HOUSTON, Aug. 30.—The body of J. A. Commaux, 54, owner of the Orange laundry, was shipped from here today to the family home at Orange, where funeral will be held this afternoon. HITTSON SAYS TEST ON FARM TO START SOON

W. T. Hittson announced Tuesday that on a visit to Fort Worth this week he was assured by the Hoffer Oil company that work would begin at an early date on an oil test on his ranch five miles north of Cisco, and that geologists of the company considered the location as very favorable. The Hittson ranch lies almost on a line between the Dyer pool near Pueblo and the Gordon pool eight miles northeast of Cisco, and he expressed belief that the two pools are connected. A test drilled on the place several years ago showed signs of oil but the hole was ruined before oil in commercial quantities was found, he said.

There is a great deal of interest among the oil men for that section of the county," he asserted. "Geologists have been almost swarming over my place in recent weeks, looking over the situation. Part of my land is not yet under lease, and I have a man coming here today to inspect the ranch with a view to leasing all or part for oil drilling. I just want to say that the oil outlook in Eastland county is not at all discouraging, and I believe we shall have plenty of activity for some time."

WORK TELLS LAWYERS OF HIS POLICY

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Competition in the oil industry has degenerated into a civil war, which last year cost the nation a cool billion dollars, Secretary of Interior Work asserted today before the mineral law section of the American Bar association. Pointing to an over-production of approximately a million barrels a day in 1926, Secretary Work warned the lawyers that unless effective measures are taken to eliminate the present wasteful competition the government will be forced to step in to protect the public interest. He served notice on the legal branch of the oil industry, however, that the industry itself will be given ample opportunity to put its house in order. Following are the words which oil men interpreted as notice that the government will allow all men to operate in pool units without fear of running afoul of the anti-trust laws: "What is needed is not government interference with business nor with business meddling with government, but government helping industry to its own and public good. To that end I ask you to contribute to national conservation the legal advice it so sorely needs."

Earlier in the talk he pleaded for greater freedom of action for the oil industry to work out a plan to eliminate over-production.

TULSA, Aug. 30.—Oil production in the U. S. decreased for the week ending August 27, it was announced today by the Oil and Gas Journal. The decrease in Oklahoma for the week was 19,645 barrels daily. California gained 1,750 barrels, while the Mid-Continent area decreased 10,024 barrels daily. The gulf coast and eastern areas gained slightly during the week. Southwestern Texas also declined slightly. Most of the production decline, it declared, was due to attempts of oil men to curtail the output such as the pro ration plan in the Seminole field in Oklahoma and threats of similar action in the new fields of southwestern Texas.

PROMINENT HOUSTON MEN IN GUN DUEL

HOUSTON, Aug. 30.—Neill Masterson, Sr., member of one of Houston's most prominent families, and V. A. Neither was wounded by the half dozen shots fired. Tozzi suffered slight abrasions on the head where he said Masterson hit him with the pistol butt.

Satterthwaite, American consul at Guadalajara. The consul forwarded a telegram received from the mine which stated: "No rescue troops arrived, nor is any other visible protection being given. Armed radicals still control the camp and are issuing threats. Work is stopped and can see nothing to prevent more violence."

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 30.—Senator James A. Reed, democrat, chairman of the senate investigating committee, today announced the group will meet September 7 at 11 o'clock in Chicago. Vare and William Wilson, defeated democratic candidate, were also summoned to appear, Senator Reed said, or be represented at the meeting.

TRUCK COMES HERE SEEKING ORPHAN GIFTS

A truck from the Tipton, Okla., orphans' home is to visit Cisco Thursday on a tour of this section of the state collecting food and clothing for use by the 220 orphans housed at the home, it is announced. The Tipton home was established by the Church of Christ congregation, and these homeless children from Cisco, the Sutton children, are among the inmates. The truck will call at the various homes in the area. Groceries, sugar, meat, lard, breakfast foods, canned goods, syrup, and even pies and chickens will be acceptable, the advance announcement says. Money, of course, will be welcomed. Bela Watson, an inmate of the home and hailed as a "boy preacher," will speak at the Church of Christ Thursday night where donations may also be brought, it was announced.

STANFORD HITS DEVIL'S BIDS FOR EVERY MAN

The sermon preached by Rev. P. T. Stanford, Sunday night, on "The Devil's Bid for a Man," has created unusual interest. It is said by some who heard it that it was one of the most thought provoking sermons heard in a long while. He related the story of the temptations of Daniel as he appeared before the king to assume an important place in the kingdom of Babylon. The devil threw before Daniel the following bids: First, you are away from home and no one will ever know. The speaker said no man is better at home than when in Ft. Worth, Dallas or New York. He just appears different. Second bid, there is political power in it. There are a host of politicians but few real statesmen. "A man who will buy a vote will sell one and one who buys or sells a vote will sell at the expense of the public," he said. Third, it is customary. The speaker flayed the social dance and drink. "Custom may be entirely wrong," he said. "The majority is wrong many times. Customs set by the free lovers of Paris and New York are hardly worthy to be followed. Custom has sent many men and women to hell. Where custom crosses the road of decency, chastity and honesty you had better cut it out." In this connection the minister said that the sin of the age is lust and mental lust has morally bankrupted tens of thousands. "Immodesty in dress, suggestive and immoral scenes daily portrayed on stage and screen, and the law breaking society which carries his flask and brings wreck and ruin to lives have about brought America, spiritually, on the rocks," he declared. Fourth, there is money in it. "One of the most subtle temptations is that of money. Men and women otherwise all right will sell out for a few dollars. The sin of covetousness, in the Bible, is classed with the vilest of sins," he pointed out. The speaker closed the message with an earnest appeal to every person present to disregard the flattering bids of the devil and to do all they could to make Cisco the best town in all the country.

He will be absent until the appropriations committee is through, Mr. Blanton stated. Concerning this activity, he said: "We have ten departments of government presided over by ten members of the president's cabinet, and in each of such departments there are numerous bureaus. AND NOW THEY WANT THE BRAZOS?

The following from the Abilene Reporter is so pertinent to the present water situation in Texas that it is reprinted in full, in the hope that the water board will heed its mistakes of the past and avoid these same errors in the future:

"Most West Texans will be in sympathy with the movement launched at Waco the past week to impound the flood waters of the Brazos river with a series of dams located at Breckenridge, Seymour, Mineral Wells and a number of other points.

"That is, they are in sympathy with any movement to conserve flood waters and protect the lower reaches of the streams from overflow; but if the Brazos project is to result in such a mess as the Colorado project has brought about, then the new movement will find hostility rather than sympathy in West Texas.

"If the Brazos project is the same in all particulars as the Colorado project, it will mean that the Central West portion of Texas centering around Stamford, Cisco, Abilene and Sweetwater, will have to forego any future development of their irrigational possibilities. If the Brazos advocates are able to get the same sort of permit as was granted the Syndicate Power Company covering the Colorado river and its tributaries, then we might as well give up any further thought of developing this country through irrigation.

"The existence of such a permit as the Syndicate Power Company holds on the Colorado would have prevented Wichita Falls from developing its mighty Lake Kemp.

"It would have prevented Abilene from constructing either Lake Abilene or the Cedar Creek dam now under way.

"It would have stopped Stamford from building Lake Penick.

"If the State of Texas proposes to sell to any individual or group the right to impound the flood waters of the Brazos to the total exclusion of any sort of development on that stream or its tributaries above the dams, then it is high time West Texans got busy and entered a protest."

IT'S A SATISFYING THOUGHT

With other cities scrapping for the right to impound their own water for a municipal supply, while others are facing dire famine of water as the result of the peculiar rains of the last year, it is comforting to know that Lake Cisco still stands 75 feet in water, with enough to supply the city for several years, even should no rain fall. Rains of the last twelve months have been so gentle as to provide no appreciable run off, hence the suffering in many West Texas cities. Cisco had the foresight to provide for such contingencies, and although Williamson dam cost a considerable sum, times like these prove the wisdom of making such an expenditure. The big dam has set Cisco apart from other cities in regard to a water supply which today is just as important if not more so than when our ancestors established their cities beside water holes throughout the world.

PHILIPPINE RULE

There is good reason to believe that the Philippine Islands will soon be placed under civilian rule instead of military rule, as was recommended by Carmi Thompson in his report to President Coolidge after his visit of inquiry. The president has appeared for some time to regard that suggestion favorably, and any possible embarrassment in connection with putting it into effect is removed by the death of Governor-General Leonard Wood. Such a change of policy would please a large body of public opinion in this country, without much regard to party. Needless to say, it would please the Filipinos greatly. They have not really been under "military rule," in the strict sense of the word; but having the chief executive authority in the islands, possessing the power of veto over the local congress, exercised by the war department of the United States, has lent that color to the situation. Merely transferring the authority to a civilian department of our government would doubtless make a big improvement by pleasing the Filipinos and making them less captious about "foreign domination." The interior department is qualified for that task, and the president is said to possess full authority to take such action on his own responsibility. With the interior department in charge, naturally there would be less tendency either to appoint military officials as representatives of our government there, or to use military methods in handling the routine work of administration. That should make for a better feeling between Americans and Filipinos, and therefore more profit to both, than there has been for some time.

"Armed With Forks, Princes Make Hay." Well, well! And here we've all been thinking they'd use a golf club or polo stick.

MARRIED TEACHERS

The problem of the married school teacher is given a new twist in North Bergen, N. J. The board of education rules that any teacher who gets married within the first two years of her service shall be dismissed if she does not resign. The reason for this rule is "the talk caused by the arrival of many newly wedded teachers at their schools every morning in automobiles." That is to say, the spectacle of teachers suddenly able to afford cars of their own because they provided with an outside income in addition to their school income arouses jealousy and hard feeling. What to do about the married teacher is nearly always a problem. There is the usual argument, on the part of single teachers, that when there are more applicants than jobs in the school teaching profession, it is not fair for women to continue teaching after marriage—that they should step out, or be forced out, and give a chance to women who have to earn their own living. The novel reason given in North Bergen is merely a variation of that. On the other hand, there is the indisputable fact that married women usually make good teachers, possessing not only experience but a broadened knowledge of life, and are better able to handle child problems in school if they have children of their own. It is a clash of professional arguments and economic arguments.

BLESSED LIBERIA

His Excellency C. D. Burgess King, dusky president of Liberia, which as all school children know is a negro republic in West Africa, is taking a vacation in London. Seated in a large, comfortable arm chair in his luxurious hotel, dressed in impeccable coat, white spatted patent leather shoes and horn rim spectacles, and speaking in an American accent, he makes this inspiring statement: "My country is exceedingly happy. There is no rent to pay, and there are few social troubles. The workmen are keen to work for 25 cents a day, and then to retire to their farms every three months of the year to gather their bountiful crops of rice. It is an easy existence." No rent to pay—plenty of food—labor at 25 cents a day! Rich and poor alike may feel like moving there. Will the Liberians be more happy, or less, after the growth of the rubber industry has made their land prosperous after the manner of the more modern countries?

Human Interest Editorials

AS A MAN THINKETH

If a man thinks a thing is wrong and does it, and it isn't wrong, is it wrong? It is. A chap in the United States deserted his wife, went to Europe, fell in love with a girl who didn't know that he was married, and he married her. But, in the meantime unknown to this man, his wife died—so in reality he had committed no crime. Nevertheless he had sinned, for in his heart he was a bigamist, and he believed bigamy to be wrong.

A little boy walked into his mother's dining room one afternoon and saw a fine banana on the table. He appropriated the fruit and made off with it. Later his mother asked him if he had found a banana which had laid out for him, to which the little boy replied, "No, Mamma, I didn't, but I stole one off the dining room table." That child had a fine perception of moral values. He realized that to all intents and purposes he had stolen the banana regardless of the fact that his mother had intended him to have it.

Sin often is a matter of point of view. If a person believes a thing to be not wrong, and the law of his country says it is wrong, and he violates that law, then in his heart he has done no wrong. He may have to go to jail or be executed for what he has done. He has committed a crime but he conscientiously believed he was right in what he did.

Outstanding tyrannical oppressions have been corrected because men and women have had the courage to break laws which they believed unjust and to suffer the consequences. At the time such persons are criminals but as the years stretch out they become known as martyrs. Those who have stood out boldly for their religious beliefs contrary to the laws of their lands and who have been put to death in all sorts of hideous ways are not today regarded by anyone as having committed any sin.

You and I have seen folks commit what we were sure were downright sins, yet they felt thoroughly justified in doing what they did. Such persons perhaps are in the wrong but they are not violating their own principles, although they may go against the principles of persons a lot better than themselves.

A man who does something that he himself thinks wrong is a sinner though there may be no harm at all in what he does; he has shown weakness of character; and weakness of character is always wrong.

"I shall never marry again," said a widow, "I think second marriages are all right for some people but not for me. If I married again I should in my opinion be committing bigamy." If that woman should be drawn into a second marriage without first having changed her point of view she would be a sinner.

"Doctor," said a woman to her neighbor at the table, "can you tell me who that horrible looking man is over there?" "Why, yes I can. That's my brother."

"Oh, pardon!" stammered the woman, all frustrated; "I ought to have known it by the resemblance."

"Well, Mother Lena, how is your husband today? He went out in the middle of the service."

"Yes, sir, he's aging rapidly—he walks in his sleep now!"

Of all the coins struck from the presses of the United States mint during the past fiscal year, the dime showed the greatest gain, rising from 41,131,000 in 1926 to 49,600,000 in 1927. Nickel coinage increased by some 6,000,000 and quarters by about the same amount. The number of "bronze cents" fell off considerably as did also silver dollars. Half dollars struck were merely for memorial purposes.

A water clock used by the British in older times consisted of a bronze bowl with a small hole in the center. This was floated in a large pan until water entering through the hole at a regular rate made the bowl sink.

Of all the coins struck from the presses of the United States mint during the past fiscal year, the dime showed the greatest gain, rising from 41,131,000 in 1926 to 49,600,000 in 1927. Nickel coinage increased by some 6,000,000 and quarters by about the same amount. The number of "bronze cents" fell off considerably as did also silver dollars. Half dollars struck were merely for memorial purposes.

A water clock used by the British in older times consisted of a bronze bowl with a small hole in the center. This was floated in a large pan until water entering through the hole at a regular rate made the bowl sink.

RANGER, ABILENE AND CISCO LOOM IN FOOTBALL

THREE OF LAST SEASON AGAIN STRONG

Other day and the 1927 football will be under way. For day, September 1, has been the official beginning of the season in high schools of section, and five coaches on lay start molding aspirant teams of Class A caliber in line machines. Many of the have "jumped the gun" and seen working out for some time in direction of the team cap to get into shape for the start Thursday will see the on the gridiron for the first this season.

aged by the paper strength of teams, it now looks like the battling trio of last year will be close of the season, be closely for the district title. They Ranger, district champion of year, Abilene and Cisco. Last the title lay between these teams. Cisco and Ranger to play two games to decide championship. This year it like Ranger will have a strong under for the district honors, Abilene and Cisco both fight to keep abreast.

Ranger Looks Strongest
 this stage of the season, Ranger appears to be the bet for the sponship. The Bulldogs will around Hinman and White both veteran and brilliant of last season, and Captain or, powerful fullback, who is the most outstanding backman returning from last year's team. Taylor was mighty to stop last year; with added science and the knowledge he led while attending Knute the Notre Dame coaching at this summer, Taylor gives also of eclipsing the brilliant rd hung up last year by his team, Buster Mills. Much new ma it is expected to join the ranks coach Blair Cherry's team, and Bulldogs now promise to be the best team on the Oil Belt grid-ilene, building around Gibson ers, Captain Smith and Quarter Walters, will likely have on the best backfields in this sec- of the state. Berger at tackle another veteran from last year's spain, being counted upon to bring home the fresh pork, a drifted Abilene ward this sea- and the Eagles will likely have can almost as heavy as Ranger ch Dewey Mayhew comes to Abilene fresh from winning the state ss B championship with the Mar- Bulldogs; whether he can do same his first year in Class A that is a mooted question in these rts. In fact, opponents of the gles are pinning their hopes of uring Abilene on the fact that it ally takes a coach more than one son to get a line on his material d get his system working propely; but they realize that Mayhew ay be an exception and are not uting any games before they are yed.

Cisco Situation
 The Cisco team for 1927 is a ection mark. Six veterans, head- y Captain Bill Smith, center o back for this season's work dleman, fullback, appears to be most promising backfield man. hile there are several halves of omise, Coach Chapman's great et problem in the backfield is that eveloping a quarterback to re- ce the sensational Meadows of ear, while his line problem is of obtaining a sturdy tackle to rance the other side of the line rom big Wilbur Brian, who will e a new man this year. Little, sen- ational halfback with Stephenville 1st year, has joined the Big Dam oshoes, while Jenkins, a veteran nd from the Leonard high school eam, is another newcomer. As a hole, the Lobo eleven will be much ighter than that of last year and ar below the average sized team Chapman has put out in the past. But Chapman has made this state- ment: "Give me one good tackle and I'll not worry over our prospects for this year."

DEMPSEY STARTS

 Breckenridge is considered a dark horse this season. Shotwell, who coached a state championship team while at Abilene, is beginning his first year with the Buckaroos. He will face the same problem as Mayhew at Abilene, that of being a new man at the school and not as familiar with his material as other coaches will be with theirs. However, Shotwell has the advantage of having been identified with Oil

Belt football for years and he knows the style of play he will have to provide a defense for. He will build his eleven around Captain Grandberry, an end; Bert Harrison, fullback; and Nestor Zaranofotis, halfback; Zaranofotis, by the way, is the third of three brothers to start with a Breckenridge high team. All of this material would be welcomed by any other coach in the district, and Shotwell is being watched closely for signs of producing a real dark horse contender.

Mavericks to Be Fast
 Eastland, with Dave Pena beginning his second year as coach, may prove troublesome, with some sports fans predicting the Mavericks will go far toward the district championship. The team will be light on the average, but with the fastest backfield in the circuit. It is said there are twelve or thirteen second men seeking backfield berths. The team will be led by Captain Jimmy King, one of the best tackles in the district last season. Jimmy Matthews, 190-pound tackle of 1925, returns to the gridiron after a year's absence, during which he acquired himself a wife. "Old Man Matthews" is already being referred to as a contender for all-district honors at tackle along with Hinman of Ranger.

The number of class A contenders in the Oil Belt is reduced somewhat this year, with two of the largest towns in the district out of the race. Brownwood chose to take a classification as a class B team this season, while San Angelo, unable to drop to class B, will not enter the class A race this season. The list was further reduced when Stephenville, one of the strongest teams in the Oil Belt last year, decided it would battle in less powerful company, and also dropped to class B.

HOME PATRONAGE

Home is what most men think of when they go to a town (especially Cisco). With the growth of the population in Cisco it makes it almost a necessity to build your own home. There is no lumber company where you can find materials priced cheaper than at Rockwell Bros. The salesmen are accommodating and pleasant. Give them a trial and get a square deal. There is something else that goes to make a house a "home." You will find these things at A. S. Nabors' Furniture Store. One need not go elsewhere. Nabors carries everything in the furniture line. When our house has been finished we think of our personal wants. By calling 376 or 377 we get anything we want to eat. Skiles carries fresh groceries and has prompt delivery. The strongest of men at some time needs medical attention. After seeing a doctor and finding out what the trouble is, go to Dean Drug Co. and get the best of drugs—priced right. At the first of the week when clothes need to be cleaned and pressed, call Cisco Cleaners—they do good work and get the clothes back quickly. As the week draws to a close and the mother is tired from the week's work, she would enjoy nothing more than a good dinner at the Daniels' Cafe, where the food is served in an attractive manner and is better prepared. We all want the best and the purest. Then why not eat Banner Ice Cream. Its the cheapest and best. Thrift is something everyone should be interested in. The thrifty person will go to 100 West Broadway, select their groceries at the "M" System, thereby saving dollars in a month's grocery bill. Most people enjoy looking back on the past. Pictures made by Walton's Studio are memories that can be handed down from generation to generation. Their gifts are the newest. Drop in to see them and they will enjoy having you. If we live in a town and expect it to be a good town, patronize the people who are in business and they will give us the best. Patronize and boost your town and your town will boost you.

FOUR DOLLARS NOW WORTH MOST IN 13 YEARS

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.— Since December, 1925, the purchasing value of the dollar has increased nearly 6 per cent and now stands at the highest point since July, 1914, the national industrial conference board announced today.

On the basis of living costs last month, the board said the dollar now is worth 61.7 cents as compared with the 1914 dollar. It was lowest in July, 1920, when its purchasing power had shrunk to 48.9 per cent of the pre-war dollar.

Declining living costs were given by the board as the reason for the increase in the dollar's purchasing power, which it is said has been steady during 1926 and the current year. During this period, the board said, average wage earnings have fluctuated not more than 4 per cent and employment has been steady, and in those circumstances it saw a fundamental factor augmenting well for wholesome business conditions in the immediate future.

Average wage earnings, the board said, show a remarkably steady upward trend, average earnings per worker employed in June being even slightly higher than they were at the beginning of 1926. The average total cost of living in the United States, as computed by the board, decreased 1.6 per cent from the middle of June to the middle of July, due mostly to an average decline in retail food prices of 3.8 per cent. Contributing factors, it is said, were a slight decline in rents and retail clothing prices.

Men, Not Women, are Frauds

By ELMER CLARK International Illustrated News Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (I-I-N).— Are women more "two-faced" than men? Are they sly, slicker, cuter? Do they play a double game with more finesse than the masculine sex?

Don't fool yourself! Miss Dorothy Fooks, 27-year-old attorney of this city, and one of the first women ever admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States, says that men are the more expert "double-crossers."

Women, she declares, are straightforward and honest—but her experience, not only as one of our foremost Portias, but as a chief woman in the United States Navy during the war, has revealed the masculine gender in a rather unfavorable light.

"Men will hold the hand of one girl," says Miss Fooks, "while they make impassioned love to another. 'I've known a lot of them who pledge their unwavering devotion to their wives—and an hour or so later, after they reach the office, are avowing their undying affection for their stenographers.'"

Miss Fooks is one of the youngest and most successful women lawyers in the country. She admits that she had to overcome double the obstacles and prejudices that a man would encounter.

"Women are handicapped before they enter on a business or professional career," she asserts, "and then they have to be twice as clever as a man to succeed. 'Business women are far superior to men, and for one good reason: They are more honest in their business dealings. They won't cut corners' or take advantage of anybody. They never have any axes to grind."

Besides being a lawyer and yeoman, Miss Fooks is an author and once gained considerable space in the sporting pages by refereeing several fights. Miss Fooks' last case was an other triumph for her. She gained the acquittal of Catherine De Nino, of Evanston, Ill., on a charge of shooting a man on the street. The man had betrayed her and, after she had married, told her husband of the affair. Her husband turned her out of their home and the shooting followed.

Midland.—A rodeo that is expected to draw the best riders from 3 states, and which offers the largest purse since pre-war days is scheduled to take place in Midland, September 3, 6 and 7. West Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico will send a large part of the attendants at the mammoth three-day celebration. Relay races, street dancing, cowboy reunion, and rodeo attractions are among the high points of the entertainment.

Perfect Crime Stirs Maysville, N. C. As Old Murder Remains Unsolved

MAYSVILLE, S. C., Aug. 30.—

Has this little town, nestled in the lowlands of Jones County, North Carolina, been chosen for the commission of that mythical "Perfect Crime?" "On the surface of thing, yes," Jones County authorities who for a month have been investigating the most baffling murder mystery that has ever gripped the attention of Eastern North Carolina. "A flawless murder."

On Deserted Road

Just after daybreak on a deserted road a few miles from here the murdered body of Oscar W. Lane, 41, prominent in North Carolina business circles, and one of the leading bankers of this section of the state, was found by a companion.

The body was found huddled in the front seat of the banker's high-powered automobile, where he had preferred to spend the night after his machine stuck in the mud, while his companion, T. L. Gillette, a Maysville merchant, slept at a nearby farmhouse.

On the seat beside the banker lay a discharged revolver. Two shots had been fired. A bullet pierced his forehead. He was found when Gillette and another man from the farmhouse came to the car that morning. A coroner's jury, rendering a verdict several days later, found that Lane was not a victim of self-destruction, but came to his death at the hands of unknown persons. No motive could be furnished by Lane's family and acquaintances for the commission of suicide.

Find No Clues

Authorities, investigating the strange murder for weeks, have found no clues which would lead to the identity of the murderer, and have found no "suspects." They have worked on the theory that the prominent banker, sitting in his high-powered car on the deserted road was mistaken by moonshiners as the "witch dog" for a revenue party, and shot and killed—but to no avail.

Relatives of the slain banker have offered large rewards for the solution of the mystery, and the apprehension of the slayer, but so far, no tangible clue has been forthcoming. Lane, until a short time ago, was president of the Eastern Bank and Trust Company of New Bern, which operated branches in many Eastern North Carolina cities and towns.

Dairying in Rio Grande Valley Interests Ciscoans

MUCH DATA IS OBTAINED DURING STAY

EN ROUTE WITH CISCO DAIRY CARAVAN, Aug. 30.—Perhaps the most profitable day spent on the present tour of the dairying sections of the state was that which found the Cisco party in the Rio Grande Valley where dairying seems destined to rank along with citrus fruit growing as a major industry. Here was found dairies and creameries developed to probably the highest state of any seen so far on the present trip, and much information that was interesting as well as valuable was obtained.

At Mercedes the creamery under the management of C. C. Boeckel was visited. Mr. Boeckel said he pays out $1,800 to $2,000 every week for cream products in his area. He now pays 46 cents for sweet cream and 32 cents for sour cream. He has several small cream stations operating as branches for the main creamery. Three trucks are used to deliver ice cream and rather sweet and sour cream at an average cost of 3 cents per pound. They make their trips daily. The creamery makes about 500 pounds of butter a day, and 600 to 1,000 gallons of ice cream. The manager said he has no trouble in finding a market for his sweet cream and butter. He said his most successful producers are those who sell sweet cream and feed skim milk to chickens and hogs.

An interesting stop was that made at the valley experiment station where citrus groves were inspected and the irrigation system seen. At Weslaco the Mistletoe creamery was visited. Its products are ice cream and sweet cream butter. A small amount of sour cream butter is made in the summer time. The creamery was put in about six years ago by the Falfurrias interests but later sold to Mistletoe. The manager declared that early failures of the farmers who owned cows were due to use of cheap labor (Mexicans). The farmers who did their own work bought up most of these and are now making money. One farmer, he said, could not have kept his children in school had it not been for his cows. Most of the farmers with cows are now doing well because they have learned to buy good stock and properly feed and care for them. In spite of the large number of dairy cows in this section, the manager declared he can not get enough dairy products locally to supply the demand, and that butter is shipped in from San Antonio.

A few minutes were spent at Falfurrias on the return from the valley. The dairy center has $200,000 on deposit in the bank although there are only about 6,000 persons in the county. At Kingsville the party visited the Santa Gertrudis Dairy farm saw the King Ranch herd of 250 fine cows. Members of the party were given points on the famous $100,000 bull, "You'll Do, Victor," and saw the $500,000 residence on the million-acre ranch. The modern barns were inspected. This ranch has furnished 14 high class bulls to local bull circles free of charge, some of them worth over $1,000. The only requirement was that they be well cared for, and that the farmers get rid of their inferior cows.

The Kingsville Creamery, of which H. V. Larson is manager, has an annual output of $500,000 in butter and ice cream with the trade name of "Velvet." The creamery also buys eggs from the dairymen, hauling them in by truck. Eggs are bringing 30 cents a dozen. The butter wholesales at 50 cents a pound.

Sweet cream is bought at 43 cents a pound now, although 48 cents was the average for last year, and 32 cents for the preceding year. No sour cream is being bought. The creamery has six trucks operating on cream routes, the longest of which is 25 miles (one way). A ready sale for all butter is obtained, and none gets as far from Kingsville as Dallas. Total of 2,500 cows serve the creamery, which is patronized by 250 farmers.

Members of the bull circles have formed a dairymen's league. A "sifting" committee passes on any cow bought by a member of the league. County Agent W. L. Wilkinson says that practically all farmers who sell sweet cream and feed the skim milk to hogs and poultry are out of debt at the banks.

The night was spent at Corpus Christi where a plunge in the bay was enjoyed.
