Baptists From Three Counties Meet Here

Old Home Town

Joe Dixon, superintendent of the state fish hatchery, is exhibiting this week a large fish eagle which he shot at Lake Cisco. The bird has a great wing spread, and in size is between that of a large hawk and an eagle. It resembles an eagle in appearance. Mr. Dixon said a half dozen of the birds have been operating at Lake Cisco and have been preying on the fish, sometimes getting away with bass weighing two pounds each. He is attempting to kill all the eagles in an effort to protect the fish.

G. W. Barr, Cisco veteran of the Civil War, who is visiting his brother near San Angelo and intends to attend the Confederate veterans' state reunion in San Angelo this week, has written the Cisco American as follows: "Thinking your many readers would like to hear from this part of the country, I'll drop you a few lines. I arrived at this place ten days ago and found the roads very good. On my arrival I found two Ciscoans walking the streets of this busy town, as it was fair week. There was sure a crowd and they had a good fair. I went on to Barnhart, where civilization stops. I found the sheep and cattle men in fine spirits as they had had a light rain on Tuesday last week. At Barnhart they had another good rain, but Saturday night we sure did have a gully washer and trash mover such as has not fallen here for years. So say old timers. (You know all old timers never lie.) Anyhow, the country looks good to stockmen. The town is looking forward to the coming of the old soldiers Thursday. I am sure they will be taken care of royally. If the Cisco lake watershed had the rain that this country had, she's booming. Tell the boys to hold the fort, I'm coming."

The angry fall. The day it got out folks had reeked he didn't get rough in time because I might hurt one of these little fellows. The ches got hold of it and gave me 220-pounder a merry tongue lashing. It was enough to make one fighting mad. Folks stopped lining; stepped into practice and

The Hillview filling station called police officers to investigate at 2:45 Thursday morning when it was reported burglars were attempting to enter the place. Officers Tom Wilson and Gustafson answered the call, but a neighbor living across the street from the station reported he had frightened the burglars away.

Dates for two of the biggest motion pictures of recent years have been definitely set for showing in Cisco. It was announced Thursday by Manager K. N. Greer of the Palace theatre. "The Big Parade," hailed as the most outstanding picture of recent years, will show here November 1, 2 and 3. Mr. Greer said, while "Ben Hur," another notable picture, comes here three weeks later. A football picture, "The Drop Kick," has been scheduled for Thanksgiving day, he added.

Cisco took on a warlike appearance for a short time Wednesday afternoon when a company of U. S. army troops went through here by trucks. The trucks carried war equipment used in the recent maneuvers at Marfa on the Mexican border, and included among other things tanks from which bristled machine guns. The men were on their way back to Fort Sill, Okla.

R. Shiraz of Breckenridge brought the report on state missions with the discussion led by Herman J. Matthews of Mineral Wells. Report on religious literature was also given by H. I. Trout of Breckenridge. At night the Buckner orphans' home was discussed and Rev. Shiraz delivered the sermon.

'Can Never Forget' Wales Tells Yanks

LONDON, Oct. 6.—"We can never forget you and the part of the American troops who came to help us in the darkest days Europe has ever known," said the Prince of Wales in greeting a group of 280 present and past state commanders of the American legion visiting in London. Paying tribute to the Americans, he added: "You are as welcome now as you were 10 years ago. We want to see that the lines of comradeship between American and British fighting men never become merely sentimental, but become stronger bonds in the interest of world peace."

Woman Has Midnight Battle With Burglar

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 6.—A midnight battle in which she was badly beaten and robbed of $150 was recounted to police today by Mrs. Maxine Willis, 35. Mrs. Willis was alone in her apartment, she said, when she heard a knock at her door. She opened the door when she saw a man with a messenger bag. "He was armed and shoved me aside as he began ransacking the room," she said. Falling to find money or jewels, Mrs. Willis said, the man became rough. "I fought with him and was knocked down and badly bruised."

POTATO PLANT IS URGED FOR EASTLAND CO.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hogan, of near Romney were in Cisco Tuesday. Mr. Hogan was disposing of a load of sweet potatoes which he had just dug. He says potatoes are producing very well this season and the price is very fair, but fears the unusual yield will force the price down unless farmers take steps to hill up the crop and adopt a systematic marketing system. He mentioned that he was impressed by an article appearing in the Cisco American not long ago, in which a farmer advocated local curing plants for sweet potatoes, so that the crop could be sold in any way not to glut the market. If this could be done, he thinks Eastland county could soon become known as a dependable potato section and hence a shipping point that would attract large foreign buyers.

Mr. Hogan says his wife is a poultry enthusiast, for she says he can try all the crops he wants to, but she will make more money on the investment of time and money than he. This seems true, according to her reports. She has already sold twenty cases of eggs this year and has raised over 500 young chickens. She likes the white leghorns on account of their laying qualities and the uniformity of their large, white eggs. Mrs. Hogan expects to furnish her home from the sale of poultry products this year.

Cisco Lions' Club Visits Stone Plant of Carthage-Bedford Co. And Members Surprised by Size

There was a full attendance at the Lions club luncheon Wednesday. Lion H. V. Nigro led in some very peppy songs and Lion R. B. Louzere followed up with a boisterous Lion roar. Miss Velma Walters presided at the piano and was largely responsible for the pep put into the music.

Two new members were introduced, namely, D. P. Condit, local manager of the H. O. Wooten Wholesale Grocery Co., and E. P. Champitt, manager of the Pennant Service station. Mr. Champitt was introduced in name only, as he could not be present on account of sickness in his family.

On invitation of Superintendent E. P. Martin, of the local plant of the Bedford-Carthage Stone corporation, whose headquarters are in Houston, the Lions club went in a body to inspect the plant. After an hour spent there most of the business men present expressed themselves as surprised at the magnitude of the concern and at the quality of work being turned out.

The stones, great massive boulders, are set on their sides on the sawing racks where long steel saws split them and cut them in lengths. After this rough dressing, the stone is carried to circular saws 60 inches in diameter with either diamond or carbundum teeth—the diamond teeth for limestone and carbundum for the less hard sandstone. These circular saws have a cutting capacity of about 13 feet per minute, while the steel saws have a capacity of only

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—A party in the home of Miss Helen Green, motion picture actress, came to a tragic climax when Fairfax Fuller, 25, motion picture director, fell to his death on a roof of a rotunda, nine floors below. Police believe that Fuller fell to his death by accident. While detectives below sought to solve his identity and determine from what floor he had fallen, his friends, who had gathered to congratulate him on his success in directing a picture, went on with their celebration. His absence was learned of when police knocked on the door and inquired.

PEANUTS AND HOGS PAY HIM MOST, HE SAYS

James L. Langston, who lives about 12 miles southeast of Cisco says hogs and peanuts beat everything else, according to his way of thinking. He has his fenced hogpen, and after peanuts are harvested, the hogs fatten on the waste nuts left in the field. During the time the corn is growing, he has a Bermuda pasture for the hogs. They also fed on cane and other crops. He usually has some patches of peas fenced off that from early spring he some grazing for them. Hogs almost make their living on Bermuda roots during the winter months, he said. Of course, says, he only carries a few through the winter months; the stock is sold for pork during fall and winter. He arranges his young pigs to come at a when there is plenty of grass so that the amount of feed necessary is cut to a minimum.

They said he told them he would take their packages to the bus station here. Instead, he left town and was arrested at Baird on a complaint of the girls. Constable C. S. Looney and George Carmichael went to Baird and brought him here for trial.

A MAN'S MONEY

The other day a wealthy man got into a little mixup and his bail was set at $5,000. He put up the money and walked out and evidently kept right on walking, for when his case was called he wasn't there; the judge declared the bail forfeited and that was that.

"His money got him off," declares someone bitterly. "If a poor man had gotten into that fix he wouldn't have been in position to forfeit a $5,000 bond, he would have had to stand trial and if convicted go to the pen. That's the rotten injustice of our civilization. The poor pay the penalties and the rich get by."

Softly, softly. There is truth in the assertion; there is fact in the criticism; but that is the way the world is set up. And there are reasons.

Money will get one lots of privileges. Money will get one a fine home, beautiful clothes, luxurious automobiles that do not bump and rattle, friends (or good imitations), delicacies to eat, the consideration of Tom, Dick and Harry, and of the authorities; money will do many nice things for folks. True, money will not buy happiness, but it will buy one off from a lot of misery.

Money represents material ease and luxury. Without money one cannot have material ease and luxury, one cannot have even the necessities.

"My man, what are you digging that hole for," an inquisitive old chap asked a laborer.

"For money."

"Dear me, do you really expect to find it?"

"Sure, Saturday night."

Most of us are digging for money. Not for the money itself but for what money will get. And were it not for what money will get most of us wouldn't work, we'd lie down in the shade and chew our cud of tobacco or gum.

It is a good thing for the spirit of industry that a man with money can do things that a man without money cannot do.

UNDERGROUND WATER MAY BE FILED ON SOON

AUSTIN, Oct. 4.—With practically all stream water in south-west Texas already appropriated, A. H. Dunlap, member of the state board of water engineers, is launching a movement for conservation of the sub-surface supplies.

Dunlap has returned from a trip extending from Del Rio to Corpus Christi and back to Austin through San Antonio. In that territory there is extensive use of artesian water.

That the state water board has supervisory power over use of such water supplies is little known. Yet there is specific power given in the state laws.

The law defines exactly what an artesian well is. Legally defined, it is an "artificial well in which, if properly cased, the waters will rise by natural pressure above the first impervious stratum below the surface of the ground." In plainer words it is a well that naturally flows water from the underground sources and puts it on the surface.

A person can drill such a well without hindrance on his property. But he must keep a record of the drilling, strata pierced, etc. This record must be filed with the board of water engineers. Then if it is discovered that the well is not properly equipped to prevent waste either through surface flow or through strata, the well can be declared a nuisance by the board.

What constitutes waste is not left to guess work. The water law strictly describes it. "Waste" is permitting the water from a well to run into any stream, drain, underground passage, sewer or such route as to be lost. It is also waste to permit the water to percolate into a strata above that from which the water is drawn, except for the authorized purposes of taking. Permitting it to flow upon a road is also waste.

HIGH BOOTS

The old-fashioned high lace boot is going to be the style this winter in London. It takes six and one-half minutes to lace up a pair once. The sales manager of a department store figures out that it is going to take the woman who wears them something like four or five waking days this winter just to lace and unlace her boots. They always did seem to have more time for things in England than we have.

THE TOURIST'S GUN

Mr. and Mrs. John Godfrey, starting on a motor tour from Lebanon, Ind., to Canada, were uncertain about what they would find in foreign parts. They thought it would be wild and dangerous. John equipped himself with a good revolver. He reached London, Ont., without any misadventures, but John felt remarkably sure that he'd run into the wild Canadian frontier not far beyond. So, leaving his comfortable hotel and preparing to move on next morning, he laid his trusty gun on the seat within easy reach, to be prepared for any eventuality. An eventuality eventuated quicker than he expected. A policeman, observing that gun through the car window, arrested John for being in possession of a revolver without a permit. He was fined $10 and the gun was confiscated. John isn't quite sure now, as he fares northward, just what he'll do if he meets up with an Indian or a desperado or a bear. But the summary-action of the London authorities has somewhat reassured him. He feels that maybe, after all, he won't need any weapons. It's surprising how many fellows feel as he did when they first start out for distant parts, even in their own country. Motor touring is a great eye-opener.

Wacoans Released On Bond in Killing

WACO, Oct. 4.—A. L. Bradley and his son-in-law, H. S. Powell, were released under $10,000 bonds respectively following a habeas corpus hearing before Judge Richard Munroe in district court here today. Both men are charged with the murder of Raymond McCauley, 24, following an altercation at the Bradley home over money due McCauley on a car deal.

Temple Shooting May Prove Fatal

TEMPLE, Oct. 3.—Adolph Stueck lies near death in a hospital here with 19 buckshot bullets in his back and G. C. Cantrell is being held in jail at Belton, charged with assault to murder. The altercation took place at Cantrell's home while several persons looked on. Neither of the men would make a statement. The case will come up October 17, it was announced today.

BRECKENRIDGE AND EASTLAND WILL COMPETE

EASTLAND, Oct. 5.—Two contenders for the championship of the Oil Belt district will clash in the game that marks the raising of the curtain on the 1927 conference season. Saturday afternoon on the new athletic field in Eastland, the combatants will be the Breckenridge Buckaroos and the Eastland Mavericks.

Six times in bygone years these teams have clashed and thrice victory has gone to Breckenridge and thrice to Eastland. These ancient rivals have never played a slow and sluggish game against each other. Zane Fometis, the speedy, stiff-armed Greek of the Buckaroos, and Ed T. Cox, the fast 200 pound fullback of the Mavericks, have passed from the stage of high school football but to duplicate their spectacular exploits Breckenridge has Woodward, a triple threat man, and Eastland has Bull Johnson, hailed by many as the greatest all round backfield man in the district this year.

Little is known of the strength of the Mavericks for they were a week late in beginning practice and have played only one game compared to three for Breckenridge. Eastland's only game was a 19 to 0 victory over Gorman while Breckenridge took Olney, Comanche and Stamford into camp without allowing a score. The greater amount of experience under fire that the Buckaroo eleven has will be an important advantage. Breckenridge also probably has some advantage in weight and has a larger number of reserves.

BLEASE SAYS DEMOS MUST DITCH CHIEFS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The democratic party must get rid of all its present leaders and reorganize its rank and file before it can elect any democrat to the presidency of the United States, Senator Cole Blease of South Carolina, stormy petrel of the senate, declared here today. Blease called on the party to re-dedicate itself to Jeffersonian principles, choose new leaders and advance a new platform of democratic issues. If it fails to do so, Blease warned, the democrats will never put one of their number in the white house.

"I still believe Coolidge will be nominated by the republicans," Blease continued, "and there is very little likelihood of his being defeated."

EASTLAND BOY CUT IN FIGHT WITH FATHER

EASTLAND, Oct. 3.—Charges of aggravated assault and drunkenness were filed in Justice of the Peace Jim Steele's court in Eastland Saturday against Bill Robinson of Eastland following a difficulty between Robinson and his son, Truman, Saturday night in which the latter received a knife wound 14 inches long in the back. Charges of drunkenness and fighting were filed against Truman Robinson in Justice Steele's court also.

The trouble between the elder Robinson and Truman, officers stated, arose at the Tindall horse barn in the northwestern part of the city. Truman Robinson is said to have not been seriously injured although the wound was an ugly one.

FAMOUS BALL PITCHER HERE MUM ON SERIES

One of the seven men in history who have pitched a no-hit, no-run perfect baseball game visited Cisco Tuesday. He was Charlie Robertson, who performed the feat several years ago while with the Chicago White Sox. Robertson has just returned from spending a season with the big leagues, and was on his way to San Antonio when he stopped off here to see Coaches W. B. Chapman and W. L. Golligity, two of his school-mates while he was at Austin college at Sherman. Robertson refused to make a prediction as to who will win the world series, declaring the teams too evenly matched to risk making a prediction.

Two Fined On Health Rules

"Judgment Day" Sermon Theme

"The Judgment Day" has been selected as the subject for sermon tonight at the First Methodist church, said Rev. P. T. Stanford, the pastor. "Is it true that such a day will come? Who will stand judgment? Will the Christian be judged? What will be the basis of the judgment? These and other questions will be answered at the service tonight," Mr. Stanford said.

"The Great Judgment Morning," will be used as a solo. Last night the pastor spoke on "Keeping an Engagement With God." Miss Andrea sang "Have You Forgotten God."

Friday night Mr. Stanford will choose as his theme "The Unpardonable Sin."

Rev. R. E. Huston is conducting the services each morning and holding service for young people each evening.

The revival closes Friday night.

TERRELL PREDICTS 25c COTTON WITHIN MONTH

Texas Crop Estimated at 250,000 Bales Less Than Month Ago; Weevil Damage Continues to Decrease Yield

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—George B. Terrell, state commissioner of agriculture, estimated that Texas would produce 4,250,000 bales of cotton this year, which is 250,000 bales short of his prediction last month. These estimates are prepared by Terrell after receiving crop reports from field men of the agricultural department in the cotton growing counties.

"If the October report of the government estimates the cotton crop at no higher than the September report—12,692,000 bales—all the cotton gamblers on the exchange cannot keep the price below 25 cents," Commissioner Terrell declared.

"And if the estimate is lower than this, which now seems likely, the price may go higher than 25 cents per pound. The gamblers have been hammering the price down for two weeks in order to stampede the farmers into selling, but they cannot keep the price down indefinitely, as the spinners must have the cotton," Terrell asserted.

"The cotton crop is more than half gathered, and is turning out extremely short in some sections. Weevil damage has continued throughout the month and rain did not come in time to make any top crop. The southwestern district is 90 per cent gathered; the eastern district 75 per cent, and the central district is 70 per cent. The northern and western districts are less than half gathered and the northwestern district is only 14 per cent. Much cotton has prematurely opened, and picking is farther advanced than usual. Cotton pickers are in great demand at $1.25 per hundred pounds. The crop soon will be gathered, except in the northwestern district, where it will be largely gathered with sleds.

"Cotton seed are selling at an average of $32 per ton at the gin, and the increased price of cotton will make the crop bring much more than last year's crop brought," the commissioner continued.

"The exports and consumption of American cotton amounted to 18,346,662 bales last year, and we will be five or six million bales short of enough to supply the mills. The carry-over is mostly low grade and unsalable cotton, and cannot be used, but is held and counted as a surplus to leave the market and cause the farmers to sell. About 25 per cent of the crop is being held for better prices, when at least 50 per cent could and should be held. The more cotton held, the sooner the price will advance.

"The mills will have to pay a higher price for the cotton and the farmers are entitled to better prices, and will get better prices later, unless the crop is larger than estimated."

"In outlining other crops over the state, Terrell said that 73 per cent of the counties had "enough feed to do them."

"The planting of fall oats has been increased 20 per cent, and wheat is 15 per cent increased. Hogs and poultry have increased and the farmers are preparing to feed themselves. Better conditions will follow this kind of farming and materially help the farmers," Terrell concluded.

Washing of Trees Big Aid, He Says

"Frequent wetting of the leaves of trees and shrubs will do much to prolong their life," I. J. Lamb, caretaker at the city hall declared.

"The pores of the trees are similar to those of human beings, being contained in the leaves instead of the skin. When dust, saturated with the poison gas from automobile exhausts, settles on the leaves, the pores are stopped up and the breath of life is taken from the trees, and they die. Frequent and thorough wetting, say once a week, gets rid of this dust and opens the pores so that the trees will do well. This has long been my theory and the other day I read an article from a noted scientist which substantiates this. Hereafter I am going to wet the trees and shrubs at the city hall more often and believe I'll get better results."

Dan Horn Farmer Has Good Maize

A large part of the milo maize used in the Eastland county exhibit at the Dallas fair, which was taken to Dallas Tuesday for arrangement, was raised on the farm of O. R. Brown, Dan Horn farmer. County Agent J. C. Patterson who examined the white milo maize raised on this farm declared it to be the best he had ever seen. Mr. Brown said he handled the white milo under the same conditions as red milo and made a much better yield.

Voice of Rugged West Protest "Pioneer Mother" Models Which Are Proposed for Costly Shaft

STAMFORD, Oct. 5.—Voice of the rugged West, as sounded by one of the best known cattlemen of the southwest who was for four years president of the Texas Cattle Raisers association, has been added to the clamor that is asking for a more representative choice as to the statue of the typical "Pioneer Mother."

As a descendant of a pioneer mother and of those who blazed the trail of early Texas, James Callan of Menard, widely known western rancher and former president of the Texas Cattle Raisers association, has written to Manager Homer D. Wade of the West Texas chamber of commerce in vigorous protest to the models proposed for the $500,000 bronze statue which will commemorate the brave women of yesteryears.

Story and pictures in the official publication of the West Texas chamber of commerce invited Callan's letter to the headquarters of the organization. The article announced that men and women of Texas would be permitted to vote on the proper model for the statue during the state fair at Dallas, October 8 to 23, and was illustrated by pictures of the model by H. A. MacNolt and the model by Bryant Baker. The first showed a rugged, determined looking young woman striding along barefooted, carrying an axe in her right hand, and supporting a babe in her left. The second picture showed a beautifully and immaculately dressed young woman walking along briskly, with a book under her right arm, and leading by the hand a handsome boy, also dressed even to Eton jacket and collar, a vest and tight long trousers.

Designating these illustrations as Model One and Model Two, Callan wrote:

"As a descendant of a pioneer mother, I appeal to you to start a movement to get Model One more standing room; it was cheap in those days. And for God's sake! Get that axe out of her hand quick, and give her a pair of 'pot hooks.' Start a camp fire on level ground to her immediate right and rearward so the wind will blow her hair. Put on an old oven and an old coffee pot. Her husband was a good axe man, and she has just turned around to greet him.

"Now as to Number Two. Get that cut off of little Daniel Webster; put him in his shirt tail and on a stick horse. If the woman had such a look, let her get in out of the weather as she would wish. And slacken her up a little in front, lest we think it a Nebraska school marm going against the wind. Five hundred thousand dollars is too much to waste and I will give $5 toward some modifications."

The letter of Mr. Callan was referred by Manager Wade of the West Texas chamber of commerce to Mrs. J. U. Fields, Haskell, president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs, and to Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs, president of the Texas Parent-Teachers association, with the hope that these two organizations might interest themselves in seeing an appropriate model decided upon.

Cisco Building Permits $40,400

Cisco Building permits for the month of September totaled $40,400, a check of records at the city secretary's office revealed Tuesday. This represented eleven permits, with all but two being for new residences. The total was not quite as great as that of August, but was of sufficient size to show the steady building of the last nine months is continuing into the fall.

EASTLAND CO. POULTRY WINS AT LUBBOCK

F. M. Spurlen of Eastland has returned from Lubbock, where he exhibited several hens of utility Leghorn chickens and captured three first prizes for his oldpen, first prize for old cock and first and second prizes for leghorn hens.

Mr. Spurlen said the South Plains fair at Lubbock, where the chicken show as held, was the finest small fair he had ever attended. He said the actual attendance last Thursday was 24,165. This fair was organized about ten years ago by George W. Briggs, county secretary of the Eastland chamber of commerce, and the total attendance during four days at that first fair was about 30,000. It has grown steadily each year.

Mr. Spurlen shipped his chickens back by express and drove back accompanied by Jack Speer of Carbon, who won several prizes for his display of poultry. When they reached the Salt Fork of the Brazos, south of Post, horses had to be attached to the car to pull it across the river, or they could not have crossed. Rain fell throughout West Texas, all the way to Lubbock, and the roads were muddy and slick. Mr. Spurlen said he was asked many questions about the Backhead Poultry Producers' association and the Egg Basket of Texas.

COURTHOUSE PLANS NOW BEING STUDIED

EASTLAND, Oct. 5.—Frank O. Witcheil of Lang & Witcheil, architects of Dallas, who have the contract for drawing plans for the new Eastland county courthouse, was in Eastland Monday with temporary plans to exhibit to the county commissioners. While these plans were gone over by the court and a number of the county officers they were not adopted by the court. The court, however, made a number of suggestions as to the plans, which, when they have been made may make the plans acceptable to the court.

DALLAS FAIR TO BE OPENED ON SATURDAY

DALLAS, Oct. 5.—The biggest state fair in America will open to an audience of 1,000,000 people here Saturday.

The 160 acre tract on which is housed the mammoth exhibit hall of the State fair of Texas, the auditorium, the stadium the race track, the amusement features and countless other features of this greatest of all fairs was teeming with thousands of agricultural exhibits today as the finishing touches were made.

The immense size of the fair plant can be judged from the fact that the buildings on the fair grounds are valued at $2,000,000.

Trains from all corners of the state will begin arriving here tomorrow and all next week as thousands of Texans turn out to see the spectacle. Special rates for fair visitors have been extended by all railroads running into Dallas.

For 15 days the cream of Texas will be on display. Entries in nearly every department exceed previous records, Roy Ruppard, fair secretary, said today. Not only agriculture is represented, but the immense manufacturers building will display every form of article manufactured in Texas. Automobile manufacturers will show the latest models of passenger cars, trucks and tractors. The oil industry and the lumber industry, both important in this state, will be amply represented.

One thing is strangely missing from the fair this year, despite the efforts of fair officials. That is the Texas longhorn cattle, for years the best known product of the state. During the past decade, the longhorn has been rapidly crowded off the expansive ranges by the hornless, more robust "white face" cattle.

In fact, the longhorn bordered on extinction until recently when the government searched the west Texas plains for the best available specimens. Few more than 20 were found and they have been shipped to a government reservation in Oklahoma for posterity.

Fair officials were unable to locate any desirable specimens for exhibit at the fair.

Like a three ring circus, entertainment features at the 1927 fair surpass any of the past. Eight football games will be played in the fair park stadium, including the Texas-Vanderbilt and Texas Aggie-Seawanee games, which attract attention throughout the south.

Horse racing will be revived on a larger scale than ever. Purses totalling $50,000 have been posted for the running races. Several strings from well known southern stables are already on hand. The fence has been removed from the three quarter mile track on the fair grounds and visitors will view the races free of charge.

The musical hit "Countess Maritza" will be presented in the fair park auditorium with the original New York cast. Scores of other entertainment attractions are billed.

Because of the demand for their hides few alligators live a natural lifetime.

Just to state the truth in another way—Camel is so exactly what so many smokers want that no other brand is even a close second.

If all cigarettes were as good as Camel you wouldn't hear anything about special treatments to make cigarettes good for the throat. Nothing takes the place of choice tobaccos.

PARADE HELD IN HONOR OF CONQUERORS

Cisco High Big Dam Fighting Lobos, some of them limping, others with peeled noses and still others bearing additional marks of a terrific battle, arrived home at 12:45 o'clock Monday noon and alighted into the midst of a great celebration in honor of their victory over El Paso high Saturday afternoon. Members of the team were immediately loaded on to two trucks of the Ever Ready Transfer & Storage company and were joined in a procession up Main street to the flag pole. Ahead of them marched the Lobo band, the pep squad and members of the Lions club wearing their new trick hats. At the flag pole a banner, reading "Cisco Big Dam Fighting Lobos—The Pride of Cisco," was hoisted into the breeze as the pep squad sang the Lobo victory song.

Although the team arrived here an hour and a half ahead of the time originally planned, because the train was run back to Cisco as a special train instead of being joined to another train as on the trip to El Paso, a great crowd was at the union station to greet the returning boys and fans who accompanied. Word of the change in schedule had been received, and the parade arranged impromptu with Chief of Police G. E. Bedford acting as grand marshal. Periods at the high school were arranged so that more time was allowed at noon without interfering with class work, and so the entire high school student body and faculty were able to be present for the celebration.

In addition to those who marched in the parade, hundreds of others lined the sidewalks and looked on and cheered as the Lobos went by. Most of the fans returning from the trip brought with them Mexican curbs, walking canes and other mementoes of the trip, secured in Juarez. Some El Paso newspapers were brought back, containing pictures taken on arrival of the Lobo special train.

FIREMAN DIES AS TRAIN HITS CLOUDBURST

MEXIA, Oct. 3.—Fireman Walter McElhane, 37, of Ennis, was killed and Engineer Jack Carter of Dallas narrowly escaped death early Sunday when south bound Southern Pacific passenger train No. 18, hit a washout in a cloudburst three miles south of Mexia.

The engine turned over in a stream of water. The baggage coach and two mail cars left the rails, but did not turn over.

Day coaches and a number of Pullman sleepers did not leave the rails and some passengers were not awakened.

Carter went under the water with his locomotive, but managed to crawl through his window, which was several feet under water.

McElhane's body was taken from the wreckage later and sent to Ennis. He had been caught between the tracks and the cab of an engine.

One day it got out Felix had remarked he didn't get rough in practice "because I might hurt some of these little fellows." The coaches got hold of it and gave the 220-pounder a merry tongue lashing. It was enough to make anyone fighting mad. Felix stopped grinning; stepped into practice and courses in Europe, his practice will be looked after by Dr. H. G. Clark from Dallas. All work at the hospital will go on as usual. Dr. Clark's office phone is 513, residence 7094.

SIBLEY POOL EXTENDED BY NEW GASSER

The Sibley pool has been extended three quarters of a mile to the southeast by the Duffer well of Dick Barkley which has come in for 15,000,000 feet of gas and 75 barrels of oil a day.

Although the new producer is on the Duffer land, it is approximately three miles south of the Ghoslon pool, which was discovered on the Duffer 10 months ago by John M. Ghoslon and associates. The new well broadens out the Sibley pool greatly and will stimulate interest in that area where several big wells—notably a 2,200-barrel well by the Mook-Texas and a 1,500-barrel well by the States—were brought in some months ago. The Sibley pool is about ten miles east of Eastland, in the vicinity of Staff.

J. E. Lewis of Eastland, has brought in a shallow gasser on the Johnson farm, three miles north of Eastland. It is making 2,000,000 feet of gas at 1,700 feet.

The often repeated and untrue story that the Greek cyclic, Diogenes, lived in a tub is believed to have originated from a remark made by Seneca, who wrote of Diogenes 300 years after his death saying: "A man so crabbled ought to have lived in a tub like a dog."

CISCO SEES TWO BATTLES THIS WEEK

Cisco will have two football games on the local gridiron this week. Randolph college Badgers will meet Daniel Baker reserves here Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at Chesley field in the opening game for the Badgers. Fans have been awaiting an opportunity to see Randolph in action for the first time this year since there are many stars working for places on the team that have not been seen on a local grid before. Coach Monroe Sweeney will also be making his bow as a football coach in this section after having proved one of the most popular officials West Texas has ever had.

The other game is that between the Cisco Lobos and Merkel high. The record of the Merkel team is unknown here, aside from the fact that it is known to be a strong contender for the class B title of its district against the Anson team which held Abilene to a 20 to 0 score. This will be the first game the Lobos have played since returning from their triumphant trip to El Paso. No game has yet been scheduled for next week, but the class A games will begin here October 22 with San Angelo as the opponent, and Breckenridge coming here October 28. All other class A games will be away from home.

Smith, Arrested in Kentucky For Killing of Officers, Says Conatser Innocent of Crime

MORGANFIELD, Ky., Oct. 5.—Lloyd Conatser, charged with the murder of Sheriff Bob Smith and Deputy, Jake Owens, of Fisher county, did not have a gun in his possession when the two officers were killed. Hill Smith, also charged with the murder, told Pete Norfleet, special Texas officer, in the Union county jail here today. Smith refused to discuss his part in the killing, Norfleet stated. Norfleet arrived at Sturgis, Ky., Monday night, following information from Sheriff Parker at Roly that Smith had been arrested. He has been authorized and requisition papers issued by Governor Moody of Texas, to return Smith to that state.

Corroborated by Wife

Smith's statement that Conatser did not have a gun at the time of the killing was borne out by his wife, Mrs. Lois Hamlin Smith, who was interviewed by Norfleet.

That the man is Bill Smith, wanted in Texas on murder indictments growing out of the slaying of the officers, has been firmly established. Following his arrest, Mrs. Smith told the landlady of the hotel where they were stopping that her husband had killed the sheriff and his deputy.

According to Mrs. Smith's statement, as repeated by Norfleet, the officers had come to the Smith home near North Roly to arrest her husband for stealing a bale of cotton. Smith walked out into the yard with the officers and supposedly was going to the home of a neighbor when she heard three shots fired.

Tells Her of Killing

Smith returned to the house and told her he had "killed those two men" and they must make their getaway.

Mrs. Smith, whose illness led to the apprehension of her husband, was able to visit Smith in the county jail here Monday. She told officers it was the last time she would see him, as he would be killed before he got a trial.

At the time of his arrest Smith had in his possession an Oldsmobile sedan which was stolen from Fort Worth, Texas. Sheriff Parker is expected here today to accompany Norfleet back to Texas with Smith.

Big Felix Reynolds, Former Cisco High Lobo, Makes Big Hit With T. C. U. As Tackle Playing Against Texas U.

Felix R. Hall devoted his entire column, "The Sportside," in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram Wednesday to a discussion of the showing made by Felix Reynolds, giant T. C. U. tackle who "got his start" in football with the Cisco high lo- boes. The article is of particular interest to Cisco fans and is reproduced in full:

You can't tell what sort of a football player a man is until you have seen him in a game. Practice doesn't count, so coaches the length and breadth of the land will tell you.

The truth of the assertion was brought to mind by Felix Reynolds, giant T. C. U. tackle, at Austin Saturday. Endowed with all the natural requirements for a great tackle, the big boy was a smiling duf on the practice field—he didn't have the "fire." But in a big game he was different. As football play- ers say, he "got hot." The smile didn't leave his face but it changed—the good-naturedness went out of it. If you know what that means, Big Felix was a bruising beast against the Longhorns; he was what the coaches hoped he would be.

Felix is six feet, two inches tall, and weighs 220 pounds in street clothes. He is just 21, and a sophomore in the university. Alamo is his home, but he played football with the Cisco high school team in 1925, and it was while playing end on the powerful Lobo team that he attracted attention. Although he played in about the first real football game he ever saw, Felix developed into a fine high school player in the short space of a few months. He was one of the outstanding stars when the team won its way into the semi-finals of the state championship.

When Reynolds reported to Dutch Meyer, T. C. U. freshman football coach last fall he was converted into a tackle. In practice and early games he looked good, but nothing extraordinary. Freshman games mean little—that is, most of them do. One was different last year. Along late in the season a game was matched with Randolph college at Cisco. The Badgers had been tearing up everything they met—it had several players who had been on the '25 Cisco high team with Felix. The freshmen went to Cisco and surprised everyone by winning—they did it because Big Reynolds woke up and played football. He smashed on the Badger defense and wrecked their offense. He blocked punts and recovered fumbles. He was the big noise.

It was Felix's showing in that game that the varsity coaches based their hopes this year. It was well they had the exhibition to go on for Felix flashed nothing more than vague promise in practice. He trained seriously, but in scrimmage or in blocking and charging drills he wouldn't show any of the fight so necessary to real football players. All efforts to make him angry failed.

One day it got out Felix had remarked he didn't get rough in practice "because I might hurt some of these little fellows." The coaches got hold of it and gave the 220-pounder a merry tongue lashing. It was enough to make anyone fighting mad. Felix stopped grinning; stepped into practice and showed his opponents spinning a fine or two. But it didn't last. In a few minutes he was snailing. The slash was gone, and smaller lines men were holding their own against him. The coaches despaired, or nearly so. Unless he changed in a game, Felix was a physical wonder made ordinary by lack or the absence of the spark of fire.

Felix was sent against the touted Texas University line with a prayer and a hope. There wasn't any telling what he would do. The way he turned out is well known to all T. C. U. football followers. Felix played like he wasn't afraid of hurting anyone; he played like he would like to cripple all the Longhorns—they weren't such little fellows, and they didn't treat him so nice. He played like he did against Randolph college last year. And it wasn't a flash. He played that way through all the games.

Sweet Potato Crop Excellent

"My sweet potatoes have made the best yield this year I have ever raised," said W. B. Starr of Dan Horn community Wednesday. The chairman of the Eastland county chapter of the American Red Cross, A. B. O'Flaherty, Tuesday received the following message from Wm. M. Baxter, Jr., southwestern regional manager of the organization: "The central committee today adopted a resolution requesting the people of the United States to increase the national Red Cross membership to five million for 1928, stating in substance: 'Because of increased demands for service, particularly disaster relief, and despite the most rigid economy of operation, the national and international Red Cross program requires each year an expenditure considerably in excess of the annual income. With complete confidence the American people will rally to the call, the central committee urges each chapter and branch to take necessary steps to assure such increase. Suggest your chapter goal of 350 members.'

When drilled from the Bond sand from which it was producing around 100 barrels per day to the Ranger pay, the Good No. 2 of the Belva Oil company, in the Gordon pool, eight miles northeast of Cisco, was making 500 barrels per day Saturday.

The Belva Oil company Friday began deepening the No. 1 Good in the Gordon pool, which is producing from the same level as the No. 2, to the Ranger pay. The well is now making 200 barrels.

The McLester Oil corporation is preparing to deepen its No. 2 Thorp in the Gordon pool from the Bond to the Ranger sand.

The Kokomo Petroleum corporation Montez well, north of Gorman, is shut down because of water shortage at a depth of 800 feet. Same company's Collins, offsetting the Montez, has been placed on the pump and is holding up to its initial production.

Said Judge Eugene Lankford Wednesday: "It's getting mighty near time to plant trees for the next summer, and I wish you would urge the people of Cisco to plant more of them for the coming year. The principal requirement for successful growing of trees is an abundance of water. We have that out at Lake Cisco and in our water mains, and I'd like to see our citizens take advantage of it. We should select the varieties best suited for this climate, and then see that they are well planted. For most of our soil here, a hole six feet deep should be dug and dynamite should then be touched off in the bottom to break up the solid rock. This will allow plenty of room for growth of the roots, and afford the best growth of trees. There is nothing so essential to the beauty of a city as pretty trees, and I'd like to see Cisco go ahead of all in this particular."

the demand for leather for automobiles and so many purposes other than footwear. Another factor is the decline in the consumption of meat, especially in the United States, caused by the growing demand for cereals. This means that fewer cattle are being raised.

One interesting feature of the Northampton manufacturers report is that there is a growing demand for British footwear in the United States and the British export trade is prospering accordingly.

Truckers Sell Produce Here

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Tucker of eleven miles southwest of Cisco were shopping in Cisco Wednesday. Mrs. Tucker sold some fryers and took orders for Thanksgiving turkeys, which she will deliver at the proper time. Mr. Tucker disposed of a few bushels of peaches from his orchard. This was the last of his fruit, which has brought him about $100 for this season.

Mr. Tucker has some cotton, which is now open and being picked. The weevils have damaged it considerably, but he thinks he will get a fair turnout. The price will make up for the lack of quantity. His feed crops are all fine. Corn was especially good for this section, and maize also made a good yield. He has just harvested his peanuts and the yield will be around 40 bushels to the acre. At the present price of above one dollar per bushel, the returns on this crop will be good. He will still have the hay, which will be very valuable as feed, he says. He has his own meat, but will buy a few more hogs to eat his feed and the waste in the fields. The increase in growth and weight of young hogs will give him a good price for his feed consumed.
