are many nice farm homes in Terry county, some as modern as they come, but there are many that look kinder run-down. We realize that some materials are rather hard to obtain at this time, but if one is not too choicy, the rifle can be made. So far as financing is concerned, there's never was a better time for the farmer to build a home than now. A home that not only the family will be proud to call home, but an asset to the community as well.

With the advent of electricity practically all over the area, and butane and propane gas plentiful, the farmer can have a home just as modern and convenient as the city man. He has plenty space for shade trees, shrubbery and flowers to make a home beautiful.

It was with this idea in mind that the Herald joined forces with two of the south's leading agricultural journals to carry the news to our farmers in this area. You will note that the plans and specifications are very, very modest in price, as the idea handled on a large scale by these farm papers make it possible to sell the plans dirt cheap.

In this connection, we would like to call the attention of building suppliers, such as lumber, plumbing, electrical and hardware to this plan, which will be run on a page to itself each week. Of course there is no obligation to carry an ad on this page, and no high pressure salesmanship will be used to effect that means. But we honestly believe that your ad on that page, large or small will pay.

From week to week, we shall fill this page with articles of interest to the farmer of the area. This stuff will come from Texas A. & M. College, and we hope the Soil Conservation setup will furnish us an article occasionally, as well as other agricultural organizations. We want to make this a real FARM HOME PAGE.

Herman Chesshir Gin Moving To New Site

Herman Chesshir has announced that Herman's Gin, located at 5th and Tate Streets is to be torn down. The new location will be just outside the city limits on the Plains highway.

The new plant will be an all-steel and all electric Continental Gin. All that will be used from the present gin will be the new machinery that was installed last year.

Mr. Chesshir states that the move will be of great benefit to the farmers as they will be able to miss the crowded conditions that prevail in town during the fall months also that the new location will offer unlimited parking space for the cotton trailers.

Herman's Gin has been in the same location for the past 33 years, and is one of the oldest locations in Brownfield. Prior to being purchased by Mr. Chesshir, it was owned by the West Texas Gin Company.

DREW HOBBY BUYS INTEREST IN STORE

Mr. and Mrs. Drew Hobby have bought out Mr. S. Yandell's interest in the Green Hut Grocery and Market, located at Broadway on Lubbock and Seagraves highway. Mr. Yandell and Mr. Hobby had been partners in the store since last December.

The store will be open from 6:30 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. six days a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobby have been residents of Brownfield for the past ten years and invite the public to call on them at the Green Hut Grocery.

Peace Officers Hold Meeting At Spur

Approximately 120 peace officers attended the annual meeting of the Caprock Peace Officers Association held at the Horace Wood ranch in Kent county, May 24.

Now in its third year, the association was organized to promote good will and fellowship among local, county and state peace officers.

The program for the day included pistol range firing, table games, horseshoe pitching, precision shooting and exhibitions and addresses. Sheriff F. T. Fox of Taylor county served as master of ceremonies for the day.

Officers of the organization are Cecil Fox, president; Sheriff C. C. Kimmel of Dickens county, vice-president; J. R. Whitmire, highway patrolman, secretary; and Horace Gage, Dickens county sheriff treasurer. Fox, who is a game warden, serving with the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, conceived the idea of the annual barbecue and his home serves as headquarters.

Sheriff Ocie Murry of Terry county attended the meeting.

Lubbock CC Host To TWGA Golf Meet

The Texas Women's Golf Association amateur tournament ended Sunday, May 27, at the Lubbock Country Club with Miss Polly Riley of Ft. Worth receiving the Henry Pratt Smith cup and becoming champion of the TWGA.

Miss Riley had to sink a birdie putt on the 37th hole to defeat Betty Dodd of San Antonio after trailing Miss Dodd all the way until the 34th hole where she evened the match with a birdie and took the lead on the following hole with a par. On the 36th green, Riley was only about 14 inches from the cup and needed only to sink to win as Miss Dodd had taken a four. She missed her putt and the contest was carried on to the 37th hole.

Brownfield golfers from the local Country Club who attended and their qualifying scores were: Mrs. Ted Hardy, 125, 7th flight; Mrs. Jack Shirley, 103, 4th flight; Mrs. J. T. Bowman, 120, 7th flight; Mrs. Fred Baldwin, 103, 4th flight; Mrs. Sawyer Graham, 121, 7th flight; and Mrs. John L. Cruce, 115, 6th flight.

Mrs. Fred Baldwin was defeated in her first match Tuesday and lost to Mrs. Hiram Parks of Lubbock CC in 4th flight consolation. Mrs. Jack Shirley won her first match 2 and 1, but was edged out by Mrs. T. N. Blalock, Houston City champion, on the 23rd hole in the quarterfinals. Mrs. J. T. Bowman went to the finals in the 7th flight and lost her match 2 and 1. Mrs. Bowman was presented a candelabra Sunday afternoon at the presentation of trophies at the conclusion of the tournament.

Mrs. Hardy lost her first match to Mrs. Bowman and also lost consolation.

Mrs. John L. Cruce won her first match Tuesday, and lost Wednesday to Mrs. Clyde Hundley of Lubbock, 4 and 3.

LOCAL BANK HAS AN ATTRACTIVE PAINTING

While at the Brownfield State Bank and Trust Co., one day this week, our attention was called to a huge painting on the wall. The panel is, perhaps 5 x 6 feet or larger, and it was called to our attention by President J. O. Gillham, who is very proud of it.

The scene depicts the three leading industries of the area, Farming, Ranching and Oil. In the foreground is a very fine farm, and just over in the pasture is a number of oil derricks, with white faced cattle grazing everywhere. What a combination? What prosperity?

You can't keep a people down that has these three leading industries.

Sheriff's Posse To Make Several Trips

The Brownfield Sheriff's Posse rode in the parade Wednesday at Carlsbad, N. M., which officially opened the Carlsbad Rodeo. On June 7 the Posse will travel to Crosbyton and to Lubbock on June 20. It is still uncertain whether or not the Posse will parade at Slaton on June 16 as the date is on a Saturday. The event is Slaton's yearly birthday celebration.

The Posse made an excellent showing at Seminole Thursday afternoon and night, May 23. The trophy won by the Posse at the Post Stampede is on display at the Brownfield Coffee Shop.

The regular supper and business meeting of the Sheriff's Posse will be held Monday night at 7:30 at the new Posse Clubhouse.

Tommy Steiner Will Manage Jaycee Rodeo

TOMMY STEINER

When the Elliott-Steiner rodeo comes to Brownfield for the Jaycee Rodeo, June 28, 29 and 30, the most active figure you'll see around the arena during the performance will more than likely be Tommy Steiner, "Wild Bill" Elliott's partner, and Managing Director of the shows. While Tommy is only twenty-five years old, he has already had sixteen years experience in and around rodeos. Tommy began a career at nine that will more than likely stretch into one of many more years!

Tommy Steiner began his rodeo life in his home town, Austin, Texas, where a paint pony and some fancy roping started him on the road to rodeo. It wasn't long before he was recognized and respected by a great many of the older hands in the game. As with most kids a few years ago, Uncle Sam beckoned as soon as he was graduated from High School, and young Steiner spent two years in the U. S. Air Force as a radio operator before returning to civilian life and rodeo late in 1945.

Shortly after his first show, following the termination of his army life, Tommy and his dad, T. C. ("Buck") Steiner, set up a rodeo-producing business with the stock Buck had gathered while Tommy was in the army. For the next four years the Buck and Tommy Steiner rodeo stock gained fame throughout the Southwest.

With his dad's retirement from rodeo, Tommy and "Wild Bill" Elliott formed a partnership that has resulted in the accumulation of the finest, roughest strings of rodeo stock ever seen in the Southwest. Tommy, his wife and baby son, Billy Tom, are traveling together this year as much as possible, and his family will probably be on hand for the show here.

Tommy Steiner has had the necessary experience in every phase of rodeo to be a recognized expert in the field of rodeo management. Always ready to meet and talk with people, Tommy gets around a great deal during the shows. Watch for him — you'll probably see him!

NEW CLOSING HOURS STILL INDEFINITE

Bob Tobey, manager of the Retail Merchants Association, has announced that the new closing hours of the Brownfield stores are still indefinite.

Tobey hopes that some decision will be reached by the first of next week.

FAMOUS BUSCHBOMS AND THEIR LIBERTY HORSES AT JAYCEE RODEO

The famous Buschboms and Palominos. Miss Buschbom, her celebrated Palomino Liberty, and an outstanding horsewoman, puts the Buschbom high-schooled horses through their repertoire of graceful and intricate tricks. This is the same family of Buschboms from which Jack Buschbom, of international rodeo fame, stems daughter, Beverly, stage a thrilling and inspiring performance with their highly trained Liberty men all!

TOM HADLEY WILL BE ANNOUNCER AT THE JAYCEE RODEO HERE

Tom Hadley, Rodeo's Good Will Ambassador, will be the announcer for the Elliott-Steiner produced rodeo sponsored by Brownfield Jaycees, June 28, 29 and 30. With his mellow, pleasant voice and his intimate knowledge of all rodeo events, Tom Hadley has succeeded in making more friends for this exciting sport than any other man in the game. And Tom's knowledge is first hand! Before he took over the microphone at big shows all over the country, he was a star performer in the big-time arenas himself. His name had appeared on rodeo programs throughout the entire West, list-

Emergency Steps Needed To Secure Farm Labor

Tom Adams Receives Degree Monday

Thomas L. Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Adams, received a degree in Business Administration Monday morning in the Commencement Exercises at Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene.

Tom was a very prominent athlete at Hardin-Simmons. He was a member of the football team and has been a winner for five times in the Golden Gloves, three times in light-heavyweight and twice in heavyweight.

Recently Tom was given the award by the Christian Athletic Association. The winner of the award is chosen among the nation's top athletes on the basis of who exerts the most Christian influence. Normally only one is chosen, but a dual award was made this time to Tom and his team-mate, Fred Morales. Other winners have been Charlie Justice, North Carolina All-American football star; Connie Mack of baseball fame, and Billy Southworth, manager of the Boston Braves.

Mrs. Adams attended the Baccalaureate Services Sunday morning and the Commencement Exercises Tuesday morning. It was quite an occasion for Mrs. Adams as Tom was the youngest and the last of Mrs. Adams' five children to graduate from college. Mrs. Adams has been present at Commencement Exercises for all five of her children.

Tom will remain in Abilene this summer where he will work and take an active part in the National Guard activities.

FOX PAINT AND PAPER HAVE FORMAL OPENING

The formal opening of Fox Paint and Paper Supply will be held Saturday from 12 noon until 8 p. m.

The new location at 110 West Hill will feature a complete line of paint, wallpaper, venetian blinds and linoleum. Mr. and Mrs. Fox cordially invite the public to be present sometime during the hours of the opening. Refreshments will be served and music will be by the Sunshine Ramblers of Lubbock.

On display will be many of the newest products to make your home more livable and enjoyable.

Special demonstrations of many items will be carried on during the afternoon. Among the many representatives to be present will be a representative from the factory of Benjamin Moore and Co. Mr. Mark Haley, Lubbock representative of this company will attend.

YOUTH REVIVAL TO BE HELD AT UNION

A Youth Revival will begin Sunday, June 3, at Union Baptist Church and will continue through June 10.

Rev. Mike McKay of Wayland College, Plainview, will be the Evangelist with Otis Walser as choir director and Mrs. Vera McKee as pianist.

Morning services will begin at 10:30 and evening services at 8 o'clock.

HANDY GROCERY HAS A GOOD OPENING

Many people attended the opening of the Handy Grocery out on the Lubbock highway the past weekend. Also, many sent flowers. This store is unique in that a shopper may drive up in front, hand in their list, and have their order brought to the car. Especially handy for ladies with several small children.

The front is all open in daytime, permitting a looksee inside. Claude Gore is a fine young chap, reared and educated here, and we hope and believe he has a bright future.

Miss Betty Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Holmes, returned to Brownfield Thursday from Dallas, where she is a student at Southern Methodist University.

Farm Shortage Program Extended

Extension of the Commodity Credit Corporation program providing loans to farmers to finance the construction or purchase of new farm storage facilities for grains and certain other storable crops was announced today by Loe Miller, PMA administrative officer for Terry county. The original loan program, initiated in June 1949 and scheduled to expire June 30, 1951, has been extended through June 30, 1952.

As of April 30, 1951, loans totaling approximately $23,400,000 had been approved for farm storage structures having an aggregate capacity of over 85,000,000 bushels. In making the announcement, Mr. Miller pointed out that the program will be doubly valuable in the year ahead, serving both to increase farm storage space and ease the pressure on transportation facilities, and to do so with a minimum use of critical materials.

"The Department of Agriculture," he explained, "has recommended increased production of several important crops this year. This larger production is needed to meet increased requirements both for immediate use and for emergency reserves. To take care of these reserves without putting undue strain on our commercial storage and transportation facilities, we need to expand farm storage capacity in many areas. The Commodity Credit Corporation farm storage facility loan program has been extended for another year to meet this need."

PRACTICE TO BE HELD EACH AFTERNOON

The American Legion Junior Baseball League will continue practicing each afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the baseball diamond one block north of the Marson Apartments.

There are no games scheduled until about the 10th of June.

DELUXE CLEANERS MOVE TO 114 N. 6th

Deluxe Cleaners has been moved from the old location at 304 Lubbock Road to the building formerly occupied by Fox Paint and Paper Supply at 114 N. 6th, directly behind Cobbs' Department Store.

J. B. Huckabee, owner, invites his customers to call on him at his new location.

Miss Betty Jackson entertained a group of her friends at her home on the Lamesa Road after Commencement Exercises Friday night.

Rodeo Plans Discussed At JC Meeting Monday

The Jaycees held their regular meeting at the Esquire at twelve o'clock Monday. After the luncheon a business meeting was held with President Crawford Taylor presiding. It was decided that booster trips would not be made this year and that instead four Jaycees will furnish their cars and each car will visit neighboring towns advertising the rodeo. Cars will be furnished by Oscar Allen, Curtis Sterling, Clyde Truly and Pat McMillen.

Members of the Rodeo Committee are: General chairman, Clyde Truly; program chairman, Frank Szydlowski; advertising chairman, Oscar Allen; chairman of concessions, Sid Lowery; ticket chairman-boxoffice sales, Dr. W. A. Roberson; chairman cushion sales, Dewitt Stafford; chairman dance committee, Milton Bell.

Pat McMillen will be chairman in charge of issuing shaving permits and Western Week. A stockade is to be built on the north-west corner of the courthouse lawn in addition to the tank.

A trophy donated by the Senior Chamber of Commerce will be presented to the best riding group immediately after the Grand Entry. Harmon Howze will make the presentation.

According to Clyde Truly, the plans and program for the Jaycee Rodeo will be completed in the very near future.

decides to take steps about taking this bill off the shelf. The Rules committee can not escape a large part of the responsibility if the crop losses are heavy due to the fact that workers from Mexico will not be available. The present labor law expires June 30.

Farmers are urged to go to the Chamber of Commerce office located directly behind the old Brownfield State Bank building and leave the information needed to secure hands. If a farmer has not joined the Terry County Farm Association and the Terry County Farm Bureau-Federation, he will pay his dues at the Chamber of Commerce office. It is very important that all farmers call by the office and leave the number of hands needed; number of acres farmed; county where the farming is done; the address of the farmer and the date when the hands are needed.

The contract for the hands will be for six months' period. However, they can be kept to help harvest the crops or furloughed to South Texas.

Saturday, June 2, is the deadline for the farmers to sign up to obtain labor. Wayne B. Smith, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, will be in his office Saturday morning to take the dues and sign the farmers up, and Mrs. Bill Williams will be there in the afternoon to help.

Judge Winston announced the deadline for signing up because of the expiration of the bill and the red tape involved in getting the Mexican labor to this country.

THEATRE HOURS TO BE CHANGED

Beginning June 1 a matinee will be shown each day at the Rio Theatre starting at 1:15. Box office will be open at 1 o'clock. At the Rustic Drive-In Theatre the boxoffice will open at 7:15 p. m., and the show will begin at sundown.

The downtown theatres box-offices will open at 6:45 and the show will commence at 7 o'clock.

Seeing Double, Double?

CHICAGO—Perched on an LP-Gas storage tank throne, Miss "Double" and Miss Propane are crowned LP-Gas Queens for 1951. The new queens, Diane and Donna Ridge, Aurora, Ill., reigned at the 20th annual Liquefied Petroleum Gas Association convention. Doing the crowning honors are Beverly and Barbara Dahm, Evanston, LP-Gas Queens last year. More than 7,500,000 families in rural, small town and suburban areas now use LP-Gas for cooking, water heating, home heating, refrigeration, clothes drying, incineration and a long list of "outside" uses on the farm. A million new customers were added by the industry in 1950 alone.

Sit-Down To Iron, It Is Easier

Sit-down ironing saves effort, fatigue and time. Yet, many ironers continue to stand while they do one of their most tiring jobs. Home management specialists for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service believe equipment for sit-down ironing is the answer to this problem. They suggest using an adjustable board that can be lowered or raised to suit different workers, either for stand-up or sit-down ironing. The specialists say a board 58 inches long and 14 inches wide with a tapering end is best. It can be a built-in, fold-up, wall board, or portable. There are commercially made sit-down ironing boards. For a comfortable chair, the specialists suggest an adjustable office chair on casters. To save expense, a kitchen or dining room chair can be remodeled with lower legs on casters, a padded seat and back. The specialists recommend a lightweight iron weighing 3 to 3 1/2 pounds for seated ironing. There are advantages in using an iron with a low handle, easy to hold, tapered end to fit into gathers, hand a beveled or planting edge to go around buttons and other fastenings. An iron with a large sole plate has the advantage of covering more area, thus saving time and motions. The iron cord should be elevated for efficient use of the iron.

A Hot Check Law With Teeth In It

"Hot check" legislation passed by this year's State Legislature was explained Monday (May 21) at the 51st annual business conference and credit sales clinic of the Retail Merchants Association of Texas in the Buccaneer Hotel (Galveston). Representative Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, author of the legislation, said the legislation does two things: 1. Sets up a system of notification that will strengthen prosecution, and 2. Puts teeth in penalties. The over-all purpose of the legislation, he told the gathering of merchants, businessmen, credit and collection managers, was to make prosecution easier in "hot check" cases. This was done, Representative Carr said, by drawing a more legible line setting off cases where the true intent in giving a hot check is to defraud. "This is accomplished, he said, by providing a 'hot check' passer an opportunity within a reasonable period of time to make the check good. If the check is not made good within a reasonable period—ten days—then the new legislation calls for the presumption that the intention is to defraud. The new legislation, he said, will work like this in determining intention: A merchant is advised by the bank that a check he has accepted is no good. The merchant then sends a written notice to the person who gave the check by personal contact. The person who wrote the bad check then has 10 days to make the check good. If the check is not made good within the period, then prosecution can be based on the presumption that it was the intention of the writer of the check to defraud the merchant. The wording of the legislation on this point, Representative Carr said, is "... the making, drawing, uttering or delivering of a check ... provided such maker ... shall not have paid the holder ... within ten days after receiving notice that such check ... has not been paid by the drawee."

SOUTH SIDE OF SQUARE BROWNFIELD, TEXAS

We have read many commencement addresses; we have heard several, but we believe that it remained for Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey to present the best, the most interesting, as well as the best advice to a graduating class. The class was at his old home down town at San Augustine in east Texas. Ben Ramsey is no one's fool or monkey. He is a hard headed, thinking Texan and American. He sees where the state and nation is drifting. Ramsey explained that there were about three steps to reach communism as it is practiced in Russia, where the government is all powerful and the people are slaves. Then there is the second step in which England is now dabbling, gradually taking over all the larger enterprises of that country, and delving out to the people what the politicians think they need. Here in America, Ramsey pointed out there has been a drift in that direction since 1932. He explained to the students and others, that these concepts of government is just as far from our philosophy and traditional thinking as the poles. He reminded them that we are gradually giving up the idea that the elected are servants of the people, and should do the peoples' bidding. On the other hand, we are gradually drifting into the foreign idea that the federal government is all in all; that we are gradually, through our congress giving the administration more and more rope to dictate and to tax the people. Ramsey stated that we certainly need taxes, much more than we did 100 years ago. But at the same time the scope of the government is getting bigger and bigger and has grown more complex with the years. He asked, "where are we going to stop?" Then he answered the question himself. "You who are sitting here tonight as well as the other young people throughout the land are the ones to stop the drift into totalitarianism. We need more than ever men in offices with brains, and integrity. We need to send some of our best brains into public life instead of all the brains into private business." In closing, he stated that "we can build a welfare state based on private initiative that will be much more efficient and less expensive than a government controlled welfare state to which is added the great cost of bureaucracy and waste to everything it undertakes." Hats off to Ben Ramsey. He's our kind of man and official.

Some thirty years ago, the nation had a leader that was a world wide figure, and highly respected by his people. He was at that time our president, and a real Democrat, and his name was Woodrow Wilson. President Wilson was a great scholar, historian and a profound student of government. Once he said: "The history of liberty is the history of the limitation of government power, not the increase of it. When we resist the concentration of power, we are resisting the process of death, because concentration of power is what always precedes the destruction of human liberties." Since that time, we have witnessed the concentration of government power far beyond anything that Woodrow Wilson could have conceived. Millions have been reduced to slavery, and many of the great nations are now ruled by terror. Civilization is being turned back centuries. Americans are among the relatively few that are still free. But we will not remain so if we do not stay awake and fight for our liberties.

Most of us like to pose as being patriotic, because we love our country. But sometimes in being patriotic, we may lose money in the deal, and we as well be prepared for that disappointment. During World War I and II, most of us bought every bond possible. We were glad to do it, for our country was in peril. Recently however, a prominent radio commentator brought out the astonishing fact that the man who bought a $1,000 bond in 1940 and cashed it in 1950 for its face value received only the equivalent of 571 1940 dollars, the kind he paid for it. The commentator then goes on to say that if the investor had invested $750 in GM in 1940, by 1950 he would have received in dividends and market value of his stock $2,200. No one that has studied matters are deceived into believing that they are being paid in dollars that are as valuable as the ones they put into the bond. But we are told

After talking with a few of the local retail merchants about some of the directives of the Office of Price Stabilization, we are certainly glad that the powers that be forgot to include the little country weeklies. Despite all the explaining that has been done by one then another through the weeks, the average small merchant still has a dim conception by the Wonderful Wizards up at Washington that "a little inflation is alright, and high prices mean prosperity." And some inquisitive fellow asks, "well, wouldn't we be twice as prosperous if prices were twice as high?" You answer that one.

Much is being said about Mr. DiSalle's meat controls these days and no large group seem to be of the same mind. The main question is, will the idea lower the price of beef? Many too, believe that all the controls will help is the big meat packers, who are able to feed out as well as process the beef. Up at Lubbock, one of the largest independent packers has already declared they will have to close up, and others are to follow suit as soon as present supplies are exhausted. With ceilings on cattle the cattlemen say they will make no effort to try to keep a good supply of meat by exerting themselves to breed more and better cattle, or try to feed them with high priced feed if pastures get low. About the only ones the idea seem to help, or perhaps is intended to help, is the labor groups in cities, whose block votes are a great help to Mr. DiSalle's bosses. More and more political power, more and more controls is uppermost in the ideas that come from the capital city agenda. The worm in the apple simply is that cuts must be made in wages as well as products, along with higher and higher taxes. And unless this is done, the huge purchasing power of the laboring man will simply blow the ceilings off and in walks the gaunt black market.

What we the people are most interested in when we walk into a store is to get what we want as cheaply as possible. We do not give a whoop whether the dealer makes a profit or not. Yes, we are just that selfish. And if you ask the first half dozen persons you meet on the street how much profit the average merchant makes, you'll get an astonishing number of answers, and perhaps all of them too high. Fact of the matter is, that it is around 14c on the dollar, but many items run far less. But here is the hard one so far as the dealer himself is concerned. It appears that the OPS expects the retailer to absorb all the increases in wholesale cost over which he has no control whatever. For this very reason, this arbitrary law may force many small merchants out of business. The margin of profits is just too small to pay the bill, taxes and other incidentals in a retail business. A firm that does millions of dollars worth of business annually, can come much nearer absorbing the play between wholesale and retail prices. Of course the law was made to protect the consumer. But if all businesses are not adequately protected, all of us suffer.

Radio Moscow tells us that the last of the five year plans has been finished with a production increase of 70 per cent over 1940, and therefore stands next to the USA in national production. But according to Newsweek, the Soviet Dictatorship is still far behind the free enterprise system of the United States. To mention

Miss Judy Barrow Weds Pfc. C. Lewis

Miss Judy Barrow, daughter of Mrs. Anna Belle Barrow of Brownfield, and Private First Class Craig Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Lewis of Tokio were married in a formal ceremony performed in the Crescent Hill Church of Christ, May 19 at 7:00 p. m. The vows for the double ring ceremony were read by Jimmie Wood, minister of the church.

The choir from the Broadway Church of Christ at Lubbock sang "Indian Love Call," "Because," and "Oh, Promise Me." Potted palms and white tapers formed the background for the ceremony.

The bride wore a traditionally styled wedding gown of white satin with an embroidered nylon net yoke with long fitted sleeves. She carried an arrangement of red roses atop a white Bible. Something borrowed was her veil of French imported illusion, her bridal gown was something new, and she wore a blue garter for something blue. A handkerchief belonging to the bridegroom's family was something old.

The maid of honor, Miss Wanda Collier, wore a dress of pale blue nylon net. Miss Dixie Brown and Mrs. Jamie Morrow of Levelland were bridesmaids. Miss Brown wore a ballerina length pale pink dress, and Mrs. Morrow wore an identical dress in light green. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of white carnations tied with streamers of satin ribbon matching their dresses.

Billy Joe Lewis of Union attended the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Bobby White and Victor Herring. Martin Lee Barrow of Rankin, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer and Charlotte Ann Campbell was flower girl.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the home of the bride's mother. In the receiving line were the bride and groom, Mrs. Barrow, T. J. Barrow, brother of the bride, Mark Barrow of Lamesa and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, parents of the bridegroom.

The three tiered wedding cake was trimmed in orchid and white and the bride's table was laid with lace over orchid. Mrs. J. O. Ballinger of Santa Rosa, N. M., presided at the punch service. Miss Glenna Faye Winston registered guests. Mrs. Jamie Morrow assisted Mrs. Ballinger.

The couple will be at home at Camp Chaffey, Ark., following a wedding trip to Ruidoso.

Ice Freshens Sun-Wilted Complexion

BY EDNA MILES

THE rose-garden variety of American Beauty is not the only kind that tends to wilt in the summer sun. Most women find their loveliness skidding downward during the season of heat and humidity.

One way of retaining that fresh-as-a-daisy look during the hot months is to stimulate your face with an ice treatment before applying your make-up.

A cube from your refrigerator is an excellent beauty aid, provided you never before to rub the ice directly upon your unprotected skin. A thin wrapper of absorbent cotton prevents too-quick melting of ice and picks up lingering traces of dirt in addition to safeguarding delicate tissues from excessive cold.

With quick, firm strokes, whisk the wrapped cube over the entire surface of your face and neck—until your complexion assumes a rosy glow. Complete this treatment by patting on a bit of your favorite astringent.

It's a good idea to schedule enough beauty time to allow a 10-minute lapse between this routine and the application of make-up.

★ Film star Lauren Bacall freshens her complexion by rubbing her face with cotton-wrapped ice. This treatment leaves her skin smooth and glowing, ready for make-up.

Dysentery In South Plains Area

The typical circumstance by which dysentery is ordinarily spread from person to person in a family, or from the farm labor group to the farm family is not well understood, but investigation almost always reveals the evidence of possible mechanical transmission from human fecal material through water, food, insects, or fingers to the mouth of the victim.

While this path is fairly well recognized by the trained public health worker, it is vague and unacceptable to the average, and otherwise well informed individual. For this reason the protective measures required to prevent the spread of this disease from the migrant laborer to the farm family, and many other groups, have not been placed in operation and the disease has spread to hundreds of families as it did in 1950 when more than one thousand individuals in this area, most of them children, received medical attention.

In the offices of the South Plains Health Unit in Brownfield, Levelland, Lamesa and Seminole, and Plains complete pamphlet material on "how to make needed corrections" is available and a trained sanitarian will help you apply them to your problem for the protection of your family.

May we help you reduce the number of cases of this disease this year and save the lost labor, expense and lives for our all-out defense effort.

Double Ceremony In Rowden Home

At ten o'clock Saturday morning a double wedding was performed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rowden. Vows were read for Miss Glyndola Stockton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Stockton, and Staff Sergeant Morris E. Rowden; son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rowden; also for Miss Dora Lou Collis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Collis, and Orbra Rowden, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rowden. Rev. Jack Pearce, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church officiated for the double ceremony.

A trellis of fern over the mantle flanked by baskets of pink and white carnations formed a background for the ceremony. Two silver bells with white satin streamers were used at the top of the trellis.

Miss Faye Thigpen, accompanied on the piano by Miss Juanell Greenfield sang "Always" and the "Indian Love Call."

Mrs. Morris E. Rowden, who was given in marriage by her father wore an all white two-piece dress studded with rhinestones, and a lace trimmed hat. For something old, she carried a white Bible. Her bridal dress was something new, and her garter blue. A handkerchief belonging to Mrs. A. T. Pickett was something borrowed. She had a penny from her father in her shoe for good luck. The bridal flower was an orchid atop the white Bible.

Mrs. Orbra Rowden was given in marriage by her brother, Bill Collis. She wore an all white dress and a lace trimmed hat. For something old, she wore her watch. Her dress was new and a handkerchief borrowed from an Aunt was something borrowed. A garter was something blue, and a penny in her shoe was worn for good luck. She carried an orchid on a white Bible.

Monroe Rowden, Uncle of the two bridegrooms, attended both as best man.

Maid of honor was Miss Freda Edwards who wore a pale pink dress with accessories of white and her corsage was of white roses. A reception was held following the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth. A three tiered wedding cake trimmed with pink rose buds and coffee were served to forty-five guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Orbra Rowden will make their home in Brownfield after a wedding trip to Ruidoso. Staff Sergeant and Mrs. Morris Rowden will live in Hawaii where Sgt. Rowden is stationed.

HAD A VISIT WITH JOHNSON IMPLEMENT

Until Saturday, we had never been closer than the Seagraves highway to the new location of the Johnson Implement. All being busy, we conducted ourself through the building, Messrs. Johnson and Kersch were both busy with customers. Their offices and stock room is larger than their old location on South Sixth, and their workshop is a huge, well equipped affair to keep up the John Deere implements of the section.

Across a concrete patio, is a huge warehouse, where thousands of dollars worth of implements and large parts are stored. They have also spent thousands of dollars to pave a large area around the buildings.

As we were preparing to leave, Mr. Kersch came out and wanted to personally conduct us through, but it was near noon, and we promised to come back and get a personally conducted tour thru their plant.

Their next step is to pebble dash the building. Lack of rain has held this up to this time. We asked Kersch where they got coffee. "We have a perculator and make it right here in the building," he said.

Mrs. Roy Wingerd and Mrs. Money Price left Tuesday for Austin where Miss Marion Wingerd will join them for a short trip to Houston and Galveston. They will return to Austin Saturday to attend the Commencement Exercises at the University of Texas. Saturday night Miss Wingerd will receive her degree at the Exercises.

A Possible Cure For Brucellosis

University of Texas scientists have made another advance in the search for a cure of brucellosis—the disease now costing U. S. live stockmen an estimated $100,000,000 annually.

They have found common sulphur is toxic to brucella organisms, Dr. Vernon T. Schuhrdt, University bacteriology professor and brucellosis research director, said.

Laboratory tests indicate colloidal sulphur is the toxic agent in certain amino acids and peptones, protein-derived chemicals which have been found effective in killing brucella organisms.

"The problem now is to find a way to toxic the sulphur toxic when the brucellosis is treated," Dr. Schuhrdt explained. "Blood and chemicals in tissues tend to change the sulphur to a non-toxic state."

Brucellosis losses are particularly heavy in the dairy industry where both milk and calf production are greatly reduced. The disease sometimes infects humans who are constantly exposed to it.

RUSSIANS SHORT-STOP U. S. FOOD PARCELS

FRANKFURT, Germany — (AP) The Kremlin's "Hate America" campaign has broadened even to include types of food sent to German prisoners of war in Russian prisons and camps.

Food packages containing canned goods with American labels or other items with U. S. markings never reach prisoners. Although Russia has claimed that all German prisoners of war she took have been repatriated, a recent United Nations estimate placed at "thousands" those still held.

Recently German Red Cross officials told relatives of war prisoners not to try to send American goods. Although the Russians have made no formal statement, the Red Cross officials made it plain that such consignments never reached the prisoners.

Gee Gee Tells Us All About Old 'Kaintuck'

Under date of May 16th, Gee Gee Privitt "writ" the Old He and family, the Herald force inclusive, a rather enlightening document. Her first plaint was the weather, of which it had rained 40 days and night, with a few "deducks."

The postman don't realize how narrow he missed a hug and a big buss when he brought her the Herald, and returning to moisture, she was tickled that we got a fine lot of skyjive out here. Then she jumped into the Herald contents and acknowledged that Cousin Marge was doing a jamb up job.

She says the Louisville section is pretty and green with so much rain, but farmers are just getting their stuff planted. But would you believe it—she says some of the farmers irrigate back there.

They are located close to the industrial district with aluminum plants and distilleries. They make nearly all the "whusky" in the USA there. But, good gosh, they use coal, and everything nearby, is black, including the people. Buildings are rammed together as if land was worth millions per square inch.

As for Captain Samuel, he has a full load of the latest to be learned about warfare, but he's pouring over his subjects. Many foreigners there in training among the 3,000 students. An officer from Korea giving them the latest didn't paint a very bright picture over there, Gee Gee concluded.

West Texas Produces More Oil Than Russia

Producer of more oil than world disturbing Russia West Texas has an international importance that ranks with the oil producing areas of the troubled Middle East.

This was pointed out in "West Texas Today," West Texas Chamber of Commerce publication, which has dedicated its May issue to this region's oil industry.

"According to best available statistics, even the giant domain of Soviet Russia has petroleum production which is about two-thirds the output of the counties in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce region," wrote Chas. E. Simons, Dallas, general manager, Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

"Oil is not only vital to West

Texans but West Texas oil is vital to the nation today," the article said. "A realization of the important role that their oil is playing in the affairs of this country, is causing many West Texans, not necessarily oil men, to become alert to state, national, and international problems, which threaten to slow down the search for oil and the most efficient development of West Texas' natural resources."

Based on studies of counties roughly approximating Texas Railroad Commission districts 7B, 7C, 8, 9, 10, Simons wrote that the West Texas counties accounted for 48.4 per cent of Texas' 1950 oil production of more than 317 million barrels.

"This was one-fifth the total domestic crude oil production of the United States, a nation that now looks to oil and gas for more than 56 per cent of all its energy requirements," Simons said.

Dallas Man Pushed For Jaycee President

His colorful Jaycee career began in Denison, Texas, in 1947, where he served as president of that organization. He served as a member of the board of directors of the Dallas Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1948, and in the same year vice-president of the Texas Jaycees. In the year 1949-50, McDaniel was elected to the office of national director of Texas and United States Junior Chambers of Commerce, and was cited at the close of that year as the outstanding Texas state Jaycee officer and was awarded the Clint Dunagan Memorial Award in Chicago at the National Jaycee convention last year, which denoted him as one of the five most outstanding national directors in the United States. In April of 1950, he was elected to the office of president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, and completed 260 visitations to member clubs throughout Texas during the year.

McDaniel was extended a special invitation by Governor James H. Duff, now U. S. Senator from the State of Pennsylvania, to be among the honored guests during the annual Keystone Week Celebration, which was held in Oct. of 1950, in Pennsylvania.

McDaniel, 35 years of age, holds B. S. degree from Kansas State College in Manhattan, Kansas, and has done post graduate work at Iowa State College. He is presently affiliated with the United Fidelity Life Insurance Company, Dallas, Texas, and has been granted a year's leave of absence by his company if elected to this office.

VA and Defense Department Coordinate Hospital Use

The Department of Defense and the Veterans Administration have jointly announced recently, plans to hospitalize certain disabled military personnel in VA hospitals for specialized medical care, including rehabilitation, on the same basis as other veterans with service-connected disabilities.

The military patients to be hospitalized by the VA are those whose disabilities make it improbable that they will return to active duty. The transfer policy will not preclude the return to duty of any patient who after medical treatment and rehabilitation desires to return to active duty and is acceptable to the armed forces. The basic consideration in transfers will be the welfare of the patient and each case must be considered on an individual basis.

The military patients to be transferred under the plan would have become eligible for VA hospitalization as soon as they were separated from the service. The new plan merely speeds their transfer and reduces the overall national demand for critical medical personnel by caring for patients in one organization—instead of having the VA—the Army—the Navy—and the Air Force, duplicating personnel and facilities.

The types of cases considered applicable for transfer are: Severe injuries to the nervous system, including quadriplegics—hemiplegics—paraplegics; the blind and the deaf—requiring definitive rehabilitation; Major amputees—neurological disabilities, including poliomyelitis with disability residuals and degenerative diseases of the nervous system—patients requiring extensive thoracic surgical procedures. In addition to these categories, the tuberculous and neuropsychiatric patients, especially the psychotic, are recognized to be the largest group that will require specialized services in the VA.

The plan will preserve the continuity of the VA's present hospital organization and assure adequate care of veterans even after the present emergency is terminated and the plan is already in effect in a limited way. It will be expanded gradually as military patients are transferred to VA hospitals for this specialized care and rehabilitation. The number of beds that will be utilized for this purpose will depend on the casualty lists and these cannot be forecast at this time.

The VA has announced that the program will not mean a permanent reduction in the number of beds available to veterans.

How to Reinstatement Term Insurance

Any term insurance which has lapsed before or after discharge may be reinstated in the same or a smaller amount (not less than $1,000 in multiples of $500) upon meeting the health requirements outlined in the following paragraphs and the payment of two monthly premiums (without interest) on the amount of insurance to be reinstated. All such re-instatements must be made within the term period, which is 8 years from effective date on term policies issued before January 1, 1946, and 5 years on policies issued on or after that date.

Reinstatement of term insurance may be made at any time within 3 months of date of lapse without necessarily taking a physical examination, provided the applicant is in as good health as he was on the date of lapse (if not totally disabled), and submits a signed statement (Comparative Health Statement) to the Veterans Administration with necessary information to establish that fact, preferably on VA Form 9-353a. However, the Veterans Administration reserves the right to request further evidence when considered necessary.

At any time after 3 months from date of lapse, evidence of good health in the form of a completed report of medical examination, is a requirement for reinstatement of term insurance.

Renewal of Term Insurance
General Conditions: Any NSLI policy issued on the 5-year level premium term plan prior to Jan. 1, 1948, which has not been exchanged or converted to a permanent plan of insurance, may be renewed as level premium term insurance for an additional period of 5 years, without medical examination provided:

(a) A remittance sufficient to pay at least one monthly premium on the new policy at the then attained age is submitted prior to the expiration of the first term period. Request for renewal should be made on the proper form although a request in writing, stating the amount of insurance to be renewed may be accepted.

(b) The expiring term contract is in force under premium paying conditions and the final monthly premium has been timely paid. The final month of the term

Essential To Keep A Town Clean

"Environmental sanitation is the public health term for clean, safe housekeeping whether it applies to a private home and its surroundings or to towns and cities. Among other things, it insures safe drinking water, proper garbage and sewage disposal, the safe service of wholesome food including milk, rat and insect control, and general cleanliness of the premises. However, for environmental sanitation to be effective, it is essential that not only public health officials but the citizens living in their respective homes or operating establishments serving the public cooperate wholeheartedly, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Consider, for example, the seasonal housefly hazard. It has been determined that 120 eggs are laid by a single female at one time and that a generation is produced every ten days at summer temperature. Thus, the possibility of reproduction during the warm months of a single fly runs into many millions. While the housefly does not bite, it is dangerous because it breeds and feeds upon both filth and food.

"Again, rats are the source of several diseases of man including plague, typhus fever, infectious jaundice, and trichinosis, to mention some of the more important ones. Homes can be made comparatively ratproof by removing rubbish and garbage accumulations, and by closing avenues of access. Approved poisons and traps should be employed when a real problem presents itself.

"Removal of containers of stagnant water such as tin cans and barrels will do much to eliminate the mosquito for householders. The householder needs to devote more seasonal attention to mosquito eradication than he is today if this is to be properly controlled.

"In general, good and thorough housekeeping, inside and out, is the personal and civic duty of every home dweller. It not only adds to the pleasure of living and removes disease hazards, but increases the appearance of one's surroundings."

period will be the 96th month after the original effective date for all policies issued prior to January, 1946, and the 60th month for policies issued on or before that date.

Automatic Renewal While Totally Disabled: When any policyholder is shown by evidence satisfactory to the Administrator to be totally disabled at the expiration of the term period of his insurance under conditions which would entitle him to continued insurance protection except for such expiration, his term insurance, if issued prior to January 1, 1948, will be automatically renewed for an additional period of 5 years at the premium rate for the then attained age, unless he has previously changed to another plan.

Renewal of Reduced Amount: Where a reduced amount of a term policy is renewed the amount not renewed will cease and terminate at the expiration of the first term period and may not be reinstated at any time thereafter.

Texans In Washington

By Tex Easley
AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(AP)—Congress took steps last week to keep the record straight on the 1951 cotton acreage—even though there are no controls on the size of this year's crop.

Texans and other southern legislators, led by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.), pushed through an amendment to the Agriculture Department Appropriation bill to provide $1,000,000 for compiling an accurate account of the amount of land every farmer plants in the staple.

The purpose is to avoid a repetition of the confusion which occurred when cotton quotas were reestablished in 1950 after eight years without any restrictions. When it came to making the allotments for the 1950 crop—telling the farmer how many acres he could plant—three separate and widely varying sets of figures turned up for consideration.

One was the farmer's own estimate of the number of acres he had planted in previous years. The Bureau of Agricultural Economics (BAE) in the Agriculture Department had its figures—usually much lower. Then, the

AMERICANS PLAN SINGAPORE SKYSCRAPER

SINGAPORE. — (AP) — A big, new nine-story skyscraper which is likely to become the center of American business activities in this British crown colony is to be erected along Singapore's waterfront.

The American International Assurance Co., Ltd., is backing the $2,500,000 project. The American International is an affiliate of the American International Underwriters Corporation of New York which also operates in Hong Kong, Thailand, Borneo, Indonesia and Malaya.

Production and Marketing Administration (PMA) committees had their own figures on allotments.

Rep. Lindley Beekworth (D) of Gladewater was among those who spoke on the House floor to support the Harris amendment, which has yet to be passed in the Senate.

Beekworth expressed hope that "every farmer who wants to farm is given a square deal when the acreage allotments are reestablished." He said this will be possible only if there are adequate and accurate records.

Texans Study Radiological Hazards

Radiological health hazards involved in civil defense will come under five days of intensive study at a short course to be conducted at the State Department of Health in Austin beginning June 11, State Health Officer George W. Cox has announced.

Radiological hazards result from atomic bombing, being one of the bomb's most dangerous aspects. Designed primarily to indoctrinate supervisory personnel in the essentials of radiation defense so they can conduct training programs in their own communities, Dr. Cox said the course would be held each month during the summer for a different class of participants.

The health officer said the study is open to: Representatives of counties or cities where radiological defense is not vested in local health departments; supervisory or professional personnel of local health departments; representatives of state departments engaged in civil defense work; fire and police training officers or instructors; and members of industrial medical safety departments contemplating in-plant programs. Dr. Cox, chief of Texas health and emergency medical services, summarized the course as covering:

Where radiological defense fits into overall civil defense activities; definition of radiation language and units; radiation physics; theory and application of instruments; atomic bomb phenomena; area and personnel monitoring (checking for radioactivity); uses of radiation and radioisotopes; radiation protection and decontamination; psychology of disaster; and organization of local communities for radiological defense. Lectures will be supplemented by laboratory exercises and demonstrations, Dr. Cox said, and time will be spent on review physics, chemistry, and the mathematics required for calculations. "We're going to put on a really worthwhile course," he indicated. "The army is going to help us." He said additional courses would be held as "necessity demanded." No tuition will be charged. Applications should be submitted to Dr. Cox at the State Department of Health in Austin, and include education and background of applicants. Trainees are expected to arrange their own travel and living conditions while attending the course.

FARM QUESTION BOX

by ED W. MITCHELL
Farm Advisor
General Electric Station WGY

- Q. I would like your advice on the proper distance apart to plant dwarf fruit trees. I have read anywhere from six to fifteen feet in the catalogs.
- A. I would plant dwarf fruit trees at least fifteen feet apart and twenty will be better. Pears will stand fifteen better than apples.
- Q. My carrots and parsnips are bothered with worms. Can you suggest a control?
- A. Dust a five per cent DDT mixture on the soil around the plants once a week, and I think you will get good control.
- Q. Is there any spray or other treatment to destroy poison ivy?
- A. Yes—buy a 2-4-D weed killer spray at the farm supply store and spray the foliage. Directions are on each package.
- Q. The paint on my frame house is forming blisters and peeling off; the siding feels wet to the touch. What is the trouble, and how can I stop it?
- A. The warm, moist air condenses when it hits the cold siding and the moisture works through the wood and pushes off the paint. The remedy is to put a "moisture-seal" on the inside wall over or under the wall paper and, if possible, use insulation in the walls.
- Q. How should I prune and spray my young fruit trees?
- A. Prune only enough to shape a good, main frame and spray every week of two with lead and sulphur, to protect from insects and scab.
- Q. How can I take stains off a bath tub?
- A. Try oxalic acid solution, or a mixture of vinegar, ammonia, and cleaning powder.

June contains five days to remember, the most important of course is Father's Day the 17th. We would say that. But many of us will say that the second payment on income taxes the 15th is the most gripping. Others are Flag Day, June 14th; Swim For Health Week, 25-30. Also summer begins on the 21, as if it has not already been here in all its glory for several days.

Met one of the natives one night recently and inquired of his dad's health as we had seen him little of late. Don't come to town except for hair cuts and shave, we were told, but keeps pretty busy around the place. He and mother stay at home pretty close. No, he remarked, when we asked, dad does not seem to enjoy gathering at the band stand and helping to save the state and nation. He gets tired of that and quick. Over at Lamesa they not only provide seats for the "country savers," but domino tables, we are told.

You have heard of the old one about lightning never striking twice in the same place. There are exceptions, however. A Woodsboro, Md., farmer has been struck twice in his barn in the past three years, but recovered from both shocks.

Now the experts are freely predicting that it can't happen there again. But the farmer is not too sure. G. M. Thomason and presumably the Mrs. took off for Mineral Wells last week, where G. M. will seek treatment for what is the matter with him. He may be sicker than he looks, however, but we hope he will soon be back home and on the job.

Anyway, he wants to keep track of things in general out here and stopped by to have his Herald pointed down toward "General Smells."

An article in the Herald this week which undertakes to explain farm wage scales, but we think the article lacks a lot of being clear, especially to people in a cotton country.

For instance in paragraph 3. We hope and trust when these beasts are brought to trial there will be no sob sisters on the juries, and they are conducted to the electric chair without too much hampering by jackleg lawyers who will likely plead insanity.

And while we are about it, we believe that all such animals should be de-sexed by law for even molesting children.

Here is a poser: If HST is so sure the Russians are going to attack western Europe in the twinkling of an eye, why is he permitting daughter Marguerite to tour that country at this time? Here's something else that sounds a bit lame to us. The O'Donnell Index says that a Latin youth was picked up there and carried to Lamesa to his folks. He was said to be demented.

But in the very next paragraph, the article stated that the youth had broke into a beauty shop in O'Donnell and took $50. Don't sound like a demented person to us.

Country weeklies are exempted from the provisions of the OPS for which we heartily thank the powers that be up on the Potomac. Now this is all conditioned on the proviso that the gross income of the paper does not run over $50,000 per year.

We look for a lot of the boys who have been playing up the fact that they are fast developing into the millionaire class to tone down their wild talk. With high prices for all kinds of materials and labor, if there are any country weeklies making any money, it is by the skin of their teeth.

While on the subject of the press, we want to say that Europe, Asia and South America aren't the only places where some people would love to muzzle the press. You can find them right here at home. It was even tried out in one of the adjoining states with not too much success.

Brother, when the press is muzzled, except for what some dictator wants said, the rest of you yaps better look out. Your slave days are on the way, unless you happen to be one of the big guns.

Surprise? Anyway the US Supreme Court threw out the so-called "fair trades" law which is in force in some 40 of the states. It has been before the Texas legislature for the past ten years, but with no success, despite lobbyists with plenty dough.

The idea is to allow the manufacturer, in some northern or eastern state to set the price his product can be sold in other states. In other words, take a tooth paste for instance, to illustrate the idea. Here in Texas, you can often get the item for say 37c or 38c. In the states the item mentions "price paid for cotton picked by the hour, in 1950." Who the heck outside of Washington ever heard of cotton being picked by the hour?

Again our nation and state are plagued by some low down, dirty sex perverts. First, we have one out at Santa Ana, California that murdered an eleven year old girl and buried her out in the canyon wilds. This bird had just finished serving a sentence for molesting girl children.

Then right on top of that, we have one right here in Ft. Worth, Texas. This low down breed of the human race had attacked a four year old girl, and when caught admitted it. Personally the conductor of this column don't think such b—ds of the breed have any right to live in a decent community.

We hope and trust when these beasts are brought to trial there will be no sob sisters on the juries, and they are conducted to the electric chair without too much hampering by jackleg lawyers who will likely plead insanity.

And while we are about it, we believe that all such animals should be de-sexed by law for even molesting children.

Gambling Bill Signed

A Texas taboo went on punchboards as Governor Allan Shivers signed a bill aimed at driving the gambling devices out of the state. At right is Sen. George Nokes of Corsicana, author of the bill. At left is Rep. Jimmy Adams of Mexia, sponsor of the measure in the House. The new law makes it a misdemeanor to own, operate, or exhibit a punchboard. It carries penalties of $100 to $1,000 fine or up to one year in jail or both. (AP Photo).

CONSTRUCTION SHOWS BIG DROP IN TEXAS

Construction in Texas dropped sharply during April, continuing a downward trend, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports. Building permits issued in the state totaled only $53,178,000, a 21 per cent decline from March and a 40 per cent plunge from January. The Bureau explains the decline resulted from material shortages and federal restrictions.

However, the Bureau of Census reports Texans are better housed today than ever before. The number of dwelling units has increased 36 per cent since 1940 while the population seeking housing has advanced only 19 per cent.

where the control is on, you pay 50c for the same product. The Supreme Court held, that this price setting was in restraint of trade. Of course these multi-million dollar producers will not rest on their oars. They'll try to get the Supreme Court to reverse itself. That is seldom done, however.

Gee Gee in her letter to the force, certainly missed out on the population of Louisville, Ky. At 600,000 it would put that city ahead of Heavenly Houston and Marvelous New Orleans, the former being just shy of 600,000.

The 1950 preliminary census figures gives the following: Houston, 593,600; New Orleans, 568,000; Dallas, 432,000; San Antonio, 405,000; Memphis, 394,000, and Louisville, 371,000. So, we have five southern cities that stand above Louisville in population.

But back in the 1890ties when we studied geography, Louisville stood just under New Orleans, with Atlanta trailing.

We were bragging last week about the strawberries and meat Mrs. Money Price gave us. This week, Cousin Marge Williams added some hog backbone and pork sausage from her locker, and a bunch of eggs from their hen house. Man alive we've been living high of late.

Today—42 years ago, the Old Herald put out the first issue of the Herald as its editor and publisher.

Good Health In Hot Weather

"Good health in hot weather may be largely a matter of personal choice," according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, as he called for Texans to take life as it comes in summer and live with it as comfortably as possible.

"These modern scientists can drop ice from airplanes to make rain, and they can forecast the weather several days in advance, but nobody has figured out a way to keep the thermometer from rising sky high in a hot summer afternoon," Dr. Cox said. "Therefore," Dr. Cox continued, "a few common sense practices will help us to live with summer: and like it. Texas summers are hot and the hottest part is still ahead, so one needs to remember things that are good hot weather practices. "For example: drink plenty of cool (not ice) water; eat moderately of simple, but a wide variety of foods, exercise daily in the fresh air and have plenty of air in sleeping rooms; take a large amount of salt to replace large losses through perspiration; avoid alcoholic drinks, get plenty of sleep; keep clean; don't worry. Do not overeat. "One of the essentials of summer comfort is the daily bath to wash away perspiration and with it body wastes eliminated through the pores, and to relax tired muscles and strained nerves. There is nothing better than a leisurely bath followed by a short rest."

SOIL TESTING LAB AT YOUR SERVICE

Last fall the Soil Testing Laboratory of the Texas A. & M. College System, was expanded and its operation became the responsibility of the Agricultural Extension Service. The expanded facilities made possible the handling of up to 100 soil samples per day. The small charge made for the testing service is used to pay, at least partially, for operating the laboratory.

M. K. Thornton, extension agricultural chemist, who has charge of the laboratory, says farmers who have submitted soil samples for testing are finding that the results of the tests and the recommendations that go back to them from the lab are very useful. First, they find that often times different grades and amount of fertilizer are needed to improve their crop yields; that low yields are not always the result of low fertility but that minerals harmful to good plant growth and a lack of organic matter are the chief source of trouble and that substantial savings can be made on the purchases of recommended fertilizer as compared to former usage.

Thornton says tests are made for easily organized organic matter, from which the nitrogen is estimated, readily soluble phosphoric acid, potash and lime. The laboratory also determines soluble salts as a matter of routine although relatively few salty soils are found. This is a test not made by most laboratories. When certain amounts of salt are found, chlorides and sulfates are determined. This gives the answer to whether salt is influencing crop yields.

Thornton says the facilities have not yet been used to full capacity and urges farmers to submit soil samples for testing, that is, if they have soil problems. He suggests contacting your local county agent for detailed information on how to take a soil sample and how to mail it.

Rural Cooperatives Multiply Rapidly

The 45 farmer cooperatives organized in Texas in 1950 did not include health centers, cooperative hospital and REA associations set up during the year, since the latter or not chartered under the agricultural marketing act. Yet the organization and cooperative marketing specialist for the A. & M. College Extension Service, M. C. Jaynes, characterizes 1950 as "probably the greatest year for general farm organizations recorded in Texas."

Farmer cooperatives and organizations, he observes, displayed ability to adjust their operations to trends and conditions and are alert to adapt their affairs to future changes. During 1950 meetings of directors and managers were held to consider needs not only for modernizing their machinery and other facilities, but for bringing their legal and financial structures up to date. As a consequence, many cooperatives revised their legal papers and others are preparing to do likewise. Throughout, the Extension Service lent active cooperation in this constructive work.

The new organizations, which numbered one less than in 1949, were designed to operate in the fields of production, processing, storage, packaging, buying and distribution, marketing, and artificial breeding of dairy cows. Special interest was apparent in marketing of poultry products, production and distribution of planting seed, and of fresh fruits and vegetables. The Rio Grande Valley Citrus Exchange, for example, is progressively expanding its membership and services.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

In this space, you'll find "The House of the Week" with full descriptions. This series is made possible by area firms listed here... See them to help you with your Home Furnishing Problems.

A Farm Home Designed For Gracious Living

This plan offers you a beautiful home with a lot of space for comfortable living at the very lowest possible cost in terms of dollars per square foot of usable area. All of the rooms are rather spacious and in every case you have plenty of unbroken wall space for an attractive arrangement of the furniture.

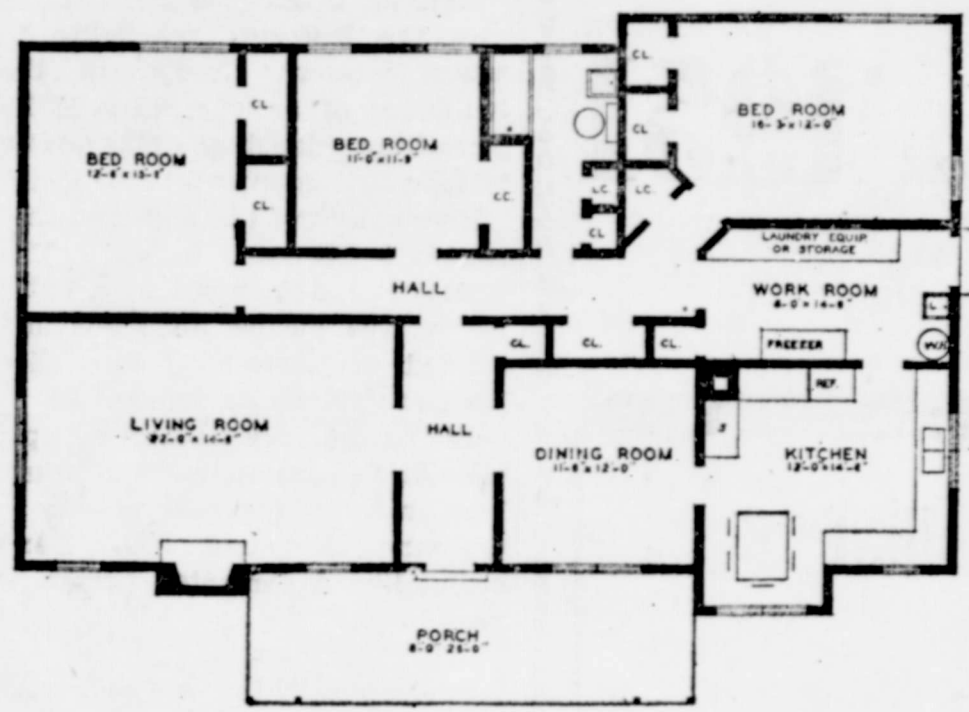

Any farm family will like the kitchen in this house. It should be especially attractive to the homemaker, since it has 21 linear feet of counter top and an abundance of wall cabinets. Also there is ample space in this room for eating most of the family meals. Plenty of room is provided in the workroom for laundry equipment or storage as desired. There is also space for a lavatory where the field hands may clean up before going into other parts of the house; and room for a freezer chest and water heater. It has a closet for storage of raincoats, overshoes, etc., that are used outside and cannot be conveniently stored with other clothing.

Although the dining room has been made a conservative size in order to utilize valuable space, it will conveniently accommodate your dining room furniture, with a table that will seat about ten people very easily.

The entrance hall is provided with a coat closet, and will prevent unnecessary traffic in the living room. You will notice that the entire house has been arranged so that it will not be necessary to go through any room in order to get to another. This arrangement will alleviate a lot of housework.

You can obtain blueprints for this Terry County Herald FARM & RANCH Plan No. 4811 and a handy list of materials by which you can figure your construction cost accurately. Send $1 to Building Editor, FARM & RANCH-SOUTHERN AGRICULTURIST, Dept. L-193, Nashville, Tenn. Order by number—Plan No. 4811. Blueprints are adequate for any farm carpenter or for any farmer handy with tools.

Poison Ivy Effects People Differently

Poison ivy infection varies according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. Sometimes there is only a slight redness of the skin—at other times there will be aggravated swelling and blisters covering large areas of your skin. In mild cases the skin is covered with numerous small blisters.

Poison ivy flourishes in the woods or in the open, in dry or moist locations, and it is particularly abundant along fence rows, paths, and roadways, often climbing posts and trees to considerable heights. While there are a great many plants which may irritate the skin of susceptible persons, most of the cases of plant dermatitis in Texas are caused by poison ivy.

It is impossible for the average person to learn to recognize all the plants which are known to be skin irritants but, many cases of plant poisoning could be prevented if the public would learn to recognize and avoid contact with poison ivy.

Dr. Cox gives these points to remember about poison ivy: (1) You can recognize it by its leaves which are grouped in threes—two of the dark green leaves are on short stems and the center one on a longer stem; (2) The plant appears as a low shrub, a vine hanging over fences or trees, or in a heavy thicket; (3) When you have come in contact with poison ivy, be sure to wash the spots with soap and water several times, as the soapy water removes most of the poisonous material; and (4) If the infection causes much discomfort, see your family doctor.

Farm Wage Rates Are Explained

DALLAS, June 1.—Wage rates for farm workers may go up to 95 cents an hour or the equivalent to that amount at piece rates without becoming the concern of the Wage Stabilization Board.

That is the gist of General Wage Regulation 11 which the Wage Stabilization Board in Washington unanimously adopted last week, it was said today by William J. Rogers, regional director of the Wage-Hour Division of the U. S. Department of Labor here. Wage-Hour offices of the Labor Department all over the country have been designated as field contact offices for the National Wage Stabilization Board.

Under Regulation 11, farm wage rates below 95 cents an hour or the piece rates paid for farm operations may be increased to 95 cents an hour or the equivalent monetary wage without approval of the Board. However, in those instances in which wage rates paid during the base period of 1950 were greater than 95 cents or the equivalent an hour they can be increased only 10 per cent without Board approval.

The base rate is the wage rate paid during the applicable crop season of 1950. For example, if cotton is picked during September on a particular farm, then wages paid in September 1950 would be the base for any increase above 95 cents an hour. Increases may also be given to regular farm workers paid by the month. Where only a cash wage is paid, the wage can be $225 a month. Where the year-round use of a house is given along with the usual incidentals, $195 a month can be paid. Where room and board is furnished, $175 a month is permissible. Where workers were being paid above these amounts in 1950, they would be limited to a 10 per cent increase without approval of the Wage Stabilization Board. Questions regarding increases beyond these standards should be raised with the local Wage-Hour offices of the U. S. Department of Labor. Agricultural labor, according to the regulation, follows the same definition as that contained in the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act which the Department of Labor has administered since its enactment in 1938.

Chicken of Tomorrow

Bob McGregor of Houston, manager of the Texas State Hatchery receives congratulations from F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist of Texas A. & M. College. Joint winner with McGregor was Earl Roesner, also of Houston. They won permanent possession of the traveling trophy and a $1,000 award in three-year phase of the Texas Chicken-of-Tomorrow program. AGRI. AND BUSINESS ARE MORE INDEPENDENT Agriculture and business are depending more and more on each other, declares Dr. T. R. Timm, agricultural economist for the Texas Extension Service.

One of the main reasons for this development is the increasing commercialization of agriculture. Dr. Timm points out, for example, that cash annual operating expenditures by farmers have increased from 5 to 18 billion dollars in the past 15 years.

Farms produce 71 per cent more per person on them now than they did 15 years ago. Production per person during the last 15 years has increased at a faster rate in agriculture than in industry. An industrial revolution is taking place in agriculture, says Dr. Timm.

Farmers have found it more profitable to do only what they can do efficiently and trade with those who produce and distribute other goods to greater advantage. This is one of the main reasons, Dr. Timm says, for such a high standard of living in the country today—both on and off the farm.

He warns that the efficiency of agriculture must continue to increase. Production must be kept up or high unit costs will strangle the farmer.

BELGIANS PREFER FOREIGN BROADCASTS
 BRUSSELS — (AP) — Belgians prefer foreign, commercially-sponsored radio programs to their own government-controlled radio. A recent survey by an opinion-testing organization showed that the most popular station with Belgians is Radio Luxembourg. This station broadcasts exclusively commercially sponsored programs in French, Flemish and English.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Big Govt. depends in no small measure on confusion. If a question can be made sufficiently complicated and non-understandable it gets the nod. We don't choose to let on that we don't savvy "big stuff"—what would the neighbors rate us as, if we questioned the wispy, high-sounding, do-gooding that is now the front parlor vogue? Take England. The folks there listened and gave the nod to the confusing but rosy palaver of the Socialist-Labor Party. The theorists stamped the voters there who did not have within arm's reach the big sounding long words necessary to answer adequately, as they thought, the higher level arguments of the Govt. big snorts. And now what. A few formerly free false teeth decides the argument. They are rocking the glib Govt. to its foundation. Simple, eh? wot. And to come closer home — no voice in volume was raised in our own land, as the Bright Thinkers loaded this nation with such un-American political managed, expensive misfits as the Grand Coulee, TVA, and Hungry Horse projects—and 100 others. Congress sat idle and overcome and dumbed by the intellectually presented confusion of thought. And again, what. With us versus like the false teeth in England, it is one "mink coat" that is rocking the boat and showing up the flaws. Yours with the low down, JOE SERRA

Guaranty or Insurance of Loan G. I. Bill of Rights
 The Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, or Public 346, 78th Congress, approved June 22, 1944, commonly referred to as the "G. I. Bill of Rights," provides under Title III for "Loans for the Purchase or Construction of Homes, Farms, and Business Property."

Guaranty of Loans
 Administration of the Act was provided under the Veterans Administration. The Government does not make the loan, it only guarantees the repayment of part of any loan which an eligible veteran may be able to negotiate with a private lender, the United States thus becoming an endorser on the veteran's note. The guaranty of a loan by the Veterans Administration is an agreement between a lender of money and the Veterans Administration that in the event a veteran fails to pay his loan, the Government will pay the guaranteed portion thereof.

Support Price For 1951 Peanut Crop

Secretary of Agriculture Chas. F. Brannan has announced a minimum average support price of $230.56 per ton for 1951-crop farmers stock peanuts of all types. This minimum average support level reflects 88 per cent of the April 15, 1951 parity price of $262 per ton (13.1 cents per pounds) — in accordance with "sliding scale" provisions of the Agricultural Act of 1949. This support price will prevail for 1951-crop peanuts unless the supply position or a higher level of parity at the beginning of the crop year, August 1, 1951, requires a higher level of support.

The announced minimum average support price represents an increase of $14.56 per ton over the average support price for 1950-crop peanuts. Support for the 1950 crop at $216.00 per ton was based on 90 per cent of parity as of August 1, 1950.

The base grade support price by types per ton of 1951 crop peanuts will be $226 per ton for Virginia type peanuts containing 65 per cent sound mature kernels; $206 per ton for Runner type peanuts containing 65 per cent sound mature kernels; $229 per ton of Spanish type peanuts east of the Mississippi River containing 70 per cent of sound, mature kernels. The minimum support price for Valencia type peanuts suitable for cleaning and roasting will be the same as the Virginia type peanuts. Other Valencia type peanuts will be supported at the applicable support price of Spanish type peanuts.

JUST THE NECESSITIES

Jerry, six years of age, was getting ready for the first day of school. He wasn't very anxious to start, and his mother's tear-filled eyes only added to his reluctance. As they drove toward the school and his mother's tears continued to flow, he said consolingly, "Aw, mom, don't take it so hard. Just as soon as I learn to write and read comics I'll quit."

Keep Bacteria Counts Down

Bacteria counts are always a problem with the dairyman, but the problem becomes more difficult during warm weather. Prompt cooling is absolutely necessary in producing milk with a low bacteria count. Bacteria multiply rapidly, and only through proper cooling of milk can their growth be retarded or stopped. Milk held at 48 degrees F. for 16 hours will show little or no bacterial growth, while the bacteria will increase 3,000 times in milk held at 80 degrees F. for the same length of time. Other factors, such as health of cows, cleanliness of equipment and milking practices, also affect the bacteria count, points out A. M. Meekma, associate dairy specialist for the Texas Extension Service. Milk only clean, healthy cows. One cow with a flare-up of mastitis may give a lot of trouble in the bacteria count. Follow clean milking practices. This includes cleaning the cow's udder to prevent any contamination. Handle the milk in clean, sterilized equipment. Remove all milk solids from equipment immediately, sterilize and store properly. All utensils should be stored in an inverted position so they will have an opportunity to dry. And protect milk from any outside contamination—such as dust, feed, manure, contaminated water and flies. Oak wilt, a fungus disease, has killed oak trees in 11 U. S. states. A jet pilot must start to slow down for a landing 40 to 20 miles from the airport.

Jersey Wins Place In Thousand Pound Club

Another star is glistening in Texas' ever growing milky way. The star is Volunteer Winsome Victory, a 5-year-old registered Jersey cow owned by Victory Jersey Farm, Tulla, Tex. A Register of Merit record of 18,362 pounds of milk containing 1,174 pounds butterfat made by this cow has earned her a Medal of Merit award from The American Jersey Cattle Club and won her membership in the Jersey "Thousand Pound Club." To be eligible for the latter, a cow must produce 1,000 pounds butterfat or more during a lactation while on ROM test. Volunteer Winsome Victory has been given an official type classification rating of Excellent. Her outstanding production record is the highest for living Excellent cows of the Jersey breed. She was milked twice a day during her lactation record. The owners of Victory Jersey Farm, Mr. and Mrs. J. Chester Elliff, have had four other cows to produce over 1,000 pounds butterfat on ROM, one of which was a former butterfat champion of the breed. Their latest "thousand pounder" is sired by Observer Blond's Signal, a Senior Sire with a rating on 32 tested daughters of 11,938 pounds milk and 667 pounds butterfat, and is out of Frangipani Fawnetta, a Tested Dam with a rating of 13,495 pounds milk and 814 pounds milk on four daughters. Texas has produced many top producing Jerseys and presently leads the nation in the number of Jersey transfers and registrations. Castor oil is an important raw material in making paints, varnishes, lubricants, and nylon.

Behind The Scenes

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK, June 1.—America's retailers today are in a dilemma. Faced with currently high inventories, they are putting on vigorous sales campaigns. But, before the year is over, they may be scrambling for civilian merchandise.

Manufacturers are cutting back production schedules and the percentage of output channeled to the defense effort is increasing daily. This means less goods for civilian consumption.

Even though personal tax rates will go up in all income brackets, if a proposal last week by the House Ways and Means Committee becomes law, experience has shown that purchasing power remains high in war time. In a period of partial war there is always bound to be some confusion.

Faced with such prospects, small businessmen are experiencing tough going and are practically living from day to day.

Civilian Defense
One of the factors due to cut available supplies of goods is the mountains of stores needed by civilian defense units for possible emergency use. Medical authorities, for example, have proclaimed that great quantities of blood extenders would be needed to treat the injured in the event of an atomic attack on the United States. Scientists have long been aware of this problem, and have been hard at work to perfect a product that would be suited for emergency use.

One organization — Schenley Laboratories, Inc.—has been particularly active in this field and has set up facilities to produce more than 300,000 pints per month of a blood extender. It has already turned out more than 55,000 pints for research and clinical studies.

Known as PVP-Macroese, the blood extender is completely synthetic. According to Arthur C. Emelin, president of Schenley Laboratories, the solution can be made in unlimited quantities and costs only a fraction of the cost of processing whole blood.

Emelin told a recent conference of science writers in Washington that sufficient intermediate material is now on hand to process and bottle more than 2,000,000 pints of PVP-Macroese, or polyvinyl pyrrolidone, and that orders have been placed with a chemical firm in the Western Zone of Germany for enough of the intermediate material to make another 5,000,000 pints of the synthetic solution. Tests on PVP-Macroese still are being carried out in cooperation with the National Research Council at more than 18 hospitals and research laboratories throughout the United States.

G. B. McLeroy To Be Honored

George B. McLeroy is one of the 93 new members to be initiated into the chapter of Sigma Xi, national scientific honor society of Oregon State College at Corvallis, Oregon in an initiatory ceremony tonight. He will receive a doctor of philosophy degree in July.

He is the son of Mrs. C. J. McLeroy of Gomez. He is a graduate of Brownfield High School. He was graduated from Texas Tech in 1947 and received his master's degree at Iowa State University in 1949.

Nominees for active membership in Sigma Xi must have had a scientific paper published and nominees for associate membership must have a high scholastic standing and an interest in scientific research. McLeroy is a candidate for active membership. He has written a book on breeding of sheep, on which he is doing research.

Farm Shortage—

storage at a time when steel for building more commercial storage will be extremely tight. Our financing program authorizes loans only on good, sound structures but such structures can be built in great part with on-the-farm lumber and out-of-season farm labor. At this time, when steel is a critical material, that is an important consideration.

The farm storage facility loan program is available to producers of wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, grain sorghums, soybeans, dry edible beans and peas, rice, peanuts, cottonseed and flaxseed. Loans are made, up to 85 per cent of the cost of the structure, to any owner-operator, tenant, landlord or partnership of producers wishing to erect a facility which will meet requirements for eligible storage under the price support program. The loans are payable in five annual installments, or earlier at the option of the borrower. Interest on loans is at the rate of 4 per cent per year.

The first installment on loans made prior to July 1, 1951, will become due January 31, 1952. On loans made during the period July 1, 1951-June 30, 1952 the first installment will be due on January 21, 1953.

Cotton Puller Don't Bother This Farmer

A. D. Wenzel was in from his farm this week, and called for a short chat. Naturally the subject of gathering a large prospective cotton crop came up. Then the idea that the House Rules Committee of the Congress had killed the bill which would allow Mexican national laborers to come into the cotton producing states of this country.

Mr. Wenzel stated that about all the labor he used was cotton and feed choppers. He just plants stormproof cotton, waits till Jack Frost kills the leaves, and runs his cotton harvesters. He still has some planting to do as part of his farm was too wet to plant.
