Trying to work and get out a paper while still in the process of moving and digging around is not very unlike that trying to live in a house while it is being repaired.

Imagine my surprise Friday upon returning from a fast trip to East Texas to get the spouse and offspring to go down to work and NO OFFICE!

The place was completely bare—only the poor lonesome looking sign on the window even gave any hint that The Star office had ever been occupied.

Speeding around the block, there everyone was, amidst the biggest pile of stuff you've ever laid your eyes on.

Walking into that office was like storming an enemy blockhouse armed only with snowballs.

Closing both eyes and taking a deep breath we opened the door to our new quarters. Honestly—it wasn't all that bad and with a little time and patience we hope to have the place ready for your inspection.

Y'know, having all that room sorta stupefies you after being in the habit of walking over each other.

And phones—by golly, we have two in our part of the building!

Before, if the phone rang, it was always for the one that didn't answer the fool thing, and then one party had to climb over the other to get to it.

But, with your indulgence we hope to have a place of business equal to anyone's finest dreams after the dust settles.

We hate to use our family as an example, but several things happened to us this past week. Although they weren't humorous at the time, we have found time to think back and laugh about them since.

Anyhow, Wednesday afternoon we lit a shuck to East Texas and sailed right on down without a bit of trouble.

Thursday morning we got ready to return to the Plains. Planning to arrive back here about dark we got an early start and were making good time till Weatherford.

About 10 miles out of Weatherford our "old faithful," the green monstrosity which we call an auto, decided we hadn't paid enough attention to it and dang near quit running.

We limped into Weatherford and stopped at the Chevrolet house there.

After a short inspection a mechanic told us he had the trouble spotted. Breathing a sigh of relief at only having to replace a fuel filter, we replaced the part and tried it out. You guessed it—that didn't help.

Scratching his head the man then tried various gauges and other mechanical contrivances and arrived at a solution—the fuel pump.

Well—to make a long story short—that was our trouble—but what we haven't said was the battle between us and our young'un all this time.

DF had been asleep until we stopped and he awoke with all the energy of a 2-year-old ready to explore the new surroundings.

A modern, up-to-date service center has many things which bring joy to the heart of one that age, we found out.

We tried Cokes, Dr. Peppers, the water fountain, but every-time we would turn our head he was off in the shop poking his fingers and climbing under everyone's feet.

By this time resistance and persistence of his parents had hit a new low and try as we could he would hardly stay still a second until a school bus pulled into the shop.

A School Bus!

What this strange fascination for school buses is, we'll never know, but one thing for sure we were proud to see this one.

While the mechanics busied themselves about the motor the boy said it would be OK for the young'un to satisfy his craving to play in the bus.

He drove countless miles in the garage while they worked. And, was completely satisfied to remain in the bus until time for us to leave.

Before this we never thought much about the yellow buses which are seen up and down the roads, but now they have a special place in our hearts.

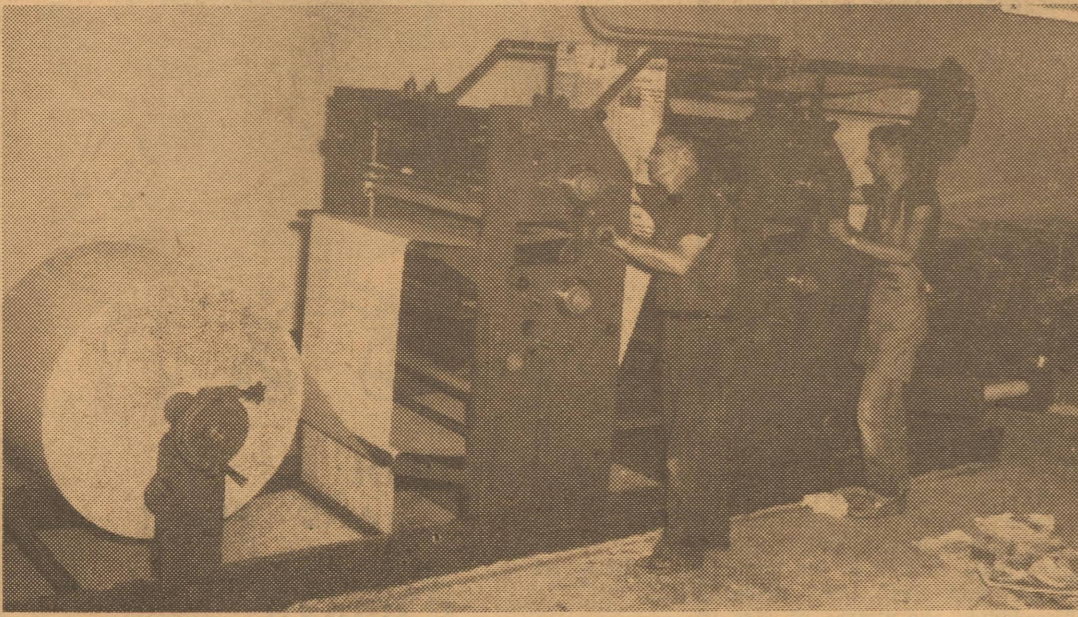

One thing for sure—that is the largest pacifier we ever came across.

WE WUZ MISTOOK—It was brought to our attention that the name of FRIONA MOTOR COMPANY was left off the list of Friona merchants which are sponsoring the free car giveaway in Friona September 27.

Car Baxter says he wants to be sure that nobody got the idea that just because the merchants are giving away a Chevrolet he got mad and refused to join in.

We're sorry it happened, Oscar, and from what we hear it was just a matter of a flip of a coin that kept the car from being a Ford instead of a Chevy.

Star Occupies New Building

OUR NEW PRESS IS HERE — Last week a semi-trailer delivered the new Gemco Press to the back door of our new home and above (left to right) Herb Killick, of Offset Process Inc. of Fort Worth, shows George DeVoll, plant technician, the workings of the new 13,000 pound machine.

Another chapter in the "orbiting" of the Friona Star was added last week when the office was moved from the old location in the Friona State Bank building to the new quarters on the corner of Sixth Street and Euclid Avenue.

Occupying a new 50 x 60 building with Plains Publishers, The Star will introduce a paper printed in Friona for the surrounding trade territory, which the local citizenry will be proud of.

"We hope to get out the first issue of The Star in Friona within two weeks," says W. H. "Sonny" Graham, co-owner and publisher of the paper.

"Due to the revolutionary type of printing operation, which is technically called photo-offset or lithography, we wanted to make sure that we will be able to produce a paper on time and one that the people will enjoy," Graham says.

Plains Publishers will be the printing operation in the new organization of The Star.

In addition to The Friona

Star, other publications will be printed in the new plant, one of which will be printed here this week.

The paper which will be printed in Friona this week is a weekly publication for Cannon Air Force Base, The Mach Meter.

In addition to regular staff of The Star—Dave McReynolds, editor; June Floyd, society editor; and Graham, who will also be the manager of Plains Publishers—several other people will be employed at the Friona plant.

One of these is George Devoll of Clovis, who is plant technician. Devoll was formerly employed by Hicks & Siddens Printing Company in Clovis and is well-founded in lithographic printing.

Several machines in the Plains Publishers plant will probably bring questions to the minds of those who are familiar to the stock and trade Linotypes, typesetting and other machines that are always found in a print shop.

The new Gemco offset press in the plant is one of four in the United States and makes it possible to print 12,000 copies of an eight-page paper an hour.

Taking the place of the Linotype machines, which are used in letterpress operations to set the body type, (the type in which this story is set) is a "Justo-writer."

This machine is in two sections, one of which sets the copy on a coded tape. This in turn is placed in the second machine and turns out the finished copy on a piece of glossy paper.

This is sent down the line to the make-up desk where the headlines, which are set on another machine called a "Headliner" are placed with their stories.

The Headliner is a machine which, through the use of photography, turns out the larger type sizes as the operator dials them on a disc.

The page is then "pasted up"—no lead is involved—on a large page-size piece of white paper and taken to the camera.

If you are looking for something unusual in cameras, we have one—the camera is capable of taking pictures 24x24 inches. It weighs 3,000 pounds.

A negative is taken of the finished page.

This negative is taken to the arc printer where a presensitized aluminum plate is placed next to the negative and a carbon arc lamp bathes the plate in a white hot light for about 1½ minutes.

This transfers the image to the plate which is then placed on the press.

After this process is repeated for as many pages as the publication requires, the press then rolls them off.

It will be several weeks until the new plant is "painted up" and will be in a presentable state.

An official open house is planned during Maize Days and work will be going on to show visitors how the plant operates and papers are printed.

"We hope our area will be as proud of our new plant and its new equipment as we are," Graham says, "and we hope to put out even better papers than before for the folks of our territory."

City Council Grants Permit for TV Cable

Permission was granted to the Friona Clearview Company to construct and operate a television antenna service within the city limits of Friona at the regular meeting Monday night in the City Hall.

The permit, for a 25-year period, was granted to the owners of the new enterprise, Frank A. Spring and H. K. Kendrick.

The city will get one percent of the gross receipts for the permit each year.

Red Smith of Parkhill, Smith & Cooper, consulting engineers from Lubbock, was on hand to go over plans for the proposed city water well and storage.

During his talk Smith told the council members the present sewage system is operating at a 50 percent overload.

He pointed out that present problems heaped on the table, council members discussed at length various means of securing additional water but no action was taken.

Congregational Church To Observe 50th Anniversary

Sunday, August 17, will be the day of the 50th anniversary celebration for the Union Congregational Church of Friona.

A program for this special day has been planned with details to be announced in next week's Star.

Dr. Ralph L. Woodward, president of Central College, Fayette, Mo., will be the principal speaker.

Dr. Woodward is an outstanding clergyman, educator and speaker and was formerly assistant Dean of Yale University Divinity School.

He will be best remembered in Friona as district superintendent of Congregational Churches for the Central South Conference composed of Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

Registration Begins In Friona Aug. 29

Registration for all students in the Friona Independent School District will be from 9 until 11:30 a.m. Friday, August 29, according to an announcement from Dillie Kelley, superintendent, this week.

Buses will run on the same routes as the end of school last year, Kelley says, and they hope to have the youngsters out of registration and on the way home by 11:30 a.m. the first day.

School will officially open for the 1958-59 school year on September 2 with buses running and the cafeteria open.

Work for the teachers in the district will begin a little sooner than that for the students, Kelley says.

A teacher's meeting and registration will be in Friona August 27 for teacher assignments.

On August 28 an in-service workshop for Parmar County teachers will be in Bovina.

This will include teachers in the Friona, Bovina, Lazbuddie and Farwell schools.

"Consultants from either the Texas Education Agency or nearby colleges will be in charge of the workshop," Kelley says. "Emphasis will be on strengthening instructional operations; teacher ethics and public relations and playground activities for lower grades."

At the same time, bus drivers in the county will attend a workshop under the direction of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Lunch for those attending the workshop will be served in the Bovina School cafeteria.

Holidays for the school year are tentatively set up as follows:

September 26—Maize Days

T. J. Crawford, C. L. Lillard and Joe Douglas were appointed members of a board of equalization to meet the latter part facilities were designed to serve a city of about 1400 and now Friona is about 2100 population.

The present facilities are operating fairly well even with this overload the engineer said, but it will only be a matter of time until something will have to be done.

In addition to getting more of this month—the exact date to be announced later.

An amendment to Zoning Ordinance 118 was approved and changed all of lots 3 and 8, block 1, Baxter Addition from "A" zone to "E" zone. Also approved for recording was the plat for the cemetery.

City Attorney Bill Sheehan told council members that he

Visit Ends In Tragedy Monday

At 2 a.m. Monday Mr. and Mrs. Chris Goetz and children, Gary, Harry, and Angie, left their home in the Rhea community for a visit with relatives in their former home town, Thorndale.

Monday afternoon a telephone call from this central Texas town saddened the entire community.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sachs were informed that Harry and Angie had drowned about five Monday afternoon in a stock tank at the home of their grandparents about eight miles out of Thorndale.

Mrs. Sachs and Mrs. Goetz are sisters and the Goetz family has lived on the Sachs farm about two years. Harry would have been an eighth grade student this fall. Angie would have been in the third grade this school term.

Funeral services were conducted at Taylor Thursday morning at 10. Some of those from the Rhea community who attended the services were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sachs and family, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Drager and family, Mr. and Mrs. Florian Jarecki and family, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Martensen, and Herman Herzog;

Also Rev. H. A. Stroebel, Oliver Rieken, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schueler, and Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Schueler.

This vote shows how the delegates were divided and the voting followed this pattern except on one issue. On this exception, enough conservatives strayed to the side of the liberals to put the convention on record as being against a resolution which would abolish precinct conventions.

Delegates from Friona and Farwell formed the conservative element while Bovina, Lazbuddie, and Oklahoma Lane people, though outnumbered, pushed hard for resolutions endorsing the Senator Ralph Yarborough-type of liberal politics.

Bill Sheehan, Friona, served as spokesman for the conservatives. Wyle Bullock, Lazbuddie, and Leland Boyd, Bovina, carried the ball for the liberals.

R. W. Anderson was elected permanent chairman and Hurschel Harding, permanent secretary, in early business of the meeting.

H. K. Kendrick, Friona, introduced the resolution that Parmar County delegates support Daniel.

Delegates to the state convention will be Charles Allen, Luther Hamm, Bill Sheehan,

I. W. Quickel, Wyle Bullock, Hollis Horton, and Mary Belle Aldridge.

Alternates are Bob Hart, R. G. Barron, Durward Bell, Freeman Davis, Melba Allen, Glenn Phillips, and Harding.

Delegates and alternates were nominated by a five-man committee and then approved by all the county delegates. Serving on the nominating committee were Nelson Welch, chairman; W. H. Graham Jr., Durward Bell, C. C. Mathews, and T. O. Lesly.

Three resolutions were adopted by the group. They were:

(1) WHEREAS, Governor Price Daniel has been re-nominated by a large majority for a second term as governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That this County Democratic Convention endorses the program of Governor Price Daniel and pledges its support to him in the general election and in his efforts in behalf of unity, progress, and good government in our state.

(2) BE IT RESOLVED: That this convention go on record against abolition of precinct conventions as recommended by the governor.

(3) BE IT RESOLVED: That this convention go on record to the effect that the State Democratic Executive Committee refuse to support any candidate

County Convention Gives Nod to Conservatives

by Dolph Moten

Parmar County's seven-man delegation to the state Democratic convention in San Antonio September 9 will support the conservative forces of Governor Price Daniel.

A majority of the delegates at the county convention Saturday afternoon at the courthouse in Farwell voted to support Daniel. Also, the convention voted in favor of the unit rule, whereby the county delegation will vote as a unit at the state convention. A standing vote showed 47 delegates were for the resolution while 21 were against it.

This vote shows how the delegates were divided and the voting followed this pattern except on one issue. On this exception, enough conservatives strayed to the side of the liberals to put the convention on record as being against a resolution which would abolish precinct conventions.

Delegates from Friona and Farwell formed the conservative element while Bovina, Lazbuddie, and Oklahoma Lane people, though outnumbered, pushed hard for resolutions endorsing the Senator Ralph Yarborough-type of liberal politics.

Trustees Vote Split In FISD Insurance

In a four-hour-long meeting Monday night at Friona High School members of the Friona Independent School District's board of trustees voted to split insurance premiums on new buildings among four Friona agencies and accepted a $357,250 budget for the 1958-59 school year.

Board members voted to split the insurance on the new additions totalling some $306,000 among the Ethridge-Spring Agency, Rushing Insurance Agency, L&L Agency and the Douglas-Bingham Insurance Agency.

In addition the board reserved that Dan Ethridge would be the person to represent the school with the agencies involved.

Other business in the session included the last revision of the 1957-58 school year budget.

Bills for the current month were approved including the 12th payment to Jones Construction Company for $18,405 for construction work on new additions and buildings.

Other business included the acceptance of the 1958-59 tax roll totaling $179,000, as presented by Dan Ethridge, tax assessor and collector for the district.

Members voted to set the rate at $1.08 for local maintenance and 42 cents for interest and sinking funds for the new year. This is based on the rate of $1.50 per hundred.

Insurance on school buses was renewed to include fire, theft and $100 deductible with the Ethridge-Spring Agency. Also Ethridge was instructed to renew the blanket bonds of $2,000 on bus drivers and $10,000 on teachers for the coming year.

Members voted to go on record as accepting the petition presented by residents of the area east of the Methodist Church to change all that property in that area from a "C" zone to a "B" zone with the city's zoning law.

The Ethridge-Spring Agency will retain the policies on all the old buildings and those not involved in the new additions.

In order to make it clear what buildings would be involved the board recorded that "it is understood that 'buildings' referred to include the new junior high, addition to cafeteria and addition to the high school."

Members present at the board meeting included Clyde Weatherly, Cordie Potts, Paul Fort-emberry, Hoyt Smith and D. C. Herring.

In Parmer County ..... $3 Per Yr.

Entered as second class mail matter July 31, 1925, at the post office in Friona, Texas, under the Act of March 31, 1897. Published each Thursday.

According to those who attended the County Democratic Convention held in Farwell Saturday afternoon there was quite a bit of uproar concerning some of the proceedings.

Much criticism talked of concerned the holding of precinct conventions.

Seems there are two schools of thought on the precinct convention.

One says they should be done away with — this idea comes from those followers of "Precious Price."

The others say, "We want precinct conventions."

We will be forced to go along with those that want to continue the program of precinct conventions.

The trouble seems to us that it all goes back to one thing — NOBODY CARES!

By this we mean that although a total of 28 delegates were "elected" at the convention here in Friona — just how many people do you think were present at the convention proper?

Although we must confess we didn't count them, we'll estimate that there weren't that many folks there to begin with.

And — this is the basis for Price's followers to say that the conventions can be rigged.

Sure it can be rigged, and very easily, the convention at Friona showed that clearly. It just depends on which side you were on whether or not you would holler about it being rigged.

As it went for us personally, we are in between both factions, there are parts of both platforms we like, but find some things in both that we just can't stomach . . . such as the abolishment of the precinct convention.

We will go along with some folks and say that it isn't good for a "few" to choose for the "many." But—those folks are the only ones that have the forethought, or CARE ENOUGH to turn out and attend.

Let's go a little farther — more than likely it is these same people that VOTE EACH AND EVERY TIME THERE IS AN ELECTION!

So — how can you scream when you didn't take the time and effort to attend in the first place.

We say that the whole problem arose when people began getting the idea that it takes too much of their precious time to PAY THEIR POLL TAX; PARTICIPATE IN ELECTIONS; ATTEND THEIR PARTY MEETINGS AND CONVENTIONS.

We have the faith in the people of our country, although at times it wavers we'll admit, that if we keep the precinct conventions folks will once again take an interest in their government and who runs it and make an effort to make dead-level sure that their wishes are carried out.

This can be assured by attending the meetings, keeping informed, paying poll taxes and voting when the opportunity arises.

More cars were made and sold in 1955 than any other year. That may make yours three year old and ripe for a trade in.

If under usual conditions you would buy a new car now, go on and do it. Don't be influenced by talk of recession, because recessions are continued by those who stop doing what they usually do without particular reason, thus causing unemployment and more recession.

Don't be influenced by rumors of too high prices of cars until you have the actual figures. You'll get a car that is better than ever before on a deal that may surprise you, and remember it's the deal, not the price that counts in Friona.

German Emigrants To Make Home In Friona

New residents in Friona this week are Mrs. Jael Wilhelm and her granddaughter, Dagmar. They moved into an apartment in the east part of town and Mrs. Wilhelm immediately began sewing. She is a former Russian ballerina and all of her family except two daughters, Bienka and Sanya, and Dagmar were killed during World War II.

About four years ago Bienka and Sanya decided to come to America after receiving an invitation from their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Renner. After years of visa difficulties all four members of the family finally arrived in Friona Thursday of last week.

Mrs. Wilhelm has endured many hardships and the ample food supply here amazes her. She does not speak English, but is very anxious to learn our language. The Renners speak German fluently, so they are able to act as interpreters between Mrs. Wilhelm and her neighbors.

After paying transportation costs from Germany to Friona, Mrs. Wilhelm's finances were rather strained. When she and Mrs. Renner went grocery shopping she could hardly believe that it was possible to buy ten pounds of flour for about $1. She had been accustomed to buying one pound of maize flour for about the same price.

Another thing which was very hard for her to believe was the abundance of potatoes grown on the John Renner farm. She said it had been years since she had seen a potato that wasn't shrivelled up. In spite of her inability to speak English and her modest financial circumstances, Mrs. Wilhelm looks forward eagerly to life in the United States.

Bienka and Sanya plan to leave about the last of the month for New York where they have signed contracts to dance at Polka Dot Inn at 121 West 72nd Street. The following article was written by Sally Hammond and printed in the July 29 issue of the New York Post.

SHE HAS NO EYES TO SEE, BUT BALLET DANCER HAS 2ND SIGHT IN HER TOES. When Sanya Wilhelm was 14

she had a decade of ballerina training behind her and the vision of a brighter career as a ballerina ahead.

That year, she and her older sister, Bienka, made their debut in a duet act at a leading night club in Hamburg, Germany. Their mother, a former Russian ballerina, radiated pride as her daughters pirouetted to the applause of the city's cafe society.

But a year later Sanya's world was enclosed in shadows. A brain tumor affected the nerves of both eyes and she became blind.

Enveloped by darkness, Sanya

Youth Activity Week Slated By Methodists

With the theme of "Christ Above All" the younger set in Friona will begin the annual observance of youth activity week at the Friona Methodist Church Sunday.

Young people will be in charge of the evening worship service at the church and special events carrying out the theme are scheduled for every night during the week of August 17-22. Sponsoring organization of the event is the Methodist Youth Fellowship with the officers for the 1958-59 year as follows:

Mary Tom Spring, president; Erma Drake, vice-president; Jimette McLean, secretary-treasurer; Adabeth Akens, song leader; Judy Bock, pianist; Kim Caffey, Christian witness; Larry Anthony, Christian fellowship; Donna Fields, Christian outreach; Judy Bock, Christian faith and Floyd Reeve, Christian citizenship.

The week-long event is open to the young people of all faiths and the YAW council has guaranteed a week of entertainment for both the spiritual and physical minds.

The program has been arranged under the direction of the YAW council which includes Patsy Anthony, youth advisor; Adelle Smith, worship committee chairman; Charlotte Bock, chairman, special features; Janiece Bock, publicity chairman; Dale Smith, Recreation chairman, and Adabeth Akens, food chairman. A special meal will be served at the church each night.

clung to her ambition. She exercised to keep her muscles limber. She created new dances, attended ballet classes twice a week, worked out new choreography with Bienka.

Four years later the two girls reappeared, their act more mature and polished. Before long they were booked in Stuttgart, Manneheim, Frankfurt, Bremen—in most of Germany's leading cities. They also danced in Aalborg, Denmark, with great success.

Sanya's unusual accomplishment was acclaimed by all who saw her. People said that she was probably unique in the dance world. It made her happy when people told her they forgot about her blindness when she danced.

Then four years ago, the two girls decided to come to America. Their father, Karl Wilhelm, had died in the war and all their relatives had emigrated from Germany. Cousins in Friona, Texas, extended an invitation to the girls.

After years of visa difficulties, Bienka obtained her visa first and sailed to America last April. She was waiting anxiously yesterday when her mother and Sanya arrived aboard the Home Line ship Italia.

When Sanya stepped daintily but firmly from the gangplank onto the pier, the new world appeared as dark as the old world she had left. But she greeted New York with a smile.

After a warm embrace, the sisters, who intersperse their classical ballet numbers with modern and national dances, talked about their plans for their career in this country.

It will begin modestly tonight when they give a little preview at the Polka Dot Restaurant, 121 West 72nd Street. Sanya, whose smiling brown eyes do not betray their sightlessness, said she preferred not to publicize the fact that she is blind.

"I find that dancing does not depend upon one's sight," she said in hesitant English. "It depends more upon one's willingness to work hard. There is nothing you cannot accomplish if you put enough effort into it."

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Read Proverbs 18:24

Man is a social being. He was not made for solitude. He has a constant craving for fellowship, sympathy, affection, love, and friendship.

One of life's greatest possessions is friends. A true friend is really one of life's greatest blessings.

Jesus proved himself to be man's best friend.

The excellence of his friendship is found in the sacrifice which he made for us.

No real friendship exists without sacrifice. Jesus demonstrated his friendship and love on the cross.

Pilot Dies When Crop Duster Crashes

A crop dusting plane crash resulted in the death of the pilot in Oklahoma Lane community Friday morning.

Killed was Perry Chandler, 31, of Clovis, who was flying for Western Flying Service of Clovis. According to eye witnesses, the accident occurred when the plane struck a power line, burst into flames, and crashed.

Chandler was spraying wheat stubble land with fertilizer on the farm of A. V. Warren, half a mile north and two miles east of Oklahoma Lane crossroads. Time of the accident was about 11:30.

Though Chandler was employed by Western Flying Service, he was doing this particular job for Malvin D. Curry of Curry Fertilizer Service, Farwell, Curry was "flagging" for him when the accident occurred.

Chandler, an experienced pilot, had been flying under the high line wires which ran at a right angle to his course. Just prior to the crash, he attempted to raise the plane above the wires because a post was in the way. In the attempt to go over the wires, one wing struck the wires. The case this time. In our new location we will miss having our old neighbors to call on in time of need. The neighbors here have been very good to us and we feel grateful to all of them.

Texas In Review has been one of our favorite magazines for a number of years and we regret to learn that it is going out of publication. It has been sponsored by the Humble Oil & Refining Company and has done much to record the heritage and progress of the entire state. Its many readers will miss the interesting reading the magazine provided.

Catherine and Madeline Chang, two girls from Hong Kong who have made their home with Mrs. Floyd Schlenker about a year, are leaving very soon for California, where they plan to enter nursing school. These two girls have made many friends during the time they have been here and will be missed by a large number of our residents.

Both girls attended school here last school term and were graduated in May of this year from Friona High School. They were very cooperative and took advantage of every opportunity they had to promote better understanding of their native country. Many local groups were privileged to hear the girls speak on different occasions and learned to appreciate them very much.

A few years ago we read an article that advised anyone wishing to see the country through which they traveled to hot wires were snapped in two and caused the plane to turn upside down. It crashed, still upside down, some 50 yards from the high line in a cotton field belonging to Nicky Foster.

The plane was afire, witnesses reported, soon after striking the wires and was burning profusely when it crashed.

Texico-Farwell volunteer firemen were summoned to the crash, but the flames had all but burned themselves out when they arrived on the scene. Ambulances from Claborn Funeral Home in Friona, were also called to the accident.

Funeral services for Chandler, who is survived by his wife and two sons, were Sunday afternoon in Clovis.

get off the highways and see some of the scenery along the side roads.

That advice would be good if applied to seeing some of the beauty in Friona. Instead of driving down the streets we should walk down the alleys. Of course, if we chose this way of seeing the town we would see a number of sights that were anything but beautiful, but then, we would see a lot of beautiful flower gardens that we don't see driving down the street.

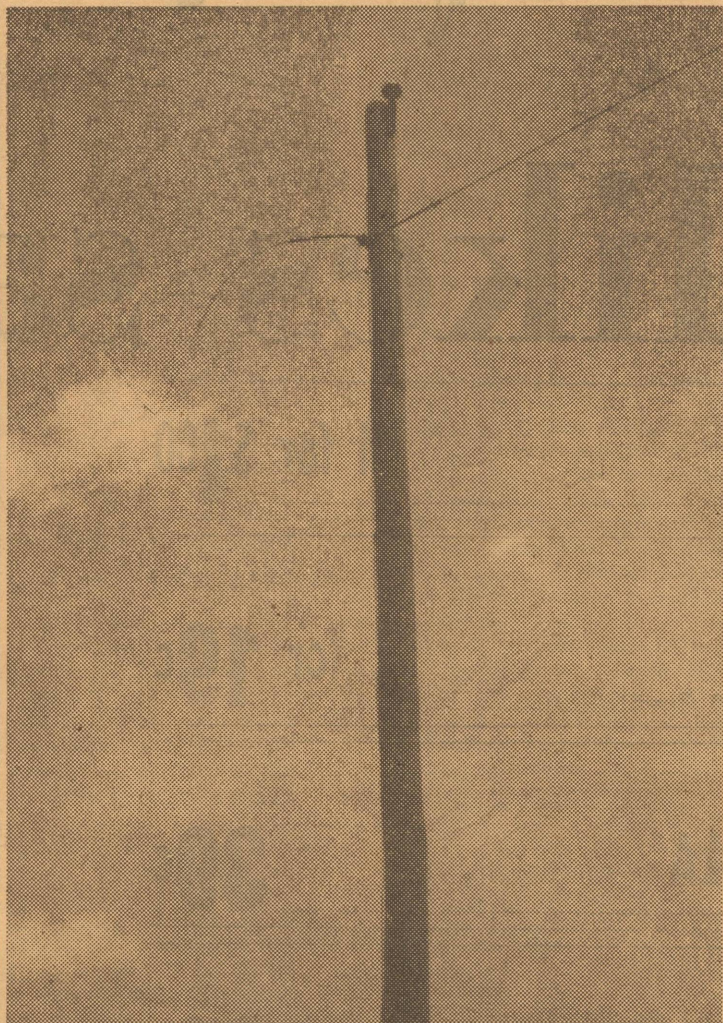

One of the prettiest backyards we have had the pleasure of seeing has been made a spot of beauty by Jim and Sally Cocannouer. In the very near future, we plan to visit them and take a conducted tour of their flower garden.

From the alley all we saw was a lot of beautiful flowers in a well planned garden and some signs of plans that are being made for further beautification of the spot. Maybe the persons who advocate a hobby that can be pursued by any couple should see what this couple has accomplished in a very short time.

There is probably more procrastination on yard beautification than on any other subject. Too many of us, the writer included, make a feeble effort that doesn't produce much results, then cease to make any effort and offer excuses for not having a pretty yard.

PLANE CRASH — Farwell firemen and other volunteers turn Perry Chandler's demolished plane on end so flames can be extinguished. Chandler, the pilot, was killed in the crash near Oklahoma Lane Friday morning. He was spraying fertilizer on the A. V. Warren farm at the time of the accident.

BROKEN POWER LINE — This dangling wire caused the accident. Chandler's one-engine, crop-dusting plane struck the power line, burst into flames, and crashed upside down. He had been flying under the wires, but the pole was in the flight path, forcing him to go over the wires. Failing to gain sufficient altitude, the plane struck the wires.

Maybe if some of us would use more elbow grease and determination we would accomplish as much as some of our neighbors and friends. Too often we excuse ourselves by saying, "Well, I just don't have a green thumb like so-and-so does."

One of the things we have noticed recently that should be a great help toward keeping our town cleaner is the new white trash container in front of the Ethridge-Spring Agency on Main Street. It might be a good idea if other business men would take the attitude, "Let's don't let Dan and Bill get ahead of us."

Our supply salesman brought a copy of a new Webster's Elementary Dictionary for us to look at Tuesday of last week. After examining the book carefully, it looks like it would be ideal for any child in the fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh grades.

This is the first dictionary ever written by dictionary makers specifically for children in these grades and is the only dictionary based on actual recorded usage of the words found in books and magazines for elementary school children and backed by more than 100 years of specializing in dictionary making.

Several persons have inquired about this particular dictionary and a few have been by the office to look at it. Anyone who is interested in seeing what the book is like is invited to come by at any time. We hope to stock these books for sale as soon as we get "set up" in our new location.

The need for housing for new teachers here has arisen again. At the present time there is a pressing need for apartments, unfurnished houses, and bedrooms. Anyone having any of these facilities for rent is asked to call 2661 as soon as possible.

Some of the peach and apricot trees that we have seen recently that were so heavily loaded the branches were almost to the breaking point are in the yards of the L. F. Lillards, Ervin Johnsons, and Mrs. Arma Coffman. This has really been a wonderful year for growing fruit in this area.

It seems that even Uncle Sam realizes that human beings are forgetful. Read somewhere recently that the five-cent penalty, which has been levied on postage due mail, is being lifted until November 1. That will probably save a lot of us from being held in contempt by our correspondents because we have forgotten to put four cents postage on a letter.

How would you feel if you had to pay one-cent postage and a five-cent penalty on a statement from one of your creditors? It would make most of us very unhappy.

Guests In White Home

Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Roberts and children spent Sunday afternoon of last week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. White. The children, Steve and Vicki, remained for a longer visit.

Sue White accompanied the children to their home in Amarillo Tuesday afternoon and visited in the Roberts home until Friday.

Mrs. Calvin Martin received word Sunday night of the death of her aunt, Mrs. Fred Weatherly, at Tekamah, Neb. Mrs. Weatherly, who was a sister of Mrs. J. W. Baxter, has visited here many times. Funeral services were conducted at Tekamah Tuesday afternoon.

in & around FRIONA WITH JUNE

Our attention has been called to two errors we made in the recipes Mrs. Ralph Wilson gave us when she was featured as Cook of The Week in our July 3 issue. We regret that these errors were made and hope anyone who has used them will make the following changes in the copies they have.

In the pickle recipe we gave celery salt as one of the ingredients to be used as spices. This should have been celery seed. Then in her noodle ring recipe we listed "soft" water when it should have read salt water. Since it is now time for everyone to be making pickles, we sincerely hope our mistake has caused no one too much inconvenience.

We're moving our office. Any time a move is made, we always move off and leave neighbors that we have learned to appreciate and enjoy. Such is

PUBLIC NOTICE

At the Official Board Meeting of the Lazbuddie Methodist Church last Sunday, Aug. 3, it was decided that henceforth there would be a minimum charge of $5.00 for the use of the Church's Fellowship Hall for any social activities not connected with Church affairs or Church Organizations, such as showers, parties, banquets, etc. This fee will be charged to all—members and non-members who want the use of the Fellowship Hall for the above-mentioned social functions.

Our Fellowship Hall is not a public community center; it is the property of the Lazbuddie Methodist Church and we sincerely ask that our wishes be respected concerning the use of it, and cleaning it up afterward, the nursery included if it is used. We further request that our Sanctuary not be desecrated by being used as a play room during any social affair, whether it be church-sponsored or otherwise. Thank you.

Respectfully,
The Official Board of the Lazbuddie Methodist Church 44-1tc

Cantaloupes Slow As Harvest Starts

The Parmer County (Bovina) cantaloupe deal got started this week, and its first movements went into a draggy market described by Charlie Flynn, owner of Gateway Produce, packers there, as "demoralized."

Bovina growers are competing with the tail-end of the California cantaloupe harvest, Flynn says, and growers there are "dumping" the last of their harvest and winding up the season.

Flynn is hopeful that within a week the pressure from the California shipments will have subsided and that the market will stabilize. He does not view the beginning of the Bovina deal as alarming.

"I've been in the vegetable business every day, 365 days a year, for 27 years, and things look 'normal' to me," he said. "When you are in the perishable produce business, this is the way it goes."

He also pointed out that the Bovina cantaloupes, which are grown on about 40 farms and total over 600 acres, are not yet being harvested in volume. Bovina shipments will not hit their stride until next week.

On Monday, Gateway had about 60 laborers in the fields, picking the first fruit of the crop. At peak, more than 200 will be used to gather in the melons.

Still, the first pickings looked like a lot of cantaloupes to Bovina residents, many of whom gathered around the shed to see the first area vegetable processing shed in operation.

Bovina cantaloupes are selling at from $2.50 to $2.75 and the market is slow. Most growers figure that a $3 per crate price is about a break-even point and that everything over that is considered profit. So, the prices will have to improve if the cantaloupe deal can be called successful.

Flynn expressed satisfaction with the quality and volume of the crop.

The size and taste of the cantaloupes is very good, Gateway men say, and although the tonnage cannot be accurately figured this early, it probably will run 200 crates an acre, easily.

Bovina's cantaloupe pick is expected to last from 30 to 40 days, depending on the maturity of the field, the weather, and other factors.

Both growers and sideline observers are crossing their fingers and hoping for the cantaloupe deal to improve. They are especially anxious to see a county vegetable crop "hit" after a poor year for onions and the current slow movement of the potato deal.

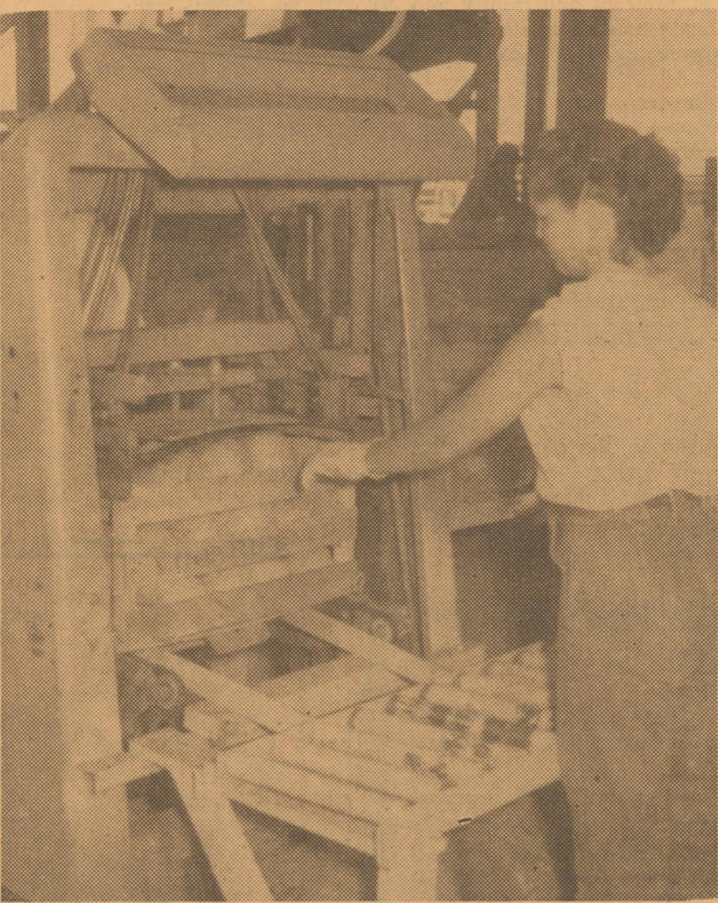

Those who have boosted vegetable production here have emphasized the advantages of diversifying and getting a "mixed deal" with several different vegetables. Often, one crop will be paying well while others may be breaking even or losing money, they maintain.

So far, onions have failed to pay out, and potatoes are draggy in both price and demand. Growers were hopeful that cantaloupes would start fast, but they didn't.

Carrot harvesting will probably get started in Friona next week, and when shipments of that vegetable start, farmers will begin to get an inkling of the over-all view of 1958 as a vegetable growing year.

ROLLIN' EM IN to the Gateway Produce Company's processing operation is this shed hand who lifts small wooden gates and starts the cantaloupes gently tumbling down to meet a conveyer belt, where they are lifted into the shed. Once inside they are graded and packed by hand.

WHAM! goes the crate sealer and another lug of Bovina-grown, sweet-meated cantaloupes comes rolling off the line, ready to go anywhere in the nation. The girl here pulls the just-sealed crates from the machines and sends them on their way.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

We don't know the outcome of the Farm bill in the House as yet. The Senate passed it with only 11 dissenting votes last week when Senator Johnson brought it up for vote with over a thousand telegrams from Texas farmers urging its passage in his brief case. The telegrams were the result of Farm Bureau efforts to get them out by the farmers who helped draft the basic portions of the bill in 1957 state and National Conventions.

Even though it was reported quite obvious that some senators are not particularly interested in what the bulk of the farmers want, it is also quite evident that when that same group of farmers makes its wants known in an organized manner, they can get results. Over twenty of the telegrams to Senator Johnson were from Parmer County Farm Bureau leaders, under their personal signatures. Congressman Walter Rogers received about the same number last week, urging that the bill not be stymied or improperly amended before getting House passage.

A spokesman for grain sorghum producers has bemoaned passage of the bill because it did not put sorghums under acreage control. We don't believe many producers in this area wanted that provision, though. It will be good if a little higher floor is put under them however, if the support is left to the discretion of the Secretary of Agriculture. The interpretation we have received would provide a pretty good price, (something above $2) under the Senate Bill as passed, however. President Gilbert Kaltwasser and VP Jack Patterson were instrumental in getting farmers of this area alerted at the time telegrams were needed.

Harry Hamilton, chairman of the Legislative and Resolutions Committee is making plans for a meeting to draft proposed resolutions for 1958, to be voted upon at the County Convention in October. If you have suggestions, tell Hamilton or any member of the board, or bring them to the office. We will see that they get the proper consideration and give your fellow members an opportunity to vote on them.

Hugh Blaylock, area chairman for Christian Rural Overseas Program, (CROP), is making plans for getting more grain sorghum from the county into the program this fall. Over twenty-to-one is the ratio of shipment for your contribution.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

Reports on the increasing incidence of mental illness among the younger people in our nation should cause every homemaker who has children in her home to give the problem some serious consideration.

None of us should dismiss the problem with the thought, "Oh! That couldn't happen to me." Mental illness, like polio and a great number of other illnesses isn't any respecter of persons. It could happen to any of us.

Since a mother is usually in closer contact with her children than any other person, she should always be on the alert for any signs of growing emotional problems. Many articles have been written advising us how to detect serious disturbances before they develop.

Everyone of us should be sure that we give sufficient time to our children and are genuinely interested in their interests and activities. Far too many persons neglect this phase of a child's development. None of us should ever be too busy to listen to our children's problems whether they are real or imaginary.

Things that are important to one child may mean absolutely nothing to another and those of us who take the attitude that we are being fair to each child because we treat them all alike are making a grave mistake. We should make an effort to help each child find the things he is most interested in and help him develop those interests.

There are numerous leaflets dealing with mental illness published by the United States Health Department that are free for the asking. We should secure copies of some of these leaflets and study them so that we will be better able to direct

THE FIRST AUGUST BALE OF cotton ever produced in the Parmer County area might come from bolls such as these. Records do not indicate that a bale was ever ginned prior to September 1, but this might be the year, say farmers, who are watching how fast the hot weather is maturing the crop. The "bottom crop" shown here is a good two weeks ahead of last year — possibly more.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Even though we have had quite a bit of rainfall here in Parmer County recently, we should not forget that conservation of irrigation water still is highly important.

Tail water is not the only loss of water. Many farmers have rows that are too long. In order to get the water out to the lower end of the rows, it has to stay on the upper end longer than necessary. The results are that the upper end is wet deeper than the roots will go. All water that goes deeper than the root zone is wasted.

Most fields have a good crop at the upper and lower ends with a poor crop in the middle. The poor crop in the middle is probably due to lack of moisture. More than likely, had the water been used properly, there would be a uniform crop throughout the field. In other words, enough water is being wasted at the upper and lower ends of the field to properly irrigate the middle.

There are many types of systems that can be used to conserve our underground water. A few methods are proper length of rows, level rows, preventing loss of rain water, obtaining an even distribution of irrigation water, watering when needed, and applying only the amount of water needed.

If you are interested in analyzing your irrigation system, a technician from the Soil Conservation Service will be glad to assist in any way.

William Jennings Bryan said: "Burn down your cities and they will arise again as if by magic. But destroy our farms and the grass will grow on the streets of every city in the land."

Though through the ages man has progressed to the point where he walks upright, his eyes still swing from limb to limb.

COMBINING POTATOES is hard work, and in spite of the mechanization viewed here, still takes a lot of hand labor. This machine is in operation on the Buck Gregory farm south of Texico, and banks against the sandhills. The sandy land is ideal for potato production.

Other things that we should keep on the alert for are signs of poor hearing or poor sight. Many times a child does poor work in school and the parents pass it off as indifference or failure to apply himself when the real cause is deficient hearing or eye sight.

Prompt attention to any of these could change school progress, or even the child's outlook on life.

Mothers of children who will be starting to school for the first time next month should be sure to do two things. According to a state law, no child can be enrolled in the first grade unless he or she has had a smallpox vaccination and is in possession of a birth certificate which has been issued by the Texas Department of Public Health.

Not too many years ago these certificates were issued to the parents at the time a baby's birth was reported; however, that has been changed. Now it is necessary for a parent to write the State Department of Health in Austin and send $1 with a request for the certificate.

You must give the child's name and date of birth, the mother's maiden name, and the father's name. This request should be made as early as possible for the department may be swamped with too many requests the last week in this month.

For the next salad supper you plan, we are listing several recipes that will add much to the supper. For a substantial salad, try

HOFERKAMP HOT GERMAN SALAD

- Ingredients:
8 strips bacon
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup apple cider vinegar
1/8 teaspoon black pepper
3/4 teaspoon celery seed
1 tablespoon grated onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1/4 cup chopped whole canned pimientos
3 1/2 cups hot cooked rice
2 hard cooked eggs

Fry the bacon in a skillet until crisp. Pour off and save the fat as it cooks out of the bacon. Remove the bacon. Measure 1/3 cup fat back into the skillet. Stir in sugar, vinegar, and black pepper. Cook slowly to dissolve the sugar. Add celery seed, onion, green pepper, and pimientos. Taste and add sugar if desired. Stir in rice.

Combine the bacon and stir in. Dice one egg and gently stir in. Serve hot or warm, garnished with the other egg, which has been sliced.

Another salad that goes with any meal is

LAST MINUTE TUNA-PICKLE SALAD

- Ingredients:

1/3 cup mayonnaise
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
1/3 cup coarsely chopped sweet pickles
1 6 1/2 oz. can tuna, flaked
1 tablespoon lemon juice
- Mix together the hot cooked rice, mayonnaise, black pepper, and pickles. Cool. Stir in tuna

Douglas Connelley of Parmer County Implement Company, Friona, was in Chicago several days last week attending an introductory showing of new tractors.

The "real" price of milk, in spite of wars and inflation, has consistently declined for many years, says the National Dairy Council. For example, in 1890, the average factory employee had to work slightly more than 25 minutes to earn the price of a quart of milk. And though the consumer services associated with milk delivery have risen tremendously, the time a factory worker must labor for the price of a quart of milk has gone down as follows: in 1929—15 minutes; in 1947—10 minutes; and in 1957—only 7 minutes.

Special finishes now being being used on many fabrics create a problem in removing stains. LET'S ELECT LOYDE A. COUNTY BREWER JUDGE

THE PARMER FARMER

by W. H. Graham Jr.

John Hood, the Lariat farmer who had his first hand at raising potatoes this year, figures he "about broke even" on the 1958 summer crop.

Hood got into the potato business in a big way this year. He planted between 85 and 90 acres of spuds in the sandy land of his farm south and east of Lariat. They came along well and he had a beautiful crop, but he was harassed by two problems. One was a fungus-type disease usually called "scab" which hurt the crop's quality and cut the number of No. 1 sacks down to about 125 per acre, and the other was the ever-uncertain market, which was not in too happy a mood when John was doing his digging.

Most of the farmer's crop sold for around $2.10 a bag (No. 1's), although the opening of the market was more promising than that. Three weeks ago when he first began harvesting, he sold same for $3.35. However, prices declined steadily from that point.

John takes all this in a way that we understand all good vegetable growers are supposed to: it doesn't seem to bother him too much. However, in talking with him, it does come out that he is disturbed by some things he can't understand.

Even though the prices paid the farmers for their potatoes have been coming down for several weeks, retail prices have remained practically static. He fails to see the justice in a spread of about $5 a sack in the price paid the farmer and the price the housewife pays for spuds in the grocery stores.

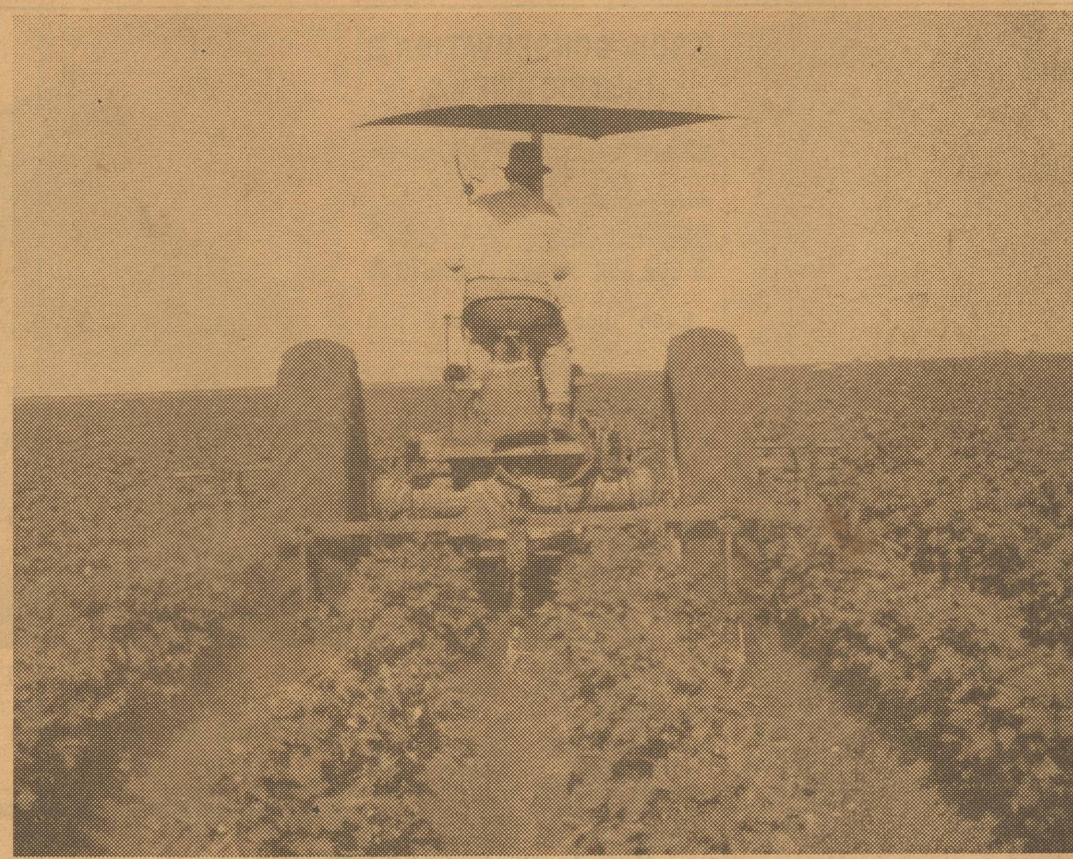

We are in complete sympathy with John's attitude on this, but would like to point out that such situations apply practically universally, not only to vegetable raising, but to almost every other phase of business. The man who furnishes the raw product is the man who invariably feels he gets too little for his efforts.

The beef producers often feel the same way. They are doing all right now, but just a short time ago when cattle prices were low there were many questions raised about how the price of beef could stay as high as it was on the retail level when the price-to-producer level was so low.

Independent crude oil producers say they can't sell their products for enough money, and point accusing fingers at big refiners and distributors who keep the price of refined products at more than 30 cents a gallon, even though stocks are sky-high and consumer demand is off.

The price of a cotton shirt has always amazed cotton growers who stop to figure out how much material is in it and how much they received for the raw product.

Manufacturers of paper are hard pressed to understand why a printer gets the price he does

LAST TIME THROUGH for this cotton cultivator, as a hand on the Murrell Rundell place in the Oklahoma Lane community "lays by" his 1958 field work. Area cotton has been much less weedy than last year, and comparatively bug-free. However, hail has cost cotton farmers heavily this summer. Few have escaped damage from nature's "shotgun."

Political Announcements

The following political announcements are made subject to action of the second Democratic Primary of 1958:

for the letterheads he sells. Owners of ore reserves find the spread in finished steel fantastic when compared to what the iron deposits brought them.

This story goes on and on. It is the same everywhere. Nobody can see much justice in it.

However, when you go to check out a situation like this, here is what happens: The laborers who get the crop out of the field moan about their pay (and wouldn't you hate to live on it). The processor says he's lucky to break even or maybe to make just a little profit—nothing big.

The truck driver who hauls the produce across country claims he can't raise a family on the wages he earns, and the truck owner says that wages, taxes, and high fixed expenses eat all his profits up.

The big-city broker claims that if it wasn't for his big volume he couldn't stay in business, and the vegetable wholesale houses chime in that their margins of profit are so thin they don't know whether they can last from one year to the next.

The grocery store operator says he'd like to get a markup of 15 percent across the board, but that things like vegetables and meats, which are both so perishable, punch holes in his profit picture all the time.

A similar picture could be drawn about any mass-market product. It's like that the nation (and probably, the world) over.

This is why we think that farmers who brand integrated deals that make them "contract farmers" or "just managers for the company's business" might ought to reconsider their views.

Raw products producers get very little of the ultimate gross product value. Most of the value is added in later operations. Finished products, or end consumer products are where the money is.

Can a farmer ever hope to share in the big end of things? Perhaps—but not without some changes. As much as independence is revered, some of it will of necessity have to be sacrificed if these changes are to come about. Whether the changes take the form of giant farmer-owned cooperatives that control the deal all the way from the raw product to its appearance on the family table, or whether producers can profitably contract or integrate (voluntarily) with large companies which can oversee all phases of processing and marketing, remains to be seen.

The production potential of the irrigated High Plains in vegetables is too great to think that such large amounts of produce can be absorbed by the market within a few months without upsetting its delicate balances.

Planning and deliberate action will be required.

CAMP HIGHLIGHTS

4-H camp this year was an exciting event for Sherry Dean, Rose Ann Greeson, Iva Ben Parr, Velma Ann Faith, and Mrs. Carrie Tatum of Black; Mrs. Leon Billingsley and Judy Billingsley of Farwell; Virginia Rea of Bovina; Pat Chitwood, Mrs. Dee Chitwood, and Mrs. J. B. Young of Lazbuddie; my mother, Mrs. M. C. Wainscott, Olney, and myself.

We arrived at the cabin about 1 p.m. and went to the river and ate our lunch. The girls put on their bathing suits and waded in the river. It was cold but fun. We didn't last but about 30 minutes in that cold water.

Then everyone unpacked and settled in. All of the group started mountain climbing on the mountain back of the cabin. The girls made it to the top. I made it about half way up and just watched them the rest of the way up.

Monday night Judy Billingsley directed games for the whole group. Tuesday Pat Chitwood was recreation leader. Tuesday after breakfast we went to Taos and visited the Indians. On the way to Taos we went through a saw and planing mill. Tuesday afternoon horseback riding was the main activity. Since only four horses were available the girls had to take time about. We had a cookout down on the river that night for supper. The menu was kabobs and sinones. Wednesday morning we packed and left by 10 a.m. We stopped in Santa Rosa for a swim and ate lunch. We stopped at Fort Sumner for watermelon and the next stop was Farwell. Everyone is full of plans for next year's camp.

Trailer Tires Can Be Trouble Saver Or Maker

When farmers put tires on their trailers, they expect, and should expect to get some kind of service from them. A lot of farmers reckon they can have less trouble if they stick strictly with new tires. Is this true?

A tip to farmers who need trailer tires is given by Henry Hathorne and Blackie Richardson of H & R Tire Service. "Put new treads on sound tire bodies, and have tires that cost less money, yet still give good service. Come by and talk it over."

DISTRICT DRESS REVIEW

Parmer County entry in the District I 4-H dress review was Judy Billingsley of Farwell. Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company in Amarillo was the scene of the review.

Miss Billingsley modeled a royal blue and white checked gingham school dress. It featured button-down tabs under the collar in both front and back and push-up sleeves with bias cuffs. The skirt was softly pleated. She used white accessories.

She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Leon Billingsley, and the county home demonstration agent.

Weekend visitors throughout the summer usually call for extra food and entertainment. Avoid last minute fuss and confusion by advance planning and preparation, suggest extension foods and nutrition specialists.

Arrange ahead for the foods to serve, the preparation and service, table decorations, etc. Unless you have lots of help, plan to keep things simple. "Food and Fun With Friends," a special bulletin prepared by the specialists, will help you with planning and preparation. The bulletin gives information on invitations, introduction of guests, recipes and suggestions for preparing refreshment plates for large or small parties. Teen-agers in the family will find the information helpful, too. Get your copy from your local county home demonstration agent, or write the Agricultural Information Office.

Lovely fall fabrics are beginning to show up on fabric counters. Read labels carefully and prepare fabric properly before cutting, suggest extension clothing specialists.

Look for labels that state shrinkage control. If sanforized or guaranteed not to shrink more than 2 percent, additional shrinkage is not necessary.

Encourage your youngsters to drink both milk and fruit juice. Studies in Iowa revealed that many children drink fruit juice as a substitute for milk. Milk offers several important nutrients including calcium, especially valuable to growing youngsters. Citrus juice offers valuable vitamin C. So drink both.

ELECTRIC WATER HEATING IS BEST FOR YOU!

These photographs depict simple illustrations of water heating principles. Any high school physics student can perform them. They graphically show why electric water heating is safe, efficient and dependable.

PHOTO 1 — Electric water heaters have cold water baffles. Smoke is used to represent cold water as it enters the water heater at the bottom of the tank. Because of the baffle, the smoke lays on the bottom, just as would cold water entering an electric water heater. The baffle keeps the cold water from mixing with the hot water.

PHOTO 2 — Remove the baffle and the smoke surges through the entire glass just as cold water entering non-electric water heaters surges throughout the tank, reducing the overall temperature of the previously heated water.

PHOTO 3 — Using a paper cup to represent a non-electric water heater and a candle as the heat source, you find that water poured into the cup keeps the paper from burning.

PHOTO 4 — But, now add sand, representing the sediment that collects on the bottom of water heaters due to solids in the water. The bottom of the cup is subjected to excessive heat and will burn out quickly.

PHOTO 5 — This is true because the insulating qualities of the sediment prevent the heat from reaching the water. This graphic presentation shows, too, why old non-electric water heaters become unsafe.

Electric water heaters are fully insulated on all sides. The heating elements wrap around the sides of the tank and are not affected by water solids which may collect in the tank. It is impossible for the bottom of an electric water heater to burn out. Electric water heating is safe and you can get Reddy's special water heating rate—ask your Public Service Company manager.

Increase Yields and Profits With The MARTIN HARVEST HOARDER SYSTEM

The MARTIN SYSTEM is a Drier & Storage Unit all in one. Yet it costs little more than ordinary storage facilities.

- Large Farmer or Small Farmer - You can follow the 4 key steps to profits with A MARTIN HARVEST HOARDER SYSTEM.
1. Harvest early—at 33% moisture content. Gain 10 to 15 more bushels per acre because your crop doesn't stay in the field to dry, where it is at the mercy of the sun, wind and rain.
  2. Dry with low cost forced air. Drying with forced air is cheap because the air is free and it takes only pennies a day to run the fan. Dry without danger of fire.
  3. Store in the same bin. Just turn off the drying switch and your crop is in storage. No expensive handling equipment or labor. Condition the grain at any time by turning a switch.
  4. Sell or feed more, better crops. Sell No. 1 corn or grain and you are free to sell any time of the year on better markets. Whether you feed or sell, the greater profits will soon pay for your Martin system.
