Cisco Lays Plans for Huge Celebration

OLD HOME TOWN

The Lake Cisco zoo has a new addition. He is a big black bear from Canton, O., where he was purchased by the Cisco chamber of commerce. The bear is six years old and beautiful, and makes interesting addition to the zoo. Animals are to be added here to time with the excitement of making the Cisco zoo great for a city this size, keeping it in proportion to other projects at the

A letter received Thursday by the Cisco chamber of commerce announced establishment of an office of the Paramount News, a motion picture news reel filming company, at Dallas, and requesting information of any big news events at Cisco so that a cameraman can be sent here to take pictures of the event. The chamber of commerce replied with the request that the company send a cameraman here July 22 to take pictures of the Lake Cisco celebration. Fox News and Pathe News both are expected to send cameramen here for the event, and the three should be able to give Cisco publicity in a majority of the theatres throughout the country.

Corpus Rancher Faces Conviction

CORPUS CHRISTI, June 30.—Charles L. King, well known ranchman, is under five year suspended sentence on a charge of killing Neof Martinez, Mexican. King based his defense on the claim that Martinez made an attempt on his life.

Train Severs Legs of Man at Eastland

EASTLAND, June 30.—Dewey Gage, 26, was found badly mangled on the Texas Pacific right of way in the western portion of Eastland at an early hour Wednesday morning. He was taken to a local sanitarium where physicians found it necessary to amputate both legs below the knees. He is in a critical condition. Carl Swearingen, who lives near the place where Gage was found, heard some one moaning at 2 o'clock in the morning and upon investigation found Gage lying near the railroad track. A west-bound freight train had just passed. Gage told Swearingen that his mother and brother lived at Fort Worth.

CAMPMENT AT CISCO TO BE DISCUSSED

J. M. Rieger of Breckenridge, chairman of a committee to arrange for an annual encampment of the Christian denomination in West Texas, is strongly impressed with the possibilities offered for such an encampment at Lake Cisco. He has written the chamber of commerce here after a thorough inspection of the available sites. So impressed was Mr. Rieger with what he found here, he is now sending out letters to pastors throughout the district, as well as influential laymen, asking them to come to Cisco next Tuesday, July 5, to inspect the site and take definite action. The visitors will go to the lake at 8 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and at 5 p. m. will be guests of the chamber of commerce for a dinner at

C-C HEADS HEAR ABOUT IT TONIGHT

Decision to make the Lake Cisco celebration here July 22 the greatest in the history of Cisco was made Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of a committee headed by A. D. Anderson, general chairman for the event. The program for the day was discussed in general, and while all action taken was only tentative, headway was made in arranging for the event. Recommendations will be made tonight to a meeting of the board of directors of the organization which will determine how the event is to be financed.

Tentative plans as decided Wednesday afternoon called for sending special invitations to many men of prominence in Texas, asking them to attend and inviting them to make brief addresses. The governor has already accepted such an invitation, and other officials high in Texas public life are expected to accept. An effort will be made to have the governor of Arkansas attend the celebration, along with the governor of Texas.

Aside from the speaking and the dedication ceremonies, it is planned to have something of interest going on from 10 a. m. until far into the night. Water sports will be featured, including a boat race on the lake, and swimming and diving contests at the Lake Cisco Bathing beach. An effort will be made to have a hydroplane land on the lake, being the first to use the lake for this purpose. A bathing revue expected to far outrank any of those of the past, for which Cisco has become widely known, is scheduled for the evening, with an invitation dance to be given at the Country club and a public dance at the Lake Cisco pavilion. Committees to carry out various features of the event are now being organized, with others to look after such details as transportation, securing special railroad rates, inviting guests, arranging the program, decorations, etc.

The magnate is being asked to accompany Lindbergh to Cisco and participate in the event here. WORD SCHOOL SETS SEPT. 13 FOR ITS FAIR

September 13 was set as the date for the Word community fair at a meeting held at the Word school Wednesday night. The action followed a program over which O. P. Weiser presided. L. Kelley of Cisco high school sang to guitar accompaniment.

E. H. Varney gave a talk on "Bugs," J. E. T. Peters spoke on "Cisco's Co-operation," after which County Agents J. C. Patterson and Ruth Ramey discussed plans for the fair, and went into details regarding the catalog and other arrangements. Rev. G. A. Obenhaus and John Thurman, also spoke, after which the organization for the fair was set up.

CISCO WOMAN BADLY HURT BY OWN CAR

Mrs. Hubert Watts, 507 West Sixth street, was seriously injured at noon Thursday when she was run over by an automobile driven by her own son, Buck, a short distance south of town on the Rising Star highway. She was rushed to Graham sanitarium where emergency examination revealed she was suffering from a bad scalp wound and probably several broken bones. She was suffering so extremely from shock, however, that no thorough examination was possible and it was indicated it would be some time before her exact condition could be ascertained.

Mrs. Watts had started with her husband, an oil well driller, to the fields, when she decided to get out of her car and enter that driven by her son, Buck, 15 years of age. Brakes on the second car failed to hold and the car ran into and over her as she alighted from the first car.

His most recent act being the putting up of a $25,000 prize for the first to fly from Hong Kong to Dallas. He is to be asked to be the first to land on the lake in a hydroplane here, if possible, and the first to land on the lake.

Mrs. Moody Asked to Have Governor Act as Judge of Cisco Bathing Girl Revue Here July 22; May Come, Too

Mrs. Dan Moody, wife of the governor of Texas as "lieutenant governor" has been asked to use her good offices to have the governor act as one of the judges for the bathing revue which will climax the celebration here July 22, marking the dedication of the Lake Cisco projects. The following letter has been sent Mrs. Moody at the governor's mansion in Austin:

June 29, 1927.

Mrs. Dan Moody, Governor's Mansion, Austin, Texas.

Dear Mrs. Moody:—With your husband out of the state and Barry Miller acting as governor, the office of lieutenant governor would be vacant except for the fact that we believe you can and are filling that position. That being the case, our committee have authorized me to ask you if you will use your good offices toward having Governor Moody act in that capacity.

Hoping to secure your friendly cooperation, I am,

COUNTY BAR ASSOCIATION FAVORS CHANGE

The Eastland County Bar association, at its meeting last Saturday afternoon in Eastland, went on record as endorsing the proposed amendments to the constitution of the state to be voted on August 1, making changes in the judiciary system of Texas. The changes proposed are as follows:

1. The supreme court to consist of nine judges instead of three.
2. One additional qualification for district judges, judges of the court of civil appeals, the court of criminal appeals and the supreme court, namely: Any such judge shall have license to practice law.
3. Abolition of the commission of appeals.
4. It empowers the legislature to provide for district appeals from county and district courts to the supreme court in any case where a statute of the state is declared void.
5. The supreme court, court of criminal appeals and the court of civil appeals to be open at all times instead of (as to supreme court and court of criminal appeals) from first Monday in October to last Saturday in June.
6. It empowers the legislature to increase membership of court of criminal appeals from three to five judges.
7. It restricts the number of courts of civil appeals to twelve and total number of judges to thirty-six, each court to consist of a minimum of three judges.
8. It empowers the supreme court or the chief justice thereof to assign any district judge to any other district than that for which he is elected and to exercise all the powers of a resident judge under the regulations as may be prescribed by the supreme court in the absence of regulations enacted by the legislature.

The resolutions as passed follow:

Whereas, The state legislature by proper joint resolution has submitted a number of proposed amendments to the constitution to be voted on August 1, 1927, including one amendment providing important changes affecting the judiciary of the state; and

Whereas, The voters in the several communities of the state may be expected to form their judgments respecting the wisdom of the proposed changes in our system of courts and procedure based, to a large extent, upon information from and opinions of their lawyer friends;

Now therefore, Be it resolved by the Eastland County Bar:

That it is the sense of the Eastland County Bar that the principal changes in our system of courts and procedure proposed in the amendment to be voted on August 1, 1927, are conservative and wise and are imperatively needed to expedite the final disposition of litigation in this state and it is further the position of the bar as a whole that minor provisions in the proposed changes con-

COTTON FLEA HOPPER HURTS COUNTY CROP

A number of reports have indicated that the cotton flea hopper is present in large numbers in some fields around Cisco. These small pale green insects often do quite a lot of damage when they are present in large numbers. They are pale green in color and about 1-8 inch in length. When a cotton field is infested they are usually very easily found on goat weeds, horse mint, or other weeds around the fence rows. The principal symptoms of the injury are an excessive blasting and shedding of very small squares, a reduction in the number of fruiting branches, and a tall, whip like growth of the main stems of the plant.

The following recommendations for controlling the flea hopper are given out by the Texas Agricultural Experiment station:

1. Sulphur applied as a dust is an effective insecticide for controlling the cotton flea hopper. Best results are obtained when applications are started early before squaring begins.
2. The finer grades of sulphur are best adapted for dusting purposes.
3. The cheapest and most efficient method of applying sulphur to plants is by means of good types of dusting machines.
4. From 12 to 15 pounds of sulphur per acre for each application gives effective control.
5. Early applications of sulphur are the most effective since the young insects or nymphs are more susceptible to the effects of sulphur and adults are not generally killed by the dust.
6. The proper time to begin dusting depends upon local conditions. Every effort should be made to control the infestation from the beginning.
7. Three or four applications at 7-day intervals in the early part of the season should give proper protection to the crop in its early stages.
8. Application may be made at any time during the day, preferably when there is no wind.

cerning which individual members of the bar may differ as to their merit are so far outweighed in importance by others concerning which there is no difference of opinion, as, for instance, the proposed reorganization of the supreme court to consist of nine judges and the proposed abolition of the commission of appeals now existing as a mere expedient to meet the obvious necessity of assisting the supreme court that without committing our individual members as favoring each and every change proposed if considered singly, we unhesitatingly recommend to the voters of Eastland county, since the amendment submitted must be adopted or rejected as a whole, the adoption of the amendment as submitted and earnestly urge all voters of Eastland county to support the amendment.

SPRULL SAYS HOME COUNTY BEST OF ALL

C. E. Sprull, of the Bedford community, has just returned from a trip to Corpus Christi and the coast county of Texas. He reports cotton prospects good, considering the fact that the rains came rather late, only starting some three weeks ago. The crop is beginning to open now, two or three bolts to the stalk. Picking will start soon, after being a little delayed on account of almost constant rains since their beginning. These rains are causing lots of mosquitos which are the most numerous in years, he added.

The city of Corpus Christi is on a building boom. Tremendous ship docks are being built, employing great numbers of laborers, who in turn are great assets to local business, he declared.

"I was told that almost every farmer supplemented his agricultural activities by dairying. Jersey cows being mostly used," said Mr. Sprull. "As an outlet for these products, the Misttotee Creamery has a plant there, which takes all the farmers have to offer in this line. This might be a good hint to our own county, a county-wide campaign that would awaken farmers to more good dairy cows, would also serve to call attention of creamery plants to this virgin territory.

Mr. Sprull reports cotton, corn and other feed crops fairly good all along his route, with few exceptions, and says there are a number of pretty towns along the way, but taken all in all, he is mightily well satisfied with Eastland county and her towns. He especially noticed that towns here are much cleaner and well cared for to more alive as to window displays, etc. No mosquitos and flies in Eastland county make it more healthful and consequently a much more pleasant place to live. He says a little trip now and then makes one more satisfied with his home county.

ALL HAWAII GIVES HONOR TO AMERICANS

HONOLULU, June 30.—With all Hawaii anxious to honor them, Lieut. Maitland and Hegenberger faced a social program today that may prove more wearing than their 26-hour flight from Oakland to Honolulu. Rosted and with their hunger appeased, the two airmen started this morning on a round of official calls. At 9 a. m. the flyers presented themselves to General Lewis, commander of the department of Hawaii. An hour later they officially greeted Admiral McDonald, naval station commander. The trans-Pacific birdmen then called on Governor Farrington of the Territory of Hawaii. At noon they will be honor guests at a community luncheon. Col. John H. Howard of the air service detail will give a dinner in honor of the flyers tonight.

The only other event thus far scheduled is a dinner dance at Royal Hawaiian hotel July 4. The public will be allowed to attend the Independence Day reception.

In keeping with their refusal to accept a newspaper offer of $12,000 for their personal stories, the two showed no eagerness to capitalize their 2400 mile jaunt. They are not eligible for the $25,000 prize, offered by James Dole, Hawaiian pineapple king, as competition for the prize will not begin until after August 12.

The cable company said the monoplane America was in communication with the Le Bourget field by radio through an English wireless station shortly after 1 o'clock, New York time.

That the intrepid flyers are experiencing thrills was indicated by a radio message received at Roosevelt field. The message, signed by Byrd, said that "Whatever happens" he would "take off his hat" to the three men who are with him. Advice from the European continent indicated Byrd will have to battle adverse conditions to the very end. Early this morning the America established wireless communication with Ireland. It was heard by the Malin Head station.

"They'll make it" was the consensus of opinion at Roosevelt field. The weather bureau said there was nothing so far as he could forecast that would give the flyers difficulty on the later stages of the flight.

INSECT ALLIES

Why is it that the European corn borer wreaks so much more havoc in this country than where it came from. For one thing, because there is more corn here. But that isn't the real answer. We never heard much of the borer in his native land because over there he was preyed on by a parasite that kept him small in numbers and humble in soul. That is usually the case with pests. There is nearly always some bug to prey beneficially on other bugs. Not that the corn borer is a bug, exactly, but the point is clear. It happens that the pioneer borers emigrating to America were mostly of hardier stock than the general run at home, as was the case with our human pioneers. Few of the destructive parasites accompanied them. So they got an uncommonly good start here. Now the government in its anti-borer war is bringing in reinforcements, and training and multiplying them in its laboratory at Arlington, Mass. Soon millions of hostile little bugs, shaped like fighting monoplane wings, will be unloosed against the army of corn borers sweeping across the country. In due time, then, it is expected that the boring will be brought under control. Here is exemplified a great advantage that man has in his war with insects, which some naturalists have feared would be won by the insects. Man has intelligence enough to find insect allies to slaughter other insects. The insects can't get much help from any of us against the rest of us.

THAT NEW FORD CAR

There is much talk of a new Ford car, markedly different in looks, power and equipment from the familiar flivver. Undoubtedly a new species is a borning in the Detroit plant. Henry Ford is no stand-patter, in spite of his inclination to protest against change and innovation. Twice at least within historic times he has made over his flivver, and the present state of the automobile industry argues that he will do so again, even if there were no persistent reports from Highland Park. What the change will be, nobody knows. All reports so far have been denied. But the one sure thing is that Henry Ford has something up his sleeve. And whatever it may be, it will probably be a sensation when he springs it. The thing for Ford to do, apparently, is to produce a considerably better car, copying some of the improvements now common to higher priced cars, and adding some of his own, and selling it for just a little more than his present car. That would jar the whole automotive industry, and might meet the competition which has grown stronger lately. Ford can probably make any type of car he pleases cheaper than anybody else can. If so, all he has to do, to hold his own and continue rolling up millions, is to pick the strategic type of car for the immediate future as cleverly as he did for the past.

BLISSFUL LIGHTING

An optimistic reporter, writing up the household lighting effects achieved by experts of the Nela School of Lighting, rhapsodizes as follows:

"If plans of lighting experts are generally adopted, divorcees will disappear from the courts, girls will never wander from home, youth will cool off and home life will reach a rosy acme of bliss."

Of course it will take more than healthful and beautiful lighting systems to achieve all those desirable results. Nevertheless, the right sort of lighting in the home inevitably has an effect on the health and dispositions of the members of the family and consequently influences their behavior toward one another. Time was when a light was a light. Whether it was properly placed from the standpoint of efficiency, sight-saving and beauty was not taken into account. Today, however, those things are important. Housewives know that attractive rooms can be enhanced or spoiled by good or bad lighting. Doctors know that eyesight can be protected or ruined by light when it comes to the light over the kitchen sinks pleasanter for mother that makes shaving pleasant to prevent many a family

JOKE AND GOOD
Joking is all right provided it helps pass the time away and is all right. Clever, harmless jokes lighten weary spirits. But in the hands of the crude or careless the joke often is a rapier or a bludgeon.

Rather early in life I received an important lesson about jokes. It was one of the few lessons that I have been able to get by means of the other fellow's experience, so it stands out like a bright star.

A prominent politician in my home town swallowed his false teeth; not a complete set, upper

BUSINESS MEETING TONIGHT

"But I don't think I'll go down; I'm tired and it's pretty warm tonight and everything will go alright if I'm not there." So he sat and read.

The paper awhile, then went to bed. Having stayed away on meeting night.

"It's business meeting night," said Brother Gray.

"But I guess I'd better stay away; I don't like the way that some folks take things into their own hands and try to make

The "good of the meeting" all jokes and fun.

And I think some thing sensible ought to be done.

And he stayed away on meeting night.

Thus one and another made excesses. And said so long as they paid their taxes

And levies promptly, they couldn't see

What the difference was if they should be

Away from the hall on meeting night.

And argued to prove that they were right

In staying away on meeting night.

a little on it. A to the: ht the ry fun- nly. They had matter in ever- nly. Finally one day the paper, as usual, with a big cartoon on the front page, showing this politician making a meal off a huge platter heaped with all kinds and shapes of false teeth. But that cartoon made nobody laugh. It shocked the feelings of everyone who saw it, be- cause at the very time that the paper was being sold by the news- boys, it was known that the man who had swallowed his false teeth had died from the effects. Jokes are sometimes all right, sometimes all wrong; it depends on the time, the place, and the joke.

A man on Thanksgiving Eve went to town and bought himself a big fat dressed turkey which as is customary was wrapped up with the feet sticking out. When the buyer of the turkey saw the bundle it suggested a prank. He got the butcher to cut off a pair of feet from another turkey and with these they fashioned a bundle resembling his own. On his way home the turkey stopped to place the dummy turkey on the front porch of a man he knew, then he rapped sharply and flew out of the picture.

Now the man on whose porch the package had been left was a deeply despondent frame of mind. Everything had gone wrong with him. He was out of work, out of money, he was sick; there was nothing in the house for the family's Thanksgiving dinner. It is easy to picture the cruel effect that such a prank would have on a household under such conditions. When the package was brought in, there would be rejoicing and gratitude; some good fairy and come to their aid in their dark hour. But when the bundle was opened and found to contain nothing but two turkey feet, what bitter disappointment, what mocking desolation!

However, in the case the joke turned out all right because the joker in his glee had made a mistake and left the real turkey.

DINNER STARR

Conversation overheard in street car:

"What a prize fighter that Tunney is. He is getting $7,000 a week in vaudeville."

"Yes," answered the other, "and what do you think I hear he's going over to England to meet Shaw."

"Aw, he'll have no trouble putting away that guy. Take anything against him staying two rounds with the champion."

"You look foolish," said the friend.

"Think so?"

"And you talk silly."

"Are you sure?"

"Of course. You are beginning to act like a moron."

"Don't weaken in your opinion. I feel a temptation to commit a crime and I want the alienists on my side."

EGGS At Six-Bits Apiece Her Market Price

Stephens County Woman Raises Turkeys and Sells Them at $8 A Head; Tells How She Does It

Selling turkeys for breeding purposes at an average of $8 per head and eggs at seventy-five cents a piece is paving the way to independence for Mrs. J. E. Hoyt of Stephens county.

A few years ago Mrs. Hoyt decided that she would help her husband, who was a struggling farmer in the southwestern part of Stephens county, so that many comforts of life, then denied them, could be had. So she decided on turkeys. A tom and two turkey hens were purchased at a cost of $10. She set the eggs under chickens, turning out eggs, selected turkeys that year, resolved, through advertisement, at good prices for on of these sold to local a their prices on account before, the first year of her egg market she plus eggs at fifty ing only enough, hatching to take up orders for breed the next season, all her eggs at 25 cents per egg, retaining some for her own breeding pens, which she keeps in top high condition. She keeps up the purchase each year of a fine tom to head her flock. It frequently happens that she is compelled to return money sent her for orders she is unable to fill for both birds and eggs.

She unhesitatingly advises the raising of turkeys on the farm as a source of both money and pleasure. Turkeys are not hard to raise, she says. If eggs are placed under chicken hens, it makes the turkeys much tamer as the chicks and mothers do not rumble so much as do the real turkey mothers.

When asked as to cost of raising turkeys as compared with chickens or other stock, she said that it was her opinion that the cost was much less. There are many grasshoppers and bugs each year which would damage crops if allowed to multiply. Her young turkeys come in at night from roaming the pastures and growing crops, which they do not damage, with their claws stuffed full of insects. Besides protecting crops they obtain the major portion of their own food without cost to the owner. However, she always feeds some grain at night to keep the birds from roosting away from home at night, which they are prone to do, thus displaying a disposition to revert to the wild state from which they come.

Her husband raises the feed and helps with keeping the turkeys under control, while she attends to the advertising and business end of the partnership.

QUALITY HENS AND EGGS PAY MOST, HE SAYS

The egg market this year should prove to the farmer as never before, that pure breed, quality fowls are the best to raise if one is to realize a profit from them, according to John Strickland, farmer of near Cottonwood.

"The price of eggs all during last year, except for a very short while during the summer months, was very satisfactory. Where a man raised his own feed there was a very nice profit in eggs, but this spring the egg market has been rather low for the common stock, while the price for pure breed eggs has been higher, perhaps, than ever before. Pure breed chickens sell readily for good prices and make a much more rapid growth, thus saving in time and feed from hatching until maturity. Infertile eggs always command a price ranging from 30 to 25 per cent in advance of guaranteed ones within 10 days of hatching.

CISCO CHURCH MAY ENROLL PUTNAM LIST

At the conclusion of a meeting conducted at Putnam during the last week, three young men were baptised at the First Christian church here Sunday afternoon by Rev. L. P. Kopp, district evangelist, who conducted the meeting. It is expected that the Putnam converts will be placed on the rolls of the First Christian church here as a "Putnam list," since there is no First Christian church at Putnam, and the advantages of the Cisco church will be open to the new members. An excellent highway makes it possible to reach the church here within a few minutes time. The Putnam members have not yet definitely decided whether they will be enrolled here or organize their own congregation, but should they come in with the Cisco church, they will be the first of several communities that may enter such an arrangement, eliminating the expense and effort of organizing and operating a local congregation.

MANY HURT IN EXPLOSION AT SWEETWATER

SWEETWATER, June 27.—Two men are in a hospital and several others are injured as a result of explosion of a carbide light at a swimming pool. J. G. Gray had all his teeth knocked out and his tongue was almost severed. He was also burned on the face and arms. Carl Williams was severely burned about the face and eyes and a young man named Altoff suffered a broken arm. According to Williams, proprietor of the pool was not present and the youths attempted to light the carbide lamp themselves. One of them got too close to the carbide tank with an oil lamp and the explosion resulted.

Dothan Disclaims Still as Its Own

"I wish you would state that the still reported captured in the Dothan section last week was not in the Dothan community at all but was found in the Dan Horn school district, which is north of the Dothan community," said E. L. Hazlewood, grocery man of Dothan. "The still, I am told, was taken about three miles south of Dothan outside of this school district, and about one mile north and a mile and a half west of Dan Horn. The people of Dothan do not care to claim the still as a Dothan enterprise."

Matthews Plants Vegetables With Hope of Producing Crops at Unusual Times and He Generally is Well Paid

W. T. Matthews plants truck patches out of season as well as in season, finding that the unusual very frequently happens, and when it does happen it finds him with something to market at fancy prices because it is unusual. This is the steadfast policy of W. T. Matthews, who has a small farm in the sandy district south of Cisco. As an instance, he has planted turnips, radishes, mustard, rape and carrots this week, when the usual time is to wait until September to plant these crops, based on the fact that the usual dry, hot summer months will cause the crop to die, even if the seed should sprout. He says the spring has been unusually dry here, and the recent rains hint at a chance for continued rains through the summer months. If it is dry, as is usually the case, the seeds will be wasted, but that is a very small item as to cost. The work of planting will not be wasted because the land will be in better condition for planting again in the fall because of the tillage now necessary to planting. "But suppose it rains along every few weeks and these crops mature," said he. "Then I will have a lot of fresh greens and vegetables at a time when I will have the whole market at my mercy, so that I will hold them up as to price, but I will demand a fair price for my merchandise just like any good merchant will do when he finds himself with a full stock of something for which there is great demand with no competition. At least, I will have no trouble in disposing of the results of my foresight and risk."

Last summer Mr. Matthews sowed turnips, mustard and radishes all mixed together. A little rain in July caused them to sprout and come up. More rains in August and early September caused the crop to grow. As a result he sold fresh radishes, mustard and turnip greens without competition. He also took the bottoms from his Bermuda onions and planted them about this same time. They likewise grew and made tender green onions at a time when there were no green onions on the market. He realized good returns on all these crops.

Now he says the same thing may happen this season and some ready money late in the summer will look mighty good. If he fails, as he said before, he will have lost very little from seed bought and his working of the land will only increase the yield of the fall crop which he will plant on the same land as early as the fall rains set in. No man succeeds, he thinks, without some risk attached.

"The oil operator takes a risk on finding production, the merchant takes a risk when he buys a stock of goods for the price may go down or the fickle public may not desire the styles he has bought. Just so the farmer. He must be progressive, taking risks wherever he may better himself without a chance of material loss." is his philosophy.

The books and records now in use are all that is needed at the present time, and all are accurately and neatly kept. Loans are selected with great care. Your examiner was shown many of the properties upon which loans had been made, and feels that all are within the legal limit and most of them far above.

The loan accounts were checked and found to agree with their control accounts. The cash account was checked and verified with the statements from the banks. The account receivable account consists of advances made for insurance, taxes, etc. All items are duly authorized by the directors.

T. Hunter Foley is bonded to the association in the amount of $5,000.00 with the Fidelity & Deposit Co. Maryland, No. 3328872, expiration July 28, 1927.

Your examiner wishes to thank the officers and directors for their many courtesies and willing and able assistance rendered him during the course of the examination, and may I not make special mention of the secretary, T. Hunter Foley, whose untiring efforts, are already meeting with the success they so richly deserve.

Respectfully submitted,

"The Man's S"

WILL RACES JULY FOURTH

ABILENE, June 29.—"Every heat a race." That old-time phrase from the days when Dan Patch was the idol of American sporting circles, has been borrowed as a watchword by the committee this year in charge of preparations for the Seventh Annual automobile race meet to be staged here July Fourth.

For the last three years a good deal of complaint has been heard here among the thousands who annually attend the big sport classic, because one or two outstanding drivers in exceptionally fast cars outdistanced the field in virtually every race, making the results a foregone conclusion.

This year, says the committee in charge, there will be none of that. Cars will be evenly matched in every event, and every event will be a real race to the finish. No one or two stars will be allowed to hog the glory and the prize money at the expense of less fortunate entrants. It is believed that this policy will result in one of the most interesting and thrilling racing events ever held on the local track.

BARRY MILLER MAY GO AFTER GOVERNORSHIP

AUSTIN, June 29.—Lieutenant Governor Miller and State Senator Wirtz plan to take the field together for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, respectively, if all things work out well, it was learned definitely today.

Miller and Wirtz "pov-wowed" all day yesterday at Wirtz' home. Wirtz already virtually has verified an announcement that he will run for Lieutenant Governor, Miller, although he will not say that he will run is known to be a prospective candidate, providing Governor Moody does not seek reelection.

HEAD OF ALL BOLL WEEVILS

Cisco's swimming pool, when completed, will be the largest in the world. This fact was authenticated Tuesday by a letter received by the Cisco chamber of commerce from Gantner & Mattern Co., of San Francisco, Calif., whose business of supplying bathing suits to swimming pools throughout the country has placed them in position to know. The Cisco pool, 267 feet wide by 700 feet long, will overtop the pool heretofore regarded as the largest in the world by 36,900 square feet of area. The Fleishacker pool at San Francisco, claimant to the title of the largest swimming pool in the world at present, is 1,000 feet long but only 150 feet wide, the letter stated, containing, therefore, an area of 150,000 square feet. The Cisco pool has an area of 186,900 square feet.

Following is the letter which answered an inquiry from the chamber of commerce:

"We were rather startled by the figures 267x700 feet. Your swimming pool will certainly cover the largest square foot area that we have ever heard of, and, as we furnish rental swimming suits to pools throughout the country, we believe that we are in position to know whereof we speak."

"About two years ago the Fleishacker pool was opened in San Francisco, then the largest swimming pool in the world—1,000 feet in length by 150 feet in width. We enclose herewith photo postcard of the Fleishacker pool."

"Cisco is to be congratulated; it is certainly a unique distinction for a city to have the largest swimming pool in the world. Your letter was of such interest to us that we have passed it on to Ernest M. Smith, editor of 'Bath House and Beach Management,' our service publication on swimming pools, and as Mr. Smith is also swimming editor of the San Francisco Examiner, we believe that he will give your letter publicity."

DENNISON ROY HELD FOR MORAN THEFT

Paul Dennison, bad man, received a sentence of 15 years in the state penitentiary Tuesday afternoon late when a jury deliberated on his case only a few minutes at Eastland. Dennison was charged with robbery with firearms in connection with robbery of the J. T. Purdy filling station at Gorman last March 25.

Purdy testified he was sleeping in the filling station the night of the robbery and was awakened between 4 and 5 a. m. He obtained his pistol and turned the light on, he said, only to find Dennison crouched beside a box and leveling a pistol at him. Purdy said he was ordered to put his gun down, which he did, and that Dennison and another man took sheets from the bed and gagged and bound him. The two then looted the cash register and took a Star coach from the garage and left. Constable Todd of Gorman testified to finding the car abandoned off the Carbon-Gorman highway. Officers Gustafson and H. T. Redies of the Cisco police department told of arresting Dennison and identified a pistol as the one they took off Dennison. Wiley Ash testified Purdy had acquired the pistol from him. Oscar Ash corroborated this statement.

Dug Barton, jailer at Eastland, testified that Dennison had escaped from jail, and Constable C. S. Looney of Cisco and Deputy Sheriff Paine told of seeing Dennison in jail at Alamogordo, N. M. Looney said he had known Dennison for a long time and that Dennison's hair is really lighter than it now appears, and that long sideburns now worn by the prisoner are new for him.

County Attorney Frank Sparks and his assistant, Sterling Holloway, prosecuted Dennison, while J. Lee Cearley of Cisco and Judge Hayworth of Comanche were defense attorneys.

United States Senator Reed spent almost an hour delving into Sapiro's connection with the cooperative movement in Texas. For this work Sapiro said he received $37,300 up to 1926. Fees were paid by the Texas Farm Bureau Federation. Reed read Sapiro's ostensible work in Texas into the record in sneering tones.

"I am not interested in money; I am interested in raising the standard of living among farmers; in taking children out of the fields and putting them in schools; taking women out of the fields and putting them in homes."

"You always got paid for it, didn't you," was Reed's comment. Then the Missourian brought out the fact that Sapiro drew $37,300 from Texas farmers in five years.

DETROIT, April 1.—The meteoric career of Aaron Sapiro as leader of the American co-operative associations was given a sordid touch today by Senator James A. Reed chief of Henry Ford's counsel at the million dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit. Before an interested jury in federal court Reed drew from Sapiro admissions that all his work in helping American farmers in organizing cooperative associations was always paid for before he began activities.

Sapiro, however, insisted that the farmers themselves fixed his fees. One clash between the white haired Missourian and the Chicago attorney who sued Ford for a million dollars enlivened the morning session. It came when Reed charged Sapiro was evading questions. The court pacified them.

groans and wails from the pedestrian who thought he had at least one place where he could walk in peace and unconcern. Still another suggestion has been made. It is that bicycle traffic keep to the left side of the street, facing on-coming motor traffic.
Says the advocate of this change: "A rider on a bicycle must look around occasionally to see if any cars are coming, and as a result his wheel wobbles from side to side. The same rule should apply to him as to the pedestrian on highways—he should ride against traffic."

HARD BOILED BUT BUSINESS

For a number of years I have been closely watching the workings of a certain great and growing corporation. You have heard the expression "soulless corporation."
Well, that institution is one of those things. If for any reason at all an employee fails to fit perfectly into the system of this corporation, his head is cut off as though he were a chicken. Efficiency and getting results are all that count with that big concern.

"They work us like machines," say the employees. "They care no more for us than for typewriters or pencil sharpeners. If we fail to function they kick us out."

As a result of that impersonal policy the people who work for that organization are always on their toes. Every employee knows that his or her position would not be worth a picayune should a toe or finger slip.

Every branch manager is acutely on the job. Every moment he is studying the business. Getting results is to him a most vital matter.
You cannot tempt him away from his office during office hours; work and watch; watch and work. He never lets up a moment; for the company never lets up on him a moment.

The employees under the branch managers are keyed up the same way. The superintendents over the branch managers are tuned just as sharply. The district managers over the superintendents are no less alert. Everybody is pushing everybody beneath him. Everybody is looking apprehensively on everybody above him.

A blunder is not excused. A couple or three blunders mean demotion or dismissal. Every dollar
