WILD AUTO KILLS 5-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Skull of Bettie Jane Reasnor Crushed When Caught Between Autos; Two Negroes Arrested

Bettie Jane Reasnor, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Reasnor, Wichita Falls, was instantly killed about 8 o'clock last night when struck by an automobile on the Breckenridge highway 16 miles northeast of Cisco. The car, driven by negroes, crashed into the girl who was watching an uncle fix a flat tire which had caused them to park at the side of the road.

The negroes' car, which was out of control, crashed into the Reasnor auto with such force that it was knocked 75 feet down the road. The child was caught between the two autos and her skull crushed. The girl was standing behind the auto on which an uncle was placing a tire on the spare rack after having changed tires. Her mother and uncle leaped to safety when they saw the car coming wildly toward them. Neither had time to save the little girl or to warn her.

Eastland county officers arrived on the scene in time to arrest a negro man and woman. A second negro man is being sought by Cisco officers.

The girl, her mother and uncle were on their way to visit relatives near Cisco. The father, an employee of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad, did not accompany them.

The death was the second in the Reasnor family within a month. A baby sister having been buried a few weeks ago. The body of the girl was taken to the Thompson Funeral home at Breckenridge, from where it will be sent today to Wichita Falls for burial.

ITALIA RELIEF SHIP HALTED. MOSCOW, July 21.—Soviet relief in behalf of the ill-fated Nobile expedition will be at a standstill for a fortnight as the result of an official decision today.

MAN KILLED BY CHIMNEY. TYLER, July 21.—Charlie Powell, 23, Tyler contractor, met instant death late Friday when his skull was crushed to bits by a falling chimney. Powell, together with fellow-employees, had been engaged in tearing down a house, but the chimney fell, mangled his head and upper body, resulting in instant death.

WEATHER. West Texas: Mostly cloudy today with Texas showers in the north.

TRIP TO INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION. Greatly Enjoyed by Lion Orn and Wife; Record Set by Texas Clubs

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton L. Orn have returned to Cisco from Des Moines, where Orn was a delegate to the Lions International convention from the Cisco club. Telling of his trip to the convention city, Orn stated that they had a wonderful trip and enjoyed every day he and Mrs. Orn were away. They stopped at several points en route, and after the convention they visited Chicago and Milwaukee.

"The Texas delegation left Fort Worth on a special train Sunday, July 8," Orn said, "and arrived in Oklahoma City that evening, where we were met by the members of the local Lions club who took us to the Lions park, built by the Lions of that city for indigent children. They have accommodations for 100 unadorned children. We were told that the Lions of Oklahoma City pick up these undernourished children and keep them at their park for one month, pay all their expenses and give them plenty of wholesome food and the pure air, which soon restores them to normality. The operation of the park and its upkeep is at the expense of the Lions of that city."

LEE TO REPLY TO ATTACKERS AT EASTLAND

Statements which both he and his friends declare are entirely false will be answered by H. Q. Lee, candidate for congress, at Eastland Monday night. The charges which emanated from that city will be answered there in order that the voters may hear both sides. Friends of Lee here are planning on attending the speaking in a body. It is expected that around 300 from Cisco and immediate vicinity will accompany him. The speaking will be at the bandstand near the depot.

MEXICAN ACE'S BODY GIVEN TO COUNTRYMEN

LAREDO, July 21.—The tears of two nations were mingled here on the international bridge when the United States officially turned over to his countrymen the body of Captain Emilio Carranza, Mexico's premier aviator, killed accidentally while returning from a good will flight to the United States.

Impressive ceremonies marked the transfer. Forty-five airplanes from San Antonio flew low, dropping flowers on the cortege, and Fort McIntosh artillery fired an 11-gun salute which was returned by the Mexican artillery at Nuevo Laredo.

After the ceremonies the funeral train left for Mexico City.

TYLER, July 21.—Charlie Powell, 23, Tyler contractor, met instant death late Friday when his skull was crushed to bits by a falling chimney. Powell, together with fellow-employees, had been engaged in tearing down a house, but the chimney fell, mangled his head and upper body, resulting in instant death.

5 Class-A Home Games for Lobos

Brownwood, Eastland, Abilene, Ranger and El Paso Footballers Will Invade Big Dam Lobo Lair

The decision of Brownwood high school to play in Class A in the interscholastic league football championship race will give the Lobos five Class A games on the home schedule. El Paso, Eastland, Ranger, Brownwood and Abilene will all journey to Cisco to play the Big Dam Fighting Lobos. The Lobos will meet the Breckenridge Buckaroos in Breckenridge and the San Angelo Bobcats in San Angelo. This will make seven Class A games for the Lobos, the greatest number of Class A games ever scheduled excepting the bi-district championship games. The Lobos will have both of their holiday games at home, playing the Ranger Bulldogs in Cisco on Nov. 12 and the Abilene Eagles on Thanksgiving Day.

J. D. Barker, Lifelong Pro, Thinks Volstead Act Unsatisfactory to All Except Dry Fanatics, Bootleggers

The following statement from Judge J. D. Barker, of Cisco, concerning the approaching national election, prohibition and the opposing candidates for the presidency, is well worth reading and deserves thoughtful consideration: "There are differences and resemblances between Smith and Hoover. Hoover is abstemious, unless it is too many eats. Smith likes the good things of life. Hoover is not a speech-maker; but Smith is a great campaigner. Hoover has never appealed for votes or held an elective office. Smith has been governor more times than any other man in the history of New York. Hoover has had little contact with politicians. Smith is an officer in one of the oldest and best organized political bodies in America. Both are hard workers. Both are idealists. Both are practical men with a passion for tangible results. Both are democratic in their ideas and in their habits. Both are human, lovable men."

CERTIFICATES TO BE GIVEN 24 AT LAKE TODAY

Back of Mr. Hoover there will be an immense amount of stupid fanaticism and reaction. Back of Governor Smith there will be an immense amount of claptrap and humbug. Both men, in my opinion, will rise above the empty sound and fury of their zealous adherents and give dignity to their campaign. "I am a prohibitionist, but shall vote for Governor Smith. I feel that the people of the South are unduly exercised about the situation. Smith does not propose to tamper with the eighteenth amendment."

AMERICANS TO MEET FRENCH FOR DAVIS CUP

PARIS, July 21.—Still smarting under the sting of William Tilden's summary dismissal from the team John Hennessey, Indianapolis, and George Loti, Chicago, teaming perfectly, won the tennis doubles match from the Italians today, thereby earning the right for the United States to meet France in the challenge round of the Davis cup finals for supremacy of the tennis world. The score was 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

TRAIN MISSES PIVOT BRIDGE, 20 ARE INJURED

NEW YORK, July 21.—Approximately 20 were injured and the lives of scores of others imperiled when a Long Island train ran past a danger signal and plunged through an open pivot bridge into Jamaica Bay today. Railroad officials denied that any lives were lost.

CAR ACCIDENT UNAVOIDABLE, SAYS DRIVER

John Thompson, student of Randolph College, whose car struck C. S. Looney on the night of July 15, stated to The Daily News that the account of the accident, as published in The News last Monday, was inaccurate in some details, as it occurred near Randolph College on the Lake Cisco road, instead of near the planning mill on E avenue. "I regret the accident as much as anyone," Thompson said, "but feel that it was unavoidable, as the car in which Looney was about to enter was parked on the left side of the road, lights burning, with barely enough space for my car to pass. I did not see him until too late, as he approached the car just as I was getting on the highway. I was returning to the college from the Christian encampment when the accident occurred. As soon as I could stop my car I went back and rendered what assistance possible. Dr. Rogers, who also was returning from the encampment, came up about that time and I helped Dr. Rogers in putting Looney in his car, who took him home. The statement that my identity and whereabouts were unknown was misleading, inasmuch as some might infer that I had disappeared, when, as a matter of fact I was at the college all the time since, and could have been found by anyone seeking me there."

SCHOLARSHIP AT RANDOLPH IS AVAILABLE

A scholarship in Randolph College, offered by the Cisco Pan-Hellenic club, is available to some girl graduate of Cisco high school for the coming year. The scholarship is awarded each year to some Cisco girl who is financially unable to meet her college expenses. Last year the scholarship was awarded to Miss Flossie Cogburn, who will be unable to attend next fall. Further information regarding the scholarship may be obtained from Mrs. F. A. Blankenbecker.

FRIEND OF GIRL SUICIDE FOUND IN ART COLONY

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., July 21.—Maxwell Bodenheim, poet and novelist friend of Virginia Drew, young artist and authoress whose body was found in the Hudson river, was located here today in an artist's colony. Miss Drew was last seen leaving his apartment. He disappeared subsequently. He admitted frankly today that he had left New York to avoid "unpleasant publicity." He declared that he had argued with Miss Drew until 3 o'clock the morning of the day she left his apartment, attempting to dissuade her from suicide.

FAMOUS ACTRESS IS DEAD

LONDON, July 21.—Ellen Terry, famous English actress, died at her home in Kent today. She was 80 years old.

Tom Love Loses Out in Fight to Force Name on Ballot; High Court on Vacation Is Powerless to Act

AUSTIN, July 21.—Holding that it was without its jurisdiction the supreme court this afternoon declined to entertain an application for a writ of error to Thomas E. Love, Dallas, candidate for lieutenant governor, on his appeal from the fourth court of civil appeals at San Antonio. The supreme court is now on vacation and could not consider this application until the next term which falls in October, the clerk in charge said. The constitution forbids the consideration of a writ during vacation. This means that the names of Love, Mrs. Edith Wilman and Judge William E. Hawkins, candidate for lieutenant governor and governor, will not appear on the official ballots in Cameron county, while rounding a curve near Wadsworth candidates having announced their intention of bolting the national Democratic ticket. The only recourse for these candidates is for their supporters in Cameron county to write their names on the official ballots. Judge Stan Speer of San Benito, Love's attorney, who brought the application for the writ to Austin, did not file it.

28 Club Women, Girls and Boys of Eastland County Leave Next Sunday for Short Course at A.-M. College

WICHITA FALLS, July 21.—Miss Helen Seiders of Wichita Falls, employee of an oil firm, died here this afternoon from injuries sustained when the automobile in which she was driving to Muskogee, Okla., turned over four times while rounding a curve near Wadsworth candidates having announced their intention of bolting the national Democratic ticket.

RADIO TANGLE IS HOLDING UP SMITH RITES

ALBANY, N. Y., July 21.—Governor Alfred E. Smith today was forced to postpone until next week the announcement of the date of his presidential notification ceremonies because of a tangle over radio broadcasting hours. He was informed by the National Broadcasting Co. of available hours but they were not acceptable to him. He indicated that he had virtually given up hope of getting all the radio time needed for his speech and probably "will have to take what I can get."

VOTE FOR DRY CONGRESS, IS DANIELS' IDEA

WASHINGTON, July 21.—A plan for dry Democrats to follow in the presidential campaign to win victory for Governor Alfred E. Smith and at the same time perpetuate their own views was proposed by ex-Secretary of Navy Josephus Daniels today. "Daniels would have all dry Democrats 'ride in the ship' in behalf of the national ticket and organize to elect Democratic senators and representatives who would check any move of Governor Smith, if he is elected, to modify the dry laws."

STUDENTS FROM HOOSIER STATE ENTER RANDOLPH

Len Clark of Booneville, Ind., last year's student of Randolph college, has returned to Cisco for re-entry in the school for the 1928-29 session. This time he was not alone, but accompanied by Ralph Fuller, also of Booneville, who has enrolled for the next term at Cisco's junior college. The students of Randolph college are its greatest emissaries, as they learn how to catch the blue bird, Happiness, in the invitation extended to the Cisco young people by the league president, Bryan Lovelady.

LINING UP FOR PEACE.

The fourteen nations which were invited by the American government to sign a treaty renouncing war as an instrument of national policy are now coming in with favorable replies. Germany was first to accept the treaty without reservations. France, Italy and Japan followed next with statements of acceptance. Unofficial word from Britain indicates that nation will not be far behind the first three. The British dominions, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Poland are the others participating.

The time and method of affixing signatures to the treaty will not be decided until all the replies are in from the various governments, though it is thought likely that it will be signed in Paris in the fall meeting of the foreign ministers of the governments concerned.

Once the pact has been signed by the original signatories it will be open to endorsement by any interested nation. Spain may be the first of these to sign as it has been the first to give consideration to the revised proposal and the first officially to make known its favorable attitude.

The mere signing of such a treaty will not instantly wipe out all the problems and conflicts which, in the past, have led nations into war. It does, however, mark a definite step toward a day when all will recognize that there are better, more efficient, more satisfactory and lasting ways of solving such problems than by resort to the slaughter and destruction of war.

SAVED BABIES.

If babies could pick out the cities in which they would like to be born they would probably choose Seattle, Wash., Portland, Ore., or Minneapolis, Minn. In those cities the infant mortality rates for 1927 were lowest for all cities of 250,000 or more population. They were: 41 deaths in 1,000 births for Seattle and 47 for the other cities. According to the annual report of the American Child Health association the infant mortality rate within the birth registration area was lower in 1927 than in any previous year. Very few cities failed to show a declining rate. The average for the 683 cities studied was 64.9 deaths for each 1,000 births. It is at the beginning of the span of human life that the greatest gains have been made in recent years. More babies now receive proper care from the start than formerly. More parents are learning the right ways to feed and clothe and care for their offspring. Cleanliness and sleep and sunshine have replaced some of the old-fashioned notions about infant care. The results are obvious. If the same sound sense in health matters were applied all along the line there would be similar improvement in the mortality rate for the years now menaced by degenerative diseases.

DEBT REDUCTION.

General Lord, director of the federal budget, estimates expenditures of $3,800,000,000 for the fiscal year of 1929-30, with receipts about $100,000,000 less than that. It would mean a hundred-million deficit. That, of course, is something nobody can be sure of. It depends on the state of business, the mood of congress and other indeterminate factors. The government seems to have settled down to an annual expenditure of nearly four billions a year. It is to be remembered, however, that this includes a large item for amortizing the public debt. General Lord wants to reduce the debt by $2,500,000,000 in the next three years, which would bring it down to $15,000,000,000. If the reduction stopped there, it would probably be possible to reduce the annual expenditures to 3,000,000,000, permitting another cut in income taxes. Debt-reduction may be proceeding at an unnecessary rate, imposing too heavy a burden on this generation for the payment of war expenses. Business generally would welcome further easement of taxes. It seems unlikely, however, that the present policy will stop until the debt principal has been lowered to $10,000,000,000 or less. A debt of $5,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 could be carried easily enough, and might even have some advantages—for example, a steady effect on finance and business.

SERMONS AND NOVELS.

A Chicago critic says: "Ministers who attempt to 'sell' the church through brilliant sermons are on the wrong track. I hope to hear fewer pastors reviewing the latest novel and more getting back to the Ten Commandments." Fundamentally this fundamentalist is doubtless all right. It doesn't do to get too far away from the Decalogue. But the minister who preaches on the latest best sellers isn't getting far away from it. Novelists deal with the Ten Commandments no less than preachers. At least, they deal with the most interesting of them—and usually in the most interesting way. That is why such novels, rehearsed for the pulpit, make interesting sermons. The Commandments in their biblical simplicity and generality tend to grow a little stale from familiarity. They have to be invested with life and personality to give them a human appeal and drive home a vigorous lesson. Ministers might succeed as novelists do by following the same methods—getting away from moral generalities and clothing "thou shalt not" in flesh and blood.

SMITH CLAN TO CELEBRATE.

Boy! Page Mr. Smith, anywhere in Texas or in any other state in the great southwest. Also, get Mrs. Smith, Miss Smith and all the little Smiths. They are wanted at Galveston's beach on August 5 to help celebrate "Smith Day," which is expected to be about the biggest and most unique event staged down that way in many years. While the event has no political significance, it will be in the nature of a celebration by the Smiths in honor of that most distinguished member of the Smith clan, Governor Al. The Galveston Beach association and chamber of commerce are behind the project and an elaborate entertainment program is being completed. Governor Smith has been invited to attend and Hugh Reilly, secretary of the New York State Democratic committee has assured Willett L. Roe, manager of the Beach association that everything possible will be done to cooperate. A big feast of Galveston's luscious and justly famous watermelons is one of the alluring promises held out. Every Smith who attends will get their fill of melons grown in Galveston Island. The chamber of commerce has ordered several thousand melons and white coated, smiling darkies will carve and serve them on the beach front. All Smiths, and thousands are expected to attend, will be required to register upon arrival in order to qualify for the large and valuable list of prize awards. Prizes will be awarded to the fattest Smith, the thinnest Smith, the prettiest Smith girl, the youngest Smith, the oldest Smith, the homeliest Smith man, the tallest Smith, the shortest Smith, the Smith family coming the farthest distance and the largest Smith family. Cisco Smiths will please take notice.

BROKEN NECK SPIN IS RISING STAR INVENTION. RISING STAR, July 21 - Dr. Robert W. Barton, local physician who is the inventor of a special device for broken necks, the past week had a call for one of his appliances from Dr. S. A. Lutgen, surgeon of the Wayne, Neb., hospital for one of the spines to be used on a young man who had his neck broken in an automobile accident. Dr. Barton, who suffered a broken neck in a wreck at one time, contrived the appliance while convalescing, and which is said to be very successful.

SOLID SOUTH TO BE BROKEN, BISHOP CANNON PREDICTS

Headquarters of 'Southern Dry' Anti-Smith Democrats' Will Be Opened at Richmond by Leader

ONE AUTO FOR FIVE PERSONS IN U. S. NOW

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Walking, if it ever was an art, will soon be a lost one. There is now one automobile for every sixty-fourth person in the world, the commerce department finds. Two years ago every sixty-sixth person had one.

The estimated world population for 1928 is 1,900,000,000 and there are in operation 29,700,000 automobiles.

The high percentage of machines in the United States makes the ratio for this country for 1928 one car for every five persons, while at the end of the list is Abyssinia, where but one automobile is running for every 91,743 persons. If the United States was excluded from world population, there would be only one car for each 277 persons.

Outside of the United States Hawaii has one automobile for each eight residents, while Canada and New Zealand each have a car for every ten, and Australia one for every fourteen. The next place with a high automobile population is Monaco, the little principality, chiefly noted for its gambling facilities, where there is now one car for every eighteen persons.

European countries got very far below the territories in automobile progression. Great Britain has one car for forty-one persons, and France one for each forty, while Germany has one for every 137 and Italy one for each 234.

Argentina has an automobile for each thirty-eight persons, while Brazil has one for each 264. Ireland has one for each 81 and Alaska one for each twenty-eight. Among the countries where automobiles are relatively unknown was included Afghanistan, with a car for each 40,000, and the Spitzbergen Islands, with a car for each 32,499.

DUTY VS. INCLINATION.
Mother—Why, Bobby, I'm ashamed of you—to be fighting with your little cousin. I thought you loved Stephen.
Bobby—Why, of course I love him, because he's my cousin, but I don't like him one bit.

SALISBURY, N. C., July 21.—A hardy little fighting man, Bishop James Cannon of Richmond, Southern Methodist leader who directed the fight for the 18th amendment, has announced he would open immediately "Southern dry anti-Smith Democrat" headquarters in Richmond, Va.

Cannon said he was confident the campaign would break the Solid South and elect Herbert Hoover. Although in ill health from the effects of an attack of African fever, he is the bishop of Africa—Cannon said, "I would be a traitor if I did not do all I could to smash Tammany now."

He suffered from an attack on the train here on route from Asheville, N. C., where he and Dr. A. J. Barton directed the organization of the campaign.

Outlines Campaign
Outlining the campaign, he said pamphlets, the secular press, and speakers would be widely used. He said most of the labor of the campaign would be by volunteers. A lifelong Democrat, Bishop Cannon said, "If we could defeat Tammany any other way than by electing Hoover, we would do it." Cannon said the battle was practically won.

"The revolt against Smith in the South is so great that there is no question that when the facts are laid before the voters they will know they should follow the traditions of the Democratic party by voting against Smith," he said.

The bishop said that women would be appealed to, and also the stay-at-home vote which is larger in the South than in the North, but that the rank and file of the usual voters was inclined to the point that Smith was bound to be beaten.

Important Leader
Cannon, a man of independent means, has been fighting liquor for 40 years. At the same time he has headed colleges, edited a newspaper and carried on extensive church duties. He has never received a cent of salary from the Anti-Saloon league, according to league officials, although he is one of its two important Southern leaders at the present time.

He said the Richmond headquarters would be maintained with as small staff as possible. He expects to receive large quantities of money in small contributions, the campaign chest, having been started Thursday in Asheville by pledges and gifts totaling several thousand dollars.

Montgomery, Ala., July 21.—One of the first objectives of the recently organized Southwide Cotton council to be put into effect will be the plan for stabilization of the price of cotton, it is announced by Judge C. E. Thomas, president of the council.

The plan outlined by Judge Thomas calls for a meeting monthly during the cotton season of one person from each state representing three groups interested in the staple—farmers, bankers and spinners. In addition, experts on cotton conditions and market factors will be called in for expert testimony in order to place before the representatives all facts concerning conditions in the cotton field.

After January 1 there will be little fluctuation in cotton prices until the next crop is under way, Judge Thomas said. "The amount of cotton on hand would be known during this period and very little may be learned about the next crop until it has been started. If general conditions do not change materially the price of cotton should remain about the same from late December until about May."

It shall be the duty of the representatives, to be known as the price committee, Judge Thomas said, to study conditions of the crop and arrive at a price for the staple for the next 30 days.

"I will take into consideration all the factors on both sides and announce to the world what cotton should bring until conditions change or other factors, sufficient to change the situation arise," he said.

The plan for stabilizing the price of cotton was suggested by S. Odenthal of New Orleans, who has been in the cotton spinning business for 45 years. Judge Thomas said. His plan calls for the association of spinners, farmers and bankers to name the price of cotton, which, he explained, should not be unreasonable for such would curtail consumption to the extent of deflating its purchase.

"With the majority of cotton growers in the cooperative association it is thought that a price committee such as proposed can be a factor in stabilizing the market, although such a committee will have no authority to enforce the price announced," Judge Thomas explained.

"It will depend upon the will of the buyers, the attitude of the farmers and bankers, and the general influence of public opinion."

COTTON PRICE STABILIZATION TO BE SOUGHT

Recent developments in the political situation in Texas have thrust into the foreground party loyalty as an issue in the campaign," says Ballard W. George, manager for Alvin Owsley in his candidacy for the Democratic senatorial nomination, "and comments on the senatorial campaign indicate that question to be one of the most widely-discussed topics pertinent to pre-primary discussion."

"Alvin Owsley's frank avowal of wholehearted support of Smith and Robinson has prompted numerous editorials commending his views and his position has met with editorial distavor in only one or two instances. With the national ticket having been named at Houston, it was of course good politics for the senatorial aspirants to climb on the band wagon, but the fact remains that Owsley declared his willingness to support Al Smith previous to the actual nomination of the New York governor, while at the same time stressing his obligation to support whoever might be nominated by the Democratic convention."

"In addition several editors of the state have found occasion to stress the remarkable similarity of the Owsley platform and the national Democratic platform as adopted at Houston, the latter being promulgated three months after the announcement of the stand of the Texasan."

"In a recent speech Mr. Owsley has placed himself upon record that in case he is elected the first bill that will carry his name will be one for equal rights for the farmer and tenant farmer on financial aid with those extended to big business concerns by the government. Definite stand for such relief has been taken by Mr. Owsley in his platform and he also has pledged himself to wage war on the manipulators of cotton prices, asserting that it is "illegal to gamble in the products of the soil."

"Farm relief, he believes, to be the permanent issue before the nation today, but acceding to the widespread interest, entailed by the present discussion of the prohibition question, and some misstatements as to his attitude upon the Eighteenth amendment, repeatedly, Mr. Owsley not only in his utterances but also in his platform, has taken occasion to stress the fact that he favors strict enforcement of the amendment and the enforcement of all of the federal laws.

"His record as being dry by PRACTICE and dry by BELIEF is too widely known to be questioned and he has been definite in his pronouncements upon the subject, while his strong opposition to the open saloon is a matter of record."

"Enforcement of all laws, honesty in government, immigration restriction, anti-war co-operation, rule of the people, government economy, farm relief, highway aid and tariff revision to protect the farmer are planks in the platform that at present convince his friends that Owsley is assured of being a contestant in the runoff senatorial primary."

We still have the town, but there is getting to be less and less of gown every year.

Anyway, it is worth remembering that there is a band wagon in each parade.

CISCOAN FINDS GREAT ACTIVITY ALONG VALLEY

W. J. Tickner, who recently returned from the rural mail convention, held at Harlingen, July 4, writes of his trip and of some of the things he saw and heard in the valley country: "I left Cisco July 1, with F. E. Buckley and W. P. Caldwell, acting as shock absorbers, for the Rio Grande valley to attend the Rural Mailers' convention. We arrived in San Antonio the first day, and the next night we were in Harlingen, a fine progressive city, where we were royally entertained. They entertained the delegates with speeches and dancing between speeches. There were postal inspectors, a representative of the post-office general present, who told where we were short and how to improve the service. "On July Fourth, as guests of the number of commerce, we enjoyed a fine trip, and after all had eaten were gathered up more than a dozen twelve baskets full of fragments. After dinner we were driven across the river from Matamoras. I was afraid to ride with the young boys because when kids get together they may kick over the top, so I went in a car with one of the 'grandmas,' but they were too timid and wanted to leave the land where the beer still foaming and the brass rail still in place, before they had seen the many interesting things in this quaint city. They seemed afraid it might 'take effect' and they again returned to Texas. "In Matamoras, like our own United States, has an abundance of flags—stars, stripes and colors—plenty of fermented spirits, and I remember rightly these things did ferment in some of the ways. "There were many sights of interest in Matamoras, the market, the cemetery, and other things of interest. There was too much of a jam on the Fourth, so I stayed at other times when there was not such a crowd, to see and hear more of that ancient city. "While in Harlingen I was a part of the time with my friends, Rev. and Mrs. T. H. Bell, formerly of Cisco, while he was pastor of the Church of Christ. He is pastor of a fine brick church in Harlingen, and while I made three talks in his church. I also have two nieces—daughters of Mr. and Mrs. L. Farmer—Mrs. Onie Mangum and Mrs. Pearl Fox. Of course I had some time with these nice people. I also visited my friends, Mr. and Mrs. Glasscock. "I was the guest of Longfellow, who took me to a deep water port. There is a tremendous lot of work going on along the streets, $500,000 here and they now have a fish factory. We went across to the dam and watched the bathing tubs before returning to Harlingen. "I don't think the valley is much poorer man's country, as nearly all the work is done by Mexicans. There are thousands of men here, land at $30 per acre, cleared and planted, this sells for $1,000 per acre and saw thousands of laborers working on cotton, setting out fruit trees, produce a tremendous amount of citrus crops and truck-crops and all kinds of vegetables, and the raising and selling of tomatoes, peaches and lemons. Marketing of these perishable crops is a problem with valley farmers. Hundreds of tons of cabbage are raised yearly. But later on there are canning factories all over the valley to eliminate this waste. "Thousands of acres are being planted in citrus fruits—grapefruit, lemons and lemons—which in a few years will present just as serious a marketing problem as that existing for vegetables. "All of the former Cisco people who in that section seem to be doing well, and all were eager to hear news about Cisco. "Those going through San Antonio should not fail to see the 222, Buckhorn saloon and Kenbridge park. "I had a great time but was to get back to the big dam and to the wife and orphans in Tickner home. "W. J. TICKNER."

CHAMPION GENE READY FOR BIG TUSSLE

An important part of any fighter's training is the type of sparring partner which can give a real tussle in the camp ring. Gene Tunney, left, world's heavyweight champion, believes in having men at his camp at Speculator, N. Y., who can sock him and give him plenty of action. Billy Vidabek, right, is nobody's set-up, but Gene likes to spar with him. The champ doesn't even wear a head-gear because he believes in hardening himself thoroughly.

'Going Up Salt River' Term Had Origin in Missouri in 1840 from Candidate Moving after Defeats

LOUISIANA, Mo., July 21.—The origin of the expression, "He's gone up Salt River," prevalent today wherever reference is made to a defeated candidate for a political office, is attributed to a story connected with the stream, of that name, which empties into the Mississippi river near here, in an article published in a recent issue of the Missouri Historical Review. "Tradition has connected Salt river with the politics and politicians of Missouri and the world, on account of the well-known saying, 'He's gone up Salt River,' being applied to defeated candidates for office," said George A. Mahan, president of the Missouri Historical Society, author of the article. "The story goes that in the 1840s a man lived here in Louisiana by the name of Fred Jackson, who had very little of this world's goods, but a deep desire to serve his neighbors in some political office. He ran for a local office and made a strenuous campaign. He had the promise of the support of many friends, but that support did not pan out well enough to elect him. "Defeat was distasteful to the ambitious Jackson. Besides, he thought some of his friends had double-crossed him when they went to the polls so, to get away from them, he packed up his household goods and moved to the mouth of Salt river, some two or three miles north. "After he left some of the people wondered what had become of him and asked his friends, 'Oh, were the people from Pike county that the Salt river expression came into common use. When a candidate was defeated they would say 'He's gone up Salt river,' though few others than those from Missouri knew exactly what the term meant. "When the gold fever subsided the miners returned to their homes all over the world. Many of them didn't take any gold back, but they did take back the expression, 'He's gone up Salt river.' "That's why for so many years defeated candidates for political office all over the United States, and even in foreign countries, are said to have 'gone up Salt river' the article concludes. "EVEN SO. "Voice from secluded Spot.— Of course I love you, honey, but sunburn is sunburn."

MARRIED TWO DAYS, DIVORCE IS SOUGHT
EL PASO, July 21.—A. B. Carter filed suit here for divorce from his wife, Fannie Carter. They had been married two days. "Were you too dazed to know what you were doing?" the judge asked. "Dazed—I was so drunk, I thought it was a joke. We came back to my wife's house and there were a lot of children. I did not know that. She said she was not sure she had been granted a divorce from her first husband. I left her at once." An annulment was granted.

GRAHAM WELL PLEASED OVER ENCAMPMENT

(From the Graham Leader.)
 Rev. J. E. Montgomery has returned from attending the Christian encampment held at Cisco. He had no more than set foot on the encampment grounds than Bro. Montgomery was "roped in" to take prominent part in the proceedings, which position he held with entire satisfaction to the encampment. In fact, so well did he perform his task, and so numerous were the friends he made, that at the close of the meeting Rev. Montgomery was offered, and accepted, the presidency of District 2. This district comprises 32 counties, and it is the duty of the president to visit the churches in the district and visit them in their religious work, and to instruct and formulate plans or better improving their methods. This work is thrown upon the shoulders of Rev. Montgomery in addition to his local pastoral duties. But to fill the job efficiently the leader with the Graham people wish to confer with the encampment officials or dispatch someone who will assist in selecting Mr. Montgomery for the responsible position of president, and we also wish to inform the church officials they could have aided the country with a fine tooth comb and certainly have selected a more experienced and more valuable officer than the local pastor of the First Christian church. The encampment was in session on days at Cisco. The district convention was held at the same place. Rev. Montgomery feels highly pleased over the fact that after he made an appeal for the country to come to Cisco and meet over the litigation was accepted without a dissenting vote. So Graham will be pleased to see all the Christian churches in the 32 counties in District 2, some one next spring.

White Supremacy Is at Stake, Says Hoke Smith, Who Urges His Georgia to Support Smith Ticket

ATLANTA, Ga., July 21.—Hoke Smith, former governor and senator and last living member of President Cleveland's cabinet Thursday was sponsor to a call to "loyal Democrats" of Georgia for a militant campaign on behalf of the Democratic presidential ticket. Smith, however, later in the day, declaring that his statement made Wednesday night had been issued under "misapprehension of the situation, which is in far better shape than I had believed," announced that the Democratic rally he called for July 27 had been postponed. Smith said that he found that Major John S. Cohen, national committeeman, and his associates "have already set in motion machinery for a militant campaign in behalf of the national nominees." Declaring himself a Democrat since the days members of his party were "obliged to arm themselves to reach the ballot box," the former senator in his first statement deplored the "inactivity" of the constituted authorities of the Democratic party in Georgia for having "taken no steps toward an believed action was particularly imperative in view of the "widespread and aggressive campaign already inaugurated against the nominees." Smith then requested all loyal Democrats who feel concerned over the situation to meet in an Atlanta theater on that date. "I am no 50-50 Democrat," said the former senator. "My services to the party date back to the time when Democrats were obliged to arm themselves to reach the ballot box. White supremacy was then re-established by the Democratic party in the face of federal bayonets, and through all the years has been maintained by the Democratic party, and if the Democratic party be now overthrown, then the overthrow of white supremacy will inevitably follow." An eminent scientist says the American population is growing older. And we remember nothing that in our own case.

RING LOST FIVE YEARS AGO FOUND AT HASKELL

HASKELL, July 21.—Five years ago Rex DeSpain, who lived in Dallas at that time, visited, with his wife, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Pinkerton, at this city. While in swimming, Rex lost a signet ring with his initials on it. He entertained no hopes of ever finding it. Mr. and Mrs. DeSpain, who now live in Abilene, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pinkerton last week. Again, while in swimming, Mr. DeSpain was enjoying a mud fight with one of the boys when he picked up a handful of mud in two feet of water near the bank and felt some hard substance. On examination he found it to be the lost ring.

SCOTLAND YARD MEN MUST NOT CHEW GUM

LONDON, July 21.—The alleged "Americanization" of London is apparently not to be permitted to extend to its police force. A regulation just issued by Scotland Yard prohibits London policemen from chewing gum while on duty. The gum-chewing habit recently became very pronounced among London cops, the men declaring it kept them refreshed.

FORMER RANDOLPH COACH HAS RUN-IN WITH FEMALE

Monroe Sweeney, former coach for Randolph college and Oil Belt football referee, had an experience somewhat unusual to this gallant Irishman, when he was soundly belabored with a paroled by an irate fan of the supposedly gentler sex. The former Randolph coach was officiating as umpire in a baseball game at Portland, Oregon, on ladies' day. Sweeney had made a decision that did not please one of the fair fans. To emphasize her disapproval of his decision she charged him, beating him over the head with her parasol until he was forced to seek protection in the players' dugout.

STUDEBAKER'S

Ball Bearing Spring "Shackles"

In these new cars a patented invention at last solves a problem that has long baffled automotive engineers.

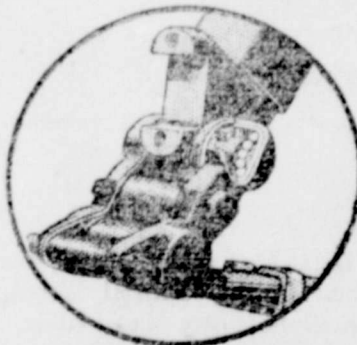

Every motorist knows the importance of spring shackles—those joints or hinges which form the connecting link between body and axles. Engineers have sought to reduce friction to a minimum at these vital joints—to make them flexible yet firm and uniform in action—to make them noiseless—to reduce the necessity for frequent lubrication. All these objectives have now been attained in Studebaker cars.

So revolutionary is this sensational innovation that the word "shackles," with its implication of restricted movement, is no longer applicable. The incessant action and reaction between body and axles is now carried by 172 steel balls rolling in lubricant—no binding, no squeaks, no rattles, no sideway. Instead, smooth, silent resiliency, an undeviating uniformity of action and an enduring buoyancy that will keep your Studebaker young.

In place of complicated centralized systems for oiling and greasing, each ball bearing spring "shackle" contains, sealed within it, ample lubricant to last for more than twenty thousand miles.

Come ride in a new Studebaker today. Thrill to its champion performance. See rare new beauty of line and color. Then compare Studebaker's new low One-Price prices—the triumph of 76 years' manufacturing experience!

At last... ball bearing spring shackles... the secret of the remarkable riding comfort of the new Studebakers.

SYNOPSIS
 Rose Shannon, beautiful cabaret singer, becomes innocently involved in the mysterious theft of $200,000 from the Mercer National Bank. The Professor, leader of a gang of crooks, believing that she knows where the money is, corners her in a lonely cottage. She is saved by Jack White, a member of the gang who she is in love. Escaping from the station, she overhears the gang plotting to kill Chuck for doubting them. She sets out to save him, but collapses and is taken to the hospital. The police in the meantime are watching the antique shop where the Professor has his headquarters.

CHAPTER XX
 Within the antique shop one dull electric light illuminated the faces of Lefty and Sparrow. They sat on the edge of the sofa, their elbows resting on their knees. Timorously they watched the Professor, who lolled back in his easy chair, his left leg stretched out before him. Each time he shifted his position, which he did lazily, resentful of his enforced civility, a little grimace of pain crossed his face.

Over in a dark corner sat a fourth person, his hat drawn low over his eyes. He was watching the faces of Lefty and Sparrow. He saw their hands resting on their knees. He saw their eyes watching the Professor, who lolled back in his easy chair, his left leg stretched out before him. Each time he shifted his position, which he did lazily, resentful of his enforced civility, a little grimace of pain crossed his face.

Lefty and Sparrow looked at the boy in astonishment. They almost gasped, so strange, so unnatural, did such words sound, coming from Chuck. Chuck, the youngest of their gang! The daredevil gorilla who had never been caught!

"Aw, Jess, fella, 'yain't gorilla' th' racket 'ere youse?" The Sparrow looked up, his narrow little face one long question mark.

"I sure am, Sparrow, old kid," Chuck returned. "You and me we've had a lotta fun together an' I'll never forget you, Sparrow, but me, I'm going straight, see?"

"Wot! Goin' straight wif de booker?" the Mug sneered. "You shut your dirty face." Chuck took a menacing step towards his captor, who drew back as though frightened.

"Be quiet, you two," the Professor interposed. "We're not going to have any more arguments around this joint. We've got a lot more things to think about than this." He looked towards the figure in the corner. "Any dicks outside?"

Lefty got up and moved over to the big front window and drew back the heavy tapestry, allowing a narrow ray of light to shine into the room. He peered around the curtains cautiously and then shook his head.

 Frankie Yarger entertained 35 of his friends on his eighth birthday Thursday. Ice cream and cake were served with a punch booth in charge of his uncle, Millard Yarger. Music was rendered by Frankie Yarger and his teacher, Mrs. O. K. Linder. A reading was given by Miss Ann Dowell. The favors were baskets of candy for the girls and cars for the boys. Many nice gifts were received.

Mrs. J. J. Butts Entertains With Luncheon
 Mrs. J. Butts entertained Thursday with a 1 o'clock luncheon at her home on West Sixth street. The rooms were decorated with a profusion of cut flowers and pot plants. The table was lovely with a maderia spread and the silver appointments.

Paris, July 21—Negligees are by no means a negligible factor in the smart woman's wardrobe these days. For however full her engagement book may be, she knows that repose is quite as necessary to her beauty as her chic gown and thus sets an hour or two aside each day for "farniente." And this hour or two naturally calls for appropriate wear.

Real French negligees come with the finest handwork, delicate embroidery, drawnwork and real lace in most exquisite colorings, the sort of garments that can bring a thrill to the most practical and unromantic of her sex. There are bluish-pink garments and mauve ones, deep jacquinet-red lined with cyclamen and pale powder blue over rose du Barry. Some are in georgette or chiffon, others in crepe satin or taffeta with hand quilted borders.

One of the outerwear is showing some delightful tea gowns with three-quarter coats in pique velvet, a fabric with velvet designs woven in a georgette foundation with full-length pleated slips of crepe de chine. Soft honey-beiges, light greens, orange and green-blue are the favorite shades.

There are also lovely tea-gowns with satin slips over which are worn long coats of georgette with flowing sleeves. One is brocaded lame with natter-blue georgette sleeves is edged with silver lace. Another in rose-colored brocaded velvet has a deep band of shaded red marabout around the bottom and at the neck and wrists.

To do so many of the members had to rearrange their engagements for the evening as they were not informed of their trip till just a short while before their departure. Band Director Collum was out of the city on his vacation, but this obstacle was overcome by Eugene Shockley, who took the band in charge for this occasion. The band boys were conveyed to Eastland in the Randolph College bus, accompanied by several cars filled with Cisco people who augmented the crowd of 300 or 400 who heard the young speaker.

STEADY GAIN

Number of Students Past Year Nearly Four Times That in 1924 When Cisco Institution Opened

Randolph College, Cisco's junior educational institution, is now firmly established. There has been a steady gain in the enrollment of this school since it opened its doors in Cisco in 1924, when the enrollment was but 54. The enrollment for the school year of 1927-28 was 206 or nearly four times as great as the enrollment for the first year of its existence.

GOOD REVIVAL IN PROGRESS AT PUTNAM

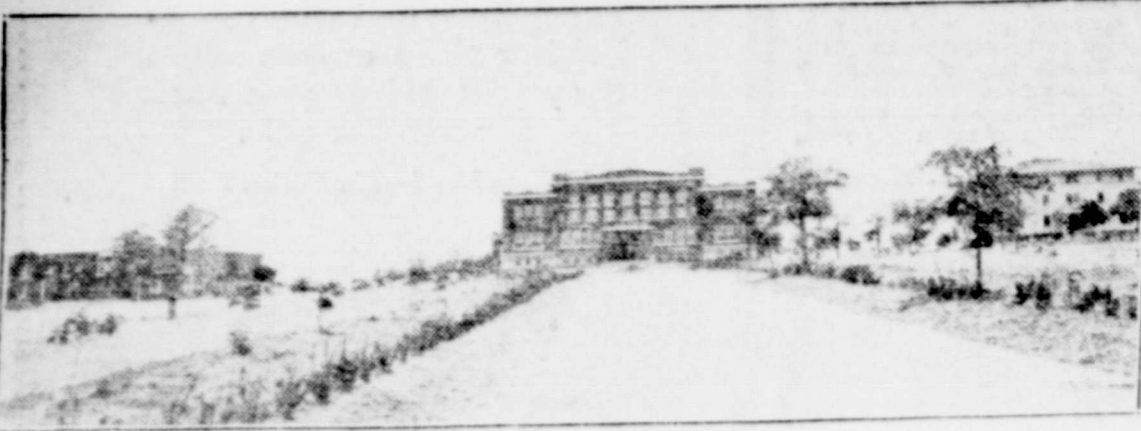

The Baptist revival which began at Putnam last Sunday night has been fruitful of much good, said Rev. J. E. Black, pastor of the Putnam church, while in Cisco Friday afternoon. Dr. W. T. Rouse, of Waco, who is devoting his time ings. There have been five additions to the church this week, two by confession of faith and three by letter. Dr. Rouse will take for his subject Sunday night "God's Bar" on the Sinner's Road to Hell.

and nearly twice as great as the enrollment for 1926-27. There was a gain last school year of 85 scholastics over the preceding year, and if this gain should hold up in the same proportion for 1928-29, Cisco's junior college will have assumed a place in educational institutions that will favorably compare with the most outstanding junior college of the state. President T. T. Roberts, under whose administration the school has become recognized as a junior college of the first class and admitted to the association of colleges of Texas, compiled the following facts concerning this school which will be of interest to every friend of that institution in Cisco. The enrollment of Randolph College in 1924-25 was 54; in 1925-26, 70, when the school received recognition from the Texas state department. The enrollment 1926-27 was 121, and the college was admitted to the Association of Colleges of Texas. In 1927-28 the enrollment had jumped to 206, and was classified by the Association of Colleges as a junior college of the first class, and the number of states represented by its student body was 11; percentage of students from Cisco, 31. Most colleges receive 50 percent of their students from their local communities. Doctor Reeves, of the Chicago university, says that "Randolph college faculty has no superior in any junior college in the southwest, and compares favorably with senior institutions." "Do you love Cisco and want it to grow?" If so, stand by your home industries and institutions. Ninety percent of Cisco high school's graduates will enter Randolph College this fall. Why not the other ten per cent? "Enjoy your children by keeping them in the home for two years more, thus giving them superior advantages for the laying of the foundation of their life's work. Let's make this the greatest year for Randolph College." "Randolph College was only scored against but once in the 1927 football season."

some of the western counties of the district and expresses the firm conviction that he has gained much new support in those counties during the past two or three weeks. More voters have voluntarily pledged me their support during the past two weeks than during any like period of time since the campaign was started. Lee said that he had received many flattering reports from the western end of the district. He declared that his candidacy is particularly favorable to the voters in the rural districts where his campaign for improved farming conditions and diversified farming is bearing fruit. He declared that in the larger voting boxes and in the cities he is being supported very largely by the rank and file of the business men. "If I am elected to congress," he said, "my time will be devoted very largely to a study of better agricultural program and more economy in the administration of our national government." He pointed out that dispatches out of Washington following adjournment of the recent congress revealed the fact that congress made appropriations aggregating approximately nine billions of dollars, by far the most expensive peace time congress in history. He pointed out further that the appropriations for 1929 were nearly seven hundred millions of dollars in excess of the appropriations for 1927 and that this excess alone is equal to the total cost of the national government in 1914, and that the ranking Democrat in commenting on the situation said, "the present and rapidly increasing expenditures of the government show a reckless disregard of the tax payers' interest." "It is my firm conviction," said Lee, "that a line must be drawn. For if congress is to continue this unwarranted expenditure of the people's money it can mean nothing short of bankruptcy of the nation."

EASTLAND, July 21. — A good sized crowd was present here Friday night to hear Frank Killough speak in the interest of R. Q. Lee of Cisco, for congress from the 17th district. Killough outlined Lee's business man's platform, saying that Lee favors farm legislation to the extent of every conservative measure which will benefit the raising and stock-raising interests. He will favor federal aid in establishing demonstration farms in the interest of the farmer. Mr. Killough said. In closing Killough stated that Lee was running on a business man's platform and not on the demerits of his opponents. Then his bit of oratory was ended by quoting the last lines of "Tharapoina" by Bryant.

LEE REPORTS OUTLOOK GOOD IN HIS RACE

"The situation looks more encouraging every day, and despite reports to the contrary I cannot discover where any of my opponents have made any inroads on my support. This is the way R. Q. Lee, candidate for congress from this district, summed up the situation when he returned to his home here for the week end. Lee has just completed a trip over

"No," we told him.

"Well, that's what I thought," he roared down the street told me that you service unless the tires had been purchased.

We hope the fellow who said that is the headline on this ad.

Our policy is just to see that people get the very best tire service we know how to give them, and we think the next best thing to having Goodyear Tires is to get our Goodyear service on the tires you have.

We start by selling only Goodyear Tires. Goodyear Tires are the longest-wearing, most satisfactory, most economical tires made.

Our prices on Goodyear Tires are wholesale. This is true of both the All-Weather Tread Balloon, "The World's Greatest Tire," and the Pathfinder, most tire for least money.

And then we do service for all the mileage built into them.

Marathon Dancers Upset Every Theory of Medical Men Dealing with Endurance of Human Race

PITTSBURGH, July 21. — Of all the things that have ever happened in the history of the world, the younger generation of today made? Medical men are today turning their backs over and over to their theories as they set on the side lines watching the marathon dancers and watching the medical men who are watching the dancers. The dancers are not only defying the theories of the medical men, but they are also defying the theories of the endurance contests.

It was the fear of the future physical conditions of the contestants that the marathon was stopped. Dr. Sable, still puzzled about the broken fatigue theories, says he plans to conduct a series of tests showing that the dancers have adapted themselves to this system of routine living and science and evidently the dancers themselves do not know how long they can last.

RIDENS NO. 1 AT RISING STAR IS PROGRESSING

RISING STAR, July 21. — Lowe, Delaney & Carter are making good progress on their Ridens No. 1, just northwest of town and near the old Terry-Jacobs and D. M. Jacobs wells. The 12-inch casing was set this week at a depth of 290 feet and the drilling is going on at below 900 feet. This test is in very favorable territory and is being watched with interest. On the Cade place, nine miles northwest of town, Smith & Bennett are down 900 feet on a 1500 foot test and it is believed that a new shallow field will be opened as a nearby well was ruined in being brought in some time ago. A rig is going up on the O'Rear tract near the Mon-Tex Gasoline plant, about six miles east of Rising Star and Serogins & Marsch will begin a new deep test right away.

Six wells have been completed in the Hickman pool, seven miles southwest of Rising Star during the past week, four of which were producers and two were dry holes. The Kone production company drilled in their Hickman C. No. 6, for a production of 30 barrels per day. The sand was topped at 1270 feet and drilled through at 1298 feet. The same company completed their Hickman B. 12 for a production of 50 barrels, topped the sand at 1268 feet and drilled through at 1273 feet. The same company also completed their Hickman C. 5 for a production of 100 barrels. The top of the sand was reached at 1262 feet and drilled through at 1291 feet. The Humble Co. Hickman B. 1 on the south end of the Hickman lease failed to get the sand and is being plugged. The Midland Oil Co. Hickman No. 3 is a 25 barrel well with the top of the sand at 1260 and the bottom at 1276. The Valley Oil company Hickman No. 1 in the southwest corner of the Hickman tract is dry at 1370 feet.

THING BEAUTIES OF TEXAS TO PARADE AT LAKE WORTH JULY 29

Casino Park on Lake Worth is planning to care for thousands of visitors Sunday, July 29 for the Annual Bathing Girl Revue. Casino Park, the "Atlantic City of the Southwest," will present between 75 and 100 beauties in the parades and contests which will be held both afternoon and night. The parades of the beauties will be held along the boardwalk. Any city, commercial or civic organization, industrial concern, studio, school or county is eligible to enter contestants. Entries should be sent to revue director, Miss Jessie P. Street, 303 Continental Building, Fort Worth. First prize will be a round-trip to California with all expenses paid. Second prize will be a paid trip to Colorado. Third prize will be $100. Three prizes of $50 each will also be given. A dinner in honor of the contestants will be given at 6 p. m. on the day of the revue. Last year about 75 girls were seen in the revue and a larger number will be presented this year according to E. C. Furnas, manager of Casino Park. The program for the day will be ended with a gigantic fireworks display. The display will cost several thousand dollars. The riddle of Mars may be solved. NEW TAYLOR CO. JAIL IS WANTED BY GRAND JURY

ABILENE, July 21.—A new county jail for Taylor county was recommended by the 42nd district court grand jury which adjourned Wednesday after a three day session. Declaring that the jail "is in about as good condition as it could be under existing conditions," the grand jurors urged that an additional story be added atop the court house as soon as county finances permit. The court house was designed to allow an additional story and contemplated in the construction of the building. The jurors pointed out that the court house jail would afford more commodious quarters and at the same time insure against escapes. The present jail site could be sold for almost enough to pay for the additional story, the report said. The report was signed by W. H. Frye, chairman, and J. O. B. Harrison.

"This Is My Kind Of Store."

A typical J. C. Penney Company customer is speaking, with a home and three active youngsters to shop for.

She is very particular about Quality, because sad experience has taught her that "cheap goods" are dear in the end, but paying cash and carrying her packages home she considers a sensible way to economize.

"My kind of store!" That's what several million thrifty housewives said about us last year.

EMISSARIES OF S. M. U. TO GIVE CONCERT HERE

When universities some years ago began to establish extension departments, embracing night classes in downtown sections of their home cities, and offering correspondence courses to those who could not have resident study, they were expressing the conviction that these institutions owed a duty to the general public as well as to the favored young people who can go to college.

Now a new development in this effort to "bring the university to the people" is seen in the visit of Prof. J. Abner Sage and Miss Lois Moseley of Southern Methodist university to Cisco next Thursday night, postponed from last Friday night. Prof. Sage heads the voice department of the school of music in S. M. U. and is also professor of church music in the school of theology. Miss Moseley is one of the outstanding musicians who have graduated from the school of music in S. M. U. They will visit a large number of towns and cities during the summer and in each of these places will give free concerts to the music lovers of the communities.

CITY CONVICT ESCAPES, BUT IS RECAPTURED

Seizing a pistol from the guard overseeing the convicts at Lake Cisco training camp Friday afternoon, Robert Hancock, a misdemeanor convict, made his escape, but was recaptured Friday night in a Cisco cafe.

Convicted for vagrancy Hancock was sent to join the gang at the lake Friday morning to work out his fine and costs. Watching his opportunity he caught the guard, E. O. Gustafson, with his back turned toward him, and snatched the guard's pistol. Calling to the other inmates to follow him Hancock made a break for liberty and succeeded in getting away from the camp. The other convicts refused to leave. Patrolman Tub Wilson captured Hancock while he was in a restaurant. The guard's pistol was recovered from a negro, to whom Hancock had pawned it.

Back in his cell Hancock told the officers that he took the pistol as a means of self preservation, as he intended to make a break for liberty to get money to pay his fine, and was afraid Gustafson would shoot him as he was fleeing.

Hancock was returned to the Lake Cisco camp Saturday morning, but officers said he had forfeited the usual privileges allowed city prisoners, and was now carrying a ball and chain while he performed his manual labors. Nor has he the usual privileges after retiring to the bunk house, for he is safely kept by a chain around his wrist attached to his bunk.
