While sipping a cup of joe in downtown Friona recently the conversation turned to one of the more popular subjects hereabouts—no, not women—not this time anyhow—but politics. This has long been a subject in which we always felt like we enjoyed listening to more than engaging in. But, having formed a few opinions of our own through the years we sorta sat up and voiced some of them when the opportunity arose. Reckon the volcanic upheaval in our city's political world brought on the discussion, to tell the truth the origin is vague, but nevertheless the subject of President Eisenhower and his recent vetoing of the farm prize freeze bill arose. One of the men in the booth, whose name we won't mention, spoke up and told us that "You know, I always said that I wouldn't be bullheaded or get the reputation of being a die-hard at anything, but when Ike vetoed that bill he went a long way toward making me a life-long Democrat, regardless of who is running."

This was kicked around with the booth being in full accord that farm prices are behind a lot of the country's troubles at this time.

After awhile we asked the group who they thought would be in the running for the Presidency at the next election. We all agreed that Nixon would be the Republican's nominee—in fact one man said that he wouldn't be surprised if Nixon wasn't named president before Ike's term was up.

We asked what he meant and his reply is that the Republicans will force Ike to resign, because of his health, and this will leave Nixon open to step in, take over the reins and hope he will be so strong, by election time that the Demos can't overtake them.

Anyhow back to the Democratic ticket—the consensus of opinion at our booth picked Kefauver, Lyndon Johnson, Clements, and Kennedy as the most likely candidates. When it came to pick which of these would end up with the banner we couldn't agree. But, it was all good for sip-pin' coffee.

Last Wednesday afternoon we were talking to Fred Dean on the corner when the fire alarm went off with its shrieking, piercing, whine. Turning abruptly we ran to the car tossing a hasty goodbye to Fred as we ran down the sidewalk.

We jumped into the auto and sped off in hot pursuit of the red wagons and looked for the sign of a blaze down the street. We no sooner got started than the engines came to a screeching halt in front of the Congregational Church.

Seems that someone, or sump-in, had fouled up one of the furnaces and a blaze had gotten started, but had been put out by the time we arrived. We were glad there was no "fire story" to report on, and then it dawned on us where we were.

Fred Dean is pastor of the Congregational Church. He should've come along for the ride as his church might have been the victim.

Anybody got a dog? We've been dodging this issue for quite some time, but to get some quiet at home we've been forced to ask if anyone has an extra dog around they would like to force upon an unsuspecting family.

Really we like dogs, and the spouse and son have been wanting one for quite some time. If you have one, or know of someone who has a small dog, pedigree not necessary, and wants to get it off his hands, just bring it by the Star office.

This scribe got new respect for Panhandle wind this week. Steve Bavouset and I were responsible for placing a sign across Main Street advertising the fact that the Lions Club Minstrel is set for Friday night. After prevailing upon the kind-hearted soul, Hank Outland of Southwestern Public Service, we dragged a huge piece of canvas complete with three-eighths inch cable to the corner and prepared it for lofting.

All went well. The sign looked pretty hanging there in the air. Then—WHAM! The wind began blowing, not hard, just gusty. In about 45 minutes a tap at the window and we were informed our sign had changed from an advertisement to an effort to block traffic. We tried again, but with the same results. Finally we took the "thing"—by this time the sign had received other names, most of which are not fit for print, and went to the City Hall where it was draped on the top of the fire station. There it stayed until Tuesday when a windstorm pulled the nails out of their holes and down it came again. Alas— By the way, we bought a new dictionary where minstrel is spelled minstrel for the benefit of those with a southern drawl.

Changes Slated At City Hall

"A change is on the way," Friona's new mayor, Raymond Fleming told members of the city council and attending persons Monday night.

When asked by present City Clerk Roy Wilson if there were any basis for the rumors that he "should start looking for another job," Mayor Fleming told Wilson the new council will begin taking applications shortly for the job of city manager of Friona.

Fleming said that the new council plans to combine the job of Clyde Fields, city inspector, and that of Wilson, city clerk, into one job and look for a man who will fill those qualifications.

When asked further if the council planned to make other changes in personnel, the police department in particular, Councilman Glenn Reeve spoke up and said that he didn't see any immediate change but warned that "we'll be watching all expenditures closely and we will take up that problem when we get to it."

As for any specific members of the city employees, only Fields and Wilson were named as those slated for early release.

As their first order of business the council moved that an election be set for May 13 "for the election of two more councilmen for a term of one year each."

(This move to the "one year each" clause will stagger the terms of office in the council. After this initial election all terms will be for two years each, thus never leaving an entire council to be elected at one time.)

In the same motion the council named Nelson Welch, presiding judge; O. F. Baker, judge; and Mrs. W. A. Tinney and Mrs. Dan Ethridge, clerks for the election.

Following the election discussion, City Attorney Bill Sheehan reported that the outgoing commissioners and he had reached an agreement with Paul Strickland on a 3-year-old easement problem along Highway 60.

Sheehan said that the payment of $2750 to Strickland would be agreeable with the service station owner for his easement.

The easement problem grew out of the widening of Highway 60 through Friona. Strickland originally held out on his easement for the $2750 plus some agreements which the city could not accept.

Among these were the agreements for the city to never place a parking meter in front of the station; not allow any construction of any kind on the property in question, and others.

As the property belongs to the State Highway Department the city could not agree to any of the "strings."

In other business the council named the official depository of the city as the Friona State Bank; the official newspaper as the Friona Star and set a hearing for May 5 for proposed zoning changes in the Drake subdivision and the block on which the Fallwell boarding house and new beauty shop are located.

(These ordinances are found elsewhere in this paper in detail.)

Brannon Enters Race for JP

Announcement is being made this week that E. B. Brannon of Friona is entering the race for Justice of the Peace of Precinct 2 Place 1 of Parmer County. Brannon, who has been a resident of Friona for a number of years, has lived in Parmer County since 1929.

Before moving to the Hub community from Oklahoma, he served three terms as justice of the peace in Seminole County. He is a retired farmer and a property owner in the city.

In making his announcement, Brannon states, "From having had past experience in an office of justice of the peace, I feel that I am qualified for the position and will appreciate any support given me."

He further stated, "If elected to this office, I will administer justice to the best of my ability."

Big ocean liners need thousands of gallons of petroleum lubricants to keep them in "smooth water." A single delivery of one ship ran as high as 19,000 gallons.

Incumbents Win In School Board Race

In a race which was termed "about normal" by presiding Judge F. W. Reeve, Friona voters left the Board of Trustees for the Friona Independent School District as it was before the election.

Incumbents Cordie Potts, Clyde Weatherly and Arthur Drake beat out opposition from Ernest Osborn and O. J. Beene by a comfortable margin to return to their places on the board.

Total votes were:
Potts—169
Drake—153
Weatherly—134
O. J. Beene—116
Ernest Osborn—99

In the county trustee-at-large polling A. L. Black of Friona was an overwhelming favorite at the local poll by a vote of 197 to 24, but lost to Bill Sherley over the county. J. L. Shafer received three write-in votes in the local precinct voting in this race.

Only 230 Frionans bothered election Saturday. This was about an average vote.

With the election over this year the members of the F.I.S.D. board of trustees will be: C. D. C. Herring, president; Paul Fortenberry, secretary; and Hoyt Smith, Cordie Potts, Fern Barnett, Clyde Weatherly and Arthur Drake.

Contract Let For Cafeteria Addition

Jones Construction Co. got the contract for the construction of a 48x46 foot addition to the present school cafeteria for their bid of $20,272 at Monday night's meeting of the board of trustees of the Friona Independent School District.

In a reorganizational meeting the board members gave the contract to the Jones Construction Company after turning down previous bids because they were all too high.

The new addition will add the room necessary for the adequate feeding of 900 pupils at one time at the cafeteria. Included in the new addition will be a kitchen, walk-in ice-box, restroom and a small office.

The addition is designed to serve as many pupils as the schools will be able to hold after the new additions now underway are completed.

Also on the agenda Monday night was the election of officers for the board. D. C. Herring was elected president, Cordie Potts, vice-president and Paul Fortenberry secretary of the board. All the officers were re-elected.

In addition to electing officers the board members named M. B. Buchanan, Wright Williams and Clyde Goodwine as three appointed members of the school district's board of equalization.

In addition to the three men appointed all seven members of the board of trustees are members of the equalization board.

The remainder of business included the routine reports, approving bills and accepting a tax report.

CONFERENCE FOR YOUTH

On Sunday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock a series of conferences on love, courtship and marriage will be conducted for youth at the First Baptist Church. The pastor, L. A. Sartain, will lead the discussion and seek to bring help for all the youth. Youth of the entire community are invited to attend. Your questions or particular problems will be gladly discussed and help offered.

★ DOUBLE TROUBLE

Johnny, the eleven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mabry, had a holiday from school, but it wasn't such an enjoyable one. The Mabrys decided they would take advantage of the long weekend and have Johnny's tonsils removed.

The original plan was to have the tonsillectomy early Friday, then by Tuesday Johnny could return to school. All went well as far as the tonsils were concerned. But the story doesn't end here.

Pretty soon after Johnny's return from the hospital, a rash began to show up in various spots and it was discovered that he had measles. He seemed to be taking it pretty good Monday. Maybe it isn't much worse to have to stay in bed with two inconveniences than with one.

As for more of the program for the night, it is beyond description. At intermission Lions will sell candy which will have valuable prizes which were donated by local businessmen enclosed. A list of the prizes and donors will be carried in next week's Star.

SECTION I FRIONA, TEXAS THURSDAY, APRIL 10, 1958

STAR TO CONSTRUCT NEW PLANT HERE

An all-new building and plant to house and produce The Friona Star will soon be a reality, W. H. Graham Jr., publisher, announces this week. Development plans call for completion on June 20, and first production work is anticipated July 1, he says. "Joe Osborn, my partner, and myself have long looked forward to this time," Graham says. "Since purchase of the Star in May of 1956, we have made plans for the day when we could make this announcement."

At the time The Star was purchased by Graham and Osborn, machinery was involved in the sale but it was in condition unfit to use for continuing production of the "paper." Type for the paper was at that time being set in Lubbock.

Since then, the Star has been printed at Farwell, in the plant of The State Line Tribune. "We are making an investment of considerable size," says Graham, "but we are confident of the future of Friona and of the High Plains. We know that our investment will be justified in the years to come." Graham has revealed that the plant will be equipped with a new and revolutionary type of printing equipment. It is called the "offset" process, and is a distinct departure from the time-proven letterpress system of reproduction. "We will be the first 'country-size operation in the nation to use the press and equipment which will be installed in our plant," Graham said. The equipment is designed specifically for newspaper production, and plans are for more than one newspaper to be printed on the new press, he said.

J. G. McFarland is to erect the building, which will be on his lots at the corner of Sixth and Euclid. Construction is expected to get underway within the next week or two. The building will have about 3,000 square feet of floor space.

Graham and Osborn are extending their partnership and will organize the new company as Plains Publishers.

America's offshore oil "fleet" will grow by an estimated 220 crew boats, 50 supply boats, and more than 300 cargo barges in the next 14 years.

★ BUILDING CHANGES SET

Several Friona businesses are slated changes in location, the street from the Regal Theatre. (A more detailed story on this is found elsewhere on this page.)

One Friona business, the Vestal-Brewer Hardware Co., is in its second week of a going-out-of-business sale.

The Friona Battery and Electric Co., managed by Johnny Wilson, will begin moving into its new location in the building formerly occupied by the OF&O Equipment Co. and the OF&O will move into the building occupied by the Friona Battery and Electric Co.

This "swap" will take place this weekend.

Another business, Allen's Jewelry, signed a contract this week with Carl McCaslin Lumber Co. for the construction of a 25x80 foot building to be constructed on the vacant lot adjoining the Pastime Club on Main Street at a cost of $12,000. The Friona Star will get a new home sometime in the near future with the construction of a new building across the street from the Regal Theatre. (A more detailed story on this is found elsewhere on this page.)

As part of the Vestal-Brewer Hardware Co. quitting business, Joe Brummett is building a TV and radio and appliance repair shop on Highway 60 where he will continue his repair business as a separate operation.

Loyde Brewer, co-owner of the Hardware company, will campaign this year for the office of county judge for Parmer County.

Allen's Jewelry will occupy a modern brick-concrete structure with central heating and air conditioning.

The store front will be of brick, concrete and glass with ample display space available.

New Section Foreman Here

W. E. Smith, formerly of Conrad, Okla., took over duties as section foreman for the Santa Fe here Monday. Smith and his wife, who are the parents of Mrs. Allen Stewart, are staying with the Stewarts at this present.

Smith is a long-time employee of Santa Fe and was at one time section foreman at Black. Mr. and Mrs. Smith own two houses here, but both of them are rented and their plans for a home are indefinite at this time.

FRIONA CO-OP ELECTS OFFICERS

A record-breaking crowd jammed the top floor of the American Legion Hall in downtown Friona Saturday afternoon as 127 members of the Friona Consumer's Cooperative met for the election of officers and their annual meeting.

As members passed into the room they were handed their dividend checks ranging in value from two cents to $300.

In the balloting for two members for the Co-op's board of directors, members gave the nod for O. B. Moyer and Bruce Parr to join the governing body of the organization.

Cordie Potts, chairman of the nominating committee, read a list of six names for members to vote on. The six men in the running for the office included Gilbert Schueler, W. D. Buske, John Renner, O. B. Moyer, Carl Schlenker and Bruce Parr.

Schlenker requested that his name be withdrawn from the ballot due to other business which took his time. He said since he had already served for several years on the board, the last time as president, he felt that the office should be passed around.

Prior to the voting Tom Jones of Southern Farm Supply, Inc., made a short talk on the work of cooperatives and Bob Hanes gave the auditor's report of the company's business during the past year.

Members of the Friona Consumers were paid $8,869.92 in dividend checks this year. Raymond Euler won the first place door prize of $35; Mrs.

A. Hyde won second prize of $10, and R. H. Schueler won third prize of $5.

Members of the board during the coming year will include Moyer, Parr and holdover members Ernest Anthony, George Jones, and T. E. Lovett.

ALL DRESSED UP FOR EASTER—A group of youngsters in the Friona Elementary School posed for this shot Friday as the kids got ready for an Easter Egg hunt in the sandstorm. Undaunted by the yellow air outside the boys and girls were decked out in all their finery for the annual event.

Lions Club Minstrel Show Friday Night At 8

THE STAR'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

What Route Will Friona Take?

The rather drastic steps which members of the newly-elected city council outlined Monday night leaves a number of questions unanswered in the minds of the citizens.

First and foremost, is Friona able financially to pay the salary of a full-time city manager? By city manager we mean a fully qualified individual who will be needed to fill the job the councilmen are outlining.

Certainly this Solomon will land in a warm place, to say the least. This man will be held responsible for all the enforcement of the city's regulations, the city's administration and all the inspections formerly handled by another man.

Perhaps the council intends to find the answer to this question by answering another question.

What about enforcement of city ordinances and the present electrical, plumbing and building codes?

Instead of finding a person who is qualified to inspect all these codes perhaps they intend to throw all of them out the window.

We sincerely hope not.

Whether the entire citizenry of Friona realizes it or not we have a pretty nice place here. The city's administration may not have suited all of us all the time, but we feel that it is designed to look after the best interests of most of the people most of the time.

Friona has come a long way from a derailed railroad boxcar to a population of over three thousand.

Look around you and take inventory.

We have more paved streets in proportion to our size than many larger cities. We bet the city of Houston would like to have pavement half as good as we have here.

We have a city-maintained garbage and trash collection unit. How many towns this size offer this convenience?

Sure, we all gripe a lot and we all get mad at times—BUT will it pay us in the long run to get this mad? We wonder.

At present Friona lacks only one thing to become a city of tomorrow—water—and plenty of it. Let's not throw more stumbling blocks in the way.

We gripe about building codes, electrical codes, plumbing codes and other regulations.

Let's look at this side of it.

Is every one of you qualified to decide whether or not a home is plumbed or wired correctly?

If you owned a brick home, say three bedroom on a nice lot, the value would be close to $16,000. One day you look out of your picture window and what do you see going up next door—someone is building a pig sty!

"Whatnheck is going on here?" you scream.

Yes, you would holler, and holler loud for you know what would happen to the value of your home. It would be rock-bottom bound.

Regulations and inspections are meant to protect our citizens.

Certainly no man, however mad he was at the time, could ever accuse Roy Wilson of being the type to play favorites.

He is an honest, sincere man. He's capable of doing a hard job. We won't say he pleases everyone, none of us do. But put your personal gripes and stepped-on toes aside for a moment.

Don't you believe that the man is qualified for the job he now holds?

We all have our strange ways, and certainly Roy is no exception but in the long run he calls the shot the way the "book" says and that is about all you can ask for.

Call your friend on the city council and tell him your opinion.

If the council will hold its "axe" for six months we believe the members will change their minds.

Let's don't be too hasty, for a slip now will cost Friona dearly in years ahead.

Deniese Magness To Be Missionary

Deniese Magness, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Magness, has been appointed a summer missionary for the Baptist General Convention of Texas, leaders announced in Dallas last week. Miss Magness, a junior music major at Texas Tech in Lubbock, will teach Bible classes and work in vacation Bible schools in the northwestern United States during the summer months.

She is one of eighteen college students selected as summer missionaries by the Baptist General Convention of Texas student department. Six will go to Juarez, five to Hawaii, three to the northwestern area, two to the midwest, one to Arizona, and one to Colorado.

Vocal Group Enters Contests

Richard Bentz, director of the senior high girls' chorus, has announced that this group will compete in Interscholastic League Choral Contests in Canyon Monday or Tuesday of next week.

The chorus will compete in Class A. Other schools in the competition will be Farwell, White Deer, Memphis, Gruver, Smray, McLean, Clarendon, Stinnett, and Panhandle. Numbers the chorus will present include, "Dono Nobis Pacem," "The Lord Bless You and Keep You," and "Let us Break Bread Together."

Soloists from Friona High School who will enter the competition are Betty Agee, soprano; Luann Hardesty, soprano; Frankie Coffman, baritone; J. B. Douglas, bass; and Gerald Daniel, bass.

Members of the chorus who will make the trip to Canyon are: Betty Agee, Karen Bales,

Grade School Contests To Be Held Saturday

The Friona grade school band, girl's chorus, solos, and ensembles will compete in the Area Grade School Music Contest next Saturday, April 12, in Plainview. These groups are directed by Richard Bentz.

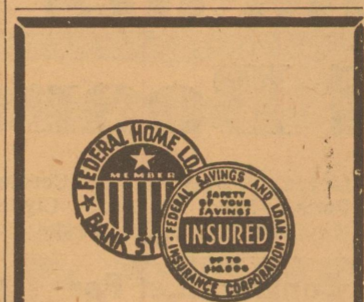

The 57-piece band, made up of 6th and 7th graders, will compete at approximately 12 noon, and will play "Here Comes the Parade March," "The Green Rushes of Rynnymede," and "Greensleeves."

The choir, competing at approximately 1:45 p. m. will sing "The Green Cathedral," "Beautiful Savior," and "Silver and Gold."

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hannold and daughter, Bennie Lynn, and Mrs. Vergel Brown returned Monday after spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Acton at Toyah.

Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lindeman and children were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Awtrey Jr. and children, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Sides and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Dave McReynolds and David. The afternoon was spent visiting and having an Easter egg hunt.

The marriage rate is still going up, which seems to indicate that this country is still the home of the brave.

Still on the sick list are Kathy Schueler and Sharon Martensen who both have the mumps.

Hugh Moseley of Farwell spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Moseley.

Roy V. Miller Jr. Gets Assignment

Roy V. Miller Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy V. Miller Sr. of Friona, has received an assignment to do graduate research work with Colorado State University's School of Forestry and the Colorado Agricultural Experiment Station.

Roy V. is currently working on his master's degree in range management. He is a 1949 graduate of Friona High School and was graduated from Texas Tech in Lubbock in 1953 with a degree in animal production. Following his graduation from Tech he did a four-year hitch in the U. S. Navy.

After his discharge from the Navy, Miller joined the staff of Colorado State at Fort Collins as a junior range conservationist. He has been given a special leave this quarter to do classwork on his degree program.

On December 15, 1954, he was married to Glenda Williams of Brady, Texas. In Fort Collins the Millers live at 1202 Remington with their five-month-old son, Dan Roy.

The mothers who helped with Easter egg hunts at school this year sure had a windy day of it, but no one seemed to be complaining. One observer said, "West Texas people never seem to think of postponing anything on account of the weather."

One of the prettiest displays of Easter finery we saw was hats and bow ties for some of the second grade pupils. They were made by some of the mothers and an Easter parade preceded their egg hunt Friday afternoon.

Our thanks this week go to everyone who called or came by to offer criticism about the PTA situation as it exists in Friona. By criticism, we do not mean to leave the impression that it was all derogatory. Much of it was constructive and that kind of criticism is always good.

Several parents and teachers met at the school auditorium Thursday afternoon to discuss the future of the organization here. Many who were interested were not present. It seems to be the general opinion that the purpose of the organization is being missed entirely.

Maybe if everyone who feels that way, and there are a great number who do, would attend a meeting and make an effort to cooperate with others who feel the same way, much good could be accomplished.

Those of us who attend the meetings and are making an effort to map out a program that will be more in line with the purpose of the organization would surely appreciate it if everyone who is interested would attend the next meeting.

It seems that we may have left the wrong impression with

News From LAZBUDDIE

By MRS. CLYDE MONK

Mike Oliver Hurt

Mike Oliver, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Oliver, is getting along nicely at his home after suffering a broken leg last week. Mrs. Oliver and Mike were in their pickup on their way home from the Willie Steinbock place when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Oliver reached over to put Mike's head in her lap when he became sleepy. When the truck pulled toward the bar ditch she stepped on the brakes suddenly, knocking Mike to the floor board. He hit a Coke bottle and broke the big bone in his leg between the ankle and knee.

To Arkansas

Mrs. Weldon Crim and small son, Greg, left Tuesday for Ft. Chaffee, Ark., to meet her husband, PFC Weldon Crim. This will be the first time the father had a chance to see his son. Weldon is scheduled to receive his discharge and return home with them. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Crim and Buck accompanied Mrs. Weldon Crim and they will return by the way of Cardill, Okla., and pick up Mrs. Buck Crim and Doyle who have been visiting her folks there.

HAVE GET-TOGETHER

A family get-together for the Gammon family was Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Daniels. Others enjoying the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. John Gammon, Johnny and Marianna, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Ivy, Shorty, and Christy, Mr. and Mrs. Garvin Thorn, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gammon and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Everett McBroom and Susan, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Briggs, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hutton and family from Portales, Mr. and Mrs. James Norton and son from Farwell, Mr. and Mrs. Billy John Thorn and children, Mr. and Mrs. Reece Wilterding and children, Tulia, Jim Roy Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. Varney Rammals, Mr. and Mrs. Will Gammon, and Robert Henry Ivy who was home on leave from his station in El Paso.

Midway Club Meets In Gulley Home

The Midway Home Demonstration Club met last Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Davis Gulley with the president, Mrs. Grace Young in charge.

Miss Jimmie Lou Waincott, county home demonstration agent, gave a program on civil defense, giving some timely thoughts on what to do in case of tornadoes or atomic bombs with precautions to take to help save lives. Committees were appointed. On health, committee members will urge all club members and their families to have their blood typed in case of emergencies, and to work further on the mosquito control in the community.

The education committee is to work on the idea of having a patrolman give drivers re-education to club members. An exhibit committee was selected to make plans for National Home Demonstration Week which is the first week of May. An all day meeting will be in Mrs. Gulley's home Tuesday, April 15. This will be a demonstration on making lamp shades and plans are to do some ceramic painting. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Lora Brown, Dee Brown, Dee Chitwood, J. B. Young, Elsie Forrester, Louella White, W. G. Harlan, A. E. Redwine, Gulley and Miss Waincott.

Class Has Party

The sophomore class enjoyed a party at the home of Donna Redwine last Tuesday evening. When they arrived at the Redwine home they immediately left on a scavenger hunt. Upon returning they played games and enjoyed refreshments.

Clays Entertain With Egg Hunt

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Clay treated the youngsters of the community to the second annual egg hunt Sunday afternoon. The Clays hid several hundred eggs and all ages took part in the hunt. Prize eggs were found by Margaret Wilson and Brent Hall with silver dollar prizes. Several other egg hunts were enjoyed in the afternoon. One in the Frio Draw is an annual affair for a group of neighbors.

METHODIST MEETING

A different speaker each evening was featured at a four-day meeting at the Lazbuddie Methodist Church this week. Speaker at the final service tonight (Thursday) will be H. B. Coggins of Abernathy. Others have been Eugene Matthews of Earth, Monday; D. L. Eggers of Dimmitt, Tuesday; H. F. Blaylock of Friona, Wednesday.

ACCIDENT AVERTED

A near accident occurred last Wednesday afternoon at the Hubert Elliott farm while work was being done on their "storm room." The side of the hole caved in with a tractor being driven by Noland Young from Dimmitt while Hubert, Ronald and Leonard Elliott with one other man were working below. Young jumped from the tractor and the others were able to get out of the way of the falling tractor, thus escaping injury.

RESURRECTION GREETINGS

After the resurrection Jesus showed Himself alive to His disciples for forty days, speaking to them the things pertaining to the "Kingdom of God." He also opened their understanding that they might understand the Scriptures and taught them that repentance and remission of sins should be preached IN HIS NAME among all nations (Luke 24:45-47).

The Church of Jesus Christ came into being on the DAY OF PENTECOST, forty-seven days after His resurrection. When this was noised abroad the people came to see what had happened. At first they thought the disciples of the Lord were drunk, but it proved otherwise (Acts 2:1-18).

Then, when Peter began to preach, the people cried out, "Men and brethren what shall we do? Then Peter said unto them, "REPENT, and BE BAPTIZED everyone of you IN THE NAME of Jesus Christ (what for?) for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." By obeying this command three thousand of them were added to the church that day (Acts 2:27-41).

Violet Louise Fish Weds Bill Morrison

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Fish of Junction City, Kans., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Violet Louise, to Richard Alan Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Morrison of South Plains. The Morrisons are former residents of Friona and Bovina and the groom is a 1956 graduate of Friona High School.

Wedding vows were exchanged in a candlelight ceremony at 7 p.m. at the Naval Chapel at Alameda, Calif., March 14. Chaplain William Walker read the ceremony.

The bride, wearing a waltz-length gown fashioned from white Alencon lace over satin with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt, was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Howard L. McDonald. She wore a crown of seed pearls holding a shroud-length veil and carried a sweetheart bouquet of white orchids framed with carnations.

Her other attendant was Mrs. Howard L. McDonald, her sister, who wore a gown styled identically to that of the bride in golden apricot silk taffeta. Her accessories and bouquet of carnations were in deeper shades of the same color.

Ronald Mount of Chicago, a friend of the groom, served as best man.

Mrs. Fish, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue silk shantung dress with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

A reception in the apartment of the couple at 461 Lagunitas Ave., Apt. 301, Oakland, Calif., followed the ceremony. For her wedding trip the bride chose a moss green silk shantung chemise with black accessories.

Morrison, who is serving in the U. S. Navy, is currently stationed at the Alameda Naval Air Station. He will leave there April 22 for Iwakuni, Japan, where he will be stationed until November.

Brookfields Host Family Gathering

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brookfield were hosts to a get-together of the Griffith family Sunday. Mrs. H. A. Ritchey, who is Brookfield's mother, was also present.

Other guests were Mrs. P. B. Griffith and Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Foister Rector and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Adams, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Oldham, Jackie, Jimmie and Darrell;

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rector, Romalee and Chuck, and Mr. and Mrs. Willard May, Kenneth, David, and Teena from Hereford. Afternoon visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rector and Gary.

Rectors Return

Mr. and Mrs. Foister Rector and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Rector and Ricky returned Thursday after a ten day trip. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Rector at Tucson, Ariz., and Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Elliott and family at Cortez, Colo. Sightseeing tours they took included the Petrified Forest, Grand Canyon, and the Painted Desert.

Troop 229 Has Skating Party

Members of Girl Scout Troop 229 invited guests to a skating party Monday afternoon. The two leaders, Billie Long and Virginia Jennings, and two mothers, Pat Woodley and Jewell Wells, accompanied the group to the skating rink.

Guests were Carol Struve, Kathy Bandy, Dolores and Judy Phipps, Dixie Chitwood, Jeanne Taylor, Glenda McClellan, Eldon and Tommie Long, and Joan and Ricky Jennings.

Girl Scouts attending were Shirley Phipps, Sheryl Long, Sherry Woodley, Annette Jennings, Kay McBroom, Lynn Wilson, Jan Wells, Sheron Englund, Natalie Maruffo, and Jonelle Wood.

Refreshments were served by Pat Woodley and Jewell Wells.

Dixons Host Aggie Party

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dixon entertained several students and ex-students of Texas A&M College in their home Friday evening. After an evening of visiting and games, refreshments of cake and hot chocolate were served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Hurst, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. Dave McReynolds, Jim Dixon, Jane Collier, Gerald Floyd and Elizabeth Worley all of Friona and Mr. and Mrs. Leland Boyd of Bovina.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Floyd, Gerald, Geneva, Frieda, and Susan were weekend visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McCown at Erick, Okla. The McCowns are Mrs. Floyd's parents.

Study Club Has April Fool Program

The April first meeting of the Modern Study Club was built around the theme Pot Luck—Fun For All. The quotation used was "Happiness adds and multiplies as you divide it with others." Hostesses were Carmaleet Trituit and Eva Miller.

Arrangements of spring flowers carried out the April Fool theme of the program. Juanita Dickson and Grace Whitefield directed a game session. Guests were Mrs. Ed Lovnick and daughter, Mai Lynn, of Dallas, Gladys Tidenburg of Clovis, and Mary Kate Zeman.

There were also twenty club members present.

Mays Return Late Monday

Mr. and Mrs. Hardy May and Arlin returned late Monday after spending a long weekend at Carlsbad, El Paso, and Juarez. The trio toured Carlsbad Caverns Saturday morning then drove to El Paso.

They visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schock and family and Mr. and Mrs. Smith Treadwell Jr. and family. Mrs. Schock is May's sister, and Mrs. Treadwell is Mrs. May's niece.

Included in their tour of Juarez was a bull fight. When asked for her impression of Mexico's national sport, Mrs. May replied, "I had always wanted to see one and am glad we went, but sure don't care to see another one. They are gruesome and cruel looking to me."

Mekka Circle Continues Study

The Mekka circle of the WSCS met in the Mekka room of the Methodist annex Tuesday morning. Faye Reeve is conducting a study of the book "Christ, The Church, The Race." Ora Mae Anthony reviewed "Sense and Nonsense About Race."

The group participated in a litany entitled, "No One Asked." Eula Akens was the hostess. Present, besides those on the program and the hostess, were Dorothy Ellis, Addie Moyer, Elsie Blaylock, and Kay Kendrick;

Also, Irene McFarland, Louise Roberson, Lucy Faye Cocanougher, Evelyn Anthony, Ora Mae Anthony, and Valoris Osborn.

Meets at Parsonage

The regular meeting of the Congregational Women's Fellowship was Wednesday afternoon at the parsonage. A guest performer on the program was Phyllis Treider, who presented three flute solos. The devotional entitled "What Evil Hath He Done?" was presented by Marie McKee.

The dedication of the women's gift was presented by Malinda Schlenker assisted by Phyllis Treider. Those present were Wilma Wise, Ethel Reeve, Alice Dean, Marie McKee, Edith Lillard, Malinda Schlenker, Grace Whitefield, Luella Maurer, Lillie Taylor, Viola Treider, Ann Shackelford and Phyllis Treider.

YWA Fetes Marie White

The YWA of the First Baptist Church in Friona honored Marie White with a White Bible Service and surprise lingerie shower in the home of Lila Gay and Phila May Buske at 6 p.m. Monday. The serving table was covered with a white hand-crocheted table cloth over blue.

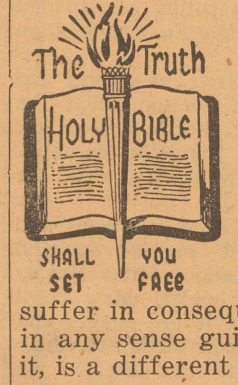

The centerpiece was of white and blue carnations and the hostesses presented the honoree a corsage made up of a blue garter surrounded by white carnations.

Others present were Betty Agee, Raye Jene Jones, Joy Crow, Johnnie Tomlin, Eva Nell Thomas, Luann Hardesty, and Helen Hamilton.

In Mingus Home

Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mingus and children were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mingus of Happy, Mr. and Mrs. John Allen Jr. of Vermejo Park, N. M., and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Mingus and daughters, Glenda and Vicky;

Also Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Mingus and Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Agee and children, Karen, Dean, and Krystal Kay.

HEREDITARY DEPRAVITY

It is claimed that our natures are not only made totally corrupt by Adam's sin, but that the GUILT of it was imputed to all his descendants. This is indeed a fatal mistake growing out of a failure to discriminate between guilt and consequences. It is certainly true that we suffer in consequence of Adam's sin, but that we are in any sense guilty of it, or morally accountable for it, is a different thing.

To suffer the consequences of an act is one thing, but to be held guilty of it, by inheritance or otherwise, is quite a different thing. A man, for illustration, may own an estate sufficient to abundantly supply the wants of his family for life, but, by gambling, he may have it all swept away from him in a single day; his wife and children may be reduced to poverty and want by his wickedness, and thus made to keenly feel the consequences of his act, but surely no one would regard them guilty in consequence of this misfortune.

So we suffer death as a consequence of Adam's sin, but this does not prove we are guilty of or responsible for it. If we are guilty of or responsible for his first sin, why are we not accountable for all other sins committed by him?

And if we are responsible for and guilty of Adam's sin, are we not equally guilty of all the sins committed by all our forefathers. If not, why not? "INHERITED SIN" IS A FALSE DOCTRINE.

You Get Good Traction with PHILLIPS 66 FARM SERVICE TIRES

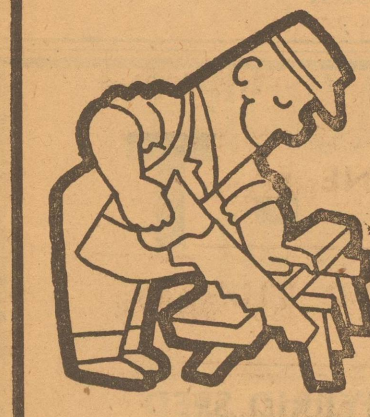

The more traction you get from your rear tractor tires, the quicker and easier your work gets done. That saves you both time and money! You start making this double saving when you put husky Phillips 66 tires to work on your tractor. Their open Center Flex-Action Tread grips firmly and cleans the tires as they roll. Phillips' deep, tapered "Pyramid-Type" bars won't pull off or loosen. They're paired for steady, continuous pull. Result: Fast, easy field work. Get ahead with Phillips!

FRONT TRACTOR TIRE
In the field or on the road Phillips 66 front tractor tires steer easily and wear long. Reason? High center rib. Double side ribs help them hug the furrow and aid in pulling out of it.

IMPLEMENT TIRE
Cushions equipment, load, and operator. Thick tread gives long service. Deep-grooved ribs fight slippage, let implements roll easily. You save time and fuel! Ideal for all free-rolling wheels.

2 Bale Per Acre Cotton Using Phillips 66 Ammonia

J. F. Martin, who farms 1,720 acres near Hereford, Tex., says: "I put down Phillips 66 ammonia pre-plant on my irrigated cotton and made 2 bales to the acre. I also use Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia on my wheat and maize land with good results."

Other Southwestern farmers have discovered that 82% nitrogen from top quality Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia helps them get more profit per acre through higher yields. They get more cotton that classes higher at the gin . . . yields of sorghum grain and ensilage are increased . . . more marketable vegetables are harvested . . . and profits on wheat are increased through better forage and higher yields of grain.

Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia contains 82% nitrogen and gives you more nitrogen per dollar than any other form of commercial fertilizer available.

Know What You Need when Picking Sorghum Variety

Planting time is not too far away for Parmer County area grain sorghum producers, and most of them are ordering their planting seed now, or at least considering what variety they'll be putting their money on this year.

County Agent Joe Jones believes that picking varieties is an important choice, and that certain things need to be kept in mind by the farmer.

"When selecting your grain sorghum varieties for 1958 you need to have in mind what you expect, and then select the variety most likely to do the job," he says.

"If you plan to use a Texas hybrid, and have the soil and water to produce 6,000 pounds, you had probably better select 660, 620, or 650. These varieties are more likely to give you the high yields under ideal conditions than are other Texas hybrids."

In the case of dryland, Jones says the best Texas hybrid has proven to be R. S. 610. That one has about the same maturity date as Martin's, but has out-produced the standard under most all conditions. R. S. 610 can also serve as an irrigated hybrid and will top out at about 5,000 pounds.

Texas 620 is the pick for adverse conditions, says the agent. R. S. 630, the only white seeded Texas hybrid, has performed well where it has been grown. It apparently has about the same yield potential as R. S. 610 but has not been tested as extensively, says Jones. Texas 601 is another variety that has performed well on dryland.

"DeKalb varieties likely to give you the best high yields under more ideal conditions are F62A and E56A," says Jones. "These two varieties performed well here last year and should again this year. Also, C44A, E56A, and F62A have all performed satisfactorily under dryland conditions over Texas."

The county agent points out that many farmers still plan to use the standard varieties and these should also be selected to do the job desired. As a general rule, both hybrids and standards that require longer periods to produce, also produce the greater yields. Generally speaking, hybrids require more fertilizer and at least one extra watering.

"Much of the grain sorghum in this area has been planted too early in the past for best weed control, yields, and efficient use of water," points out Jones. Any of the varieties grown should mature from a May 15 planting, and most can be seeded in late May and early June. "This will give a chance at a cleaner crop than the early plantings where germination is slow and weeds and grain sorghum come up together."

The county agent notes that seeding two rows to the lister ridge has increased yields with little extra trouble in most cases. "If this practice is to be followed, be sure to keep the seeding rate per acre down to the same rate or near what you would use if you were seeding one row to the lister ridge," he suggests.

County Agent Jones says that many farmers have doubled the seed where this practice has been followed and have defeated the purpose of better plant spacing that two rows to a ridge can offer.

A farmer's barn had burned down and the agent from the insurance company arrived to discuss the claim. Explaining the policy that covered the structure, he told the farmer that his firm would build another barn of similar size instead of paying the claim in cash. The farmer was furious. "If that's the way your company does business," he exploded, "you can just cancel the insurance policy on my wife!"

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

The House Appropriations Committee cut $2.3 million from American Farm Bureau's request for Agricultural Research. FB requested an increase of $25 million. National, State and County FBs are writing congressmen and committee members to get this and other budget appropriations corrected. Some were increased more than Farm Bureau recommended, and some less. The only appropriation that was in line with Farm Bureau recommendations was the one for REA and RTA as well as FHA.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White says Texas needs further warehouse acts to insure the presence of commodities in warehouses other than grain warehouses. You will remember that in November of 1952, Parmer County Farm Bureau members sent a resolution to the convention that became Texas law, called The Texas Warehouse Act in the 1953 session of the legislature. The resolution and law were inaugurated as a result of shortages of grain in area warehouses, resulting in tremendous cash losses to patrons of those warehouses. The act provides that bonded grain warehouses must issue negotiable receipts for grains stored there.

John White also recently wrote to Jack Patterson, Farm Bureau vice-president, commending him on his article explaining the Texas Egg Law. He had read the item in Parmer County newspapers, he said. Patterson may have the letter published so that grocery men and egg-producing farmers will know the explanation of the law is officially right. The egg markets in Texas will improve as a result of the law, as soon as grocers and farmers understand it and resume trading as they did before. The thing that will help producers soon will be the absence of "bad eggs" formerly dumped from other states on our local markets.

Your president, Gilbert Kaitwasser, asks that you watch local Farm Bureau news items, and letters you may receive from your local FB closely for the next few months. There are many important state and national legislative subjects that should have your personal attention for a more secure future.

The Rhea Community Supper to benefit the hospital is postponed to April 18.

The irrigation well, lifeblood of High Plains farming, is a symbol of a prosperous agriculture. Parmer County area farmers have their share of wells like these, and more than their share of water to go with them. This week hundreds of wells roared into life as pre-planting irrigation began in earnest. Many farmers have switched from the open ditch method shown here to the less dramatic but much more efficient enclosed distribution system.

THE PARMER FARMER

by W. H. Graham Jr.

For a couple of days last week, it was almost "back to normal" on the Plains. The wind blew and the dirt flew. We almost felt good about it. The damp and dreary days had about gotten us down. A good old fashioned sandstorm was just what we needed. It was refreshing in its unique way.

The sandstorm was just Mother Nature's way of reminding us that we still live on the High Plains, and that in the spring we naturally must think of blowing dust, even though we have been having considerable moisture. It is amazing how fast the puddles can dry up and the dust start to roll.

A southwesterly wind blowing 50 miles an hour for 48 hours can dry up a veritable ocean. It certainly changed the picture rapidly.

Now that the irrigation wells are starting to pump again, we soon will be seeing and talking about our waste water problems. The most noticeable waste is that which is pumped off the land in the form of surplus water.

However, there are lots of ways to waste water other than over-irrigating and running it into the bar ditch at the end of the field. In fact, if you try to make an actual definition of "waste water," you find yourself up some blind alleys pretty fast.

From the moment that our irrigation water reaches the surface after it has been laboriously mined by our efficient modern pumps, waste begins. In the majority of cases, the water is conveyed to the field in open ditches.

The water is thus exposed to the hazards of evaporation and seepage. Then, as it is conveyed down the row, we find that a large part of the water irrigates soil having no plant roots; that is, the distribution of water to the plants themselves is still awaiting much improvement.

Also, consider the problem of uneven penetration. Quite often, the soil profile is wetted deeper than the roots can reclaim moisture on the upper end of the field where the water runs the longest, and inadequate penetration is obtained at the lower end, or where the water runs faster in some spots than others.

Again in the field, the water is exposed to evaporation by the combined effects of sun and wind, and, as is often the case on the High Plains, low readings of relative humidity.

All these things can cause our water to be "wasted" and we haven't even suggested surplus or "tail water" yet!

If it is agreed that all these losses need to be classified as waste of irrigation water, there is still another step that needs to be considered. What about the water that is pumped and invested in a crop that does not pay off?

If a farmer does not break even on his grain sorghum crop, is it fair to say that the water he has pumped on it is wasted? Or, to see the problem differently, take the case of the vegetable farmer, who may produce a beautiful crop but not be able to sell it. Is he guilty of wasting water?

These and other clarifications need to be determined upon in the mind of anyone who will go about charging others with "wasting" water. Furthermore, we need to remember that the water stored underground is of no value to man nor beast until it is brought to the surface.

There is no crime in using Nature's resources. The test of the morality of the act is conservancy, and the best possible economic use of these resources. Sometimes we fall far short of measuring up to the latter standards.

This explanation is not intended to convey our approval of the farmer who makes careless and senseless use of his water, pumping it into the ditch by the hour. We have always condemned such shortsightedness.

However, it is well to remember that the crime of wasting water can and is committed in the field as well as in the ditch.

Some time ago we became engaged with friends in a conversation regarding our ground water supplies, and their obvious limitations. We were asked if it might not be wise to endorse much more stringent legislation to govern the withdrawals from our resources.

At first, this seems to make sense. But upon further reflection, it really does not. We already have legislation that gives us a law with "teeth" in it to stop flagrant waste of water. We should—we must—use it to stop abuse.

But, beyond that, it becomes an almost impossible task for any assembly to legislate laws that take into consideration all the problems of such a complex and dynamic economic unit as the irrigated High Plains, where 40,000 irrigation wells throbb the very lifeblood into the veins of an outstandingly developed and prosperous agricultural section.

As we have said previously in this article, that water is meant to be USED—not hoarded. The thing we need to insure is wise use of the water, with a mind toward reasonable measures of conservation.

The answer to this problem lies not in the halls of congress, but in the minds of our irrigation farmers. It is essentially a problem needing the remedy of education instead of legislation.

We will attempt to develop this then further in succeeding columns, but one simple illustration will help prove our point this week.

We recently noticed a news article in the Portales paper where farmers find it impossible to clean out and service their wells. A permit is required to remove the pump and do the work. This is because such attention to the well might increase its rated capacity.

Imagine our own farmers being hamstrung by such legislation—not being able to service a well if trouble should occur in the middle of the irrigating season! This is but a minute item. But it is typical of the troubles that develop whenever legislation is attempted.

"My boy," said the millionaire, "when I was your age, I carried water for a gang of bricklayers."

"Gee, Dad, I'm mighty proud of you. If it hadn't been for your pluck and perseverance, I might have to do something like that myself."

"Would you mind repeating what you just said?" the psychiatrist asked his new patient.

"I said," boomed the man, "for some reason nobody seems to like me. Why don't you pay attention, you fathead?"

Plan Irrigation Of Your Wheat

Just a few short years ago most farmers regarded irrigating of High Plains wheat as an uneconomic practice. "It just won't pay," was the conclusion of many.

Today, however, there have been hundreds of instances which have proven that irrigating wheat can be a paying proposition, with some important "ifs." Foremost among those "ifs" is an understanding of the use wheat makes of the water that the farmer applies.

Farmers of the Parmer County area farm "mixed" lands. About two-thirds of the land is considered "tight." The remainder is loamy to sandy.

One of the biggest headaches of watering wheat on tight land is that it is hard to obtain adequate penetration of water. Tests have been run at the Amarillo Experiment Station that show that the average intake rate per hour is from .35 inch at the end of the first hour, down to .05 inch after 16 hours. Fertilizer also plays an important part in determining the results that may be obtained from irrigating wheat.

In the fall of 1955, a new irrigated wheat experiment was started at the Station. It had six moisture treatments and six fertilizer treatments superimposed on each moisture treatment.

The results of this experiment indicate that proper water management is essential in obtaining an economic response to nitrogen fertilizer. Without adequate soil moisture, little or no response to nitrogen can be expected.

The most efficient production per inch of water occurred at 80 to 120 pounds of nitrogen at a medium to fairly high moisture level. These same treatments resulted in less straw per bushel of grain, also.

The stage of growth where maintenance of adequate soil moisture is most critical is in the late boot—and early head—stages. This coincides with the peak water use period as, is shown in the accompanying illustration.

A response to nitrogen is characterized by more vigorous plant growth, especially in early spring. The additional vegetative growth probably accounts for the increased water use with higher nitrogen applications. Even though more water is used with high nitrogen rates, wheat was produced more efficiently with the addition of nitrogen.

In the fall when the wheat roots are relatively shallow, 61.6 percent of the soil moisture comes from the top foot of the soil. In the spring when the roots are deeper, 42.5 percent of the soil moisture comes from the top foot and 64.2 percent from the top two feet. This also can be noted in the accompanying illustration.

The water used by wheat during the various stages of growth will vary from year to year, depending on temperature, wind, relative humidity, and soil moisture. The climate in this area is fairly consistent and the water use can be expected to follow a pattern similar to the illustration.

Experiments have shown that either inadequate irrigation or over-irrigation results in low efficiency of water used in wheat production.

vesting operations are done in a way to keep crop residue on the surface to protect the soil. Where wheat is grown each year, more cutting or stirring of stubble is possible without serious harm. The period for seed bed preparation is shorter. Narrower sweeps, chisel-type implements, or even disk types in some instances, may be used.

When sorghums are grown separately or in rotation with wheat, the principles are the same. They involve the conservation of residues during the critical period to protect against wind, runoff, and splash erosion. The same practices help develop a soil condition that will take in moisture faster and keep it longer.

In growing sorghums if there is a high yield of stalks, as an irrigated land, it is safe to shred the stalks coarsely and truck them lightly into the soil with a disk. On dry lands, however, where yields are not so high, it is best to leave a high stubble during winter months. For sorghums in rows 24 to 42 inches apart, the usual minimum height recommended is 15 to 18 inches. With drilled sorghums, a height of 10 to 12 inches usually is enough. More residue than the minimum is better. Stalks and straw put organic matter in the soil, something sorely needed in all cultivated land.

The wise use of crop residues, including stubble mulching, takes top billing in any plan of operations in the Great Plains Conservation Program.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

For the protection of cultivated land against erosion by wind and water, nothing can take the place of continuous cover of dead or living plants, or both.

This is true regardless of location, rainfall, soil, or the kind of farming or ranching that goes on.

In the Plains country, however, the need for plant cover grows more important as conditions tend toward the dry side. At the same time getting good cover becomes a tougher job.

The job is two-sided: first, a crop must be grown that will yield good amounts of residues; second, the residues must be managed in a way that it will protect the soil until a new crop covers it.

Experience of farmers and ranchers and research work have taught us important lessons. We know that burning crop residues is one of the worst mistakes that can be made. And too much tillage wears out the residue and therefore should be held to a minimum.

Leaving stubble and other residues on the surface has proved especially valuable in the grain summer-fallow areas where 15 or 16 months usually pass between harvest and the planting of a new crop. One way of leaving such cover and disturbing the soil surface as little as possible is by using equipment having sweeps or blades 32 inches wide or wider.

This practice is known as stubble mulching. It is a year-round system. In it all tillage, planting, cultivating, and har-

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

From any West Texas homemaker's standpoint, days like Thursday should never follow days like Wednesday. Of course, all of us were glad we didn't have two windy days in a row. However, Thursday it was just too pretty outside for anyone to have to stay inside and clean up following a West Texas blow.

First in our series of recipes from the Mrs. America contest state winners this week is a cake recipe from Mrs. Robert A. Bream, who was Mrs. Illinois. She states that her children have a hard time choosing between frosted chocolate peppermint brownies and lemon spice layer cake. We are using the cake recipe.

Lemon Spice Layer Cake
 ¾ cup shortening
 2½ cups sifted flour
 1 cup sugar
 1 teaspoon baking powder
 1 teaspoon salt
 ¾ teaspoon baking soda
 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
 1 teaspoon ground cloves
 ¾ cup brown sugar
 1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
 3 eggs
 1 package lemon pie filling mix
 Cream shortening. Stir in flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda, and spices. Add brown sugar and sour milk. Stir until all flour is dampened and beat vigorously two minutes. Add eggs and beat two minutes longer.

Pour into two lightly greased and floured nine-inch round cake pans. Bake in moderate oven 30 to 35 minutes. Cool slightly and remove from pans. Prepare lemon pie filling according to package directions and spread between cake layers. Spread top and sides with your favorite fluffy white frosting.

Note: If layers slip when adding filling, hold together with toothpicks.

From Indiana comes Mrs. Carl Hemmer's favorite company dish as well as a treat for her husband and children. Baked Stuffed Pork Tenderloin
 4 cups dry bread cubes
 1 small onion, chopped
 1/8 teaspoon dried basil
 1/8 teaspoon dried savory
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/3 cup melted butter
 hot water
 1 pork tenderloin (about 3 lbs) or two smaller tenderloins split lengthwise almost through
 4 slices bacon
 Combine bread cubes, onion, seasonings, melted butter and enough hot water to moisten well. Spoon dressing between halves of tenderloin, fold together and fasten with skewers. Lay bacon slices across top. Set on a trivet in an uncovered roaster and bake in slow oven (375 degrees F) 1½ hours.

Remove tenderloin. Thicken broth with 1 tablespoon flour blended with ¼ cup water. Serve over meat. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Mrs. Iowa, who was Mrs. Shisho Nizzo enjoys keeping a well filled cookie jar for her two small daughters and their pals. Her favorite cookie recipe is for:

Chocolate Cookies
 1 cup butter or other shortening
 1½ cups sugar
 2 egg yolks
 ½ cup sour cream
 1 tablespoon vanilla extract
 3 squares (3 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, melted
 3½ cups sifted flour
 ½ teaspoon salt
 ½ teaspoon baking soda
 Cream shortening and sugar until fluffy. Add egg yolks, sour cream and vanilla. Blend well. Stir in melted chocolate. Sift together dry ingredients and add to batter, mixing thoroughly. Fill cookie press and press onto lightly greased cookie sheet, leaving about two inches between each cookie.

Bake in moderate oven about 8 to 10 minutes. This recipe makes about 10 dozen cookies.

If you as a homemaker get the feeling sometimes that you live in a very narrow world and nothing really interesting ever happens to you, you might like to tack this little motto up in a conspicuous place near where you work.

"The sunshine of life is made up of very little beams that are bright all the time." Maybe some of us get too involved in too many things to see the little beams in our homes, but if we take time to look they are always there.

Next week we will have cherry cottage pudding from Kansas, seafood gumbo from Louisiana, lobster and mushroom casserole from Maine, orange-glazed pork chops from Maryland, and chicken livers with gravy from Kansas.

Of her recipe for Buttermilk Hot Cakes, Mrs. George J. Bever of Idaho says, "This recipe, which has been handed down through my husband's family, makes especially tender and tasty hot cakes."

1 pint buttermilk
 1 egg
 1 tablespoon sugar
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon baking soda
 1 tablespoon hot water
 1 cup flour
 Combine buttermilk, egg, sugar, and salt. Dissolve soda in hot water. Add to buttermilk mixture, blend well and stir in flour. Batter will be consistency of thick cream. Makes 24 dollar size pancakes.

By the time you have money to burn, the fire has gone out.

To those who talk and talk This adage doth appeal; The steam that blows the whistle Will never turn a wheel.

"The Disaster Cellar" is the title of a recently released Texas Agricultural Extension Service publication. It covers in detail how to build a storm cellar and other items that should go into the overall planning. Copies are available from local extension agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station.

Because of their outstanding resistance to hydrochloric acid, alloys of nickel and molybdenum find widespread application in the chemical industry.

"Things are awful at our house. I have a fight with my husband every month."
 "Same way at our house, except that my husband gets paid every week."

Coastal Bermudagrass showed the greatest response in total forage yield as nitrogen was increased from 100 to 200 pounds per acre in a test with Common Bermudagrass, Angletongrass, Dallisgrass and Coastal Bermudagrass at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Angleton.

The sweet young thing was upset when her boyfriend didn't help her into his car.
 "Where's your chivalry?" she asked.
 "Didn't you notice?" said he. "I traded it in for an Oldsmobile."

The New Plains Cotton Guide
 Recommended By
Plains Cotton Growers Inc., Agricultural Experiment Station & Extension Service
CAN MAKE YOU MONEY WITH HIGHER QUALITY COTTON IN 1958
 Production practices govern quality and yield. Do your best to see that your land preparation is adequate. Check your soil fertility needs now so that maximum production of quality cotton will not be hampered by lack of nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium or organic matter. Sub soil moisture may be adequate — but check to be sure.
 Planting time is almost here. Optimum planting dates on the High Plains are May 5-20. Later planting usually results in lower quality. Before planting be sure the minimum soil temperature averages 60 degrees for 10 days at an 8-inch depth from the top of the bed. Use delinted, treated seed and check for germination. A uniform stand of approximately four stalks per foot in 40-inch rows is recommended. The method of harvest to be used should help determine the variety planted.
