Of all the silly expressions perhaps ever heard from the lips of a president of the USA, came from the mouth of the little Bo from Mo just 'tother day. It was in connection with the tidelands of Texas. Trying to justify the steal from Texas school children by the US government, the little man thought he hit a high C note on his piano, when he declared that all Texans were not oil millionaires, and did not own oil land. What the man who has been trying to fill a place in our government much too big for him, meant to say, was that the government was not trying to steal from the poor people of Texas, but from the bloated plutocrats and oil millionaires. What the man we refer to as president did not know, or care to know, is that these tidelands, now worth millions of dollars, are the inheritance of the school children of Texas, handed down to them by their forefathers, who won the independence of Texas at the Alamo, Goliad and San Jacinto; that these tidelands were part and parcel of the Texas Republic beginning in 1836, and ending in 1848, a period of some 12 years. Most scholars, or those who have examined the records know that Texas did not come into the Union on the same terms as other states. The treaty of annexation allowed Texas to keep all its public lands, and to borrow needed money from other sources, as the US didn't happen to have the money needed by Texas at that time. This arrangement was religiously kept until the little man with his packed supreme court came into power, and then it was discovered that there was oil under these tidelands. Then came the big steal of all times. Some of the "little folks" here at home try to blame Pree Daniel, presently our Attorney General, and our US Senator-elect. As a matter of fact, that packed supreme court would not even allow Daniel to introduce witnesses, and the decision on the steal was by just one majority. The dissenters took the majority members to task for their crooked deal to Texas, but they said nothing in return. Always has been the plan and aim of thieves to say as little as possible so as not to incriminate themselves. The United States did not care a whoop for these barren looking tidelands until it was found that there was oil under them. Then the thieves woke up, and began a plan to take that which does not belong to them. Here is a warning to other states: Don't think for a moment that you do not have something the nosy bunch at Washington wants. You may have a lot of latent wealth not now recognized under your state soil that the despoilers may grab off to your chagrin in the years to come.

We will have to frankly admit that we were taken down a buttonhole or two when Senator Johnson came out that he was supporting Stevenson for president, despite the latter's statement that he was for the tidelands steal. In other words, Senator Johnson will take the dose of castor oil and quinine and gulp at a lot of other things Stevenson stands for, including no states rights and for the FEPC. We were not surprised that old Sam Rayburn was for the gimme and hand-it-out crowd at Washington. Sam would give that socialist bunch the states of Texas, exclusive of Bonham and Fannin county. We admit that we did not vote for Johnson for US Senator. We were for Coke Stevenson, that good old loyal, Texas Democrat. And we'll be glad to mark a ballot for Coke when Johnson's term is up, and the election comes on. We admit, that we had warmed up some to Lyndon, as he had favored many of the things we stood for since he became US Senator. But Lyndon has let us down, and we shall vote for Coke or some other good loyal Texan when election time rolls around again. Coke was cheated out of that election by a lot of crooked South Texas votes in the first place. Down at Alice and old Duval, if you wish to know, or have forgotten. As for Tom Clark, he is just a maverick. The Texas brand came off that bird directly after he went to Washington to share in the wealth of the taxes gathered from the people. We note in Monday's papers that "Tomass" is to be investigated for some shady transactions in which he was involved up at Detroit. In fact, it might be a pretty good idea to change horses up at Washington occasionally, as it seems the boys just can't keep on being loyal to their state after a few years at the town on the Potomac, where "we never had it so good." Texans are going to have to trim most of the boys to two or three terms to keep 'em straight. Now just a few words of advice to Gov. Shivers, and we are through. So you're going fishing November 4th, are you? Well, here's a bit of advice to you, Gov. Shivers, and we hope you take it. Before you start off on that fishing trip that day, don't forget to go to your polling place, and black 'ell out of "Sweet Adlai" and then do your fishing. You can be a good loyal Texan and fish, too, all the same day. Texans will have a good chance on November 4th to show that measley bunch up at Washington that we are not slaves—that we want and demand our just rights. The Democrat party, your foot!

Last week, this old paper and editor had a very interesting edition of the Dustin (Okla.) Booster, of which Mrs. C. T. Edwards is the editor. A very interesting article by Tip (himself) Edwards appeared on the front page, giving the history of Dustin, from the time it sprouted above ground in 1902 to presently—a 50 year period. We certainly enjoyed this effort by friend Tip, who is a constant reader of our efforts. But the incident reminded us that we crossed the state of Oklahoma, or part of it that year, 1902 from Denison, Texas, to South McAlester on the MK&T, and then on the Choctaw, Oklahoma and Gulf from there to the Arkansas line—and we was glad to get to Arkansas? At that time Denison was a very wet burg, and the part of Oklahoma we traveled over was the Indian Territory. We believe we can be safe in saying that half the people who were on that train were either confidence men or drunken Indians or Negroes. The rest of the passengers were going up in the territory to visit relatives, or look things over. But we swore off on Oklahoma on that trip, to never go through the state again, and we have kept the pledge. True, we have crossed the line at the Denison dam, and once we went over into the state at Texola, north of Shamrock, Texas. Of course, we know that Oklahoma is an altogether different place now with the passing of 50 years and statehood. But people are just inclined to remember the bitter, when there was no sweet. Your first impression lingers, and we were glad when that train, now the Rock Island, we believe, crossed into west Arkansas about midnight. However, we have thought of going through the state sometime on our way back to Tennessee, but the maps we get of their highways look like the old fashioned rail fences, crooked as heck. Perhaps when that state gets those crooks in the road in order to go by old Colonel Moneybag's place, straightened out, we will decide to make the trip through Oklahoma, even if we have to put up with confidence men and drunken Indians.

The Lubbock Avanahe-Journal had a flashy editorial last week, with not a few hidden "Texas brags" telling the world that cotton production centers were moving west. And the editorial was the truth as far as revealed. In other words, the reader was told that cotton lands in Texas, laying west of the 100th meridian, and in New Mexico, Arizona and Calif., would amount to some 6 million bales, or almost half the nation's crop of the fleecy staple this year. And that California had become second to Texas in cotton production, with some 2 million bales. But what the A-J editorial did not reveal, was that the west's one proud cat-the business is moving east at almost the same rate of speed. One acre in those old hills across the Mississippi, will carry several times the amount of cattle per acre, compared to our section, and with the new grasses introduced there, an acre of land will carry even more cattle. And don't think they are off color and mixed breeds. They are just as aristocratic as the best in the west. Yep, while we are gaining the cotton production with all its headaches, including bugs, worms and trouble with labor, the Old South is easing up with the life of Riley and a nice lot of good cattle. Those folks don't seem to mind it, either.

One of our exchanges, not too far off, last week, made the same stab of misinformation about elections we hear so often. This particular editor, in his column, did not exactly state it that way, but left the impression, that when you vote in a Texas Democratic primary, you "pledge yourself" to vote for all nominees of the party, present and future. Nothing is further from the real truth, and people should be taught better. The Herald has been printing the Terry county ballot for the past 42 years, and all the pledge says is to vote for the nominees of THIS primary—not the nominees of some present or future convention. We believe the papers should tell the truth about the matter or keep silent. Texas voters are pledged to no one, except the nominees whose names appeared on their ballot.

A Disappointed Editor
One of the mail clerks dropped in recently with an air mail, special delivery letter. We just knew we had a page ad—at least a half page, surely a quarter page. With trembling fingers, we ripped the letter open, which was from a Houston Advertising agency. It was a request to tell our readers, FREE, that a certain Houston manufactured beer had won top place. Heyho!

How to Watch Football Games Explained by Famous Coaches

Watch the blocks and the actions of the kick-coverers if you want to appreciate the kick-off. Diagram from "How to Watch Football."

Do you know what to watch for at the kick-off in a football game? Do you know where to look for exciting action on a pass play? Do you know a T-formation from a Split-T?

To get enjoyment out of a football game, you needn't know how to play, but you ought to know what to watch for. That's the consensus of eleven famous football coaches who have combined to write a new 48-page illustrated booklet on the fine points of being a football spectator.

Entitled "How to Watch Football," it is authored by top-flight mentors of the Big Ten and Big Seven conferences and carries the endorsement of The American Football Coaches Association.

The booklet may be obtained free of charge from Phillips 66 Dealers in this area.

Ray Eliot, head football coach at the University of Illinois advises, "Don't keep your eye on the ball," if you want to appreciate football's most spectacular play—the kick-off. Instead, watch how the receiving team forms inter-

Stricklinly Speaking

By OLD HE

'You can't beat Santa Claus,' says the Denver City Press, in its Old Pirooter column. Therefore, O.P. sees the Demmys going back to the feed trough to further glutton themselves, tax and spend, and carry the nation further and further in debt for future generations to either pay or repudiate.

Of course the little fellows, bless 'em, still think some mythical being called Dear Old Santa brings them toys, fruits, nuts and candy and slips them into their sox. It never enters their innocent little reasoning apparatus that it was papa and mamma that put up the mazooka for the presents, and that P. and M. will have to march down town come Jan. 1, and pay up.

Therefore people 21 years old or older should be seriously thinking, and the subject should be, 'does the government really donate what it gives out? Or was it the taxpayers that put up the kale by robbing Peter to pay Paul?'

According to National Wildlife Magazine, the old saying advised fishermen to throw back the little ones to grow more. But the more fishing, for one thing, is studied, the further game and fish authorities get away from that idea.

Reason given is that as the F. & G. men study the matter, they have come up with the knowledge that a pond, lake or river can easily become overstocked. For instance, some species of the walleyed pike are capable of reproducing at the unbelievable rate of 50,000 offspring in one season.

Don't you hate like heck, that when you, with trembling hands, open a nice letter, say one from an advertising agency to a poor old newspaperman, gives you the All Fools Day run-around. Such a missive came to us last week, and we just knew we had a quarter page order, maybe a half or a page.

What did the letter contain? Pure propaganda about a certain Texas brewery whose beer won mention in a national contest. Of course they wanted us to run something like a column of stuff about this Great Brew—free, of course. 'Won't your readers want to hear about this great Texas product?'

And naturally, the dailies and mags and radio will get the ads and the revenue to be derived. Well, the Herald doesn't want their stuff anyway, free or paid. We don't even run the Old Joe Marsh stuff, who argues that if Polly Poodle wants to drink cocoboloco, and if Jennie Jensen likes her beer, that is their likes and dislikes. Sure, and if we don't want to run the stuff in this old sheet, that's our business.

Over at Lamesa, on September 15-16th, the people are going to join in with the Latin-American population in the celebration of the 148th anniversary of freedom of Mexico from the Spanish yoke. The affair is to be called, of course, a 'Fiesta.' All of which leaves us to wonder why Americans of Spanish descent but holding USA citizenship, should be celebrating that event.

Sorter like asking an American to help the English celebrate the Magna Charta event, or we asking them to help us whoop it up on the Fourth of July. But if the Latins and Lamesa wish to celebrate, we're not holding them. But we sometimes do wonder how enthusiastic these Latins get about, say, April 2nd, the day Texans were freed from Mexico? Naturally the event at Lamesa is for better trade and international understanding.

Boy, was there a rush the last few days of the old rate on the Herald to get in under the wire. If we mistake not, count shows that more than 60 did just that, and this does not include the many who started to pay up under the old rate when we announced a hike back on August 1st. Nor, does it include the numerous new subscriptions, either sent in by the subscriber, or their friends here.

And the checks or cash ranged from $2 to one of $17, given by Mrs. Bernice (Weldon) McNutt, for her own and relative's papers. A majority of the checks or cash was for $5, for 3 years of the Herald.

And some of them had some funny remarks along with their letters, or where they called in person. One of them tried to ring us in our Stricklinly Speaking column, on a religious subject. Let us state that the Herald is a secular paper—not a religious journal—and that we cater to people of all beliefs. The questions we were to answer in this column were very controversial, and if we printed the reader's opinion, or our own, we might have more replies taking the other side of the issue than we would have space to accommodate. Let us say, however, that we fully agree with the position of the reader.

We haven't heard anything very funny this week, as Mayor Homer Nelson, our usual source of funny stuff, has been very busy, as Bob Wells' wife has been ill. Bob is the prescription filler-upper, and his presence was required quite a lot at the hospital with his wife.

But here's one for our local fishermen: After watching her dad pack up the stuff required for himself and pals for the weekend fish outing, the very young lady turned to her mother and remarked: 'Mother, do fish like all that beer?'

Last but not least, it sometimes doesn't pay for every man to be his own physician. Early last week, while sitting out on the concrete terrace on the east side of our abode, all at once we had a severe pain in the right foot about half way between the little toe and the heel. We and others thought it an insect bite—perhaps one of them there she mosquitoes, causing so much trouble out in California.

We soaked the hoof in hot water and epsom salts, but it got 'wus and wus.' So, Friday night, went down to Dr. T. L. (Buster) Treadaway as his dad used to call him. 'Nope, not an insect bite, just another attack of the old foot trouble you have had for years—in a different form, this time.'

Preserved Foods Help Save Family Dollars

COLLEGE STATION.—Two hundred seven thousand, five hundred fifty eight families were assisted in 1951 with food preservation problems, according to the annual report of the foods and nutrition specialists, Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This was the result of training and assistance given county home demonstration agents and local leaders.

In all, 2,431,937 quarts of vegetables, fruits and meats were canned and 24,423,409 pounds of food were frozen in accordance with practices recommended by the specialists. There were 331,440 quarts of food made into pickles and relishes.

The work in food preservation was always accompanied with plans for storage, food budgets, meal preparation and service. The report states that the preserved products were stored in 5,406 ventilated pantries, 32,680 home freezers and 36,470 frozen food lockers; that 55,786 families followed the Texas Food Standard in planning meals and improving diets and 129,351 families were assisted with food preparation and improved table service.

The specialists state that anyone may contact the local county home demonstration agent for specific information on food preservation methods. The bulletins B-194, Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables and B-175, Frozen Foods, are free for the asking. Surplus foods preserved now, the specialists say, will stretch the food budget dollars this coming winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Holmes left Thursday afternoon for Mineral Wells, where they will rest and take the baths.

It's Pear Canning Time In Texas

COLLEGE STATION.—Pears can be served either fresh, cooked or conserved, according to the foods and nutrition specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This makes the new crop now on the market good news to the family menu planners.

Pear producers in the western region of the United States are harvesting 19 million bushels, which should make pears plentiful for the next few weeks. The southern crop which will follow should give everyone a chance to enjoy the fruit at a nominal cost.

To the diet conscious the specialists point out that a medium size pear only has 70 calories. They suggest baked pears to eat and to can. Select the small sweet early pears and bake in the oven just as you do apples.

To can baked pears, remove from the oven while hot and pack in hot sterilized containers. Fill jars full with boiling medium syrup. Seal. Then process in the water bath 10 minutes.

The leaflet L-19, It's Pear Time, which has other pear recipes, is free for the asking at the office of the county home demonstration agent.

Entertain Easily With Simple Buffet Supper

Buffet supper solves the problem of serving a party meal. A simple and delicious meal of zesty bacon rarebit, toasted English muffins, cole slaw with watercress, relishes, potato chips and cold beer is not only appetizing but easy to prepare and serve for a group of any size.

Entertaining these days is unhampered by ironclad rules of etiquette and the modern hostess plans the menu, table setting and service entirely from the standpoint of convenience and ease.

A "one-course" menu served entirely at one time is not only correct but eliminates the need to clear up for a second course. The food should be flavorful and satisfying—particularly for hearty masculine appetites—with plenty on hand for second servings. The rarebit will please everyone and the perfect beverage to go with it is chilled beer, a delicious complement to any party meal.

Heavy paper plates with ridges will keep hot and cold foods separated and make short shrift of post party cleaning up. Serve

Cockroaches Can Be Eliminated

AUSTIN—A dime store paint brush and a few ounces of chlordane are the only tools you need to run off those pesky cockroaches, State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox advises.

But he says keeping them off is a bigger job.

Roches are disease carriers from way back, the health officer pointed out. They've been found naturally infected with polio virus. And that alone, is reason enough to declare war against the filth ridden pests. Here's the way to do it:

First, get a 2 per cent chlordane spray and a two-bit paint brush from the drug store. Then take all pots, pans, and dishes from the kitchen cabinet and wash them in soapy water.

Now paint the chlordane into all the cracks where shelves join walls, and around the drain and water pipes. That's all—don't paint the whole cabinet. While the spray is drying in the cabinets, paint in the corners of baseboards, behind the stove and the hot water heater where water and gas pipes enter the house.

Take off the motor panel of the refrigerator, and treat the floor and corners of the motor compartment. Paint the walls behind the refrigerator, because roaches will hide any place they can find protection. Be sure to paint around bathroom pipes, too.

In older houses it's possible that roaches will be hiding in cracks between the wall boards and door and window frames. So don't pass up a crack because it looks too small to harbor roaches. The young insects are mighty small.

After the spray in the cabinets has dried thoroughly, cover the shelves where dishes and food are stored with paper.

You can get a can of caulking compound for just a few cents, which makes filling cracks permanently an inexpensive process. But run some of the spray into cracks before sealing them up. This will kill ants, too.

All this will help you get rid of roaches, Dr. Cox emphasizes. But if you leave food exposed, they'll soon be back at the same old stand.

Frank Rosamond, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Rosamond, West Bandy street, is taking his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, in San Antonio. He has been in the base hospital suffering with arthritis.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Auvenshine, Bill, Nancy and Bobby, of Gorman, Kans., and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Royer and Phoebe Ann, of Dallas, have returned to their homes after visiting the ladies' mother, Mrs. W. M. Adams.

Beets that are mature usually need at least an hour's cooking time. If you use a pressure saucpan, the cooking time will be greatly reduced. Orange juice, orange rind, melted butter or margarine, a little brown sugar, and a dash of salt will combine to make a pleasant-tasting sauce for the beets after they are cooked, peeled, and sliced.

Healthy Personalities And the Home

COLLEGE STATION—All parents want their children to develop into healthy personalities. Eloise Johnson, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, explains that personality is the term used to describe the whole person, the way he reacts to outside influences and the way he thinks, feels and behaves.

The specialist points out that this personality or whole person is made up of an inherited basic structure plus the effects of training, knowledge, experiences and information plus family and community relationships and experiences.

The first factor in a healthy personality is the inherited basic structure. Physical, emotional and nervous systems and patterns can be changed very little. The big job is to realize this and help children to accept this fact. Lead them to live with themselves so they can grow into healthy personalities.

Much can be done about the second factor in building personalities. Mrs. Johnson suggests that children be given wide opportunities in the home, school, church and community to get sound practical training, experience, knowledge and understanding for the real tasks of living. This leads into the third factor, relationship with others. This two-way relationship is first experienced in the home. Family members continue to be the most important group which influences personality.

Can Children Read Adult Dispositions?

Lee Hulse, a good natured farmer, whose plantation lays some two miles a bit northwest of the city was in early last week. One thing, he wanted to get his Herald up three more years before the hike in price, and another was that he just wanted to chat a bit—mostly politics, national—and we might say that Lee and the Old He are pretty well agreed.

But something took place while Lee sat and talked that we have thought about several times since. We often hear that women have what is called "intuition." Now we believe a child really has it. Our two small fry grandchildren come in with their mother. So far as we know, neither had ever seen Lee, or at least just a casual glance on the street.

But immediately, Robert, aged four, tore into Lee with his little fists, not to try to hurt, but more as a banter. When he walked away, Mary Ann, aged three, began a playful "roughup" of Lee. Of course Lee returned the make-believe in turn. We sarter apologized for the way he was greeted by our grand-offspring. Lee had made no passes at them.

"Think nothing of it," he remarked, "I have some grandchildren that I have it round and around with almost daily." But later it put us to thinking. These children don't tie into every stranger they see in a playful way. Can children fathom, the secret of whether or not a grownup would or would not return a playful banter?

Now you child psychologists take it from there.

Was out at the R. L. Bandy place on the Seagraves highway this week. We were told that they had a fine opening last Saturday. They are putting trailer bodies together, letting the cotton farmer design his own cotton frames, as it was stated that no two farmers would want the same kind of bed or frames.

TEXAS GAME AND FISH COMMISSION

YOUR UNITED STATES

One of the most sinister of all communist teachings is the false doctrine that American capitalism breeds its own destruction through moral decay, and that moral decay is a result of financial success.

Let me ask you just one question: Are the leaders of the socialist states of Russia showing morality in their conduct of international affairs, in their system of justice and in their slave labor camps? I am ready to admit that business has its faults, and that success has its price. By its very nature business is closely allied to materialism. It has to be. Production and merchandising are material affairs. But I also assert that the men who handle these affairs abide by the same normal principles as the rest of the population.

Hinson Noted Some Spots Suffered More

W. J. Hinson, Rt. 1, Meadow, was in one day recently, to get his Herald up to March 1950, while the getting was going for two bucks a year. The Hinson farm lays some three miles east of Meadow, not too far from the site of Old Meadow, before it was moved to the railroad.

Anyway, we got to talking about spots in cotton and maize fields that look as if they had suffered from drought much longer than most of the field. We had to agree that while neither of us were soil experts, there must be something in the soil that causes crops to deteriorate worse in some areas than others.

The Hinson farm is west of the Obar place, that so far as anyone knows now, had the first irrigation well on it. Obar sold out several years ago, and we have lost trace of him.

Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Paden and family of Willow Creek, Mont., and Mrs. and Mrs. Walter Paden Jr., from Bozeman, Mont., visited their brothers, Edsel and Glenn Paden, and their mother, Mrs. Walter Paden Sr., the past week.

Texas-Born Governor of Colorado Is For Texas-Born Ike

FORT WORTH. — Texas-born Dwight D. Eisenhower, "a fighter all his life," will fight, as President of the United States, to restore to Texas her precious tidelands. He will also fight unceasingly and with all his heart to stamp out Socialism and Communism in this country.

This was the message that Texas-born Governor Dan Thornton of Colorado brought to the Lone Star State Thursday when he officially opened the State Eisenhower Headquarters atop the Continental Life Building in Fort Worth.

Speaking to a large and enthusiastic crowd of "Ike" supporters in Will Rogers auditorium, the tall and rangy governor, son of a West Texas sharecropper, charged Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, of being the personal candidate of President Harry Truman. He said that there can be no hope for a change in Washington when only the faces of the nominees are changed, but the powerful Administration forces remain in control of the Federal government.

"The Democrats have nothing to fear but fear," Thornton declared. "And I mean mink. Now is our opportunity to throw the rascals out who would destroy America. We need a more decent type of man in the White House than we have now."

Thornton characterized the campaign as "not a struggle between two political parties, but a struggle between two philosophies. One believes in freedom of the individual and the other that the State is all-powerful."

Appearing with Thornton on the program were Jack Porter, Houston, GOP National Committeeman from Texas, and Ben Guill, Porter's appointee as campaign manager for Eisenhower in Texas.

Mrs. Merritt Returns From California; Felt Quake

Mrs. Claude Merritt of Merritt's Grocery, Tahoka road, returned from a visit to relatives in Oakland, San Diego and Bakersfield, Calif., Wednesday of last week. She was in company with her mother and sister.

Upon returning to Bakersfield for Oakland, in company with her mother and sister, they had laid down to take a nap, and upon being awakened by the earthquake, they were thrown across the room off the bed by a door. While scared, they were not injured in any way, and the baby asleep in the crib was not awakened. She stated the town looked like a bad cyclone had struck it, and while another sister's home was damaged, there were not any of her relatives injured.

Mrs. Merritt returned by bus rather than by train, as there were several tunnels, and some of them are still being repaired from the other quakes that destroyed a nearby town.

Concerning Disaster Loans For Farmers

As a result of serious drought conditions in many areas of Texas as many farmers are faced with an emergency need for credit not available through local sources to buy feed for their livestock and seed and fertilizer for the planting of fall grain and pasture crops, according to L. J. Cappelman, State Director of the Farmers Home Administration of Dallas, who has received reports from every section of the State on conditions as they exist at this time. Mr. Cappelman has been told that if such assistance is not provided it will be necessary for farmers in these drought stricken areas to reduce sharply, or in many instances to liquidate entirely, their livestock enterprises because of the lack of feed stuff and pastures for grazing. In the interest of the farmers concerned, the agricultural economy of the areas affected and the welfare of the farming interests of Texas, the Farmers Home Administration is taking every reasonable step to prevent the liquidation of desirable productive livestock by drought stricken farmers.

Mr. Cappelman pointed out that in order to accomplish this purpose and to help farmers continue in business county offices of the Farmers Home Administration are in position immediately to make disaster loans in any county in the State of Texas to qualified applicants in accordance with published instructions and revised policies outlined at a meeting of State Field Representatives in Dallas. Mr. Cappelman received reports of serious crop losses through drought and that farmers and ranchmen are in urgent need of funds to buy feed, seed and other supplies to continue their operations for the remainder of this year. In many instances it was pointed out that these farmers will require emergency credit to put their 1953 crops and funds are available through the local Farmers Home Administration County Office now for the purposes indicated. These funds are available at 3 per cent interest for crop production needs, under the provisions of Public Law 38.

The purpose of the disaster loan program authorized by Public Law 38, said County Supervisor Bob Land of Brownfield is to provide a source of temporary or emergency credit to assist farmers in designated areas who have suffered serious production losses as a result of drought or other natural causes, and who are unable to obtain from other established local sources the credit needed to continue their farming or ranching operations.

The Terry county office of the Farmers Home Administration is located in the basement of the Postoffice Building in Brownfield and applicants may contact Supervisor Bob Land there for the purpose of discussing their needs. The Terry county committee is composed of three members who certify the eligibility of applicants for loans and otherwise assist the county supervisor in the administration of Public Law 38 and other phases of the county Farmers Home Administration program.

Billie Bryant Was A Visitor Here Recently

Billie Bryant dragged his old frame in one day recently to see us. First time we had seen him since the early 20ties, when he took off for California. Maybe he has not had enough money to come back on since he left, and we know confounded well, we've not had enough to visit him.

Billie was the son of the late Uncle Joe and Mrs. Bryant, and there was at the time we came out here quite a family of them. Having known Uncle Joe slightly before he left Johnson county about 1900 for Scary county, we would occasionally visit in the Bryant home in the then Groves Chapel (Union) community.

We would hunt quail and prairie chicken in the day, and attend the dances at night. But as we didn't or couldn't dance, we'd find a cozy bed in the Walter Groves or Telford homes, and snooze. If it had been the old square breakdowns, probably we could have "cut the mustard," but they were the "round" variety. So, we left it up to the Bryants, Brownfields, Groves, Telfords, Harrises, Hills, etc., to carry on—while we slept.

But somehow we'd always come alive at midnight when one of those fine repasts came on, and that was the fashion those days—those good old days. Anyway, Billie stated that all his kids were grown, and the two girls married and he has grandchildren, out there not too far from San Francisco.

He visited his sister, Mrs. Minnie Williams, brother Joe and family here; Mrs. Bayne Price and the Price family at Plains, and Mrs. B. Everett at McLean. Didn't know how long he'd be here, as the folks still had a lot of chickens.

SUBSIDY SPENT ON LUXURIES

British taxpayers who are assessed $600,000,000 a year to subsidize food and housing for low-income groups are all stirred up by the news that these same low-income groups own 77 per cent of the television sets in the island.

These groups, earning less than $35 a week, pay little, if any income tax. With television sets costing from $150 up, including sales tax, subsidized food and housing nevertheless enable low-income families to buy on the installment plan when people earning more money can't afford such luxuries.

Remarks From Renewing Readers

There was one from Mrs. Ed Heyster at Winchester, Tennessee, who with her husband, whom we believe passed on, has taken the Herald since Heck was a pup. She renewed in July, but wants her paper to show a July, 1954 date.

Then Mrs. T. A. Williams of Terryville, who got in under the wire with a check to put his paper to October, 1953.

Seagraves is in the trade area, especially route one, so Mrs. Don C. Carter enclosed check for $5 for three years of the old reliable, under the old rate.

Then there was T. A. Williams, way out at San Diego, Calif., who wanted another year of the old rate, although up some in advance already. Another Californian, formerly of Brownfield, Charles Leonard, once one of our rural mail carriers, but now of Watsonville, sent in six bucks for two more years. Thanks!

Also, there was Mrs. Annie Wheatley of the Johnson community for many years, who enclosed $5 for the Herald as long as that would last under the old rate. She also lives in California.

We had just about as much fun as if at the circus with a lot of the good old subscribers who called in person to get in under the wire, as many of them expressed it.

Anyway, thanks a lot to one and all. We just wanted to give you an even break before advancing the price, which we had to do to break even. So, we gave you a full month—all of August—to get in under the wire.

School Is In Session—Drive Carefully

It's School-Time again in Texas and today W. Carliss Morris, Jr., President of the Texas Safety Association issued an appeal to all Texans to redouble their efforts toward the saving of life and limb in this great state.

"This year probably more Texas boys and girls than ever before will be attending school for the first time. It will be a new experience for them and many will be sent out to go to, and to come from, school alone," he said. Motorists must keep this in mind. A youngster, thinking about baseball or football will often not see your car and may step off the curb in your path. Be watchful, Mr. and Mrs. Motorist—give the kids a brake!

For you who travel the highways, here is a point of interest to you. By Texas law, motor vehicles must stop for a stopped bus—whether you are following or approaching. Don't run down an innocent child—and there will be over one third million youngsters traveling in Texas school buses this year.

And here is a final word to mothers and fathers: Teach your youngsters these Safety Rules:

1. Where there are sidewalks, use them.
2. If they must walk in the street, walk facing oncoming traffic.
2. Cross only at intersections.
4. If riding a bicycle, ride it on the right side of the street and use hand signals.
5. Obey the safety patrols when and where safety patrols are used.

Youngsters, today, have the opportunity for a wonderful education. Send them from home to learn—not to die.

Butcher Has Big Tomato Crop

N. R. Butcher was in one day last week raising Old Ned about someone sending him the Herald. We denied being instigator of the crime, and suggested that perhaps someone else did. Anyway, he hauled off and paid up for three years at the old rate.

Then all at once, he remembered his tomato field and fled out the door, saying he had to pick 25 bushels between then and dark. N. R. also raises a lot of okra, peas, beans, etc., on his irrigated farm south of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paden of Bozeman, Mont., were here the past week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Butcher, and other relatives.

CHURCH OF CHRIST IS ESTABLISHED FOR PLAINS AREA

After a week's evangelistic meeting conducted by Ernest West, minister of the Southside Church of Christ, August 24-29, the New Testament Church of Christ was established in Plains, and services will be conducted each Sunday in the future in the courtroom of the old courthouse. Visiting evangelists from neighboring congregations will preach at the services.

Last Sunday at 9 a. m., Alfred Waller, evangelist from the Denver City Church of Christ, conducted services with 27 persons present.

Regular preaching services and Bible study will be held at the regular times each Lord's Day.

The mission meeting closed Friday night, after an average attendance of between 90 and 135 each night, West said.

Colored Methodist Church Cornerstone Will Be Laid Here

Cornerstone for the new colored Methodist church will be laid Sunday at 3 p. m., in the Brownfield Colored district, and Mrs. C. S. Smith, pastor, has extended an invitation to "our many friends, both white and colored, to join us on this day and help us to make this a great affair."

The stone will be laid by officers and members of colored Masonic lodges of West Texas with Charles Deo, district manager, presiding.

Invited to be present for the occasion are lodges and chapters from Lubbock, Odessa, Monahans, Tahoka, Slaton, Levelland, Muleshoe, Olton, Plainview, Petersburg, Ralls, Floydada, Midland, Lamesa, Crosbyton, Pecos, Crane and Brownfield.

Dinner will be served at 1 p. m., and the Cornerstone sermon will be preached by the presiding elder, Rev. T. R. Reece.

Special guests at 3 p. m., will be members of the Terry County Methodist Men's association, and Rev. J. N. Hester. The congregation of the colored church calls Rev. Hester, who is a super-annuated Methodist minister, their "Moses" since he is the person who largely sponsored the building of the new church.

The public is invited to participate in the day's services.

Mrs. Katie Aimer is secretary of the colored church.

Sub-District Meeting Of F.B. September 11

County Farm Bureau leaders from this area will gather in Lubbock on Thursday, September 11, for a sub-district meeting. This is one of 24 such sessions being conducted throughout the State by the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, it has been announced by J. Walter Hammond of Tye, Texas, president of the organization. In attendance will be Marvin Carter, Federation organization director, and O. R. Long, Field Representative, American Farm Bureau Federation.

W. R. Tilson of Meadow, state director for this district, will preside. The all-day meeting will be held in the Lubbock Hotel at Lubbock beginning at 10:00 a. m.

In announcing the sub-district meetings President Hammond emphasized the importance of county leaders meeting with state officers and staff members to discuss current issues and policies vital to farm and ranch people. Mr. Long will discuss the organization's program of work this year and the responsibilities of local leaders. Mr. Carter will present the enrollment plan which has been developed by the State organization and recommended to counties for use in their annual membership enrollment drive scheduled for the week of October 10-17.

The sub-district meeting have been planned to discuss four major things, Hammond said. (1) State and National issues pertaining to agriculture; (2) to have expression from local leaders; (3) how to raise money to finance state government; (4) plans for enrolling 75,000 members in 1952.

Dr. Cox Makes Self Clear on Fed. Funds

AUSTIN—State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox has called for "less concern about so-called federal domination" of the state's business and "more positive action" to prevent it.

In a written statement to the Dallas Times-Herald, the veteran of 18 years of fighting the battle for public health said his position on the propriety of receiving federal money was clear:

"I want my state to maintain its prestige, dignity, authority, and ownership of the state public health program," he said.

A previous statement to the effect that he didn't see anything wrong with accepting federal funds "except that we don't get enough of it" had been widely circulated by the Associated Press. The Dallas Times-Herald editorialized on that view.

"Federal domination must inevitably develop as long as the state's public health money continues to supplement the federal public health money. The reverse should exist," he wrote, "with federal money supplementing that provided by the state."

"It is no less than like a stock company or corporation—the chap who owns the majority of stock will no doubt want to direct the operation. My position is that I want my state to maintain its prestige, dignity, authority, and ownership of the state public health program."

Dr. Cox has already made known his intention to wage a vigorous campaign for a $ 50 per capita legislative appropriation when the legislature convenes. The department is now operating on about $ 20 per capita, far beneath the national average of $ 62 per capita.

He said that is the reason he has been obliged to accept federal funds to keep the state's public health standards up to par. But it is a situation which can be corrected, he believes.

"If the legislature agrees to appropriate $ 50 per capita to operate on, then we'll be in a better position to use federal funds for supplementing the state's program."

A New Gin Building East of Town

We noted building material and some gin machinery on the ground four miles east of town, on the north side of the Tahoka road, when we came back from Tennessee.

The plant is being built on the T. B. Wood farm, or a few acres off it. The builders are L. V. Waggoner of this city and Olen Nix of Lamesa. They hope to have the plant ready for part of the season run.

Oh, These Old Juicy Roasting Ears

The wife was out at the Lense Price farm six miles north of town recently, and at the invitation of Lense and wife, a supply of nice, juicy roasting ears was obtained. Lense says he always plants a large patch of corn so that he will have plenty for he and friends.

A bit later, or about the time the Price roasting ears were cleaned up, our good friend, Willie Winn of the Gomez community, brought in a large supply, as good as you ever popped your lips over. Thanks a lot, friends! To be perfectly frank, we don't care a hoot for canned corn, but, oh! those old fresh from the field roasting ears!

Arkansawyers Get Kick Out Of Article

Graves Nelson, son of Mayor Homer Nelson, has just returned from a vacation trip and visit with his granddad at Prescott, Ark. Said his granddad got a kick out of the editorial we wrote recently about the defeat of Gov. Sid McMath, of Arkansas, who wanted a third term. Graves said he had a nice vacation, but still dry back there, although they have pretty good crops around Prescott.

Also, Punch Nelson, the older son, is home. He is attending the University of Houston, and took a summer course instead of coming home in June. This was in order to get in his hours for graduation as soon as possible. He will return about the middle of September.

Lal Copeland of Copeland Hardware, city, and Wilson Copeland of Copeland Hardware, Levelland, are in Dallas this week attending the gift show and buying for both stores.
