152 Counties To Get Quick Drouth Relief

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Eisenhower Tuesday formally designated 152 drouth-stricken counties in Texas and 40 others in Oklahoma as disaster areas.

This makes cattlemen and stockmen in those counties eligible to share in $8,000,000 allocated Monday by the President from his emergency fund for drouth relief.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson, who returned to Washington from a week-end inspection of the Texas drouth area, said the first steps in the Administration program would be aimed at speeding emergency feed to livestock growers. He said growers will get the feed "at a level somewhat below the support level" for the feeds involved.

Feed will come from stocks of the Commodity Credit Corporation with any losses made up from the President's emergency fund.

Benson also said the President will ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to permit railroads to lower freight rates on feed shipments to the disaster area and livestock shipments to greener pastures.

Governors Notified
Eisenhower sent telegrams to Governors Shivers of Texas and Johnston Murray of Oklahoma. The telegrams said:

"I have today allocated funds to FCDA (the Federal Civil Defense Administration) to initiate federal financial assistance in drouth affected areas of your state declared a major disaster under Public Law 875, 81st Congress of June 28, 1953. This assistance is to be furnished on terms and conditions recommended by the Secretary of Agriculture and approved by the Federal Civil Defense Administrator. Representatives of FCDA and Agriculture will contact you re funds available, required agreements, assurances, etc.

The Texas counties are: Andrews, Archer, Armstrong, Atascosa, Bailey, Bandera, Baylor, Blanco, Borden, Brewster, Briscoe, Brooks, Brown, Burnet;

Anderson put out figures asserting not a single Sabre was shot down by a MIG in June. He said 143 MIG's were shot down in 75 days at the cost of one Sabre. That Sabre was lost in May, when the Fifth Air Force ran up a 55 to one margin.

The Sabres closed out June in a blaze of glory. Not only did they smash the monthly record of 63 set last September, but they also erased the old single day mark of 13 set last July 4.

The ground war dwindled mostly to probes and skirmishes, but the Eighth Army announced that the Communists fired a record-breaking one and one-half million artillery and mortar shells this month. That's more than double the number of shells fired by Red guns in any previous month of the war.

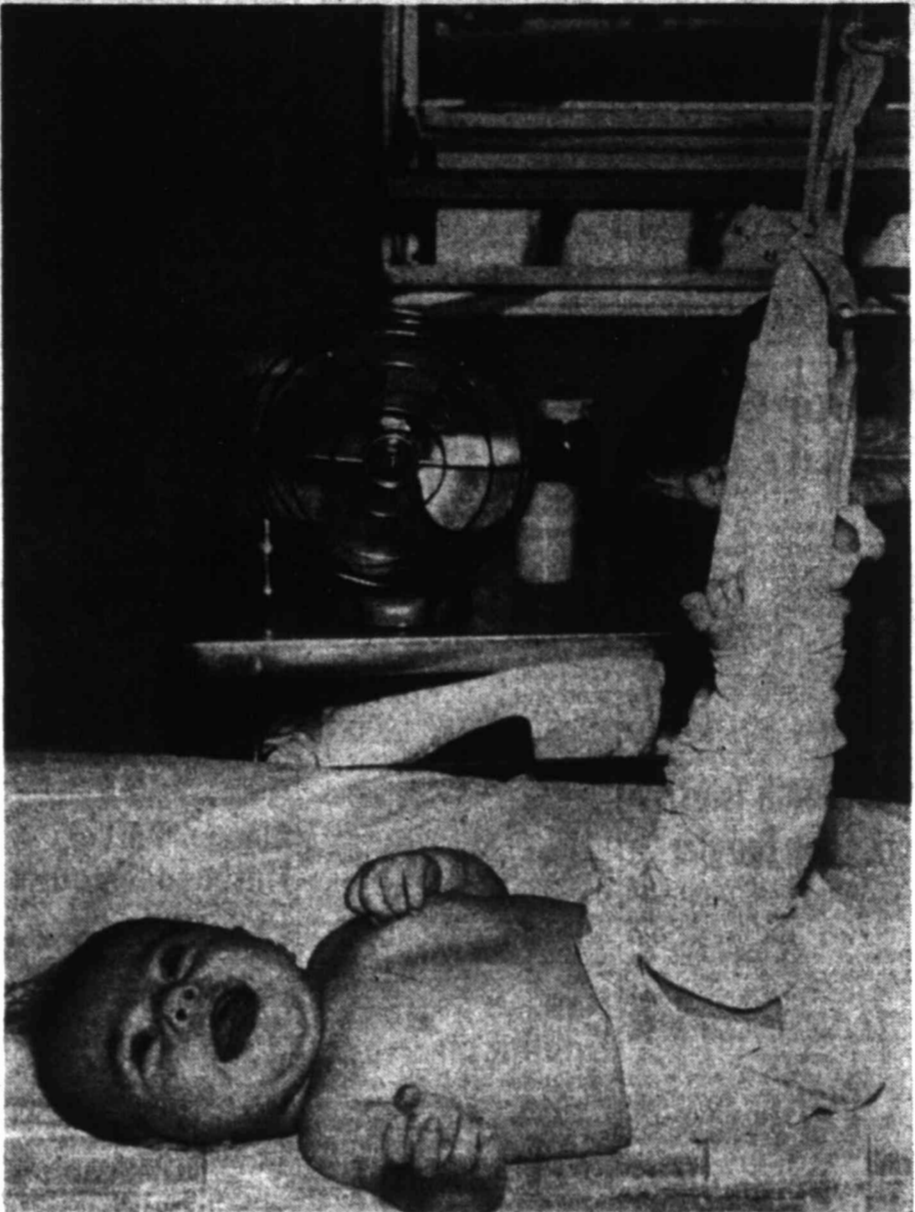

It meant that almost two shells crashed down on Allied lines for every single foot of the 155-mile front—more than four for every Allied soldier on the line.

Big Spring Street Widening Project Bids Called In July

The State Highway Department Tuesday called for bids in July on the project for widening North Big Spring Street from Texas Street to the Midland Draw.

Plans for the improvement called for the widening of the street to 65 feet with curbs and gutters on the entire length.

S. C. Daugherty, senior resident engineer in Midland for the state department, said the bids were called for as the city prepared to clear the last technical hurdle for the development.

A hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Midland County Courtroom by the City Council on the assessment of cost of the curb and gutter from Louisiana Street to George Street.

Daugherty also said he would confer this week with Ernest Loyd, Fort Worth contractor, on the sequence of work for the Big Spring Street underpass.

Loyd was the low bidder on the project.

"Loyd told me that as soon as the conference is held on the sequence of work, he will return to Fort Worth and immediately start moving out here to begin construction."

The underpass project includes the improvement of South Big Spring Street from Wall Street to Florida Street. The underpass itself will go beneath Front Street and the T&P railway tracks.

Construction of a storm sewer on North Big Spring Street is nearing completion and work on the widening is expected to begin within a few days after the bids are opened in Austin.

Colorado Drafts Drouth Aid Plea

DENVER—(P)—Colorado is asking the government for aid for six southeast counties. Gov. Dan Thornton drafted the request Tuesday after an inspection that covered hundreds of thousands of acres.

The governor saw once-lush farms abandoned to baking heat and silt laden winds. Vast pastures were emptied of 90 per cent of their normal herds, sand dunes piling up in wheat fields and drifting high against fences.

Bids To Be Studied For Swimming Pools
Bids will be opened at 3 p.m. Tuesday on two swimming pool projects in Midland.

One of the pools will be constructed in the proposed negro park and the other in the park for Latin American residents.

Latest Project To Ease Pinch In Spraberry

Construction will start immediately on El Paso Natural Gas Company's $175,250,000 pipe line project in the Permian and San Juan Basins—and with the first hammer blow the word "pending" can be stricken from newest Spraberry Trend Area gas outlet projects.

The 1,056-mile line of pipe and plants, okayed Monday by the Federal Power Commission, will take 800,000,000 cubic feet more gas a day from the Permian Basin in West Texas and Southeast New Mexico and 100,000,000 more a day from the San Juan Basin in Northwest New Mexico and Southwest Colorado. Three plants will be in the Midland area.

This additional supply will give El Paso a total capacity of 1,910,010,000 cubic feet daily for delivery in Texas, New Mexico and California. Most of the new gas will go to California.

Company officials have slated completion of the entire project for Fall of 1954. Some of it, however, will be ready for use by Spring of 1954.

Construction will be done by El Paso, the only gas company that does its own planning, buying and construction. Work crews, a company spokesman said Tuesday, will start in several areas on the pipe line and on the plants necessary to handle the additional natural gas.

Midland Area Plants
Facilities will include about 700 miles of 30-inch main transmission line and about 400 miles of 24-inch main transmission line, together with related gathering lines, purification plants, gasoline extraction plants, compressor stations and the like.

The Midland area plants will include: The Midkiff Plant, which will house gasoline absorption and fractionating facilities, dehydration and purification units and 20,000 horsepower for compression.

This plant actually is in operation (constructed under an emergency order) but will be expanded greatly. The Driver Plant, dehydration and absorption facilities, in addition to 28,880 horsepower for compression.

And the Pembrock Plant, which will have 18,000 compression horsepower in addition to a dehydration (Continued On Page 10)

Pre-Bermuda Talks Slated Early In July

WASHINGTON—(P)—Secretary of State Dulles said Tuesday the French government has approved holding of a Big Three foreign ministers' conference here about July 10.

Britain suggested such a conference. Dulles said one of the main reasons for a three-power meeting would be to draft a united Western position toward Germany.

Dulles also called attention to "extensive unrest" within Russia's European satellites. He indicated the East German riots and satellite problems generally would be discussed.

Far Eastern problems, especially the wars in Korea and Indochina, undoubtedly will dominate the agenda.

A higher-level Bermuda session still is planned, but no definite date has been fixed. This depends on when British Prime Minister Churchill recovers from his present illness.

Asked whether a meeting between President Eisenhower, Premier Malenkov and Prime Minister Churchill is a "practical proposition this year," Dulles said he thought it would be premature now to express a view.

PROBABLY JUST HALLUCINATION

OKLAHOMA CITY—(P)—Oklahoma City's drouth-weary citizens, voting Tuesday on a two million dollar bond issue to drill 80 wells for the alleviation of a dangerously low water supply, awakened Tuesday morning to an unfamiliar sight.

It was raining!

Chest X-Ray Survey Opens For Business In City Wednesday

Workers and equipment will be "ready to go" at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, when the 1953 Chest X-Ray Survey opens for business on the first floor of the county courthouse.

X-ray machines will start whirring at 8:30 a.m. and close down at 5:30 p.m. each day through July 7. They will be manned by two trained technicians from the State Health Department. Other duties will be handled by Midland volunteer workers.

Bill Chancellor, Jr., survey chairman, urged that every Midland County resident 15 years of age or older take advantage of the chance for free X-rays.

"It takes but little time and is worth a great deal to get this X-ray check," Mrs. Linnie Davidson of the Midland County Tuberculosis Association pointed out. "It could be the best move a person ever made."

Last year, 7,076 persons were X-rayed in Midland. Some 126 were found to have some type of lung ailment—including cancer and tuberculosis.

Wolfcamp Discovery In Prospect At Andrews Explorer

Discovery production from the Wolfcamp has been indicated at The Texas Company No. 1-H Parker, wildcat in Central Andrews County, one and three-quarters miles northwest of the town of Andrews.

The prospector was drilled in the interval from 3,565 to 3,602 feet. Tool was open one and one-half hours. Gas surfaced in five minutes. No gauge or estimate was made on the gas flow.

Recovery was 4,040 feet of clean oil and 200 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud. Flowing pressure was from 165 to 1,190 pounds. Shutin pressure after 15 minutes was 3,040 pounds.

Operator drilled to 3,650 feet where another drillstem test was underway.

Location for the wildcat is 600 feet from north and 726 feet from east lines of section 15, block A-46, pal survey.

Top of the Wolfcamp has not been reported.

Blackwood & Nichols Announces Site For Deep Pecos Explorer

The Blackwood & Nichols Company announced locations for two wildcat operations.

The concern's No. 1 Slaughter will be drilled as a 14,000-foot Ellenburger test in Southeast Pecos County.

Operator staked site 600 feet from north and west lines of section 29, block 129, T&E-SL survey. Site is eight miles south and two miles east of Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1 Glenna, gas discovery for the Puckett (Ellenburger) field.

Operator was moving in equipment to spud Tuesday.

Blackwood & Nichols No. 1 Carter is to be drilled as a 6,400-foot an Andrews wildcat in Southeast Andrews County, New Mexico.

Operator staked site 600 feet from west and 1,972 feet from north lines of section 5-18-39e. It is five miles northeast of the town of Hobbs.

Tom Green Test Flows Oil From Ellenburger Zone

An Ellenburger oil flow has been developed in Crown Central Petroleum Corporation of Abilene No. 1 R. E. Bros. wildcat in East-Central Tom Green County.

The indicated discovery on a two-hour and 50-minute drillstem test between 5,235 and 5,410 feet, surfaced gas in five minutes and oil in 50 minutes.

It then flowed oil at an estimated rate of 30 barrels hourly for two hours, at the end of which time the tool was closed. The tool is now being pulled to check recovery.

The Ellenburger was topped at 5,237 feet on estimated derrick floor elevation of 1,828 feet.

Location for No. 1 Bros is 600 feet from south and east lines of northeast quarter of section 89, district 11, SPFR survey and four miles south of Veribest. It is being drilled on a farmout from George W. Strake of Houston.

Magnolia Gets Flow Of Oil At Wildcat In NE Midland Region

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Ida Mae Oldham, Northeast Midland County wildcat, 10 miles east of the city of Midland, and three miles southeast of Paul (Germania) flowed 11 barrels of new oil in one hour from perforated section at 10,290-400 feet in the Pennsylvanian line.

The flow was through an 18/64th inch tubing choke and it came after the section had been treated with several injections of acid.

Gravity of the oil was 44.8 degrees. Flowing tubing pressure was from 175 pounds to 200 pounds. Testing on the 10,290-400 foot interval is continuing.

Has Other Shows
This wildcat topped the Strawn line of the Pennsylvanian at 10,220 feet. Elevation is 3,894 feet. The section between 10,220-331 feet had some free oil, considerable gas and a little salt water on a drillstem test.

The zone between 10,231 feet and the total depth at 10,589 feet were (Continued On Page 14)

Heavy Clouds Lift Midland Rain Outlook

A heavy overcast of clouds brought hope of rain Tuesday to the Midland area as heavy downpours were reported in other sections of the state.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration office at Midland Air Terminal reported the possibility of thunderstorms with scattered showers here Tuesday afternoon.

But, on the other hand, there was the possibility of blowing sand. At any rate, the cloudiness brought some relief from the heat and the thermometer still was playing around with the comparatively cool 82-degree mark shortly before noon.

During 96-degree weather Monday, Midland used slightly more than 13,000,000 gallons of water and there was little change in the water-pressure situation.

Downpours, as heavy as six inches at Baytown, scattered over Texas Monday in time to save pastures, cotton, peaches, late corn and vegetables in many counties of East and Central Texas.

A slow drizzle started falling during the night in Electra, near Wichita Falls and brought .75 inch before dawn. The shower belt extended south to San Angelo.

Rainfall totals in the 24-hour period ended at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday included 1.97 inches at San Angelo, 1.5 at Uvalde, 1.24 at Austin, 1.27 at Beaumont, 1.69 at Lufkin, 1.25 at Vernon, 1.23 at College Station and varying amounts between half an inch and an inch at Dallas, Fort Worth, Galveston, Victoria, Wichita Falls, Cotulla, Tyler, Mineral Wells and Waco.

Heavy rains fell at Abilene and Albany Tuesday morning.

Sabres Record Top Jet Victory Of War

SEOUL—(P)—Sabre jet pilots shot down 15 Communist MIG's Tuesday, and raised their June bag in 75 days at the cost of one Sabre. That Sabre was lost in May, when the Fifth Air Force ran up a 55 to one margin.

"Never has the issue of Sabre versus MIG been so convincingly resolved," said Lt. Gen. S. E. Anderson, Fifth Air Force commander, in a message to his pilots.

Anderson put out figures asserting

Court Hearing Bares But Fails To End Unhappy Story Of Stinky's Double Life

The unhappy story of Stinky the little dog who led a double life as Gyp—remained unfinished Tuesday.

Tearful, 13-year-old Rebecca Mason and her 10-year-old brother, Donald, were awarded the frisky little black-and-white pet Monday afternoon by a six-man jury.

But Attorney Hulon Brown, representing four-year-old Rae Jean Corley, immediately informed Justice of the Peace L. C. Stephenson that he would appeal the decision to County Court.

And little Stinky—or Gyp—will remain meanwhile in the custody of City Humane Officer Frank Ross.

There was no doubt, as the four-hour courtroom drama unfolded Monday afternoon, that Stinky and Gyp are one and the same.

"We were living in Amarillo," explained Mrs. Ray Corley of Terminal, mother of little Rae Jean, "when my aunt gave the little puppy to my daughter."

"The dog was born on March 30, 1940. His mother was a Manchester Terrier and we think his father was a cocker."

"Anyway we got the puppy on May 6, 1950."

"What did you name him?" asked Brown.

"We named him Stinky."

"Why did you name him that?"

"Well, it's a little embarrassing but . . ."

"Never mind," quickly interrupted the attorney, "we'll just forego that answer."

Anyway, Stinky and the Corleys moved to Midland late in 1950 and on Jan. 21, 1951, they moved to Terminal, where Corley is general manager of the Mid-Way Paper and Box Company.

They house-broke Stinky and everyone was happy as he hung around the house and played with the little Corley girl.

Then one day—some time after September, 1951—Stinky turned up missing.

"Did you find him?" asked Brown.

"Yes," answered Mrs. Corley, "Chief Little brought him back two weeks later."

Melvin Little, now Midland's fire chief, was fire and police chief at Terminal at the time.

Radio's Lonesome Gal Sheds Mask, Woos Feminine Favor

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lonesome Gal, seductive-voiced radio star, performs a little strip tease Tuesday and sheds her famous mask. She has even permitted the first newspaper photos taken without her mask in the six years she has been wooing lonely males via the airwaves.

The reason for the shedding is a sound one. She is shrewd enough to know that any gimmick can be overdone. Also, her fan mail has tipped her to a new idea.

When she first started, her mail, averaging 1,000 letters a month, used to be about 10 to one male over female. Lately, it has switched to seven to three female over male.

"So I decided that from now on I'll slant my show more toward the women, giving beauty hints and so forth," she said.

She has adhered so rigidly to the no-picture policy that she and her husband never before had posed together—not even for a wedding picture.

Married For Years

Yes, fellows, Lonesome Gal has been married four years and is quick to tell the better than $100,000-a-year income bracket.

She is Jean King Rousseau, wife of Bill Rousseau, veteran radio producer and director who was one of the originators of "Dragnet."

An attractive brunette of 29, she was born in Dallas but lived most of her life out here. She has been a Goldwyn girl in the movies, a radio actress, even a radio engineer. In 1947, she found herself broke and homesick for her family, living in Dayton, Ohio.

She went there and got herself a job on station WING as a disc jockey. Lonely in a strange town, she conceived the idea for Lonesome Gal. She stayed there two years and decided, on an impulse, to come back to Hollywood.

"Would you believe it?" she asks. "I had an awful time selling the show here because Hollywood, of all places, thought it was too sexy for radio. I never had that complaint in Dayton."

Then she married Rousseau, who saw the national possibilities of Lonesome Gal. They started making transcriptions.

"When we married in 1949," she recalls, "our combined income was $90 a week. Nine months later, we had grossed $100,000. It's been that way ever since."

The whole operation is carried on in a $90,000 home in the San Fernando Valley. A studio is located by the swimming pool, and there the two make the transcriptions used by 60 stations throughout the country.

Even her next-door neighbors aren't aware that she is anything but a housewife.

Although many fish jump to get over obstacles and others to obtain food, the mullet is believed to jump just to use up energy.

Arthur Godfrey Quits Bed For Life Of Country Squire

LEESBURG, VA. (AP)—Arthur Godfrey settled down on his expansive northern Virginia estate Tuesday to live the life of a country squire for awhile.

The 49-year-old entertainer flew here suddenly Monday after checking out unnoticed from the Boston hospital in which he had been resting since a serious hip operation May 15.

In his private plane, piloted by Frank Lavigna, Godfrey put before at Leesburg Airport just before midnight and immediately went to his nearby 350-acre estate, Beacon Hill Farm.

He'll take it easy for awhile, but late in July or early August probably will resume his radio broadcasts—and perhaps his television shows.

He was whisked away from Boston's Massachusetts Hospital so quickly many hospital officials were unaware of his departure.

"Mr. Godfrey was just discharged, paid his bill and left," said one hospital official.

A second operation on his left hip has been postponed indefinitely. The red-haired radio and TV star broke his hips 22 years ago in an automobile accident. They have pained him ever since.

Sweet Tooth Trips Pork Chop Burglar

BALTIMORE (AP)—An 18-year-old boy who became known to police as the "pork chop burglar" after a series of meat thefts here was caught Monday.

But it was the dessert instead of the main course that led to his arrest, police said.

Officers investigating a stolen room where meat had been found found two paper bags stuffed with candy that had been abandoned in the rear of the store. They waited for the burglar's "sweet tooth" to bring him back.

Soon they saw a figure slink into the building, they told Magistrate William F. Laukaitis. They pounced on him.

The defendant, Robert Brown, was ordered held in $2,500 bail on burglary charges.

Police said they found 36 pounds of meat stored in Brown's refrigerator at his home.

Nation's Traffic Fatalities Increase

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council reported Tuesday that traffic fatalities in the first five months of this year totaled 14,230—an increase of four per cent over the total in the corresponding period of 1952.

Deaths in May numbered 3,090. That was a reduction of two per cent from the number killed in May, 1952, but it was the highest total for any month thus far in 1953.

The council figures 40 million vehicles will be on the streets and highways during the Fourth of July weekend, which starts Friday.

MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

Guy and Dolls: Victor Mature has had his hair trimmed in a permanent wave for months for his Demetrius role in "The Robe" and the current follow-up movie, "The Story of Demetrius." But so far he hasn't been hooted for it.

His explanation: "I get to the golf course on my day off at six in the morning and every other golfer accepts me as the idiot I am. They know me as the guy who tees off early in the morning and plays all day. I don't go out much otherwise, so nobody sees my curls. It's the most anti-social jerk in the world."

Laraine Day, who's done more panel-sitting and wrist-wrath selling on TV than straight acting, turned down ideas for telefilm series for five years until Bert Granet came along with "White Collar Girl" for her.

Bert, who produced some of Laraine's biggest movie hits, created a character named Nancy Hale, from Sandusky, Ohio, for Mrs. Leo Duracher, who is bubbling: "Nancy is Miss Everybody who works. Each story will be different and there won't be the same character week after week. I believe that TV audiences get weary of the same characters and the same tired sets."

During baseball season, Laraine will stay in New York with Leo. When the Giants hit the road, she'll fly to Hollywood to make the TV films.

Just in case any Hollywood producers are worried about public reaction to Joan Bennett on the screen, Zachary Scott wants it known that Joan's a regular darter—even to the PTA groups all over the country.

Zach ought to know.

He toured with Joan for 11 months in "Bell, Book and Candle" and is saying, "There was no antagonism at all except a little right here in Hollywood when we opened a Los Angeles engagement of the play."

Back in Hollywood for "The Jungle" Zachary says that the big reason he left the sound stages for the footlights was the series of spoiled playboy and heavy roles handed him.

"I got bored with it all," he says. "But I'm grateful to Hollywood even if I didn't care for the role I got. It was very lucrative being under contract and it gave me a following that supports me in the theater."

Joanne Dru admits that she wouldn't put up with such slave-driving from any other director, but she let hubby John Ireland put her through her "Hannah Lee" paces with more whip-cracking than she's ever tolerated.

And liked it, too.

"It's because he's a perfectionist, me slip up on anything. One mistake some really was something. He made me do it over and over again. Every finger had to be in position. I'd have exploded if it hadn't been my own husband directing me."

There's a finger wagging at Marilyn Monroe and it belongs to movie-town disk jockey Johnny Grant.

"Marilyn," says Johnny, "has promised to entertain the troops in Korea nine times now and still hasn't shown up. The G.I.s are hurt. Marilyn's dropped to fourth place in popularity with them and will drop lower."

Affable Johnny, who holds some sort of record for bringing entertainment to Korea, says Doris Day is No. 1 on the hit parade of fighting troops, trailed by Debra Paget, Debbie Reynolds, Marilyn and Rosemary Clooney, with Piper Laurie coming up fast.

Johnny tosses bouquets to Cary Grant and Betsy Drake "for arriving in Japan on their own, calling the high brass and asking what they could do to help."

Eleanor Parker, Husband Separate

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Eleanor Parker and her husband, producer Bert Friedlob, have separated.

"Our difficulties are personal ones," Miss Parker said Monday through a studio spokesman. "We have tried to solve them, but we do not think it is possible."

The couple was married January 5, 1946. They have three children, Susan, five, Sarah, three, and Richard, eight months.

Earliest Telephone Service Promised Permian Estates

Residents of the Permian Estates here were assured Monday night by Southwest Bell Telephone Company officials that everything possible was being done to get service in their homes at the earliest date. Almost 300 residents of the area met in the Lamar Elementary School to query officials on what was being done and how soon they could expect results.

The group, with William L. Hughes presiding, told officials that unless they got results they would petition the city council and highest company officials. J. C. Mann was appointed head of the committee to draw up the petition.

However, it was agreed upon that they would wait a week to hear an answer from Bill Yeatts, district manager, before final work on the petition.

Yeatts and D. D. Dillard, Midland manager, said that 294 of 313 requests for new telephones were from the Permian Estates, pointing out that there were 10,000 requests in Midland for telephones at one time in the past.

Special Cable Needed
The prime difficulty in giving the service, said Yeatts, is that a special type of cable is needed before installation can be made. The first of three orders of the cable is expected in July with other shipments to arrive in the third quarter and in October.

Service can be started in December, he said, with full service expected to be accomplished during the first or second quarter of next year.

Yeatts said that during the next week, he would talk to officials higher up in the company, to see if they could speed up the cable deliveries and other needed items.

Hughes said that a group of eight residents had met with City Manager W. H. Oswald Monday morning to talk over the situation. The group expressed a desire to meet with the City Council at their next meeting.

Explaining the telephone company's position regarding service to Permian Estates, Yeatts said initially it was expected that 5,000 homes would go up in the area and engineering would have to be worked out accordingly.

"As first we thought we would have to erect a central office out here," he said, "but when the growth didn't come up to expectations we decided that cable from the main downtown office would be the answer. We are talking of 78 million 100 foot conductor cable which must be made. It is not in stock.

"When Permian Estates came into being, we had an allocation of certain materials. There are other towns besides Midland which need service. We had enough cable to carry a normal growth. It was exhausted before the end of December the same year.

"It is not a simple problem," Yeatts explained. "The telephone business is different from any other type of utility. We can't merely extend our lines and put more current to it. When our cable is utilized, it is like a full glass of water. When it is exhausted, we must replace it. The distance involved to Permian Estates presents a major problem. Would we run it that far, or establish another central office out near Permian Estates? Since 6,000 homes were not built, we will extend the cable. That decision took some time. Numbers Available

He pointed out that there are facilities in the central office now to handle Permian Estates with approximately 3,000 terminals or numbers available. The real problem, he said, is getting cable to the area.

The question was asked: If the City of Midland, with a more difficult financing problem, less manpower and equipment, could provide service as the houses were built, why couldn't Bell System do it?

"The other utilities should be complained," Yeatts answered, "At the same time, they do have a different problem, because it is a matter of distribution. I wish it was that easy for us. Disregarding the other problems, we have to go back and take out the old cable and put in a larger cable, so it takes longer."

The only telephones in the addition are a few pay booths, it was pointed out by the group, who added that service from these often was inadequate as well as inconvenient. Yeatts said that he was not aware that there were no lights in the booths and would correct the situation immediately, as well as checking all the booths to see that phones were working properly.

Texas Pilot Kills 'Decorated' MIG

HOUSTON — A Texas jet pilot sent a Red MIG with a big yellow dragon painted on the body spiraling to earth over North Korea Tuesday.

La. Col. Earl Maxwell of Bellaire said the painted dragon "seemed to reach the entire length of the plane."

The Red flier bailed out. Air officers have speculated that the dragon may decorate MIG's flown by Communist air regimental commanders. One other MIG similarly decorated was shot down in mid-May.

Another kill Tuesday went to Lt. Raymond D. Nutt, Bryan, Texas, his first.

La. Cecil Letevers of Fort Worth shared a MIG. It was his first claim.

Crash Kills Webb Pilot

BIG SPRING — A Webb Air Force Base jet plane instructor was killed and his European cadet student injured critically when their T-33 jet trainer crashed here at 9:20 p. m. Monday, immediately after takeoff. Dead is First Lt. Joseph Hus, whose guardians, Mr. and Mrs. John Hus, live at Route 1, Box 5-A, Beroda, Mich.

Name of the injured cadet, a European student training under the Mutual Defense Assistance Pact, will be released as soon as his next of kin in Europe has been notified. He is being held in the Webb Base Hospital for observation.

Base officials said the cadet was thrown clear of the plane when it crashed. There was a slight fire, but said the Air Force, it was of little consequence.

Hus, who had been in the Air Force since July, 1948, attended Stevensville, Mich., schools from 1944 to 1948.

Funeral arrangements were pending Tuesday.

Just Out On A Lark

DAVENPORT, IOWA — (P) — Narcissus the meadowlark thinks his mate is hiding inside an auto wheel.

Either that or he's in love with his own image.

For several days Narcissus has been sitting on a curb staring to his own reflection in the chromium ring of an auto hub cap.

If children or dogs chase Narcissus away he always returns to the same parking spot to stare by the hour to any chrome hub cap he finds there. An abandoned meadowlark's nest has been found in a nearby field.

One group believes the bird lost his mate and is singing his heart out to his own reflection in the buffer he has found by again.

Another more cynical school thinks Narcissus is just a vain bird who has forsaken his home for love of his own image.

WILSON'S

Salute Of Jets, Men Marks End Of Vandenberg JCS Job

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The change of the military high command began Tuesday with retirement of Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of staff of the U. S. Air Force and senior member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

A farewell salute from jet warplanes and marching men of the force Vandenberg has commanded for five years was arranged at Bolling Air Force Base here.

A few weeks hence the others of the "old chiefs" will depart to make way for the "new chiefs" named by President Eisenhower, partially in response to a demand by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) that there be a clean sweep of the strategy-making Joint Chiefs.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower were invited to attend the ceremony at Bolling field, but the White House said Monday night the Chief Executive had made no plan to attend.

Truman Helps Out
Secretary of Defense Wilson and Deputy Secretary Roger M. Kyes also will be absent. Wilson left Washington Friday for a 10-day vacation in Northern Michigan and Kyes will remain at the Pentagon.

Hoyt S. Vandenberg

Although only 54, Vandenberg has completed 30 years of service as an air officer. He served a full four year term as air chief in April, 1952, but former President Truman reappointed him to a short term so he could round out his 30 year military service and become eligible for retirement.

When Eisenhower took office in January, he made no move either to rename Vandenberg or pick him as chairman of the Joint Chiefs to succeed Gen. Omar Bradley, whose second term in that office expires in August.

Tide Of Battle
With the departure from office of the civilian defense and Air Force heads of the Truman Administration, Vandenberg became the chief defender of Air Force budget proposals to carry the Air Force toward a goal of 143 wings by 1955.

Vandenberg battled before congressional committees against the plan of the Administration and Secretary Wilson to clip five billion dollars off appropriations in the next fiscal year and cut the 1955 goal to 130 wings. The general contended that the danger of delay was great, that Soviet air strength and atomic capability is growing swiftly.

But the battle was going against him as he left command. A House committee not only sustained Wilson's proposal, but cut the figure even more.

May Enter Business
Vandenberg, his friends say, retires without rancor at the turn of events—but without any intention of giving up the effort to build up Air Force striking power faster than he believes can be done under the Wilson planning.

Vandenberg will vacation a month or two, probably at Colorado Springs, Colo., where he likes to play golf and rest. Associates expect he also may do some writing. There has been no announcement on his later intentions, but it is expected he will enter business.

Succeeding Vandenberg is Gen. Nathan Twining, who served as vice chief of staff.

Other guests at the Stanton event were Ernest L. Moody, president of the Lamesa Lions Club, and W. E. Osborn, deputy district governor of Division Four 2-T-2.

A fried chicken dinner was served by the Methodist women.

ROSE WITHOUT FRAGRANCE IS FLAT—

Less Water, More Perfume Charted As Path To Glamor

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor
The trouble with American women is they take too many baths, say Charles M. Granville and Norman Lee Swartout, of Wilton, Conn.

These two businessmen approve of cleanliness, but they say wistfully that if women didn't bathe so much they would use more perfume. Like French women.

Granville and Swartout are in the perfume business. They have just returned from Paris, where they said they produced the world's first perfume rainfall over the Eiffel Tower, seeding the clouds over Paris with a charge of carbon dioxide loaded with essence of their American perfume. Says Granville:

"I don't know why we did it. We just got tired of American women going around dousing themselves with French perfume, I guess, and so we decided to douse French women with American perfume. We're not planning to sell any perfume over there. It was just an impulse."

The partners are full of such whimsy. A couple of years ago they produced a perfumed snowfall in Bridgeport, Conn., and had small boys shrieking:

"Man, dig those smelly snowballs!"

Granville and Swartout decided to start their perfume business a few years ago when they got tired of commuting from Wilton to their respective offices in New York. Granville was an industrial designer, Swartout was in the glass business.

Their plans to start a perfume factory were greeted with hilarity by their friends in Wilton, who promptly dubbed the enterprise the "skunk works."

Since Swartout lives on Skunk Lane the title seemed peculiarly appropriate, and the boys immediately accepted it, wearing skunk caps, complete with tails, whenever possible.

Nallon's Crude Oil Production Declines

TULSA—(AP)—The daily average domestic crude oil production dropped 6,500 barrels during the week ended June 27 to 4,483,426, the Oil and Gas Journal said Tuesday.

Cumulative 1953 production was 1,142,877,426 against 1,094,017,200 a year ago.

The top gainer was Oklahoma, up 6,200 barrels to 828,900.

Other increases were in Arkansas, up 800 to 78,550; Louisiana, 300 to 703,250; and Colorado, 200 to 102,700.

Production was unchanged in New Mexico at 198,523; and Texas at 2,806,250.

BUSINESS HERE

John E. Hilton of Wink attended to business here Monday.

Though their approach to business matters is somewhat frivolous, their results are sound. They have won of the feminine population of Wilton plugging their perfume these days, and they can afford to hire a plane to bombard Paris with their product—just for fun.

They have definite ideas about women and perfume. Says Granville:

French Gals Know
"American women don't use enough of it. French women douse themselves with scents several times a day—perhaps because they don't bathe so often as Americans. But the effect is good. How do you think French gals got the reputation for all that glamor? They're not any more beautiful than American women—they just smell better."

"Our gals are still suffering the delusion that it's not ladylike to wear a lot of perfume, and that they should not wear any before 8 p.m. That's hokus. Why not smell enticing when you kiss your husband goodnight in the morning? It might help bring him home on time at night."

"Women should have a perfume wardrobe—a light cologne for mornings, a spicy floral scent for afternoons, something exotic for after dark. They should realize that they're not complete without perfume."

"A woman without perfume is like a rose without fragrance—flat."

Draft Board Must Receive Student Deferment Requests

Male college students who desire student deferments from Selective Service must notify their draft boards accordingly, Mrs. Nell Roberts, local board secretary, said Tuesday.

Two things a youth must do before a deferment will be granted are:

1. Request a deferment in writing to the local draft board.
2. Request his school to send SSS Form 100 to the draft board.

No deferments regardless of school standing will be granted to a student unless these two requirements are fulfilled, Mrs. Roberts said. In his letter to the draft board the student should inform the board that he has asked his school to send SSS 100 to the board, she said.

Eden Recuperates From Major Surgery On Newport Estate

NEWPORT, R. I. —(AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and his wife settled on a private estate facing Newport harbor Tuesday hopeful of a quiet convalescence from his recent operation.

The 56-year-old diplomat, appearing much healthier than on his arrival from England three and a half weeks ago, left the New England Baptist Hospital in Boston Monday. He underwent an operation June 10 to clear a bile duct obstruction.

Eden and his wife, Clarissa, 33, niece of British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill, came directly from the hospital to the estate of John Barry Ryan, grandson of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, multimillionaire New York financier.

Dr. Richard Cattell, the diplomat's surgeon, said in a bulletin, "We are convinced that after a full period of convalescence a complete recovery can be assured."

The bulletin said the obstruction in Eden's bile duct, "which was non-malignant, has been shown to be entirely relieved."

School Teacher Kills Wife, Self

CHENIER—(AP)—A school teacher killed his wife with a shotgun and then killed himself on an isolated road 14 miles southwest of here Monday.

Deputy Alton Hughes said V. E. Walker, 60, had been studying for his master's degree at Stephen F. Austin College at Nacogdoches.

The Walkers last were seen alive in a Nacogdoches attorney's office Monday. Walker transferred title to his car to Mrs. Walker.

He and his wife, 54, were married four years ago, separated, then had a reconciliation several months ago.

IT'S SURE BEEN HOT!

"This summer, I have put in a great many extra hours of work for my customers every day.

"Air conditioners, attic fans, evaporative coolers, and portable fans have been going full blast around the clock—24 hours a day practically every day. High temperatures, lack of rainfall and many nights without our usual cooling breeze have combined to make it an exceptionally hot summer. Electric refrigerators have had to call on their reserve power to keep food fresh and wholesome at constant temperatures under 40 degrees and to maintain ready supplies of ice cubes and cooling beverages.

"Some electric bills may be higher during such extreme hot weather because of this extra work but now—when you're able to stay cool and comfortable in spite of the heat—is when your electric service really proves to be the biggest bargain in your home."

chairman of the building committee, and M. V. Sorge, charter member of the church and representative of the deacons. Construction work on the auditorium and educational addition is expected to begin in the immediate future, with completion set for six months. Total cost will be $70,000.

Russians Soften Grip On Germany

BERLIN—(AP)—Soviet tank forces gradually pulled back Tuesday from leading East German provincial cities still in the grip of martial law. More than 1,300 new arrests by the East German government's security agents were reported in the strikes-crippled steel, uranium, coal and automobile industries. A sabotage fire inflicted heavy damage to open pit installations in the big coal field at Bitterfeld, but no other serious flareup of resistance was confirmed in the Soviet zone.

ELECTION SET BY RED CROSS

Election of new officers for the Midland Red Cross chapter will be held at 11 a.m. Friday in the chapter's building at 419 West Indiana Street, Rosebud Stacey, executive secretary, announced Tuesday.

Present officers are: Gerome Grayson, chairman; Paul Osborn, vice chairman; Mrs. W. A. Waldschmidt, treasurer; Mrs. V. W. Rogers, secretary, and board members Robert M. Payne, J. E. Mershen, and Robert Strippling.

Japan's Flood Dead, Missing Hit 1,166; 280 Millions Damage

TOKYO—(AP)—Weary and grim residents of Japan's southern island of Kyushu Tuesday began to clear debris left by modern Japan's worst flood even as more disaster threatened.

Rainclouds and scattered showers were predicted for at least two more days and a typhoon was heading toward the island, expected to hit within a week, barring a change in course. Much of the northern part of Kyushu still is under water. Property damage was estimated at 280 million dollars. A million are homeless.

The human toll stood at 474 dead, 692 missing, and 979 injured, as reported by Japanese national police headquarters. No American casualties were reported. Aid poured in from all parts of Japan. Foreign envoys promised assistance from their governments. Some 30,000 American servicemen on Kyushu were readied for relief work.

Army Discharges Disabled Ex-Prisoner As Subversive

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—One of the first Americans freed in the disabled Korean War prisoner exchange in April has been discharged from the Army as "disloyal and subversive."

The 24-year-old ex-corporal, Paul F. Schmur, Jr., had been held virtually incommunicado by the Army since he was handed over by the Reds April 30.

A Sixth Army spokesman said Monday the "undesirable discharge" was ordered by the adjutant general's office in Washington. He said it is not a dishonorable discharge and does not deprive the holder of any rights or benefits of a veteran. Schmur was awarded a Bronze Star for valor in Korea before his capture in 1950.

He was vacationing in Spokane, Wash., at the time of the discharge announcement. His father, active in the "Save the Rosenbergs" movement here and now associated with Vincent Hallinan, one-time independent Progressive Party presidential candidate, refused to comment.

Mother Charged In Brutal Beating Of 10-Year-Old Son

CHICAGO—(AP)—Mrs. Thelma Hoffman, 30, was charged with aggravated assault and battery Monday in the beating of her 10-year-old son, who was found in a ditch with both legs broken below the knees and other serious injuries.

Policeman Jack St. Clair of the suburban Homewood sheriff's police said Mrs. Hoffman admitted beating the boy "because he had stolen candy from other children and did not do well in school."

St. Clair said her son, Dennis, told him his mother struck him with a heavy piece of a tree limb. Taken to a hospital, Dennis was reported to have suffered a fractured rib, broken sacrum (part of the pelvis wall), groin injuries and severe bruises over his body. St. Clair said Dennis is Mrs. Hoffman's only child and that his stepfather, Vincent, 30, is a civil engineer. Mrs. Hoffman was released on $500 bond pending a hearing Wednesday in Homewood sheriff's police court.

Townsend Planner Sees Ike's Defeat

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A Townsend Plan leader says President Eisenhower's job will be a short one if he doesn't keep his pledge to "re-examine and extend" social security. Robert C. Townsend, vice president of the plan found by his father, Dr. Francis E. Townsend, made the statement Monday night before 1,000 delegates to the group's thirteenth national convention.

New Faces Added To Snowflake Bakery In Transaction Here

Snowflake Bakery and Pastries will introduce two new faces to the Midland scene Wednesday during the company's open house. They're Jacques and Marcella Harte, new partners in the Midland firm. Walter and Vaunell Burgess, bakery chiefs here several years, bought the interests of their partners in Sweetwater and Odessa—and then added the Harte's as new partners. Jacques comes here from the Shamrock Hotel in Houston and promises something unique in the bakery art. He and Walter Burgess will be in the production department. Aiding Vaunell Burgess in the sales department will be Marcella.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—The Price Railroad is 25 richer Tuesday because a passenger kept worrying about a free 100-mile ride he took in 1952. The money came from a California resident (not identified by the railroad) who said he took advantage of a confused conductor on a train running late and rode from Loma, Kan., to Springfield, Mo., without a ticket. The man added, "Thanks for the favor," and said he was short of money at the time.

Reorganization Of Defense Department Starts Promptly

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A Defense Department reorganization which President Eisenhower said would strengthen civilian control but which opponents decried as making way for a "military man on horseback" went into effect Tuesday. It gives to the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the head of the Pentagon's strategy-making organization, new functions—a provision opposed by a determined but unsuccessful group of Republicans and Democrats in the House.

The efforts to stop the plan from going into operation was beaten Saturday, 234 to 198, with opponents falling 110 votes short of the majority needed to veto it. The Defense Department had ready a series of directives to put into force the first major reorganization since it was created under the Service Unification Act of 1947. In addition to changes involving the Joint Chiefs, here are some of the others:
1. Abolition of two large units of the Defense Department: the Munitions Board and the Research and Development Board.
2. Creation of six additional assistant secretaries of Defense, making nine in all.
The issue in the House argument over the Joint Chiefs of Staff revolved about the control of that strategy organized over a subordinate group, labeled the "Joint Staff." The Joint Staff, an organization of about 200 officers from each of the armed forces, does the spade work for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, preparing studies and plans upon which they make their recommendations on strategy to the President and National Security Council. Management of the Joint Staff now is transferred to supervision of the Joint Chiefs chairman. It was primarily on this point that the objection of too much authority for the chairman was raised.
The Lewis and Clark expedition including 31 men in the official party which went from the Mississippi to the Pacific Coast from May, 1804 to September 1806 cost only $2,500 says the National Geographic Society.

61-Year-Old Man Tries For Walking Mark Across U. S.

WHEELING, W. VA.—(AP)—A 61-year-old man trying to break the transcontinental walking record stopped briefly in Wheeling for a rest late Monday. David Will Power, who said he left California April 20, admitted the hills of neighboring Eastern Ohio had left him a little tired when he arrived in Wheeling. After a short rest, he set out again Monday night. Power is accompanied on his coast-to-coast walk by two men who remain close by in a small automobile. The trio camps out at night. Power said he is trying to break the 77-day record which was set in 1910 by Edward Payson Weston. Power hopes to be in New York City by July 11.

Ike Slated To Sign Evangelical Brochure

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Representative Judd (R-Minn.) said Tuesday President Eisenhower will sign Thursday a brochure sponsored by the National Association of Evangelicals which calls for emphasis on the spiritual side of Fourth of July celebrations. The pamphlet, "March of Freedom," is based on what it says are seven divine freedoms taken from the 23rd Psalm. These are set forth as freedom from want, hunger, thirst, sin, fear, enemies and to live abundantly.

Adlai Says Iron Curtain Cracked

ATHENS, GREECE—(AP)—Adlai Stevenson said Tuesday recent events in East Germany have shown the world that "the Iron Curtain has cracked." "Tyranny now is reaping its harvest," he told a news conference here before leaving for Rome on another leg of his globe-girdling trip. Stevenson said that while the outlook for a nonshooting peace in the West is "good," the outlook in the Far East "is not so good."

Many cross-country U. S. highways closely follow the trails of the early explorers says the National Geographic Society.

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

Midland High School's athletic program grew up to its classification, AAAA, when the school trustees last week appointed Ken Sewell as basketball coach.

The young Midwestern graduate, already a part of the school system here, will direct the Bulldog quintet without other athletic duties overlapping. That's the way it should be, that's the way it is in other four-A schools.

Heretofore, F. D. (Red) Rutledge coached basketball whenever he could be turned loose from his assistant's job in football. It so happened that, with the gridders always practicing long and hard hours in a late season push, Rutledge got to muster the cagers no earlier than December 1.

Defeat - A Character Builder?

The old system not only worked a hardship on Rutledge, who was rushing from one sport to another with no time to prepare, but the team players also suffered. High school sports, as everyone agrees, has the proud purpose of building the character of youngsters and too much losing—like too much winning—never helped any boy be a better man. Defeat, constant defeat that is, induces frustration and, over a long season of about 22 games, bitterness, too.

If anyone, thereby, cries a bit because the school has hired another coach, the bemoaner might recall that at the tag end of last season the Bulldog cagers were playing rougher and rougher, sometimes unsporthlike, basketball. That didn't happen often, mind you, it was just noticeable. The players perhaps figured they'd tried everything else to win; and nothing worked. So "why not?" The Bulldogs beat only three opponents in 22 games.

Referee Saw Team Improving

It wasn't the coaching, though; what can a mentor do when he's at least two weeks, and sometimes two months, behind the other district schools in beginning basketball workouts?

Not even Rutledge, who played and coached at basketball-minded Texas Wesleyan College and Weatherford College, could overcome that difference, even with more material than Midland gave him in recent years. But this Rutledge did—despite such a losing season:

He attracted this comment from a veteran referee, who saw the Bulldogs play in December and not again until February: "Red sure brought that team a long way. It's the most improved club in the district."

Rutledge, given the choice, elected to remain in football rather than coach basketball only. Who can blame him—noting Midland's basketball past?

You won't find many coaches who suffer and worry much more than Red during a losing season. The last campaign's coupled with the fact that he'd been hard at nerveracking work coaching for six straight months, came close to sidelining Rutledge as a nervously-exhausted individual.

Non-Gridders Had Little Chance

Midland's immediate basketball future—in winning and losing—is not so bright either. There's little available material, which for most schools is developed through long seasons, October to March; and Midland hasn't had that before.

Sewell, young and sharp, is a good choice to take charge. The new coach, up from West Elementary, can spend a long season building the Bulldogs and directing the grade school and junior high programs.

Having a fulltime coach also helps the students. For, in the past when there was no coach available for early court sessions, non-football players were idle and as a consequence, out of condition. Because the gridders, competing their season, were in shape, the non-playing boys had little chance to win a basketball suit.

Sewell, thus, will now be converting previous non-playing boys into athletes.

In such a case, the future followers of Midland's sports won't be able to say "We don't have enough boys to compete with the other District I-AAAA schools." You've heard that in the past.

Indians Trip Potashers, Eye Oilers; Blair, De La Torre Men Of The Hour

potashers in fine fashion. Then, as an added thrill, he parked one of Audie Malone's fast balls over the left field fence in the seventh inning. It was his first professional homer and made up for a second-inning disappointment when his rifle shot to left missed clearing by inches.

De la Torre aided Midland's cause immensely in the sixth inning when he rapped a three-run homer to put the Tribe back into the lead after Merv Connors' home run for Carlsbad had given the Potashers a 2-1 margin.

A third hero was Roger Dalla Beta who provided the Indians with their first run in the second inning when he followed singles by Lou Dawson and Mickey Dias with a shot into left that scored Dawson from second.

Later, he preceded Blair's blast with a home run of his own over the left field wall. Those two blows chased Malone to the showers with his second defeat of the season, and Marshall Epperson came on to give up two unearned runs in the same inning on a walk to Tex Stephenson, a bunt single by Scooter Hughes and his own error on Art Bowland's sacrifice. Epperson picked up Bowland's bunt and threw wildly to third, permitting Stephenson and Hughes to score.

Carlsbad scored off Blair in the fourth to tie the score at 1-1 when John Trecee walked, moved to second as Connors topped a Blair heave and was thrown out by Bowland, and scored on Elias Ocorio's double to center.

Hughes dropped Goidy Gholson's pop up to short left with Ocorio moving to third but then made up for the miscue with a quick toss home on Bob Hobbs' grounder to deep short, catching Ocorio at the plate. Blair got Dub Akins to fly out to avert further damage.

Except for that inning, Blair was the commander of the Potashers all the way until he pitched Connors a low fast ball in the sixth. He was the recipient of fine fielding support by the entire Midland team, particularly by Hughes and Dalla Beta who worked a double play in the first inning after John Trecee and Connors had singled successfully.

He struck out seven, walked only two and pitched heady ball all the way to gain his seventh triumph against five defeats.

Jack Leroy Schaening, recent arrival from Yakima, was Manager Jay Haney's choice to face Odessa in Odessa Tuesday. A right-hander, Schaening came to the Indians in exchange for Eddie Jacome.

He had a 2-5 record for the last-place Yakima club, but he won 12 and lost 11 for Miami (Ohio) of the K-O-M league prior to entering the service for two years, and won 21 and lost seven in the Mountain State League his rookie year.

Midlander Among Ex-Buffs Invited To Old-Timers Game

HOUSTON—(AP)—The annual Old-Timers Baseball Game and Reunion will be held here July 14.

General Manager Art Routzong of the Houston club has started sending invitations to former Houston players and ex-Texas League players.

Last year a crowd of 10,000 saw the five-inning old-timers game with Dizzy Dean and Wild Bill Hallahan doing the pitching. It was played before a regular Texas League game.

Carlson, a former pitcher, is now a Midland businessman.

Among the old-timers who have been sent invitations are Eddie Dyer, Joe Medwick, Tex Carleton, Jim Bottomley, Hal Epps, Jerry Burmeister, Hallahan, Clarence Kraft, John King, Dickie Kerr, Fred Marberry, Jim Lindsey, Frank Snyder, Glenn Myatt, Tink Riviere, Carey Selph, Tris Speaker, Homer Peel, Gus Mancuso, Del Pratt, Wally Watkins, Nick Cullop, Paul Dean, Joffre Coys, John Berry, Jerry White and Frank Shodder.

-RALPH GETS FIRST HOMER-

By ABE WEINER
Reporter-Telegram Sports Staff

Ralph Blair grinned, modestly accepted praise from well-wishers, and nodded his head in agreement when someone mentioned that the only pitching error he made in hurling the Midland Indians to an 8-2 victory over Carlsbad Monday night was a low fast ball to Merv Connors.

"I started praying when it left my hands," Blair lamented.

And well he should have, for Connors rocketed the toss over the left-center field fence for one of the two runs Blair yielded.

But it was hard to tell whether Blair was happier over his well-pitched game or over the first professional home run he hit in the seventh inning.

Only Sunday night he had mentioned to the writer that he had never hit one out of the park since turning pro. Thus, it was a little disappointing when his second-inning blast hit the fence just shy of the mark. Blair, thinking it was on the way out, had slowed down and was tossed out at second by Leftfielder Dub Akins.

For his seventh-inning clout, Blair picked up $113—a surprising package inasmuch as Ralph Dalla Beta had preceded him around the bases after hitting his fourth homer of the year immediately previous. Dalla Beta pocketed $62.

Earlier, Julio de la Torre had rounded up $103 for his seventh circuit ball of the year, which came in the sixth with two mates aboard and gave the Indians a 4-2 margin they refused to relinquish.

For Julio, it marked the sixteenth straight game in which he has hit safely—a team record this season. The previous longest string of 15 was held by Art Bowland, who hit safely in his thirteenth straight contest Monday night.

To add to the Indians' merriment, Olen Selbo arrived in camp and was notified by Manager Jay Haney he would be placed on the active list immediately.

Selbo needs no introduction to Midland fans since he was a general handyman last season when he batted .346, won several games as a pitcher, and literally ignited the spark in the Indians' pennant drive.

To make room for him, Fred Smith was placed on the disabled list. Smith has a sore arm from trying to round into shape too fast.

Another newcomer who will suit out for the first time at Odessa Tuesday night is Lee Velarde, the former Midland Colt shortstop who was signed to an Indian contract after several days' working out with the Tribe.

Snead Seen As Winner By Turnesa

BIRMINGHAM, MICH.—(AP)—Colt's longest and toughest grind, the PGA Championship, begins its week-long run Wednesday with two strong-backed contenders in a snit pro sharing the favorite's role—Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff.

Jim Turnesa, the mid-mannered defending champion from Briarcliff, N. Y., himself is picking Snead, a three-time winner, as the man most likely to survive the 203-hole medal and match play marathon.

"You have to pick Snead in every tournament he plays," said Turnesa. Middlecoff, winner of the Carlings Open at Cleveland over the weekend, comes to Birmingham with his club "hot" as the boys say, and with a big collection of backers, including former Champion Vic Ghezard.

Ghezard, the giant Italian, said: "This is course which will pay a premium to good drivers. That shoots Middlecoff right into the limelight."

Yankees In Trouble As Long As Rizzuto Out Of Lineup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Anyone who tries seriously to figure out what's going on in the big leagues at this time, much less what might occur before the two races end, is threatened with softening of the brain tissues, but here we go again.

The Yankees are finding out at long last what happens to a club, no matter how solid it might be otherwise, when such a great shortstop as Phil Rizzuto begins to slip over the hill. The little Scooter is not a well man, and he has a knee which troubles him.

Sure, the champions picked up Willie Miranda as shortstop insurance, and the Cuban is a real good fielder. But over the past weekend we saw him waver at one grounder we feel certain Rizzuto would have turned into a double play, and we saw a pop fly bounce off his glove on an important play.

Unless, and until, Phil comes back and plays shortstop at something approaching his best form, we are ready to believe that the Yankees are in real trouble and that it is entirely possible they will eventually be caught and passed, probably by Cleveland.

Bombers Try Bosox, Lose In Exhibition

By BEN FLEGGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The slump-ridden Milwaukee Braves and New York Yankees packed up their troubles in their old kit bags and hit the road Tuesday hunting for something to smile about. The two clubs, deep in their longest losing streaks of the year, misplaced their winning touch in their own ballparks and they were hoping a change of scenery would make a radical difference.

Lame Muscle, Batting Slump Clip Mantle

NEW YORK—Mickey Mantle climbed off the rubbing table, stepped gingerly on his injured left leg and nodded in satisfaction. "Feels better," he muttered. "Not much pain."

The young slugger of the New York Yankees walked briskly around the room, then lifted the leg a couple of times, bending the knee sharply.

"I can still feel it. It's right there," he said, placing his hand on the fleshy part above the left knee. "I'm sure it won't bother me at the plate, but I don't think I can run on it yet."

Did he think he'd be able to play Tuesday night in Boston? "I will if Casey wants me to," Mickey said, "but I think a couple of days rest should fix me up okay."

Was he referring to his leg or his batting slump? "The leg," he answered. "A fellow can't get out of a batting slump sitting on the bench."

What is wrong? Could he account for his drop from 345 to 310 in the space of two weeks? "Nops," he said. "There's nothing wrong with me, outside of this thing (pulled leg muscle). I'm swinging the same way. It's just one of those things, I guess."

Reluctant to talk further about his sudden sag at the plate Mantle sneezed himself, went over to his locker and donned his street clothes.

He already had departed from Yankee Stadium by the time the Yankee-Dodger exhibition got under way. He was to have participated in the special home-hitting contest preceding the game but had received Manager Casey Stengel's permission to bypass the game.

"I don't know whether I'll play him or not," said Casey. "I'll ask him about the leg Wednesday. If he says it's okay, I suppose I'll play him."

Trainer Gus Mauch, who taped up the region where Mantle pulled a muscle while running out an infield grounder in Sunday's game against Cleveland, declined to guess how serious the injury may be. A rest for Mantle might be just what the doctor ordered at that. In his last 18 times at bat, he's made but one hit, a single. His batting average for the 14-game home stand was an anemic .192.

Ted Williams Starts Home Wednesday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Ted Williams will head home from Korea Wednesday, the Marine Corps says, but it is unlikely that he will get back to the Boston Red Sox outfield this season.

Williams has been ordered back to the U. S. for treatment of an ear and nose ailment which impairs his usefulness as a jet pilot with the First Marine Air Wing. The captain had flown 38 missions before being grounded this month.

Williams, 35, was called back to active duty in May, 1952, for a hitch due to expire in October. A Marine Corps spokesman said Monday it is "most unlikely Williams will be released from active duty before then."

He said Williams will enter a hospital near San Francisco and if physicians are not convinced his ailment has been cured, he may be held in service beyond October.

Burgess in Korea has described Williams' ailment as "lack of ventilation in the ear and nose that causes interference with jet flying."

Lou Boudreau, Red Sox manager, has voiced confidence Williams would get back in the lineup if released from active duty before the season's end. Williams hit 318 in 1951, his last full season.

Cooper Hurls No-Hit Game

Larry Cooper, who found the Pony League a tough outfit in which to pitch a shutout, wouldn't be denied Monday.

He twirled the first shutout of the season and made sure it stuck. The junior high school student from San Jacinto spun a no-hitter—fanning 18 batters to emphasize it. That enabled the Travelers to stop the Kiwanis nine, 9-0.

While Cooper was stinging, he also played spoiler for the no-hit bid by foe moundman, Jim Owens, who fanned 15.

After six innings of hitless ball, Owens who lost the game because of wildness, gave up a lone single to Cooper to lead off the seventh.

Four errors and 10 walks by Owens enabled the winners to score in the early innings.

In another Pony League game the Traders clubbed 14 hits, with each player getting at least one, to beat the JayCees, 12-4.

Tide Water Hurler Wins On One-Hitter

Bobby Trimble of the American League-leading Tide Water softball team pitched a one-hit shutout in a triple header of good pitching Monday night.

Tide Water stopped Schlumberger, 8-0.

Trimble fanned five and gave up the lone single to Lawson in the seventh inning.

Ragsdale paced the 10-hit Tide Water attack with three hits.

In the other games, Sam Brown gave up but two hits when his Continental team ran over Texaco, 9-3, and Gulf edged Southwestern Bell, 7-6.

Dobie Crow fanned 13 of the Phenomen in the game's six innings.

Rhodes Girls Clout Andrews Nine, 23-10

ANDREWS—Lillian Hyde, shelled from the mound as starting pitcher, nevertheless went on to enjoy a six-for-six night at bat in leading the Harry H. Rhodes girls softball team of Midland to a 23-10 victory over the Andrews girls team.

Miss Hyde gave way to Rosie Hart in the third inning with Midland trailing, 9-6, and the reliever stopped the home club on one run the rest of the way. Miss Hyde led Rhodes batters with five singles and a double; Joe Burger and Edith Davis both homered.

The win snapped a brief losing streak for Midland after two losses, 8-3 and 5-1 to Lubbock Saturday. Rose Hart homered in the first game of that bill.

'Why Not?'—Richards Hopeful For Sox Pennant

CHICAGO—(AP)—The revived Chicago White Sox, victorious in 11 of 13 road games, returned home Tuesday and Manager Paul Richards talked hopefully of the American League pennant.

Hope was all but dead in the Sox camp when the Comiskey crew left town June 12.

The Sox had been losing monotonously and were 13 games behind the New York Yankees—the team that then was winning 13 straight and threatening to make a job of the pennant race.

But something happened abroad. The once-dispirited Southerners broke out on a rampage in the East and ended their road trip with seven straight wins, including sweeps of three-game series at New York and Boston. The victory string, coupled with a Yankee slump, has put the Sox only six and one-half games out of the lead. They trail second-place Cleveland, also on the upswing, by half a game.

Enroute to Chicago for a Comiskey Park game Wednesday night with the St. Louis Browns, Richards cast off his usual reticence when asked if the Sox could win the pen-

Little Leaguers Take Over Indian Park Tuesday Night

Little guys with big aspirations take over Indian Park at 8 p.m. Tuesday for the annual Little League and Pony League night.

Some 200 lads, ranging in age from nine to 14 and representing four little leagues of four teams each and the six team Pony League, will be on hand for the festivities in their honor.

They will follow Baseball Commissioner John J. Redfern, Jr., and Treasurer Frank Taylor onto the field, and after the ceremonies hand-picked teams will play four innings to give folks an idea of what they can do.

Each league will field two complete teams; each team will play one inning against another league—the Northeast League team meeting the West League team and the South League nine playing the Central League club.

STRONG BOY—Having smashed the world's discus record at the National Collegiate Athletic Association meet in Lincoln, Neb., Southern California's Sim Iness, 22, pauses between workouts practicing to improve on his 190-foot seven-eighths-inch mark.

Wages Too Big, Writer Says Of Texas Baseball Troubles

Baseball in Texas appears to be back on a stable footing but just how long that will last is problematical. The league that was supposed to be the richest and most unlikely to run into trouble at all is the one that has had the most trouble. That is the Big State League.

When the season started, all the talk concerned the Gulf Coast League. There were predictions that it wouldn't even go to the post. The circuit has had its up and downs but nothing like the Big State.

The whole trouble with Texas baseball has been operating at too much expense, mainly by paying veterans high salaries (much of it under the table) when they can't be sold to higher company and thus bring profit to the club. It's all a matter of "keeping up with the Joneses."

Here's what happened in the Big State:

Longview was transferred to Greenville before the season even started. Waco was transferred to Longview because its park was destroyed by a tornado. Greenville was transferred to Bryan because there wasn't enough attendance to much more than pay the ticket-sellers. Temple, which had been looked upon as a Rock of Gibraltar, couldn't meet the payroll and the town had to get together to raise money.

In the Gulf Coast circuit the group of stockholders operating Laredo quit and the league took over the club, then sold it to Nick Canavati, the former owner, and his cousin, Jesse Fort Arthur, also considered one of the strongest clubs in Texas baseball, ran into attendance trouble and it is up for sale.

Liquor Board Revenues Up

AUSTIN—Mounting revenues to the state from the Texas Liquor Control Board are indicated by the collections for May: $1,291,280.79. For the same month in 1952 the total was $1,225,596.21 and for May, 1951, it was $96,612.13.

Annual revenues collected by the board have climbed from $6,177,436.36 during 1946, the board's first full calendar year, to $18,959,582.79 in 1952.

Administrator Coke R. Stevenson, Jr. said he expects the total to exceed $19 million for the calendar year 1953.

The figure for May of this year was given in the board's monthly review, which shows the scope and variety of the state's liquor control agency.

Victim Of Gunshot Said Still Critical

W. R. Alexander, 31-year-old Midland man shot Sunday night during an argument with his landlady, was reported still in a critical condition Tuesday morning.

The Western Clinic-Hospital reported Alexander had shown slight improvement but still was on the critical list with gunshot wounds in his abdomen.

W. M. Olliff, operator of the trailer truck in which Alexander formerly lived, was freed under $3,500 bond Monday after surrendering to Constable Jack Merritt on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

ON MOUNTAIN TRIP

Mrs. E. C. Middlebrook and children left Monday for Rudoso, N. M., Middlebrook will join them Friday to spend the Independence Day weekend.

Wild turkeys are found distributed from Canada south to Central America.

Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs, told reporters after his fifth secret session with Rhee:

"Obviously, there are points which need clarification in our negotiations. Otherwise there would be no need for these meetings. President Rhee and I are trying to work out a solution which will be acceptable to our two governments and, at the same time, sacrifice the principles of neither."

Robertson's remarks contrasted with earlier expressions of optimism from himself and Rhee. He said he would meet again with Rhee Wednesday. He did not say how long he expected the conversations to continue.

Communist reaction to UN Commander Mark Clark's proposal for a truce now—irrespective of Rhee's opposition—was unexpectedly swift.

The broadcast from Pyongyang, North Korean capital, charged that Clark's letter to Communist military leaders Monday lacked "sincerity" and was "inconsistent" with the facts. It insisted there had been "connivance" between the UN and South Korea in Rhee's order releasing more than 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean war prisoners since June 18.

Pyeongyang added that Clark's letter—delivered at Panmunjom through liaison officers—gave "no guarantee" on the future conduct of the South Korean government and that, therefore, the Communists could not accept it.

It also again demanded the return of all escaped prisoners.

Optimists Consider Financial Report

Midland Optimists "talked business" during their hour-long meeting Tuesday in Hotel Scharbauer.

James Plunkett, 18, of Fort Worth, remained in serious condition but was improved Tuesday after being hospitalized Monday when an automobile in which he was riding crashed into a telephone pole outside of Midland.

He is in Western Clinic-Hospital with a fractured nose and concussion.

His companion, Joe Bob Moore, 22, driver of the automobile, was released after receiving emergency treatment.

The FCC ruling came just one day shy of the "deadline" requested by El Paso officials. They had asked that the Commission omit intermediate steps in the interest of speed and give a final ruling by June 30 at the latest.

Basin To California
A principal feature of the El Paso project will be a new 30-inch main transmission line which will originate in the Permian Basin and extend in a northerly direction across New Mexico to a point near Gallup, where junction will be made with the existing 24-inch main transmission pipe line from the San Juan Basin to California.

'SAFE' FIREWORKS KILL TWO—Firemen continue their labors in ruins of a Kansas City drugstore, where an explosion of supposedly "safe" fireworks gutted the store, and caused the death of two teenage soda fountain clerks, Nancy Darlene Braden, 16, and Donna Heinrich, 17, who suffocated when trapped behind the fountain. A store employe said that the fireworks were of the "safe" variety, only kind permitted in Kansas City, and included sparklers and pinwheels.

Two Charges Filed On Accused Burglar; Escaped Pal Sought

One man was being held under two burglary charges Tuesday and another, who escaped from police while being brought to police headquarters for questioning, was being sought.

Two charges of burglary were filed with Justice of the Peace L. C. Stephenson against Robert Winfield Sparks, 23, an unemployed oil field worker.

Sparks and his companion were arrested early Monday after police had spotted them lurking near a drive-in on North Big Spring Street. As they drove into police headquarters, the second man leaped from the automobile and fled.

Detective Sgt. Wayne Taylor said an electric razor and some cigarettes, taken earlier from the Dixie Dog Drive-In on East Florida Street, were found in Sparks' room.

The second burglary charge was filed in connection with the reported break-in of the Kingburger Drive-In on North Big Spring Street.

Mother Of Midland Resident Interred

Other survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Harris Barnes of Mississippi and Mrs. Leland Hodges of Fort Worth.

Avary Denies Assault Claim

MONAHANS—District Clerk J. C. Avary, on trial for aggravated assault, went on the stand at 9:05 a.m. Tuesday to deny that he even as much as touched Velma Powell, Monahans telephone operator, who charges that Avary and his wife beat her February 14, and to support testimony made Monday by Mrs. Avary, against whom charges have been dropped.

Avary, who spent 90 minutes under questioning and cross-examination, said his wife, not he, fought with Velma, a Korean war widow. He told the court under cross-examination that he stopped the fight between his wife and the telephone operator within about two minutes after it started. He said he didn't have to get between the two women, but perhaps touched his wife on the arm.

Mrs. Avary said Monday that her husband stayed about 10 feet away holding a boxer dog. Avary repeated the statement Tuesday.

The accused man's wife told of beating Velma because she had heard that the operator was circulating rumors about her 17-year-old stepdaughter, Patricia.

Velma, however, testified that Avary, as well as his wife, beat her after forcing her into their car and driving to their home. She said Avary struck her, pulled her leg and then held her while Mrs. Avary beat her.

Mrs. Avary is a smaller woman than Vera, standing five feet, one and a half inches and weighing 102 pounds. Velma, on the other hand, weighs more than 110 pounds.

The state rested its case at 3 p.m. Monday after D. F. Powell, Velma's father, testified his daughter came to his house about 10:30 p.m., February 14, in a nervous state. Her face, he said, was bruised badly.

Avary, testifying Tuesday, also denied testimony made Monday by Mrs. Nell Stewart, chief telephone operator at Monahans.

Mrs. Stewart testified Mr. and Mrs. Avary came to her office the night of February 14, and told her they understood that Velma was spreading rumors about their stepdaughter. Vera had, the Avarys said, told the rumor in a Monahans cafe.

Battle Over Cotton Acreage Starts Before Senate Panel

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A bitter, intersection battle over cotton acreage began before the Senate Agriculture Committee Tuesday with farmers from the Southwest throwing the first punch against opponents from the Deep South.

Stinky And Gyp—

(Continued From Page 1) on the door," she continued, "and told us to look outside. We looked out and there was Stinky. We made a bee-line for him."

She said they took Stinky with them on various trips to East Texas, to New Mexico and to Oklahoma.

They had little Stinky vaccinated only last October against rabies. Meanwhile, Stinky apparently began living his double life by trotting over to the E. W. Mason home nearby.

"Some time after October, the little Corley girl came up to me at the Airway Cash Grocery and said 'Your dog just bit a child,' " Mrs. Corley continued.

Howell quited her and Mrs. Corley resumed testimony. "I said, 'He did?' and she said 'yes' and added her mother took him and got him vaccinated."

Little Stinky Likes It
Again Rebecca started crying. "That's not true," she shouted. "Apparently, little Stinky was liking the double-life, having two families caring for him and feeding him."

She singled out Corley as the man who had come for the dog. "Later," she said, "the came back. Gyp ran behind me. This feller pulled him out, takes off his belt and beats him."

"Did he take the dog?" asked Howell. "No," answered Mrs. Mason. "The dog got away from him and ran under the house."

Gyp continued to stay at their house, she continued. "He was at my house every day," she said, "and the children fed him."

"Did they become attached to him?" asked Howell. "Yes," she answered. "Very much."

The Masons even took several trips with Gyp and when they moved to Midland last December, they brought the pet along.

Everything was serene until June 8. "This feller drives by my house at 211 East New York," relates Mrs. Mason. "I was busy and the two children were sitting on the porch with Gyp."

"The feller opens the car door and calls Gyp. 'The children hollered that somebody had the dog. I went down and the Southwest's expanding cotton production.

Speakers Tuesday on an amendment to the Agricultural Adjustment Act were Governor Pyle of Arizona; Senator Goldwater (R-Ariz.); and John Davis, president of the Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation.

The committee hears from national farm organizations Wednesday. It will schedule a hearing later for opponents from the South, who declare the Southwest seeks to "run off with our cotton acreage."

Sponsors of the bill, with Goldwater, are California Republican Senators Knowland and Kuchel and Senator Hayden (D-Ariz.).

Several companion measures are pending in the House. The bills would change the basis for allotment of cotton acreage to the states during times of cotton surplus. They would provide that allotments be based on acreage planted during the preceding three years. The basis now is five years.

The bills would limit any cut-back to 25 per cent of a state's 1953 cotton acreage.

Congressmen from the Southwest say the present law gives the Department of Agriculture power to order drastic acreage reductions without imposing a national marketing quota for 1954 because there is a surplus of cotton now.

They say approval of allotments on a five-year basis would discriminate against the Southwest, where cotton production has expanded mostly in the last few years.

They say acreage reductions in the Southwest, under the five-year system of allotment, would be proportionately larger than in the South, where plantings have remained more or less static in recent years.

Representative Hunter (R-Calif.), author of one of the House bills, said several weeks ago anticipated acreage cuts under the present "inequitable and unconscionable" law would include: Arizona 54 per cent; California, 51 per cent; New Mexico, 42 per cent; and Texas, 39 per cent.

Deep South Fights Back
Representative (D-Calif.), sponsor of another bill, said expected acreage reductions in California may total $50,000 with a resulting loss in cotton income of 135 million dollars.

Replying to Hunter and Hagen, Representative Gathings (D-Ark.), a member of the House Agriculture Committee, declared: "They won't run off with our cotton acreage without a fight."

"The irrigated West, with its two-hales-to-the-acre yields, is largely responsible for the cotton surplus we have. There may not have been a need for quotas and allotments had it not been for the greatly expanded acreage planted to cotton in these far western states."

The farmers in the tri-states have been in cotton business since time immemorial and I am going to put forth every effort to my command to keep them growing cotton."

Alabama Children Get Mass GG Shots In Fight On Polio

MONTEGOMERY, Ala.—(AP)—Years of weary trial-and-error research that cost millions of dollars gets the first full-scale tryout here Tuesday in a history-making effort to save a stricken city from a polio epidemic.

LEADS POLIO FIGHT—Dr. A. H. Graham, Montgomery County health officer, inspects part of a huge shipment of gamma globulin being used in combating the city's polio epidemic Tuesday.

Three U. S. Families Leave Moscow After Long Sojourn

MOSCOW.—(AP)—Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press correspondent in the Soviet Union since 1941, left Moscow by plane Tuesday for Finland, enroute to the United States. He was accompanied by his Russian-born wife and two small daughters.

On the same plane with the Gilmore were another American and his Russian wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tucker, and Mrs. Ethel Balashova, a U. S. citizen, and her two daughters by a Russian father.

The Soviet Union gave Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. Tucker and the Balashova children permission to leave early this month in the first such Russian action in recent years. Subsequently the Soviet government announced it would give exit visas to four more Russian wives of Americans living in Moscow.

Tucker, whose father lives in Kansas City, has been with the U. S. Embassy, here since May, 1944. He and his wife were married in 1944.

Mrs. Balashova's legal residence is Los Angeles, where her mother, Mrs. Louis Rubin, lives. She married Alexander Balashov in 1928 but they were divorced in 1944 when a Soviet court gave her custody of the children, Elena, now 13, and Alice, 11.

Gilmore has been succeeded here by Thomas P. Whitney, a member of AP's Moscow staff six years, who now becomes acting chief of bureau in Moscow.

Mrs. Gilmore and the correspondent were married in 1943. With him, she and her daughter Vicki, then two, visited England and the U. S. in the summer of 1944.

A second daughter, Susanna, was born after their return to Russia.

anxious parents Tuesday morning.

The nation's polio fighters hope this unprecedented mass inoculation not only will stop the fierce outbreak, but also will sound the death knell for future unchecked ravages of crippling infantile paralysis viruses.

Temporary Barrier

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has shipped in 67 gallons of the scarce OG serum together with 30,000 hypodermic needles, 15,000 syringes and stacks of other equipment.

The community itself, frightened by the daily climb to 81 polio cases, is tackling the huge inoculation job on a volunteer basis unparalleled in the city's history.

The gamma globulin doesn't give permanent immunity. But experts think the month of protection it does provide will halt the pending epidemic through the worst of the hot weather "polio season."

Costs One Million

At 18 inoculating stations, hundreds of volunteers helped in the task of dressing and undressing thousands of babies and small children.

Medical staffs at nearby Maxwell and Gunter Air Force Bases aided doctors here in the emergency. And the county health board at Columbus, Ga., 80 miles distant, has offered to help.

The national foundation is picking up most of the estimated million-dollar bill.

Cautious researchers were building up a strong defense line in case their attack is unsuccessful.

Lee Schmid, director of technical equipment for the polio foundation, ordered the Atlanta headquarters on a 24-hour standby basis to rush in additional iron lungs, rocking beds and other life-saving equipment if the outbreak continues unchecked.

Doctors don't expect a sudden drop in the county's polio rate because it takes about a week for the polio-resisting blood derivatives to build up temporary immunity. In a week, however, they expect about an 80 per cent decrease.

VISIT IN CITY

Mrs. O. L. Hicks and Mrs. J. T. Edwards were in the city Monday from Odessa.

MIDLAND VISITORS

Robert Kelley and C. M. Mabry of Hobbs, N. M., visited in Midland Monday.

Permian Basin Oil And Gas Log—

not drilled. The 7-inch casing is cemented on bottom.

All of the section from 10,230 feet up to 10,250 feet will be tested and operator will try to make a commercial producer of it. Some observers think the section between 10,230 feet and 10,250 feet will develop the best production.

Location is 690 feet from north and west lines of section 34, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey. It is two miles northwest of the nearest production in the Germania sector of the Spraberry Trend Area.

Flowing Discovery In SE Sutton Is Making More Hole

Ashland Oil & Refining Company and Pelmont Oil Corporation No. 1 Wallace estate, flowing discovery from the Strawn line in Southeast Sutton County, is making hole below 5,363 feet in reef lime.

The prospector will drill ahead until it reaches the Ellenburger. It will then set casing and test that formation and also test the Strawn.

The wildcat had flowed oil at the estimated rate of 40 barrels per hour from the section at 4,997-5,026 feet. That flow was through open drill pipe. It made gas at the rate of 750,000 cubic feet per day. There was no formation water in that section.

Reef Lime Shows

The prospector cored from 4,028 feet to 5,071 feet. Some of the 45 feet of lime which was recovered in that core had mud oil shows.

It is thought that water was found between 5,060 feet and 5,065 feet.

The 40-barrel per hour flow was the best show for production ever developed by any of the many wildcats which have been drilled in Sutton County.

The discovery is 17 miles southeast of Sonora and 600 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 67, block 14, TW&NO survey.

Tentative top of the Strawn lime was called at 5,000 feet on a derrick floor elevation of 2,290 feet.

North Pecos Area Gets Location For Shallow Explorer

L. H. & S. A. Olson filed application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting permission to start drilling at once on a shallow wildcat in North Pecos County.

It is No. 1 Joseph E. Jones, 330 feet from south and 1,667 feet from east lines of section 3, block 108, T&SL survey and eight miles north of Fort Stockton.

It is slated for a 3,200-foot bottom.

Ellenburger Opener In North Pecos Is Reported Finaled

Brown & Thorp Drilling Company, 1-F Sullivan, wildcat in North Pecos County, has been completed as a pumping discovery from the Ellenburger.

Operator reported a daily potential of 115 barrels of oil and 161 barrels of water.

Production is from open hole at 4,018-4,234 feet. Completion was natural. Gravity of the oil is 39.5 degrees and gas-oil ratio 291-1.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 26, block 11, H&ON survey and two miles west of the Kramer (Clear Fork) field. It also is six miles southwest of the town of Otirvin.

Canyon Discovery In Central Fisher Flowing To Test

Claude E. Heard and Estil S. Heyser, Jr., of Dallas and others No. 2 Bert Rushing, Canyon reef line discovery in Central Fisher County, is flowing to test through perforations from 5,238 to 5,268 feet.

On the latest test, it flowed oil at the rate of 150 barrels per day through an 18/64-inch choke. Flowing tubing pressure was 528 pounds.

No. 2 Rushing is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 73, block 1, H&TC survey and two and one-half miles northwest of Royston. That makes it three-eighths of a mile northwest of the same operators' No. 1 Rushing and three and one-half miles southwest of the Round Top field.

Woodson Explorer In Central Fisher Finds Oil On DSTs

Woodson Oil Company of Fort Worth No. 1 S. E. Knox, wildcat in Central Fisher County, recovered oil on two drillstem tests and is now drilling deeper.

Operator took a three-hour drillstem test from 3,618 to 3,638 feet. Gas showed at the surface in two hours. Recovery was 10 feet of oil and gas cut mud, 280 feet of muddy oil and 10 feet of clean oil.

Another test was taken from 3,623 to 3,673 feet with the tool open one hour. Gas came to the surface in 17 minutes.

Recovery was 840 feet of oil and 120 feet of muddy oil. Flowing pressure was 200 pounds and 15-minute shut-in pressure was 1,200 pounds. Location is 330 feet from north and east lines of west half of block 4, league 218, Gillespie County School Land survey and two miles northwest of Longworth. That makes it southwest of production in the Roby field.

Magnolia Finishes Pennsylvania Well In Midland Sector

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 2-A C. B. Haley has been completed as a new producer in the Parks (Pennsylvanian) field of West-Central Midland County.

Operator reported a daily flowing potential of 230 barrels of oil through a 14/64-inch tubing pressure at 10,458-10,508 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 3,025-1 and tubing pressure 1,100-1,235 pounds. Pay was acidized with 500 gallons.

Location is 860 feet from south and 3,640 feet from west lines of the lease in section 40, block 40, T-3-S, T&P survey.

Oil And Gas Shows Developed On DST In Borden Wildcat

Interesting shows of oil and gas were uncovered on a drillstem test of the Wolfcamp at The Texas Company No. 1 Canning, wildcat in East-Central Borden County.

Interval tested was 4,038-6,038 feet. Tool was open two hours. Recovery was 720 feet of free gas in drillpipe and 175 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud. Flow pressure was from zero to 715 pounds and 15-minute shut-in pressure was 1,065 pounds.

Location is 2,850 feet from south and 2,850 feet from west lines of section 221, block 97, H&TC survey and 14 miles southeast of Gall.

Ellenburger Makes Water In NW Fisher Wildcat; To Plug

Lloyd H. Smith, Inc. of Houston No. 1 T. E. Rivers, Northwest Fisher County wildcat, one and one-half miles southwest of Rotan found only salty, sulphur water in the Ellenburger in a drillstem test at 6,711-6,878 feet.

The duster is to be plugged and abandoned. It was 2,310 feet from east and 330 feet from south lines of section 110, block 2, H&TC survey.

The test at 6,711-6,878 feet was open for one hour and 15 minutes. Recovery was 255 feet of drilling mud with a sulphur odor and 210 feet of salty, sulphur water. There were no shows of oil or gas.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 250 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure, after 15 minutes was 1,500 pounds. None of the upper beds had any possibilities of making a petroleum producer.

Casing Is To Be Set At Prospector In NW Lea Sector

Casing is to be cemented in Gulf Oil Corporation and Ashmun & Ellard No. 1-CD Lea-State, indicated three-quarters-mile south extension to production in the Lax J (Pennsylvanian) field of Northwest Lea County, New Mexico.

Final drillstem test was taken from 9,688 to 9,787 feet. Recovery was 165 feet of free oil. Flowing pressure was 1,580 to 2,310 pounds. Shut-in pressure after 15 minutes was 3,390 pounds.

The project had flowed oil at the rate of 10 to 15 barrels hourly on previous drillstem test.

Logs were being run prior to setting oil string.

Location is 660 feet from west and 980 feet from south lines of section 34-138-32e.

SE Midland Test Gets Only Slight Oil, Gas Shows

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Roy Parks, Jr., estate, Southwest Midland County wildcat, 13 miles southwest of the city of Midland, is bottomed at 11,185 feet in the Bend line and shale of the lower Pennsylvanian and is preparing to run electric surveys.

This project has found only slight shows of oil and gas. It is extra low geologically, to the nearest producers from the Pennsylvanian in the Parks field. The wildcat is one and three-quarters of a mile south of the closest oil wells in the field. Volume Not Gauged.

It ran a two hour and 45 minute drillstem test at 11,070-180 feet. Gas surfaced in one hour and 15 minutes. The gas volume was not gauged or estimated.

Shut-in bottom hole pressure was 815 pounds after 15 minutes.

Location is 660 feet from north and 720 feet from east lines of section 18, block 40, T-3-S, T&P survey.

Stanlind Wildcat In Eddy Area Gets More Pay On DST

Stanlind Oil & Gas Company uncovered additional Pennsylvanian pay at No. 1-AB State, deep wildcat in the shallow Red Lake field of Eddy County, New Mexico.

ARLINGTON.—(AP)—National Democratic Party Chairman Stephen Mitchell began a 3,000-mile, six-day tour of Texas Monday night by accusing the Republican Administration of "selling us short."

He went to Denton Tuesday and will go later to Kilgore, Beaumont, Bryan, Waco, Corpus Christi, Uvalde and Odessa.

Mitchell criticized the Republicans for a "hard money" policy, reduction in the defense budget and what he said was a lack of concern for federal government programs to develop natural resources.

Mitchell asserted the Republican efforts to stop inflation with a "hard money" policy will lower farm prices, kill industrial expansion, stop

Two Red POW's Die In Uprising

PUSAN, KOREA.—(AP)—Two North Korean Communist war prisoners were killed and three were wounded Monday when a 30-man POW work detail attacked U. S. and South Korean guards, the UN Prisoner of War Command announced Tuesday.

The guards opened fire as the prisoners rushed toward them, the announcement said. No U. S. guards were hurt, but a South Korean suffered minor injuries when hit by a rock.

Camp intelligence officers on Koje Island said the prisoners—quieted with tear gas and small arms—had planned to create an incident.

First Half Of Year Writes Strong Figures In Economy

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK —(AP)— Americans are sitting on top of the world economically at the half way mark of 1953.

A few chronic worriers think the perch is built so high it's beginning to wobble. By and large, however that old slogan—"you never had it so good"—still has at least surface validity in most (but not all) places in the nation: peak, or near peak, performances in production, income, jobs, spending, saving.

Oh, yes, there are also peak taxes and debts. World trade—like its sister, currency convertibility—is still just a crazy mixed-up kind. And the U. S. federal budget can't seem to regain its balance.

Under the surface are the same questions that plagued business when the year started: How long can such a hush boom last? What are the Reds up to in Korea, Western Europe, Southeastern Asia, the Middle East? In industry over-expanded if defense spending drops? By Hollywood standards, however, the year has been colossal so far.

Business would have to slump badly in the second half to keep the year's statistics from being sprinkled with plus signs and many new records.

Each rose may have had its thorn. Total personal income for the nation has climbed since January—but the income of farmers is down.

Industrial production reached a peacetime peak in March—in June a slip was showing.

Retailers Ride High
Consumers watch most commodity prices slide from Korean war inflation peaks—but don't see matching drops at retail. And some commodity prices (steel, oil, chemical, metal products) were rising at mid-year.

Retail trade is riding higher than a year ago. But merchants claim their profit margins aren't. Their inventories look safe, but they are ordering with caution.

Consumers are reported still in a mood to buy. Yet they resist attempts to pass along in higher prices the rising costs of manufacturing, transporting and distributing goods.

Business is happy at shucking the shackles of controls in February and March—and fretting at the cut-throat competition some industries are facing.

Squawks About Interest
As curbs on materials melted, auto production began to soar to become a chief mainstay of the burgeoning boom. The used car market, however, may be ailing.

The purchasing power of the dollar is up slightly as financial authorities scuttle easy money policies. But squawks at the resulting upsurge in interest rates has led the Federal Reserve System to halt the rise. Some fear the hard dollar train has been sidetracked to make way for a growing federal debt driven by an increasing treasury deficit.

In the half year business has seen the goal of a balanced budget and reduced taxes set back in time. The burden of foreign aid and an arms race hangs on. Defense spending, slightly toned down, will continue apparently for years.

Corporation earnings have mounted as tangible fruit of the business boom. And industry has added to its plan for record expansion of plant and equipment in 1953.

Stalin's death changed business thinking. The Russian peace offensive that followed has kept it guessing. Korean truce talks have given stock and commodity markets the jitters from time to time—and prices in most markets are below their January peaks.

Strikes have been more numerous this year, but smaller. Wage hikes in big industries—auto, steel, electric—haven't yet set off any inflation spiral as of old.

Steel prices are up, adding an estimated 800 million dollars to the nation's annual bill at current consumption rates. But auto prices haven't risen. And the appliance industry is being cautious about testing customers' tempers.

The record total of consumer, corporate and governmental debt worried the prudent. Some appliances weren't selling fast.

The momentum of the boom, however, is still strong. The optimists pooh-pooh the signs of a slowdown.

Why not? Most incomes—before taxes and living expenses, that is—were never higher.

Farmers Are Important To Oil Industry, Both As Customers And Suppliers

By KEITH K. KING

TULSA —(AP)— Although many may not realize it, American farmers reap another crop when they buy oil products from service stations or the tank wagon.

Oil's biggest buyer as an industry is the man on the farm, who also supplies some items needed to producing oil.

To bring oil from deep in the earth, drillers use such things as starch, rice, beet pulp, beans and even chicken feathers.

Large Amounts Used
The American Petroleum Institute's Oil Industry Information Committee, (OIIC), says they use them at times by the carloads daily.

OIIC explains the strange appetites of oil wells and the farm diet that satiates them:

Rotary drilling calls for mud, rivers of it. Not just plain, everyday mud but a specialized concoction to cool and lubricate the drill and the steel pipe encasing it.

Cleans Hole
Mud also cleans the hole of cuttings, washing them from the bottom and carrying them to the surface between the pipe and the hole's wall. It guards against cave-ins and escaping, dangerous gases.

Sometimes the drill finds porous geological formations that absorb too much of the fluids. Then the driller adds to his mud the starch that acts as a sealing agent and keeps the mud's circulation from clogging. Now and then cellulose flakes do the same job.

On occasions the mud's circulation starts to wander in subterranean cavities. Building up its bulk calls for a strange mixture—flaxseed, sawdust, excelsior, chopped hemp.

Or cottonseed hulls, hay, chicken feathers, sugar cane and redwood fibers, Irish moss, even beet pulp, rice, beans and wheat bran.

Big Demand For Starch
Many of last year's 37,000 rotary-drilled wells, says OIIC, at times used as high as 600 pounds of starch daily, others needed several carloads of bulk materials a day.

Thus the farmer put a lot of things a long way underground to find the oil that fuels his machinery and vehicles and provides him dozens of much-used products.

Misgivings Haunt Congo Song Tour

LEOPOLDVILLE —(AP)— French crooner and song writer Charles Trenet arrived here for a Congo singing tour with some misgivings. When his plane reached Africa, it had to stop over at Dakar because of engine troubles. After repairs and a delayed departure, a second engine went wrong and the plane returned to Dakar. It waited there another 48 hours for a new engine which had to be flown in.

At Accra a third engine went coughing but was repaired with only little delay.

When, finally, the plane reached Leopoldville, the Belgian Congo capital, the airfield night landing system was out of order and the pilot had nothing but a dim row of blue lights and ground crewmen waving flashlights to find his way down the runway. The pilot had to try twice and do an expert job with his wheel brakes to bring the plane to a safe standstill before Singer Trenet reached Leopoldville.

Red Hold Slipping

The Russian attempt to blame "Western provocateurs" for the widespread uprising of Germans in Soviet Germany sounds almost like a pitiful wail. It gains nothing from being alternated with feeble Communist admissions that many German complaints are justified.

The Russians really understand that the world knows this was a remarkable demonstration of bare-handed rebellion against oppressive authority—without hope of success. No provocateurs would send men to do battle against tanks with sticks and stones.

The riot-and-strike wave fanned out from East Berlin to envelop many other cities, and the Reds have been hard-pressed to bring them under control.

Altogether the Russians have arrested some 16,000 individuals for allegedly playing roles in these flare-ups and some feel the total will climb to at least 30,000. Dozens of men have been executed by firing squad, and others killed by Russian tank, burp gun and rifle fire. Even children have been mowed down.

Despite all these cruel reprisals, the Germans have gone on refusing to work, sacking Communist offices, scuttling ships, damaging mines and otherwise sowing havoc in the Soviet zone.

It can be no solace to the Russians that the allegedly docile Czechs also stirred in wrath against their masters at Pilsen and other centers. And there are reports, too, of trouble in Bulgaria and Rumania.

The Russian is pictured as a great bear whose paws pack a powerful punch and who is yet agile and alert enough to outwit a bigger enemy. But the Russian is behaving like a clumsy dinosaur who feels the ground quaking beneath him and knows no defense but to stamp wildly upon any life that falls beneath his giant feet.

The Germans have disclosed the gibbousness of one of the most often-heard of latter-day political axioms: that no people under a modern dictator's yoke dare rise in rebellion.

This was no full-scale revolt. But it suggests what might have happened had the Germans thought this the moment for a fight to the death. A comprehensive general strike, coupled with wholesale sabotage and continuous rioting, would be hard to combat. You cannot execute or imprison an entire population of 18,000,000.

The tremors from the events in East Germany have registered sharply on the seismographs in Moscow. The Russian grasp on the satellite lands has slipped. The effects of this powerful realization upon the men in the Kremlin may be profound for them and for all the world.

It's a great life in this country of ours if the weather doesn't get you down—or even if it does.

After a crackup, a road hog is always the first to squeal.

The Power And The Glory

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: British will give Gibraltar to NATO; State Department urges like to encourage East Berliners; Lady cabinet member will run for governor of Texas.

WASHINGTON—Winston Churchill has secretly offered to give the most famous bastion of the British Empire, Gibraltar, to NATO in order to bolster the defense of Europe.

The British prime minister has discussed this privately with U. S. officials and is prepared to make a formal presentation of the famed British fortress at the Bermuda conference. As far as is known, the British do not plan to exact a price for Gibraltar, though it's possible certain payments will be made for the fort's installations.

It's believed that Churchill will have considerable support from other British leaders because of British hostility to the proposed American hook-up with Dictator Franco of Spain. If Gibraltar becomes a NATO base, Spanish bases would not be so necessary.

Both the British and French have been opposed flatly to bringing Franco into the European Defense Pact and also have frowned on the proposed deal whereby the United States would set up air and naval bases in Spain.

Thanks to the powerful Spanish lobby headed by Charles Patrick Clark who draws $100,000 a year from Franco, Congress has voted some $180,000,000 of aid to Spain, part of it contingent on Franco giving up bases. The Spanish dictator, however, has been slow in coming to terms.

Behind The Curtain In various speeches during the election campaign, both General Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles emphasized the importance of stirring up revolt behind the Iron Curtain. They were so vigorous regarding this that at one point Adlai Stevenson expressed some differences of opinion.

For more than three weeks, however, first the Czechs and later the East Germans have been staging the most violent, bitter and significant opposition to Red rule ever seen behind the Iron Curtain. During this time, various proposals have been put forward by the State Department to bolster the outrage of rioting Czechs and Germans, but as of this writing they have run up against a blank wall at the White House.

The Yalta pact provides for free elections among the satellite nations behind the Iron Curtain, and it would be an obvious and timely move for the United States to emphasize this point now. We could demand, and keep on demanding that free elections be held.

We also have several million tons of surplus wheat, plus warehouses of butter and other foods. Some of them will spoil if not used this year. Yet if they were used appropriately in Berlin, the effect on the Russians would be devastating. American food offered to half-starved East Berlin would be something the Russians would have a hard time refusing. If they did refuse, they would be more on the spot than ever.

However, efforts to get the Department of Agriculture to move on this have failed. Meanwhile, CARE, the very efficient food-distributing agency, already has limited stocks of food in near-by West Berlin. Donations through CARE is one way Americans who can't get their government to move, can do something on their own.

Lady Governor of Texas Nelson Rockefeller, grandson of the founder of the Standard Oil Empire, has held down a lot of jobs in government, most of them under the Democrats, but now it looks as if he would get his biggest reward as if he would get his biggest reward from the Republicans.

During the war, Roosevelt gave Rockefeller the important assignment of improving relations with Latin America. He did an excellent job, later became assistant secretary of staff, finally served as chairman of the advisory committee on the Point IV Program—all under the Democrats.

PETER EDSON'S Washington News Notebook

President Didn't Have McCarthy In Mind In His 'Book-Burning' Address

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—President Eisenhower got back to Washington after his five-day speaking trip through the Middle West and New England, quite surprised to find that his remarks at the Dartmouth College commencement, on book-burning, had been interpreted as a cross-down on Wisconsin Senator Joe McCarthy.

One of the President's first acts after he got back was to dispatch his chief congressional liaison assistant, retired Maj. Gen. Wilton H. Person, up to Capitol Hill to see Senator McCarthy. The message which General Person had to deliver was that when the President spoke at Dartmouth, he didn't have Senator McCarthy in mind at all.

After Senator McCarthy had his argument with the new U. S. high commissioner to Germany, Dr. James H. Conant, one prominent Democrat paraphrased the most common criticism heard of Wisconsin Joe and was cracked: "McCarthy agrees with Conant's objective, but not with his methods."

Some question has been raised as to whether the Hatch Act, governing political practices, will permit the Democratic National Committee to issue its new magazine, "Democratic Digest." First issue is scheduled to hit the newsstands July 10.

At first glance, the law seems to put a restraint on political publications, but the violation is put on the buyer, not the seller. What the law says is that whoever purchases any article of any kind from a political committee shall be guilty. The penalty on conviction is jail and/or a minimum $5,000 fine.

The intent of Congress in passing this law was to stop the sale of such things as $1 programs, photographed by the President or some other political big shot, for prices of 45¢ or 50¢, just to raise political campaign funds. Also, there was a desire to stop the sale of advertising in political publications, as a cover for political shake-down contributions.

Counsel for the Democratic National Committee has gone into the legislative history of the Hatch Act in preparing an opinion justifying publication of the new magazine. The opinion given is that prohibition of publication of a magazine for legitimate sale by a political organization would be in conflict with constitutional guarantees of freedom of press and speech.

Parallel cases have come up a number of times in connection with the publication of political papers by labor organizations. In every case the Supreme Court has found that there can be no inhibition of a free press.

The women's division of the Democratic National Committee for years has published and sold on a subscription basis a magazine called, "Democratic Digest." There was never any protest. The name of this old magazine was so good that the National Committee lifted it when the decision was made to put out a more general publication for all voters—men and women alike.

Blue Star Inn Offers Steaks, Chinese Foods As Specialties

Exotic Chinese dishes and sizzling steaks—these are the twin specialties of the popular Blue Star Inn at 2501 West Wall Street.

But that is not all—the Blue Star has a complete line of tasty foods skillfully prepared to tempt the Midlander's appetite, including fried chicken and fresh seafood at all times.

A special attraction at the restaurant are the low priced lunches and dinners. Midlanders flock in to enjoy the complete meals at reasonable prices.

The main dining room, softly lighted, is decorated in harmonizing shades of green and brown. An additional dining room, often used for private parties, is available to seat overflow crowds.

Reservations for almost any size special dinner party may be arranged by picking up the telephone and dialing 2-4231. Genial Joe Chung, manager of the Blue Star, will take care of all arrangements.

The restaurant is noted for its prompt efficient service. The comfortable waiting hall is rarely used, since patrons are almost always seated immediately by the Blue Star hostesses.

A special service at the Blue Star is the preparation of orders to be taken out. They are made up steaming hot and carefully packaged. Orders to go may be telephoned in as well as requested in person.

The Blue Star is easily located, being on the left side of West Wall Street just beyond the Andrews Highway intersection. Ample parking space assures plenty of room for Midland patrons as well as tourists.

The hours of the restaurant are from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. every day except Saturday, when it is open from 11 a.m. to 12 p.m. The complete menu, with the exception of the special meal, is available at these hours.

The customer is the star at the Blue Star Inn.

Cold Ozarka Water Answers Need For Refreshing Drink

Summer is here! And its hotter than it was last year and what is more refreshing on a hot day than a brimming glass of cold, sparkling clear spring water?

That is what is being offered to Midland residents by the Ozarka Water Company of 311 South Big Spring.

It can be purchased in many Midland retail stores or Ozarka Water Company gladly will bring it to the home.

Persons desiring delivery service or rental of water coolers have only to dial 2-1372. The efficient five gallon coolers handily fit in an office or home. Drinking cups are available also.

For the ice box, you may get the handy little 24-ounce disposable bottles or the economical half-gallon decanters which are sold six to a carton.

While that good Ozarka water tastes particularly good during the warm weather, it is used by thousands the year round and for dozens of various household purposes.

Women use it for washing their hair and for washing their face and hands because its soft quality is easy on their complexion.

Infants benefit, too, because Mothers use it for baby formulas and it is recommended by many doctors.

Because of the therapeutic value of the pure spring waters which supply the Ozarka firm here, the U. S. Government opened its first national park in Arkansas in 1832. Thousands of tourists visit the famous resort at Eureka Springs each year.

Flowing from the base of a lofty limestone and granite mountain, the water has diuretic and slight anti-acid properties, making it ideal for those suffering from gastric disturbances due to acidity and hyper-acidity.

B. H. Spaw, manager of the company and a resident of Midland for the last 23 years, pointed out that the water is tested for purity at its source and then shipped to Midland in glass-lined tank cars. It is tested again before being bottled, here.

Daddy Ringtail

The Misdemeanant

A misdemeanant is somebody who crawls through a little hole in the wall of a chicken house and eats the eggs. Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, was going to catch him a misdemeanant, except he didn't know who the misdemeanant was. Daddy Ringtail thought maybe the misdemeanant was Steezy weenie, but he hoped not.

two eggs, one inside the chicken house, and one outside, but both on the ground by the hole in the wall. Daddy Ringtail put salt and pepper and ketchup on the eggs—

Steezy seemed such a friendly dog. He had a friendly tail that wagged and wagged. He had large brown eyes. But he had very short legs and a long, round body like a baseball bat. Only he could crawl through the hole in the wall of the chicken house. Daddy Ringtail thought. Almost everyone else was much too big.

Daddy Ringtail put an egg on the ground by the hole in the wall—just inside. He put another egg on the ground by the hole in the wall—just outside. So there were

By WESLEY DAVIS

There was Steezy Weenie. He had come along and gobbled the egg on the outside. He had crawled halfway through the hole to gobble the egg on the inside. He had swallowed the egg without even chewing them, and they were such a lump inside him that he was caught fast in the wall. He couldn't look out. He couldn't go the rest of the way in. The eggs inside him were even too big to go in or out of the hole.

Steezy wagged his tail. He tried to look like he wasn't a misdemeanant, but that is what he was. He was caught in the hole to prove it. Daddy Ringtail had to hop him on the side to break the shell of the egg, or Steezy would have been there yet. I'm afraid, Daddy Ringtail did it as gently as he could, but first he gave Steezy a talking to about the mischief of being a misdemeanant, and Steezy said he would never do it again.

Happy day!

GIs In England Find British Easy Folks To Know, Like

By GRACE HALSELL
Reporter-Telegram Special Correspondent

LONDON—A few hours' drive from this world's largest city, one comes to verdant countryside and oastwold-stone villages, apparently little changed since Shakespeare was a boy.

And scattered in this quiet, ancient setting are your boys from home. Their presence all over England and Europe standing as America's determination to preserve the freedom principle.

Though there has been much talk about unfriendliness of the English toward the Americans in uniform, I find the two nationalities get along better than any other two groups of people.

Boys like T/Sgt. Kirk Murray, son of Mrs. Margaret Murray of El Paso, and M/Sgt. Thomas F. Sustala of Somerset, son of Mrs. Mary Sustala of Waco, have their wives and families in England with them, and report that they have many "good friends" among the English near the base.

Included as they are from the big cities, the Texans have more opportunities to become acquainted with the people and with their customs.

Sergeant Murray already has completed two years' duty over here, and will return to Texas in August. Sustala, who has 17 years' service record, is married to the former Mary O. LaGrange of Devine. They have a child, Tommie Lee, born at Lackland Air Base Hospital, and Gary Dee, born in England.

The sergeant has three brothers, John with the U. S. Navy, Donald and Jesse Ray, both of Waco, and three sisters, Mrs. Ruby Ewing of Galveston, Mrs. Lois Rudine and Mrs. Margaret McElroy, both of Dallas.

Sergeant Sustala said he thought the Texas grandparents would be surprised to hear the children, Tommie Lee and Gary Dee, both speaking of English accents when they returned home.

"There is one thing I wish you would put on record," T/Sgt. Hugh B. Wiley of Waco told me at Brize Norton Air Base, a three hour drive out of London.

"It is the common thing for a serviceman to complain, but I would like to say that I have never met better people than the English," the Waco veteran of nine years in service stated.

"I have been here 20 months and my family has been here 14 months, and we have met many good people here, good friends, who have done a lot for us."

Wiley said he did not like to hear Americans relating "petty differences" between the English and Americans, and felt that such airing of complaints lowered Anglo-America relationship.

"Of course in America you sometimes have neighbors you don't care so much for . . . and the same thing could happen over here, but generally speaking, the English are kind and courteous and good."

England and Texas ought to get together in the weather department, Airman R. C. Smith of Dumas believes.

"It never rains enough in the Panhandle, and over here it rains too much," the Texas believes.

"Of the 365 days in the year, I believe it rains in England almost 364 of those days," he added.

The handsome airman, whose distinctive characteristics are his healthy mustache and expressive brown eyes, was smoking a cigar and giving opinions on everything from English weather to golf in the British Isles.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Smith of Surray, the 29-year-old airman attended Berger and Dumas high schools and Amarillo Junior College. From 1946 until 1952 he worked for the Continental Carbon Company in Amarillo.

His job at Brize Norton is teletype operator.

The Panhandle boy has two brothers, Grover and Bobby, in Surray, and three sisters, Mrs. Roy J. Hester and Mrs. W. Y. Barnett, both of Amarillo, and Mrs. F. W. Harper of Eunice, N. M.

Urban Martin, in the seven-league boots of the United States Air Corps, has spanned this earth's corners since leaving Jefferson Davis High School, Houston.

His life has been such a full one that while his young face is unlined, his hair is graying at the temples.

At 33, he is a major.

Any craft with wings on it, Urban Martin can fly.

Everything from the trainers to the giant B-36.

Train For Indians Causes Controversy

RAFFORD, ARIZ.—(AP)—The people of 10 eastern-Arizona towns are battling to keep the historic "Gila Tomahawk" running.

The Tomahawk is the only passenger train between Globe and Bowie, Ariz.

The Arizona Corporation Commission granted the request of the Southern Pacific Company to discontinue the passenger service. Eastern Arizonans say they will go to court unless the commission reconsiders.

Apache Indians especially are anxious to keep the Tomahawk chugging across their reservation. Under a long-standing agreement, they ride free within the boundaries of their tribal area.

ODESSANS HERE

Mrs. T. J. Peel and Mrs. T. R. Smith were in the city Monday from Odessa.

For two years, he was maintenance officer and test pilot on the world's biggest bomber at Carswell Air Force base. At Brize Norton base in England, he is responsible for maintenance of B-36s and some B-50s coming in here.

In his travels, he became acquainted not only with Europe but with South America.

There he was most impressed with Rio de Janeiro. "Rio will hold its own with Paris, Rome or Copenhagen," the youthful major commented.

Born in Houston, he worked for Humble Oil Company there before joining the Air Force. He is married to the former Sybil Price of Houston, and they have two children, Craig, nine, and Bruce, four, both born in Houston.

Martin has a brother, Leslie Martin in Houston, and a sister, Mrs. William A. McGarrity of Freeport.

Next week, the pilot-major and his family will take a trip across the channel to Europe—but the Air Force officer wouldn't dream of doing it the way most tourists do: by boat. He will load his Fort-Cosul, his wife and two children all on an airplane and fly to the continent.

They will drive through France, Holland, Belgium and Germany—covering about 2500 miles. "Still a lot of places I haven't seen," Major Martin admits.

Patient's Plea: Tell 'Em All; The Sign Reads 'Quiet Please'

(Our man, Joe Wing, got hauled off to the hospital the other day and met up with some circumstances he never met before. He tells about them in this dispatch from his bed of pain. Perhaps it will remind you of your own operation.)

By JOE WING
Associated Press Newsfeature
Writer

NEW YORK—One thing about hospitals, they are organized to give you attention you cannot expect at home.

Last night, for instance, I had just snapped out the light and dropped off to sleep when a nurse popped in the door and poked the usual question—did I want a sleeping pill?

No, I didn't want a sleeping pill; all I wanted was to sleep. But before I got to sleep again I indulged in some unkind thoughts about hospitals, if not about nurses.

For all their advanced methods, which are likely to get you on your feet again after an operation in a matter of hours or day instead of weeks, they still have a setup that seems designed for keeping you awake unless you are under the influence of sleeping pills. Rattling elevators, banging equipment, bustling functionaries and outside traffic are all parts of the picture.

As you may not know, and shouldn't believe, there are committees in charge of picking noisy spots for city hospitals. In the case of my hospital, the spot was found beside a main line railroad. There's a rumor that flying dutchmen steam engines are routed right through one wing of the hospital at night. I know for sure that when the first diesel wailed past I ducked under my pillow.

That was in good old room 2000 on the other side of the building, where I was first bedded down alongside three hospital habitués.

"Meet the gang," said the orderly as he unloaded me from a wheelchair with the air of one delivering fresh meat.

"Hi," I hid guardedly. Soon I discovered that Dave, the senior habitué, had been doing time there for six weeks. Al for two. And Charlie had just undergone major surgery, complete with tubes. I figured that old pros like these would be out of my class in competing for nurses' attentions (After all, there are good looking nurses, just like in the comic panels).

I put in a bid for a transfer. Meantime, hospital wheels had been grinding. I was pedigreed, my possessions listed, my religion and next of kin noted and financial position assessed. I was given a placid type nightgown. My blood count was counted, my arm hypod and my person trundled off to the operating room.

Scrub Time

There in a dimly lit vestibule I had time to remember past sins while the surgeons scrubbed merrily and sharp looking nurses—unlike the motherly type popular in the wards—laid out sharp instruments. My worst fear didn't materialize—that they would clamp an ether mask on my face. Instead, one of the helpers discharged an outside syringe in my arm. I was just beginning to think they hadn't given me enough of the stuff when I woke up—and made an historic statement.

"It hurts," I said. My mistaken idea had been that the operation would eliminate the pain as well as the appendix.

Well, I got my transfer to the other side of the building where, instead of dodging trains I can watch workmen hammer up an addition to the hospital. I have tried to learn the nurses' names only to find they seem to have a shift system that would baffle a sportsman. I have tried without success to pin down the reason why flowers are taken from the rooms at night and placed in the halls.

Bussle Pades

Those sweet smelling halls at night lack the cheerful bustle of visitors and professional routine. Lights are low. The few nurses on duty seem less harassed as they prowl from room to room, making sure that the patients are merely sleeping.

An old man whimpers in his pain. A special nurse nods in her chair beside a sleeping patient. A young aide tinkles past with a glass of ice water. Far off in the maternity ward a baby cries.

The floor nurse comes by and I ask her, "Why do they have so much trouble getting nurses these days?"

"A matter of finances, I guess," she says. "A girl can make more as a first year teacher than as a registered nurse. But then, girls don't go to nursing unless they love it."

DOESN'T FEAZE HIM—All eyes are on Hula Dancer Pauline Kekahuna, except those of Marine Pvt. Franklin D. Smith, at left, who calmly goes on shaving. He was wounded in Korean fighting and was one of 136 wounded and sick military personnel aboard the USS Consolation who were greeted at Pearl Harbor by hula dancers and other attractive newcomers.

No Disease Boost Seen

Midland's record-breaking heat this year has brought quite a few changes, but the one thing is staying pretty constant: the "sick list" at the City-County Health Clinic.

"We've had no special increase in communicable disease cases," Dr. C. A. Pigford pointed out Monday. "The heat apparently hasn't had much influence either way."

Only disease to show an increase is diarrhea, he said, and the boost is not alarming by any means. June, 1952, saw 89 cases of diarrhea. June, 1953 has seen 102 cases so far.

"It's just about normal," Dr. Pigford assured. "The difference in the two totals is not enough to be worried about."

Other comparisons of June to June found the following: 22 chicken pox in 1952, 29 in 1953; 29 measles in 1952, 21 in 1953; 27 mumps in 1952 and 17 so far in 1953.

There were no flu cases on record for June 1953.

Bride's Clothing Torn Off By Boxer In Brawl At Party

PEORIA, ILL. (AP)—A June bride started a fight with another guest who ripped off her clothes. Then she gaily reverted to normal. The guest of honor went home sick from over-indulgence.

A disgraceful party? Depends on the viewpoint.

It was Mike's birthday party, and Mike, 10, is a cocker spaniel. He and his 25 guests were dogs who attended or had graduated from a training school where Mike's mistress, Mrs. E. M. Reser, is an instructor.

The guests came in costume—a Chihuahua as Tarzan, complete with leopard skin; a German shepherd as Little Red Riding Hood's grandmother; others as a hula-hula girl—yes, a glass skirt; a French chef, and a June bride.

Like all birthday parties, there were nuts, ice cream and cake to eat. The guests, at the bidding of their owners, played games.

All like most birthday parties, there was a row. The bride started it with a burly boxer. He ripped off all her clothes. She seemed happier without them.

Mike? He got a tummy ache from too much ice cream.

Caffeine-Containing Drinks Are Harmful Used In Excess

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

"I am an addict to black coffee," writes Mrs. C. C. "I drink 12 to 14 cups a day. Is this likely to be harmful?"

The active ingredient in coffee is a drug known as caffeine. A cup of strong coffee contains enough caffeine to produce a definite drug effect, though perhaps this is lessened somewhat by the fact that the caffeine is combined in coffee with some other substances.

Coffee, therefore, acts as a stimulant which increases temporarily mental and physical energy, and acts to some extent to relieve mental and muscular fatigue. Many people drink coffee also just for its comforting and relaxing effect.

Caffeine as a drug is a well-known brain stimulant. It is used sometimes to combat some of the harmful effects of acute poisoning with morphine or other depressing drugs. It stimulates breathing and is used by doctors for this purpose in certain cases of asthma and other disorders of breathing.

Caffeine also acts on the heart and the blood vessels. It tends to dilate some of the blood vessels so that more blood may flow through and it is a direct heart stimulant leading toward maintaining the blood pressure or even raising it somewhat.

Another effect of caffeine is to stimulate the formation of urine. Caffeine and its chemical relatives therefore have been used for a long time to increase urinary flow when that was desirable because of the formation of certain kinds of dropsy or other conditions.

Likewise, ordinary doses of caffeine act directly on most of the muscles, causing them to contract more powerfully and to become tired less easily. These are the principal actions of the drug.

Keep Use Moderate

Coffee or other beverages containing caffeine usually produce no harm if consumption is reasonably moderate. Unfortunately, nervous people are the ones most likely to drink too much and it is in them that injury from caffeine is particularly likely. Twelve or 14 cups a day is too much to be really desirable.

When susceptible people drink too much of some caffeine-containing beverage, they are likely to become excessively nervous, develop pounding of their hearts, headache, sleeplessness, tremblings, and digestive disturbances.

When such symptoms occur they almost always are caused by too large an intake of the active drug, caffeine. The symptoms can be quickly lessened by cutting down on the excessive intake. Mrs. C. C. probably should do this.

The OASIS on your route

The traveler of ancient times sought rest and refreshment at an oasis on his route.

So does the traveler of modern times... he stops at an oasis that prepares his automobile for another hundred miles or more of driving... at an oasis that provides ice water and a chance to stretch... at an oasis that offers clean and sanitary rest rooms... at an oasis where our traveler can give and get a friendly greeting.

Today's oasis is the service station on the American highway. It makes your trip. It provides your contact with the country through which you're driving. On its driveway you feel at home; you get the impression, wherever you stop, that this is your America.

Not one service station, but thousands of them. All along the highways you'll find them, staffed and equipped to give your car the expert care it requires, to make your brief visits on their driveways comfortable and pleasant.

The service station where you buy gasoline and motor oil is your chief contact with the American oil industry. It is probably an individual enterprise; and it competes to give you better service and better products than another station down the street or on the other side of town. No small part of the oil industry's progress in the service of the motorist finds final expression on service station driveways...
