INDUSTRIES NEEDED. The Texas chambers of commerce are placing specific emphasis on securing more industries during 1929. Most of them, however, fail to state just what industries they expect to secure and how they expect to go about securing them.

SMALL FACTORIES OVERLOOKED. The trouble with most chambers of commerce is that they overlook the opportunities for small industries and do not give enough encouragement to them after they are secured.

TEXAS-MADE WOVEN CLOTHES. Texas-made woven clothes are being shipped to northern markets, given a northern brand or trademark, and shipped back here to sell because Texas people seem to prefer to buy what they believe to be northern products.

TEXAS-MADE HOSE. There is hardly a Texas town that does not have an opening for the small industry that could be run with local capital if it could be assured the support of the members of the home of commerce.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—The latest statement of Col. Robert W. Stewart, in his proxy war with John D. Rockefeller, Jr. for control of the Standard Oil company of Indiana was seen as a new challenge today to the power of the Rockefellers. Stewart, whose campaign for re-election as chairman of the board of the Indiana Standard Oil company is opposed by Rockefeller, Jr., addressed his latest challenge directly to John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and charged the latter had been "deliberately misinformed" concerning the fight between his son and the Standard Oil company.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The shipping board is planning to sell to Paul W. Chapman of New York for $16,300,000, ships which cost the government more than $51,000,000, its report to the senate today revealed. The information was submitted in answer to the senate resolution passed recently at the request of Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, who said he read about the proposed sale in the paper. The bid was the highest received by the board and the sale is proceeding to the point of investigation of Chapman's financial standing and business record, the report stated.

DALLAS, Feb. 2.—Leaders of the anti-Tammany wing of the Democratic party of Texas met at the Southland hotel here Saturday and discussed plans for the battle which many believe will result between the regular Democratic organization and the faction which gave its vote to Herbert Hoover.

ALVIN MOODY, of Houston, president of the group, indicated before the session opened that there would be no peace in Texas politics if a successful attempt is made to bar the anti-Tammany group from the regular party deliberations.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 2.—A compromise is to be offered by the administration agents in making the congressional impasse over the proposed $24,000,000 increase in prohibition appropriation and the new tax refund publicity clause. As the senate and house conferees gathered secretly late today in the office of Chairman Warren for a preliminary organization, the United Press was reliably informed a plan had been worked out whereby the prohibition total would be cut to about $5,000,000 and the tax publicity clause stricken out of the disputed first deficiency bill.

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., Feb. 2.—Ten persons, two of them small children, were burned to death shortly before midnight when fire destroyed the one-story frame house of Peter Sines, a miner. Sines, son-in-law, Roy Gibson, was the only one of the 11 persons in the house who escaped. He is in a critical condition here from burns and shock.

A SOW'S EAR PURSE.

A young man who belongs to a cultured Boston family became enamored of a girl who was naturally coarse and uncouth, but whose Juno-like figure had mesmerized him.

The young man's intentions were honorable. He wanted to marry the girl. But his father vigorously opposed the union. The father went on to point out that the girl could never take a place in the young man's social set; that she could never fit into the life of the young man's family; that she would always be a foreign element in their scheme of things; that the young man would be ashamed of her, and that neither he nor she would be happy together.

But the young man, with the confidence of inexperience, artlessly argued that he would instruct the girl in all the graces; that they would take a trip abroad for a year or so and that when he should bring her back she would be proficient in social etiquette and charming manners.

To all of which the father shook his head dubiously and replied sadly: "You cannot make a silk purse out of a sow's ear."

Now the young man had a close friend, a clever, skillful chemist. He told this friend what his father had said about the silk purse and the sow's ear.

The chemist was thoughtful. He said: "I believe we can show your father something about a sow's ear."

The chemist sent to a Chicago packing house and ordered a hundred pounds of sow's ears. With chemicals he dissolved these ears into a gelatinous mass. This substance was forced through tiny holes—after the way rayon is made. As the slender glutinous threads came through, they were subjected to a bath which hardened them. After putting the material through a number of processes, the chemist had a quantity of what looked like threads of glistening silk. These he had colorfully dyed and artistically woven into a lady's purse.

The chemist presented the purse to the young man. "There," he said with a smile, "is a silk purse made out of a sow's ear. Show it to your father."

The young man triumphantly took the purse to his father and told its history.

The father eyed the purse intently. "Son," he said, "if you could rearrange the atoms of which that girl of yours is composed, as your chemist friend has done with those sow's ears, it might be possible to make a gentleman of her."

The father continued to study the purse. "But, son," he went on, "this stuff isn't real silk. It is just an imitation—and a poor imitation. Any discriminating person can detect that. And that isn't all. See," he said as he thrust a finger through the fabric, "it won't wear."

SPECULATING MONEY.

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, credited with being the chief author of the Federal Reserve Act, has introduced a bill intended to reduce the amount of bank loans available for stock speculation. It would be a blessing if this aim could be achieved, because stock speculation leads to general inflation. But the chances for checking stock speculation by this or any other means don't look very encouraging. Most of the funds for the recent wave of Stock Market gambling, anyway, are said to have come from individuals and corporations rather than banks. The country is oozing with money. It naturally oozes, by direct or devious channels, to the people who want it and are willing to pay what it costs. Apparently several hundred thousand people just now don't care that it costs, because they think they can make enough to leave them a fat profit.

VISIBLE HOUSE NUMBERS.

City of Stockholm has set an excellent example for American cities. Its house numbers are to be illuminated at night. It is a reform which has been urged and discussed there for many years, as it has been by a great many individuals and committees in this country. Recently, however, cab drivers and physicians have complained so vigorously that definite action is to be taken by municipal authorities. Illuminated numbers at night imply visible numbers in the daytime. There are times when a person looking for a building in a strange neighborhood feels despairingly that nothing short of the millennium will correct the hopeless situation that exists in so many places—invisible house numbers, or none at all. If Stockholm can put over this reform, cities on this side of the Atlantic should be able to do so.

NEWSPAPER TRIALS.

A public official in one of the big cities, arrested on the charge of soliciting a bribe, bristles with indignation and demands "fair play, not a trial in the newspapers." Which is quite all right, of course. Every accused man should have a fair trial; and the newspapers, with all their facilities for public service, are not equipped for conducting criminal trials. At the same time a newspaper person, bearing in mind recent trials in various parts of the country, feels like remarking that if the newspapers did undertake in their informal way to decide criminal cases, they could hardly do any worse than American juries and courts are doing right along. They might even improve a bit on current court procedure. For instance, they might permit witnesses to live up to their oaths and tell "the whole truth," instead of being choked off by legal objections every time they started telling something important.

BLOCKADES FOR PEACE.

"My idea of freedom of the seas," says Senator Borah, "is the right of neutrals to carry goods as freely in war as in peace, except when they are carrying munitions, or attacking a blockade, which must not be a paper blockade." That, apparently, would begin the argument in any future war just about where it left off—and also began—in the World War. An article by Newton D. Baker, recently appearing in the Yale News, bears a little on that blockade idea. Mr. Baker urges an attitude of "hard-boiled disapproval" toward belligerent nations. Refusal to aid in a military way or to supply food or war stuffs to any nation refusing to abide by an umpire's decision in an international court of arbitration would do much to maintain universal peace, Mr. Baker thinks. Foreknowledge that other nations, along with the United States, would blockade or boycott any aggressor nation ought to be a powerful deterrent of war. It is an idea that fires the imagination and inspires the peace hopes of many a plain citizen. But it isn't yet accepted by the world's steamship companies, munition manufacturers, food growers and exporters, or any other economic groups with goods to sell wherever there is a market. It is not even accepted by very many statesmen.

MENTAL TESTS.

Don't look here for one of the popular "intelligence tests." The reader will find merely three questions taken from a leaflet by a reputable college to prospective students. "Are you," asks the head of the college, "prolonging your mental youth, enriching your middle life and laying up treasures of joy for your old age?" Well, that's a little embarrassing, possibly impertinent. Who is this man, anyway, to question the value of pastime like bridge and smokers and lodge meetings and ball games, and a little recreation like dancing? "Do you," continues the merciless educator, "regularly commune through literature, music or art with the greatest minds and hearts of all ages and nations? Whom are you choosing for your mental associates?" Now, on the level, the boys are not so bad! "Does your mind," this fellow continues, "travel abroad and get a more sympathetic understanding of other times, other people and other civilizations through the study of their history, customs, languages and literatures?" "Do you get a better understanding of the laws that govern the world in which you move and have your being?" Really, he makes a person nervous. And yet this queer college man is luring into sympathetic study thousands of all ages, who for the first time in their lives have got the idea that mental training, knowledge and culture are worth while, even if you don't make any money out of them.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

American and Roundup, February, 1913.

The two never-failing weather signs have assured us of an early spring. Easter Sunday comes the 23rd of March, which is very early, and the ground has failed to see his shadow on the 2nd, so we can now get a spade and rake and hike to the garden. The sleet and snow of last Friday was variously estimated in Cisco from a half to one inch, and to say the least it was good on plowed ground in this vicinity. Fine farmers at Rising Star have recently received a commitment of several thousand cabbage plants from South Carolina and are going to give the cabbage industry a trial this year. The Rising Star Signal is trying to revive the Ross county movement. Of course one of the chief reasons for this agitation of the Signal is that it might be able to say that it is published in a county site town. The Signal is ambitious. J. H. McDonald, formerly county treasurer, and recently deputy sheriff, has accepted a position with J. J. Winsten. There has been 165 city poll tax paid and of course there are quite a number of exemptions. They are all prepared for the city election in April. PENSION BILL KILLED. Eastland, Tex., Feb. 1, 1929. Cisco Daily News, Cisco, Texas. In view of the fact that numerous inquiries are coming to me from all over the county concerning the outcome of the bill which was introduced in the senate, at the present session of the legislature, which would have given the commissioners' court of this and other counties discretionary power to provide pensions to persons who have attained the age of 70 years, I would appreciate it very much if you would state to your readers through the columns of your paper that the above mentioned bill passed the senate but failed to pass the house of representatives, therefore, will not become a law. Thanking you for giving this matter publicity, I am, Yours very truly, C. L. GARRETT, County Judge.

The railway station in the British empire with the least traffic is probably Oodnadatta, in Australia, which has only one train in two weeks.

COLD WEATHER WORTH THOUSANDS TO FRUIT---A. H. TAYLOR

Cisco's First Monday Trade Day & Good Thing, Says Cross Plains New Owner on Site; A Be Ms. EXTENS ARE

Taylor, pioneer citizen Cross Plains, says the weather at this time is worth thousands of dollars to the orchardists of the country. If weather is warm and fruit is very likely to bloom and the fruit get killed by the early spring frosts, it serves to delay their coming until later and thus escape killing frosts.

Ground Hog day, Saturday, February 2, will let us know about the continuation of winter, he says. If the little fellow sees his shadow he will go back into his hole and sleep through the forty days of winter which are supposed to follow. However, if it is cloudy and he is not frightened by his shadow, he will remain out and enjoy the spring, which latter fact he is said to herald. Mr. Taylor says that for many years he has noticed these things, and though it may be founded on superstition, he has found the ground hog theory to work out. Another thing that Mr. Taylor says holds good is that the first 12 days after Christmas foretells the general weather for the year. The first of this series of days stands for January, the second day for February and so on. He thinks we will have plenty of rainy weather this year, but very little more cold weather.

Mr. Taylor has been a farmer all his life and likes it. He raises his living at home and always has something to sell when he comes to town. Eggs, chickens, butter, a few pigs, fresh pork and a variety of fresh vegetables, form his marketing menu throughout the year. Cisco is a good market, he

OIL NEWS OF SOUTHWEST

DALLAS, Feb. 1. — Reports Thursday from the Sun Oil company's Well No. 1 in Washington county, near Brenham, gave the production as over 7,000 barrels a day. The well on a three hour gauge yesterday flowed at the rate of 235 barrels an hour, an increase of 79 barrels an hour over the 170 barrels rate on Wednesday.

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 1. — Last week's production in West Texas set a new high mark for the year, with twenty-three producers completed in four counties rating 128,856 barrels daily, an increase of four wells and 65,190 barrels daily over the preceding week.

Winkler county again headed the list with twelve completions for 62,408 barrels. Pecos county came second with two wells for 62,160 barrels. The Mid-Kansas and Transcontinental No. 27-B Yates accounted for 59,520 barrels of the total.

Howard county completed eight wells for 4,213 barrels daily and Jones county two wells for 75 barrels daily.

COLEMAN, Feb. 1. — Two producers have been brought in the Overall pool seven miles south of Coleman in the last three days. The bringing in of the Continental Atlantic Midson, Atlantic, Anzac and Cheney No. 4 Overall gives the owners a well which promises to equal the production of the No. 11 Overall which was drilled into the oil-bearing sand Tuesday. Neither of the tests have been completed yet.

Oil men express the opinion that both the producers will equal the discovery well, with 700 barrels daily production.

SPENT $1500 TRYING TO GET WELL

Then Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Relief

This startling letter from an ex-convict who suffers from constipation:

"I was discharged after the World War with heart trouble and bad stomach. I had saved about $1500. Since then I've spent that sum and a lot more on doctoring and operations and medicines. I always bothered with constipation.

"I told my wife to get some kind of light breakfast food and I would try it. She came home with a small package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I ate it for breakfast, lunch and dinner, about a common tea-spoon full with milk at each meal. I have been doing this for about a month. I have stopped taking dope (medicines). I work 9 to 12 hours. I have a good appetite. And now I am eating flesh and believe I am getting well."

—GEO. C. O'CONNELL, Barber, N. Y.

Capt. George Fried, heroic rescuer, says: 'Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.'

"AN S.O.S. from the 'Florida'! We change our course. We on the 'America' strain to arrive in time to rescue the men on their sinking ship, 350 miles away. Through the icy, freezing storm and high seas we plunge on—all speed ahead! Then the night-time rescue, the search lights, the whirling waves, the manoeuvring to get near the 'Florida'. Finally, the 'Florida's' crew coming off one at a time, pulling themselves through the water on the line our men had thrown them.

"These 32 men, dazed, many half clothed, needed reviving after their long exposure. Hot coffee, food and Lucky Strikes—these gave new life to many of them and we on board the 'America,' crew and passengers alike, found after the strain and struggle that there was nothing quite so comforting and relaxing as the inviting, toasted flavor of Lucky Strikes.

"Playing this game with 'Davy' is ever fascinating, ever thrilling. And we who follow the sea must be ever ready for adventure. Ours is an active life, demanding nerve control and physical fitness. In my health program I have found that Luckies are most important not only because they provide a respite for frazzled nerves and an exhausted body but because whenever I crave something which is over-fattening, I say to myself, 'Reach for a toast of a sweet'. In the toasted flavor of Luckies, I get satisfaction. And I find that toasting, by removing the throat irritants, protects my throat."

Former Speaker Lee Satterwhite Will Be Heard This Afternoon in Opposition to Prison Relocation

AUSTIN, Feb. 1.—Former Speaker Lee Satterwhite, opponent of the plan to let the state prison board sell prison farm property and relocate, will be heard this afternoon by the house and senate prison committee together with a delegation of Fort Bend county citizens who favor the plan.

conditions new prisons were described as a "fresh luscious peach" compared with the "rotten onion" for four years ago.

Odell of Fort Worth was chief spokesman for the prison board. He declared it is not their recommendation that all prison farming be abandoned. As outlined he proposed abandonment of cotton farming and sugar cane raising, except to the amount needed to make syrup for the prisons and other state institutions. In their stead he outlined a system with a central industrial prison manufacturing auto number plates, highway signs, clothing and shoes for state institutions and surrounding farms raising supplies for the prisons and state institutions, aided by refrigerators and packing plants to care for the produce.

ELECTRICITY EMPLOYED IN TWO HANGINGS

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 1.—The ultimate of self government was enacted here today with the dispatch of modern science. Lives of Thomas Lowry, 23, and Leonard R. Yeager, 31, convicted murderers, were claimed by the state in a double execution performed by an electrically operated gallows. The traps were sprung simultaneously at 6:15 a. m., plunging the two men to their deaths at the end of ropes for the murders of Motorcycle Patrolman Eugene Lovzy, slain by Lowry September 25, 1926, and of Connors Schou, an elderly tailor, shot to death by Yeager November 17.

Lowry was pronounced dead at 6:30 a. m. and Yeager at 6:33 a. m. Spiritual advisers intoned final words of solace to the condemned men as they rode up an elevator to the death chamber. "I am going home, boys," were Yeager's last words. Lowry made no final statement on the gallows, but intently followed a litany repeated for him.

About 75 official representatives and newspapermen witnessed the executions.

Third reduction in two years is effective Feb. 1

ONE good reason for using "long distance"—if you are not already familiar with its pleasant and profitable uses—is to be found in its constantly decreasing cost.

Hereafter calls to points 130 to 1500 miles away will cost 5 to 25 cents less. In some cases, the reduction is even more.

The decrease applies on all calls except station-to-station calls made after 7 p. m.

Christian Science Treatment Is Directed to Consciousness Rather Than Corporeality, Says Lecturer

A lecture on Christian Science, its Method and Purpose, was given under the auspices of the Christian Science society of Eastland in their church house last night. The lecturer was Peter V. Ross, C. S. B., of San Francisco, Cal., a member of the board of lectureship of the mother church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. Mr. Ross said in part:

"We live in a mental realm. All things are mental, man himself being an aggregation of thoughts, a state of consciousness, instead of an aggregation of cells or a physical body as physiology declares. And it is toward consciousness rather than corporeality that Christian Science treatment is directed. Science, by declaring perfection in all things and in all places, operates to eliminate from human consciousness its beliefs that matter is actual, that disease is present, that evil is attractive. It sweeps from consciousness the heavy, sickly sense of man, and brings out the true sense of man as healthy and holy, as spiritual and perfect.

"For there are not two men, one material the other spiritual, one bad the other good, one sick, the other perfect, immortal man of divine mind's creating. The supposedly physical, imperfect man is only the human mind's mistaken sense of what man is. This false sense of man must be displaced by the true sense of health and consciousness life are to be realized. And this is exactly what Christian Science is doing. It is bringing out in the experience of the individual a sense of his true selfhood—a self which knows and manifests good and health and intelligence, and it is putting aside the erroneous sense of man as sick and sensual and mortal.

"Christian Science accomplishes this by presenting the facts to the individual and arousing him to the true situation. It declares to him that the presence of God, who is Love and Life, leaves no place or possibility for disease and suffering; that man as the reflection of God is as perfect in a degree as God is; that man is an expression of perfect Life and Mind and therefore that he is well and knows that he is well.

"Some sixty years ago a deeply religious and spiritually minded American woman, apparently approaching the end of mortal existence as the result of an accident, turned to her Bible for consolation. While she was reading one of the Gospel accounts of healing performed by Jesus, a sense of strength and freedom stole over her. She arose, dressed, and presented herself to anxious friends, sound and well.

"But she was not content with this. She must understand the process of spiritual healing. To this end she searched the scriptures and devoted her life. She found that Jesus, in overcoming disease, setting aside material laws, and abolishing death itself, invoked absolute Science which He understood and which others can understand and apply as He did.

"In order that the world at large might profit by her discovery, she set forth the fundamentals of this science in her great book, 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures.' Afterwards she established the Christian Science church, with its periodicals and other means of disseminating and guarding the truth. This it was in brief, that Mary Baker Eddy became the discoverer and founder of Christian Science.

PRORATION MOVE LAID TO STANDARD TOILET GOODS

AUSTIN, Feb. 2.—Dan Harrison of Houston charged Standard Oil of New Jersey with fomenting the pro-ration movement in the Texas oil industry, asserting that adoption of the pro-ration bill now before the legislature will sound the "death knell" of the independent operator. His charges were made to a legislative committee meeting yesterday and last night.

Harrison's position was directly opposite to that taken by W. B. Hamilton of the oil division of the West Texas chamber of commerce at earlier hearings before the legislative committee. Hamilton claimed the movement was favored by the independents and that the Humble was the only large company giving approval.

Under guise of pro-ration and conservation, Harrison declared, "effort is being made to control the oil industry through the state railroad commission." Advocates of pro-ration, he said, show they are more concerned with control of prices than they are with prevention of waste.

D. TOMLIN TO MANUFACTURE TOILET GOODS

Cisco friends of Mr. and Mrs. D. Tomlin will be interested in the news that Mr. Tomlin is preparing to engage in the business of manufacturing toilet articles in Fort Worth, to which city they recently removed from Cisco. Mr. Tomlin was formerly connected with a similar manufacturing plant in Dallas, but sold his interest.

JUST PASSING THROUGH—BUT THEY LINGERED

Five boys were jailed Thursday night on vagrancy charges after their arrests in the alley back of the Guide hotel. Four of these arrests had been given free lodging in the city jail Tuesday night after requesting accommodations. No charges were filed against them, but they were told to get out of the city. When applying for lodgings the four told the officers they were from Dallas and on their way home after seeking their fortune in the West. They had failed to find the fabled pot of gold at the rainbow's end, as they anticipated, and were returning like the prodigal son, to the house of their fathers, convinced that there was no place like home.

But the quartet failed to keep their promise with the officers. A broken promise to Cisco police is a passport to Lake Cisco training camp for all pedestrian tourists who are allowed their liberty after a night's lodging in the city jail.

"What are you doing here?" queried Mayor J. M. Williamson of each of the four when they had presented themselves at the mourners' bench just inside the railing at the corporation court.

"Just passing through, your honor," they answered without variation.

"When did you arrive?"

"Night before last."

"How long do you think it would take you to pass through Cisco?" the mayor asked.

"About 30 minutes, if I was loose," said one of them.

"You are charged with vagrancy. What have you to say about it?"

None of the four, nor a fifth man who had likewise made the mistake of including Cisco on his itinerary, had anything to say about it.

"Five dollars and costs with the stipulation that if you can get enough money to pay your way out of Cisco you may go free," said the mayor.

So Lake Cisco training camp gets five recruits.

"How long does it take to work out five dollars and costs?" one youthful union tourist asked of Chief of Police Miller when the court adjourned was over.

"About 17 days, son."

Apparently that was something of a shock. Prison wages are rather an unknown quantity. But the youngster recovered. "Oh, that ain't long now is it," he said cheerfully.

"Well," the mayor laughed, "you aren't in a hurry, anyway."

The quartet admitted on vagrancy charges were John B. Fleming, Sam McCallum, Ira Penninger, Bob Minyard and Earl Chadester.

WELL NORTHWEST OF CISCO FLOWING 250 BARRELS DAILY

Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil Company Higginbotham 3 Believed to Be Producing From Bond Sand

The Texas & Pacific Coal and Oil company has brought in its No. 3 Higginbotham, nine miles northwest of Cisco Friday for 250 barrels of oil daily, natural flow, accompanied by 6,000,000 feet of gas. The Higginbotham well is believed to be producing from the Bond sand in contrast to most wells in what is termed the Gordon pool which are producing from the Ranger pay. The total depth of the well is 3,375 feet, 12 feet in the sand.

A new test is being started on the Speed farm, just east of the Higginbotham, by Col. Robert D. Gordon, who drilled the discovery well in this field.

COLEMAN, Feb. 2.—The No. 1 well Weaver, of McDonald & Co. and Ross Drilling company, one mile east of Coleman, flowed 75 barrels in seven hours yesterday. The new producer indicates a new pool for Coleman country.

GORDON, Feb. 2.—The first sand in the Wickens and Speer Smith No. 1, in Palo Pinto county, made 2,500,000 cubic feet of gas yesterday following the resuming of drilling which was halted while tools were fished out of the hole.

The second sand is the big pay in that section of the county and should be hit at about 3,260 feet.

Eleven rigs are working in this new field, and there is also a bit of leasing being done south, southeast and north of Gordon.

LULING, Feb. 2.—Plans are being made to drill a few feet deeper in the Humble company's Johnson No. 2 well on the northeast end of the Bruner field. It was brought in Wednesday and early Thursday morning was flowing by heads at the rate of about 150 barrels a day.

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 2.—Voluntary action of the flush production of oil fields was agreed upon at an informal conference here today of Oklahoma operators.

Operators agreed that there is approximately 50,000 to 75,000 barrels of crude oil per day being produced in Oklahoma in excess of the state's needs.

They agreed in view of the rather large potential production as immediately in prospect operators employed Ray Collins, umpire for the greater Oklahoma area, already under curtailment, as oil and gas conservation is to be until May, this year.

Collins was directed to assemble immediately the operators interested in the important producing areas in Oklahoma for the purpose of reaching agreements for curtailment of drilling and reduction of production to the extent that waste may be eliminated and the oil and gas resources of the state be conserved.

SEMINOLE, Okla., Feb. 2.—The greater Seminole fields of Seminole and Pottawatomie counties declined 3,519 barrels of crude oil in the sales yesterday, making a total production of 425,119 barrels from 1,646 wells. The production by wells: Little River 191,466; Bowlegs 41,657; Earlsboro 67,931; Seminole City 39,274; Seabright 8,790; Maud 35,173; Mauden 924; St. Louis pool (Pottawatomie county) 129,842.

Boston Braves Club Overhauled From Manager to Mascot; Is Most Uncertain Looking Outfit In Loop

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—From manager to mascot, the Boston Braves have been completely overhauled. With a former New York City magistrate who never played professional baseball as a new manager and two heroes of the 1914 miracle team as assistants, the Boston club is the most uncertain looking outfit in the National league.

Three newcomers are expected to fill out the infield. Freddy Maguire, obtained from the Cubs in the Hornsby deal is slated for second base, but may get quite a battle from R. B. James, a 22-year old infielder who batted 323 for Omaha. James hit 16 home runs and stole 30 bases last season. Rabbit Maranville, who was a member of the world champion Braves with Evers and Gowdy fifteen years ago has been obtained from the Cardinals for shortstop. Joe Dugan, veteran third baseman of the New York Yankees, is slated for third base if Lester Bell is traded to the Cubs as expected.

The Braves' tentative lineup follows:

Catchers—Taylor, Collins. Leggett; pitchers—Brandt, Cantwell, Clarkson, Cunningham, DeLaney.

Taylor behind the bat may be reasonably certain of their places, but the other positions are doubtful.

Of the Braves' 16 new players, 6 are major league veterans and two of the seven outstanding recruits are 32 years old.

The ranks of the Braves will be made up of a strange mixture of youngsters and veterans. Only three of last year's regulars, excluding the pitchers, are certain of places on the 1929 team.

Machinery of the state government has been taken apart—and some of it not put back together—and

ELECTRICAL ERA HAS ONLY STARTED IN U. S. SAYS BABSON

Great Future Shown for Utilities if Public Relations are Friendly, Statistician Says in Statement

(Copyright by Publishers Financial Bureau.)

BABSON PARK, Fla., Feb. 2.—The year 1928 has been one of marked achievements in the electric power and light industry. Over 1,400,000 new consumers were added, bringing the total up to 23,660,000. Production of power increased to $2,000,000,000 kwh., a gain of 10 per cent over 1927 and a gain of 50 per cent over five years ago. In addition we imported 1,200,000,000 kwh. from Canada, making our total available supply of power as great as all the rest of the world together. Statistics from all branches of the industry show similar progress. One of the healthiest indications, however, is the advance in operating efficiency. On a lower average rate for service than in 1927, gross revenues gained 7 per cent to $1,975,000,000, while net income estimates place the percentage gain between 10 per cent and 15 per cent. Economies achieved through centralized management, interconnection of systems, improved equipment, and larger distribution are seen in the proportionate greater gain in net income than in gross business.

Large Avenues for Future Expansion

The past year's successes are, however, only a continuation of successive gains recorded in the past eight years. Also they are only stepping stones to still greater things in the future. Electric power has by no means "shot its bolt." The regular avenues of expansion are by no means exhausted and new developments have recently broadened the horizon of the future. There remains a great potential market for the electrification of the farms. Much progress has been made already, but much more remains to be done in this field. The use of electric power in industry is making great strides. Substitution of the electric motor for the old steam engine has given industries a wider latitude and much greater flexibility. Electric power is readily available in outlying localities making possible the establishment of industries in country districts, or where living conditions are most attractive. Today three-fourths of all the power in industry is electric, approximately 60 per cent of it furnished by central stations. The light and power companies. At the rate motorization of factories is progressing this proportion will be markedly increased in the next ten years. The more general use of electricity devices and appliances continues to grow. The power ratio, as a recent illustration, has caused a very substantial gain in domestic consumption.

House Heating Experiments Important

Up to the present time household heating has been largely monopolized by coal, oil and gas. Experiments are going on, however, to find ways of heating houses economically by electricity. While still in the experimental stage it is, nevertheless, of interest to note that a practical system of storing electric current in the form of hot water has been devised. The plan is to utilize the night hours when the power load is at a minimum, and advantageous service rates can be given, to heat insulated tanks of water for use in heating. Such installations have already been made in 16 residences in a middle western city. The electric power company agrees to heat in this way by specific contract guaranteeing minimum house temperatures of 60 degrees during eight hours of the night and 70 degrees, even in zero weather, during sixteen hours of the day. Progress in house insulation as well as in insulation of such tanks may make this practical for general use in the future. At any rate, it is a development worth watching and one of tremendous importance to the electric industry if adopted on a large scale.

Rail Electrification Large Potential Market

Aside from the outlets for electric expansion mentioned above, I have recently seen marked progress toward electrification of the railroads. Relative to this question an announcement of the Pennsylvania that it is to spend $100,000,000 in electrifying its line from New York to Wilmington is very significant. An enormous demand for electric power will thereby be created. Of course, this project cannot be fully completed during the present year, but the next few years will be years of great expansion in that area. Moreover, other large railroad systems are planning similar construction. I understand that the New York Central management has already made thorough studies for electrifying its main line in New York state. There is a possibility of an early decision by this road to electrify its line from New York to Albany. Delaware, Lackawana & Western is understood to have definite plans for electric suburban service and many other lines are giving careful study to the subject.

Public Relations of Greatest Importance

The most important thing necessary to the future success of the electric light and power industry, and for all other public utilities, is a friendly attitude on the part of the public. The physical equipment and the potential market for its services, great as they are, would be of little avail if the public were hostile. This was proved in the case of the railroads 30 years ago. The men at the head of the electric power and light industries in this country generally have shown high ideals of public service. There are criticisms, some of them probably justified, of unfair financial arrangements in connection with the formation of certain holding companies. However, these abuses have been brought to light wherever they have occurred.

Political propaganda against electric power and light interests does not have much to feed on when the industry can point to constant lowering of service rates to the consumers. In the past six or seven years rate cuts in the United States by electric companies have totaled more than $300,000,000. Electric service is one of the very few items in the cost of living that is lower than it was before the war. If the public utilities managements give full information regarding their activities to the public in a truthful, unprejudiced, and unbiased manner, adverse legislation is not to be feared. Suspicion thrives only in the dark. A true spirit of fair dealing and honesty has nothing to conceal. Business by the Babsonist is now 6 per cent above normal.

Improved Highways and Streets Are Made Imperative by Rapid Increase in Autos Says Cadillac Official

By H. M. STEPHENS
(General Sales Manager, Cadillac Motor Car Company)

More arterial highways, super-highways, city streets of adequate width, elimination of bottlenecks almost regardless of expense, and making available the year around many roads which today are serviceable only during favorable weather, are foremost and vital factors in the improvement of good roads and traffic conditions in the United States.

The year 1929 will witness the addition of 1,000,000 to 1,200,000 more motor vehicles within our boundaries. Provision must be made not only adequately to care for them but to provide better facilities for the 25,000,000 already in use.

Downtown merchants must see that sufficient parking facilities are provided accessible to their stores or find more and more business moving to the suburbs.

The public rapidly is realizing that proper roads more than pay their cost in enhanced value of surrounding property alone. Were that not true the public would still be entitled to facilities enabling it to move quickly, comfortably and safely from one place to another by means of individual and mass transportation.

How the increased value of adjacent property more than offsets the cost of road improvements is vividly illustrated in North Carolina, which today has some of the finest through roadways in America.

The living standards of its people have been vastly bettered. Hundreds of millions of dollars in tourist trade have flowed constantly into the state, better homes have replaced poorer ones, and the entire state has become a foremost exponent of how improved city streets and highway roads have contributed back directly to the greater well being of its entire people.

Westchester county, New York, located just north of New York City, has found that its highway system has been more than paid for by the increase in land values. From 1924 to 1927 it expended $8,750,000 on highway work. During the same period its land value increased $50,000,000.

The superhighway is the most efficient roadway yet known for the rapid, safe transport of traffic volume. The day is not far distant when superhighways will furnish the accepted method of fast travel between our great metropolitan areas. As each roadway accommodates only one-way traffic, the superhighway immediately obviates those types of accidents caused by one car cutting out of line and crashing into an oncoming car and those in which the pedestrian is caught between two opposite moving traffic lines.

It also permits the use, at times, of extraordinary traffic flow of a greater percentage of the total available road space, since no lanes need be kept open for traffic moving in the opposite direction.

The superhighway would not decrease the attention it is bound to receive if its only advantage were the facilitation of one-way traffic. Frontage along superhighways already constructed and in operation has grown enormously in value. Property values three miles or more away from the road itself have also appreciated greatly.

The superhighway has regard for the pedestrian. Because of its island in the center, the pedestrian need cross but one side of the highway before again reaching safety. Traffic lights may be spaced at necessary intervals both for pedestrian safety and for crossing traffic. They need to handle traffic moving only in one direction and in many instances can be so synchronized that the bulk of motor traffic can be continuously moving.

There are, in all some 3,000,000 miles of roads in this country—good, bad and indifferent. If all were usable the year round there would be little or no cause for complaint. But some 71 per cent of them are unimproved in any way. Another 10 per cent have been graded and drained. Seventeen per cent have some sort of permanent surfacing. About two per cent are year-round, all-weather roads, made from base to crown according to dictates of the most thorough scientific highway engineering.

These two per cent are the roads that carry the nation's traffic. The bureau of public roads' survey showed that 85 per cent of the country's entire highway traffic is carried over six per cent of its total highway mileage.

For many years mileage has been the major goal in road building. If, at the year's end, the state reported the construction of several hundred miles of new roads, its citizens felt they had lived up to their progressive reputation. But in certain instances these roads were too narrow. In other, no provision was made for widening as traffic volume grew. Again politics has dictated where they should be built. The lesser need was met first and the greater sidetracked for votes, for political friends, or for other selfish ends.

Adequately to meet the situation it is necessary to think in four terms. Width, capacity and proper location comes first. Roads must be built to withstand the punishment inflicted by the heavy traffic of motor buses and trucks. To these physical properties of length, width and thickness another dimension, time, must be added. And time is something which can be determined only by the factors of traffic volume, directness of route and the impediments which may be encountered along that route.

Motor car owners paid $760,000,000 in motor vehicle taxes in 1927, according to the National Automobile chamber of commerce. They probably paid more in 1928 because of the greater number of cars in operation and the more nearly universal gasoline tax, despite the lifting of the federal excise tax on new cars, which the automobile industry finally was successful, after years of effort, in having wiped out. On the other hand, something more than $1,100,000,000 was spent in 1927 for highway construction and maintenance.

From these comparative figures it can be easily seen that the automobile owner is paying more than his share toward building and maintaining roads and streets, particularly when it is remembered that adjacent land values, in almost every instance, are benefited more by these good roads than their total cost of construction and operation.

Efficiency dictates the building of only high type roads. They save actual dollars and cents in operating costs, repairs, replacements and time. According to surveys by Iowa State college, concrete roads are the most efficient for every class of motor vehicle. Lessened cost of upkeep more than offsets the higher first investment.

America's future in highway construction depends largely on the intelligence of public officials in planning new highways and revising the old. Rights of way must be secured which will permit widening as traffic increases. Bridges should be constructed that can easily be enlarged. Adequate facilities for the future depend upon scientific planning and construction.

In our cities, particularly, haven't we been facing makeshift expediences long enough? Must not our cities awaken immediately to the realization that they are far behind the necessity of the motor car in their programs of providing ample traffic facilities for the decent needs of their citizens?

PAST ROTARY PRESIDENTS GIVEN PINS

The regular weekly luncheon of the Rotary club Thursday heard one of the best programs of several months. Thirty-two, including four guests, were present. Mrs. Alfred Irby, head of the English department of the high school read and interpreted two poems from English literature. Frank W. Perkins, new manager of the Cisco Amusement company, spoke on the possibilities at Lake Cisco. P. W. Campbell, of the West Texas Utilities company at Abilene, a former citizen of Cisco, was present. He declined to speak, however.

Two former presidents of the Rotary club were presented with past-president pins by President Tom Foley. They were F. D. Wright and Dr. E. L. Graham. Mr.

Wright, in accepting the pins, said that he had bargained with Dr. Graham whereby he would make the speech thanking the club while Dr. Graham would sing a solo.

Dr. Graham stuck to his promise, singing unaccompanied. That is, unaccompanied by the piano—everybody stayed in the room. The doctor even went his promise one better and did a tap dance for the club. It was suggested immediately that the club provide another pin for Dr. Graham. No business was transacted during the program.

Members of the Lutheran church gave her ready assistance both in moving her household goods and in getting settled in her new home. She is a sister-in-law of Rev. Steyer, pastor of the Lutheran church in the German community, south of Cisco.

54,000 EGGS SOLD DURING PAST WEEK

This week's business of the Lee diversified farm includes the sale and shipment of 4,500 dozen eggs—54,000 individual eggs—according to Edward Lee, manager of the farm. These eggs were shipped to New Orleans, principally. Manager Lee said, "All these eggs were not the product of one week, as many have been on storage," he said. "If we had such an output shipments could be made in car lots by fast freight, which would be more profitable. We are shipping by express, but find a ready market for all the eggs we can supply. Telegraph orders come in daily, but we are unable to fill all orders received." There are now about 3,000 laying hens on the Lee farm, most of these being White Leghorns.

A Difference that cannot be measured in Dollars

SOMEBODY suggests this simple test for automobile buyers. Write down the price of a New Pontiac Big Six. Now write below it the price of any lower-priced car you can think of. Subtract. Lo and behold! Only a few dollars difference! But what a difference there is in the cars—and it cannot be measured in dollars!

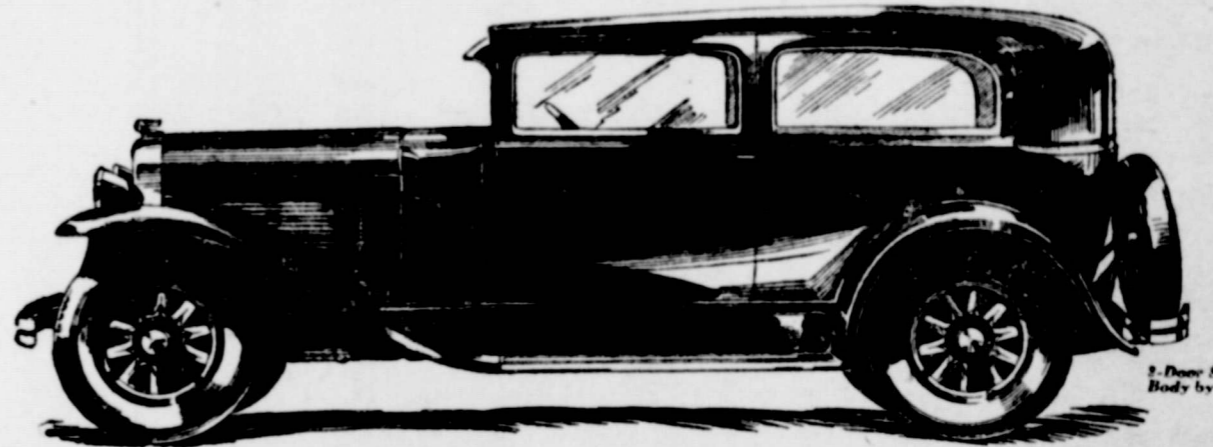

It's true, of course, that in the New Pontiac Big Six you get greater overall length, a bigger engine and such fine car advantages as dirt-and-weather-proof internal four-wheel brakes. Those are features which can be measured in money. But the real difference is even more important than that. It's really a matter of progress. When you're getting on in the world, you want finer things. And that's where the Pontiac Big Six fits in.

It offers big car performance resulting from its big, new L-head engine, its accurately balanced rotating parts, Hotchkiss drive, and its many other mechanical advancements. It offers the luxury, comfort and style provided by masterly new bodies by Fisher.

Yes, you could always get that in an automobile. But never before at Pontiac's price. That's why the Pontiac Big Six is creating such a furor!

Prices $745 and up, f. o. b. factory, plus delivery charges. Bumpers and rear fender guards regular equipment at slight extra cost. Check Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices—they include lowest handling charges. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

The next convention of the 17th district of the American Legion will be held at Mineral Wells February 23 and 24, according to an announcement by C. E. Yates, adjutant of the John William Butts post of Cisco. Mr. Yates pleads for a full payment of dues on the part of the members of the Cisco post before the date set for the convention. Dues at the present time are only $1, he announced, but after the membership drive they will be increased. Efforts to take big delegation to the convention from Cisco will be made.

BULLDOGS AND LOBOES PLAY MONDAY NIGHT

The first meeting on the basketball court this year between the Ranger Bulldogs and the Cisco Lobos will take place at Ranger tomorrow evening at 7:30 when the Lobos plan to thrash the Bulldogs with a merciless gesture of superiority upon class A high school courts in Esland county. The Bulldogs, however, do not intend to allow the Lobos hopes to come true. Instead the Ranger quintet harbors certain designs not altogether to the liking of the Lobos. The two teams will be given two opportunities to settle the matter during the present series. Both opportunities will count toward the conference standing of the two. The first game will be played tomorrow night at Ranger. The second will be played Tuesday evening here.

DIRECT 'PHONE SERVICE TO MEXICO CITY

DALLAS, Feb. 2.—Direct telephone service between Mexico City and Dallas has been established for the first time. It was announced here today. Formerly calls between these two points were switched at San Antonio with the aid of a repeater circuit. San Antonio was the only Texas city which was on a direct circuit to Mexico City until the Dallas circuit was established. The present circuit is 1,241 miles long.

Henry's five-day week marks an advance, but what the country seems to want most is a five-day week end.

January, although a dull month for building, saw building permits to the extent of over $20,000 issued in Cisco, according to the records of City Secretary W. B. Statham. The exact figure was $21,020.38. While this is less than that for any one of the 11 months preceding it, it is larger than the total for January 1928. The reason for the general dullness in the building trade in January is easily explained by the fact that tax paying falls heaviest in that period while other expenses incident upon business reorganization and changes contribute to a state of mind inimical to large construction.

Three of the permits were for new buildings. The others were for remodeling and repairs. Several buildings are known to be planned for construction in February, and there are other nice dwelling houses in an incomplete state. The high month in building permits during 1928 was December during which a total of $603,342 in new construction was issued. This figure includes the permit for the new Cisco hotel.

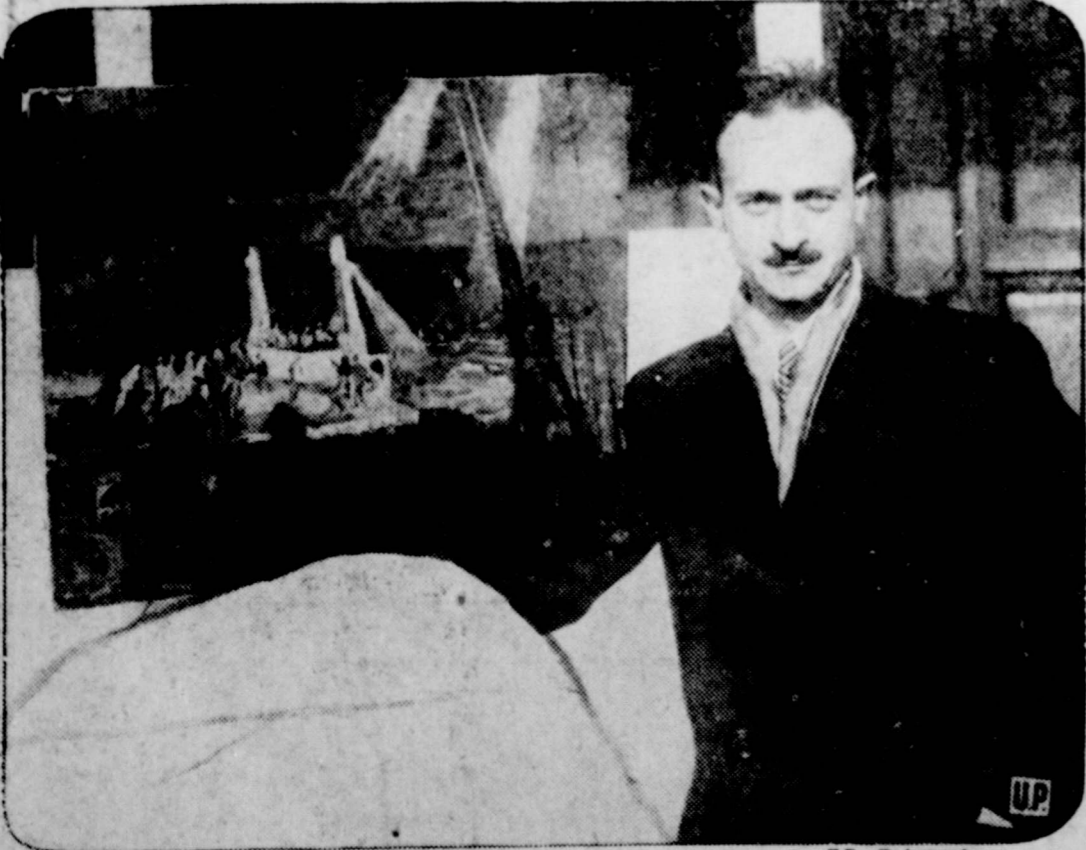

Following are those who secured building permits during January: W. R. Tomlinson, 1102 West Seventh street, one room addition, $700; Joe Clements, contractor, R. A. Williams, Laggett avenue, Belmont Park, six room frame, $3,000; Surks & Bink, contractors, Sam Watkins, East Sixth street, 12 by 17 frame, $150; Cookesey & Wilkins, builders, L. A. Tullos, Laggett avenue, 32 by 50 frame, $3,600; Joe Clements, contractor, Presbyterian church, West Sixth street and H avenue, new roof, $772.25; Joe Clements, contractor, A. G. Chelt, D avenue, remodeling front of Red Front drug store, $1,000; Tom Sewell, contractor, J. J. Litchfield, East Sixth street, 28 by 28 frame, $800; A. E. Randall, contractor, L. F. Thomas, Rising star highway, 26 by 34 brick, $3,000; Surks & Bink, contractors.

WARREN AND CATE NAMED NEW TRUSTEES

At a meeting of the executive board of the trustees of Randolph college Friday afternoon, L. A. Warren and J. B. Cate, both of Cisco, were elected members of the board of trustees of the college. No other business was transacted at the meeting of the committee. Those present were Dr. T. T. Roberts, president; J. M. Williamson, C. R. West and Oscar Chelt.

FULL GROWN COTTONWOOD TRANSPLANTED

A rather unusual tree transplanting stunt was performed on a large cottonwood tree in the J. H. Reynolds home at 1001 West 14th street, this week, reports J. B. Ely, of the Cisco Floral Nursery Co. The tree, which was ten years old and about thirty feet in height, was moved and transplanted to another location in the yard, where it was staked down securely to protect it from winds until such time as its new roots shall have grown sufficiently to be self supporting.

NET GAIN OF 5 NEW WATER CONNECTIONS

New water meters installed in January show a net gain over those taken out, according to the records of the water department of the city secretary's office. There were 41 new meters installed and 36 discontinued, a net gain for the month of 5. The meters taken out during the month were in excess of the average during the past year, but the new meters about the same as other months, with only a slight variance. Many of those discontinued the meters have secured apartments where meters are installed in the name of the property owner. It was learned at the city hall, those installing new meters during January were the following:

- J. D. Dalton, 1509 D avenue;
- Mrs. Metta Vickers, 4005 West Eighteenth street; Mrs. Jewel Sutton, 300 East Sixth street; Spann Chevrolet Co., 515 D avenue; E. L. Wheeler, 906 West Sixth street; J. B. ## OF A SOCIAL NATURE

Social Calendar

Coming Events

Tuesday

The Methodist Missionary society will meet at 3 o'clock at the church. The first chapter in the new Mission study book, "What Next in Home Missions," will be the subject of the program for the afternoon. Mrs. Eakin will be leader. All members are urged to be present.

Thursday

Mrs. Clayton Orr will entertain the First Industrial Arts club at 7 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Entertain

An entertainment planned on informal lines, though with nothing lacking to furnish an enjoyable evening, was the bridge party given Thursday night by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wallace. Music from a radio supplied additional entertainment during the games. Six tables accommodated the bridge players. Mrs. Mike McGannon was the winner of the ladies high score prize, the low prize going to Mrs. Joe Hanrahan. Joe Hanrahan was awarded the men's high prize and John Ducker, the low prize. Refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, coffee and peach cake with whipped cream, were served to Messrs. and Mesdames John O. Sue, L. S. Wrightman, C. C. Clifton, Mike McGannon, Joe Carter, Joe Hanrahan, John Ducker, A. C. Elter, A. E. Jamison, Miss Ray Holland and Messrs. Reggie Henderson and Roy Stover.

Showers Given Cisco Resident

In compliment to Mrs. John Ford of Cisco, formerly of Abilene, Mrs. Everett Little entertained Wednesday afternoon with a shower and forty two party. The home of Mrs. Ford, who recently moved to Cisco, was destroyed by fire last week. Mrs. Ford was also complimented by members of the Berean class of St. Paul's church who presented her an attractive array of gifts in the late afternoon hours in the home of Mrs. P. H. Watkins. Decorations and table appointments suggestive of Valentine were used by Mrs. Little. Following games of 42, James Little, dressed as an expressman, entered and presented the honoree with a shower of gifts.

Guests were Misses H. B. Fullerton, J. W. Kennesan, Bess Morris, Bill Thompson, V. E. McCharen, W. T. Andrus, W. H. Warner, B. C. Burleson, B. B. Billings, O. Harrell, W. O. Kemper, Bates, W. V. Weatherly, and Misses E. M. Little, Stephenson, Ford and Frances Osborne of Cisco. — Abilene Reporter.

Gentlemen's Meeting

The members of the First Industrial Arts club entertained Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Joe Wilson with their annual gentlemen's meeting with Mesdames Joe Wilson, Carl Wilson and J. W. Triplett as hostesses. The eager anticipation of the honorees suffered no disappointments as the hospitality easily exceeded all former entertainments of this kind. The Valentine season was effectively observed in the decorations and refreshments. A game which afforded much merriment was the athletic track meet, with Mrs. A. C. Miller as manager. A large loving cup was given the winning side. "Captain" Hilgenberg of the losing side very fluently made the presentation speech, but reluctantly gave up the prize, which had been the inspiration for a number of very unusual feats performed by the members of his team. Mrs. C. O. Shugart, captain of the winning side, quite aware of the envious glances, eagerly accepted the cup and then spoke at length on the outstanding "stars" of her team. Judges for the event were J. W. Triplett and Mrs. Singleton. Next on the program was a solo given by little Ted Roberts, then a reading by Rev. Singleton. Preceding the serving of refreshments, Judge J. D. Barker gave his annual original poem on "The Club Members," with numerous references to the peculiarities of the club president, who, incidentally, is Mrs. Barker. Among those present were Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Miller, Rev. and Mrs. Singleton, Rev. and Mrs. C. O. Shugart, Mesdames John Shertzer, Sherman Roberts, Carl Wilson, and Messrs. and Mesdames H. G. Bailey, A. L. Langford, L. W. Hilgenberg, R. A. Williams, B. E. Morehart, E. J. Poe, J. D. Barker, J. W. Triplett, and Rex Moore.

Sixth Birthday

Celebrating her sixth birthday anniversary Thursday afternoon, little Barbara Jeanne Jamison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Jamison, entertained a number of her friends at her home from 3 until 5 o'clock. Games, contests, readings and songs were on the program for entertainment during the afternoon and the opening of the many presents afforded much interest. At a late hour the little hostess invited her guests to the dining room, where refreshments were served. In the center of the dining table was a large birthday cake bearing six pink candles. The favors, marking each place, were whistles of other similar noise makers. A Lucie cup of ice cream, heart shaped cookies, a generous slice of the birthday cake and candy were served each guest. Those present were: Rosaloe Williams, Billie Merrivether, Hollis Mae Aikire, Betty Shepherd, Mary Louise Poe, Bobbie Grace McWhorter, Alice Louise Sicker, Norman Ball, Betty Sue Witten, Lillian Spears, Marilyn Shertzer, Teddy Mullins, Jane Guman, Betty Blankenbecker, Sarah Ruth Siddal, Elsie Pulley, Edeline Armstrong, Buddie Tidale, Ruby Lee Tidale, Brenda Louise Warwick, Elizabeth Walker, Junior Mortimer, Melvina Hoyer, Mary Beth Heyser, Laura Blount Williams, J. V. Heyser, Jr., Violet Elliott, Lurline Poe, Doris Jamison and Laura Rupe.

GARDNER ROGERS, CITY PLAN EXPERT, TO BE HERE WEDNESDAY

Visitor Will Speak at Lions Club at Noon; Conferences Slated With City Officials and Business Men

Extensive preparations for the visit here of Gardner S. Rogers, city plan expert of the United States chamber of commerce are being made by the Cisco chamber of commerce. Mr. Rogers will be in the city Wednesday, lecturing on the workings and advantages of a city plan, conferring with city leaders and appearing at the meeting of the Lions club at noon for an address.

At the Lions club officials of the city, the chamber of commerce, Rotary club, the various women's clubs of the city will be present to hear Mr. Rogers. Tickets for the luncheon at 75 cents each will be placed on sale early this week.

Mr. Rogers is coming to Cisco at the invitation of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce. He is at present engaged in a tour of Texas cities in the interest of proper city planning, a movement that is being aggressively pushed by the United States chamber of commerce.

Says a bulletin issued by that body upon the subject: "A plan for a city is of as practical value in the building of that city as a plan for a great manufacturing establishment or for a hotel. No chamber of commerce would think of trying to raise a million dollar fund for a hotel if the plans for it were to be made by the bricklayers and carpenters and painters as they went along. And a few years hence no chamber of commerce will propose to stimulate the physical development of its city unless it has a definite plan to serve as a guide; details will be modified as the years pass, but the basic points will remain. It will know where new factories will not only be served by transportation facilities for raw material and finished product, but where they will get at the least expense such community services as sewers, water, lights, power, and where they will be most convenient of access from well designed home districts for the workers. It will know which thoroughfares should be developed as main traffic arteries. It will consider the segregation or classification of traffic so that heavy trucks will not break up lightly paved streets in the residence areas or encroach heavily upon the main thoroughfares. It will know where heavy street construction used by a truck once a fortnight it will consider the advisability of concentrating street car lines on one or two parallel thoroughfares so that the other may be left free for motor vehicles. It will provide for the parked automobile—since terminals are so important to transportation as is the right of way. It will know what areas are best adapted to retail trade and most convenient to shoppers. And it will place its parks so that they will serve the greatest number of people, add most to the attractiveness of the community without checking the development of business areas.

City planning is a practical proposition. Well done it will not only prevent waste of space, time, effort, money and nerves in the daily movement of business and home life but it will give an additional impetus to work and living, as things well fitted into their purpose. The joy in using a good tool and the irritation due to using a poor one make a lot of difference in output. The city is one of the most important tools of the citizen.

With favorable working time, he expects to deliver the building to the congregation at the time specified. The synagogue will be of brick, 36 by 91 feet in dimensions.

STATE SENATOR FROM VIRGINIA PRAISES CISCO

Senator R. J. Noell, of Radford, Va., who has been a guest of his brother, N. W. Noell, and Mrs. Noell, for several days, departed Saturday for his home. Mr. Noell is a member of the legislature of his native state where he is prominent in political affairs. He stated he was able to visit Cisco at this time as he had an engagement to make an address to the legislature of Arkansas at Little Rock, and continued his trip on to Cisco. This is his first visit here in nine years, he said.

But you have built wonderfully since I was in Cisco last. You had no paved streets, Lake Cisco and Williamson dam existed then only in the mind of your mayor, for certainly none else ever dreamed of the consummation of such a huge enterprise for a city of Cisco's class. I am charmingly pleased at the progress Cisco has made in becoming such a thriving city.

Senator Noell, in company with Mayor J. M. Williamson and N. W. Noell, visited Lake Cisco, the state fish hatchery, Humboldt and other interesting scenes of Cisco and vicinity. He inquired regarding the system of administering the county government, and in commenting on the method of assessing and collecting taxes here, said it would bankrupt Virginia if the same system was employed there. He stated that one assessment and collector functions for all departments of the county—cities, school districts as well as assessing and collecting taxes for the county.

According to health authorities, a peculiarity of influenza is that its toxins upset the digestive system, especially in the case of children. Too much "dosing" still further disturbs the digestion, and should be avoided except on advice of a physician.

Vicks VapoRub is especially valuable because it is applied externally and so can be used freely with no risk of upsetting the digestion, nor can it interfere with any other treatment your doctor may prescribe.

Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic is after influenza. Then, more than ever, colds attacking the weakened system, may lead to bronchitis, sinus trouble, or pneumonia. Heed even the slightest cold as a danger-signal and treat it promptly—without "dosing." Just rub Vicks on throat and chest at bedtime—Adv.

Humble Filling Station and Ladd Hide House Here Burglarized; Stores at Eastland and Olden Are Entered

REPORT ON FESS MERGER BILL MADE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—A partial report of the Fess railroad consolidation bill was made to the Interstate Commerce committee today by the sub-committee which has been considering the measure for several months. Due to the illness of Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, the final report must be delayed. Chairman Fess said. The Fess bill is a modification of the old Fess-Parker bill providing for consolidation of railroads, particularly small lines, to promote efficient and economical service.

GUESTS HELD AT BAY WHILE WOMAN DIED

PONCA CITY, Okla., Feb. 2.—Charged with shooting his wife in the leg and then allowing her to bleed to death while he held "party" guests at bay with a gun, Max "Slim" Magill, 34, rancher, was in jail here today. Magill's wife, Mrs. Magill, died after N. F. Blanchard, taxi driver who drove Magill to his home, slipped away and notified officers. Blanchard said Magill became enraged when he discovered the party, shot his wife in the leg, forced the guests into a corner, sat down in a chair near another into which his wife had slumped, and for 15 minutes watched her die. She was dead when officers arrived. Blanchard said 200 of the guests were held as material witnesses. Blanchard alleged Magill was drunk.

The night patrol of the police force discovered two burglaries during their rounds Friday night. The Humble filling station at East Sixteenth street, on the Eastland highway, was broken into and a quantity of gasoline and greases taken. E. B. Noble, who operates this station, said he had not checked up Saturday to ascertain the exact amount taken, but the thieves got very little for their trouble.

The other place entered was the Ladd hide house on South D avenue. Entrance was effected by breaking through the rear window. Nothing was missing Saturday, the proprietor told the police. About a year ago this place was burglarized, and a few weeks ago it was also entered, when quite a number of skins were taken. This makes the third time the hide house has been the victim of burglars in about one year.

Robberies were perpetrated at both Eastland and Olden during the same night and officers were blaming the series upon a one-gang crime wave that is supposed to have swept through Eastland county along the Bankhead highway. At Olden $175 in merchandise was taken from the Olden Drug company and the safe was tampered with; the Hamilton filling station and the Harrison cafe were also entered at Olden. At Eastland the Castleberry Feed store was entered and the safe tampered with while the Texas Drug store in the same city was robbed of a quantity of fountain pens, jewelry and cigars. At the latter place the thieves made an ineffectual effort to open the safe. The theft of one automobile tire was reported from Ranger.

THREE CARS OF LIVESTOCK ARE POOLED

The regular monthly meeting of the Cisco Livestock Cooperative association was held Saturday afternoon in the directors room at the Cisco chamber of commerce for the purpose of pooling livestock for the next regular shipping and to transact other business of interest to the association. At the meeting Saturday 170 head of hogs and 42 head of cattle were pooled for the shipment—two cars of hogs and one of cattle. This shipment of livestock will go to market Feb. 12, the second Tuesday in the month, which is regular shipping day.

Among other matters discussed and disposed of was the shipment of peanut fed hogs. This matter has given the members of the association quite a bit of concern, as some have shipped peanut fed hogs which have caused the entire car to sell at lower prices. It was agreed by those present at the meeting Saturday to solve this problem by shipping in two classes—corn fed and peanut fed—each class to be guaranteed by the

FRANKLIN PEOPLE AWED BY HANGINGS

FRANKLIN, La., Feb. 2.—Citizens of Franklin tried to forget today the illicit romance of Mrs. Ada Bonner Leboeuf and Dr. Charles Dreher which forced the state to demand their lives on the gallows here yesterday for the murder of Mrs. Leboeuf's husband, James. The double execution marked the first hanging of a white woman in the state of Louisiana and left the 4,500 residents silent with awe.

Although the usual curious throng surrounded the little jail, few of the witnesses of the executions or of the citizens who closed their stores for the day would discuss the case. It was however, easy to see Franklin was glad the ordeal was over after 18 months of debate. Sentiment, although detrimental in a true southern spirit to womanhood, was predominant against the lovers who had broken two homes and left four children parentless.

The hangings were conducted as quickly as possible. Within an hour after physicians had pronounced the two victims dead, the bodies had been removed from the little city-covered parish jail.

Before Mrs. Leboeuf's body was removed from the scaffold, Father J. J. Rousseau, her spiritual adviser, pronounced the sacrament of extreme unction over it. The body then was removed to the Catholic church where private funeral services were held. Close friends and three of her children attended. Rev. Rousseau read the service and chose "forgiveness" as the theme of his sermon. The body was sent to Morgan City, the Leboeuf home, for burial today.

Dr. Dreher will be buried in the Dreher family plot at Clinton, La., his former home. His wife and two daughters paid their last visit to him in the death cell Thursday evening. A 19-year old son, Teddy, remained at home.
