30-CENT COTTON IS PREDICTED

New York Wins Championship in 4 Games

Government Report Shows Still Further Decline in Yield; State Agriculture Head Urges Holding

AUSTIN, Oct. 8.—The government crop report released Saturday estimating the crop at 12,678,000 bales or a little less than the September report not only justifies a higher price, but prophesies 30-cent cotton. George B. Terrell, Texas agriculture commissioner, declared here today. "The farmers are entitled to this price and all who hold their cotton long enough will get it," he said. "Home consumption and estimates of American cotton for the year just closed amounted to more than 18,000,000 bales. At this rate of consumption we will fall far short of the demand. Admitting that one-half the carryover is storable, and that is doubtful, we will lack two million bales of satisfying demands."

RAIN TOTALS EIGHT TENTHS OF INCH HERE

Rains of Friday and early Saturday in Cisco amounted to eight-tenths of an inch, according to the gauge at the city hall. The rain here fell along with a heavy down-pour throughout most of the state, which caused many football games scheduled for the day to be postponed or played on muddy fields. An excellent season is now in the ground, and farmers say no more rain is needed right at this time. Some peanuts that had been dug were damaged, along with the hay, but those who have not yet dug the nuts expect the rains to cause greater production, it is said.

OUTLOOK FOR CROP SHOWS 11,000 DECLINE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The United States will have a cotton crop this year of approximately 12,678,000 bales or 14,000 bales below the forecast of last month and 5,300,000 bales below last year's production, the department of agriculture reported today. Improved prospects in several states are more than offset by insect damage in Texas and Oklahoma and the Carolinas. There is general complaint that the weevils have practically prevented a top crop this season except along the northern and western edge of the belt. In most sections except South Carolina, eastern Oklahoma and Missouri, early planted cotton made a good bottom crop.

GAINS OF $2.50 A BALE REGISTERED AT ONCE

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8.—Immediate gains of $2.50 a bale were registered in December and March contracts on the cotton market Saturday on reception of the government report of total gainings and indicated production. December advanced 55 points and March 40 points on the report, but compared with the lows of the morning the high points reached after the report showed a leap of 105 points by December and 94 points by March, the former month jumping to 22.10 and the latter to 22.24. The market later reacted slightly, but values remained about $2.50 per bale above Friday's figures.

Americans Win Control of Orient

TOPEKA, Oct. 8.—The committee representing American holders of notes of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad Saturday received in Federal court 20,545 of the 25,000 shares of the company's stock offered to note holders. The committee representing British note holders was allotted 14,455 shares. The remaining 200 shares went to three individuals and one brokerage firm. The stock was oversubscribed more than twice, the holders depositing with F. L. Campbell, clerk of the United States District court, notes having a total face value of $5,355,200 as evidence of right to purchase the stock. The subscriptions were for 70,233 shares. Campbell apportioned the stock, the price of which was fixed by the court at $71.61, in proportion to the face value of the notes deposited by the subscribers. The American committee, consisting of W. S. McLean, Herbert P. Hall, P. Wam Goebel, J. Z. Miller, Jr., B. F. McLean and E. E. Mullaney.

LOVE TO SEEK LIEUTENANT GOVERNORSHIP

DALLAS, Oct. 8.—State Senator Thomas B. Love announced Saturday that he will be a candidate in 1928 for lieutenant governor of Texas. "Next to the office of governor, I consider that of lieutenant governor the most important in the state. If the people of Texas see fit to give it to me, I believe it will offer me the best opportunity to carry on the work I am trying to do for rural roads and schools," the senator said. Love for many years was democratic national committee man from Texas and assistant secretary of the treasury during the Wilson administration. He was elected state senator from Dallas county in 1926. Tom Shepard has returned home from a trip to Lubbock and other points on the plains. His brother, Jack Shepard of Cross Plains, visited him here Saturday.

Old Home Town

Ranger made a great showing against the heavy and more experienced Texas Christian university freshmen team Friday afternoon, according to Ciscoans who attended the football game. The Ranger line, which now looks like the best one in the Oil Belt, held solidly against the Fort Worth team, it was said, and slowed down the Horned Frog offense to such an extent it was able to put across two touchdowns. It will be remembered that this same team defeated Randolph college here last season. Friday's game, those who saw it said, only emphasized more fully the fact brought to light the preceding week in the Ranger-Mineral Wells game that Coach Blair Cherry has wonderful opportunity to put out another district championship team in spite of the loss of several good men from Ineligibility early in the season.

"Speaking of excursions," said J. J. Collins Saturday, "I am reminded of one I took when a boy. I was a member of the band and we went to Stamford for some sort of celebration, and had excursion tickets. I met up with some people there and in our efforts to take up kindly, I took more time than we thought and so I missed the train coming back. I tried my very best to get the conductor on the next train to accept that excursion ticket for my return transportation, but he wouldn't listen to it. I had to pay a one-way fare home at a price higher than the excursion round trip, and gee, how I hated to give up that money. I understand two or three on the recent El Paso excursion had the same experience. Believe me, whenever I go on an excursion nowadays, I am always on hand when the train leaves." George Carmichael also unburdened himself of a secret of the past. George, it seems, went to Waco one time on an excursion. He was on time when the train was due to leave and he had a good time. I understand that he had a good time. I always back out of Waco, and thought it was just switching around or something," he said. "I stood there and watched it leave, and had to borrow money to get back home on the next day."

LOBES HUNT HARD BATTLE FOR FRIDAY

Word has been received from Marlon Olson, who is attending Harvard. He states that he has found five lobes and has gained five pounds since his arrival. A recent honor accorded him was that of being elected a member of the Ed Warren club. This is an old established law club and out of approximately one thousand applicants, only eight first year men are elected each year. J. S. Stockard Saturday brought to town a generous sample of October cling seedling peaches he gathered from two trees in his back yard here. Mr. Stockard said he gathered about five bushels from each tree, and declared the peaches were especially good for preserves and pickling.

RUTH LEADS YANKEES TO BIG VICTORY

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Babe Ruth and his troupe of force busting Yankees are baseball champions of the world tonight, having battered their way over a pitifully performing Pittsburgh aggregation, and ending the series in four straight games. The score in today's final meeting of the two contenders was 4 and 3 in favor of the Yankees, and brought to a close the shortest world's series since 1914 when the Boston Nationals defeated the Philadelphia Athletics in four straight and won the championship. Pittsburgh went into today's battle with the Yankees in a row to the rambling Yankees, led by none other than Babe Ruth, and try as they could, they were not able to keep up with the New York sluggers. The Pirates banged out 10 hits which brought in three runs, but this fell just short of the Yankees' even dozen singles and four runs, and so tonight all New York is celebrating the victory. It is being declared that the National league defeat of the American league on Tuesday 13 years ago has now been avenged, and so American league sympathizers are happy.

Today's game again emphasized the fact that a man may be down but he can come back. Babe Ruth, after setting a new season record for home runs, hit his second home run of the series in the fourth inning. The score by innings: R H E Pittsburgh 100 000 200...3 10 1 New York 100 200 001...4 12 1 Batteries: Hill and Smith; Moore and Collins.

MUTT WATSON IS READY FOR TRIAL MONDAY

C. W. Watson faced trial last May and the jury was dismissed when it was unable to agree, although it was said at that time it stood 8 to 4 for acquittal. Watson is a world war veteran, having served in the U. S. Motor Transport Corps during the world war. He is a charter member of the Cisco post of the American Legion, and a member of the Odd Fellows. He has lived here since 1913, and has been employed by Bob Gilman as a drifter for the last twelve years in the Cross Cut field in Brown county and other locations. Battle Today Expected to Tell Whether Mexican Revolt Will Be Crushed; 8,000 Troops to Fight

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 8.—Another day may tell the story of whether the Mexican revolution started last Sunday by General Gomez, candidate for the presidency, and Hector Aranda, former chief of staff of the federal district will be snuffed out or will drag along. An official bulletin issued tonight predicted a decisive battle will probably get under way some time Sunday near Mexico City. Approximately 8,000 troops are expected to participate. Presidential headquarters also announced Felix Tapia, founder of the Mexico City newspaper El Universal, who was arrested yesterday, would be tried by the civil courts. The government will indict him as one of the instigators of the revolution. He is charged with being one of the leaders of the anti-revolutionist party, and at one time was mentioned as a leader of the cause.

BRENNHAM, Tex., Oct. 8.—W. A. Sharp, 34, prominent oil man of Houston, died in a hospital here today from injuries received yesterday when a plane in which he was a passenger made a forced landing about 30 miles from here. Ciscoan Surprised at Growth Of City After His Absence In California for Eleven Years

R. J. Hunt recently of Humboldt county, California, has returned to Cisco after an absence of about eleven years. He was greatly surprised at the changes that had taken place during that time. When he left, Cisco was a small town of some 2,000 inhabitants with small sewerage plant with very few residences and stores to care for, he said. "Most homes had no sewerage connections and very few had any of the modern conveniences, such as gas and electricity," he declared. "Very little paving had been done at that time and Main street was muddy after every rain. Almost every person owned and used constantly a pair of rubbers or overshoes for getting about the streets after a rain. Most homes were allowed to go unpainted and a very few had well kept lawns. Now I return and can hardly believe my eyes. Cisco is a progressive city of more than 12,000 wide awake people, paved streets and cafes and miles of sidewalks, bright, glaring street lights and even out in the residence districts, everybody has electricity, gas and sewerage. I find busy streets with modern clean vehicles, new, freshly painted homes

NATIONAL NARCOTIC HOSPITAL

One-third of the inmates in our federal prisons are said to be there for violating the Harrison anti-narcotic act, and most of them are drug addicts. They are committed there, of course, not as addicts but as criminals, sent to prison for peddling drugs. But their dual character suggests a better disposition of such cases. What those prisoners need first of all is to be cured of the drug habit. But the prisons are not very well equipped for handling them as patients. Warden Snook of the Atlanta penitentiary has been urging the establishment of a national hospital for narcotic drug victims, in which all addicts could be treated. After their discharge they would be kept under surveillance and brought back as parole violators if they fell back into the habit or resumed peddling. "Every addict," says a drug expert, "is a potential peddler. We must cure victims not only for their own sake but in order to prevent the creation of more victims." Nearly everyone who has studied the great and growing evil of habit-forming drugs comes to the conclusion that it is not enough to shut off the narcotic supply, but that those already ensnared must have proper curative treatment. Many private hospitals and some public ones are doing good work along this line, but doubtless the problem could be handled more effectively through rational institutions. Congress votes money for many things less important than this.

WAR GUILT

It looks lately as if the troublesome old question, "Who started the war?" were to be opened up again for a general debate between the Allies and the Central Powers, with Germany and France leading disputants. President von Hindenburg started it, whether intentionally or not, in a patriotic speech at the scene of his greatest military victory, by denying German guilt, and French orators immediately took up the challenge. Now the whole thing is quieting down. The foreign ministers of Germany and France, meeting informally in the lobby of the League of Nations at Geneva, talked the thing over and agreed that there was no advantage to either nation, or to anybody else, in arguing the subject any further. "Let us glorify our war heroes all we like," they concluded, "and magnify their patriotic exploits, but do not reopen the question of who started the war in which they fell." So representatives of both countries, on the platform and in the press, are dropping the subject—and glad they are to do so. Here is another triumph of common sense. It is one of the best indications yet given that the two inveterate rivals around whom the world war centered are not disposed to start any new troubles, and that Europe is making rapid progress in the direction of reasoned peace.

CULTURED RADIO FANS

Here is musical progress, indeed. The New York Edison company, in a questionnaire that brought answers from about 5,000 radio fans scattered throughout the United States, learns that their favorite composer is Beethoven. His work is preferred to those of 49 other composers, who cover the whole field. He was over Victor Herbert, Verdi, Wagner, Irving Berlin, George Gershwin, and all the rest. If this verdict is really representative, as it appears to be, it means that Beethoven is the most popular composer in America. We shall have to revise our notion, then, of "popular music." From this evidence, we might conclude that the most popular music in this country is Beethoven's Fifth Symphony. It looks as if radio audiences were getting tired of jazz. That seems inevitable, not because jazz is necessarily objectionable or unmusical but because the jazz compositions fed out to the listening public are nearly all alike. Old-fashioned music is infinitely more varied. Naturally music-lovers sicken of the same stuff all the time. It is like trying to live altogether on "hot dogs." It is a curious thing, that this new type of music which originally represented a revolt against musical tameness and monotony has become the most monotonous of all.

KITCHEN BOOTLEGGING

The liquor business is said to be passing from the saloon to the kitchen, and diminishing in volume and nature. This is true, at any rate in one large city that flaunted many saloons for a time after the adoption of prohibition, which saloons are now nearly all deserted. Authorities say it is the same in many other places. It is explained that the majority of the middle class, who formerly kept the bars going, have quit drinking. There are still many drinkers, but they are mainly the poor and the very rich. The middle class quit patronizing the saloon bootleggers because the supplies of pure liquor ran out and they had more sense than to drink poison. The rich keep on drinking because they are usually able to get pure stuff and pay the price, patronizing aristocratic bootleggers. The poor keep on drinking almost regardless of the quality of the booze. The saloons cannot be kept up for their patronage alone. They get their supplies from retailers who make or buy the bootleg stuff in comparatively small quantities and keep it in their kitchens. Thus prohibition enforcement enters a new phase. Dry agents say they are going to concentrate now on the kitchens. That raises fresh difficulties. It will lead to new protests and possibly new abuses. It will be more necessary than ever for enforcement officers to act with scrupulous regard for law and human rights, lest they seem to justify a new wave of law-defiance.

SAID BUTTER, HEARD LARD

A woman went into her kitchen and said to her cook, "Now, Iracenia, I want you to be sure and fry the chicken in butter. Now, be sure, don't fry it in lard. Fry it in butter."

"Yes'm."

Thirty minutes later as the woman walked through the kitchen she noticed a frying pan full of hot grease on the stove.

"What is this grease, Iracenia?" she asked the cook.

"Dat," said Iracenia, "is lard."

"What are you going to do with it?" demanded the woman.

"I see gwine tuh fry de chicken in it," placidly replied Iracenia.

"But I told you," snapped out the mistress, "not to fry that chicken in lard, but to fry it in butter! Now you turn out that lard and put butter in that pan."

Iracenia did so with a hurt expression. She had heard nothing about butter. She had been thinking lard and she had heard lard. She had a lard consciousness.

There are folks more highly developed than Iracenia whose ears or eyes will take in one thing and whose brains will record another.

"Pass No. 8 at Froggiddle," is the telegraphic order handed to an engineer. But the engineer is accustomed to meeting No. 8 at Hogwallow, and is thinking Hogwallow; so when he reads the telegram he reads Hogwallow. And there is a head on collision and half a hundred folks are killed and injured. When an idea comes set in some folks' heads it takes considerable force to pry it out.

Sometimes even a well trained brain will play its owner the trick of recording one thing when another or thing is seen or heard. A man who had been in the habit of sending his secretary out each day for a copy of The Daily Sensation said one morning, "I wish you would get me a copy of The Daily Flapdoodle—The Daily Flapdoodle, mind;" and as she left the office he called after her, "Be sure to get the Flapdoodle."

"Yes, I will," replied the secretary. And she came back with a copy of The Daily Sensation.

"I could swear on a stack of Bibles as high as the Washington monument," declared the secretary, "that I heard you say The Daily Sensation."

That was because every day for months that secretary had heard her employer say, "The Daily Sensation" and the idea had become fixed in her head. Probably she was thinking about something else when he told her to get a copy of "The Flapdoodle." Perhaps her thoughts were on what a good time she had had last night or was going to have tonight. Anyway, her brain was taken up with something that completely blocked the message that her ear heard.

The human mind is so fallible even at its best that one needs to watch it all the time. The brain is not an exact instrument; it is not nearly so trustworthy as a clock or a watch. One has to train oneself to keep one's wits about one, or one's wits are likely to cut up didos.

DINNER STORIES.

"What," he asked, "is three-sevenths of chicken, two-thirds of cat, one-half of goat?"

It was, of course, given-up. "Well," said the gimlet-eyed man, triumphantly, "the answer's Chicago. 'Chi' is three-sevenths of chicken, 'ca' is two-thirds of cat, and 'go' is one-half of goat."

Whereupon they threw him out of the place—New York Evening Post.

The circus acrobat found the clown in tears.

"What in the world are you crying about?" he asked.

"The elephant d-d-died," sobbed the clown.

"What of it? You didn't own him."

"N-no, b-but the boss says I've g-got to d-d-dig his g-grave."

A number of Moran citizens visited the Albany chamber of commerce luncheon Tuesday at noon. The gathering of the citizens of the two towns was to celebrate the completion of the highway connecting Moran and Albany. It is true that this highway draws these towns close together, there being only a few minutes required to cover the distance. Not only are we closer to Albany but all other towns on the north loop of the Bankhead that have the highway completed. We hope that during the next few months we will be connected with Cisco with a high type of highway, giving Shackelford county residents a highway across to the south loop of the Bankhead. Good roads are drawn by West Texas together. Some day airplanes will draw them still closer.

LOBO RESERVES FLASH TO DEFEAT MERKEL HIGH

Odie Stovall Scores Six Touchdowns Against Visitors; Bedford's Trained Toe Brings Joy; Ray Looks Good in Line

Coch W. B. Chapman had a terrible time trying to keep the score down Friday afternoon when his Big Dam Fighting Lobos tied up with the Class B Merkel aggregation, but even though he used none of his famous "Four Horsemen" to start the game and played every man on the squad except his first string backfield men and ends, the best he could do was let the score go to 74. It was just a case of Merkel being outclassed by the Lobos from start to finish. The little visitors fought gamely all the way but could do nothing to solve the Lobo attack, even when second and third string men faced them. In other words, it was just a plain runaway.

While Lobo fans who came to the game expecting something like a close contest were disappointed, they were amply repaid for braving the chilly breezes which brought the first day of really good football weather. They saw Chapman's reserves flash brilliantly and indicate that even though at some critical stage of the championship race he may be deprived of the services of two or three first string men, he has plenty of good men on the sidelines who are willing and able to do their bit for Cisco high whenever they are given a chance. Therefore, as far as those who have in the past been classed as regulars is concerned, let it suffice to say that they played their usual good football. This includes such men as Captain Bill Smith, Bates, Caldwell, Slattion and Moore who made up the starting line. Of this group, Slattion looked particularly good, the big boy appearing to enjoy every minute he was allowed to play. But for the most part, the story of Friday's game should be that of the reserves, those men who have not yet been starting the games but form Chapman's second choice for the team. In some cases, it is possible the men who started Friday may become his first choice.

Stovall Runs Wild
Chief among these should be mentioned Odie Stovall, a halfback whose showing heretofore has been more or less indifferent. But he looked like a new Odie Friday. He charged through the opposing line like a raging beast, slashing out long runs and carrying the ball over the goal line six of the eleven times it was crossed during the game. Stovall, who has plenty of weight and handles himself beautifully, gave the impression that it is going to be hard to keep him off the regular line up if he continues to play as he did Friday.

And there was "Eric" Van Horn. He was a veritable spark plug. The stocky little fellow opened the scoring with a touchdown and closed with a 90-yard return of a punt for the last touchdown. Even though his feet have been a source of bother to him all season, he was able to lope down the field at great speed, and viciously stiff-armed and sidestepped his adversaries.

A source of wonderment to the fans was the accurate toe of Marcel Bedford. This boy with the permanent wave kicked goal after touchdown every time he tried it. That was seven times. He proved he was no slouch of a ball carrier, either, by tearing off numerous good runs and carrying the ball over the goal line for three touchdowns.

In the line, "Red" Ray looked like a million dollars. This hefty boy from Cottonwood, playing his first season with the Lobos, charged and tackled like a veteran. He gave promise of being able to fill any gap in the line that may appear during the season. McCantle was another of the more promising linemen who performed during the day. With a little more experience, he is liable to make most any of them hustle for their jobs.

Ends Play Well
Jobe and Raymond Meadows played the ends in fine manner, and had two worthy understudies in Ezzell and Wesley Smith. That boy Wheatley, who went in at half toward the end of the game, showed he had speed and ability to get through the opposition which may make him a dangerous man. In the Mineral Wells game he flashed considerable speed and also got away with a good forward pass.

The performances of Boon are so familiar that little notice of his work is necessary here. The veteran from last year's squad swept through the opposition for repeated gains, and although he himself did not make any touchdowns, his excellent runs made it possible for others to score.

COUNTY TAX VALUATIONS SHOW GAIN

The assessed valuation of Eastland county shows a gain of about $1,250,000, as compared to a year ago, it was announced Saturday by County Judge Ed S. Pritchard and County Assessor W. J. Herrington.

Gain has been due chiefly to oil development and evidence of the strides in prosperity that are being made by the county.

Still more inspiring is the statement by Judge Pritchard that already still another gain of around $2,000,000 is in sight for next year due to the construction of pipe lines and mining plants that are now built but were erected too late to be included in this year's valuations.

The total assessed valuations are $7,074,920. Last year they totaled $5,800,000. Personal property, including oil production, is assessed at $18,809,222, land at $6,098,548, and improvements at $8,879,230. Bank valuations total $491,400. The school tax will bring slightly above $71,000. The poll taxes amount to 11,350, a gain of a little more than 1,000.

The county tax this year will be $1.85 for each $100 valuation and the state tax will be 67 cents, or a total of $2.52. The state tax is five cents and the county tax two cents more than last year.

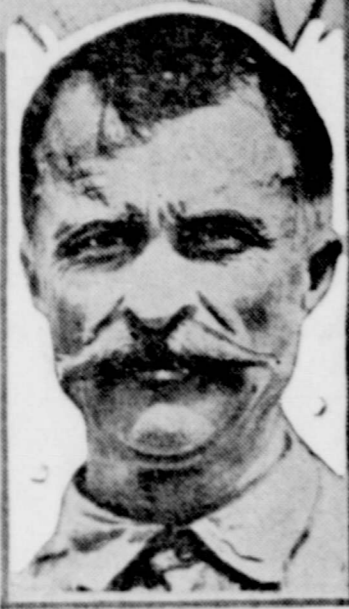

Ma Hints She May Get Back in Politics

AUSTIN, Oct. 9.—Forecast that the Ferguson's will be in the governor's race next year was made by Mrs. Ferguson, visiting the Texas state exposition here. Commenting on Governor Moody's refusal to invite other governors, she said to members of the committee: "Give Jim or me that chance two years from now and see what we do."

CLARA BOW AS 'HULA' COMES TO PALACE

Clara Bow appears in the grass skirts of an Hawaiian dancer as "Hula," primitive child of nature, in the picture of that name which will play Sunday and Monday at the Palace theater.

Clara is considered by many of her critics to have her best role to date in "Hula." The picture is designed not only to satisfy the star's large following of flapper fans but also to please those who consider themselves under-flappers or over-flappers.

The production is said to have everything in the way of color, romance and laughs. Laid in the Hawaiian Islands against a background of beauty and a strange mixture of high, but "fast living" society life in which an American girl is growing up, the tale is one with many enjoyable twists and turns.

Clara Bow as "Hula" is shown as a girl who prefers the outdoors to the set which surrounds her devoted but somewhat dissolute father.

Clive Brooks is the leading man and Arlette Marchal, vivid French beauty, has one of the principal roles. Miss Marchal has been in pictures in American several months. An added attraction Sunday and Monday is Jack Daniel and His Motely Boys.

Food is not understandable to many in the past, is fast losing its hold on the fans. They do not want to have to be told when to cheer. They want to know themselves when to hold. It must be a spontaneous matter. Our guess is that the goal posts will be moved back to their proper place on the goal line before another year begins, or the grand old game will wane rapidly in its popularity. 'Twas a funny thing out at Chesley field Thursday afternoon. A Cisco crowd was yelling for all its worth for Johnny Walker to make a touchdown. A few years ago it was different. Cisco was yelling for the Lobos to "Kill Johnny Walker," or something else more or less murderous. But now Johnny is one of us. He has joined the camp of the Badgers. Cisco is all behind him and the fears of a few seasons back now have turned to cheers for him. All of which proves how quickly sentiment of a crowd can change as regards an individual player. Another instance is that of LaVerle Andrus, Cisco end of

Coach Chapman brings back tidings of a much stronger San Angelo high team than has been customary in the past. It is to be hoped that Chapman's reports will be borne out when the Bobcats come here for the Lobo battle. San Angelo teams of the past have not been up to the standard for this district, and so teams scheduled to play San Angelo have not had the battles that were due. Good football teams thrive on stiff competition, and it is to be hoped the Bobcats get seriously in the race for the district title. It is bound to be good for the Bobcats and for district football, too. Oil Belt teams this year have had difficulty in obtaining teams for early season games. Most of the teams that hope to have a chance at the district championship have deferred their class A games until midseason or later. That means that practically no class A battles will be seen before the closing days of this month. Then all will come in a row. Since Stephenville and Brownwood have elected to go in to class B, that leaves only Eastland, Ranger, Breckenridge, Cisco, Abilene and San Angelo in the race. To make a full schedule, teams other than class A clubs have to be taken on. Few class B teams in this section are capable of giving a class A team a creditable battle. Therefore some of the high schools are taking on college reserve teams.

Abilene Wallops College Reserves

ABILENE, Oct. 8.—Coach Mayhew's high school Eagles got plenty of experience developing expertise Thursday afternoon in the game with the Howard Payne college reserves, taking a 64 to 9 victory from the Brownwood Baptists. The score was one-sided enough to suit even Mayhew, from all accounts; if he had wanted it higher he probably would have left his first team in the game, instead of giving more than a dozen substitutes a chance to play. Thursday's clash really was just one touchdown after another. The opposition which held San Angelo to a 13 to 6 score was not strong enough to test the power of the

COWBOY EVANS SELLS ORIGINAL OIL PROPERTY

The following article from the Mid-Continent Journal is of interest here where Cowboy Evans formerly had his headquarters:

"One of the spectacular successes in oildom in the last two or three years was Cowboy Evans, who is said to have at least three payoffs to his credit. His first great success was in the grassroot district on the line of Callahan and Shackelford counties. Here on two tracts of 60 and 120 acres, respectively, he drilled 15 shallow wells that marked him as a fortunate and successful oil operator. This was followed by other successful completions in the Cross Plains district and the Blake field in north Brown county, both of which made dollars out of cents to Evans and associates.

It is now announced that R. H. Manning and associates have purchased the settled production of Evans' first leases. The property is perfectly equipped and room for at least 20 more shallow wells. When these wells are completed, these leases should be real oil properties.

"Mr. Manning has not yet announced his plans in handling the property except to say that he intends to fully drill the leases to the present producing horizon as the equipment already on the property will care for all the wells that should be drilled. He also points out the fact that that area has three or four sands that have never been tested on the Evans property. The production in the neighborhood from these sands is of sufficient volume to warrant the assertion of the probability of real profit if they should underlie the recent purchase of that striking operator, A. H. Manning, of Fort Worth."

RANDOLPH TO HAVE BATTLE WITH CADETS

After having successfully opened the season by overwhelming the Daniel Baker reserves 32 to 0, the Randolph college Badgers are expected to face stiffer opposition this week when they meet the Texas Military college team from Terrell. The Cadets are said to have a strong eleven this season, and are due to give Coach Monroe Sweeney's group a stiff work out. Cup Wenzler, noted star with Baylor a few seasons back, is piloting the military school eleven this season, and his boys are said to be both big and fast.

MORAN PLANS BIG FAIR FOR OCTOBER 15

MORAN, Oct. 8.—The Moran Luncheon club decided at their regular meeting that the Moran fair would be held in Moran Saturday, October 15. A. A. Smith is chairman of the fair committee and is working up a program and exhibits that will be a credit to Moran. County Agent A. C. Magee is working with Mr. Smith and his committee, and is arranging exhibits, prizes and other necessary plans for the fair. The main business section will be roped off for the fair, and all exhibits will be on that street, and will be properly taken care of.

The principal event of the fair will be the poultry show. County Agent Magee stated that the fowls would be judged on the utility basis rather than for show fowls. This will enable practically every farmer in this community to participate in the show. Together with the poultry department, a women's department will be held, and other events will be announced later.

The Moran business men are making up a prize list that will be worth while. Practically 200 prizes will be awarded. Ribbons will also be printed and awarded first, second and third winners in the various events.

Prominent people will be here on that date to judge and lecture to those who attend the fair. A live program is being arranged, and will be announced, together with the prizes at an early date.

BULLDOGS WIN MORAL VICTORY OFF FRESHMEN

RANGER, Oct. 8.—The Ranger high Bulldogs continued to flash in excellent style here Friday afternoon when they held the strong Texas Christian University freshman team to a score of 13 to 0. Although Ranger was defeated by the score it was a moral victory for Coach Blair Cherry, because the Horned Frogs, who will be the varsity men of next season, were routed to beat the Bulldogs by a much larger score. This is the same team that defeated Randolph college last season in spite of the work of Ernie Wilson, Cecil Couch and others.

In spite of their weight, which averaged about 10 pounds more than that of Ranger, the T. C. U. boys were held to one touchdown until the last three minutes of play. Roberts had made a touchdown early in the first quarter.

Fall Selling Beats Last Year, He Says

Judged by the manner in which Oakland-Pontiac dealers in all sections of the country are ordering cars in excess of their quotas, the fall selling season gives every indication of being the best in the history of the Oakland Motor Car company, according to W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales. "Considering the volume of business we have in sight," says Mr. Tracy, "I believe it is a pretty fair indication that practically all of the new model cars are out and the public has no further uncertainty about making its choice. Our reports from district managers and field representatives and orders from dealers have caused us to boost our September and October production schedules. "Our production for August was the largest we have ever had for that month and topped last year's total by approximately 3,000 Oakland and Pontiac cars; while our scheduled production for this month and October will likewise be the largest September and October output we have ever had. "In fact, September will be our second best month's production during 1927, being topped only by the May production, when 24,058 cars were manufactured. The September production calls for 22,197 Oakland and Pontiac cars. "The total for the two months of September and October this year will top the figures of the last year by approximately 12,000 cars—the gain being quite evenly divided between the two months."

A GREATER TELEPHONE SYSTEM FOR TEXAS

Texas Telephone News A Journal of Telephone Information Published by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company Vol. II No. 10

Switchboard Important Part of Telephone Equipment

Switchboard Mathematics The heavy lines, numbers 1, 2, and 3, show the talk tracks possible between three segregated pairs of telephones. The dotted lines show the communication lines added when the six telephones are interconnected through a switchboard.

Makes Communication Possible Between All Telephones In the Nation

The invention and development of the switchboard has been the one thing which has made possible a telephone system, whereby each subscriber can talk to any other subscriber. Without the switchboard it would be physically impossible to have a telephone service such as we have today. The illustration to the left shows the number of telephone tracks which would be necessary in order that any one of six telephones might be connected with any other one. Each telephone would have to have a line to the other five telephones, a total of 15 separate talk tracks. However, by the use of a switchboard only six lines are required, a line from each telephone to the switchboard. Thus the switchboard with only six actual telephone lines affords 15 possible lines of communication.

VOICE TRACKS In a city with 500 telephones, connected through a switchboard, there are 124,750 lines of communication; in a city with 10,000 telephones there are 49,995,000 lines of communication.

Thus it is evident that the switchboard is a very important essential in the supplying of telephone service.

BARGAIN RATES Bargain rates for long distance telephone service are in effect every day after 7 in the evening. These rates apply on station-to-station calls, that is, on calls where you agree to talk to anyone who answers at the called telephone. You will be surprised at the reasonable charge for calls placed during the bargain hours. Between 7 and 8:30 in the evening rates are about 25 per cent less than the day rate, and after 8:30 p. m. the reduction is about 50 per cent of the day rate.
