A Word to Taxpayers.

Texas Taxpayers are facing an unprecedented situation as to a raise in taxes by the regular Session of the legislature that convenes (unless an extra session is called earlier) in January, 1937. The question of equal taxation, provided for in the Constitution, may be swept aside by the careless and ignorant, or by those who have a concealed grudge against or desire to protect some special interest during this year of "foot loose and fancy free," candidates, when they get on the stump and pour tax wisdom into the ears of their audiences, however, some candidates understand the seriousness of the situation and will discuss the tax subject accordingly.

Perhaps many of you will be made off-hand without any investigation of the records and without any reference to the enforcement of the tax laws or forcing property now escaping taxation to pay taxes. In other words, Texas is an open field for converts to this or that method of raising money without regard to fundamental principles with which to pay Old Age Assistance and to run the government. They may hold this or that industry or business up before the public as a tax dodger when in fact, it may pay quite a lot of taxes, and at the same time may be in the same financial category as most farmers, in view of the fact the amount of money that will likely be raised is really tragic, when one considers the conditions under which it is to be raised, for we have tax laws that are not enforced, we have $150,000,000 delinquent taxes, much of which could be collected, and we have practically no tax system, therefore, about one-half of the property subject to taxation escapes taxation. We have a State budget law, but no one would know it unless he looked in the statutes. When taxpayers are subjected to such a situation it is pathetic. YET THEY ARE TO BLAME. It is a self-evident fact that land and improvement are now taxed beyond their capacity to pay, and the question to be decided is, shall we apply this same yard stick to all lines of business and place the pay-rolls of Texas where they cannot be maintained, and eventually like land, fade out of the business picture. — Jno. T. Smith Editor Texas Tax Journal.

Some Suggested Precautions.

Austin April 21.—Spring fever, that seasonal malady which accompanies the first warm days and early blossoms, has become more or less of an epidemic. Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, reminds the citizens of Texas with some suggested precautions.

The most outstanding symptom of spring fever is the urge felt by old and young to get out into the open as often as possible. While people are getting all the benefits possible from contact with Mother Nature, Dr. Brown urges the use of common sense precautions.

"Some of the glamour has been taken from the swimming hole by the modern pool," Dr. Brown said, "but it is more than offset by the sanitation and safety devices which promote health and save lives. Swimming now can be learned by everyone without the needless sacrifice of lives and without the constant threat of typhoid fever which is a hazard of every out of the way swimming place.

"With the first excursion into woods and fields in quest of wild flowers, everybody should remember that about 75 per cent of snake bites occur on the lower extremities. Snake bites could be prevented to a large extent by wearing boots or heavy leggings and being cautious.

"If one should be bitten by a rattlesnake, prompt action is necessary and a physician should be obtained as soon as possible. No time should be lost in removing the poison by suction. As soon as a tourniquet above the wound and make cross-cut incisions over the fang marks. Suction should be applied for at least half an hour. The most dangerous fluid is farthest away from the wound; its absorption must be prevented as it is the source of the systemic poisoning. Release a tourniquet every 10 or 15 minutes for about a minute at a time.

"Obtain the services of a physician at the earliest possible moment."

Dallas, April 29. — A steer weighing more than a ton and a half will be exhibited at the $25,000,000 Texas Centennial Exposition here June 6. "Big Jim," once owned by the late Will Rogers, is said to be the biggest steer in the world. He weighs 3100 pounds, stands five feet four inches at the withers and is ten feet long from head to tail.

Scenic wonders of American national parks will be displayed for visitors to the Texas Centennial Exposition by the United States Department of the Interior. The $25,000,000 world's fair opens in Dallas June 6. Murals and colored models of the most beautiful spots in the parks will be shown, as will a 16-foot model of the capitol building in Washington.

On Texas Farms.

After reading the March reports of the county agricultural agent, M. R. Bentley, Extension agricultural engineer, commits himself to the belief that the work done in terracing and contouring land on Texas farms and ranches was stupendous and colossal.

Bentley thinks that the answer to the oft-asked question "How can I terrace when there is nearly always a growing crop?" is to be found in some of these reports.

Live Oak County—Crops must be planted on this land before the terracing machinery will be available, but the farmers are leaving out a 25 foot strip along the terrace line so that the terraces may be built at any time the machinery become available.

Howard County—Early maturing or soil improvement crops will be planted on a strip 40 ft. wide along the terrace line to leave ample room for the terrace building work without molesting other crops.

Oilham County—Henry Critz, farmer of Adrian says, "I will mark my terrace lines at present with one round of a disk plow or small county grader that I can pull with my own tractor. Then I will do all working and planting on the contour between the lines, adding at least one round to the terraces, in the meantime getting some advantage from the terrace and much from the contour farming."

Lee County—G. F. Winder, farmer in the Good Hope community, recently decided to strip crop his land and build the terraces next fall after harvesting the crop.

Falls County—C. F. Wrenn, farmer living near Marlin, has had terrace lines run on 10 acres, changed his rows to run with the lines and will strip crop this land before building terraces. Part of these strips he has planted to sweet clover and will plant beans on the other strips with the intention of building the terraces this summer after these crops are harvested. This gives an opportunity to build the terraces this summer after these crops are harvested. This gives an opportunity to build the terraces after crops are made and during a time when the ground is in better shape for moving the dirt.

Henderson County—The county agricultural agent in this county has been suggesting to farmers that in all instances where terrace lines are run, if they fail to get their terraces built at the present time, by all means run the rows on the terrace contour with the intention of building the terraces after the crop is harvested, when more time is available.

Wheeler County—Farmers in this county who will be unable to wait for the county grader are leaving a wide row so that the line can be found next year and there will be no necessity for rerunning these lines again. Many of these farmers who will not have time to build terraces are leaving their land with the terrace lines.

Working girls vacations
It is said that 4,784 out of the 500 working girls in New York got vacations through churches, social organizations and societies.

Played on a George Washington Fiddle.

J. T. Lanehart, Barstow's own radio entertainer, used a fiddle in his program over KIUN Monday night that was once the property of George Washington Father of His Country.

The fiddle has been the property of Judge J. J. Walker of Barstow for many years. The chain of ownership has been established as follows: It was presented by George Washington to his nephew, Colonel Washington, who settled at Columbus, Texas, at an early date. The colonel gave it to a captiver, who in turn presented it to Judge Walker's sister.

Judge Walker, while attending college in Lexington, Ky., developed a talent as a musician and his sister, with whom he was staying in Lexington, presented him the fiddle. He later had to abandon his musical efforts because of an injury to one of his hands. Recently he had Mr. Lanehart make some repairs to the historic instrument and Mr. Lanehart used it on his radio performance.

The instrument is of Kopy make and is valued as high as $5,000. — The Ward County News.

Portrait of An American

By RAYMOND FITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

Who is the typical American? Just what is he like?

There seems to be doubt on these matters in the minds of many of our citizens. Legislation suggests that they regard him as willing to swap his American birthright of independence for opportunity for the lifeless regimentation now imposed on certain populations abroad.

But there should be no such confusion. A portrait of the typical American was clearly drawn in the Bill of Rights of our Federal Constitution. Read it and you will see that he is a man who stands firmly for:

Freedom of religion, freedom of lawful speech, freedom of the press, freedom of peaceable assembly. . . .

The right to be secure against unreasonable search and seizure, to be immune from governmental inquisition, to trial by jury in all civil as well as criminal cases. . . .

The guarantee that he shall not be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law, and that he shall be protected in all these and other rights even against government itself.

In that insistence on definite rights and powers is reflected, I maintain, a true picture of the real American citizen—the man who works and earns and saves and on whose character and effort depends all the strength of our government. It has stood unchanged for almost a century and a half. It remains as accurate today as when first drafted.

When our politicians get that picture clearly in mind we shall see fewer efforts to inject into our government the ideas of a regimented Europe—whose tragic effects we read daily in dispatches from across the sea. . . .

America, our lawmakers should remember, is still full of Americans—sons and daughters of the hardiest, most self-reliant breed of pioneers and liberty-lovers the world has ever seen. No one can take away their individual freedom and make them like it. The Bill of Rights still remains our national portrait.

Dallas, April 29. — No free space for educational exhibits will be available at the Centennial Exposition.

All exhibit space is for educational purposes must be purchased in the same manner as commercial exhibits. Inquiries concerning space and rates should be addressed to the director of exhibits and concessions, Mr. Paul Massmann, Centennial, Dallas.

Inquiries to this department have indicated an interest in educational exhibits, but no provision has been made whereby they may be held without cost to those showing.

GAS, GAS ALL THE TIME, CAN'T EAT OR SLEEP

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart hurt. A friend suggested Adierika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel better."—Mrs. J. A. Miller.

Adierika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adierika gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Mother Advised Daughter To Take CARDUI

Many, many women have taken Cardui on the advice of their mothers who had been helped by it. "I would have severe cramping spells," writes Mrs. F. C. Allen, of Smithdale, Miss. "I would get nauseated, and feel faint and would have to go to bed. I would be very nervous for two or three days. I was afraid to go away from home, for fear I would faint and fall. My mother, having used Cardui with good results, advised me to try it. I am so glad I took Cardui and got relief, for it has done wonders for me. Of course, if Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician."

This Makes Laxative Pleasant to Take

People who know Feen-a-mint don't have to "talk themselves" into taking a laxative when they know they need it. They like Feen-a-mint, the delightful chewing gum laxative. For just as soon as you start chewing Feen-a-mint, its stomach-settling mint brings a clean, fresh taste to the mouth. As you chew out the laxative ingredient which is absolutely tasteless, the flow of digestive juices is increased. The laxative is mixed with them and carried into the system gently. Feen-a-mint doesn't gripe, nauseate or cause upset, and it is non-habit-forming. It passes through the stomach and into the bowels so scientifically that your action is wonderfully easy and thorough. Try the pleasant, refreshing Feen-a-mint way the next time you need a laxative. Doctors prescribe its laxative ingredient for both children and adults. Sold on money-back guarantee. Generous family size package 15c and 25c.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood.

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as nature intended—fail to remove impurities that poison the system when retained. Then you may suffer nagging backache, dizziness, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, puffiness under the eyes, feel nervous, miserable—all upset. Don't delay? Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are especially for poorly functioning kidneys. They are recommended by grateful users the country over. Get them from any druggist.

Italy Is Ruthless and the League Helpless

OCCUPATION of Addis Ababa and all of Ethiopia was the price demanded by Italy for an armistice in East Africa when the council of the League of Nations met again in Geneva. Baron Pompeo Aloisi presented the ultimatum on behalf of Dictator Mussolini. Wolde Mariam, representing Ethiopia, countered with a request that the league invoke all penalties against Italy under article 16 of the covenant, these including military sanctions as well as the economic penalties which the league has been trying to enforce. The British and French delegates explained the stand of their respective governments in the embroglio.

Baron Aloisi

The league was helpless, and having received the discouraging report of the conciliation committee, was compelled to confess it could not find means of attaining peace. France will not consent to the imposition of military sanctions, and Great Britain naturally will not undertake to enforce them by herself. It appeared the poor Ethiopians were to be abandoned to their fate, meaning the extinction of their empire and their exploitation by Italy. The council adopted a resolution regretting its inability to end the war, reminding league members that they should continue the sanctions and asking Italy to be generous in bringing the conflict to a close.

Anthony Eden in his address to the council warned France that she might expect from Great Britain no further support against aggression by Germany than France had given against Italy. From the north, south and west the Italian armies were advancing on Addis Ababa, and the panic stricken civilian inhabitants of the capital were fleeing from the city. Foreigners sought shelter in the bomb-proofed British legation. The mayor issued all the arms available and the government called on all able men to make a last stand for liberty, saying "it is better to die than to be enslaved."

Terrible Famine in Once Fertile China Province

DISPATCHES from Cheungu, China, tell a terrible story of the famine and drought in Szechuen province, once one of the most fertile regions in the country. It is said to be the worst famine in the history of China, the deaths numbering many thousands and fully 30,000,000 persons being in distress. Suicides and "mercy slayings" are everyday incidents. The peasants are reduced to eating dogs, cats, rats and clay.

Officials said the situation primarily was a result of Communist incursions during the last two years in which the reds overran and pillaged the land.

British Budget Highest Since That of 1931

NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN, chancellor of the exchequer, submitted to the British cabinet and later to parliament the annual budget, which is for almost four billion dollars, the highest since 1931. The huge rearmament program and other unusual expenses made it certain there will be no relief from present taxation burdens.

No estimate has yet been presented to parliament of the amount to be spent in 1936 on strengthening the fighting forces. All that is known is that the air force's part of the program will cost about $50,000,000 this year. Requirements of the army and navy may bring the aggregate for 1936 up to $110,000,000.

most of the European nations are preparing for war with feverish haste, Austria's army, small but well equipped, held a spring parade in Vienna, and immediately the nations of the little entente displayed their anger at this show of military force and their military attaches in the Austrian capital were ordered not to occupy the places reserved for them among the reviewing officials. Rumania has increased its military budget to $38,000,000 and created a special fund of $20,000,000 for the development of aviation. Hungary is clamoring for revision of the Trianon treaty and recovery of the territory it lost to the little entente.

The forty-seventh birthday of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler provided an opportunity for a big display of Germany's military power.

President's Secretary and Adviser Taken by Death

LOUIS McHENRY HOWE, secretary to President Roosevelt and for many years his close friend and adviser, died in the Naval hospital at Washington after an illness of more than a year. Mr. Howe was known in the capital as "the President maker," for it was largely due to his efforts that Mr. Roosevelt reached the White House. For twenty-five years, from the day when Mr. Roosevelt and he first met in Albany, he had devoted himself to forwarding his friend's political fortunes. During the Chicago convention and the ensuing campaign his planning and his advice were credited largely with the results attained.

Judge Ritter Is Found Guilty by Senate

FEDERAL JUDGE HALSTED L. RITTER of Florida was found guilty on impeachment charges by the senate and removed from office, being the fourth federal jurist to be ousted in this manner. On each of the first six articles of impeachment a majority of senators voted for his acquittal; but on the seventh article, which was a generalized summary of the charges against him, he was convicted by a vote of 56 to 28.

An order declaring Ritter should be "forever disqualified from holding any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States" was defeated, 76 to 0.

The senate's verdict in the twelfth impeachment case brought before it as a high court of impeachment since foundation of the American republic amounted to a decision that Judge Ritter had violated the Constitutional requirements of good behavior in office and clay.

Editors Condemn Seizure of Private Telegrams

RESOLUTIONS condemning the blanket seizure of private communications were adopted by the American Society of Newspaper Editors in convention at Washington. "We are of the conviction," said the resolution, "that if such practice is not checked the threat to liberty of individual action and particularly to the freedom of the press is immediate and menacing."

The society urged its members to cooperate with all law enforcement agencies by guarding against the premature publication of information harmful to the successful completion of criminal investigations. The editors also inaugurated a formal study to determine if it is possible for the press and bar jointly to reach some working formula to prevent sensational murder cases from becoming public scandals.

Results of the Illinois Primary Election

ILLINOIS' primary held the center of political interest for it not only provided lively state battles but also was of considerable moment nationally. Col. Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, and Senator Borah of Idaho, who was born in Illinois, were the contestants for the Republican Presidential preferential vote, and the former came out with 31 delegates against 23 for Borah. The senator's friends were elated because, without organization, he carried a large part of the state outside of Chicago. This preferential vote is purely advisory and neither man has a slate of delegates to the national convention. The result makes it certain that Knox will make a respectable showing on the first roll call. It also adds to Borah's prestige and aids him in the coming Ohio primary.

Frank Knox

Gov. Henry Horner, seeking renomination, was victorious in the bitter fight with the regular Democratic organization and the Kelly-Nash machine in Chicago, which had thrown him overboard and supported Brundage for governor. The Democrats almost unanimously voted for the renomination of Senator James Hamilton Lewis, and the Republicans named Former Senator Otis Glenn to oppose him in November.

Republican leaders in Washington were encouraged to believe the inter-neine warfare in the Democratic ranks would help the Republicans to carry the state. The Democratic sages, on the other hand, liked the showing of strength made by Borah, feeling his liberal following might switch to Roosevelt in November.

In Nebraska's primary only Borah's name was printed on the Republican preferential ballot but almost one-sixth of the voters wrote in the name of Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas.

Flood Control Approved by the President

IN HIS press conference President Roosevelt said government departments are concentrating on flood control problems and that if congress would pass a bill appropriating a billion dollars for that purpose he would sign it, provided the measure put men to work immediately.

Mr. Roosevelt said the Passamaquoddy project in Maine and Florida ship canal were eliminated because of the recent refusal of congress to make appropriations for continuance of the work. He said he did not contemplate doling out relief funds for the projects and that there would be no funds for the projects unless congress reversed its refusal.

On the same day the United States Chamber of Commerce issued a warning against encroachment of the federal government on flood control projects which are the primary responsibility of the states.

President Lays Cornerstone for a Big Building

WITH appropriate ceremony the cornerstone of the new Interior department building in Washington was laid, the President handling the trowel. The structure, the second largest government office building there, is to be completed in December. It covers five and one-half acres and will provide 700,000 square feet of usable floor space. It will cost $12,000,000, about $5,000,000 less than the capital's largest, the Commerce department building. The trowel used by Mr. Roosevelt was the one employed by George Washington in laying the cornerstone of the Capitol in 1793.

Draft of New Tax Bill Ready for Consideration

HAVING discarded the President's suggestion of temporary processing taxes, Chairman Sam B. Hill's house subcommittee completed its draft of the new tax bill. It calls for a new type of corporation levy, ranging from 1 per cent to 29.7 per cent for corporations with net income up to $10,000, and from 4 to 42 1/2 per cent for corporations with net income over $10,000, depending on the amount of earnings that are not distributed. Preferential tax treatment is given to banks and insurance companies, to debt-ridden companies, to companies in receivership, and a new system of taxing non-resident aliens is created.

Big Pay for Lobby Committee Lawyer Is Refused

BY A vote of 153 to 137 the house rejected a resolution to permit Senator Black's lobby committee to pay $10,000 to special counsel in Injunction litigation started by William Randolph Hearst to protect his telegrams from the probers. This action, which followed a bitter debate, doesn't halt the work of the committee, which has its own funds, but it prevents the payment of more than $3,000 a year, in accordance with general law, to Crampton Harris of Birmingham, Ala.

OF INTEREST TO THE HOUSEWIFE

Wood ashes make an excellent fertilizer for shrubbery and rose bushes, also for dahlias, peonies and delphinium. Scatter ashes over soil. It makes it sweet and has a tendency to loosen it.

A simple Russian dressing is made by adding two tablespoons of chili sauce and two tablespoons of finely chopped green peppers to one cup of mayonnaise.

The tough skin that forms on top of a cornstarch pudding may be prevented if a piece of oiled paper is placed over pudding when set away to cool.

Purchase seldom used spices in small packages, as it is more economical since spices lose some of their flavor when exposed to the air.

Paper baking cups make excellent caps for milk bottles. Press edges down firmly to fit mouth of bottle.

Paint stains that are dry and old may be removed from cotton or woolen goods with chloroform. First cover amply with olive oil.

If the table silver is placed in hot soapsuds immediately after being used, and dried with a soft, clean cloth, much of the work of polishing will be saved.

When you are basting roast beef, a tablespoon of brown or white sugar added to the gravy improves the flavor and color.

He declares he never prepared such a recipe or supplied it to the defendant, and that his name was used without his knowledge or consent.

The case went before Supreme Court Justice Carew on an application by the defendant to strike out many paragraphs of the complaint, reciting an opera star's need to remain aloof from such advertising. Justice Carew upheld the complaint.

INVENTS NEW STOVE THAT MAKES OWN GAS

W. C. Coleman, Noted Inventor Makes It Possible for Every Home Everywhere to Enjoy Modern Gas Cooking Service at Low Cost

Housewives everywhere are enthusiastic in their praise of a new stove that makes its own gas and brings modern gas cooking service at low cost to homes anywhere. W. C. Coleman, noted inventor and pioneer manufacturer of gas pressure appliances, regards this stove as his crowning achievement.

The new Coleman Range makes its own gas from ordinary lead-free gasoline. Lights instantly, like gas. The flame from its fuel-saving Band-A-Blu Burners is hotter than natural gas and is easily adjusted for fast cooking or slow simmering. Its low fuel consumption makes it cheaper to use than coal, wood or kerosene.

The Coleman Range has a spacious inclosed oven and drawer-type broiler. An independently controlled burner provides any heat desired for baking or broiling.

Climaxing his achievement, Mr. Coleman endowed the Coleman Style Range with gracious beauty, safety and color. Persons wishing full information about these marvelous new Coleman Ranges, will receive beautifully illustrated literature and a valuable stock check card by addressing a postcard to Mr. W. C. By VIRGINIA VALE

NOWADAYS there is one sure way for an executive of a motion picture company to find out whether his company considers him really important or not. If he's a big shot, he's not allowed to fly. That's a hardship when a man is commuting from Hollywood to New York and back again, of course—but hardship or not, they take trains.

Only last week three of Metro's big men wanted to get from New York to Hollywood in a hurry, and planned to fly; they had done it so often that it meant no more to them than walking down the street; they knew all too well that flying was no more dangerous than any other means of transportation. But at the last minute somebody got wind of their plans. The resulting argument was hot and heavy—but in the end they went by train.

One of them didn't really object, however. He was Howard Dietz, chief of publicity and advertising.

"That's all right with me," he remarked. "I'll win a thousand dollars at bridge on the way out."

There's just no stopping them—I mean these girls who are as determined now not to be blonde as they once were to be as blonde as possible. Joan Harlow started it, of course, by turning "brownette," and now we have Carole Lombard, Alice Faye and Joan Bennett following her example. They seem to feel that it will help them to get more serious roles—quite forgetting that Ann Harding, who is naturally so blonde, has been doing pretty well with serious roles for a long, long time.

Joan Bennett

On the other hand, Marion Talley (ex opera star and farmer, now working hard in pictures) has turned blonde for her first screen appearance. If you have seen her, or seen photographs of her in the old days, you're going to be surprised at her appearance; she has lost a lot of weight, and it is a big improvement.

Those Major Bowes amateur stage units have been so successful that Bob ("Believe It or Not") Ripley is going to have some of his own; the first will begin its tour somewhere in New England the last of April. It will probably include these acts: Little Jeanie, a thirty-pound midget; Grace Murphy's quintuplets, five ballet dancers averaging three hundred pounds each; a concert pianist who plays—and well—with his elbows; John Tio and his talking bird; and a man who makes music with leaves. Bob himself, encountered at a party after the opening of Ringling's circus, was trying to curb a strong desire to go out with them himself.

Frank Parker, who bobs up on so many radio programs, is going to make another picture; his first, you'll recall, was "Sweet Surrender." He's been on the stage, so he's prepared for a movie career.

Speaking of his stage career, the other day Fifi D'Orsay came to a rehearsal of her radio show with a picture of the cast of "Greenwich Village Follies of 1925." Willie Howard glanced at it, then at Parker, and said, "Frank, there's a fellow in this picture who looks exactly like you." "Looks like me?" retorted Frank. "It is me. I was a chorus boy."

I wish you could meet Bette Davis. She's an overwhelming young person, because she's so devastatingly frank. No matter what you ask her she'll answer it, and intelligently too—with no regard for whether the movie moguls will like what she says or not. Now some interviewers use rather brutal tactics.

That doesn't work with Bette Davis; she doesn't get angry, she just tells the truth, with a pleasant smile.

"How do you get along with your husband?" someone asked her recently. "There are reports that you've separated."

"Oh, we fight," she replied. "It's my fault; sometimes I simply have to fight, and then nothing will stop me."

ODDS AND ENDS . . . John Bole doesn't want to be tied down to one company any longer; he's going to free lance . . . Fredric March felt the same way; thought he was making too many costume pictures . . . So the first one he signed up for as a free lance was "Mary of Scotland" with Katherine Hepburn . . . Paramount is going to give us "Beau Geste" again, in color this time, with Gary Cooper in the leading role . . . "A Message to Garcia" is a fine picture . . . Jane Withers does fine work in "Gentle Julia" . . . Shirley Temple got another raise the other day . . . Practically all the movie companies are trying to sign up Charles Boyer, who's already under contract . . . You'll see him before long in "The Garden of Allah" . . . And in color . . . Margaret Sullivan's broken arm is holding up two pictures . . . Myrna Loy will be teamed with Warner Baxter in "To Mary, With Love"; remember them in "Broadway Bill"?

WASHINGTON TODAY

"Federal Triangle" in Washington.

Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNU Service

THE annual spring rush of tourists to Washington is on. In the Nation's Capital even the perennial visitor is greeted with something new to enjoy. This year new buildings, recently opened, in and near the great triangle between the Capitol and the Ellipse, will be a feature of a tour of the city.

Gaze down upon the modern Washington from an airplane. As always, the simple grandeur of the White House, the Capitol, the Lincoln Memorial, and the towering Washington monument draw the eye and make the heart beat faster. But near them new wonders have appeared.

Quietly and steadily, with so little fuss that residents were hardly aware of it, thousands of carloads of stone and metal—whole mountains in the aggregate—have been hauled into the city and reared into monumental buildings.

Acres and acres of old, unsightly structures have been razed on Capitol Hill, around its base, and along broad, historic Pennsylvania avenue. In their place stretch parks, wide boulevards, or long, handsome houses of government.

In the angle formed by the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue and the new Constitution avenue, beautiful Champs-Elysees or Rue de Rivoli of Washington, rises a mighty wedge of masonry, the famed "Federal Triangle," eight blocks long.

In this single group is the most amazing collection of government buildings that the world has seen. They make their own weather. In hottest summer the air inside is cooled to the temperature of a fine spring day.

Beneath the roofs of this Triangle work nearly 20,000 government employees, about as many as the entire population of Batavia, N. Y., or Daytona Beach, Fla. Every day dozens of people get lost in its 20 miles of corridors.

Massive and Beautiful.

In sheer size the cluster of buildings is staggering, even from high above. It is as if half a dozen or more of New York's tallest skyscrapers have been laid on their sides, formed into a blunted arrowhead, and cut and twisted to make courts and wings. One unit—the Commerce department—is longer than the Chrysler building is tall.

But it is not merely an impression of bigness that one has in the wandering plane. Long ranks of majestic columns, graceful arcades, a wide plaza, and solid rock walls give a beauty and simplicity that make these enormous newcomers fit companions for the classic White House and Capitol.

The airplane turns, and far off in the distance, beyond the Capitol dome, appears a gleaming white marble temple, comparable in beauty even to the noble Lincoln Memorial. This is the new United States Supreme Court building, the only real home of its own that the nation's highest court has had.

For the first time in American history a citizen now might gaze upon the separate, permanent abodes of the three branches of his government—legislative, the Capitol; executive, the White House; and now, for the judicial, long sheltered in the old senate chamber, this temple whose dignity and impressiveness match the majesty of the law itself.

Suspended in History.

As you cruise about, other splendid white buildings appear, new jewels in the familiar setting along the Potomac.

Beyond the Lincoln shrine the new Arlington Memorial bridge links north and south. Down the Virginia shore of the winding river a wide Appian way, the Mount Vernon Memorial highway leads to the home and tomb of the Father of his Country.

From the steps of the Capitol all the way down to the river, two and a third miles away, sweeps a broad stretch of tree-dotted park land. Gone is much of the mushroom growth of temporary wartime structures. Their removal gives new beauty to this Mall, main feature of the grand plan conceived by the Revolutionary soldier-artist, M. J. Pierre Charles L'Enfant, when he laid out this city with broad, sweeping, prophetic strokes to be the capital of a vast country.

Hanging between earth and sky, you seem suspended in history, halfway between the past and the unfathomable future. How would the city look a hundred years hence, or twenty, or a thousand?

The Senate Office building, off there at the left, has had its face lifted—and a handsome face it now is, with a long row of Roman Doric columns. A street car line that once marred the scene dips discreetly underground. Beneath a broad lawn is a subterranean garage in which 270 senatorial cars can be parked.

Supreme Court Building.

But to look upon the latest crowning glory of Capitol Hill one should stand on the front steps of the Capitol, where Presidents are inaugurated, and see the new Supreme Court building. Its beauty heightened by the green of trees and grass.

It occupies a historic site. Early patriots in powdered wigs forsook a famous old hotel run by William Tunnicliff on this spot before the War of 1812. After the British burned the Capitol in 1814, a building erected here housed congress until the marks of the torch were erased. In Civil war times it was used as a military prison.

Everything about the Supreme court's home is on a majestic scale.

Look at those blocks of marble, one at each side of the steps. Each block weighs 45 tons. They are two of the heaviest marble blocks ever brought into Washington.

The two bronze doors weigh 3,000 pounds apiece. The eight Corinthian columns are 5 1/2 feet high. The pediment above them catches the eye, not alone for its size, but for its interesting sculptures in which the features of historic or living men are recognized.

Inside the massive bronze portals a main hall lined with 36 stately columns—each made from one solid piece of stone—leads to the courtroom where the nine black-robed justices sit. At their own request, the room was made only about 60 per cent larger in floor area than the old Supreme court room in the Capitol.

Behind the courtroom are the quartered-oak-paneled offices of the justices, each of whom will have about as much space as all had together in the crowded Capitol. Only three had offices there at all, and most of the members of the court do much of their work at home. To assure the justices privacy, the new building's corridors can be closed by big bronze gates.

Wonderful Libraries.

In the Folger Shakespeare library, down the street, reposes a fine collection of books and Elizabethan treasures, even the supposed corset of Queen Elizabeth, solemnly stowed away in a vault and shown only to a chosen few.

Behind the Library of Congress an annex almost to double its capacity is being built, although already it is the largest library in the world, with more than 9,840,000 books, pamphlets, pieces of music, and other items at the latest count.

Down from Capitol Hill, past a shining new House Office building lately reared beside the first one, the trail of the new Washington leads to Pennsylvania avenue.

In some of its now vanished buildings—masses of rubble and ruined walls then—the first bricks flew in the "bonus army" riots of 1932.

Halfway along "The Avenue," between the Capitol and White House, there stretched off to the left in the early days of the city a dreary swamp where Washingtonians were wont to shoot "reedbirds."

Later the swamp was filled in, and the old Center Market, dubbed the Marsh or "Ma's" Market, was erected there. Five years ago, the ramshackle market buildings still occupied the spot, and thousands of rats inhabited the premises which had long been a cornucopia for them.

An energetic government hit upon this location as a key point in its building program. Here would rest the tip of the Federal Triangle. Wrecking operations began. Scientific Pied Pipers from the Agricultural department disposed of the rats, which at first devoured the workmen's lunches.

On this unlikely site now stands a structure in many ways unique—the National Archives building.

Here for the first time is a worthy, safe, and permanent home for the precious records of the nation, some scrawled in faded ink on yellowed paper by early patriot hands, others punched out on modern typewriters, or even contained in sound motion-picture films which will be preserved and shown here.

To guard against deterioration—to keep Father Time at bay as long as possible—both sunlight and natural air are barred from the archive storage sections, which are windowless.
