Free pre-natal classes Jan. 9

The Healthy Baby Coalition of Parmer County provides free education to expectant mothers in Parmer County. The classes are for not only first time moms, but also mothers who already have one or more children. Classes are available in both English and Spanish.

To sign-up for classes, please stop by the Parmer Medical Center conference room Saturday, January 9, from 9:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m. Classes are typically held on Saturday mornings once a month, but times can also be customized to meet special needs.

Mothers who participate in the classes earn points to use for free baby items for their newborn. The "Baby's Bin" has a great selection of items from car seats to diapers. Mothers who have been through the classes can choose from a wide selection of items.

For more information about the coalition, see a HBC Board member or contact Heidi Eichenauer at 806 250-2754 or JoDonna Terry at 295-8291.

City council has light agenda

The Friona city council will meet in regular session Monday January 11, 2016 at 6:30 p.m. in council chambers, 619 Main St. All council meetings are open to the public.

The tentative agenda includes departmental reports from the Friona police department, hear EMS Director Jeannie Martin and Jennifer Gonzales regarding their duties and responsibilities, consider and take action on transferring money to the pool bank account to make a $121,500 bond payment to the Bank of New York that is due February 15, 2016.

The accounts payable and financial statements will be discussed prior to the council convening into executive closed session. These agenda items are tentative and subject to change. The final agenda is posted on the city hall front window 72 hours prior to the meeting.

Garrett Townhall Tuesday, Jan. 12

Greg Garrett, candidate for the U.S. Representative 19, will be in Friona for a townhall meeting. The community is invited to join him at the Friona Interbank Community Room, 1105 N. Cleveland, from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. on Tuesday, January 12, 2016.

Last Summer, Congressman Randy Neugebauer announced he would not be seeking re-election in 2016. Since that time, Garrett has been working hard building a coalition of support from the bottom up.

Greg is not a career politician, but a successful businessman, serving as President and CEO of Platinum Bank and as a local realtor in Lubbock, Texas. Greg has been married to his beautiful wife, Nancy, for over 24 years and together they have two children, Houston and Hope.

Arrington Meet & Greet Jan. 13

Jodey Arrington, Republican candidate for the U.S. Representative District 19, will be in Friona on Wednesday, January 13 at 3 p.m. at the Friona Interbank Community Room. The community is invited to join him and hear his platform.

Arrington grew up in Plainview, attended Texas Tech University and spent ten years serving alongside Governor and President George W. Bush. He was a Vice Chancellor at Texas Tech University and now is the President of a healthcare innovation company that uses technology to provide access to quality healthcare for rural communities in West Texas.

Friona Blood Drive January 21

Coffee Memorial Blood Center is hosting a blood drive Thursday, January 21 in the Friona area at the Calvary Baptist Church at 1500 Cleveland from 12 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Every eligible donor who presents to donate will receive a free Celebrate Live t-shirt and a chance to win a television from Sears plus a fajita party for 20 people from Jorge's Mexican Bar & Grill in Amarillo. Be a super donor and get your chance for a Super Bowl watch party prize.

A photo ID or donor card is required to donate. Donors must be at least 17-years-old to donate. Donors that are age 16 may now donate with a signed parental consent form.

Cold temperatures and the recent snow event created a beautiful but frigid view of Reeve Lake on Monday.

Goliath delivers one, two punch

Winter Storm Goliath came roaring into the Texas Panhandle on Saturday, December 26, 2015 and set its sights on the Friona area. With high winds and blowing snow, the area received approximately 20 inches of snow with drifts as high as the tops of houses. Area dairymen did their best to prepare their livestock and property for the onslaught but were still slammed hard by the 60-70 mile per hour winds that made the preparations seem miniscule.

According to Darren Turley, executive director of the Texas Association of Dairymen, it wasn't until Tuesday, December 29 that many dairy producers in the primary impact area (from Lubbock west to Muleshoe and north to Friona) were able to safely walk among their cows and survey the situation. Significant losses of livestock were being reported.

The region is home to approximately 36 percent of the state's dairy estimated 142,800 cows.

Most of the dairies owners in the area had made plans ahead of time for their employees to have a place to stay during the storm. A few of the employees attempted to go home during the blizzard and had to turn back. The owners supplied a dry, warm place for the employees and families to stay when they were not out shoveling snow and doing their regular chores of milking and feeding the cows.

A-Tex Dairy owner Tom Alger reported that they adjusted the feed rations as early as two weeks in advance of the storm by consulting with veterinarians and nutritionists. This was to insure more energy for the cows. Additional loaders were pressed into service in anticipation of the storm. In one case, a quick thinking truck driver brought in four tanker trucks ahead of the storm to transport the milk.

The owners of Optima Dairy, Koen and Els Ally, reported that it was rough as they brought in their cows for milking during blizzard on Sunday. They had to look for the light of the barns and herd the cattle blindly in the snowstorm. Milking that normally takes 9 hours for one shift took at a minimum of 12 hours during and after the blizzard, reported Els. She stated that she saw the cows walking from one pen to the next on the snow drifts. Blue Sky Dairy owner Harry DeWit and Optima Dairy owner Koen Ally spent the hours during and after the blizzard picking up employees by using tractors and other equipment. DeWit and his sons, Jake and Ryan, traveled the road between Hub and Dimmitt digging out his employees and other dairies employees that had attempted to make it home before the storm.

"The dairies worked together," reported Els. Many good Samaritans around the area pitched in to help by bringing out tractors and helping dig out equipment that had become stuck in the snow. The neighbors also came out with food and helped cook meals for the employees.

"Goliath was bigger than we thought," stated Alger.

"We prepared as best as we could," stated Margret DeWit of Blue Sky Dairy, "The wind was so terrible."

According to Turley, the storm will have a lingering affects on the state's milk supply. Due to the weather conditions and road closures, some dairies were forced to waste a number of loads of milk and some cows were unable to be milking in a timely manner. "When a dairy cow goes that long without being milked, her milk supply starts to dry up," Turley said. "That means the dairy cows in this region will give less milk for months to come."

"Trying to get back on track has been very hard for us and numerous farms we know personally in the area," said Nathan Moroney, manager of Del Rio Dairy.

The affects of Goliath on the cows will be a long-term problem due to replacing the cows that died or contracted pneumonia and/or frostbite. Additionally, the dairies that lost calves in their heifer yards will be replacing those animals as well.

Most of the Parmer County dairies are back to a normal milking and feeding schedule but are still digging out from under the massive amount of snow.

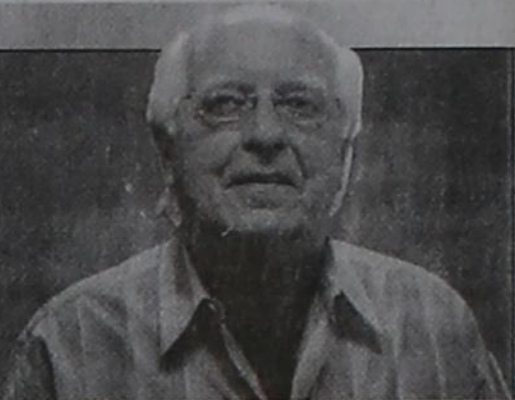

Tom Alger added, "I am a strong believer in God. I don't know the reason for this storm. But thankfully there were no human losses."

"We have dug out and we will move on!" stated Harry DeWit.

who are the wrong people and how do we find them

Hilly wants to help the middle class. I have been running a small box on this page every week with a quote from a speech by Barack Obama July 24, 2013, in which he says, "I care about one thing and one thing only and that is how to use every minute of the remaining 1,276 days of my term to make the country work for working Americans again. That's all I care about."

That's all he cares about. Except when he is on a two week vacation to Hawaii or playing another round of golf. By now most people except me have forgotten what he said that day in Galesburg, Illinois. The reason I decided to run this quote in a box every week until he leaves office is simple. To point out the absurdity of political quotes where they talk for votes but nothing ever really happens.

This week Bill Clinton said this election is all about restoring the middle class. I thought that is what Obama promised in 2013. Billy and Hilly will make endless promises that she will make the government bigger and your life better. This week Obama announced executive orders to tighten gun control. During his announcement he was visibly angry but also shed a couple of tears. He is obsessed with gun violence and angry that he cannot do anything about it. He says he wants to keep guns from ending up with the wrong people. (Where does Hilly stand on the gun control issue. Beside Obama and wherever needed to get votes.)

Who are the wrong people? He wants us to call the police if we think we see a crazy person that should not have a gun.

Then the crazy person's record would reflect that they are crazy and therefore not pass a background check to get a gun. Sounds simple enough except it will never work.

Seems to me if you are going to report a crazy or dangerous person to the police you better be damn sure they are crazy or dangerous.

We need to keep guns away from dangerous people and people who should not have them. That is what he says and so did President George W. Bush. Obama says they will upgrade the government background check computers to respond more accurately and faster. This is the same government that rolled out the Obamacare software sign-up program. He also plans to hire 230 additional FBI examiners to help process the background checks. More and bigger government should help solve the problem.

It is reported that over 23 million background checks were run for gun purchases in 2015. Every time Obama mentions guns, gun sales go up. One would think he could understand that but he seems to think he alone can stop gun violence.

Here is what he wants to do in condensed form:

Number one, anyone in the business of selling firearms must get a license and conduct background checks or be subject to criminal prosecution.

Number two, we are going to do everything we can to ensure the smart and effective enforcement of gun safety laws that are already on the books.

Number three, we are going to do more to help those suffering from mental illness to get the help they need. We are going to make sure federal mental health records are submitted to the background check system.

Number four, we are going to boost gun safety technology so someone, especially kids, cannot accidentally shoot themselves.

All of us need to demand a Congress brave enough to stand up to the gun lobby's lies.

Those were the president's words on Tuesday. Probably saved several lives already.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Ron,

Thank you again for sponsoring the Project Christmas Card. We could not have this fundraiser, our main one, without your help.

This year the generous citizens of Friona gave $2,719.60, which will be used to purchase lift chairs for patient rooms in the Parmer Medical Center.

Thank you, Ron, for publishing the Christmas card, and thank you to the donors who wished their friends a Merry Christmas.

Town Talk II

By Ron Carr • Phone: 250-2211 • Fax: 250-5127 • Email: frionastar@wtrt.net

THANK YOU. There were many heroes during the 2015 Goliath Blizzard. Stories of farmers, neighbors, first responders, law enforcement, city employees, county employees, and TxDOT and their efforts are many. Other stories of the hardships of the dairies and feedyards are harsh and sad. Thousands of cattle have died. What a gigantic effort went into surviving the mammoth storm. Many went above and beyond to help. The snowplowing and scraping did not go as fast as some wanted but folks there was a lot of dangerous snow. Thank you neighbors. It is great to live in this community.

tage Estates were safe during the storm. Administrator Billy Ray Johnston said in the January newsletter that several employees stayed at the facilities during the storm and several others walked to work. Many hardy local men shuttled employees to work at the hospital and nursing home. The Prairie Acres resident of the month is Celestine Wilson. The employee of the month is Tina Eddins. She works in the dietary department and has been employed since August 2012. The nursing home/assisted living staff thanks everyone who adopted a Resident and brought holiday goodies.

Show will be January 19-23. The show is Thursday January 21 with the premium sale Saturday January 23.

The Squaws will host Tullia here Friday January 8 vs. Tullia to open district. JV at 5:30, varsity at 6:30 p.m. The Chiefs will travel to San Jacinto Friday.

We found this interesting; Beginning with the 2016-17 school year a new Texas law counts the school year by minutes instead of days. Local school districts could add extra days off for both students and staff. The law now requires students to be at school for 75,600 minutes instead of 180 days. Superintendent Austin said the teachers will still be on 187 day contracts.

Parmer County Republican Party Chairman Bill White asked to pass this info along. "As the March primaries grow closer I have heard from several of the candidates for Congressional District 19. There are a total of 9 candidates for this position (held by Randy Neugebauer who will not run for re-election). I would like to encourage everyone that is able to come out and meet the candidates at their events over the next few weeks. It would be great if we all show them a warm Parmer County welcome."

My son-in-law Jamey McCurry lives in Prosper, Texas

Even while working on Town Talk this Tuesday morning it is snowing some more but shouldn't amount to very much says the weather people. Going to be a cold Saturday and Sunday though.

Our sympathies to the family of Charley Morrison. Friona lost another good citizen this week. Charley was a veteran of WWII and Korea, a fine kindly gentleman. Except sometimes he was not so kindly during his years as the school crossing guard on Highway 60. Many folks have a fond Charley story about his strict traffic rules at the crossing. If there is a Crossing Guard Hall of Fame in heaven Charley will make it on the first vote. RIP Charley.

The local city council and school board election date is May 7. The filing period for both is January 20 through February 19. Terms expiring on the Friona city council are Mayor Rick White and council members Martha Barker and Greg Lewellen. Terms expiring on the Friona ISD school board are Becky Rithmayer and Ricky Barnett.

In Bovina, city council terms expiring are Mayor Frank Gonzalez, Jr., city council members Jeff Steelman and Matt Hromas. Terms expiring on the Bovina ISD school board are Richard Carson and Esther Steelman plus a vacancy open because of the resignation of Lance Teague.

The Friona livestock show will be Saturday January 16. The Parmer County Livestock as and is a big competitive BBQ cooker. He and many of his teammates and competitors have formed a group called Operation BBQ Relief (OBR). They haul their cookers and provide food to people affected by disasters. They recently spent almost a week cooking BBQ and the fixins and serving the victims of the Garland/Rockwall/Rowlett tornadoes. And their BBQ is really good. Salute to Jamey and friends for their unselfish service.

About 11:30 p.m. Tuesday night a semi- milk tanker truck rolled over on Highway 86 about a mile east of Bovina. Took deputies and DPS a while to get there because of the fog. No injuries.

Tuesday night on the way to the gym for the basketball game I was reminded of one of the results of our massive snow: potholes. I found a few that I couldn't see in the dark, mainly at intersections. Better be careful as you drive around town. Could be hard on your tires

Thanks again for your support. Here is our first 2016 newspaper, only about 50 to go. We hope you will come along. Until then!

Crop Profitability Analyzer now available

By Kay Ledbetter

Producers in the Texas High Plains have a new budgeting tool available with the release of the 2016 High Plains Crop Profitability Analyzer, said Dr. Steve Amosson, Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service economist in Amarillo.

"We wanted to create a decision aid that assists irrigated operators in making management decisions on the optimal crop mix for their land," Amosson said. "And while High Plains' budgets are used, the flexibility of this program makes it easily usable in other areas of the country."

The tool was created by a team of AgriLife Extension and Texas A&M AgriLife Research specialists with a producer advisory committee.

The irrigated crops available for analysis are: alfalfa, canola, corn, corn silage, cotton, peanuts, sorghum, sorghum seed, sorghum silage, sorghum sudangrass, soybeans, sunflowers, triticale and wheat. Dryland crops include canola, cotton, sorghum, sorghum sudangrass, sunflowers and wheat.

"This powerful spreadsheet program contains the 2016 projected sprinkler-irrigated and dryland crop budgets for the Texas High Plains," Amosson said. "This is an extremely flexible tool that can assist producers in evaluating their cropping choices for the upcoming year."

He said the budget cost estimates are averages and producers using it can and will need to modify the budgets and change input costs and yields to fit their operations.

The spreadsheet contains four sections where analysis is performed: enterprise budget, breakeven, comparative and irrigation, Amosson said.

"The enterprise budgets not only provide a measure of crop profitability but also allow for checking the 'equitability' of a crop-share lease agreement," he said. "In the breakeven section, a sensitivity analysis is performed that varies yield and calculates the various prices that would be required to cover out-of-pocket and total costs for each of the crops."

Amosson said the comparative section provides the expected revenue, out-of-pocket and total costs for each of the crops. The irrigation section allows a producer to identify the water available and any water-use restrictions that apply.

"Based on all that information and the crop budgets, the amount of land and profitability is calculated for each of the crops and presented both numerically and graphically," he said.

"Another interesting feature is that you can 'toggle on' or 'toggle off' crops, so you can limit the analysis to only crops you are interested in growing," Amosson said.

The development of this tool was made possible with a grant provided by the Texas Corn Producers Board. The 2016 High Plains Crop Profitability Analyzer can be downloaded for free at: <http://amarillo.tamu.edu/>.

High Plains Irrigation Conference Feb. 4

By Kay Ledbetter

The annual High Plains Irrigation Conference will be February 4 in the North Exhibit Hall of the Amarillo Civic Center, 401 S. Buchanan St., Amarillo.

The program, hosted by the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Irrigation Association, will address a wide variety of topics of interest to the general public, as well as to agricultural producers, landowners, crop consultants and irrigation professionals, said Dr. Dana Porter, program coordinator and AgriLife Extension agricultural engineering specialist-irrigation and water management, Lubbock.

A concurrent trade show will also provide opportunities for attendees to see new products and technologies, and to visit with experts from industry, non-profit organizations and agencies.

Registration will be onsite only, beginning at 8 a.m., with the program starting at 8:30 a.m. The fee is $30 and lunch is included.

Continuing education units for Texas Department of Agriculture pesticide applicators - one general and two integrated pest management - and certified crop advisers - five soil and water management, two integrated pest management, one half crop management and one half professional development - will be offered. Additionally, seven Agricultural Irrigation Association certified irrigation designer and certified agricultural irrigation specialist units will be offered.

The keynote address on Issues in Water Law and Agriculture will be given by Tiffany Dowell Lashmet, AgriLife Extension agricultural law specialist, Amarillo. Other topics and speakers will be:

-How Crops Use Water - Dr. Jourdan Bell, AgriLife Extension agronomist, Amarillo.

-Practical Irrigation Scheduling Tools - Dr. Jonathan Aguilar, Kansas State University Extension water resources specialist, Garden City, Kansas.

-Monitoring and Interpreting Soil Moisture - Dr. Saleh Taghvaeian, Oklahoma State University Extension water resources specialist, Stillwater, Okla.

-Applied Variable Rate Irrigation Technology - Dr. Charles Hillyer, AgriLife Extension irrigation specialist, Amarillo.

-Technology Standardization: AgGateWay - Hillyer.

-Notes From the Field:

Irrigation in the Context of Integrated Pest Management / Integrated Crop Management - Blayne Reed, AgriLife Extension integrated pest management agent in Hale and Swisher counties.

-Water Management Considerations in Integrated Pest Management - Reed

-Irrigation "Ex-Sperts" - Thomas Marek, Texas A&M AgriLife Research irrigation engineer, Amarillo;

Keith Sides, U.S. Department of Agriculture Natural Resources Conservation Service irrigation engineer, Lubbock; Farris Hightower, Lindsay Corp., Lubbock;

Rusty Houston, Eco-Drip Irrigation, Lubbock; Edwin Smith, Senninger Irrigation Inc., Lubbock; Kenneth Ewings, Texas Agricultural Irrigation Association vice president, Lubbock; and Reed.

The meeting will conclude at 5 p.m.

Political Electronic Panhandlers

Dear Friend, Buddy, and/or Pal,
Thank you for your support. You are receiving this email to tell you how important you are to this country. Without you, this country is lost. Please send your monetary donations to: I am running for President of the United States, c/o You look like a sucker, New York, NY 00000.

Thank you for your support.
Sincerely,
Hillary, Bernie, Martin, Jeb, Ben, Chris, Ted, Carly, Jim, Mike, John, Rand, Marco, Rick and Donald

These emails remind me of the panhandlers who stand by the highway exits in big cities asking for money, food and/or lodging. The politicians' big sign should read "Need help to get elected! Please give me a dollar to help you! I need a new campaign bus and slanderous ad!"

If I drew political cartoons, I would have to draw the candidates as the panhandlers they are proving to be in the upcoming election.

They are always in your face telling you what they can do for you if you vote for them. They also love to do unto each other. If Trump voices his opinion about Hillary, we should expect a volley of opinions launched at supersonic speed toward Trump's camp. (Thank God there is a mute button on most televisions.)

Small children have better manners than these people who are running for a job that doesn't pay the bills. (According to Hillary they left the White House dirt poor and with only the clothes on their back...poor babies!)

They want a job that at the end of their tenure, be it four or eight years, they look 20-30 years older and have more enemies than they can count while leaving behind tremendous headaches for the next 'lucky' President.

They want a job that is totally impossible to achieve their lofty goals while dealing with everyone else's lofty goals.

At this point, these sixteen individuals have one thing in common...money. They either have it and want more or they don't have enough and want more. It all boils down to one thing...wanting more money.

I wouldn't mind giving them a dollar but it would be for them to straighten up and fly right. (It always worked when my granny would give us kids a dollar.)

I would give them a dollar if they were more transparent and would make sure my dollar went to a good cause and not to a new slander ad or a new outfit for the next stop.

If by chance you see any of these 'political electronic panhandlers' beware of grabby individuals that will skin you alive if it will get them more money. Keep your wallet and purse close to your person and only give if you are willing to receive hundreds of emails asking for more.

FRIONA FLASHBACKS

News from Thursday, January 7, 1960

*JOHN, DON'T CRY... Nope Johnny was a pretty good boy as he posed with his mother for his first photo to Tuesday afternoon. John Oliver Jarecki, son of Mr. and Mrs. Florian Jarecki of the Rhea Community is the first baby born in the Parmer County Community Hospital this year. He came along January 3 at 4:30 p.m.

*Weather forecasters blew out their brains Tuesday morning when they woke up and found their "just a few flakes" predictions had turned into, well as we go to press we don't know what it may turn into, what may be quite a snowstorm before it is spent. (The ground was covered to a depth of 8 inches in Friona.)

*E.G. Phipps of Friona has announced his candidacy for reelection of county commissioner, Precinct 1, of Parmer County this week.

*Miss Luann Hardesty, daughter of Wesley Hardesty, of Friona, became the bride of Charles' David Hough in a formal ceremony Sunday afternoon December 27 at the First Baptist Church. The groom is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Spencer Hough, also of Friona.

*Larry Johnson, a Parmer County 4-H Club boy, is the winner of the 1959 Texas Hybrid Grain Sorghum Production program. His yield of 8,840.3 pounds from an acre of TX660 was produced under irrigation and gave him the overall state honors.

Who Would do That?

BRETT HOYLE, Pastor, First Baptist Church

As you look in scripture you are confronted with the reality that God asks people to do things that are only possible if God was leading them. David and Goliath, Moses parting the Red Sea, Peter at Pentecost; Elijah on Mt. Carmel and Noah building the ark are just a few that come to mind. It is easy to get caught up in the grandeur of the task that God calls people to complete, but take a minute to think about what type of person God looks for in completing such things.

For example, why did God tell Noah to build the ark and not someone else? Genesis 6:8-9 tells us about Noah. He had grace and favor from God, was a righteous man, blameless and he walked with God. Scripture doesn't mention any stellar construction skills or his engineering genius, but simply these few descriptors. In reality, God is more concerned about a person's heart than their skills, which is exactly why Noah was asked to build the ark. In a day when everyone else was wicked and evil, Noah was a man who walked with God, and was ready to obey whatever God might lead him to do. The key in doing great things for God, is simply to walk with Him daily, love Him completely and stay ready to follow His lead.

Panhandle Parables

Snow Drifts and Flip Flops

By JEFF PROCTER

Minister, 6th Street Church of Christ

Last week was more than a little wild in the weather department around here. All week the weather stations began launching watches for Parmer County and the region. By Friday the "Significant Weather Statements" had changed to full blown warnings. Saturday night storm Goliath came roaring into town daring anyone to challenge it. (Sounds vaguely familiar)

To say we had been warned it was coming is an understatement, but warnings can only be as effective as the heeding of the warning is accepted. Many made some preparation but the storm was supposed to be gone by Monday, probably melted by Tuesday and life back to normal by Wednesday. Do not travel, some did any way. That seems to be our nature. I am more likely to do it if someone tells me not to do it.

The Bible has many warnings, a few watches or significant weather statements for us spiritually. We can have the tendency to underestimate the dangers that we face spiritually, and are lulled into a false security that says, "It really won't be that bad" or "That warning was really for someone else," and so it goes. Warnings unheeded and life faced without hope lead to nowhere good.

One thing I did not see Sunday, Monday or even Tuesday. No one that I saw was trudging through the snow in flip flops. I dislike this shoe choice any day. Statistically the most dangerous shoe choice ever created. If I were to say I have my Subzero coat, gloves, hat, scarf, weather radio, a pocket full of peanut butter crackers, a gallon of water in my car, but I think flip flops are my shoe of choice, you would likely smile step away and let everyone know Jeff has finally tipped the rocker too far. (You would be right)

Why make almost all the preparation. Yet many face much larger spiritual storms with no real relationship with Christ. (Does that seem a little crazy too?) So don't be one in 2016 to choose wandering in snowdrifts in flip flops or to walk this journey without Christ. Stay warm and please heed the warnings.

Lois C. Weis

Lois C. Weis, of Grand Junction, Colorado, passed away, Sunday, December 20, 2015.

Lois was born June 24, 1929 to Emanuel Alexander and Leona Faye Thompson on a ranch in Pitkin County, near Carbondale, Colorado. The family later bought a ranch 16 miles up the White River East of Rangely, Colorado, where she and her siblings spent their childhood, helping with chores and attending school in a one-room school house at Angora, along with their cousin Emery Mobley. In her sophomore year she stayed in Meeker, Colorado with family, where she graduated high school at age 16. She then moved to Denver where she attended nursing college. Lois worked in the medical field almost exclusively until her retirement.

Lois moved to Texas where she met and married Harry C. Weis. They moved to Southern California where Harry worked as a building contractor. They both loved to square dance and were very involved in it. They were married 55 years at the time of his death in April of 2012. May of 2012, brought Lois to Moab, Utah to live with her sister and brother-in-law Pauline and Roy Lathrom, where she resided until health issues demanded more care. She moved to Grand Junction, Co. April 1, 2015, where she spent the last 8 months in assisted living at Beehive Homes where she made friends and enjoyed visits from family and friends and received loving attention from all the workers at the home, as well as from her niece Lori and husband Nick, who took her to Dr. visits, shopped for her and did whatever they could to help. Lois loved to read and when she could no longer see, she read her talking books, which she thoroughly enjoyed. In years past she did a lot of fancy work, knitting, tatting, crocheting and embroidery. she also loved to bake, and loved her roses.

She was preceded in death by her husband Harry, parents, sisters Muriel Devereaux, and Melba Ester Thompson and brothers Vernon and Larry Thompson and Jim Renfro.

She is survived by sisters, Pauline Lathrom, Phyllis Phillips and numerous nieces, nephews and cousins who will all miss her!

A graveside service will be held in Friona, Texas at a later date.

There's No Replacement for Jesus

By TEENA HUGHES

I love watching sports, especially college sports and pro football, golf, and rodeo. I blame my father for this. He and I watched the Dallas Cowboys together every Sunday afternoon for years.

So, why do we get so wrapped up and obsessed with things like sports, cooking, sewing, fixing things, finding things, etc.?

I think people are looking for that perfect person to idolize and worship; I think people want to emulate other people in an effort to be the person they want to be rather than the person God created them to be; I think people watch sports and other entertainment to take their minds off of their problems and troubling situations they want freedom from for a while.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if the only One we idolized was Jesus? Wouldn't it be wonderful if we talked to Jesus about our problems rather than trying to find something like sports to take our minds off of our troubles? When the game is over, the problems we were trying to forget are still there; but, if we turn them over to God, He is already working on fixing them, and we get to enjoy the game even more. Wouldn't it be easier to just live trying to be the person God created us to be?

The bottom line is there is no substitute for Jesus in any situation. As we enter 2016, let us idolize Jesus and concentrate on making Him our number one priority; let us turn to Him in our time of need and trust Him to guide us through our difficulties; let us praise and thank Him in good times and bad.

When Jesus is the One you center your life around, everything else doesn't seem quite as important does it? Living for Him, living with Him, living like Him will make 2016 a MUCH better year! Take care.

Once again, the family of Kenneth Neill is humbled and grateful for the love and care we have received from the people of Friona. There are not words which can express our gratitude for the caring, efficient staff members at Heritage Estates, Prairie Acres, and Parmer Medical Center. You loved and cared for Kenneth as your own. The kindness which the community extends to the residents of these facilities is above measure, especially during the season of Christmas: the gifts you and your organizations provide for residents, the special gestures such as Christmas cards from Calvary Baptist Church, and the visits from you. As Dad reached the end of his journey you were there to comfort him and his family. In one of his parables Jesus said, "I tell you the truth, whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers of mine, you did for me." Truly, you are the hands and feet of God.

Chief/Squaw basketball

Basketball was back in action this week after a hectic holiday schedule. The Chiefs hosted the Vega Longhorns Tuesday and lost 66-48. Scoring were Dallen Woods 15, Kaegan Kerby 11, Josh Barnett 8, Cody Stowers 7, Chris Alvarez 5, Seth Murphree 3. Coach Woods said the boys were a little rusty and had only a 7 point third quarter. "Vega's size got us late in the game as they out rebounded us 20-10," he said.

The Squaws did not play Tuesday. The Chiefs travel to Amarillo San Jacinto Friday January 8. The Squaws will open district play Friday at home vs. Tulia. JV girls at 5:00 and varsity at 6:30 p.m.

Performance and Payment bonds shall be set forth in the Contract documents.

The Owners reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any informalities in the bidding. In case of ambiguity or lack of clearness, the Owners reserve the right to adopt such interpretations as may be most advantageous or to reject the bid as informal. No bid may be withdrawn until the expiration of 30 days from the bid opening date.

FRIONA AND HART

WT Services' current contract with AMC Networks is set to expire at midnight December 31, 2015

Negotiations for a new contract with AMC Networks continues at this time, but a possible resolution is running close to the expiration of our current contract. Be aware that there is a possibility that AMC channels could be dark, whether temporarily or permanently, as of midnight December 31, 2015.

NCTC (National Cable Television Cooperative) is representing WT Services and hundreds of other small cable tv companies across the country in these negotiations. NCTC is working hard to negotiate a fair and equitable deal between both AMC and the cable companies it represents. However, AMC is making excessive demands that if accepted in a new contract, would result in a substantial increase in your monthly cable tv bill for years to come which we deem unacceptable.

We are fighting hard on your behalf but realize that IF AMC programming is dropped from our line up, AMC has forced us to do so!

Goliath Aftermath

The bullseye for winter storm Goliath seem to be over the Friona, Clovis and Lubbock area. The storm dumped more than 20 inches of snow in the Friona area leaving the area buried. Some residents are still digging out. The State Highway Department did their best to keep roadways clear and snow free but left behind massive piles of snow. The snow 'sculptures' were created as melting occurred. The birds in the area took refuge where there was any open space including landing on Reeve Lake and the trees at the walking park at the corner of Highway 60 and 5th Street.
