MELLON TAX CUT SMALL

Total of $227,000,000 Would Be Slashed From Revenue Instead of $400,000,000 Sought by Democrats

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Secretary of Treasury Mellon proposed a tax cut of not to exceed $227,000,000 when he appeared before the house ways and means committee today to present the administration's views on the 1928 taxation bills.

The Mellon schedule would reduce the 13.12 per cent corporation tax with estimated loss of $135,000,000 annually; second, establish partnership basis of taxation for corporations of under $25,000 income and with less than 10 stockholders; third, readjustment of surtax rates, especially benefiting taxpayers with incomes ranging from $18,000 to $20,000, with a $55,000,000 revenue loss. Fourth, repeal of the federal estates tax. Fifth, tax exemption on income derived from American bankers' acceptances held by American foreign central banks of entry.

The total tax reduction proposed by Secretary Mellon is considerably below the $400,000,000 figure which had been set by Democrats, and is expected to bring on a terrific fight in the forthcoming session of congress.

Fall Profited From Big Oil Deal With Texan, Government Claims in Sinclair Hearing

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The signature of Harry F. Sinclair on an oil contract that produced profits of $1,000,000,000, part of which found their way into the hands of former Secretary of Interior Fall, was shown to the oil conspiracy trial jury today. The government is contending that the money Fall got was a bribe from Sinclair for the purpose of securing a lease on the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve. The contract was between the Continental Trading Co. of Canada and the late Col. A. E. Humphreys of Texas, providing for purchase by the Continental of 33,000,000 barrels of oil at $1.50 a barrel, Sinclair's signature was that of guarantor in behalf of the Continental.

99 Years Given Haskell Slayer

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 31.—Guilty, with a penalty of 99 years in the State penitentiary was the verdict late Saturday of a jury at Haskell in the trial of Joe and Walter King, brothers, charged with the murder of J. K. Beauchamp, night watchman, on Oct. 23, 1926. The King brothers testified at their trial that they shot Beauchamp when he surprised them in the act of robbing a store.

Lewis E. Starr, Cisco traveling salesman, left today on the Sunshine Special for Memphis, Tenn., to join a party of southern automobile jobbers' salesmen for a trip to the factory of Sparks-Wilmington Co. at Jackson, Michigan, makers of Sparta horns. An annual three-day party will be held at the factory. The trip was won by Mr. Starr by selling a specified amount from the year past. He also won ten special prizes during the year. Only two other salesmen in Texas won the trip. This is the second time Mr. Starr has won the trip as he was the only Texas salesman to qualify in 1925.

B. B. Longene, secretary of the Cisco Retail Merchants' association and deputy sheriff, was as busy as a one-armed man at a free lunch counter. He was getting out warrants in Justice of the Peace J. H. McDonald's court for the arrest of nine persons alleged to have passed bad checks on local merchants. "There has been a noticeable increase in the number of bad checks written here in the last two weeks," he said. "Most of these are written on banks outside of Cisco, and cause considerable trouble in collection. If the business houses would use greater caution in cashing out of town checks, then their chances for loss would be considerably less."

Cisco police were called to the residence of Bob Gilman about 2:30 Sunday morning in quest of an intruder reported to have been heard about the house. However, the intruder had gone when the officers arrived, and nothing was missed from the house, it was said.

Guy Albright, cameraman for Gaithe News, passed up the Texas-S. M. U. football game of last Saturday to come to Cisco and film the Cisco-Breckenridge game. He revealed while here. He had been scheduled to film the college game, but came here on appeals from the Cisco and Breckenridge chambers of commerce. "But those long runs by Little were worth coming to see," he declared. Mr. Albright hopes to get back to this section November 25 to film the Cisco and Abilene football game at Abilene.

IMPEACHMENT OF OKLAHOMA CHIEF LOOMS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31.—Opponents of the governor were in the open today for the first time with a synopsis of their charges against Governor Henry S. Johnston. Representative H. Tom Knight of Claremore and E. T. Hill of McAlester declared in a public statement that sufficient members of the lower house had joined in the movement to assure a session, should the executive refuse to act. Matters declared by Knight and Hill to demand immediate inquiry and correction are as follows: Imposition of bidders on state highway projects; alleged honeycombing of the state highway department with employees unauthorized by law; discrimination in regard to certain bonding corporations; in state business; expenditure of state banking department funds for employment of special attorneys in violation of a pledge to the legislature; creation of the office of "confidential secretary" for Mrs. O. O. Hammonds without sanction of law; appointment of a committee to secure higher appropriations for use by the governor's office; granting of special commissions to "outlaw" guaranteeing them immunity; use of political pressure by the governor to bring about removal of a member of the faculty at the Tomkawa state preparatory school in favor of a friend of the executive; conflict between the state supreme court and the court of criminal appeals as shown in the handling of the case of former Representative O. O. Owens.

J., Oct. 31.—Apparently going suddenly insane, Frederick Sanborne, 49, today shot and killed his wife, Maude, mortally wounded his son, Jack, 16, attacked his oldest son, Frederick, and then killed himself. Another son, Albert, escaped by running from the Sanborne home where the mad attack was staged.

MILLIKIN'S FATE TO GO TO JURY SOON

LOCKHART, Oct. 31.—The case of A. V. Millikin, condemned slayer of Mrs. Virginia Petty, San Antonio realtor, was expected to be in the hands of the jury tonight. He is being tried here on an insanity charge in an effort to save him from the electric chair.

Judge Jeffrey today began preparation of his charge to the jury in the insanity trial of A. V. Millikin, condemned slayer of Mrs. Virginia Petty. Closing arguments will follow and the case will be in the hands of the jury tonight. The defense failed today in an effort to have the evidence rule changed and played no rebuttal witnesses on the stand as they had planned. Judge W. E. Hawkins argued to the court that the common law rule of evidence which would allow introduction of all pertinent evidence should be followed.

PERMITS FOR 13 DAMS PUT BEFORE BOARD

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—Hearing was held before the state board of water engineers today on 13 applications filed for permission to impound water in Kerr, Fisher, Hill, Fayette, Williamson, Bastrop, Shackelford, Refugio, Zapata, Webb and Val Verde counties. All of these applications with one exception would divert waters of Texas streams for irrigation and industrial purposes. James C. Kennedy of Dallas is seeking permit to construct a reservoir on Devil's river, tributary to the Rio Grande in Valverde county, for a power project.

DIXON MAY BE TRANSFERRED AT HATCHERY

Orders for transfer of Joe Dixon, superintendent of the state fish hatchery at Lake Cisco, to the new Wichita Falls hatchery have been issued, effective Thursday of this week, according to word received here. As a result, several telegrams were sent by Cisco on Monday to William J. Tucker, state game, fish and oyster commissioner, asking him to reconsider his action in ordering the transfer and let Dixon remain here. Dixon has had remarkable success in operating the fish hatchery here during the first six months of operation, and has made many friends here who are endeavoring to have him retained. The hatchery here was opened so late in the spring it was believed no fish would be hatched, but under Dixon's superintendency, the hatchery raised more fish than any other in the state this year, it is said.

New Baptist Church Packed Beyond Capacity For Opening Service Here Sunday Night; Other Pastors Laud It

Despite the spaciousness of the large auditorium, the First Baptist church was packed beyond capacity Sunday evening with extra chairs in the aisles and many standing up. The occasion was the formal opening of the handsome new building, and other churches in the city dismissing for the evening so as to attend the Baptist service. This was the first time many of those in the audience had seen the interior of the structure, and there was much praise for its great beauty, excellent equipment, and efficient arrangement. Following the program, many were ushered through the Sunday school department and other rooms of the church.

In addition to the pastor, Rev. Acker C. Miller, four other Cisco pastors occupied places on the platform, as did Dr. T. T. Roberts, president of Randolph college; Mayor J. M. Williamson; J. E. Spencer, chairman of the purchasing committee of the church; and R. Q. Lee, chairman of the building committee. All the visiting pastors, Dr. Roberts and Mayor Williamson praised the Baptist congregation for their courage in undertaking to build such a structure and for their spirit of cooperation that made its completion possible. The church was declared to be probably the finest in West Texas, and it was predicted it will have great effect on the spiritual life of the city.

Visiting pastors who spoke were: Rev. B. C. Boney, First Presbyterian; Rev. I. W. Lawrence, East Cisco Baptist; Rev. Thomas Lenox, First Christian; and Rev. P. T. Stanford, First Methodist.

Mr. Elliott will endeavor to learn just where the hitch in the matter lies in an effort to relieve the situation.

WORK ON NEW COURTHOUSE TO START JAN. 1

EASTLAND, Oct. 31.—While the preliminary work necessary to be done before actual construction on Eastland county's new $200,000 court house can be started, is being disposed of as rapidly as possible, it is not probable that work on the new building will be started before the first of the new year. In fact it looks now like it would be that time before the work of razing the old building is begun. Quarters for the various county officials must be secured before they can move out of the old building. It is virtually certain that the district courts and the district clerk will have temporary quarters at the city hall. A number of the old Eastern High school building and the county clerk may possibly be located in the basement of the Texas State bank building, which the chamber of commerce is now preparing to vacate.

2 MORE NEW HOMES BEING BUILT HERE

Permits for two more new residences for Cisco, and for repairs to two other buildings were obtained from the city clerk Monday. One permit was for a five-room frame residence for Jack Anderson to be built on West Ninth street at a cost of $2,500. A. D. Anderson is to build a six-room residence on West Ninth to cost $3,500. T. H. Moore will repair a building at 488 West Second street at a cost of $800. The other permit was for remodeling the Commercial State bank building, recently bought by R. Q. Lee. A concrete floor will be placed in the building and office space for Mr. Lee will be arranged in the back of the building. Remodeling of the front part of the building will await its being rented.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY PROMISE—He shall call upon Me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honor him.—Ps. 91:15.

THE GRATEFUL IMMIGRANT Dr. A. P. Drucker, who came to America when 17 years old and has found in this land education, freedom and prosperity, thinks he has a debt to pay. So he is leaving a good position in Colorado College and going to Mena, Ark., where he will give his services gratis for a year in a college where students are taught for nothing. It is a fine thing to do, and might well be emulated by thousands of other Americans, immigrant and native. Too seldom does any student, after finding a successful place in the world, repay in so direct a way the sacrifices made by others to educate him. Our educational institutions, generally speaking, are run on money paid by a few, often men who themselves had no educational advantages in their youth. Be it said to the credit of American immigrants, however, that far more of them than the public knows about do repay their educational debt by helping newer immigrants. The entire public may pay the school taxes, but the personal work of adapting the new-comer to his environment is done mainly by immigrants who have already made good and are glad to pass along what they have learned.

MILK BY MAIL Eastern bakers are said to be making their bread with milk from California. It comes in the form of a fine, white powder. Liquid milk is seven-eighths water. Driving out the water by a modern dehydration process, manufacturers turn out a product that has all the food value of the original milk and will keep fresh indefinitely, and can be shipped cheaply. Eventually, a dairy expert prophesies, we shall have milk delivered by mail in this concentrated form. Then we shall merely add water to turn it into a liquid again, or to make up the necessary bulk for any purpose. Bakers and housewives—and men in camping trips, too—find such powders useful; not merely because of their lightness and their "keeping" quality, but because the dry powder mixes so easily with other ingredients in making cakes, biscuit, pancakes, etc. Ice cream manufacturers are using powdered skim milk mixed with butter to make ice cream. Live stock raisers are using it to fatten hogs. Powdered eggs are coming into use for similar reasons. This age is witnessing a transformation in foodstuffs, which keep pretty close to the old fundamentals as far as food values are concerned, but continually provide new conveniences in handling and using the materials.

SUPERFLUOUS PENSIONS Missouri congressmen are planning to introduce a bill providing for a congressional medal of honor and a pension of $4,000 a year for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. Nothing is too good for Lindbergh, in view of the stimulus he has given to aviation and the example he has set to American youth in manhood, courage and skill. Let him have the medal, by all means to add to his collection. But the pension is another matter. Of all the young men now in the public eye, it may strike an observer that Lindbergh is least in need of a pension. If that lad has any incapacity for taking care of himself, nobody has ever noticed it. If he were disabled in flying, there might be some point to a pension for him; or if he were killed, a pension for his mother.

"THE OLD ORDER CHANGETH" Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the Nation and grandson of William Lloyd Garrison, is appalled at the political ignorance of the American public. "America has lost the art of political thinking," he says. "The average American business man knows no more of politics than to believe that Liberalism, left wing Socialism, Bolshevism, Communism and Anarchy are one and the same thing." And if the business man's thinking is so confused, how about the thinking of the masses? We must be a pretty dumb lot, in matters of political history and economics. Most of us, apparently, though confusing these various schools of thought, condemn them all in a lump. It is a conservative age. Yet what happens? Probably just about what has been happening all along. "Political doctrines branded as 'socialistic' half a century ago," says Mr. Villard, "are accepted as conservative measures today." That is to say, our political and economic thinking slowly grows broader and more liberal. What seems the radicalism of one generation may come to be the conservatism of the next generation and the reactionism of the generation after that. There is a general progress in the direction of more popular government, more democratic ideals and practices, in spite of occasional swings backward. The liberal idea, when it does come to prevail through persuasion of the majority, prevails so slowly and gradually that most of us notice no change. Those who do notice it usually find to their amazement that the heavens do not fall, nor does hell rise up from the abyss, but things go on pretty much as before, only perhaps a little better. "The old order changeth, yielding place to new, And God fulfills himself in many ways, Lest one good custom should corrupt the world."

Human Interest Editorials By WICKES WAMBOLDT

DON'T GET EXCITED One day Major Murray died. Major Murray was the executive head of a certain old folks' home. After the major had been buried, the inmates of the institution got together and held a gloom conference. There was no doubt but the home would go to the heavens. Major Murray was dead. He was the one who had the real interest in the place and had kept it going. He saw that this and that and the other things were done; and there wouldn't be anybody to see that anything was done, so those folks were so unfortunate as to have to live in such a place, or to fortunate as to have such a place to live in, would be without shelter for their heads or food for their stomachs. Ghosh, ghosh, ghosh.

CHAPTER II—Continued "Gold!" gasped Don Hernandez in unexpressed eagerness, smiling happily at his brother. But the head of the house replied coldly, "No, my brother, a gold rush is to be deplored. Gold awakens greed and lust—it spurs no one—our laborers will leave—it will mean a social upheaval."

The youth's enthusiasm waned with his smile. He had thought only of the adventure and nothing of the disastrous consequences. But his mother knew and sighed, "Gold and money mean so little, my sons, they cannot buy dreams, a good name and peace." However, these fine immaterial niceties of life meant nothing to red blooded men. Practically every able bodied male in the state, thrilled with the news and prospects of gold, pulled up stakes and hit the trail to Sutter's Mill. That is, with the exception of the Spaniards, who with their usual love of lazy indolence and ease, failed to join the new progressive enterprise or sell their aristocratic fingers in gold digging. As soon as the news was passed on by galloping horsemen the gold rush became an actuality. Unwilling to admit the menace, Senora Vasquez turned into the hacienda with her sons. Their guests were few, shortly, and they must be ready to extend every hospitality. No sooner had they left the patio than a faithful peon came running in breathless and stopped before them to whisper of his soiled cap and gasp in great agitation: "In the stable yard, señor—Captain Stoner and his sailor men—steal your horses!"

"The fiends!" snapped Vasquez angrily. Hernandez, agitated by an equal anger, leaped to his feet and raced headlong down the stairs. It was a call to arms! "Wait, my brother," called the elder, "I am the head of the house of Vasquez! You remain with our Mother and leave weighty matters to me."

With this reminder he disappeared in the house. Hardly a moment elapsed before he returned brandishing the great sword of the Vasquez. The same splendid blade that had been plunged into San Francisco ground by their illustrious ancestor seventy-two years earlier. Don Hernandez was crestfallen and disappointed at being denied a chance to share in the excitement and avenge their name, but obedience to the head of the family had always been the first law of Spanish life. He reluctantly remained at his mother's side.

Dolores Costello in "OLD SAN FRANCISCO" is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

One loyal and courageous little servant grasped the bride of his Master's favorite horse when he saw that Captain Stoner was about to mount and ride him away without permission. "Spawn of the Devil!" cursed Stoner, "cast off!" and he knocked the peon backward with a cruel blow. The helpless heap of abused humanity rolled and fell unconscious at Vasquez's feet. "Captain Stoner! What does this mean?" demanded the young master, his Spanish eyes flashing with righteous fury. "It means we've worked for you long enough," Stoner eyed his youthful employer with deadly calm. "You'll find your ship at anchor in the bay. We've resigned and are taking our pay in horses—understand?"

The sailors mounted on saddled steeds, gave mute evidence of the fact. Like a true son of a long line of proud aristocrats, Vasquez stood his ground. "Stoner, you forget that I am head of the House of Vasquez." His eyes took on a deadly glint. "I order you to replace my property and return to your ship at once."

"You shall not leave the Vasquez estate on stolen horses unless you ride me down."

A quick intake of breath was followed by an amazed silence and Vasquez stood stunned by Stoner's defiance. "All aboard for the gold fields, men!" signalled the Captain, and his sailors climbed into their saddles. Vasquez suddenly regained his senses and sprang into the archway to bar their departure with his body. "You shall not leave the Vasquez estate on stolen horses unless you ride me down." It was a grand gesture, devoid of all pretense and show—he meant it. The sun shone blindingly on the famous Vasquez sword as he held it high in his out-flung arm. The sailors pulled in their horses to a standstill and eyed their Captain inquiringly. Stoner did not mount, but his mind was made up. The defiance of a romantic Spaniard was not going to alter his plans. Whipping out a pistol he fired in cold blood—at the haughty youth who was defending property and name with his very life.

A blood red spot grew on the breast of Vasquez's soft white shirt. He swayed on his feet. His left hand crept up—not to ease the pain, but to stop his life's blood from oozing out until he had had a chance to prove that his eyes could still see and that his right hand was still strong and true enough to avenge his insult. The report of Stoner's cowardly shot echoed in Senora Vasquez's heart. Instinctively she knew that it had found its mark in her son. Don Hernandez heard, it too, and without hesitancy rushed around the hacienda eager to take his place beside his brother.

Back in the stable yard the peon laborers and vaqueros were huddled together in fear and trembling, the sailors were stunned into silence, but Captain Stoner—a leech upon his big loose lips—blew through the smoking barrel of his revolver with glowering satisfaction. Summoning the last bit of his remaining strength, Vasquez lunged toward Stoner with drawn sword. His mouth, distorted with pain, opened pitifully to cry out, "A Vasquez avenges a Vasquez!" but the strain was too great and he fell tering to the tiled floor. (To be continued.)

GORMAN GOES AFTER COLLEGE NOW PROPOSED

GORMAN, Oct. 31.—Efforts may be made by the citizens of Gorman to have the new college proposed by the Church of God located in that city. A meeting of the leaders of that congregation is soon to be held in Dallas at which time the new school and its location will be discussed, if not decided upon. Since the Church of God holds its annual state convocation at Gorman where it owns considerable valuable property and since Gorman is known to the bigger part of the members of the church as well as thousands of the laymen over the state, Gorman citizens feel that they have a good chance to get the new college located there.

LUTHERANS GO TO ABILENE FOR DISTRICT MEET

Approximately 150 Lutherans on the various young people's societies of this vicinity met at Abilene for a rally yesterday. The societies were especially well presented. There were 23 from the society of Grace church, and out 15 from Christ's church, miles south of Cisco. Besides these there were about 12 from the Albany and Sagerton and out 7 from Loraine. The rally opened with a service at Zion Lutheran church in which the Cisco pastor, H. F. Peiman delivered a very inspirational address on faithfulness. The pastor told the young people that "being faithful" means being "full of faith," and being "loyal and true." By the example of Abraham and Moses, the prophetical woman, the centurion of Capernaum, and above all the example of young David, he appealed to the young people to be full of faith.

"Our God is a faithful God," said the pastor. "We can rely on His promises, and His promises give us every reason to be full of faith."

In the second part of his sermon the pastor appealed to the young people to be loyal and true, loyal to your God, loyal to your church, loyal in the spending of your time, loyal in the saving of your money, loyal as a member of your young people's society, and loyal and true in every little task that your society congregation may place upon you.

The choir of the Abilene church rendered several beautiful selections. Especially fitting was their rendition after the sermon, "I will be loyal and true." After this service the young people gathered at the Lake Inn where all present were served with sandwiches, cake and lemonade. At the business meeting following the supper, Christ's church south of Cisco was chosen for the next rally to be held sometime in May. The balance of the evening was then spent in games and contests.

The name of the West Texas number of commerce heads the list of contributors to the $25,000 fund being raised by the Texas Federation of Women's clubs for the entertainment of the biennial session in San Antonio next spring in recognition of the constructive services performed by the federation. Delegates from every state in the union and from many foreign countries will be in attendance at this mammoth woman's club meeting. The seven districts of Texas Federation of Women's clubs are making free will offerings to raise the $25,000 fund to finance the international and national session at San Antonio. Mrs. Homer D. RANGER, Oct. 31.—Cal Barnes of No. 89 of Ranger is planning a stage on Armistice day parade Nov. 11, at which time the 77 Type German siege gun and two 100-pound shells secured last week from Austin, will be paraded down Main street and then unvelled with suitable ceremonies in front of the Ghoulson hotel.

The gun was shipped out of Austin Friday and after it is unvelled in Ranger it will be displayed possibly at the Willows park at the Texas & Pacific station until Ranger gets a municipal park or federal building.

Abilene and Eastland Battle This Week While Cisco Rests; San Angelo and Ranger Fight For Cellar Title

Following the two Class A battles in the Oil Belt district during the week end, three teams have emerged undefeated and still definitely in the race for the district championship. These teams are Cisco, which now has two conference wins to its credit; Abilene, which has the scalp of Ranger on its belt; and Eastland which has tied one conference game and won another. San Angelo and Ranger, both defeated twice, are now considered entirely out of the championship race, while Breckenridge, defeated here Saturday by Cisco after having been tied by Eastland and winning over San Angelo, has but slight chance at the honor of the surviving teams. Cisco will rest during the coming week, but Saturday will find Abilene and Eastland at grips at Eastland. The Eagles are the overwhelming favorites to defeat the Mavericks, due to the fact that they defeated Ranger 33 to 0, while the best Eastland could do was beat the Bulldogs by one touchdown. However, it must be borne in mind that Ranger had lost both the Short twins, star players, in the interim between the Eastland game and that with Abilene, and in addition had suffered in morale from the defeat and loss of these men. Therefore, Abilene caught the Bulldogs at their lowest strength, while Eastland found them at their greatest. In this week's game, Abilene is also due to suffer considerably from being the favorite, and Eastland fans are praying for another such upset as that when the Mavericks beat Ranger.

The other Class A game in this district this week will be that at Ranger, in which the Bulldogs, champions of the district last season, will be making a desperate fight against San Angelo to keep from finishing the 1927 season in the cellar.

Game Preservation in Texas Gains Public Sentiment; Counties Once Exempt From Laws Protection

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—Former opposition to game conservation laws is gradually giving way to a general acceptance of their value by the public, according to the annual report of State Game, Fish and Oyster Commissioner Will Tucker, filed with Governor Moody today. Counties that formerly asked exemption from the game laws are now asking to be included, Tucker reported. More than 50 state game preserves, covering 2,000,000 acres, together with large pastures where hunting is permitted only in a limited way are bringing Texas back its game supply.

An enormous increase in quail, good increases in turkey and doves and a fair increase in white tail deer and antelope were noted. In a few instances there was a decrease of deer due to the change of timbered lands into farms. Supplies of migratory birds, such as duck and geese, was reported as increasing. There was also a decrease in mule or blacktail deer and mountain sheep though steps are being taken in cooperation with ranch owners to preserve the species.

Prairie chickens have increased in the panhandle but are not reproducing well in southeast Texas. An attempt to breed them in captivity is planned with a view to restocking.

Plans are also being worked out, Tucker reported, to wage more effective war on predatory animal and birds. The crow is the object of such attacks. It is recommended that the crow population be reduced because of their fondness for the eggs and fledglings of game and song birds.

No accurate report is available on the kill of the past season but the record on 89 shooting preserves shows 1427 ducks, 1329 turkeys, 67294 ducks, 998 geese and 235 brants. There was an increase of 12,000 hunting licenses for the year and an increased game collection. This, together with oil royalties, brought game funds to $123,498.

Deploing a decrease in the fish supply, Tucker declared "a stream without fish is a miscarriage of social justice." The decrease took place despite the scarce distribution of 241,525 fish from hatcheries. To offset the decrease the department is now carrying on investigations to reduce fish mortality and to save the fish stranded in streams and lakes that go dry. Within a few months, 275,341 fish were transferred and the total transfer is estimated at 500,000. This is to be one of the major operations of the department in the future.

Progress was reported in the introduction of rainbow trout into the cooler streams of the state and hope was expressed that they will propagate in the raceways of various hatcheries.

Coast fishing, Hatcher said, is still an unsolved problem with the interest of sportsmen and commercial fishers conflicting. The department is taking a middle course and expressed hope of an "armistice" at some future time.

"We are told," said Tucker, "on the one hand that we need bays filled with fish to attract tourists, and on the other, that they should be open to fishermen who supply the market."

Investigations being carried on as to means to preserve the small fish in the landlocked waters along the coast were reviewed together with contemplated plans to cut passages into the gulf waters to reduce salinity and heat.

Commercially the report showed a small decrease in the fish catch and a decided fall in the oyster catch but an increase for shrimp. Total fishery revenue collections by the state increased $7,649 over the preceding year. Total loss in catch for the past two years was 3,000,000 pounds. Fishermen blame this on the greater restriction of area. Oyster reduction is due to drought.

About 1,000,000 pounds of shrimp will be canned out of the annual catch of 1,752,299 pounds.

In closing his report, Commissioner Tucker made the following recommendations:

A statewide limit for the daily catch of fresh water fish and an adequate size limit for channel cat fish.

Closed season on all fresh water fish for February, March and April. There is now a closed season for bass, crappie and white perch in March and April.

General revision of the fish, shrimp and oyster laws.

Elimination of troutine fishing in western counties.

Universal hunting license of $2. Non-resident big game license for deer, turkey and bear of $15. Non-resident small game license of $5. Change white wing dove season to August and September.

He recommends also that the commissioner be empowered to close any county or group of counties for as long as five years against the shooting of game, either bird or animal, introduced into such counties, either to establish a non-native species or to re-establish one that has disappeared.

Texas Business Conditions in Excellent Shape

Heavy Liquidation at Banks and Mercantile Establishments Looks Mighty Good For Future

DALLAS, Oct. 31.—Heavy liquidations at both banks and mercantile establishments, the rising tide of bank deposits, the increasing volume of public spending and the large volume of funds seeking an investment outlet were outstanding developments during the past month, said the monthly business review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, released today.

"Reports from many sections of the district say that farmers are paying off as rapidly as possible both old and current indebtedness and the banks are seeking investment outlet for their funds," the report said.

"Such a development greatly strengthens the district's banking situation and places the individual banks in a position to meet the legitimate demands of their customers out of their own resources."

"The volume of lending in September as measured by debits to individual accounts was 21 per cent greater than in August and two per cent above the same month in 1926."

Federal Reserve bank loans to member banks declined from a peak of $16,079,112 on September 22 to $12,976,857 on October 15 and on the latter date were $11,621,000 less than on the corresponding date of 1926.

An active demand for merchant disc in both wholesale and retail channels was reported. Department store sales reflected a seasonal gain of 32 per cent over the previous month but were four per cent under September, 1926. The outlook for the future is promising, the report added.

"While there was a further reduction in the estimated yield of cotton," it continued, "production this year compares favorably with the average for the preceding five years and the higher prices, together with the farmers' large equity in the crop will provide a large net return."

"With all crops practically matured, it is now evident that this district will harvest large feed crops which will be sufficient not only to supply the needs with respect to making next year's crops but also provide a surplus for the market."

"The livestock situation has shown improvement and present indications are that livestock will go into the winter in good condition. There is an unusually heavy demand for stocker cattle and prices are the highest in several years."

"Construction activity was reported as reflecting a 10 per cent decline as compared to August but was nine per cent larger than in September, 1926."

BRECKENRIDGE GIVEN GERMAN WAR TROPHY

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 31.—The big German gun which the Bernice Cole post of the American legion has secured as its share of the trophies of war captured by the American forces during the world war is due to be shipped immediately, according to the committee which visited Austin the other day and secured the consent of Governor Moody and the adjutant general to donate the gun to the local post. The big trophy should arrive within the next few days for use in the Armistice celebration to be staged here and afterwards to be mounted upon the court house lawn.

Some disappointment was met with by the committee in the fact that none of the larger guns allotted to Texas had been shipped. The gun secured by Breckenridge weighs over 5,000 pounds, however, and is no small affair. It is a howitzer, shooting a 150 centimeter shell, three of which have been secured to go with the weapon. The big mass of steel will form a very interesting addition to the county lawn, squatting upon the concrete base to be built for it. In case the larger guns should be sent to Texas the local post plans to exchange the present trophy for one of these.

MARRS TO DINE WITH FORD AT WAYSIDE INN

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—Prof. S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction, has accepted an invitation from Henry Ford to be a member of a party of educators who will dine with the automobile manufacturer at the famous Wayside Inn, Boston, Mass., February 25.

Department superintendents of the National Educational association which met in Dallas several months ago, will attend a meeting at Boston February 26. These educators also will be guests of Henry Ford. The dinner probably will be attended by some fifty prominent educators. Invitation was extended by Payson Smith, commissioner of education in Massachusetts, on behalf of Henry Ford.

Amusements

"THE BIG PARADE" AT PALACE TOMORROW

"The Big Parade" will open at the Palace theater tomorrow. It comes from well known studios and hands, those of Laurence Stallings and King Vidor, and it is graced by such performers as John Gilbert and Renee Adoree. Of individual honors, I suppose, the greatest belongs to that familiar figure in the world of the photoplay—Mr. Vidor. The admirable American director—one of the painfully few admirable American directors—proved conclusively that he is a very clever man at fashioning dynamic com-quences, at bringing to pictorial life rich, rough humor, and moving romantic sentiment.

Mr. Vidor excels in the ending of the first half of the photoplay, wherein he brings fine cinema imagination to the picturing of Mellie standing between the moving lines of trucks and doughboys, searching frantically for her lover. And he donates a like imagination to a succession of fadeouts wherein a moving camera processes a body of marching men. Throughout he uses close-ups in telling manner of Van Strahlin, and he shows that he knows how to picture machinery and moving objects in a dynamic manner.

Only four shows will be held daily—at 1:00, 3:30, 6:00 and 8:30.

Lodge Declared Church Competitors

HOUSTON, Oct. 31.—Chief of modern day competition to churches is found in lodges. Such was the declaration of Rev. W. D. Ryan, pastor, First Christian church here, at the 1927 convention of the Houston District of Christian churches, final sessions of which have just ended. "Lodges have risen in the esteem, support and demand of men," the minister admitted, "and the time has come when men will go to a lodge meeting in preference to a church meeting if they fall on the same night."

Rev. Ryan was elected president of the district. Rev. B. D. Clark, Rosenberg, vice president and Rev. Harry Ryd Kline, Port Arthur, secretary. Port Arthur was selected as the 1928 convention city.

Eastland to Work Behind Closed Gate

EASTLAND, Oct. 31.—"Positively no admittance" will be the rule this week at Maverick field. The team will work out behind barred gates and no one except the players and coach will be admitted. The Tribune has been asked to make this announcement so that the public will remain away. There will be absolutely no exceptions to this rule and you will be saved the embarrassment of a refusal if you remain away.

Next Saturday's game against Abilene will be a hard-fought one and the team is going to work hard to make as splendid a showing as a week ago against Ranger.

How to Recover Lost Strength

Abilene, Texas.—"I can heartily recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to any one who is in need of a good tonic. I take it in the fall to fortify myself against colds and grippe. I also take it in the spring and find it of great benefit. In the winter of 1919 I had a severe attack of influenza which left me in bad condition. I did not want anything to eat, could sleep but little and was very nervous. I took two bottles of the 'Discovery' and it made me feel like a new man."—J. B. Matthews, Gen'l Del. All dealers. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., if you wish a trial package of tablets, and write for free advice.

Beware the Cough or Cold that Hangs On

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Cromulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Cromulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Cromulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Cromulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Pig Valued at $33 Per Pound is Dead

EL PASO, Oct. 31.—A pig valued at $33 a pound died here. It weighed 150 pounds and had a total value of $5,000. It was a trick pig and belonged to a trick animal exhibitor. The pig suffered an injury en route here from Los Angeles in a truck Thompson operated and the pig caught cold in his wound and died. The pig could climb a ladder and high dive, turning a somersault in the air, and many other things to show his high education.

Had the animal been an ordinary sort of pig his price would have been 10 cents a pound wholesale. Such is the value of education.
