CAUGHT IN NARCOTICS RAID

Fire Chief Warns Citizens to Watch All Burning Trash

Grass and trash fires are on the increase, warned Fire Chief H. O. (Andy) Anderson of the local fire department Tuesday.

"With hot, dry weather upon us, more losses from fire will be suffered in Cisco unless extra precautions are taken with these two kinds of fires," he stated.

He stressed that both fires are extremely dangerous in warm weather as they spread twice as fast and have more to feed on. Particularly he urged all citizens of Cisco to regard city fire ordinances, stating that trash and rubbish should be burned in a metal covered or wire container.

"Even then, someone should stand and watch the fire until it has safely burned itself out," he suggested. "A garden hose should be kept nearby in case the fire spreads to surrounding grass or weeds."

Fire Chief Anderson emphasized the importance of calling the fire department first, the minute the fire gets out of control, and then fighting it until the fire department arrives.

He urged that inflammable roofs be kept in good repair. Live cigarettes and matches being tossed into weeds or dry grass is the principal cause of careless fires he said. "Vacant lots should be kept cleared of weeds and high grass to eliminate the hazard of setting fire to surrounding homes."

Local Girl Wins TSCW Scholarship

Miss Betty Jo Thurman of Cisco has been awarded a Mary Gibbs Jones music scholarship for the 1948-49 session at Texas State College for Women, the Dean's office announced Wednesday.

Miss Thurman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Thurman of Cisco and is a 1948 graduate of Cisco High School. She is an ex-member of the Lobo Band having played first chair flute for the past three years.

Miss Thurman is to leave within the next two weeks for TSCW where she will begin her major study in music, it was stated.

FISH TAKE VACATION? Signs Aren't Right, Fish Won't Bite

By Elsworth Mayer

The fish have evidently been taking their summer vacation for the past week, since the few fishermen who have ventured out in the hot August weather to tempt the big ones were a little disappointed.

Mrs. J. L. Thornton took the honors for the week with some nice catches of channel cat. She and Mrs. Ethel Berry were the only ones reporting good catches since we last reported.

Mrs. E. G. Damron watched the barometer pretty close this week and decided the reading was a little low for the best fishing. She spent most of the week wishing instead of fishing.

A group of future farmers from Littlefield are spending this week at the lake, and are spending most of the time in the swimming pool. For a bunch of boys that have to travel so far to find water over two feet deep, they do a pretty good job of swimming.

The Grindstaff family, one of West Texas' oldest families, has reserved cabins at the lake for their annual reunion.

Mrs. Taylor from Ranger was over Thursday trying her luck. She comes out often, and always brings some one with her. Today she brought her father and sister. Mr. Taylor is with the Lone Star Producing Co.

The fish really put on a show last week for some of our out-of-town guests. Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Arnett and family of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wade and family of Oklahoma City caught all they wanted. Mr. Arnett said that it was the first time he had ever caught fish until he was tired of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade spent their vacation last year in Minnesota and reported that they had better luck in the few days they spent here than the did all the time they were in the North. They made reservations for next year, and plan to bring three or four families here soon for the weekend.

All the cabins are reserved for the Labor Day Weekend and calls are coming in every day. Horace Stedman who represents the American Paper Stock Co. of Dallas is bringing a party out for the holidays.

Our Thought For Today:

There is nothing too little for such a creature as man. It is by studying the little things that we attain the great art of having as little misery and as much happiness as possible.

Cisco Transfer Co. Changes Owner

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse H. Reynolds today announced the sale of the Cisco Transfer and Storage Company to J. T. Carson. The transfer of ownership of the business was effective as of September 1.

Mr. Carson has been a resident of Eastland and Callahan counties for many years and is well known here. He announced that the new owner would retain the services of the trained personnel of the company.

Carson said that the Cisco Transfer and Storage Co. would continue to give the fine service that it had in the past and would specialize in oil field hauling.

An added service will be car loading and unloading he announced. He pointed out that the new company would tackle any job, and that no job was too small or too large for them to handle.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds plan to rest for a few weeks at their ranch home east of Cisco.

Crops Improved In Many Sections By General Rains

proved by general rains in southern and south eastern counties and by scattered showers in north central and north eastern counties. Moisture supplies were also holding out well in the northern Panhandle. Elsewhere in the state, there was little or no relief from continued dry weather.

Weather conditions were mostly favorable for harvesting activities, but plowing and seeding made little progress. Preparation of seedbeds and seeding of wheat continued in the north High Plains.

Cotton harvest was underway in north and northeast Texas, where rapid opening had resulted from the hot, dry weather. During the past week, however, premature opening and shedding was checked by cooler weather and scattered showers. Late cotton was also benefited. In the northern High Plains, cotton made good growth and continued fruiting. In the northern part of the Low Rolling Plains, rains were needed to check excessive shedding. Further deterioration was noted in the southern counties of the High and Low Rolling Plains counties, with considerable shedding as the drought continued. In the southcentral and southern counties, scattered showers caused slight damage to quality and delayed progress of harvest.

Grain sorghum continued to make good progress in the northern Panhandle area. In most other west and westcentral areas, late plantings were suffering from lack of moisture. There was some planting of fall feed crops in South Texas Peanut Harvest was extended into some of the extreme northcentral counties, especially in crops that were premature advanced. Low yields were general. Field work in scattered sections of south Texas was stopped by local showers. Late planted peanuts in these areas were improved, but crops for the State as a whole were still in need of more moisture. Shedding of pecans was checked in the areas favored with rains and development of the crop was generally good.

Peak harvest of watermelons was reached in the extreme northwest where recent rains improved the late crop prospects, and fairly liberal supplies were expected for another two weeks. About 700 to 800 acres of potatoes remained for harvest in the Hereford section; most other districts were through.

Deterioration of range and pasture feed was checked by good rains in the upper coastal counties and by scattered showers in many other sections of the eastern half of the State. Ranges continued to make good growth in the northern High Plains counties where moisture reserves were generally adequate. In all other areas deterioration of range and pasture feed continued. Supplemental feeding continued in some central and southern counties. Stock in these areas and in east Texas continued to lose flesh. Marketing of cattle and sheep was active for their season of the year. Goat shearing continued in the Plateau counties.

The Gay Philosopher

This substituting for the GP is a little hard on us because we have never taken time to think very much. When you start working on a newspaper you immediately lay the groundwork for a column you hope to write some day. We did that when we began to work here a few weeks ago, and now when we have the opportunity all the things we were going to say have slipped our mind.

This is the second day that the GP has fallen down on us and failed to send us his daily thoughts. We wonder if he intended doing it at all. The last word we had had from him was from Memphis, Texas, where he stopped for lunch Monday. We hope the fish are biting so good that he just hasn't had the time.

We had a nice visit with Henry Kleiner early today. Henry spent his school years in Cisco where he finished high school and attended junior college. He is living in Graham where he is employed as a rig builder. He said that he was still writing songs and had been fortunate enough to have a few of them published. Rig building and song writing is quite a combination.

Louis Evans, one of our Linotype operators, is leaving for the University of Texas where he hopes to complete his education. Louis is the type of young man we like to see get ahead. It takes courage to leave a job to continue studying after being away from school work for a while.

We have reported to you several times in the past few weeks that Cisco continues to grow and you can not drive around without seeing evidence of it's growth. New houses are being built on most every street in the city, and there are reports that new businesses are coming in. Today's paper carries stories of new ventures and we learned that construction work will begin soon on two modern tourist courts on U. S. Highway 80.

Cisco will continue to grow if we all work together and become an individual Chamber of Commerce. We never miss an opportunity to boost our home town, and if enough of us get to talking about it some one is going to believe it.

New Automotive Service Company Opens in Cisco

E. S. Townsend announced Thursday the opening of the Townsend Automotive Service Co. at 214 W. 3rd St., and stated that his shop was in readiness for his many friends and customers.

Townsend enters the automotive mechanics business with 15 years experience in servicing all makes of cars, and has equipped the shop with the most modern machinery.

He announced that he would specialize in tune up work and brake service. He has installed Weidenhoff tune up machinery and Sioux Valve grinders. All the brake equipment is new and will give the customer the best in that type service, he stated.

The new business is located in the building which formerly housed Shobe's Auto Supply Co.

Sulfa Type Drug Seen as Possible Polio Combatant

A new sulfa-type drug, called "drug No. 2" for short, has successfully halted a polio virus in the mouse in a series of investigations carried out at Columbia University and the Lederle Laboratories Division, American Cyanamid Co.

The announcement, made yesterday (Wednesday) by Columbia, was the first authorized statement made by the University or any faculty member on the new antiviral drug.

A non-toxic compound known formally as phenosulfazole (trade name Darvisul), the drug was tested at Columbia's College of Physicians and Surgeons after its development at the Lederle Laboratories. It was used by Dr. Murray Sanders, Associate Professor of Bacteriology at Columbia, Associate Professor of Bacteriology at Columbia. Associated with him were the late Dr. Yellapragada Subbarow, director of research at the Lederle Laboratories until his death Aug. 10, 1948, and Mrs. R. C. Alexander, a research assistant at Columbia.

In the mouse, three dramatic types of results were observed, the drug cured mice in the early stages of the disease; the mice that survived were immune to reinfection; and when the drug was given in a single dose orally, it prevented infection.

In an article now appearing in the fall issue of the Texas Reports on Biology and Medicine, Vol. 6, Dr. Sanders, Dr. Subbarow and Mrs. Alexander are listed on the scientific report. Dr. Sanders emphasized today that the Columbia phase of the work was only one part of a complex pattern of research.

The scientific report also stressed that those mice first receiving the drug and then surviving a dose of the virus were immune to a second injection of the virus given three weeks later.

Another striking aspect of the study, according to the report, was the apparent lack of toxicity of the drug.

"The principle of non-toxicity was confirmed, since it was not unusual to have large numbers of mice receive 1.0 grams of the drug per kilogram body weight for five days — a total dosage of 5.0 grams per kilogram," Dr. Sanders said. "At no time were ill effects noted in these animals which were frequently observed for 21 days or longer."

It also should be emphasized, the physician said, that treatment was initiated 24 hours after infection for the following reason: In the original studies with the virus made at Columbia in 1940,

Cisco National Guard Unit Is Recognized By War Department

Army Advisors Assigned to Help National Guard

Seventy-six Army Ordnance technical advisors have been authorized to assist senior Army instructors on duty with National Guard, according to an announcement Thursday by Maj. Gen. Kenneth F. Cramer, chief of the National Guard Bureau in Washington.

The 38 officers and a like number of enlisted men will be assigned to states not allocated Ordnance instructors. There are now only 13 Regular Army Officers and 13 enlisted men filling this type of assignment.

"This makes possible the assignment of one Ordnance officer and enlisted man to each state, the District of Columbia, Hawaii and Puerto Rico to assist in establishing an effective Ordnance training program in keeping with the M-Day mission of the National Guard," Gen. Cramer said.

Further assistance in Ordnance logistical matters to states where technical advisors have not been assigned will be available through special Army introductory teams furnished by the various Army commanders at the request of the state adjutants general.

Such assistance in the logistical problems of other technical services, such as Quartermaster, Signal and Engineering, is also given the states by the Army introductory teams, which are not assigned permanently, but are sent out to help solve state problems as they arise.

The Ordnance technical advisors will help the senior Army instructors in supervising unit instruction and training in Ordnance subjects and when necessary organize and conduct schools for training National Guard instructors in this field.

They will perform technical inspections and generally assist the state authorities in every way necessary to establish a completely balanced and coordinated Ordnance supply and maintenance system.

"The Department of the Army has requested each state to continue to take full advantage of all the assistance which is available through Army commanders in the solution of technical service problems," Gen. Cramer said.

"Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes!" was a command given in the Battle of Bunker Hill.

Enlistments Still Needed to Fill Approved Quota

The Cisco National Guard unit, the 961st Field Artillery battalion, has officially been granted a charter of recognition in the Texas State National Guard, 4th Army Command, an Army communique announced Wednesday. The unit's application for a charter was recognized August 4 by the Army Department, the communique added.

Capt. Olin O. Odom, commander of the local organization, said today that light and heavy equipment valued at thousands of dollars is being readied for assignment to the guard unit.

The command, he said, will be issued three heavy 155mm howitzers with carriers, staff cars (jeeps), and a sufficient number of personnel trucks. Supply vehicles will also be furnished to the battalion.

"The Cisco guardsmen apparently are very anxious to get the program underway as much as I am," the commander said. "Since we have begun training in dismounted drills, it has taken them very little time to catch on. Added polishing to each rank should make this command the best in this part of the state."

"Since the unit requested recognition, June 20, the battalion has increased from 22 men to 31 enlistees," he said. "And more are applying for enrollment."

Captain Odom advised all boys of the age of 18 years or above who wish to attend college this fall to apply for enlistment now in order to avoid being drafted for army duty. Applicants, he said, may apply at the Cisco Chamber of Commerce for enlistment details and to fill out the necessary papers.

The guardsmen are holding their command meeting every Wednesday night at the Junior College armory from 7 to 9 p.m., and are being paid regular army pay, according to ranks.

Lack Of Roads

The lack of farm-to-market roads in Texas is one of the main causes of losses in farm population, according to farmer opinion recently reported by Joe R. Motheral, economist in rural life for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A&M College.
 Motheral stated that of all the reasons for the continued high rate of migration to towns and cities, the desire for "city conveniences" was the principal motive, and "the sharpest comments dealt with unsatisfactory conditions of farm roads."
 During 1947, the small scale back-to-the-farm movement that followed World War II was reversed, the number of persons living on Texas farms declining by 51,000, on January 1, 1948, an estimated 1,712,000 persons remained on farms, "a modern peacetime low" for Texas.
 The survey, which was conducted jointly by the Experiment Station and the USDA Bureau of Agricultural Economics, revealed that 182,000 people left Texas farms last year, while only 103,000 persons moved to farms. In addition there was a substantial decrease through interstate far-to-farm movement. A one-sided ratio of farm births to deaths partially offset these net migration losses.
 A total of 1,387 farmers, located in some 46 counties, cooperated in the survey and comments on the conditions of farm roads came from all sections of the state.
 A typical statement was made by a farmer in Angelina County. He said, "Our county needs farm-to-market roads. I don't blame the farmers for leaving I've thought of looking for city job myself."
 Among the disadvantages resulting from inadequate farm roads, farmers specifically mentioned the difficulty of obtaining the services of a doctor when necessary, inability to market their crops and livestock, "to get to a show and recreation," and to secure regular delivery of newspapers.

Merchants paying dues to any Credit Bureau, control that bureau; however, to own a Credit Bureau, the merchants would have to own the files, which would enable them to elect a new secretary at the end of one or two year periods. When the files of a Credit Bureau are individually owned, as we understand they are in two instances in Cisco, the secretary cannot be changed other than by buying them out, or pushing them thru the window. Under such existing set-ups, it merely becomes a matter of inflating one individual's bank account, and deflating the other.

In having a Board of Directors, there is nothing to direct except something relative to money matters, and in soliciting memberships, it narrows down to the above statement. A secretary has to spend money on their files whether they have one or ten members — it is expensive to operate an office, and it takes not only money, but loyalty, and co-operation on your part. We appreciate our members, and we are here to serve you. Call us often.
