No Experience Necessary? The Friona Star

Having noticed an ad which ran in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and the Amarillo Globe Times last week we again are set to wondering.

After last week, and a lot of thinking, we came to the conclusion that perhaps Friona would come up with a city manager who would have all the qualifications the new city fathers have said would be the type man they want in office.

We agree with them on that point. A man needs to have qualifications along engineering lines plus administration—but then we saw the ad.

Included in the ad was the phrase which said—"no experience necessary."

This we would like to talk about.

Perhaps it would be true 12 to 15 years ago that a man could come in and run the City of Friona's business without previous experience.

One man did.

But today it is a different story.

Today Friona is growing.

Our water system will be taxed to capacity this summer and additional water will be necessary before 1959.

Our administrative load is getting heavier each month with more people to serve.

These two departments are just examples of the marks of a growing city.

Would you like to know you had to walk down to the City Hall Monday morning and push the buttons that would make Friona run?

In our opinion it will be folly to hire a man who does not have at least a few of the known qualifications for the job at hand.

It will not be enough for a man just to be "willing."

He MUST be ABLE to handle the job.

We must think not of our personal differences in this question, but WHAT WILL HELP FRIONA THE MOST?

Friona will be aided by the hand of a man who has a working knowledge of city administration, tax laws, bond issues, water and sewer plant problems, street and paving problems, plus the ability to put this knowledge to work for all of us.

Let us ponder this question and hire a man who fills the bill FOR FRIONA.

We've often heard the phrase concerning other things that says, "Don't buy other people's problems." Well, Friona, we don't want to hire someone else's failures either.

said.
We got a new respect for roads in Parmer County this weekend too.
While trying to show off the country and the farmland to our daddy-in-law, we gave him a number of chances for exercise as it seemed that at every turn our Chevy was in a bar ditch.
Then to pour salt into open wounds we even got stuck in our own yard.
And I thought that blackland was muddy!
***
We have a new addition at our house, or rather we did the last time we looked.
In reply to our plea for a dog, Roy Wilson phoned and told us of a dog at the city pound which seemed to fit our description. After paying the $2.50 "bail" we took home a black dog... that's about the only description you can put on the parentage of the animal although there seems to have been a Cocker somewhere back down the line.

Anyhow the pooch promptly wormed its way into our household and by Sunday we wouldn't part with it.
We thought!
We went for a drive Sunday afternoon and left the pooch in the house as the weather wasn't fit for man or beast and upon returning found the dog didn't exactly cotton to being left alone in the house.
Three curtains were pulled down, two chairs overturned and just a general mess in every room.

About this time the pooch's stock fell pretty low with the spouse.
That afternoon we let the dog out to run and when supper time came—no dog.
It had run off.
We found it again and Monday off it went again.
By this time we'd tired of running over town looking for a stray pooch so now it is tied until it learns where home is. Such is a dog's life.

Friona Schools Have Accreditation Audit

Friona's schools underwent an accreditation audit by two members of the state commission for education last week. The two men spent one entire day inspecting the facilities, classrooms and records of the schools and came up with "very complimentary" remarks about the local schools. The only criticism offered was about the library facilities of the schools. Superintendent Dillie Kelley says that the present plans for new additions include the enlargement of the high school library and that the school will work closely with the TEA to better the local library standards during the coming year.

Widner Returns To United States

Mrs. Charles Wise received word last week that her son, James Widner, had landed at Norfolk, Va., after a seven-month tour of duty with the Armed Forces in Anartica. Widner, whose wife and baby daughter live at Brunswick, Ga., was assigned to a station in New Jersey. The Widners plan to visit Mr. and Mrs. Wise and other relatives and friends here about the first of next month.

The Griffiths were on vacation and Mrs. Lutz accompanied them to Eloy then returned with her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Robards and Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Parr went to Iowa Park Monday for funeral services for Mrs. S. L. Denny of that city. Mrs. Denny, who moved to that community to teach school, had been a member and active worker in the Methodist Church there for more than 60 years. Included in the survivors is a son, Elgin W. Denny, a former resident and land owner of this community. Mr. and Mrs. Elgin W. Denny visit friends here often and lived here several years during the 1940's.

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN!
TORNADO SAFETY RULES
"DO NOT PANIC"

To know what to do when a warning is received may mean the difference between life and death for your family!

- 1—WHAT TO DO:
Each family should have a definite pre-arranged plan of what to do and where to go should an emergency arise.
- 2—PROTECTIVE MEASURES:
There is only one universal protection against tornadoes—caves and underground excavations. When time permits, go to a tornado cellar which should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. It should be kept clean, free from water, gas and debris and preferably equipped with a pick and shovel.
- 3—IF YOU ARE IN OPEN COUNTRY:
1—Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually travel about 25 to 40 miles per hour and generally in a path no wider than 2 or 3 city blocks.
2—If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or hole.
- 4—IF IN A CITY OR TOWN:
1—Seek inside shelter, preferably in a steel reinforced building. STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS!
2—In homes: The southwest corner of the lowest floor or in the basement offers greatest safety. People living in brick or stone houses should seek other shelter, preferably in a storm cellar or the basement of a frame house. If time permits, electricity and fuel lines should be shut off. Windows on the north and east of the house may also be opened to help reduce damage to the building.
- 5—IF IN SCHOOLS:
1—In city areas: Especially if school building is of good steel reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on a lower floor. AVOID AUDITORIUMS AND GYMNASIUMS!
2—In rural districts—remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.
- 6—IF IN FACTORIES AND INDUSTRIAL PLANTS:
On receiving a tornado warning, a lookout should be posted to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for shutting off electricity circuits and fuel lines if the tornado approaches the plant. Workers should be moved to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.
- 7—DON'T PANIC:
Keep calm! It will not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are very slim. Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected.
- 8—KEEP INFORMED:
Keep tuned to your radio station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your individual request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to radio stations for dissemination to thousands in the critical area.

No. 3 of a Series—

Don and Jim Clements Carry on Joint Program

Don, a sophomore and Jim, a junior, are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clements of Friona and the only team of Friona Future Farmer brothers presently carrying on a joint project program.

The boys have an all-around set up which includes swine, beef cattle, poultry, for egg production and 40 acres grain sorghum crops.

The boys own one Hampshire boar and four brood sows—three of these are Hampshires and one is of mixed breed.

The market price for top hogs is of primary interest to Jim and Don since they are feeding out 23 pigs. They recently purchased two registered Landrace gilts to add to their swine herd.

The Clements brothers' FFA cattle feeding project includes five steers—four Herefords and one Angus. The feeder calves are in the feed lot on a ration the boys worked out in classroom work in Agriculture II. They plan to show the fat steers at the Spring Livestock Show.

Last year the boys fed out five calves, too. They realized a substantial profit when the animals were sold at the auction sale following the local Spring Show.

Don says, "The past weekend made us remember one year ago when the blizzard caught us in Amarillo. I hope we never make another 70-mile drive like the one getting back to Friona that night."

"I'll bet those old chickens with us that night wish the same," he laughingly added. The chickens were being used in the farm skill demonstration "Debeaking of Poultry." This was after Don and three boys enrolled in Ag I in Friona had won the state championship. They were appearing on Cotton John's TV show in Amarillo with their demonstration and were caught in the now-famous March '57 snow storm.

The Clements boys have added a small caged hen unit to their list of projects this year. "We have 40 acres of row crop," says Jim. "We hope for a much better yield this year due to the excellent moisture." Last year the boys planted Martin and DeKalb mls. The list of farm practices the Clements boys are credited with is quite impressive. It included farm level work, identification of grains and seeds, pruning trees and debeaking poultry. To show the speed Don and three of his classmates developed in debeaking poultry, J. T. Gee, FFA advisor, tells of

Final Rites Read For Mrs. Ida Roden

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Elizabeth Roden, 87, were conducted Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Friona Methodist Church with Rev. Hugh Blaylock, pastor, officiating. He was assisted by Rev. Fred Dean, pastor of the Union Congregational Church.

Mrs. Roden, a long-time resident of Friona, died at the Deaf Smith County Hospital at Hereford about 5 a. m. Saturday. Immediate survivors are J. R. Roden of Clovis and Ralph Roden of Friona.

Pallbearers were S. E. Beaton, G. B. Buske, Frank Spring, Cayson Jones, Bob Jones, and Henry Lewis. Burial was in Friona cemetery under the direction of Claborn Funeral Home.

Geneva Floyd and Marilyn Potts were weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Vaughan, Bill and Mary, of Carlsbad. They returned late Sunday.

News From
LAZBUDDIE

By MRS. CLYDE MONK

Pre-School Day
Set April 25

School officials have set Friday, April 25, as pre-school day. Parents are urged to bring the children that are starting school for the first time this fall.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. in the elementary school library with lunch being served at noon. Parents are also invited to eat with the children. Parents are asked to bring the child's birth certificate along with all health records that are available. This will help the school nurse in filling out her records. First grade teachers and the school nurse will be present during the registration. At least one parent is asked to be present with the child if possible.

Banquet Fetes
Juniors, Seniors

Plainview, Tex., Man Reports—

Improved Cotton and Sorghum
Yields With Phillips 66 Ammonia

Martin Schur, Plainview, Tex., says: "I farm 420 acres, and last year I ran 30,000 pounds of Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia through my rig. That shows how I depend on this fertilizer to give me high yields of cotton and maize. I put all my Phillips 66 ammonia down pre-plant, in order to get the job out of the way before the busy spring season."

Other Southwestern farmers have discovered that 82% nitrogen from top quality Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia helps them get more profit per acre through higher yields. They get more cotton that classes higher at the gin... yields of sorghum grain and ensilage are increased... more marketable vegetables are harvested... and profits on wheat are increased through higher yields of grain and extended grazing periods.

Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia contains 82% nitrogen and gives you more nitrogen per dollar than any other form of commercial fertilizer available.

FRIONA WITH JUNE

You have lost any article it would be a good idea to check with us. We just might have the very thing you are looking for. At present, we have two keys, a lady's watch, some bi-focal glasses, and one lady's shoe. The keys and watch were turned in to us recently and the other two items have been here a long time.

What is your favorite hobby? According to a national survey more people collect objects than do any other single thing. The variety of things which they collect is endless. The second hobby in popularity is growing things. This includes everything from cactus plants to tropical fish.

A lot of people collect stones and one such collector makes his hobby even more interesting by using a jar of adhesive, shells, twigs, pine cones, bits of glass and other odds and ends to fashion different objects out of his stones.

Of course, this would call for a good imagination. If you happen to enjoy collecting stones, you might like to look for just the one that would make a dog's body, duck's bill, or other life-like part of an animal or object. The article we read suggested that Elmer's Glue be used to hold the stones and other objects together.

Maybe it would be a good idea for the persons in charge of our next Maize Days celebration to plan for a hobby show. The people in and around Friona would surely have a lot of different things to display.

On several occasions in the past we have reprinted bits of humor and wisdom copied out of the Cheer, which is a monthly publication put out by E. C. Palmer & Co. of Dallas. It is one of the most appreciated little booklets that we get. One thing we especially like about it is a sentence right under the name on the inside. It reads, "Not copyrighted. If there is good here, we want to share it." A poem we especially like reads as follows:

Some fellows stay right in the rut
While others head the throng.
All men may be born equal but—
They don't stay that way long.
There is many a man with a gallant air,
Goes galloping to the fray;
But the valuable man is the man who's there
When the smoke has cleared away.
Some "don't get nuthin' out of life"
But when their whines begin,
We often remind them that they "don't put nothin' in."

We were somewhat disappointed with the number of voters in the recent school board election. It seemed that more should have been interested enough to cast a vote. Of course, there were some who were out of town, or unable to go to the polls. Then there was one couple that just plain forgot that the election was being held.

However, after reading some of the exchange newspapers that came to the office, we were real proud of Friona. In one town of comparable size there were three vacancies to be filled, six candidates, and less than 100 votes. Guess it always gives us some satisfaction to know that we are not at the bottom of the heap.

At the Tuesday evening meeting of the Modern Study Club a delegate's report was given by Mildred May. Since Mildred has a knack for writing poetry, she did her report in verse. The club reporter was kind enough to lend her copy of the report and we know everyone who enjoyed the last one of Mildred's poems we printed will enjoy this one, too.

CONVENTION REPORT—1958
For weeks we had planned for convention day, Lucille, Louisa, myself and Fay. Reports were written and the plans were laid. Our rooms secured and the rent was paid.

Now the snow came down like a wooly shroud
And the fog encroached a dark-some cloud.
I had made a trip to another state
But we hurried home, lest I be too late,

The weatherman said there was more ahead,
Which filled our heart with a fear and dread,
For we knew how sad was some others' fate,
When the roads were blocked, they were scared too late.

Now it seemed that Louisa was stymied so
With plaster and paint that she could not go,
And fate had another threat imposed
For poor Lucille became indisposed.

So Fay and I, with a cautious eye,
Just crossed our fingers and watched the sky.
After all, we knew, lest the storm should break,
It wasn't worth the risk we'd take.

Came the night before and the forecast—snow.
I became convinced that we should not go.
It was after dark, I unpacked my bags,
And back in the closet went my new glad rags.

But our Fay, who looked on the clearing sky,
Remade her plans that had gone awry—
Called me to say that Lunell and she—
They were going on—they were leaving me.

When the morning broke with a clear, cold dawn
I knew that Lunell and Fay were gone,
'Twas then that I felt like a first class heel,
And a coward too, so I called Lucille.

Lucille's condition, though somewhat improved,
Yet not so much but it still behooved
Her to stay at home, though not sick a-bed,
And she had to do as the doctor said.

Then it was that I really felt my worst
So I called and I talked to Winifred Hurst.
As we talked I found me a kindred soul,
We felt just alike, take it on the whole.

As we reasoned thus: "Would we be too late,
If we left right now?"—Well at any rate
With our minds made up in the greatest haste,
It was half past eleven, and no time to waste.

Well I grabbed my coat and I fetched my hat,
And I packed my bags in nothing flat.
And we left at once, not a mite too soon,
But were on the road at the stroke of noon.

How the road sped on 'neath our singing wheels!
While the sun shone warm on the snow-swept fields,
We arrived at three without incident
And straight to the Methodist Church we went.

For that's where reports from each club were read

So in through the door where the foyer led
Into separate rooms where each group was met,
You couldn't guess whom I saw, I bet.

Yes, I espied Fay through an opening small,
(But I might not have, had I not been tall)
So I slipped right in, the reports were done,
And I hoped so much that our own had won,

But the one Fay read was a mite too long
It was very good, just the length was wrong.
Mrs. Jones was sweet, she said "That's too bad,
'Would you try again?" And Fay read like mad.

But three minutes sharp was the limit set,
It could not be done to our own regret.
So the Jennie Jones from our section won,
Fay was not displeased—
They're from Perryton.

Now a Jennie-June is Fay's sister Sue
And Hadley and Fay used to teach there too.
So now after all, I was just like Fay
If we couldn't win I was glad 'twas they.

Then out to the car and a jolly bunch,
Away to a restaurant to get our lunch
For those hunger pangs we began to feel,
For Winifred and I had just skipped a meal.

We had learned by now, to our sweet surprise
Mary, too, had come with the girls—how nice.
Then we all went down where we scanned year books
And we searched them through for their worth and looks.

'Till the time rolled round for the Friendship Tea,
Then we purchased tickets, (there was naught for free).
All the regal ladies made a gala sight
With their charms and glitter, by the candlelight,

And the clothes were exactly what you'd think,
There were diamonds and orchids and lace and mink,

And those blossomed hats in the evening glow
Made a fleck of summer 'gainst the glistening snow.
Then about the time that the day grew dark
We went to a place that they called "Fair Park"

For the evening meal, served in banquet style,
We were entertained nearly all the while.
Introductions first—quite a list of guests,
I won't name them all, I don't think it's best.

"Family of the Year," who from Anton came,
(I'm ashamed to say, I forgot their name.)
Mrs. Lindsay there in presiding role
Was her charming self, and she brought the whole

Of her family. Once was the quiet disturbed,
"That's my grandchildren," she said, unperturbed.
On the stage now a choral group came out
All endowed with talent, there was no doubt,

They were entertaining in a different way
From the kind we hear almost every day.
All the girls wore yellow and the boys wore white,
But were iridescent in the changing light.

Mrs. Loma Harrison, who directed them
Led a novel medley. As a closing hymn
Sang America, and we all joined in.

(They were called The Frank Phillips College Plainsmen.)
Then the lights grew dim and we could not see
While they formed the Statue of Liberty.

Now the lights grew bright and the music swelled,
An impressive tableaux our eyes beheld,
As we sang, thanked God for our land so free
While we viewed their symbol of liberty.

Mr. Gaston Foote made a fine address,
Entertained us some with his jokes and jest.
"But the only things worth our while," said he,
"Are the things which pertain to eternity."

And to prove his point, mentioned Lindbergh's flight,
Then he said "Do you know where he is tonight?"
That is what I thought, don't you see the years
Waft away one's fame as it does one's tears?

So worry not for the past, nor fret
For the things in life which you cannot get,
But place your faith on a higher goal
And forget vain glory for eternal soul."

Then we were dismissed, it was cold outside,
"Now for coffee girls," but I must confide
With the banquet o'er, (we would not be rude)
'Twasn't only coffee, brother we craved food!

So away we hied to an eating joint,
And the place was full, so you get the point,
For our sister clubs were already there,
Where we all indulged in a wholesome fare.

Then we spent the night in a nice motel
(We preferred that type to the large hotel).
The Awards Breakfast at the same Fair Parks,
We arrived on time, just as gay as larks.

It was half-past seven, we were hungry ma'am
For the scrambled eggs and a slice of ham
With a slice of toast and the coffee hot,
But the "wake up" songs they plumb forgot.

Style revue, by Vogue, was a style contest,
The scores were earned by the dress sewn best.
And when each girl modeled the dress she made,
There were only three, then they all displayed

Their accessories — one had made her hat,
And they told the cost of this and of that.
With the judging done and the choice released,
The one drew first that had cost the least.

Then awards were made, and I'm telling you,
There must have been a thousand—two
While we sat and sat as the time went by
I got so tired I could almost cry.

Out of all those giv'n we got very few,
Over-all report and Clubwoman too.
And of course of these we are justly proud
For we know wherewith that we are endowed.

Those divisions giv'n are by scads and ten,
To compete in each wasn't worth the win.
If we sent reports of the things we've done
We could haul them home by the quarter-ton.

But the tasks accomplished and the lives we live,
The things received and the things we give,
The pleasures shared, and the sorrows too,
Are awards supreme, to me and you.

All have brought forth fruit, some a hundred-fold

Which is better far than awards of gold,
So the things received and the things we've done
Cannot be judged by awards we've won.

Is it possible, in the nature of things, that sin can be transmitted from parent to child? In order to arrive at a satisfactory solution of this question, it may be well to ascertain what sin is; and this we can do with great certainty, for we have a definition of it given by inspiration. John says "sin is the transgression of the law." (I John 3:4) In the light of this definition, how is it possible that a transgression by one man may be transmitted to another, or from parent to child? God has said, "Thou shalt not kill." In violation of this law, a man thrusts a dagger to the heart of his neighbor. This is sin. Now this act, being the act of a father, cannot possibly become the act of his child; nor can the child be made responsible for it. He may approve the act and for this approval may receive merited punishment; but it was this wicked approval that brought guilt to him and not the act of the father. Without such approval, he may suffer in consequence of his father's act—may be made an orphan by it—but surely the act itself can not become his act. Sin is no place in the Bible defined to be a thing inherited, but a transgression or act committed by the guilty himself. "God is love," and can not punish man for that which he has no power to prevent.

Parmer County area farmers this year have been getting a good feel of their land. One of the simplest and best ways of determining soil moisture content is by "squeezing" it as is shown here. With a little practice, a farmer can make a pretty good guess of how much water is stored in his soil by noticing how the handful sticks together and its appearance and feel of wetness. Samples are taken from various depths in the field.

Rain Will Worsen Noxious Weeds

Spring is here and with the good supply of moisture, field bindweed and Johnsongrass will soon be making their spring push. "Plans for a program of prevention or eradication should be formulated and put into effect on every farm now," says County Agent Joe Jones.

In many instances this requires cooperation of the landlord and tenant, or a working agreement between neighbors for best results.

"At any rate, some effective plan should be started on all farms and other places where needed," believes the agent.

Control of noxious weeds has proven to be one of the most costly items of expense in old-irrigation areas. In a new area, such as this one, every effort should be made to eradicate noxious weeds before they get established and become widespread.

"The past five years much effective work has been carried out against field bindweed and Johnsongrass but Johnsongrass has remained on the increase even with the effort to eradicate it that has been made," points out Agent Jones.

Many new chemicals have been put on the market that effectively eradicate noxious weeds when properly applied. These may have to be used in connection with a summer fallow, small grain rotation where established weeds already exist.

Jones emphasizes: "The point is that noxious weed control is a necessity and plans for their eradication should be made."

Several publications are available through the agent's office. Some of them are, "Field Bindweed Control," "Spotting of Johnsongrass," "Control of Johnsongrass," and "Bindweed Control in the Texas Panhandle."

The ASC, State Highway Department, and county commissioners are cooperating in the bindweed program again in 1958.

For information on assistance available, see those concerned or the county agent.

off" bill for advertisement of meats. It is worse than the bill introduced last year that was defeated, because it does not even mention a maximum amount that can be withheld for each head of livestock marketed, nor does it require a proper accounting of the use of the money, whether it is political or otherwise.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

In the very near future most homemakers who make gardens will be busy planting vegetables. Much planning should be done so that a maximum quantity of vegetables can be grown with a minimum amount of space. Gardening experts suggest that we stagger the planting dates of different varieties of vegetables.

This gives us more time to can or freeze them when the flavor and quality is at the very best. In addition to this we have a longer time to serve them fresh.

Cherry Cottage Pudding is a favorite recipe of Mrs. Paul Potts, who was Mrs. Kansas in 1957. To make this pudding you need the following ingredients:

- 1/4 cup shortening
  - 1/4 cup sugar
  - 1 egg
  - 1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
  - 2 teaspoons baking powder
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 1 No. 2 can pitted sour cherries, drained
  - 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
  - 1/4 cup chopped walnuts
- Cream together shortening and sugar until fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Sift together dry ingredients and add alternately with milk, stirring just to blend. Fold in cherries, almond extract and walnuts. Pour into greased 8x8x2 inch pan.

Bake in moderate oven about 45 minutes. Cut in squares, serve with hot cherry sauce. To make the sauce: Combine 3/4 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch and 1 teaspoon salt. Gradually stir in cherry juice plus water to make one cup. Add one cup apple juice. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick.

Farm Housing Program Expanded

An expanded farm housing loan program, designed to speed up farm building construction improvement as well as act as an additional anti-recession measure, was announced today by Walter T. McKay, Farmers Home Administration state director, according to Billy R. Boling, the agency's county supervisor.

Now an owner of a farm in agricultural production, and on which the operator plans to produce at least $400 worth of farm commodities for sale or home use, may qualify for the four percent long-term housing loan provided that he meets other standard eligibility requirements.

Formerly, an eligible applicant had to own a farm that produced a more substantial part of the operator's annual cash income.

Loans may be made to build, improve, or repair farm houses or other essential farm buildings, and to provide water for farmstead and household use.

Boling says that in addition to financing major construction, the loan funds can help meet many other needs for farm and farm home modernization such as adding bathrooms, utility rooms, better kitchens, and many other improvements to the home as well as to farm service buildings.

While tenants and farm laborers are not eligible, the owner may borrow to do the construction work or make improvements for them.

The loans are made to farm owners who need credit to finance building improvements or repairs, but find that adequate credit is not available through banks or regular credit channels. The interest rate is four percent and loans may be amortized over periods up to 33 years.

Eligibility for loan assistance is determined by the three-member county Farmers Home Administration committee, and applications are now being accepted in FHA county offices.

selected Mrs. Kentucky, recommends chicken livers with beef gravy.

1 lb. fresh or frozen chicken livers

1 can (10% ozs.) beef gravy

1/4 cup water

Place chicken livers in 1-quart baking dish. Cover with blended beef gravy and water.

Bake in moderate oven 30 minutes. Serve atop fluffy white rice. Makes four servings.

This would be an ideal dish to serve at noon after the home-maker has spent an entire morning dressing chickens for the freezer or locker. Then, too, it would do away with a problem most of us face at such times. "What can I do with all these livers?" Of course, it would be very good for frozen livers, too.

The above recipe may be very simple for Louisiana home-makers, but it is somewhat confusing for one West Texas homemaker. It might help some to explain that in the word "file," there is an accent over the "e." In the list of ingredients gumbo isn't mentioned, but in the directions the two words are used together.

Perhaps there are some of our readers who are familiar with cooking seafood dishes and the "file gumbo powder" might possibly be on sale locally, but we have never observed any such item on our grocer's shelves.

Mrs. Louisiana, who is Mrs. William Kimbrell, chose as her favorite recipe a family recipe for a traditional Southern one-dish meal.

Seafood Gumbo

1 slice ham, 1/2 inch thick, diced

1/4 cup cooking oil

1 large onion, chopped

1 clove garlic

2 lbs. okra, finely diced

4 cups water

2 lbs. shrimp, shelled

1 can (6 1/2 ozs.) crab meat

2 bay leaves

2 tablespoons minced parsley

1/4 cup chopped tomatoes

Salt and pepper

1 1/2 doz. oysters

1 tablespoon file powder

Fry ham in oil until tender.

Add onion and garlic and saute.

Add okra and fry slowly until the mixture is dry, stirring to prevent burning. Add water, shrimp, crab meat, bay leaves, parsley, and tomatoes. Season to taste and simmer three hours.

Add oysters and gumbo file powder 15 minutes before serving. (Do not boil after adding file.) Serve over freshly cooked rice. Makes 8 servings.

If the peach crop materializes in our area, this one should make a hit with all of us.

Trachoma is an ancient eye disease infecting one-sixth of the world's population. Its victims range from poverty-stricken peasants to King Saud of Arabia. It is economically devastating as well as physically debilitating, costing hundreds of millions of work days a year.

Today modern miracle drugs are effecting cure at a cost of less than one dollar per patient. The germ, which still infects 400,000,000 people, has caused blindness or permanent impairment of vision since the stone age. In the last five years, however, organized health programs aided by the World Health Organization and UNICEF have made inroads on its virulence.

Unless something happens to fruit in the eastern part of the Panhandle and Western Oklahoma, we will all have access to all the plums and peaches we can eat, can, or freeze this summer. The peaches and plums in the vicinity of Shamrock, McLean, Texalo, Erick, Hollis, Wellington, and Memphis were heavily loaded with blossoms last weekend.

The sandhill plums along the river and creek beds were blooming profusely, too. By fall we should all have our pantry shelves well filled with plum jelly, butter, and preserves.

Looks like we are going to have another week for the Lobster and Mushroom Casserole and Orange-Glazed Pork Chop recipes we promised for this week. In addition to them, we plan to have Baked Spareribs in Barbecue Sauce from Massachusetts, and Spiced Peach Salad from Michigan.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

There will be a more highly organized force than ever before among city people and non-farm businessmen in Austin for the legislative session of January, 1959, seeking to get legislation passed that would provide for election of county commissioners on a population basis rather than the present geographical basis.

This legislation, if passed, would take the last vestige of representation the rural people of Texas have, regarding spending for farm-to-market roads, and many other things vital to them. This legislation would have passed in the last legislative session without the continued and concerted efforts of Texas Farm Bureau and affiliated counties.

Your directors advise that when you have opportunity to talk with your representative or senator, you voice your opposition to this move that will be strong in 1959.

Allen Webb, a Dimmitt farmer and former president of Castro County Farm Bureau, is now a member of the state ASC committee. He is the first representative on the committee from this area.

Gilbert Kaltwasser and other Farm Bureau members are sending letters to congressmen and senators urging adoption of the Farm Bureau "New Look Farm Program" proposal. It is a program that leaders of county, state and national Farm Bureau believe will give farmers a new lease of freedom of operation that will lead to a better net income than they have known for many years. There is a good chance, it is believed, that the program will be adopted without too much change from the recommendations.

We would urge every livestock producer to write his opposition to the new "check-
